Arch Resources, Inc. and Subsidiaries Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

1. Basis of Presentation

The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Arch Resources, Inc. ("Arch Resources") and its subsidiaries and controlled entities ("Arch" or the "Company"). Unless the context indicates otherwise, the terms "Arch" and the "Company" are used interchangeably in this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q. The Company's primary business is the production of metallurgical and thermal coal from underground and surface mines located throughout the United States, for sale to steel producers, utility companies, and industrial accounts both in the United States and around the world. The Company currently operates mining complexes in West Virginia, Wyoming and Colorado. All subsidiaries are wholly owned. Intercompany transactions and accounts have been eliminated in consolidation.

The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States for interim financial reporting and U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission regulations. In the opinion of management, all adjustments, consisting of normal, recurring accruals considered necessary for a fair presentation, have been included. Results of operations for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024 are not necessarily indicative of results to be expected for the year ending December 31, 2023 December 31, 2024. These financial statements should be read in conjunction with the audited financial statements and related notes as of and for the year ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 included in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

Certain amounts have been reclassified to conform to the current period's presentation.

2. Accounting Policies

Recently Adopted Accounting Guidance

There is no recently issued accounting guidance effective that is expected to have a material impact on the Company's financial position, results of operations, or liquidity.

Recent Accounting Guidance Issued Not Yet Effective

There are no new pronouncements. In November 2023, the FASB issued but not yet effective ASU 2023-07 Segment Reporting – Improving Reportable Segment Disclosures (Topic 280). The update is intended to improve reportable segment disclosure requirements, primarily through enhanced disclosures about significant expenses. The ASU requires disclosure to include significant segment expenses that are expected regularly provided to have the chief operating decision maker (CODM), a material description of other segment items by reportable segment, and any additional measures of a segment's profit or loss used by the CODM when deciding how to allocate resources. The ASU also requires all annual disclosures currently required by Topic 280 to be included in interim periods. The update is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023 and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024, with early adoption permitted and requires retrospective application to all prior periods presented in the financial statements. The Company is currently assessing the timing and impact of adopting the updated provisions.

In December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09, Income Taxes (Topic 740): Improvements to Income Tax Disclosures, which includes amendments that further enhance income tax disclosures, primarily through standardization and disaggregation of rate reconciliation categories and income taxes paid by jurisdiction. The amendments are effective for the Company's annual periods beginning June 1, 2025, with early adoption permitted, and should be applied either prospectively or retrospectively. The Company is currently evaluating the ASU to determine its impact on the Company's financial position, results of operations, or liquidity disclosures.

6. Derivatives

Diesel fuel price risk management

The Company is exposed to price risk with respect to diesel fuel purchased for use in its operations. The Company anticipates purchasing approximately 30 to 35 million gallons of diesel fuel for use in its operations during 2023. To protect the Company's cash flows from increases in the price of diesel fuel for its operations, the Company has purchased heating oil call options. At September 30, 2023, the Company had protected the price of expected diesel fuel purchases for the remainder of 2023 with approximately 6 million gallons of heating oil call options with an average strike price of $3.06 per gallon. These positions are not designated as hedges for accounting purposes, and therefore, changes in the fair value are recorded immediately to earnings.

Coal price risk management positions

The Company may sell or purchase forward contracts, swaps and options in the over-the-counter coal market or on an exchange in order to manage its exposure to coal prices. The Company has exposure to the risk of fluctuating coal prices related to forecasted, index-priced sales or purchases of coal or to the risk of changes in the fair value of a fixed price physical sales contract. Certain derivative contracts may be designated as hedges of these risks.

At September 30, 2023, the Company held derivatives for risk management purposes that are expected to settle in the following years.

The amounts shown in the table below represent the fair value position of individual contracts, and not the net position presented in the accompanying Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheets. The fair value and location of derivatives reflected in the accompanying Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheets are as follows:

LLC and Jefferies International Limited (each a "Counterparty" and collectively, the "Counterparties") to terminate and unwind certain capped call transactions by and between the Company and each Counterparty (such transactions, the "Capped Calls"). The Company entered into the Capped Calls in connection with the offering of its now-retired Convertible Notes, the Company entered into privately negotiated convertible note hedge transactions (collectively, the "Capped Call Transactions"). The Capped Call Transactions cover, subject to customary anti-dilution adjustments, the number of shares of the Company's common stock that initially underlie the Convertible Notes.

The Company retired 315,721 of its outstanding shares via the event that the market price termination and unwinding of the Company's common stock is greater than the strike price of the Capped Call Transactions, which was initially $37.325 per share and the initial cap price was $52.255 per share. 10.9. Fair Value Measurements

The hierarchy of fair value measurements assigns a level to fair value measurements based on the inputs used in the respective valuation techniques. The levels of the hierarchy, as defined below, give the highest priority to unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities and the lowest priority to unobservable inputs.

- Level 1 is defined as observable inputs such as quoted prices in active markets for identical assets. Level 1 assets include U.S. Treasury securities, and coal swaps and futures that are submitted for clearing on the New York Mercantile Exchange.
- Level 2 is defined as observable inputs other than Level 1 prices. These include quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in an active market, quoted prices for identical assets and liabilities in markets that are not active, or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data for substantially the full term of the assets or liabilities. The Company's Level 2 assets and liabilities include

U.S. government agency securities, coal commodity contracts, and interest rate swaps with fair values derived from quoted prices in over-the-counter markets or from prices received from direct broker quotes.

- Level 3 is defined as unobservable inputs in which little or no market data exists, therefore requiring an entity to develop its own assumptions. These include the Company's commodity option contracts (heating oil) valued using modeling techniques, such as Black-Scholes, that require the use of inputs, particularly volatility, that are rarely observable.

