Part I StealthGas Inc. is a Marshall Islands company that is referred to in this Annual Report on Form 20-F, together with its subsidiaries, as A A StealthGas, A A the A A Company, A A A A, A A A A, A A A A, A A A A. This Annual Report should be read in conjunction with our consolidated financial statements and the accompanying notes thereto, which are included in Item 18 to this Annual Report. A A 1 Table of Contents StealthGas incorporated Imperial Petroleum Inc. (A A Imperial Petroleum A A) under the laws of the Republic of the Marshall Islands on May 14, 2021, to serve as the holding company of four subsidiaries, each owning one of the tanker vessels in the Company's A A fleet, which the Company subsequently contributed to Imperial Petroleum in connection with the Tanker Spin-Off (as defined below). On December 3, 2021, the Company distributed all of Imperial Petroleum's outstanding shares of common stock and 8.75% Series A Cumulative Redeemable Perpetual Preferred Stock, liquidation preference $25.00 per share, to its stockholders, which completed the separation of Imperial Petroleum from StealthGas (the A A Tanker Spin-Off A A). We use the term cubic meters, or A A cbm, A A in describing the size of our liquefied petroleum gas (A A LPG A A) carriers. We use the term A A small A A to describe LPG carriers of between 3,000 and 8,000 cbm in capacity, the term A A Handysize A A to describe LPG carriers of between 15,000 and 25,000 cbm and the term A A medium range gas carriers A A or A A MGC A A to describe LPG carriers of between 30,000 and 45,000 cbm in capacity. Unless otherwise indicated, all references to currency amounts in this annual report are in U.S. dollars. All data regarding our fleet and the terms of our charters is as of April 1, 2024, unless otherwise indicated. As of April 1, 2024, our operating fleet was composed of 33 LPG carriers (including JVs) with a total capacity of 389,420 cbm. Our fleet on the water of 33 LPG carriers includes four A A vessels in which we own a 50.1% equity interest pursuant to a joint venture agreement with an unaffiliated financial investor, and two vessels in which we own a 51% equity interest (one of which the charterer has exercised its option to purchase from us) pursuant to a joint venture agreement with an unaffiliated third party (we refer to these six vessels, collectively, as the A A JV Vessels A A). We do not consolidate the results of operations of these joint ventures and account for our equity interest in these joint ventures under the equity method of accounting. See A A Item 4. Risk Factors Summary of Risk Factors An investment in our common stock is subject to a number of risks, including risks related to our industry, business and corporate structure. The following summarizes some, but not all, of these risks. Please carefully consider all of the information discussed in A A Item 3. Key Information-Risk Factors A A in this annual report for a more thorough description of these and other risks. Risks Related To Our Industry A A A A The cyclical nature of the demand for LPG transportation may lead to significant changes in our chartering and vessel utilization, which may result in difficulty finding profitable charters for our vessels. A A A A Economic and political factors, including increased trade protectionism and tariffs and health pandemics, such as the recent COVID-19 pandemic, and the conflict in Ukraine and related sanctions, the war in Gaza and the Houthi attacks on vessels in the Red Sea and Gulf of Aden, could materially adversely affect our business, financial position and results of operations. A A 2 Table of Contents A A A A Our revenues, operations and future growth could be adversely affected by a decrease in supply of liquefied natural gas, or natural gas. A A A A An over-supply of ships may lead to a reduction in charter rates, vessel values and profitability. A A A A The market values of our vessels may fluctuate significantly. When the market values of our vessels are low, we may incur a loss on sale of a vessel or record an impairment charge, which may adversely affect our profitability and possibly lead to defaults under our loan agreements. A A A A Technological innovation could reduce our charter hire income and the value of our vessels. A A A A Changes in fuel, or bunker, prices may adversely affect profits. A A A A We are subject to regulation and liability under environmental laws that could require significant expenditures and affect our financial condition and results of operations. A A A A Risks involved with operating ocean-going vessels could affect our business and reputation, which would adversely affect our revenues and stock price. A A A A Governments could requisition our vessels during a period of war or emergency, and maritime claimants could arrest our vessels. A A A A Our operations outside the United States expose us to global risks, such as political conflict, terrorism and public health concerns, including the conflicts in Ukraine and Gaza and the Houthi attacks on vessels in the Red Sea and Gulf of Aden, which may interfere with the operation of our vessels. Risks Related To Our Business A A A A We are dependent on the ability and willingness of our charterers to honor their commitments to us for all our revenues. A A A A We are exposed to the volatile spot market and charters at attractive rates may not be available when the charters for our vessels expire which would have an adverse impact on our revenues and financial condition. A A A A We depend upon a few significant customers for a large part of our revenues. The loss of one or more of these customers could adversely affect our financial performance. A A A A Our loan agreements or other financing arrangements contain restrictive covenants that may limit our liquidity and corporate activities. A A A A The market values of our vessels may decrease, which could cause us to breach covenants in our credit facilities, and could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. A A A A A significant increase in our debt levels may adversely affect us and our cash flows. A A A A We depend on our manager, Stealth Maritime Corporation S.A., to operate our business. A A 3 Table of Contents A A A A Delays in the delivery of any newbuilding or secondhand LPG carriers we agree to acquire could harm our operating results. A A A A We are exposed to volatility in interest rates, including SOFR, which could result in higher interest costs and charges against our income. A A A A We may enter into derivative contracts to hedge our exposure to fluctuations in interest rates, which could result in higher than market interest rates and charges against our income. Risks Related to Taxation A A A A We may have to pay tax on U.S.-source income and/or may become a passive foreign investment company. Risks Related to an Investment in a Marshall Islands Corporation A A A A As a foreign private issuer we are entitled to claim an exemption from certain Nasdaq corporate governance standards, and to the extent we elect to rely on this exemption, you may not have the same protections afforded to stockholders of companies that are subject to all of the Nasdaq corporate governance requirements. À weather; and À À À health crises, such as the recent COVID-19 pandemic; The factors that influence the supply of vessel capacity include: À À À the number of newbuilding deliveries; À À À the scrapping rate of older vessels; À À À LPG carrier prices; À À À changes in environmental and other regulations that may limit the useful lives of vessels; and À À À the number of vessels that are out of service. A significant decline in demand for the seaborne transport of LPG or a significant increase in the supply of LPG carrier capacity without a corresponding growth in LPG carrier demand could cause a significant decline in prevailing charter rates, which could materially adversely affect our financial condition and operating results and cash flow. À Table of Contents Various economic and political factors, including increased trade protectionism and tariffs and health pandemics, such as the COVID-19 pandemic, could materially adversely affect our business, financial position and results of operations, as well as our future prospects. Our business and operating results have been, and will continue to be, affected by global and regional economic conditions. More specifically, some LPG products we carry are used in cyclical businesses, such as the manufacturing of plastics and in the chemical industry, and, accordingly, weakness and reduction in demand in those industries could adversely affect the LPG carrier industry. In particular, an adverse change in economic conditions affecting China, Japan, India or Southeast Asia generally could have a negative effect on the demand for LPG products, thereby adversely affecting our business, financial position and results of operations, as well as our future prospects. In recent years China and India have been among the world's fastest growing economies in terms of gross domestic product, and any economic slowdown in the Asia Pacific region particularly in China or India may adversely affect LPG demand and our results of operations. Moreover, any deterioration in the economy of the United States or the European Union (ÀEUÀ), may further adversely affect economic growth in Asia. In addition, although to date economic conditions in Greece have not had an adverse effect on our managers' operations, the slow recovery of, and any renewed deterioration in the Greek economy may result in the imposition of new regulations that may require us to incur new or additional compliance or other administrative costs and may require that we pay to the Greek government new taxes or other fees. Our business, financial position and results of operations, as well as our future prospects, could likely be materially and adversely affected by adverse economic conditions in any of these countries or regions. The imposition by the U.S., China or other governments of protectionist trade measures, including tariffs and other trade restrictions, the exit of the United Kingdom from the EU, the continuing war in Syria, renewed terrorist attacks around the world and the refugee crisis could also adversely affect global economic conditions and the world LPG, oil and petroleum markets and in turn the demand for seaborne transportation of LPG. In addition, the conflict in Ukraine is disrupting energy production and this conflict, as well as Houthi attacks on ships in the Red Sea and Gulf of Aden, are disrupting trade patterns and the impact of these events on energy prices and LPG charter rates, which initially have increased, is uncertain. World events, including terrorist attacks, international hostilities and potential disruption of shipping routes due to events outside of our control, including the conflict in Ukraine and ongoing Houthi attacks on vessels in the Red Sea and Gulf of Aden, could negatively affect our results of operations and financial condition. We conduct most of our operations outside of the U.S. and our business, results of operations, cash flows, financial condition and ability to pay dividends, if any, in the future may be adversely affected by changing economic, political and government conditions in the countries and regions where our vessels are employed or registered. Moreover, we operate in a sector of the economy that is likely to be adversely impacted by the effects of political conflicts, including the current political instability in the Middle East, North Africa and other countries and geographic areas, terrorist or other attacks and war or international hostilities. Terrorist attacks and the continuing response of the U.S. and others to these attacks, as well as the threat of future terrorist attacks around the world, continues to cause uncertainty in the world's financial markets and may affect our business, operating results and financial condition. Continuing conflicts and recent developments in the Middle East, including the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, the escalation of conflict between Russia and Ukraine, and the presence of U.S. or other armed forces in Iraq, Syria, Afghanistan and various other regions, may lead to additional acts of terrorism and armed conflict around the world, which may contribute to further economic instability in the global financial markets. These uncertainties could also adversely affect our ability to obtain additional financing on terms acceptable to us or at all. In the past, political conflicts have also resulted in attacks on vessels, mining of waterways and other efforts to disrupt international shipping, particularly in the Arabian Gulf region. These types of attacks have also affected vessels trading in regions such as the Black Sea, South China Sea and the Gulf of Aden off the coast of Somalia. The Company is still taking ships through the Suez Canal, and there is a high risk that Houthis might attack our vessels. Although our vessels are insured, there is a risk that insurers may deny cover, or delay payment if an attack does take place, which attack could destroy our ships or partially damage them. The IMO's extraordinary council session held on March 10, 2022 and on March 11, 2022, addressed the impacts on shipping and seafarers, as a result À Table of Contents of the conflict in the Black Sea and the Sea of Azov. The IMO called for the need to preserve the integrity of maritime supply chains and the safety and welfare of seafarers and any spillover effects of the military action on global shipping, logistics and supply chains, in particular the impacts on the delivery of commodities and food to developing nations and the impacts on energy supplies. Any of these occurrences could have a material adverse impact on our operating results, revenues and costs. The conflict between Russia and Ukraine, which commenced in February 2022, has disrupted supply chains and caused instability and significant volatility in the global economy. Much uncertainty remains regarding the global impact of the conflict in Ukraine, and it is possible that such instability, uncertainty and resulting volatility could significantly increase our costs and adversely affect our business, including our ability to secure charters and financing on attractive terms, and as a result, adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operation and cash flows. As a result of the conflict between Russia and Ukraine, Switzerland, the US, the EU, the UK and others have announced unprecedented levels of sanctions and other measures against Russia and certain Russian entities and nationals. Such sanctions against Russia may adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operation and cash flows. For example, apart from the immediate commercial disruptions caused in the conflict zone, escalating tensions among the two countries and fears of potential shortages in the supply of Russian crude have caused the price of oil to trade at high levels. The ongoing conflict could result in the imposition of further economic sanctions against Russia, with uncertain impacts on the LPG carrier markets and the world economy. While we do not have any Ukrainian or Russian crew, our vessels currently do sail in the Black Sea and we otherwise conduct limited operations in Russia and Ukraine. It is possible that the conflict in Ukraine, including any increased shipping costs, disruptions of global shipping routes, any impact on the global supply chain and any impact on current or potential customers caused by the events in Russia and Ukraine, could adversely affect our operations or financial performance. The conflict in Ukraine could disrupt our operations and negatively impact charter rates and costs. The conflict in Ukraine, and the economic sanctions imposed by the EU, U.S. and other countries in response to Russian action, is disrupting energy production and trade patterns, including shipping in the Black Sea and elsewhere, and its impact on energy prices and LPG carrier rates, which initially have increased, is uncertain. Some of these sanctions and executive orders target the Russian oil sector, including a prohibition on the import of oil from Russia to the United States or the United Kingdom, and the European Union's recent ban on Russian crude oil and petroleum products which took effect in December 2022 and February 2023, respectively, as well as a price cap on Russian oil of $60 per barrel. Prior to the war, Russia exported significant amounts of seaborne crude oil and refined petroleum products and natural gas to the EU, USA, South Korea and Japan, and now exports of these commodities from Russia to these companies are minimal. If Russian crude oil and natural gas, of which LPG is a byproduct, are not available for export, due to the extension of economic sanctions, boycotts or otherwise, it could result in a reduction in the supply of LPG cargoes available for transportation. While initially LPG carrier rates have increased, these circumstances could negatively impact LPG charter rates over the longer term. In addition, high oil prices could reduce demand for LPG, including in the event of any slowdown in the global economy due such high oil prices or the impact of economic sanctions or geopolitical tensions and uncertainty. The conflict may also impact various costs of operating our business, such as bunker expenses, for which we are responsible when our vessels operate in the spot market, which have increased with oil prices, war risk insurance premiums and crewing services, as Russia and the Ukraine are significant sources of crews, which may be disrupted or be more expensive. The situation in Ukraine, and the global response, continues to evolve and its impact on energy supply and demand, energy prices and LPG operations and charter rates remains subject to considerable uncertainty, which could adversely impact our business, results of operations and financial condition. À Table of Contents If the demand for LPG products and LPG shipping does not grow, or decreases, our business, results of operations and financial condition could be adversely affected. Our growth, which depends on growth in the supply and demand for LPG products and LPG shipping, was adversely affected by the sharp decrease in world trade and the global economy experienced in the latter part of 2008 and in 2009 and the decline in oil prices beginning in the third quarter of 2014, and again after the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic in late 2019 and throughout 2020. Although the global economy subsequently recovered to a degree and oil prices have increased substantially, oil prices and energy demand remain subject to considerable uncertainty, including due to the conflicts in Ukraine and the Middle East. World and regional demand for LPG products and LPG shipping can be adversely affected by a number of factors, such as: À À À adverse global or regional economic or political conditions, particularly in LPG consuming regions, which could reduce energy consumption; À À À a reduction in global or general industrial activity specifically in the plastics and chemical industries; À À À a decline in the price of oil which makes LPG a less attractive alternative for some uses and generally leads to reduced production of oil and gas; À À À changes in the cost of petroleum and natural gas from which LPG is derived; À À À decreases in the consumption of LPG or natural gas due to availability of new alternative energy sources, or increases in the price of LPG or natural gas relative to other energy sources, or other factors making consumption of LPG or natural gas less attractive; and À À À increases in pipelines for LPG, which are currently few in number, linking production areas and industrial and residential areas consuming LPG, or the conversion of existing non-petroleum gas pipelines to petroleum gas pipelines in those markets. Our operating results are subject to seasonal fluctuations, which could affect our operating results. We operate our vessels in markets that have historically exhibited seasonal variations in demand and, as a result, in charter hire rates. This seasonality may result in quarter-to-quarter volatility in our operating results. The LPG carrier market is typically stronger in the fall and winter months in anticipation of increased consumption of propane and butane for heating during the winter months. In addition, unpredictable weather patterns in these months tend to disrupt vessel scheduling and supplies of certain commodities. As a result, our revenues may be stronger in fiscal quarters ended December 31 and March 31, and conversely, our revenues may be weaker during the fiscal quarters ended June 30 and September 30, to the extent we do not have contracted time charters in place. This seasonality could materially affect our quarterly operating results. Our revenues, operations and future growth could be adversely affected by a decrease in supply of liquefied natural gas, or natural gas. In recent years, there has been a strong supply of natural gas and an increase in the construction of plants and projects involving natural gas, of which LPG is a byproduct. Several of these projects, however, have experienced delays in their completion for various reasons and thus the expected increase in the supply of LPG from these projects may be delayed significantly. Any declines in the price of oil and natural gas could exacerbate these dynamics. If the supply of natural gas decreases, we may see a concurrent reduction in the production of LPG, resulting in lesser demand and lower charter rates for our vessels, which could ultimately have a material adverse impact on our revenues, operations and future growth. An over-supply of ships may lead to a reduction in charter rates, vessel values and profitability. The market supply of LPG carriers is affected by a number of factors, such as supply and demand for LPG, natural gas and other energy resources, supply and demand for seaborne transportation of such energy resources, and the current and expected purchase orders for new-buildings. If the capacity of new LPG carriers delivered exceeds the capacity of such vessel types being scrapped and converted to non-trading vessels, global fleet capacity will increase. If the supply of LPG carrier capacity, for the vessel class sizes comprising our fleet in particular, increases, À Table of Contents and if the demand for the capacity of such vessel types decreases, or does not increase correspondingly, charter rates could materially decline. A reduction in charter rates and the value of our vessels may have a material adverse effect on our results of operations. The market values of our vessels may fluctuate significantly. When the market values of our vessels are low, we may incur a loss on sale of a vessel or record an impairment charge, as we did in each of the last ten fiscal years, which may adversely affect our profitability. The market values of our vessels are subject to potential significant fluctuations depending on a number of factors including: À À À general economic and market conditions affecting the shipping industry; À À À age, sophistication and condition of our vessels; À À À types and sizes of vessels; À À À availability of other modes of transportation; À À À cost and delivery of schedules for new-buildings; À À À governmental and other regulations; À À À supply and demand for LPG products; À À À prevailing level of LPG charter rates; and À À À technological advances. In 2023, we recognized an impairment loss of $2.8A million relating to the sale of two LPG vessels that we classified as Held for Sale as of December 31, 2023 and to one vessel that we sold during the second quarter of 2023. In 2023, we also recorded a gain on sale of vessels of $7.6A million relating to the sale of seven of our LPG vessels. In 2022, we recognized an impairment loss of $3.2A million mainly relating to the sale of one LPG vessel and the two vessels that we classified as Held for Sale as of December 31, 2022. In 2021, we recognized an impairment loss of $44.6A million mainly relating to the Tanker Spin-Off and the sale of three LPG vessels as well as for one of our oldest remaining LPG vessels. If we sell vessels at a time when vessel prices have fallen, the sale may be for less than the vessel's carrying value in our financial statements, resulting in a reduction in profitability. Furthermore, if vessel values experience significant declines, we may have to record an impairment loss in our financial statements, which would also result in a reduction in our profits. If the market value of our fleet declines, we may not be in compliance with certain provisions of our existing loan agreements and we may not be able to refinance our debt or obtain additional financing or, if reinstated, pay dividends. If we are unable to pledge additional collateral, our lenders could accelerate our debt and foreclose on our fleet. The loss of our vessels would mean we could not run our business. Technological innovation could reduce our charter hire income and the value of our vessels. The charter hire rates and the value and operational life of a vessel are determined by a number of factors including the vessel's efficiency, operational flexibility and physical life. Efficiency includes speed, fuel economy and the ability to load and discharge cargo quickly, including the ability to use alternative combustion fuels. Flexibility includes the ability to enter harbors, utilize related docking facilities and pass through canals and straits. The length of a vessel's physical life is related to its original design and construction, its maintenance and the impact of the stress of operations. If new LPG carriers are built that are more efficient or more flexible or have longer physical lives than our vessels, including new vessels powered by alternative fuels, competition from these more technologically advanced vessels could adversely affect the amount of charter hire payments we receive for our vessels, and the resale value of our vessels could significantly decrease, which could also result in impairment costs. À Table of Contents In these circumstances, we may also be forced to charter our vessels to less creditworthy charterers, either because the oil majors and other top tier charterers will not charter older and less technologically advanced vessels or will only charter such vessels at lower contracted charter rates than we are able to obtain from these less creditworthy, second tier charterers. Consequently, our results of operations and financial condition could be adversely affected. Changes in fuel, or bunker, prices may adversely affect profits. While we do not bear the cost of fuel or bunkers under time and bareboat charters, fuel is a significant expense in our shipping operations when vessels are deployed under spot charters. The cost of fuel, including the fuel efficiency or capability to use lower priced fuel, can also be an important factor considered by charterers in negotiating charter rates. Changes in the price of fuel may adversely affect our profitability. The price and supply of fuel is unpredictable and fluctuates based on events outside our control, including geopolitical developments, supply and demand for oil and gas, actions by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (ÀOPECÀ) and other oil and gas producers, war, sanctions and unrest in oil producing countries and regions, regional production patterns and environmental concerns. Furthermore, fuel may become significantly more expensive in the future, which may reduce our profitability. In addition, the recent entry into force, on January 1, 2020, of the 0.5% global sulfur cap in marine fuels used by vessels that are not equipped with sulfur oxide (ÀSOxÀ) exhaust gas cleaning systems (ÀscrubbersÀ) under the International Convention for Prevention of Pollution from Ships (ÀMARPOLÀ) Annex VI may lead to changes in the production quantities and prices of different grades of marine fuel by refineries and introduces an additional element of uncertainty in fuel markets, which could result in additional costs and adversely affect our cash flows, earnings and results from operations. Increasing scrutiny and changing expectations from investors, lenders and other market participants with respect to ESG policies may impose additional costs on us or expose us to additional risks. Companies across all industries, including the shipping industry, are facing increased scrutiny relating to their ESG policies. Investor advocacy groups, certain institutional investors, investment funds, lenders and other market participants are increasingly focused on ESG practices and in recent years have placed increasing importance on the implications and social cost of their investments. The increased focus and activism related to ESG and similar matters may hinder access to capital, as investors and lenders may decide to reallocate capital or to not commit capital as a result of their assessment of a company's ESG practices. Companies which do not adapt to or comply with investor, lender or other industry shareholder expectations and standards, which are evolving, or which are perceived to have not responded appropriately to the growing concern for ESG issues, regardless of whether there is a legal requirement to do so, may suffer from reputational damage and the business, financial condition, and/or the stock price of such a company could be materially and adversely affected. As a result, we may be required to implement more stringent ESG procedures or standards so that we continue to have access to capital and our existing and future investors and lenders remain invested in us and make further investments in us. Specifically, we may face increasing pressures from investors, lenders and other market participants, who are increasingly focused on climate change, to prioritize sustainable energy practices, reduce our carbon footprint and promote sustainability. Additionally, certain investors and lenders may exclude LPG shipping companies, such as us, from their investing portfolios altogether due to environmental, social and governance factors. If we are faced with limitations in the debt and/or equity markets as a result of these concerns, or if we are unable to access alternative means of financing on acceptable terms, or at all, we may be unable to access funds to implement our business strategy or service our indebtedness, which could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations. If we cannot meet our charterers' quality and compliance requirements, including regulations or costs associated with the environmental impact of our vessels, we may not be able to operate our vessels profitably which could have an adverse effect on our future performance, results of operations, cash flows and financial position. Customers have a high and increasing focus on quality, emissions and compliance standards with their suppliers across the entire value chain, including shipping and transportation. There is also increasing focus on the environmental footprint of marine transportation. We are required to maintain operating standards for all of our vessels that emphasize operational safety, quality maintenance, continuous training of our officers and crews and compliance with United States and international regulations, and are subject to vetting processes conducted by a 10 Table of Contents prospective charterers. In addition, RightShip, which is a voluntary compliance requirement but a desirable chartering verifier among top charterers, is also demanding compliance with their standards regarding environmental acceptability based on a number of variables and factors important in the maritime industry. If we or our manager, or other affiliated entities, including Stealth Maritime, or Imperial Petroleum, C3is Inc. or Brave Maritime, are rated low or otherwise perform poorly on Rightship evaluations or other vetting processes conducted by charterers, it could lead to the loss of approval to conduct business with us and in turn the loss of revenue under existing charters or future chartering opportunities. Our continuous compliance with existing and new standards and quality requirements is vital for our operations. Related risks could materialize in multiple ways, including a sudden and unexpected breach in quality and/or compliance concerning one or more vessels and/or a continuous decrease in the quality concerning one or more vessels occurring over time. For instance, in June 2021, the IMO, working with the Marine Environmental Protection Committee, passed amendments to Annex VI aimed at reducing carbon emissions produced by vessels and include two new metrics for measuring a vessel's overall energy efficiency and actual carbon dioxide emissions: Energy Efficiency Existing Shipping Index (EEXI) and Carbon Intensity Indicator (CII). If our vessels are only able to comply with the maximum EEXI and CII thresholds by reducing their speed, our vessels may be less attractive to charterers, and we may only be able to charter our vessels for lower charter rates or to less creditworthy charterers, if we are able to do so at all. Non-compliance by us, either suddenly or over a period of time, or an increase in requirements by our charterers above and beyond what we deliver, may have a material adverse effect on our future performance, results of operations, cash flows and financial position. We are subject to regulations and liability under environmental laws that require significant expenditures, which can affect the ability and competitiveness of our vessels to trade, our results of operations and financial condition. Our business and the operation of our vessels are regulated under international conventions, national, state and local laws and regulations in force in the jurisdictions in which our vessels operate, as well as in the country or countries of their registration, in order to protect against potential environmental impacts. Regulations of vessels, particularly environmental regulations have become more stringent and are expected to be further revised and become stricter in the future, including air emissions (nitrogen and sulfur oxides, particulate matter, etc.), marine pollution, ballast water treatment system implementation, and GHG emissions. As a result, significant capital expenditures may be required on our vessels to keep them in compliance, and we may be required to pay increased prices for newbuild and secondhand vessels that meet these requirements. See Business-Environmental and Other Regulations for more information. In addition, the heightened environmental, quality and security concerns of the public, regulators, insurance underwriters, financing sources and charterers may generally lead to additional regulatory requirements, including enhanced risk assessment and security requirements, greater inspection and safety requirements on all vessels in the marine transportation markets and possibly restrictions on the emissions of greenhouse gases from the operation of vessels. These requirements are likely to add incremental costs to our operations and the failure to comply with these requirements may affect the ability of our vessels to obtain and, possibly, collect on insurance or to obtain the required certificates for entry into the different ports where we operate. We could also incur material liabilities, including cleanup obligations and claims for natural resource, personal injury and property damages in the event that there is a release of petroleum or other hazardous materials from our vessels or otherwise in connection with our operations. Violations of, or liabilities under, environmental regulations can result in substantial penalties, fines and other sanctions, including, in certain instances, seizure or detention of our vessels. Any such actual or alleged environmental laws regulations and policies violation, under negligence, willful misconduct or fault, could result in substantial fines, civil and/or criminal penalties or curtailment of operations in certain jurisdictions, and might adversely affect our business, results of operations or financial condition. In addition, actual or alleged violations could damage our reputation and