The Company has contributed $140.4 million to a fund that will serve to defease the long-term asset retirement obligation for its thermal asset base; this amount is recorded as "Fund for asset retirement obligations" on the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheets. The funds are invested in highly rated securities, such as U.S. Treasuries, which fall within Level 1 of the fair value hierarchy. The funds will only be utilized for final mine closure reclamation activities.

11.10. Earnings per Common Share

The Company computes basic net income per share using the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted net income per share is computed using the weighted average number of common shares and the effect of potentially dilutive securities outstanding during the period. Potentially dilutive securities may consist of warrants, restricted stock units, and convertible debt. The dilutive effect of outstanding warrants and restricted stock units is reflected in diluted earnings per share by application of the treasury stock method whereas the Convertible Debt uses the if converted method.

The following table provides the basic and diluted earnings per share by reconciling the numerators and denominators of the computations:

12.11. Workers' Compensation Expense

The Company is liable under the Federal Mine Safety and Health Act of 1969, as subsequently amended, to provide for pneumoconiosis (occupational disease) benefits to eligible employees, former employees and dependents. The Company currently provides for federal claims principally through a self-insurance program. The Company is also liable under various state workers' compensation statutes for occupational disease benefits. The occupational disease benefit obligation represents the present value of the actuarially computed present and future liabilities for such benefits over the employees' applicable years of service.

In October 2019, the Company filed an application with the Office of Workers' Compensation Programs ("OWCP") within the Department of Labor for reauthorization to self-insure federal black lung benefits. In February 2020, the Company received a reply from the OWCP confirming its status to remain self-insured contingent upon posting additional collateral of $71.1 million within 30 days of receipt of the letter. The Company is currently appealing the ruling from the OWCP and has received an extension to self-insure during the appeal process.

On January 18, 2023, the OWCP proposed revisions to regulations under the Black Lung Benefits Act governing authorization of self-insurers. The revisions seek to codify the practice of basing a self-insured operator's security requirement on an actuarial assessment of its total present and future black lung liability. A material change to the regulations is the requirement that all self-insured operators must post security equal to 120% of their projected black lung liabilities.

The proposed regulations were posted to the Federal Register on January 19, 2023 with written comments to be accepted within 60 days of this date. A subsequent extended comment period expired on April 19, 2023; however, the final regulations have not yet been published.

If the above regulation is codified into law, the Company will be required to post additional collateral to maintain its self-insured status. The Company is evaluating alternatives to self-insurance, including the purchase of commercial insurance to cover these claims. Additionally, the Company is assessing additional sources of liquidity, and other items to satisfy the proposed regulations.

In addition, the Company is liable for workers' compensation benefits for traumatic injuries which are calculated using actuarially-based loss rates, loss development factors and discounted based on a risk free rate. Traumatic workers' compensation claims are insured with varying retentions/deductibles, or through state-sponsored workers' compensation programs.

Workers' compensation expense consists of the following components:

In February 2022, the Board of Directors approved the termination of the Company's Cash Balance Pension Plan. The Company has executed plan amendments regarding the termination and filed an Application for Determination for Terminating Pension Plan with the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS"), which was approved by the IRS during the first quarter of 2023. The Company also prepared and filed appropriate notices and documents related to the Pension Plan's termination and wind-down with the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation ("PBGC"). To complete the termination of the plan, the Company made a $3.2 million cash contribution into the plan in order to complete lump sum payments and to purchase annuity contracts for plan participants. A gain of $4.0 million was recognized on the plan termination, which is reflected in the Condensed Consolidated Income Statements line item "Non-service related pension and postretirement benefits credits (costs)". The Company no longer administers or pays the retirement benefits of the Company's Cash Balance Pension Plan going forward. Plan.

14.13. Commitments and Contingencies

The Company accrues for costs related to contingencies when a loss is probable and the amount is reasonably determinable. Disclosure of contingencies is included in the financial statements when it is at least reasonably possible that a material loss or an additional material loss in excess of amounts already accrued may be incurred.

The Company is a party to numerous claims and lawsuits with respect to various matters. The ultimate resolution of any such legal matter could result in outcomes that may be materially different from amounts the Company has accrued for such matters. The Company believes it has recorded adequate reserves for these matters.

In the normal course of business, the Company is a party to certain financial instruments with off-balance sheet risk, such as bank letters of credit, performance or surety bonds, and other guarantees and indemnities related to the obligations of affiliated entities which are not reflected in the Company's Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheets. However, the underlying liabilities that they secure, such as asset retirement obligations, workers' compensation liabilities, and other obligations, are reflected in the Company's Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheets.

15.14. Segment Information

The Company's reportable business segments are based on two distinct lines of business, metallurgical and thermal, and may include a number of mine complexes. The Company manages its coal sales by market and coal quality, not by individual mining complex. Geology, coal transportation routes to customers, and regulatory environments also have a significant impact on the Company's marketing and operations management. Mining operations are evaluated based on Adjusted EBITDA, per-ton cash operating costs (defined as including all mining costs except depreciation, depletion, amortization, accretion on asset retirement obligations, and pass-through transportation expenses, divided by segment tons sold), and on other non-financial measures, such as safety and environmental performance. Adjusted EBITDA is not a measure of financial performance in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and items excluded from Adjusted EBITDA are significant in understanding and assessing the Company's financial condition. Therefore, Adjusted EBITDA should not be considered in isolation, nor as an alternative to net income, income from operations, cash flows from operations or as a measure of our profitability, liquidity or performance under generally accepted accounting principles. The Company uses Adjusted EBITDA to measure the operating performance of its segments and allocate resources to the segments. Furthermore, analogous measures are used by industry analysts and investors to evaluate the Company's operating performance. Investors should be aware that the Company's presentation of Adjusted EBITDA may not be comparable to similarly titled measures used by other companies. The Company reports its results of operations primarily through the following reportable segments: Metallurgical (MET) segment, containing the Company's metallurgical operations in West Virginia, and the Thermal segment containing the Company's thermal operations in Wyoming and Colorado.