ability to do business. Furthermore, detecting, investigating and resolving actual or alleged violations is expensive and can consume significant time and attention of our senior management. Events of this nature would have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. A 11 Table of Contents Environmental regulations in relation to climate change and greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions may increase operational and financial restrictions, and environmental compliance costs and our non-scrubber fitted vessels may face difficulties in competing with scrubber-fitted vessels. GHG reduction measures adopted, or further additional measures to be adopted by the IMO, EU and other jurisdictions for achieving 2030 goals may impose operational and financial restrictions, carbon taxes or an emission trading system on less efficient vessels starting from 2023, gradually affecting younger vessels, even newbuilds after 2030, reducing their trade and competitiveness, increasing their environmental compliance costs, imposing additional energy efficiency investments, or even making such vessels obsolete. Maritime shipping is included within the European Union's Emission Trading Scheme (ETS) as of January 1, 2024 with a phase-in period requiring shipping companies to surrender 40% of their 2024 emissions in 2025; 70% of their 2025 emissions in 2026; and 100% of their 2026 emissions in 2027. Compliance with the maritime EU ETS may result in additional compliance and administration costs. These or other developments may lead to environmental taxation affecting less energy efficient vessels, reduce their trade and competitiveness and make certain vessels in our fleet obsolete, which may result in financial impacts on our results of operations that we cannot predict with certainty at this time. This could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. See Business-Environmental and Other Regulations for more information. All but one of our vessels are not retrofitted with scrubbers and need to use low sulfur fuel containing 0.5% sulfur content, which is currently more expensive than standard marine fuel containing 3.5% sulfur content. If the cost differential between low sulfur fuel and high sulfur fuel is significantly higher than anticipated, or if low sulfur fuel is not available at ports on certain trading routes, it may not be feasible or competitive to operate vessels on certain trading routes without installing scrubbers or without incurring deviation time to obtain compliant fuel. Our vessels may therefore face difficulties in competing with vessels equipped with scrubbers. Adverse effects upon the oil and gas industry relating to climate change, including growing public concern about the environmental impact of climate change, may also have an effect on demand for our services. For example, increased regulation of greenhouse gases or other concerns relating to climate change may reduce the demand for LPG in the future or create greater incentives for use of alternative energy sources. Any long-term material adverse effect on the oil and gas industry could have significant financial and operational adverse impacts on our business that we cannot predict with certainty at this time. Our vessels are subject to periodic inspections by a classification society. The hull and machinery of every commercial vessel must be classed by a classification society authorized by its country of registry. The classification society certifies that a vessel is safe and seaworthy in accordance with the applicable rules and regulations of the country of registry of the vessel and the Safety of Life at Sea Convention. Our fleet is currently classed with Lloyds Register of Shipping, Nippon Kaiji Kyokai, or NKK, the American Bureau of Shipping and Bureau Veritas. A vessel must undergo annual surveys, intermediate surveys and special surveys. In lieu of a special survey, a vessel's machinery may be on a continuous survey cycle, under which the machinery would be surveyed periodically over a five-year period. Our vessels are on special survey cycles for hull inspection and continuous survey cycles for machinery inspection. Every vessel is also required to be dry docked every two to three years for inspection of the underwater parts of such vessel. However, for vessels not exceeding 15 years that have means to facilitate underwater inspection in lieu of dry docking, the dry docking may be skipped and be conducted concurrently with the special survey. If a vessel does not maintain its class and/or fails any annual survey, intermediate survey or special survey, the vessel will be unable to trade between ports and will be unemployable; we would then be in violation of covenants in our loan agreements and insurance contracts or other financing arrangements. This would adversely impact our operations and revenues. Maritime claimants could arrest our vessels, which could interrupt our cash flow. Crew members, suppliers of goods and services to a vessel, shippers of cargo and others may be entitled to a maritime lien against that vessel for unsatisfied debts, claims or damages. In many jurisdictions, a maritime lien holder may enforce its lien by arresting a vessel through foreclosure proceedings. The arrest or attachment of one or more of our vessels could interrupt our cash flow and require us to pay large sums of funds to have the arrest lifted. A 12 Table of Contents In addition, in some jurisdictions, such as South Africa, under the sister ship theory of liability, a claimant may arrest both the vessel which is subject to the claimant's maritime lien and any associated vessel, which is any vessel owned or controlled by the same owner. Claimants could try to assert sister ship liability against one vessel in our fleet for claims relating to another of our ships or, possibly, another vessel managed by Stealth Maritime, as was the case with the arrest of one of our former vessels in August 2015. Governments could requisition our vessels during a period of war or emergency, resulting in loss of revenues. A government could requisition for title or seize our vessels. Requisition for title occurs when a government takes control of a vessel and becomes the owner. Also, a government could requisition our vessels for hire. Requisition for hire occurs when a government takes control of a vessel and effectively becomes the charterer at dictated charter rates. Generally, requisitions occur during a period of war or emergency. Government requisition of one or more of our vessels would adversely impact our operations and revenues, thereby resulting in loss of revenues. Risks involved with operating ocean-going vessels could affect our business and reputation, which would adversely affect our revenues and stock price. The operation of an ocean-going vessel carries inherent risks. These risks include the possibility of: A marine accident or disaster; A piracy and terrorism; A explosions; A environmental accidents; A pollution; A loss of life; A cargo and property losses or damage; and A business interruptions caused by mechanical failure, human error, war, political action in various countries, labor strikes or adverse weather conditions. Any of these circumstances or events could increase our costs or lower our revenues. The involvement of our vessels in a serious accident could harm our reputation as a safe and reliable vessel operator and lead to a loss of business. Our vessels may suffer damage and we may face unexpected repair costs, which could affect our cash flow and financial condition. If our vessels suffer damages, they may need to be repaired at a shipyard facility. The costs of repairs are unpredictable and can be substantial. For example, the conflict in Ukraine and Houthi attacks on vessels in the Red Sea and Gulf of Aden may increase the risk that our vessels may suffer damages or face unexpected repair costs, and increase the cost of war risk insurance premiums, if such insurance is available at all. We may have to pay repair costs that our insurance does not cover. There is the possibility that a specific claim may not be paid, or that we will not always be able to obtain adequate insurance coverage at reasonable rates. The loss of earnings while these vessels are being repaired and repositioned, as well as the actual cost of these repairs, particularly if damages exceed our insurance coverage, would have an adverse effect on our cash flow and financial condition. We do not intend to carry business interruption insurance. A 13 Table of Contents Acts of piracy on ocean-going vessels could adversely affect our business. Acts of piracy have historically affected ocean-going vessels trading in regions of the world such as the South China Sea, the Indian Ocean and in the Gulf of Aden, off the coast of Somalia. If these piracy attacks occur in regions in which our vessels are deployed and are characterized by insurers as war risk zones, as the Gulf of Aden continues to be, or Joint War Committee war risk listed areas, premiums payable for such coverage, for which we are responsible with respect to vessels employed on spot charters, but not vessels employed on bareboat or time charters, could increase significantly and such insurance coverage may be more difficult to obtain. In addition, crew costs, including employing onboard security guards, could increase in such circumstances. We usually employ armed guards on board the vessels on time and spot charters that transit areas where Somali pirates operate. We may not be adequately insured to cover losses from these incidents, which could have a material adverse effect on us. In addition, detention hijacking as a result of an act of piracy against our vessels, or an increase in cost, or unavailability of insurance for our vessels, could have a material adverse impact on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Our operations outside the United States expose us to global risks, such as political conflict, terrorism and public health concerns, which may interfere with the operation of our vessels. We are an international company and primarily conduct our operations outside the United States. Changing economic, political and governmental conditions in the countries where we are engaged in business or where our vessels are registered affect us. In the past, political conflicts, particularly in the Arabian Gulf, resulted in attacks on vessels, mining of waterways and other efforts to disrupt shipping in the area. Continuing conflicts, instability and other recent developments in Ukraine, Gaza, and the Middle East and elsewhere, including attacks in recent years involving vessels and vessel seizures in the Strait of Hormuz and off the coast of Gibraltar, the attack on an Iranian tanker near the Saudi Arabian port city of Jeddah and the ongoing hostilities in Syria and Afghanistan, may lead to additional acts of terrorism or armed conflict around the world, and our vessels may face higher risks of being attacked or detained, or shipping routes transited by our vessels, such as the Strait of Hormuz or the Black Sea, may be otherwise disrupted. Acts of terrorism may increase with the continuing conflicts in the Middle East and North Africa, and therefore our vessels may face higher risks of being attacked. In addition, future hostilities or other political instability in regions where our vessels trade could affect our trade patterns and adversely affect our operations and performance. If certain shipping lanes were to close, such as Iran's past threat to close the Strait of Hormuz, it could adversely affect the availability of, and the demand for crude oil and petroleum products, as well as LPG. This would negatively affect our business and our customers' investment decisions over an extended period of time. In addition, sanctions against oil exporting countries such as Iran, Syria and Venezuela, and the events in Ukraine and related sanctions against Russia, may also impact the availability of LPG and which would increase the availability of applicable vessels, thereby impacting negatively charter rates. In addition, any charters that we enter into with Chinese customers may be subject to new regulations in China that may require us to incur new or additional compliance or other administrative costs and may require that we pay to the Chinese government new taxes or other fees. Changes in laws and regulations, including tax matters and their implementation by local authorities could affect our vessels chartered to Chinese customers, as well as our vessels calling to Chinese ports, and could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition. Furthermore, the war between Russia and Ukraine, and subsequent sanctions announced by the United States, the EU and several European and other nations against Russia and any further sanctions, including any sanctions or restrictions affecting companies with Russian connections or the Russian energy sector and harmed by any retaliatory measures by Russia or other countries in response, may also adversely impact our business given Russia's role as a major global exporter of crude oil. Terrorist attacks, or the perception that LPG or natural gas facilities and LPG carriers are potential terrorist targets, could materially and adversely affect the continued supply of LPG to the United States and to other countries. Concern that LPG and natural gas facilities may be targeted for attack by terrorists has contributed to a significant community and environmental resistance to the construction of a number of natural gas facilities, primarily in North America. If a terrorist incident involving a gas facility or gas carrier did occur, the incident may adversely affect necessary LPG facilities or natural gas facilities currently in operation. Furthermore, future terrorist attacks could result in increased volatility of the financial markets in the United States and globally, and could result in an economic recession in the United States or the world. Any of these occurrences could have a material adverse impact on our operating results, revenues and costs. A 14 Table of Contents In addition, public health threats, such as the coronavirus, influenza and other highly contagious diseases or viruses, outbreaks of which have from time to time occurred in various parts of the world in which we operate, including China, could adversely impact our operations, and the operations of our customers. The smuggling of drugs or other contraband onto our vessels may lead to governmental claims against us. Our vessels call in ports in certain geographic areas where smugglers attempt to hide drugs and other contraband on vessels, with or without the knowledge of crew members. To the extent our vessels are found with contraband, whether inside or attached to the hull of our vessel and whether with or without the knowledge of any of our crew, we may face governmental or other regulatory claims or penalties which could have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition. Our vessels may call on ports located in countries that are subject to sanctions and embargoes imposed by the U.S. or other governments, which could adversely affect our reputation and the market for our common stock. From time to time on charterers' instructions, our vessels have called and may again call on ports located in countries subject to sanctions and embargoes imposed by the United States government and countries identified by the United States government as state sponsors of terrorism, such as Cuba, Iran, Syria and North Korea. The ongoing conflict in Ukraine has resulted in the imposition of sanctions against regions of Ukraine, in addition to those previously imposed with respect to the Crimea region, and Russia, and could result in the imposition of further economic sanctions by the United States and the European Union against Russia. The U.S. sanctions and embargo laws and regulations vary in their application, as they do not all apply to the same covered persons or proscribe the same activities, and such sanctions and embargo laws and regulations may be amended or strengthened over time. On January 16, 2016, the JCPOA Implementation Day for the Iran Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action (the “JCPOA”), the United States lifted its nuclear-related secondary sanctions against Iran which prohibited certain conduct by non-U.S. companies and individuals that occurred entirely outside of U.S. jurisdiction involving specified industry sectors in Iran, including the energy, petrochemical, automotive, financial, banking, mining, shipbuilding and shipping sectors. By lifting the secondary sanctions against Iran, the U.S. government effectively removed U.S. imposed restraints on dealings by non-U.S. companies, such as our Company, and individuals with these formerly targeted Iranian business sectors. Non-U.S. companies continued to be prohibited under U.S. sanctions from (i) knowingly engaging in conduct that seeks to evade U.S. restrictions on transactions or dealings with Iran or that causes the export of goods or services from the United States to Iran, (ii) exporting, re-exporting or transferring to Iran any goods, technology, or services originally exported from the U.S. and / or subject to U.S. export jurisdiction and (iii) conducting transactions with of the Iranian or Iran-related individuals and entities that remain or are placed in the future on OFAC’s list of Specially Designated Nationals and Blocked Persons (SDN List), notwithstanding the lifting of secondary sanctions. However, on August 6, 2018, the U.S. re-imposed an initial round of secondary sanctions and as of November 5, 2018, all of the secondary sanctions the U.S. had suspended under the JCPOA were re-imposed. The U.S. government’s primary Iran sanctions have remained largely unchanged, including during the period from the JCPOA Implementation Day to the re-imposition of secondary sanctions in 2018, and as a consequence, U.S. persons also continue to be broadly prohibited from engaging in transactions or dealings with the Government of Iran and Iranian financial institutions, which effectively impacts the transfer of funds to, from, or through the U.S. financial system whether denominated in US dollars or any other currency. We believe all of our port calls have been made in full compliance with applicable economic sanctions laws and regulations, including those of the United States, the EU and other relevant jurisdictions. Our charter agreements include provisions that restrict trades of our vessels to countries targeted by economic sanctions unless such transportation activities involving sanctioned countries are permitted under applicable economic sanctions and embargo regimes. Our ordinary chartering policy is to seek to include similar provisions in all of our period charters. Prior to agreeing to waive existing charter party restrictions on carrying cargoes to or from ports that may implicate sanctions risks, we ensure that the charterers have proof of compliance with international and U.S. sanctions requirements, or applicable licenses or other exemptions. A Table of Contents Although we believe that we are in compliance with all applicable sanctions and embargo laws and regulations and intend to maintain such compliance, there can be no assurance that we will be in compliance in the future, particularly as the scope of certain laws may vary or may be subject to changing interpretations and we may be unable to prevent our charterers from violating contractual and legal restrictions on their operations of the vessels. Any such violation could result in fines or other penalties for us and could result in some investors deciding, or being required, to divest their interest, or not to invest, in the Company. Additionally, some investors may decide to divest their interest, or not to invest, in the Company simply because we do business with companies that do lawful business in sanctioned countries. Moreover, our charterers may violate applicable sanctions and embargo laws and regulations as a result of actions that do not involve us or our vessels, and those violations could in turn negatively affect our reputation. Investor perception of the value of our common stock may also be adversely affected by the consequences of war, the effects of terrorism, civil unrest and governmental actions in these and surrounding countries. Failure to comply with the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and other anti-bribery legislation in other jurisdictions could result in fines, criminal penalties, contract terminations and an adverse effect on our business. We operate in a number of countries through the world, including countries that may be known to have a reputation for corruption. We are committed to doing business in accordance with applicable anti-corruption laws and have adopted policies which are consistent and in full compliance with the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act of 1977 (the “FCPA”) and other anti-bribery laws. We are subject, however, to the risk that we, our affiliated entities or their respective officers, directors, employees and agents may take actions determined to be in violation of such anti-corruption laws, including the FCPA. Any such violation could result in substantial fines, sanctions, civil and/or criminal penalties, curtailment of operations in certain jurisdictions, and might adversely affect our business, results of operations or financial condition. In addition, actual or alleged violations could damage our reputation and ability to do business. Furthermore, detecting, investigating, and resolving actual or alleged violations is expensive and can consume significant time and attention of our senior management. A cyber-attack could materially disrupt our business. Our business operations could be targeted by individuals or groups seeking to sabotage or disrupt our information technology systems and networks, or to steal data. A successful cyber-attack could materially disrupt our operations, including the safety of our operations, or lead to unauthorized release of information or alteration of information on our systems. Any such attack or other breach of our information technology systems could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. Risks Related To Our Business We are dependent on the ability and willingness of our charterers to honor their commitments to us for all our revenues. We derive all our revenues from the payment of charter hire by charterers of our vessels. The ability and willingness of each of our counterparties to perform their obligations under charter agreements with us will depend on a number of factors that are beyond our control and may include, among other things, general economic conditions, the condition of the LPG carrier sector of the shipping industry and the overall financial condition of the counterparties. In addition, in depressed market conditions, charterers may seek to renegotiate their charters or may default on their obligations under charters and our charterers may fail to pay charter hire or attempt to renegotiate charter rates. For example, in 2020 a charterer of four of our vessels sought bankruptcy protection, purported to cancel the charters for these vessels and returned the vessels to us. Should a counterparty fail to honor its obligations under agreements with us, it may be difficult to secure substitute employment for such vessel, and any new charter arrangements we secure in the spot market or on bareboat or time charters could be at lower rates. If we lose a charter, we may be unable to re-deploy the related vessel on terms as favorable to us. We would not receive any revenues from such a vessel while it remained unchartered, but we may be required to pay expenses necessary to a Table of Contents maintain the vessel in proper operating condition, insure it and service any indebtedness secured by such vessel. The failure by charterers to meet their obligations to us or an attempt by charterers to renegotiate our charter agreements could have a material adverse effect on our revenues, results of operations and financial condition. We are exposed to the volatile spot market and charters at attractive rates may not be available when the charters for our vessels expire which would have an adverse impact on our revenues and financial condition. As of April 1, 2024, of our 33 vessels in the water, including six JV Vessels, 32 were under period charters, while one was deployed in the spot market. As of April 1, 2024, 68% of our anticipated fleet days, including our JV vessels, were covered by period charter contracts for the remainder of 2024 and 24% for 2025. We are exposed to fluctuations in the charter market for the remaining anticipated voyage days that are not covered by fixed-rate contracts, and to the extent the counterparties to our fixed-rate charter contracts fail to honor their obligations to us. The successful operation of our vessels in the competitive and highly volatile spot charter market depends on, among other things, obtaining profitable spot charters, which depends greatly on vessel supply and demand, and minimizing, to the extent possible, time spent waiting for charters and time spent traveling unloaded to pick up cargo. When the current charters for our fleet expire or are terminated, it may not be possible to re-charter these vessels at similar rates, or at all, or to secure charters for any additional LPG carrier acquisitions at similarly profitable rates, or at all. As a result, we may have to accept lower rates or experience off hire time for our vessels, which would adversely impact our revenues, results of operations and financial condition. We depend upon a few significant customers for a large part of our revenues. The loss of one or more of these customers could adversely affect our financial performance. In our operating history, we have derived a significant part of our revenue from a small number of charterers. For the year ended December 31, 2023 we had two customers from which we derived more than 10% of our revenues, while for the year ended December 31, 2022 we had one customer from which we derived more than 10% of our revenues, and in 2021 we did not have any customer from which we derived more than 10% of our revenues. For the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2023, our three largest customers accounted for 25.5% and 43.4%, respectively, of our revenues. Overall, we anticipate a limited number of customers will continue to represent significant amounts of our revenue. If these customers cease doing business or do not fulfill their obligations under the charters for our vessels, our results of operations and cash flows could be adversely affected. Further, if we encounter any difficulties in our relationships with these charterers, our results of operations, cash flows and financial condition could be adversely affected. Our loan agreements or other financing arrangements contain restrictive covenants that may limit our liquidity and corporate activities. Our loan agreements impose, and our future financing arrangements may impose, operating and financial restrictions on us. These restrictions may limit our ability to: A incur additional indebtedness; A create liens on our assets; A sell capital stock of our subsidiaries; A make investments; A engage in mergers or acquisitions; A pay dividends; and A make capital expenditures. A Table of Contents Our loan agreements require us to maintain specified financial ratios, satisfy financial covenants and contain cross-default clauses. Some of our loan agreements also require that our Chief Executive Officer, Harry Vafias, together with his immediate family, at all times own at least 10% of our outstanding capital stock and certain of our loan agreements provide that it would be an event of default if Harry Vafias ceased to serve as an executive officer or director of our company, Harry Vafias together with his immediate family, ceased to exert significant influence over our company or any other person or group controlled 25% or more of the voting power of our outstanding capital stock. In addition, some loan agreements include restrictions on the payment of dividends in amounts exceeding 50% of our free cash flow in any rolling 12-month period. As of December 31, 2023, we were in compliance with the covenants in our loan agreements. As a result of the restrictions in our loan agreements, or similar restrictions in our future financing arrangements with respect to future vessels which we have yet to identify, we may need to seek permission from our lenders in order to engage in some corporate actions. Our lenders’ interests may be different from ours, and we may not be able to obtain their permission when needed. This may prevent us from taking actions that we believe are in our best interest which may adversely impact our revenues, results of operations and financial condition. A failure by us to meet our payment and other obligations, including our financial covenants and security coverage requirement, could lead to defaults under our secured loan agreements. Our lenders could then accelerate our indebtedness and foreclose on our fleet. The loss of our vessels would mean we could not run our business. The market values of our vessels may decrease, which could cause us to breach covenants in our credit and loan facilities, and could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. Our loan agreements, which are secured by liens on our vessels, contain various financial covenants, including requirements that relate to our financial condition, operating performance and liquidity. For example, we are required to maintain a maximum consolidated leverage ratio that is based, in part, upon the market value of the vessels securing the applicable loan, as well as a minimum ratio of the market value of vessels securing a loan to the principal amount outstanding under such loan. The market value of LPG carriers is sensitive to, among other things, changes in the LPG carrier charter markets, with vessel values deteriorating in times when LPG carrier charter rates are falling and improving when charter rates are anticipated to rise. Low charter rates in the LPG carrier charter and the impact of any decline in oil prices on demand for LPG may again adversely affect LPG carrier values. A worsening of charter market conditions would likely lead to a significant decline in the fair market values of our vessels, which may affect our ability to comply with these loan covenants. If the value of our vessels deteriorates, we may have to record an impairment charge in our financial statements as we did in each of our last seven fiscal years which would adversely affect our financial results and could further hinder our ability to raise capital. A failure to comply with our covenants and/or obtain covenant waivers or modifications could result in our lenders requiring us to post additional collateral, enhance our equity and liquidity, increase our interest payments or pay down our indebtedness to a level where we are in compliance with our loan covenants, sell vessels in our fleet or accelerate our indebtedness, which would impair our ability to continue to conduct our business. If our indebtedness is accelerated, we may not be able to refinance our debt or obtain additional financing and could lose our vessels if our lenders foreclose their liens. In addition, if we find it necessary to sell our vessels at a time when vessel prices are low, we will recognize losses and a reduction in our earnings, which could affect our ability to raise additional capital necessary for us to comply with our loan agreements. Global economic conditions and disruptions in world financial markets and the resulting governmental action could have a material adverse impact on our results of operations, financial condition and cash flows. Global financial markets and economic conditions have been disrupted and volatile at times over the past decade, including in 2020 and 2021 as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. It was only in the first quarter of 2023 that the largest consumer of LPG, China, has lifted its restrictive policies, while the rise in interest rates globally adds to this volatility in financial conditions at it may push economies into recession. These issues, along with the limited supply of credit to the shipping industry and the re-pricing of credit risk and the difficulties currently experienced by financial institutions, have made, and will likely continue to make, it difficult to obtain financing. As A Table of Contents a result of the disruptions in the credit markets and higher capital requirements, many lenders had already in prior years increased margins on lending rates, enacted tighter lending standards, required more restrictive terms (including higher collateral ratios for advances, shorter maturities and smaller loan amounts), or refused to refinance existing debt on terms similar to existing debt or at all. Furthermore, certain banks that have historically been significant lenders to the shipping industry have reduced or ceased lending activities in the shipping industry in recent years. New banking regulations, including tightening of capital requirements and the resulting policies adopted by lenders, could further reduce lending activities. We may experience difficulties in obtaining financing commitments, or be unable to fully draw on the capacity under our committed credit facilities in the future, or refinance our credit facilities when our current facilities mature if our lenders are unwilling to extend financing to us or unable to meet their funding obligations due to their own liquidity, capital or solvency issues. We cannot be certain that financing will be available on acceptable terms or at all. In the absence of available financing, we also may be unable to take advantage of business opportunities or respond to competitive pressures. Our ability to obtain additional debt financing may be dependent on the performance of our then existing charters and the creditworthiness of our charterers, as well as the perceived impact of emissions by our vessels on the climate. The actual or perceived credit quality of our charterers, and any defaults by them, may materially affect our ability to obtain the additional capital resources that we will require in order to purchase additional vessels or may significantly increase our costs of obtaining such capital. Our inability to obtain additional financing, or obtain financing at a higher than anticipated cost may materially affect our results of operation and our ability to implement our business strategy, including our ability to fund and consummate the acquisition of the three newbuilding LPG carriers for which we have contracts. In 2019, a number of leading lenders to the shipping industry and other industry participants announced a global framework by which financial institutions can assess the climate alignment of their ship finance portfolios, called the Poseidon Principles, and additional lenders have subsequently announced their intention to adhere to such principles. If the ships in our fleet are deemed not to satisfy the emissions and other sustainability standards contemplated by the Poseidon Principles, or other ESG standards required by lenders or investors, the availability and cost of bank financing for such vessels may be adversely affected. A significant increase in our debt levels may adversely affect us and our cash flows. As of December 31, 2023 we had outstanding indebtedness, net of deferred arrangement fees, of $123.5A million, and incurred an additional $70A million of indebtedness in the first quarter of 2024 under a new credit facility to finance the acquisition of two newbuilding vessels. Although during 2023 our outstanding indebtedness was reduced, we would expect to incur further indebtedness in connection with any further expansion of our fleet. This increase in the level of indebtedness and the need to service the indebtedness may impact our profitability and cash available for growth of our fleet, working capital and dividends if any. Additionally, further increases in interest rate levels, which have increased from historically low levels, may