Reporting segment results for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024 and 2022 2023 are presented below. The Corporate, Other, and Eliminations grouping includes these charges: idle operations; equity investments; change in fair value of coal

16.15. Revenue Recognition

ASC 606-10-50-5 requires that entities disclose disaggregated revenue information in categories (such as type of goods or services, geography, market, type of contract, etc.) that depict how the nature, amount, timing, and uncertainty of revenue and cash flow are affected by economic factors. ASC 606-10-55-89 explains that the extent to which an entity's revenue is disaggregated depends on the facts and circumstances that pertain to the entity's contracts with customers and that some entities may need to use more than one type of category to meet the objective for disaggregating revenue.

In general, the Company's business segmentation is aligned according to the nature and economic characteristics of its coal and customer relationships and provides meaningful disaggregation of each segment's results. The Company has further disaggregated revenue between North America and Seaborne revenues which depicts the pricing and contract differences between the two. North America revenue is characterized by contracts with a term of one year or longer and typically the pricing is fixed; whereas Seaborne revenue generally is derived by from spot or short term contracts with an index-based pricing mechanism.

17.16. Leases

The Company has operating and financing leases for mining equipment, office equipment, office space and transloading terminals with remaining lease terms ranging from less than one year to approximately four three years. Some of these leases include both lease and non-lease components which are accounted for as a single lease component as the Company has elected the practical expedient to combine these components for all leases. As most of the leases do not provide an implicit rate, the Company calculated the "right-of-use" ("ROU") assets and lease liabilities using its secured incremental borrowing rate at the lease commencement date.

As of September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024 and December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, the Company had the following ROU assets and lease liabilities within its Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheets:

Overview

Our results for the three months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024, were pressured impacted by softening of global metallurgical coal markets and domestic thermal coal markets. Despite the relative softness, coal markets, particularly coking coal markets, have remained above previous long-term average levels, and high-quality coking coal markets began to strengthen late in the third quarter. The Russian invasion of Ukraine continues to distort previously established trading patterns in the global energy markets. However, slow global economic levels. Economic growth and the generally mild winter heating season remains constrained, particularly in Europe and much of North America have limited overall energy demand and moderated both metallurgical and thermal coal markets. In the Pacific, while China has lifted the suspension of purchases of Australian coal, traditional trade flows in coal markets are far from being reestablished. General global Americas, due to stubborn inflationary pressure has moderated, following and continuing tighter monetary policies from many nations' central banks. However, inflation may not be completely contained, and the timing and magnitude of further tightening of monetary policy remains uncertain. On a macro level, the outlook for global Slower economic growth is uncertain, but supply constraints continue to support global metallurgical negatively impacts end user demand for our products and thermal has a negative impact on coal markets to varying degrees. markets.

The February 2022 Over two years since the February 24, 2022, Russian invasion of Ukraine, the war continues to significantly disrupt previously established global coal and with no indication any resolution is close. Major changes in energy trading patterns driving Russian products into Asian markets at discounted prices. Ongoing bans appear to be set while hostilities continue. Bans on the import of Russian coal by the European Union, the United Kingdom, Japan, and other nations continue to pressure drive Russian coal into China, India, Turkey, and other Asian countries. These destinations have generally sourced Russian coals at discounts, sometimes significant discounts, from what similar quality coals from other origins would have required. We expect continued availability of supply to these discounted Russian coal into Asian markets. In particular, However, we believe most Russian coal is thermal and lower quality metallurgical and that the European Union's availability of high quality Russian coking coal is limited.

During the year ended December 31, 2023, China effectively lifted the ban on importation imports of coal from Australia. While Australian coal is once again flowing into China, it is at much lower volumes than before the ban. Increased Chinese domestic production and increased imports of discounted Russian coal which became effective on August 10, 2022, and the related restriction of Russian natural gas supplies into Europe, contributed continue to historically high thermal coal prices in the international markets during 2022. The mild winter heating season in Europe prevented anticipated natural gas and electricity shortages, allowing European energy markets to moderate. This moderation of European energy prices led to the reopening of several Basic Oxygen Furnace ("BOF") steel plants in Europe that had been idled during 2022. However, during pressure import volumes from Australia. In the three months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024, Australian coking coal exports appear to be on track to increase compared to the three months ended March 31, 2023. The increase in availability of Australian coking coal and continued muted demand from China resulted in a rapid decline in Pacific coking coal indices in the three months ended March 31, 2024. Atlantic coking coal indices have declined as well, but not to the same degree, as price differentials between Atlantic and Pacific coking coal markets have compressed. We believe that some high cost coking coal sources are already under economic weakness in Europe, pressure at current market levels.

On March 26, 2024, a large container vessel lost power and struck one of the main support piers of the Francis Scott Key Bridge, plunging most of the span into the water and effectively blocking shipping access to Baltimore Harbor. One of the primary coking coal loading ports we use for loading export coal, the Curtis Bay Terminal (CBT), is currently blocked until the debris can be removed and the related decline main shipping channel reopened. The United States Army Corps of Engineers has provided an initial estimate that the main channel will be reopened, and normal shipping restored by the end of May 2024. We have been working with our logistics partners to effectively maximize available throughput at our other primary coking coal loading port, Dominion Terminals Associates (DTA), in prices for finished steel products, led which we have a 35% ownership interest, and with its rail service provider to new announcements move as much of idlings its export coking coal volume as possible via that terminal, while also exploring other export alternatives. The duration of BOF steel plants for maintenance activities. Current economic weakness constrains demand for finished steel products in Europe.