increase the cost of servicing our indebtedness with similar results. To finance our future fleet expansion program beyond our current fleet we expect to incur additional secured debt. We have to dedicate a portion of our cash flow from operations to pay the principal and interest on our debt. These payments limit funds otherwise available for working capital, capital expenditures, and other purposes, including any distributions of cash to our stockholders, and our inability to service our debt could lead to acceleration of our debt and foreclosure on our fleet. Moreover, carrying secured indebtedness exposes us to increased risks if the demand for LPG transportation decreases and charter rates and vessel values are adversely affected. We are exposed to volatility in interest rates, including SOFR. The amounts outstanding under our senior secured credit facilities have been, and we expect that the loans advanced under such credit facilities would be advanced at a floating rate based on SOFR. Interest rates have increased recently, after a long period of relative stability at historically low levels, and have been volatile in past A Table of Contents years, which can affect the amount of interest payable on floating rate debt, and which, in turn, could have an adverse effect on our earnings and cash flow during periods in which we have such debt. Interest rates were at historically low levels for an extended period of time and may continue to increase from these past low levels. Our financial condition could be materially adversely affected at any time that we have not entered into interest rate hedging arrangements to hedge our interest rate exposure and the interest rates applicable to our credit facilities and or other financing arrangements increase. Moreover, even if we have entered into interest rate swaps or other derivative instruments for purposes of managing our interest rate or bunker cost exposure, our hedging strategies may not be effective and we may incur substantial losses. The derivative contracts we have entered into to hedge our exposure to fluctuations in interest rates could result in higher than market interest rates and charges against our income, as well as reductions in our stockholders’ equity. We have entered into interest rate swaps for purposes of managing our exposure to fluctuations in interest rates applicable to indebtedness under our credit facilities which were advanced at floating rates based on SOFR. Our hedging strategies, however, may not be effective and we may incur substantial losses if interest rates or currencies move materially differently from our expectations. To the extent our interest rate swaps do not qualify for treatment as hedges for accounting purposes, we recognize fluctuations in the fair value of such contracts in our statement of operations. In addition, changes in the fair value of any derivative contracts that do qualify for treatment as hedges, are recognized in Accumulated other comprehensive income/(loss) on our balance sheet. Our financial condition could also be materially adversely affected to the extent we do not hedge our exposure to interest rate fluctuations under our financing arrangements under which loans have been advanced at a floating rate based on SOFR. In addition, we had entered in the past and may enter in the future into foreign currency derivative contracts in order to hedge an exposure to foreign currencies related to shipbuilding contracts. Any hedging activities we engage in may not effectively manage our interest rate and foreign exchange exposure or have the desired impact on our financial condition or results of operations. Because we generate all of our revenues in U.S. dollars but incur a portion of our expenses in other currencies, exchange rate fluctuations could adversely affect our results of operations. We generate all of our revenues in U.S. dollars and the majority of our expenses are also in U.S. dollars. However, a relatively small portion of our overall expenses, mainly executive compensation, is incurred in Euros. This could lead to fluctuations in net income due to changes in the value of the U.S. dollar relative to the other currencies, in particular the Euro. Expenses incurred in foreign currencies against which the U.S. dollar falls in value can thereby increase, decreasing our net income. We are dependent on our relationship with Stealth Maritime. As of April 1, 2024, Stealth Maritime served as commercial manager for all 33 operating vessels in our fleet, including our six JV vessels, and technical manager for 31 vessels in our fleet, while subcontracting the technical management of two of the remaining vessels in our fleet to unaffiliated third parties. We are accordingly dependent upon our fleet manager, Stealth Maritime, for: the administration, chartering and operations supervision of our fleet; our recognition and acceptance as owners of LPG carriers, including our ability to attract charterers; our relations with charterers and charter brokers; our operational expertise; and our management experience. The loss of Stealth Maritime’s services or its failure to perform its obligations to us properly for financial or other reasons could materially and adversely affect our business and the results of our operations. Although we may have rights against Stealth Maritime if it defaults on its obligations to us, you would have no recourse against Stealth Maritime. In addition, we might not be able to find a replacement manager on terms as favorable as those currently in place with Stealth Maritime. Further, we expect that we will need to seek approval from our lenders to change our manager. In addition, if Stealth Maritime suffers material damage to its reputation or relationships, including as a result of a spill or other environmental incident or an accident, or any violation or alleged violation of U.S., EU, UN or other sanctions, involving ships managed by Stealth Maritime whether or not owned by us, it may harm the ability of our Company or our subsidiaries to successfully compete in our industry, including due to oil majors and other charterers electing not to do business with Stealth Maritime or us. We depend on third party managers to manage part of our fleet. Stealth Maritime subcontracts the management for some of our vessels to third parties, including technical support, crewing, operation, maintenance and repair. The loss of their services or their failure to perform their obligations could materially and adversely affect the results of our operations. Although we may have rights against these managers if they default on their obligations, you would have no recourse against these parties. In addition, we might not be able to find replacement technical managers on terms as favorable as those currently in place. We may enter into certain significant transactions with companies affiliated with members of the Vafias family which may result in conflicts of interests. In addition to our management contract with Stealth Maritime, a company controlled by members of the Vafias family other than our Chief Executive Officer, from time to time we may enter into other transactions with companies affiliated with members of the Vafias family such as the agreements for the acquisition of two newbuilding LPG carriers in June 2020, the acquisition of a 51% ownership in a newbuilding LPG carrier delivered in 2023, as part of a joint venture, the other 49% having been bought by an unaffiliated joint venture partner, and the acquisition of two newbuilding LPG carriers in July 2022. Stealth Maritime also contracts for the crewing of vessels in our fleet with Hellenic Manning Overseas Inc, formerly known as Navis Maritime Services Inc., which is 25% owned by an affiliate of Stealth Maritime. Such transactions could create conflicts of interest that could adversely affect our business or your interests as holders of our common stock, as well as our financial position, results of operations and our future prospects. Our directors and officers may in the future hold direct or indirect interests in companies that compete with us. Our directors and officers each have a history of involvement in the shipping industry and may in the future, directly or indirectly, hold investments in companies that compete with us. In that case, they may face conflicts between their own interests and their obligations to us. Companies affiliated with us, including Stealth Maritime and Brave Maritime, may manage or acquire vessels that compete with our fleet. It is possible that Stealth Maritime or companies affiliated with Stealth Maritime, including Brave Maritime, could, in the future, agree to manage vessels that compete directly with ours. As long as Stealth Maritime (or an entity with respect to which Harry N. Vafias is an executive officer, director or the principal shareholder) is our fleet manager or Harry Vafias is an executive officer or director of the Company, Stealth Maritime has granted us a right of first refusal to acquire any LPG carrier, which Stealth Maritime may acquire in the future. In addition, Stealth Maritime has agreed that it will not charter-in any LPG carrier without first offering the opportunity to charter-in such vessel to us. Our President and Chief Executive Officer, Harry N. Vafias, has granted us an equivalent right with respect to any entity that he is an executive officer, director or principal shareholder of, so long as he is an executive officer or a director of our company. Were we, however, to decline any such opportunity offered to us or the 21 Table of Contents if we do not have the resources or desire to accept any such opportunity, Stealth Maritime or the entity controlled by Mr. A Vafias could retain and manage the vessel. In addition, these restrictions, including the right of first refusal, do not apply to Brave Maritime. Furthermore, this right of first refusal does not prohibit Stealth Maritime from managing vessels owned by unaffiliated third parties in competition with us. Currently, Stealth Maritime manages two LPG vessels in addition to those in our fleet. In such cases, they could compete with our fleet and may face conflicts between their own interests and their obligations to us. In the future, we may also consider diversifying into wet, dry or other gas shipping sectors, which, like product carriers and crude oil tankers, are not covered by this right of first refusal agreement. Any such vessels would be in competition with Stealth Maritime and companies affiliated with Stealth Maritime. Stealth Maritime might be faced with conflicts of interest with respect to their own interests and their obligations to us that could adversely affect our business and your interests as stockholders. None of our vessels are currently managed by Brave Maritime. As our fleet has grown in size, our manager, Stealth Maritime, has needed to improve our operations and financial systems, staff and crew; if our manager cannot maintain these systems or continue to recruit suitable employees, our business and results of operations may be adversely affected. We have significantly expanded our fleet since our initial public offering in October 2005, and as a consequence of this, Stealth Maritime has invested considerable sums in upgrading its operating and financial systems, as well as hiring additional well-qualified personnel to manage the vessels now managed by Stealth Maritime. In addition, as we have expanded our fleet, we have had to rely on our technical managers to recruit suitable additional seafarers and ashore administrative and management personnel. Stealth Maritime and those technical managers may not be able to continue to hire suitable employees to the extent we continue to expand our fleet. Our LPG carriers require a technically skilled staff with specialized training. If the technical managers’ crewing agents are unable to employ such technically skilled staff, they may not be able to adequately staff our vessels. If Stealth Maritime is unable to operate our financial and operations systems effectively, or our technical managers are unable to recruit suitable employees as we expand our fleet, our results of operation and our ability to expand our fleet may be adversely affected. Delays in the delivery of any newbuilding LPG carriers or secondhand LPG carriers we agree to acquire could harm our operating results. Delays in the delivery of any newbuilding LPG carriers or second-hand vessels we may agree to acquire in the future, would delay our receipt of revenues generated by these vessels and, to the extent we have arranged charter employment for these vessels, could possibly result in the cancellation of those charters, and therefore adversely affect our anticipated results of operations. Although this would delay our funding requirements for the installment payments to purchase these vessels, it would also delay our receipt of revenues under any charters we arrange for such vessels. The delivery of newbuilding vessels could be delayed, other than at our request, because of, among other things, work stoppages or other labor disturbances; logistic delays in the supply of materials faced by the shipyard building the vessels; bankruptcy or other financial crisis of the shipyard; hostilities, health crises, such as the COVID-19 pandemic, or political or economic disturbances in the countries where the vessels are being built, including any escalation of tensions involving Russia or North Korea; weather interference or catastrophic event, such as a major earthquake, tsunami or fire; our requests for changes to the original vessel specifications; requests from our customers, with whom we may have arranged any charters for such vessels, to delay construction and delivery of such vessels due to weak economic conditions and shipping demand and a dispute with the shipyard building the vessels. In addition, significant delays may impact the availability of any credit facilities we arranged for newbuilding vessels. The delivery of any secondhand vessels could be delayed because of, among other things, hostilities or political disturbances, non-performance of the purchase agreement with respect to the vessels by the seller, our inability to obtain requisite permits, approvals or financing or damage to or destruction of the vessels while being operated by the seller prior to the delivery date. The 22 Table of Contents If we fail to manage our growth properly, we may not be able to successfully expand our market share. As and when market conditions permit, we intend to continue to prudently grow our fleet over the long term. The acquisition of such additional vessels could impose significant additional responsibilities on our management and staff, and may necessitate that we, and they, increase the number of personnel. In the future, we may not be able to identify suitable vessels, acquire vessels on advantageous terms or obtain financing for such acquisitions. Any future growth will depend on: locating and acquiring suitable vessels; identifying and completing acquisitions or joint ventures; integrating any acquired business successfully with our existing operations; expanding our customer base; and obtaining required financing. Growing a business by acquisition presents numerous risks such as undisclosed liabilities and obligations, difficulty in obtaining additional qualified personnel, managing relationships with customers and our commercial and technical managers and integrating newly acquired vessels into existing infrastructures. We may not be successful in executing any growth initiatives and may incur significant expenses and losses in connection therewith. We may decide to sell certain of the vessels in our fleet if in our view market conditions are favorable for such sales which could reduce the size of our LPG carrier fleet and reduce our future revenues. Since our initial public offering through to December 31, 2023 we have sold over 50 LPG carriers. We may decide to sell more vessels from our fleet if, in our view, the market conditions are favorable for such sales. The chartering arrangements with respect to one LPG carrier in our JV agreement included an option for the charterer to purchase the vessel at a stipulated price at the end of the term of the existing charter which reflects market prices at the time of entry into the applicable charter, and we delivered the vessel to the new owner in April 2024, reducing the size of our fleet. Consequently, due to the exercise of this purchase option, and if we sell additional vessels, the expected size of our LPG carrier fleet would be reduced, and as a result our anticipated level of revenues would be reduced. Operating vessels under joint venture structures presents certain operational risks. The operation of our two JV agreements, which as of April 1, 2024 owned a total of six of the 33 vessels in our operating fleet, present certain operational risks. Operation under a JV structure may increase certain administrative burdens, delay decision-making, and make it more difficult to obtain debt financing or complicate the operation of the vessels acquired under the joint venture agreements. For example, the joint venture agreements require that certain decisions regarding chartering or sale of the JV vessels be made jointly by us and the applicable JV investor. Accordingly, if the respective JV investors were to fail to cooperate with us with respect to these matters, such JV vessels may have to be sold or fixed on a period charter at an inopportune time, which could adversely affect our results of operations. We may be unable to attract and retain key management personnel and other employees in the shipping industry, which may negatively affect the effectiveness of our management and our results of operation. Our success depends to a significant extent upon the abilities and efforts of our management team, including our Chief Executive Officer, Harry Vafias. In addition, Harry Vafias is a member of the Vafias family, which controls Stealth Maritime, our fleet manager. Our success will depend upon our and Stealth Maritime’s ability to hire and retain qualified managers to oversee our operations. The loss of any of these individuals could adversely affect our business prospects and financial condition. Difficulty in hiring and retaining personnel could adversely affect our results of operations. We do not have employment agreements directly with our key personnel who are technically employees of Stealth Maritime, our fleet manager, although under our management agreement with Stealth Maritime, our relationship is governed by terms substantially similar to those typically included in employment agreements. We do not maintain life insurance on any of our officers. The 23 Table of Contents In the highly competitive international LPG carrier market, we may not be able to compete for charters with new entrants or established companies with greater resources. We deploy our vessels in highly competitive markets that are capital intensive. Competition arises primarily from other vessel owners, some of which have greater resources than we do. Competition for the transportation of LPG can be intense and depends on price, location, size, age, condition and the acceptability of the vessel and its managers to the charterers. Competitors with greater resources could enter and operate larger LPG carrier fleets through consolidations or acquisitions, and many larger fleets that compete with us in each of these sectors may be able to offer more competitive prices and fleets. After the completion of the Tanker Spin-Off in 2021, we operate only LPG carriers and our lack of a diversified business could adversely affect us. Unlike many other shipping companies, which may carry dry bulk, crude oil, oil products or products or goods shipped in containers, we currently depend entirely on the transport of LPG. The vast majority of our revenue has been and is expected to be derived from this single source-the seaborne transport of LPG. Due to our lack of a more diversified business model, adverse developments in the seaborne transport of LPG and the market for LPG products have a significantly greater impact on our financial conditions and results of operations than if we maintained more diverse assets or lines of business. Purchasing and operating previously owned, or secondhand, vessels may result in increased operating costs and vessels off-hire, which could adversely affect our revenues. Our examination of secondhand vessels, which may not include physical inspection prior to purchase, does not provide us with the same knowledge about their condition and cost of any required (or anticipated) repairs that we would have had if these vessels had been built for and operated exclusively by us. Generally, we do not receive the benefit of warranties on secondhand vessels. In general, the cost of maintaining a vessel in good operating condition increases with its age. As of April 1, 2024, the average age of the vessels in our fleet, including the JV vessels, was approximately 9.8 years. Older vessels are typically less fuel efficient and more costly to maintain and operate than more recently constructed vessels due to improvements in engine technology. Cargo insurance rates increase with the age of a vessel, making older vessels less desirable to charterers. Governmental regulations, safety or other equipment standards related to the age of vessels may require expenditures for alterations, or the addition of new equipment, to our vessels and may restrict the type of activities in which the vessels may engage. As our vessels age, market conditions may not justify those expenditures or enable us to operate our vessels profitably during the remainder of their useful lives. If we sell vessels, the sales prices may not equal and could be less than their carrying values at that time. The shipping industry has inherent operational risks that may not be adequately covered by our insurance. We procure hull and machinery insurance, protection and indemnity insurance, which include environmental damage and pollution insurance coverage, and war risk insurance for our fleet. While we endeavor to be adequately insured against all known risks related to the operation of our ships, there remains the possibility that a liability may not be adequately covered and we may not be able to obtain adequate insurance coverage for our fleet in the future. The insurers may also not pay particular claims. Even if our insurance coverage is adequate, we may not be able to timely obtain a replacement vessel in the event of a loss. Our insurance policies contain deductibles for which we will be responsible and limitations and exclusions which may increase our costs or lower our revenue. In addition, if one of our ships, or other ships managed by our technical managers, were to incur significant costs from an accident, spill or other environmental liability, our insurance premiums and costs could increase significantly. The 24 Table of Contents Our major stockholder exerts considerable influence on the outcome of matters on which our stockholders are entitled to vote and his interests may be different from yours. Our major stockholder, our Chief Executive Officer, together with companies he controls, owns approximately 29.2% of our outstanding common stock as of April 1, 2024 and exerts considerable influence on the outcome of matters on which our stockholders are entitled to vote, including the election of our Board of Directors and other significant corporate actions. The interests of this stockholder may be different from yours. Risks Related to Taxation A change in tax laws in any country in which we operate or loss of a major tax dispute or a successful tax challenge to our operating structure, intercompany pricing policies or the taxable presence of our subsidiaries in certain countries could adversely affect us. Tax laws, treaties and regulations are highly complex and subject to interpretation. Consequently, we and our subsidiaries are subject to changing laws, treaties and regulations in and between the countries in which we operate. Our tax expense is based on our interpretation of the tax laws in effect at the time the expense was incurred. A change in tax laws, treaties or regulations, or in the interpretation thereof, could result in a materially higher tax expense or a higher effective tax rate on our earnings. Such changes may include measures enacted in response to the ongoing initiatives in relation to fiscal legislation at an international level such as the Action Plan on Base Erosion and Profit Shifting of the Organization for Economic Co-Operation and Development, which contemplates a global minimum tax rate of 15% calculated on a jurisdictional basis, subject to exemptions including for qualifying international shipping income. In addition, if any tax authority successfully challenges positions we may take in tax filings, our operational structure, intercompany pricing policies, the taxable presence of our subsidiaries in certain countries or any other situation, or if the terms of certain income tax treaties are interpreted in a manner that is adverse to our structure, or if we lose a material tax dispute in any country, our effective tax rate on our worldwide earnings could increase substantially and our earnings and cash flows from operations could be materially adversely affected. In accordance with the currently applicable Greek law, foreign flagged vessels that are managed by Greek or foreign ship management companies having established an office in Greece are subject to duties towards the Greek state which are calculated on the basis of the relevant vessels’ tonnage. The payment of said duties exhausts the tax liability of the foreign ship owning company and the relevant manager against any tax, duty, charge or contribution payable on income from the exploitation of the foreign flagged vessel. As our manager is located in Greece, we will have to pay these duties. Our operations in Greece may be subjected to new regulations that may require us to incur new or additional compliance or other administrative costs, which may include requirements that we pay to the Greek government new taxes or other fees. In addition, China has enacted a new tax for non-resident international transportation enterprises engaged in the provision of services of passengers or cargo, among other items, in and out of China using their own, chartered or leased vessels, including any stevedore, warehousing and other services connected with the transportation. The new regulation broadens the range of international transportation companies which may find themselves liable for Chinese enterprise income tax on profits generated from international transportation services passing through Chinese ports. We may have to pay tax on United States-source income, which would reduce our earnings. Under the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, or the Code, 50% of the gross shipping income of vessel owning or chartering corporations, such as our subsidiaries, that is attributable to transportation that begins or ends, but does not both begin and end, in the United States is characterized as United States-source shipping income. United States-source shipping income is subject to either a (i) 4% United States federal income tax without allowance for deductions or (ii)A taxation at the standard United States federal income tax rates (and potentially to a 30% branch profits tax), unless derived by a corporation that qualifies for exemption from tax under SectionA 883 of the Code and the Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder. A 25 Table of Contents Generally, we and our subsidiaries will qualify for this exemption for a taxable year if our shares are treated as “primarily and regularly traded” on an established securities market in the United States. Our shares of common stock will be so treated if (i)A the aggregate number of our shares of common stock traded during such year on an established securities market in the United States exceeds the aggregate number of our shares of common stock traded during that year on established securities markets in any other single country, (ii)A either (x) our shares of common stock are regularly quoted during such year by dealers making a market in our shares or (y)A trades in our shares of common stock are effected, other than in de minimis quantities, on an established securities market in the United States on at least 60 days during such taxable year and the aggregate number of our shares of common stock traded on an established securities market in the United States during such year equals at least 10% of the average number of our shares of common stock outstanding during such taxable year and (iii)A our shares of common stock are not “closely held” during such taxable year. For these purposes, our shares of common stock will be treated as closely held during a taxable year if, for more than one-half the number of days in such taxable year, one or more persons each of whom owns either directly or under applicable attribution rules, at least 5% of our shares of common stock, own, in the aggregate, 50% or more of our shares of common stock, unless we can establish, in accordance with applicable documentation requirements, that a sufficient number of the shares of common stock in the closely-held block are owned, directly or indirectly, by persons that are residents of foreign jurisdictions that provide United States shipping companies with an exemption from tax that is equivalent to that provided by SectionA 883 to preclude other stockholders in the closely-held block from owning 50% or more of the closely-held block of shares of common stock. We believe that it is currently the case, and may also be the case in the future, that, one or more persons each of whom owns, either directly or under applicable attribution rules, at least 5% of our shares of common stock own, in the aggregate, 50% or more of our shares of common stock. In such circumstances, we and our subsidiaries may qualify for the exemption provided in SectionA 883 of the Code only if a sufficient number of shares of the closely-held block of our shares of common stock were owned or treated as owned by “qualified stockholders” so it could not be the case that, for more than half of the days in the taxable year, the shares of common stock in the closely-held block not owned or treated as owned by qualified stockholders represented 50% or more of our shares of common stock. For these purposes, a “qualified stockholder” includes an individual that owns or is treated as owning shares of our common stock and is a resident of a jurisdiction that provides an exemption that is equivalent to that provided by SectionA 883 of the Code and certain other persons; provided in each case that such individual or other person complies with certain documentation and certification requirements set forth in the SectionA 883 regulations and designed to establish status as a qualified stockholder. Our Chief Executive Officer, who beneficially owned approximately 29.2% of our outstanding shares of common stock as of AprilA 1, 2024, has entered into an agreement with us regarding his compliance, and the compliance by certain entities that he controls and through which he owns our shares, with the certification procedures designed to establish status as a qualified stockholder. In certain circumstances, his compliance and the compliance of such entities he controls with the terms of that agreement may enable us and our subsidiaries to qualify for the benefits of SectionA 883 even where persons (each of whom owns, either directly or under applicable attribution rules, 5% or more of our shares) own, in the aggregate, more than 50% of our outstanding shares. However, his compliance and the compliance of such entities he controls with the terms of that agreement may not enable us or our subsidiaries to qualify for the benefits of SectionA 883. We or any of our subsidiaries may not qualify for the benefits of SectionA 883 for any year. If we or our subsidiaries do not qualify for the exemption under SectionA 883 of the Code for any taxable year, then we or our subsidiaries would be subject for those years to the 4% United States federal income tax on gross United States shipping income or, in certain circumstances, to net income taxation at the standard United States federal income tax rates (and potentially also to a 30% branch profits tax). The imposition of such tax could have a negative effect on our business and would result in decreased earnings and cash flow. We could become a “passive foreign investment company,” which would have adverse United States federal income tax consequences to United States holders and, in turn, us. A foreign corporation will be treated as a “passive foreign investment company,” or PFIC, for United States federal income tax purposes if either (1)A at least 75% of its gross income for any taxable year consists of certain types of “passive income” or (2)A at least 50% of the average value of the corporation’s assets produce or are held for A 26 Table of Contents the production of those types of “passive income.” For purposes of these tests, “passive income” includes dividends, interest, and gains from the sale or exchange of investment property and rents and royalties other than rents and royalties which are received from unrelated parties in connection with the active conduct of a trade or business. For purposes of these tests, income derived from the performance of services does not constitute “passive income” and working capital and similar assets held pending investment in vessels will generally be treated as an asset which produces passive income. United States stockholders of a PFIC are subject to a disadvantageous United States federal income tax regime with respect to the income derived by the PFIC, the distributions they receive from the PFIC and the gain, if any, they derive from the sale or other disposition of their shares in the PFIC. In connection with determining our PFIC status we treat and intend to continue to treat the gross income that we derive or are deemed to derive from our time chartering and voyage chartering activities as services income, rather than rental income. We believe that our income from time chartering and voyage chartering activities does not constitute “passive income” and that the assets that we own and operate in connection with the production of that income do not constitute assets held for the production of passive income. We treat and intend to continue to treat, for purposes of the PFIC rules, the income that we derive from bareboat charters as passive income and the assets giving rise to such income as assets held for the production of passive income. There is, however, no legal authority specifically under the PFIC rules regarding our current and proposed method of operation and it is possible that the Internal Revenue Service, or IRS, may not accept our positions and that a court may uphold such challenge, in which case we and certain of our subsidiaries could be treated as PFICs. In this regard we note that a federal court decision addressing the characterization of time charters concludes that they constitute leases for federal income tax purposes and employs an analysis which, if applied to our time charters, could result in our treatment and the treatment of our vessel-owning subsidiaries as PFICs. In addition, in making the determination as to whether we are a PFIC, we intend to treat the deposits that we make on our newbuilding contracts and that are with respect to vessels we do not expect to bareboat charter as assets which are not held for the production of passive income for purposes of determining whether we are a PFIC. We note that there is no direct authority on this point and it is possible that the IRS may disagree with our position. We do not believe that we were a PFIC for 2023. This belief is based in part upon our beliefs regarding the value of the assets that we hold for the production of or in connection with the production of passive income relative to the value of our other assets. Should these beliefs turn out to be incorrect, then we and certain of our subsidiaries could be treated as PFICs