In the fourth quarter of 2020, China effectively banned the import this logistical disruption is beyond our control, and it may negatively impact our export shipment volume of coking coal and thermal coal, among other products, from Australia, may increase logistics costs, such as demurrage, until the largest global exporter main channel reopens. We believe the Port of Baltimore was going to handle approximately nine million tons of coking coal. In coal from the fourth quarter of 2022 China began lifting this ban industry in 2024, and any prolonged outage could have an impact on Australian coal. The lifting of this ban is slowly impacting trade patterns, as Australian coal begins to flow into China once again. We expect international coking and thermal coal markets to remain volatile while a new equilibrium is sought in the global trading patterns. Russian coking coal, offered at discounts to published indices, remains a larger share of Chinese and Indian imports compared to historical levels, but logistical, financial, and quality constraints exist as potential barriers to further increase in Russian supplies to these markets. Chinese domestic coking coal production, and overland imports from Mongolia, have also increased significantly. However, Australian coking coal supply has continued and demand balance.

With respect to decline, and North American the global coking coal supply has only increased incrementally, despite coking coal prices staying persistently above long-term historical averages. The consistent supply constraints have supported high-quality coking coal markets, and by the end of the three months ended September 30, 2023, scarcity of high-quality coking coal has driven indices for these products higher.

Some new coking coal supply has been added to the market, and more is planned. However, production and logistical disruptions, continue to constrain supply. The duration of specific supply disruptions is unknown. We believe that underinvestment in the sector in recent years underlies longer-term market dynamics. Overall, underinvestment in the sector appears likely to persist, despite favorable markets, as government policies and diminished access to traditional capital markets limits investment in the sector. In the current macroeconomic environment, we expect coking coal prices to remain volatile. Longer term, we believe continued limited global capital investment in new coking coal production capacity, normal reserve depletion, and an eventual return to economic growth will provide support to coking coal markets.

On October 2, 2023, we announced a reduction in our full year 2023 coking coal sales volume guidance from between 8.9 and 9.7 million tons to between 8.6 and 8.9 million tons, and an increase in full year Metallurgical Segment cash cost per ton sold guidance from between $79 and $89 to between $88 and $91. This volume reduction of approximately 0.5 to 0.6 million tons at the midpoint, and cost increase of approximately $5.50 per ton sold at the midpoint, primarily reflects ongoing challenges mining in the first longwall district at our Leer South mine.

During the first nine months of 2023, ended March 31, 2024, domestic thermal coal consumption was pressured by falling natural gas prices, and a generally mild winter heating season in most of the heavily populated areas of the United States. Low natural gas prices, persisted through the summer cooling season, increased

Currently, natural gas prices are at levels such that the economic dispatch natural gas generation is economically dispatched ahead of gas versus thermal coal is dependent on region and plant specific parameters. generation in most instances. We have firm sales commitments for the current year for our thermal segment at volume levels that provide for which support economic operation, efficient mine operations, and which will remain so even though delivery of some of this volume has been deferred, will be deferred by agreement with some customers. Longer term, we continue to believe thermal coal demand in the United States will remain pressured by continuing increases in subsidized renewable generation sources, particularly wind and solar, competition from natural gas, and planned retirements of coal fueled generating facilities. Despite some moderation, international thermal coal markets remain above long-term historical averages, supporting continued export opportunities for our thermal operations.

During the first three months of 2023, we initially encountered adverse geologic conditions at our West Elk thermal coal operation. These conditions impacted both our volumes and coal quality. Due to this situation, we issued force majeure notices to our West Elk customers and logistics providers operations correspond with shipments affected by that event. On September 1, 2023, we lifted the force majeure, and believe geologic conditions at West Elk will allow more normal operations going forward. We continue to communicate with customers and logistics providers, to manage the transition back to more normal operations.

We continue to pursue strategic alternatives for our thermal assets, including, among other things, potential divestiture, existing sales commitments. We are concurrently shrinking our operational footprint at our Powder River Basin operations and putting in place funding to pay for the eventual closure and final reclamation of these operations. During the first nine months of 2023, we contributed $4.4 million to our fund for asset retirement obligations, representing interest earned, bringing our total to $140.4 million $144.1 million. Additionally, we performed approximately $13.1 million of reclamation work at our thermal operations in the first nine months of 2023. We plan to continue to grow the thermal mine reclamation fund through interest earnings. We continue to exercise our operational flexibility to maximize cash generation from our thermal operations. Currently, our planned production levels correspond with existing commitments. Longer term, we will maintain our focus on aligning our thermal production rates with the expected secular decline in domestic coal-fired power generation, while maximizing sales into export and industrial markets, and maintaining flexibility to react to short-term market fluctuations.

Cost of sales. Our cost of sales for the third first quarter of 2023 2024 decreased approximately $13.1 million $4.0 million, or 2.2% 0.7%, versus the third first quarter of 2022 2023. Depreciation, depletion and amortization. The increase in depreciation, depletion, and amortization in the third first quarter of 2024 versus the first quarter of 2023 versus the third quarter of 2022 primarily related to increased amortization within the Thermal segment related to the annual re-costing exercise on asset retirement obligations completed during the fourth quarter of 2022 metallurgical segment.

Accretion on asset retirement obligations. The increase in accretion expense in the third first quarter of 2023 2024 versus the third first quarter of 2022 2023 is primarily related to the results of our annual recosting exercise completed during the fourth quarter of 2022 2023.

Cost of sales. Our cost of sales for the first nine months of 2023 increased approximately $16.7 million, or 1.0%, versus the first nine months of 2022. The increase in cost of sales is primarily attributable to general inflationary pressure on most goods and services, which consists of increased repairs and supplies costs of approximately $34.8 million, a $30.5 million reduction of coal inventory compared to the prior period, increased compensation costs of approximately $23.9 million, increased contract services of approximately $4.5 million, and increased insurance and taxes of approximately $6.6 million partially offset by decreased transportation costs of approximately $60.1 million and decreased sales sensitive costs of approximately $21.9 million. See discussion in "Operational Performance" for further information about segment results.

Depreciation, depletion, and amortization. The increase in depreciation, depletion, and amortization in the first nine months of 2023 versus the first nine months of 2022 primarily relates to increased amortization within the Thermal segment related to the annual re-costing exercise on asset retirement obligations completed during the fourth quarter of 2022.