for 2023. There can be no assurance that the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”) or a court will not determine values for our assets that would cause us to be treated as a PFIC for 2023 or a subsequent year. In addition, although we do not believe that we were a PFIC for 2023, we may choose to operate our business in the current or in future taxable years in a manner that could cause us to become a PFIC for those years. Because our status as a PFIC for any taxable year will not be determinable until after the end of the taxable year, and depends upon our assets, income and operations in that taxable year, there can be no assurance that we will not be considered a PFIC for 2023 or any future taxable year. If the IRS were to find that we are or have been a PFIC for any taxable year, our United States stockholders would face adverse United States tax consequences. Under the PFIC rules, unless those stockholders make an election available under the Code (which election could itself have adverse consequences for such stockholders, as discussed below under “Item 10 Additional Information-E. Tax Considerations-United States Federal Income Taxation of United States Holders”), such stockholders would be liable to pay United States federal income tax at the then prevailing income tax rates on ordinary income plus interest upon excess distributions and upon any gain from the disposition of our shares of common stock, as if the excess distribution or gain had been recognized ratably over the stockholder’s holding period of our shares of common stock. See “Item 10. Additional Information-E. Tax Considerations-United States Federal Income Tax Consequences-United States Federal Income Taxation of United States Holders” for a more comprehensive discussion of the United States federal income tax consequences to United States stockholders if we are treated as a PFIC. As a result of these adverse tax consequences to United States stockholders, such a finding by the IRS may result in sales of our common stock by United States stockholders, which could lower the price of our common stock and adversely affect our ability to raise capital. A 27 Table of Contents Risk Related to an Investment in a Marshall Islands Corporation As a foreign private issuer we are entitled to claim an exemption from certain Nasdaq corporate governance standards, and to the extent we elect to rely on this exemption, you may not have the same protections afforded to stockholders of companies that are subject to all of the Nasdaq corporate governance requirements. As a foreign private issuer, we are entitled to claim an exemption from many of Nasdaq’s corporate governance practices. Currently, our corporate governance practices comply with the Nasdaq corporate governance standards applicable to U.S. listed companies other than that, while Nasdaq requires listed companies to obtain prior shareholder approval for certain issuances of authorized stock in transactions not involving a public offering, as permitted under Marshall Islands law and our articles of incorporation and bylaws, we do not need prior shareholder approval to issue shares of authorized stock, including with respect to equity compensation. To the extent we rely on this or other exemptions you may not have the same protections afforded to stockholders of companies that are subject to all of the Nasdaq corporate governance requirements. We are incorporated in the Republic of the Marshall Islands, which does not have a well-developed body of corporate law or a bankruptcy act. Our corporate affairs are governed by our articles of incorporation and bylaws and by the Marshall Islands Business Corporations Act, or BCA. The provisions of the BCA resemble provisions of the corporation laws of a number of states in the United States. However, there have been few judicial cases in the Republic of the Marshall Islands interpreting the BCA. The rights and fiduciary responsibilities of directors under the law of the Republic of the Marshall Islands are not as clearly established as the rights and fiduciary responsibilities of directors under statutes or judicial precedent in existence in certain U.S. jurisdictions. Stockholder rights may differ as well. While the BCA does specifically incorporate the non-statutory law, or judicial case law, of the State of Delaware and other states with substantially similar legislative provisions, our public stockholders may have more difficulty in protecting their interests in the face of actions by the management, directors or controlling stockholders than would stockholders of a corporation incorporated in a U.S. jurisdiction. The Marshall Islands has no established bankruptcy act, and as a result, any bankruptcy action involving our company would have to be initiated outside the Marshall Islands, and our public stockholders may find it difficult or impossible to pursue their claims in such other jurisdictions. It may be difficult to enforce service of process and judgments against us and our officers and directors. We are a Marshall Islands company, and our executive offices are located outside of the United States. All of our directors and officers reside outside of the United States, and most of our assets and their assets are located outside the United States. As a result, you may have difficulty serving legal process within the United States upon us or any of these persons. You may also have difficulty enforcing, both in and outside the United States, judgments you may obtain in the U.S. courts against us or these persons in any action, including actions based upon the civil liability provisions of U.S. federal or state securities laws. There is also substantial doubt that the courts of the Marshall Islands would enter judgments in original actions brought in those courts predicated on U.S., federal or state securities laws. Risks Related To Our Common Stock The market price of our common stock has fluctuated and may continue to fluctuate in the future. The market price of our common stock has fluctuated widely since our initial public offering in October 2005 and may continue to do so as a result of many factors, including our actual results of operations and perceived prospects, the prospects of our competition and of the shipping industry in general and in particular the LPG carrier sector, differences between our actual financial and operating results and those expected by investors and analysts, changes in analysts’ recommendations or projections, changes in general valuations for companies in the shipping industry, particularly the LPG carrier sector, changes in general economic or market conditions and broad market fluctuations. A 28 Table of Contents If the market price of our common stock again falls below $5.00 per share, under stock exchange rules, our stockholders will not be able to use such shares as collateral for borrowing in margin accounts. This inability to use shares of our common stock as collateral may depress demand and certain institutional investors are restricted from investing in or holding shares priced below $5.00, which could lead to sales of such shares creating further downward pressure on and increased volatility in the market price of our common stock. We may not pay dividends on our common stock. We have not paid a dividend since the first quarter of 2009, when our Board of Directors decided to suspend dividend payments in light of the volatile global economic situation and conditions in the LPG shipping market. Our board of directors will evaluate our dividend policy consistent with our cash flows and liquidity requirements. In addition, other external factors, such as our existing loan agreements, future financing arrangements and capital expenditures, as well as Marshall Islands law, may also restrict or prohibit our declaration and payment of dividends under some circumstances. For instance, we are not permitted to declare or pay cash dividends, or repurchase shares, in any twelve-month period that exceed 50% of our free cash flow in the preceding twelve-month period. Due to these constraints on dividend payments we may not be able to pay regular quarterly dividends in the future. See “Item 5. Operating and Financial Review and Prospects-Credit Facilities-Financial Covenants.” The declaration and payment of dividends will be subject at all times to the discretion of our Board of Directors. The timing and amount of future dividends will depend on the state of the LPG carrier market, our earnings, financial condition, cash requirements and availability, fleet renewal and expansion, restrictions in our loan agreements or other financing arrangements, the provisions of Marshall Islands law affecting the payment of dividends and other factors. Marshall Islands law generally prohibits the payment of dividends other than from surplus or while a company is insolvent or would be rendered insolvent upon the payment of such dividends. Anti-takeover provisions in our organizational documents and other agreements could make it difficult for our stockholders to replace or remove our current Board of Directors or have the effect of discouraging, delaying or preventing a merger or acquisition, which could adversely affect the market price of our common stock. Several provisions of our amended and restated articles of incorporation and bylaws could make it difficult for our stockholders to change the composition of our Board of Directors in any one year, preventing them from changing the composition of management. In addition, the same provisions may discourage, delay or prevent a merger or acquisition that stockholders may consider favorable. These provisions include: A “A “A authorizing our Board of Directors to issue “blank check” preferred stock without stockholder approval; A “A “A providing for a classified Board of Directors with staggered three-year terms; A “A “A prohibiting cumulative voting in the election of directors; A “A “A authorizing the removal of directors only for cause and only upon the affirmative vote of the holders of 80% of the outstanding shares of our common stock entitled to vote for the directors; A “A “A limiting the persons who may call special meetings of stockholders; A “A “A establishing advance notice requirements for nominations for election to our Board of Directors or for proposing matters that can be acted on by stockholders at stockholder meetings; and A “A “A prohibiting certain transactions with interested stockholders. Certain of our loan agreements also require that our Chief Executive Officer, Harry Vafias, together with his immediate family, at all times own at least 10% of our outstanding capital stock and certain of our loan agreements provide that it would be an event of default if Harry Vafias ceased to serve as an executive officer or director of our company, Harry Vafias together with his immediate family, ceased to exert significant influence over our company A 29 Table of Contents or any other person or group controlled 25% or more of the voting we own of our outstanding capital stock. These takeovers provisions could substantially impede the ability of public stockholders to benefit from a change in control and, as a result, may adversely affect the market price of our common stock and your ability to realize any potential change of control premium. Item 4. Information on the Company A. History and Development of the Company StealthGas Inc. was incorporated in December 2004 in the Republic of the Marshall Islands. Our registered address in the Marshall Islands is Trust Company Complex, Ajeltake Road, Ajeltake Island, Majuro, Marshall Islands MH96960. The name of our registered agent at this address is The Trust Company of the Marshall Islands, Inc. Our principal executive offices are located at 331 Kifissias Avenue, Erithra 14561 Athens, Greece. Our telephone number for calls originating from the United States is (011) (30) (210) 625-0001. In October 2005, we completed an initial public offering of our common stock in the United States and our common stock began trading on the Nasdaq National Market and now trades on the Nasdaq Global Select Market under the symbol æGASSæ. Prior to the initial public offering, we owned nine LPG carriers. Since the initial public offering and as of December 31, 2023, we acquired an additional 73 LPG carriers, including JV vessels, and three product carriers and one Aframax crude oil tanker and we concluded with the sale of 45 LPG carriers, including JV vessels, and we spun-off our four tankers to our shareholders as discussed below. We incorporated Imperial Petroleum Inc. under the laws of the Republic of the Marshall Islands on May 14, 2021, to serve as the holding company of four subsidiaries, each owning one of the tanker vessels then in our fleet, which we subsequently contributed to Imperial Petroleum in connection with the Tanker Spin-Off. The four tankers comprised three medium range product carriers with a total capacity of 140,000 dwt and one 115,804 dwt Aframax tanker. On December 3, 2021, we distributed all of Imperial Petroleum's outstanding shares of common stock and 8.75% Series A Cumulative Redeemable Perpetual Preferred Stock, liquidation preference $25.00 per share, to our stockholders, which completed the separation of Imperial Petroleum from StealthGas. As of December 31, 2023, we had a fleet of 33 LPG carriers, including six JV vessels. We sold two small vessels in the first quarter of 2024, and took delivery of two MGC vessels in January 2024. As of April 1, 2024, our fleet is composed of 33 LPG carriers, including six JV vessels, with a total capacity of approximately 389,420 cbm, and our JV, in which we have a 51.0% interest, had a contract to sell one 35,232 cbm LPG carrier pursuant to a charterer's purchase option, which was delivered to its new owner in the second quarter of 2024. Our company operates through a number of subsidiaries which either directly or indirectly own or charter in the vessels in our fleet. A list of our subsidiaries, including their respective jurisdiction of incorporation, as of April 1, 2024, all of which are wholly-owned by us other than as indicated therein, is set forth in Exhibit 8 to this Annual Report on Form 20-F. B. Business Overview We own a fleet of LPG carriers providing international seaborne transportation services to LPG producers and users. Our LPG carriers carry various petroleum gas products in liquefied form, including propane, butane, butadiene, isopropane, propylene and vinyl chloride monomer, which are all byproducts of the production of crude oil and natural gas. We believe that we have established a reputation as a safe, cost-efficient operator of modern and well-maintained LPG carriers. We also believe that these attributes, together with our strategic focus on meeting our customers' chartering needs, has contributed to our ability to attract leading charterers as our customers and to our success in obtaining charter renewals. On occasions we charter-in vessels to supplement our own fleet and employ them both on time charters and voyage charters. We are managed by Stealth Maritime, a privately owned company controlled by other members of the Vafias family, of which our Chief Executive Officer is a member. 30 Table of Contents As of April 1, 2024, our fleet consisted of 33A LPG carriers, including six JV vessels, with an average age of 9.8 years. The table below describes our fleet and its deployment as of April 1, 2024. (6) Charterer has option to extend charter for an additional year. In 2019, we sold a 49.9% equity interest in the subsidiaries owning four of our vessels, theA Gas Haralambos, the Gas Defiance, the Gas Shuriken and the Eco Lucidity, to a leading maritime-focused investor, and acquired a 2007-built, 38,000 cbm LPG carrier, the Eco Nebula with same investor (subsequently sold in 2022), in which we also have a 50.1% equity interest. We and the investor each have certain rights to purchase or bid for the purchase of vessels subject to this arrangement in the event of their proposed sale. In the first quarter of 2020, we acquired three 2010-built Medium Gas Carriers, the Eco Ethereal (ex Gaschem Bremen), the Eco Evoluzione (ex Gaschem Stade) and the Gaschem Hamburg, pursuant to a separate joint venture arrangement with an unaffiliated third party, in which we have a 51% equity interest and the Eco Sorcerer in 2023. The Gaschem Hamburg was subsequently sold in the second quarter of 2021, the Eco Evoluzione (ex Gaschem Stade) was subsequently sold in the first quarter of 2023 and the charterer has exercised its option to purchase the Eco Ethereal (ex Gaschem Bremen), upon expiration of its charter in April 2024. These joint venture vessels are managed by our manager, Stealth Maritime. Commercial and Technical Management of Our Fleet We have a management agreement with Stealth Maritime, pursuant to which Stealth Maritime provides us with technical, administrative, commercial and certain other services. Stealth Maritime is a leading ship-management company based in Greece, established in 1999 in order to provide shipping companies with a range of services. Our manager's safety management system is ISM certified in compliance with IMO's regulations by Lloyd's Register. In relation to the technical services, Stealth Maritime is responsible for arranging for the crewing of the vessels, the day to day operations, inspections and vetting, maintenance, repairs, dry-docking and insurance. Administrative functions include, but are not limited to accounting, back-office, reporting, legal and secretarial services. In addition, Stealth Maritime provides services for the chartering of our vessels and monitoring thereof, freight collection, and sale and purchase. In providing most of these services, Stealth Maritime pays third parties and receives reimbursement from us. In addition, Stealth Maritime may subcontract technical management and crew management for some of our vessels to third parties, including Hellenic Manning Overseas Inc. formerly known as Navis Maritime Services Inc., in which an affiliate of Stealth Maritime has a 25% interest. As of April 1, 2024, the technical management of two of our ships was subcontracted by Stealth Maritime. These crew and technical managers are supervised by Stealth Maritime. Under the November 2006 agreement, which was amended effective January 1, 2007, as approved by our Board of Directors, including all of our independent directors, we pay Stealth Maritime a fixed management fee of $440 per vessel operating under a voyage or time charter per day (except for four vessels for which a fixed daily fee of $280 is charged by Stealth Maritime as part of the services is currently provided by third party managers) on a monthly basis in advance, pro-rated for the calendar days we own the vessels. We pay a fixed fee of $125 per vessel per day for each of our vessels operating on bareboat charter. We are also obligated to pay Stealth Maritime a fee equal to 1.25% of the gross freight, demurrage and charter hire collected from the employment of our vessels. Stealth Maritime will also earn a fee equal to 1.0% of the contract price of any vessel bought or sold by them on our behalf. In addition, as long as Stealth Maritime (or an entity with respect to which Harry N. Vafias is an executive officer, director or the principal shareholder) is our fleet manager or Harry N. Vafias is an executive officer or director of the Company, Stealth Maritime has granted us a right of first refusal to acquire any LPG carrier which Stealth Maritime may acquire in the future. In addition, Stealth Maritime has agreed that it will not charter-in any LPG carrier without first offering the opportunity to charter-in such vessels to us. This right of first refusal does not prohibit Stealth Maritime from managing vessels owned by unaffiliated third parties in competition with us, nor does it cover other sectors of the shipping industry, including product carriers or crude oil tankers. The initial term of our management agreement with Stealth Maritime expired in June 2010; however, unless six months' notice of non-renewal is given by either party prior to the end of the then current term, this agreement automatically extends for additional 12 month periods. No such notice has been given, and accordingly, this agreement will extend to June 2025. 