Accretion on asset retirement obligations. The increase in accretion expense in the first nine months of 2023 versus the first nine months of 2022 is primarily related to the results of our annual recosting exercise completed during the fourth quarter of 2022.

Change in fair value of coal derivative, net. The costs in both the first nine months of 2023 and 2022 are primarily related to mark-to-market losses on coal derivatives that are used to hedge our price risk for international thermal coal shipments.

Selling, general and administrative expenses. Selling, general and administrative expenses in the first nine months of 2023 decreased versus the first nine months of 2022, primarily due to decreased compensation costs of approximately $7.2 million, partially offset by an increase in professional services of approximately $1.7 million.

Other operating (income) expense, net. The change in other operating (income) expense, net in the first nine months of 2023 versus the expense in first nine months of 2022 is primarily due to the net favorable impact of certain coal derivative settlements of approximately $47.4 million when compared to prior year, partially offset by the unfavorable impact of mark to market movements on heating oil positions of approximately $10.4 million and an approximate $3.1 million increase in our equity investment expense.

Operational Performance

Three and Nine Months Ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024 and 2022 2023

Our mining operations are evaluated based on Adjusted EBITDA, per-ton cash operating costs (defined as including all mining costs except depreciation, depletion, amortization, accretion on asset retirements obligations, and pass-through transportation expenses, divided by segment tons sold), and on other non-financial measures, such as safety and environmental performance. Adjusted EBITDA is defined as net income attributable to us before the effect of net interest expense, income taxes, depreciation, depletion and amortization, the amortization of sales contracts, the accretion on asset retirement obligations and nonoperating income (expenses). Adjusted EBITDA may also be adjusted for items that may not reflect the trend of future results by excluding transactions that are not indicative of our core operating performance. Adjusted EBITDA is not a measure of financial performance in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and items excluded from Adjusted EBITDA are significant in understanding and assessing our financial condition. Therefore, Adjusted EBITDA should not be considered in isolation, nor as an alternative to net income, income from operations, cash flows from operations or as a measure of our profitability, liquidity or performance under generally accepted accounting principles. Furthermore, analogous measures are used by industry analysts and investors to evaluate our operating performance. Investors should be aware that our presentation of Adjusted EBITDA may not be comparable to similarly titled measures used by other companies.

Metallurgical — Adjusted EBITDA for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024, decreased from the three and nine months ended September 30, 2022 March 31, 2023 due to decreased coal sales per ton sold partially offset by and increased tons sold and lower cash cost per ton sold. As discussed previously in the "Overview," coal sales per ton sold declined from the historically high levels of the prior year periods period as weak global economic growth muted demand for finished steel products, which and an increase in high quality coking coal supply in international markets exerted downward pressure on international coking coal prices. Tons sold increased and cash cost Coal sales per ton sold decreased as each was also impacted by an increase in the percentage of our metallurgical mines increased production volume over associated thermal coal in the prior year periods. sales mix, along with reduced market prices for this product. Cash cost per ton sold increased primarily due to decreased versus production volume. Production volume in the current year period was lower at both our Leer and Leer South operations due to less favorable geologic conditions in the current quarter compared to the prior year periods despite continued inflationary pressure on most goods quarter, and services, equipment outages. Additionally, Leer production was impacted due to a delayed start in the increase in production volume current longwall panel to coordinate the longwall mining with the relocation of power lines which were to be undermined and decreased taxes and royalties that are based on a percentage of coal sales per ton sold. We were compensated $9.1 million through this arrangement.

Our Metallurgical segment sold 2.2 million 1.9 million tons of coking coal and 0.3 million tons of associated thermal coal in the three months ended March 31, 2024, compared to 2.1 million tons of coking coal and 0.1 million tons of associated thermal coal in the three months ended September 30, 2023, compared to 1.8 million tons of coking coal and 0.1 million tons of associated thermal coal in the three months ended September 30, 2022. For the nine months ended September 30, 2023, we sold 6.5 million tons of coking coal and 0.4 million tons of associated thermal coal, compared to 5.3 million tons of coking coal and 0.2 million tons of associated thermal coal in the nine months ended September 30, 2022 March 31, 2023. Longwall operations accounted for approximately 79% 76% of our shipment volume in the three months ended September 30, 2023 and approximately 77% of our shipment volume in the nine months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024, compared to approximately 78% 80% of our shipment volume in the three months ended September 30, 2022 and approximately 76% of our shipment volume in the nine months ended September 30, 2022 March 31, 2023.

Thermal — Adjusted EBITDA for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024 decreased versus the three and nine months ended September 30, 2022 March 31, 2023, due to decreased tons sold, decreased coal sales per ton sold, decreased tons sold, and increased cash cost per ton sold. All of these metrics were adversely impacted As discussed previously in the current three- and nine-month periods by "Overview," tons sold declined due to weakness in the generally mild heating and cooling seasons, domestic thermal market related to low natural gas prices and the adverse geologic conditions encountered at our West Elk operation, as discussed in the Overview section above. increased renewable generation. Coal sales per ton sold was further impacted in the current year periods by declined due to the roll off and replacement of some high-priced domestic higher priced business that was contracted for the prior year periods during the second half of 2021, which was and a period of very strong domestic thermal coal markets. Additionally, the prior year periods had historically high decline in international thermal coal indices upon which most of our export thermal sales are priced. indices. Cash cost per ton sold increased primarily due to the decrease in tons sold. sales volumes.

Reconciliation of Non-GAAP measures

Segment measures Segment coal sales per ton sold

Non-GAAP Segment coal sales per ton sold is calculated as segment coal sales revenues divided by segment tons sold. Segment coal sales revenues are adjusted for transportation costs, and may be adjusted for other items that, due to generally accepted accounting principles, are classified in "other income" on the Income Statements, but relate to price protection on the sale of coal. Segment coal sales per ton sold is not a measure of financial performance in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. We believe segment coal sales per ton sold provides useful information to investors as it better reflects our revenue for the quality of coal sold and our operating results by including all income from coal sales. The adjustments made to arrive at these measures are significant in understanding and assessing our financial condition. Therefore, segment coal sales revenues should not be considered in isolation, nor as an alternative to coal sales revenues under generally accepted accounting principles.

Segment cash cost per ton sold

Non-GAAP Segment cash cost per ton sold is calculated as segment cash cost of coal sales divided by segment tons sold. Segment cash cost of coal sales is adjusted for transportation costs, and may be adjusted for other items that, due to generally accepted accounting principles, are classified in "other income" on the statements of operations, but relate directly to the costs incurred to produce coal. Segment cash cost per ton sold is not a measure of financial performance in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. We believe segment cash cost per ton sold better reflects our controllable costs and our operating results by including all costs incurred to produce coal. The adjustments made to arrive at these measures are significant in understanding and assessing our financial condition. Therefore, segment cash cost of coal sales should not be considered in isolation, nor as an alternative to cost of sales under generally accepted accounting principles.

Reconciliation of Net Income to Segment Adjusted EBITDA

The discussion in "Results of Operations" above includes references to our Adjusted EBITDA for each of our reportable segments. Adjusted EBITDA is defined as net income attributable to us before the effect of net interest expense, income taxes, depreciation, depletion and amortization, the accretion on asset retirement obligations and nonoperating (income) expenses. Adjusted EBITDA may also be adjusted for items that may not reflect the trend of future results by excluding transactions that are not indicative of our core operating performance. We use Adjusted EBITDA to measure the operating performance of our segments and allocate resources to our segments. Adjusted EBITDA is not a measure of financial performance in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and items excluded from Adjusted EBITDA are significant in understanding and assessing our financial condition. Therefore, Adjusted EBITDA should not be considered in isolation, nor as an alternative to net income, income from operations, cash flows from operations or as a measure of our profitability, liquidity or performance under generally accepted accounting principles. Investors should be aware that our presentation of Adjusted EBITDA may not be comparable to similarly titled measures used by other companies. The table below shows how we calculate Adjusted EBITDA.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Our primary sources of liquidity are proceeds from coal sales to customers and certain financing arrangements. Excluding significant investing activity, we intend to satisfy our working capital requirements and fund capital expenditures and debt-service obligations with cash generated from operations and cash on hand. We remain focused on prudently managing costs, including capital expenditures, maintaining a strong balance sheet, and ensuring adequate liquidity.

Given the volatile nature of coal markets, we believe it remains important to take a prudent approach to managing our balance sheet and liquidity. Additionally, banks and other lenders have become increasingly hesitant to provide financing to coal producers, especially those with significant thermal coal exposure. Due to the nature of our business, we may be limited in accessing debt capital markets or obtaining additional bank financing, or the cost of accessing this financing could become more expensive.

Our priority is to ~~improve~~ maintain our strong financial position through enhancing with substantial liquidity and ~~reducing our~~ low levels of debt and other liabilities, while returning significant value to our stockholders. We ended the first quarter of 2024 with cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments of $319.8 million and total liquidity of $442.1 million. During the first ~~nine~~ three months of ~~2023~~ 2024, capital expenditures were approximately ~~$121.0 million~~ $45.4 million, and we expect our capital spending to remain at maintenance levels for the foreseeable future. During the first nine months of 2023, we repurchased $13.2 million in principal amount of our Convertible Notes with consideration of $58.4 million and received approximately $43.9 million for warrants that were exercised. We ended the third quarter of 2023 with cash, cash equivalents and short-term investments of $213.5 million and total liquidity of $337.2 million. We believe our current liquidity level is sufficient to fund our business and meet both our short-term (the next twelve months) and reasonably foreseeable long-term requirements and obligations including our capital return ~~policy~~ policy. We expect to maintain minimum liquidity levels of approximately $250 million to $300 million, with a substantial portion of that held in cash. In addition, we expect to hold additional cash at the end of each quarter in an amount that represents a substantial portion of the following quarter's dividend payment.

We believe we have significantly increased remain committed to returning 100% of our future cash-generating capabilities, excess cash flow to shareholders through a combination of share repurchases and as a result, in the second quarter of 2022, we launched a comprehensive capital return program that includes both a variable rate cash dividend and share buybacks, dividends. Additionally, the Board has the flexibility to consider other alternatives, including capital preservation. For the ~~nine~~ three months ended ~~September 30, 2023~~ March 31, 2024, we paid approximately ~~$183.8 million~~ $43.7 million to our stockholders in the form of dividends and spent approximately ~~$122.5 million~~ $13.7 million to repurchase our common stock. Any future dividends and all other potential uses of capital are subject to board approval and declaration.

Based on the first quarter discretionary cash flow, a combined fixed and variable dividend payment of $1.11 per share will be made to stockholders of record as of May 31, 2024, payable on June 14, 2024.

The table below summarizes our first quarter discretionary cash flow and total dividend payout:

	Three Months Ended March 31,

During the second quarter of 2022, the Board of Directors increased the remaining outstanding authorization for share repurchases to $500 million. During the quarter ended March 31, 2024, we repurchased shares of our common stock for approximately $13.7 million bringing total repurchases to 12,291,328 shares for approximately $1.1 billion since the inception of the program in 2017. As of March 31, 2024 there is $202 million of remaining authorization under the program. The timing of any future share purchases, and the ultimate number of shares to be purchased, will depend on a number of factors, including business and market conditions, our future financial performance, and other capital priorities. The shares will be acquired in the open market or through private transactions in accordance with Securities and Exchange Commission requirements. Our share repurchase program may be amended, suspended or discontinued at any time and does not commit us to repurchase shares of our common stock.

On January 18, 2023, the Office of Workers' Compensation Programs ("OWCP") proposed revisions to regulations under the Black Lung Benefits Act governing authorization of self-insurers. The revisions seek to codify the practice of basing a self-insured operator's security requirement on an actuarial assessment of its total present and future black lung liability. A material change to the regulations is the requirement that all self-insured operators must post security equal to 120% of their projected black lung liabilities. The proposed regulations were posted to the Federal Register on January 19, 2023 with written comments to be accepted within 60 days of this date. A subsequent extended comment period expired on April 19, 2023; however, the final regulations have not yet been published. The revisions proposed by the OWCP were a material deviation from their bulletin issued in December 2020 that would have required the majority of coal operators to post security equal to 70% of their projected black lung liabilities, which, at the time, equated to the Company posting additional collateral of $71.1 million. If the above regulation is codified into law, the Company will be required to post additional collateral to maintain its self-insured status. The Company is evaluating alternatives to self-insurance, including the purchase of commercial insurance to cover these claims. Additionally, the Company is assessing additional sources of liquidity and other items to satisfy the proposed regulations. Any of these outcomes will require additional collateral and would reduce our available liquidity.

Based on the third quarter discretionary cash flow, a combined fixed and variable dividend payment of $1.13 per share will be made to stockholders of record as of November 30, 2023, payable on December 15, 2023.

The table below summarizes our third quarter discretionary cash flow and total dividend payout:

During On February 8, 2024, the second quarter of 2022, the Board of Directors increased the remaining outstanding authorization for share repurchases to $500 million. During the quarter ended September 30, 2023, we repurchased shares of our common stock for approximately $28.7 million bringing total repurchases to 12,176,846 shares for approximately $1.1 billion since the inception of the program in 2017. As of September 30, 2023 there is $221 million of remaining authorization under the program. The timing of any future share purchases, and the ultimate number of shares to be purchased, will depend on Company entered into a number of factors, including business and market conditions, our future financial performance, and other capital priorities. The shares will be acquired new senior secured term loan credit agreement in the open market principal amount of $20.0 million (the "Term Loan") with PNC Bank, National Association, as administrative and collateral agent. The Term Loan requires quarterly principal amortization payments of $3.3 million and matures on June 30, 2025. The interest rate on the facility is, at the option of Arch Resources, either (i) Secured Overnight Financing Rate ("SOFR") plus a SOFR adjustment of .10% plus an applicable margin of 3.00%, subject to a SOFR floor of 0.00%, or through private transactions in accordance with Securities and Exchange Commission requirements. Our share repurchase program may be amended, suspended or discontinued at any time and does not commit us to repurchase shares (ii) a base rate plus an applicable margin of our common stock, 2.00%.

The above standby letters of credit outstanding have primarily been issued to satisfy certain insurance-related collateral requirements. The amount of collateral required by counterparties is based on their assessment of our ability to satisfy our obligations and may change at the time of policy renewal or based on a change in their assessment. Future increases in the amount of collateral required by counterparties would reduce our available liquidity.

Contractual Obligations

Our contractual obligations include long-term debt and related interest, leases, coal lease rights, coal purchase obligations, and unconditional purchase obligations. As discussed above, we have reduced increased our long-term debt by repurchasing approximately $13.2 million a principal amount of $20 million under our Convertible Notes Term Loan during the first nine three months of 2023, 2024. There have been no other material changes to our contractual obligations from our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

In the normal course of business, we are a party to certain off-balance sheet arrangements. These arrangements include guarantees, indemnifications and financial instruments with off-balance sheet risk, such as bank letters of credit and performance or surety bonds. Liabilities related to these arrangements are not reflected in our condensed consolidated balance sheets, and we do not expect any material adverse effects on our financial condition, results of operations or cash flows to result from these off-balance sheet arrangements. We use a combination of surety bonds and letters of credit to secure our financial obligations for reclamation, workers' compensation, coal lease obligations and other obligations. There have been no material changes to our off-balance sheet arrangements from our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023. For further information regarding off-balance sheet arrangements, see Note 14, 13, "Commitments and Contingencies" to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements.

Cash Flow

The following is a summary of cash provided by or used in each of the indicated types of activities during the nine three months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024 and 2022 2023:

(In thousands)	Nine Months Ended September 30,		Three Months Ended March 31,

Financing activities	(380,821)	(753,565)	(79,468)	(142,871)

Cash provided by operating activities decreased increased approximately $561 million $2.1 million compared to the prior year, primarily due to a net favorable change in working capital of approximately $189 million when compared to prior year offset by decrease in results from operations discussed in the "Overview" and "Operational Performance" sections above and a usage in working capital of approximately $200 million when compared to prior year offset partially by approximately $106 million reduction in funding to our thermal mine reclamation fund. above.

Cash used in investing activities increased in the nine three months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024, versus the nine three months ended September 30, 2022 March 31, 2023, primarily due to increased capital expenditures of approximately $26.5 million $14.9 million for maintenance capital partially offset by a decrease and increase in net short-term investment activity of approximately $3.3 million $6.5 million.

Cash used in financing activities declined $372.7 million $63.4 million compared to the prior period due to a decrease of approximately $355 million $75.5 million in overall debt payments compared to prior year and a reduction in dividends paid of approximately $80.8 million $23.2 million, partially offset by an increase a decrease in share repurchases of $66 million $7.1 million, and a decrease of $43.7 million of proceeds from warrants exercised in the prior year.

Critical Accounting Estimates

We prepare our financial statements in accordance with accounting principles that are generally accepted in the United States. The preparation of these financial statements requires management to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses as well as the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities. Management bases our estimates and judgments on historical experience and other factors that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances. There have been no material changes to our critical accounting estimates from our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

We manage our commodity price risk for our non-trading, thermal coal sales through the use of long-term coal supply agreements, and to a limited extent, through the use of derivative instruments. Sales commitments in the metallurgical coal market are typically not long term in nature, and we are therefore subject to fluctuations in market pricing.

Our sales commitments for 2023 2024 were as follows as of September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024:

2023		2024
Tons	$ per ton	Tons	$ per ton

Metallurgical		(in millions)		(in millions)

Thermal
Committed, Priced		68.2	$ 17.26	52.8	$ 17.16
Committed, Unpriced		0.6	—	0.9	—

We have exposure to price risk for supplies that are used directly or indirectly in the normal course of production, such as diesel fuel, steel, explosives and other items. We manage our risk for these items through strategic sourcing contracts in normal quantities with our suppliers. We may sell or purchase forward contracts, swaps and options in the over-the-counter market in order to manage ~~its~~ our exposure to price risk related to these items.

We are exposed to price risk with respect to diesel fuel purchased for use in our operations. We anticipate purchasing approximately 30 to 35 million gallons of diesel fuel for use in our operations annually. To protect our cash flows from increases in the price of diesel fuel for our operations, we use forward physical diesel purchase contracts, purchased heating oil call options and New York Mercantile Exchange ("NYMEX") gulf coast diesel swaps and options. At ~~September 30, 2023~~ ~~March 31, 2024~~, the Company had protected the price of expected diesel fuel purchases for the remainder of ~~2023~~ ~~2024~~ with approximately ~~6 million~~ ~~18 million~~ gallons of heating oil call options with an average strike price of ~~$3.06~~ ~~$3.00~~ per gallon. These positions are not designated as hedges for accounting purposes, and therefore, changes in the fair value are recorded immediately to earnings.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

We performed an evaluation under the supervision and with the participation of our management, including our chief executive officer and chief financial officer, of the effectiveness of the design and operation of our disclosure controls and procedures as of ~~September 30, 2023~~ ~~March 31, 2024~~. Based on that evaluation, our management, including our chief executive officer and chief financial officer, concluded that the disclosure controls and procedures were effective as of such date. There were no changes in our internal control over financial reporting during the fiscal quarter to which this report relates that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.

PART II

OTHER INFORMATION

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

We are involved in various claims and legal actions arising in the ordinary course of business, including commercial and employee injury claims. After conferring with counsel, it is the opinion of management that the ultimate resolution of these claims, to the extent not previously provided for, will not have a material adverse effect on our consolidated financial condition, results of operations or liquidity.

Item 1A. Risk Factors

There have been no material changes to the "Risk Factors" disclosed in Item 1A of our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended ~~December 31, 2022~~ ~~December 31, 2023~~.

Item 2. Unregistered Sales of Equity Securities and Use of Proceeds

During the second quarter of 2022, the Board of Directors increased the remaining outstanding authorization for share repurchases to $500 million. The timing of any future share purchases, and the ultimate number of shares of our common stock to be purchased, will depend on a number of factors, including business and market conditions, our future financial performance, and other capital priorities. The shares will be acquired in the open market or through private transactions in accordance with Securities and Exchange Commission requirements. The share repurchase program has no termination date, but may be amended, suspended or discontinued at any time and does not commit us to repurchase shares of our common stock. The actual number and value of the shares to be purchased will depend on the performance of our stock price and other market conditions.

A summary of our common stock repurchases during the three months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024 is set forth in the table below:

Mine Safety and Health Administration Safety Data

We believe that Arch Resources, Inc. ("Arch Resources") is one of the safest coal mining companies in the world. Safety is a core value at Arch Resources and at our subsidiary operations. We have in place a comprehensive safety program that includes extensive health & safety training for all employees, site inspections, emergency response preparedness, crisis communications training, incident investigation, regulatory compliance training and process auditing, as well as an open dialogue between all levels of employees. The goals of our processes are to eliminate exposure to hazards in the workplace, ensure that we comply with all mine safety regulations, and support regulatory and industry efforts to improve the health and safety of our employees along with the industry as a whole.

The operation of our mines is subject to regulation by the Federal Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) under the Federal Mine Safety and Health Act of 1977 (Mine Act). MSHA inspects our mines on a regular basis and issues various citations, orders and violations when it believes a violation has occurred under the Mine Act. We present information below regarding certain mining safety and health violations, orders and citations, issued by MSHA and related assessments and legal actions and mine-related fatalities with respect to our coal mining operations. In evaluating the above information regarding mine safety and health, investors should take into account factors such as: (i) the number of citations and orders will vary depending on the size of a coal mine, (ii) the number of citations issued will vary from inspector to inspector and mine to mine, and (iii) citations and orders can be contested and appealed, and in that process are often reduced in severity and amount, and are sometimes dismissed or vacated.

The table below sets forth for the three months ended September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024 for each active MSHA identification number of Arch Resources and its subsidiaries, the total number of: (i) violations of mandatory health or safety standards that could significantly and substantially contribute to the cause and effect of a coal or other mine safety or health hazard under section 104 of the Mine Act for which the operator received a citation from MSHA; (ii) orders issued under section 104(b) of the Mine Act; (iii) citations and orders for unwarrantable failure of the mine operator to comply with mandatory health or safety standards under section 104(d) of the Mine Act; (iv) flagrant violations under section 110(b)(2) of the Mine Act; (v) imminent danger orders issued under section 107(a) of the Mine Act; (vi) proposed assessments from MSHA (regardless of whether Arch Coal has challenged or appealed the assessment); (vii) mining-related fatalities; (viii) notices from MSHA of a pattern of violations of mandatory health or safety standards that are of such nature as could have significantly and substantially contributed to the cause and effect of coal or other mine health or safety hazards under section 104(e) of the Mine Act; (ix) notices from MSHA regarding the potential to have a pattern of violations as referenced in (viii) above; and (x) pending legal actions before the Federal Mine Safety and Health Review Commission (as of September 30, 2023 March 31, 2024) involving such coal or other mine, as well as the aggregate number of legal actions instituted and the aggregate number of legal actions resolved during the reporting period.