32 Table of Contents For additional information about the management agreement, including the calculation of management fees, see ææææ 7. Major Shareholders and Related Party Transactionsæ and our consolidated financial statements which are included as Item 18 to this Annual Report. Crewing and Employees Stealth Maritime ensures that all seamen have the qualifications and licenses required to comply with international regulations and shipping conventions, and that our vessels employ experienced and competent personnel. Since 2021, Hellenic Manning Overseas Inc. formerly known as Navis Maritime Services Inc., based in Manila, has been responsible for providing the crewing of our fleet, under Stealth Maritime's and Brave Maritime's technical management, to the extent that these vessels were not deployed on bareboat charters. These responsibilities include training, compensation, transportation and additional insurance of the crew. The remaining vessels were crewed by their respective technical managers and their crewing agents. Chartering of the Fleet We, through Stealth Maritime, manage the employment of our fleet. We deploy our LPG carriers, and prior to the Tanker Spin-Off our tankers, on period charters, including time and bareboat charters that can last up to several years, and spot market charters (through voyage charters and short-term time charters), which generally last from one to six months, subject to market conditions. Time and bareboat charters are for a fixed period of time. A voyage charter is generally a contract to carry a specific cargo from a loading port to a discharging port for an agreed-upon total charge. Under voyage charters we pay for voyage expenses such as port, canal and fuel costs. Under a time charter the charterer pays for voyage expenses while under a bareboat charter the charterer pays for voyage expenses and operating expenses such as crewing, supplies, maintenance and repairs including special survey and dry-docking costs. Vessels operating in the spot market generate revenues that are less predictable but may enable us to capture increased profit margins during periods of improvements in LPG charter rates, although we* Annex VI requirements.Â We currently have no committed capital expenditure obligations for the installation of scrubbers. On NovemberÂ 1, 2022, amendments to MARPOL Annex VI adopted by the IMO came into effect. These amendments are both of a technical and an operational nature, and they require ships to improve their energy efficiency with a view to reducing their greenhouse gas emissions, with a particular focus on carbon emissions. The U.S. Coast Guard is working to implement the amended provisions of MARPOL Annex VI, chiefly through proposed rule 1625-AC78, which remains at the proposed rule stage since its original publication in Â 34 Table of Contents October of 2022. The amended MARPOL provisions and the rules proposed by the U.S. Coast Guard to implement them, in addition to any other new or more stringent air emission regulations which may be adopted, could require significant capital expenditures to retrofit vessels and could otherwise increase our investment and operating costs. More stringent emission standards apply in coastal areas designated by the IMO as SOx Emission Control Areas, or ECAs, such as the Baltic and North Seas, United States (including Hawaii) and Canadian (including the French territories of St. Pierre and Miquelon) coastal areas, and the United States Caribbean Sea (including Puerto Rico and the US Virgin Islands). Similar restrictions apply in Icelandic and inland Chinese waters. Specifically, as of JanuaryÂ 1, 2019, China expanded the scope of its Domestic Emission Control Areas to include all coastal waters within 12 nautical miles of the mainland. Vessels operating within an ECA or an area with equivalent standards must use fuel with a sulfur content that does not exceed 0.10%. Additionally, two new NOx ECAs, the Baltic Sea and the North Sea, will be enforced for ships constructed (keel laying) on or after JanuaryÂ 1, 2021, or existing ships which replace an engine with an engine, or install an additional engine. Other ECAs may be designated, and the jurisdictions in which our vessels operate may adopt more stringent emission standards independent of IMO. For example, the Mediterranean Sea has been proposed as an additional ECA. We have obtained International Air Pollution Prevention Certificates for all of our vessels and believe they are compliant in all material respects with current Annex VI requirements. Our LPG carriers must have an IMO Certificate of Fitness demonstrating compliance with construction codes for LPG carriers. These codes, and similar regulations in individual member states, address fire and explosion risks posed by the transport of liquefied gases. Collectively, these standards and regulations impose detailed requirements relating to the design and arrangement of cargo tanks, vents, and pipes; construction materials and compatibility; cargo pressure; and temperature control. All of our LPG carriers have Certificates of Fitness and we intend to obtain such certificates for the vessels that we have agreed to acquire. Many countries have ratified and follow the liability plan adopted by the IMO and set out in the International Convention on Civil Liability for Oil Pollution Damage of 1969 (the "CLC"). The United States, with its separate OPA regime described below, is not a party to the CLC. This convention generally applies to vessels that carry oil in bulk as cargo. Under this convention and depending on whether the country in which the damage results is a party to the 1992 Protocol to the CLC, the registered owner of a regulated vessel is strictly liable for pollution damage in the territorial waters or exclusive economic zone of a contracting state caused by the discharge of any oil from the ship, subject to certain defenses. Under an amendment to the 1992 Protocol that became effective on NovemberÂ 1, 2003, for vessels of 5,000 to 140,000 gross tons, liability per incident is limited to 4.51A million Special Drawing Rights (plus 631 SDR for each additional gross ton over 5,000. For a vessel over 140,000 gross tons, liability is limited to 89.77A million SDR. The SDR is an International Monetary Fund unit pegged to a basket of currencies. The right to limit liability under the CLC is forfeited where the spill is caused by the owner's actual fault and, under the 1992 Protocol, where the spill is caused by the owner's intentional or reckless conduct. Vessels trading in states that are parties to the CLC must provide evidence of insurance covering the liability of the owner. In jurisdictions where the CLC has not been adopted, various legislative schemes or common law regimes govern, and liability is imposed either on the basis of fault or in a manner similar to that convention. We believe that our protection and indemnity insurance will cover any liability under the CLC. In 2001, the IMO adopted the International Convention on Civil Liability for Bunker Oil Pollution Damage, or the Bunker Convention, which imposes strict liability on ship owners for pollution damage caused by discharges of bunker oil in jurisdictional waters of ratifying states. The Bunker Convention also requires registered owners of ships over 1,000 gross tons to maintain insurance for pollution damage in an amount equal to the limits of liability under the applicable national or international limitation regime (but not exceeding the amount calculated in accordance with the Convention on Limitation of Liability for Maritime Claims of 1976, as amended). Because the Bunker Convention does not apply to pollution damage governed by the CLC, it applies only to discharges from any of our vessels that are not transporting oil. The Bunker Convention entered into force on NovemberÂ 21, 2008. Liability limits under the Bunker Convention were increased as of June 2015. In jurisdictions where the Bunker Convention has not been adopted, such as the United States, liability for spills or releases of oil from ship's bunkers typically is determined by national or other domestic laws in the jurisdiction where the events occur.Â 35 Table of Contents Our LPG vessels may also become subject to the International Convention on Liability and Compensation for Damage in Connection with the Carriage of Hazardous and Noxious Substances by Sea adopted in 1996 as amended by the Protocol to the HNS Convention, adopted in April 2010 (2010 HNS Protocol) (collectively, the "2010 HNS Convention"), if it enters into force. The Convention creates a regime of liability and compensation for damage from hazardous and noxious substances (or HNS), including liquefied gases. The 2010 HNS Convention sets up a two-tier system of compensation composed of compulsory insurance taken out by ship owners and an HNS Fund that will come into play when the insurance is insufficient to satisfy a claim or does not cover the incident. Under the 2010 HNS Convention, if damage is caused by bulk HNS, claims for compensation will first be sought from the ship owner up to a maximum of 100A million SDR. If the damage is caused by packaged HNS or by both bulk and packaged HNS, the maximum liability is 115A million SDR. Once the limit is reached, compensation will be paid from the HNS Fund up to a maximum of 250A million SDR. The 2010 HNS Convention has not been ratified by a sufficient number of countries to enter into force, and at this time we cannot estimate with any certainty the costs of compliance with its requirements should it enter into force. The IMO adopted the BWM Convention in February 2004. The Convention's implementing regulations call for a phased introduction of mandatory ballast water exchange requirements, to be replaced in time with mandatory concentration limits. The BWM Convention took effect on SeptemberÂ 8, 2017. Many of the implementation dates originally contained in the BWM Convention had already passed prior to its effectiveness, so that the period for installation of mandatory ballast water exchange requirements would be very short, with several thousand ships per year needing to install the systems. Consequently, the IMO Assembly passed a resolution in December 2013 revising the dates for implementation of the ballast water management requirements so that they are triggered by the entry into force date. In effect, this makes all vessels constructed before SeptemberÂ 8, 2017 existing vessels, allowing for the installation of ballast water management systems on such vessels at the first renewal International Oil Pollution Prevention (IOPP) survey following entry into force of the BWM Convention. In July 2017, the implementation scheme was further changed to require vessels with IOPP certificates expiring between SeptemberÂ 8, 2017 and SeptemberÂ 8, 2019 to comply at their second IOPP renewal. All ships must have installed a ballast water treatment system by SeptemberÂ 8, 2024. Each vessel in our current fleet has been issued or will be issued a ballast water management plan Statement of Compliance by the classification society with respect to the applicable IMO regulations and guidelines. The cost of compliance could increase for our vessels as a result of these requirements, although it is difficult to predict the overall impact of such a requirement on our operations. The operation of our vessels is also affected by the requirements set forth in the ISM Code of the IMO. The ISM Code requires ship owners and bareboat charterers to develop and maintain an extensive SMS that includes the adoption of a safety and environmental protection policy setting forth instructions and procedures for safe operation and describing procedures for dealing with emergencies. Vessel operators must obtain a Safety Management Certificate from the government of the vessel's flag state to verify that it is being operated in compliance with its approved SMS. The failure of a ship owner or bareboat charterer to comply with the ISM Code may subject such party to increased liability, decrease available insurance coverage for the affected vessels and result in a denial of access to, or detention in, certain ports. Currently, each of the vessels in our fleet is ISM code-certified. However, there can be no assurance that such certification will be maintained indefinitely. Non-compliance with the ISM Code may subject such party to increased liability, invalidate existing insurance or decrease available insurance coverage for the affected vessels and result in a denial of access to, or detention in, certain ports. For example, the U.S. Coast Guard and E.U. authorities have indicated that vessels not in compliance with the ISM Code will be prohibited from trading in U.S. and E.U. ports. Environmental Regulations-The United States Oil Pollution Act of 1990 (the "OPA") and the U.S. Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (the "CERCLA") The United States Oil Pollution Act of 1990, or OPA, established an extensive regulatory and liability regime for the protection and cleanup of the environment from oil spills. OPA applies to discharges of any oil from a vessel, including discharges of fuel oil (bunkers) and lubricants. OPA affects all owners and operators whose vessels trade in the United States, its territories and possessions or whose vessels operate in United States waters, which include the United States' territorial sea and its two hundred nautical mile exclusive economic zone. The United States has also enacted the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act, or CERCLA, which applies to the discharge of hazardous substances other than oil, whether on land or at sea. OPA and CERCLA both define owner and operator in the case of a vessel as any person owning, operating or chartering by demise, the vessel. Accordingly, both OPA and CERCLA impact our operations.Â 36 Table of Contents Under OPA, vessel owners, operators and bareboat charterers are responsible parties and are jointly, severally and strictly liable (unless the discharge of pollutants results solely from the act or omission of a third party, an act of God or an act of war) for all containment and clean-up costs and other damages arising from discharges or threatened discharges of pollutants from their vessels. OPA broadly defines these other damages to include: A natural resources damage and the costs of assessment thereof; A real and personal property damage; A net loss of taxes, royalties, rents, fees and other lost revenues; A lost profits or impairment of earning capacity due to property or natural resources damage; and A net cost of public services necessitated by a spill response, such as protection from fire, safety or health hazards, and loss of subsistence use of natural resources. Since MarchÂ 23, 2022, the current limits of OPA liability for double-hulled tank vessels larger than 3,000 gross tons are the greater of $2,500 per gross ton or $21,521,000, subject to adjustment for inflation by the United States Coast Guard every three years. These limits of liability do not apply if an incident was directly caused by violation of applicable United States federal safety, construction or operating regulations or by a responsible party's gross negligence or willful misconduct, or if the responsible party fails or refuses to report the incident or to cooperate and assist in connection with oil removal activities. OPA requires owners and operators of vessels over 300 gross tons to establish and maintain with the United States Coast Guard evidence of financial responsibility sufficient to meet their potential liabilities under the OPA. Under the United States Coast Guard regulations implementing OPA, vessel owners and operators may evidence their financial responsibility by showing proof of insurance, surety bond, self-insurance, or guaranty. Under the OPA regulations, an owner or operator of a fleet of vessels is required only to demonstrate evidence of financial responsibility in an amount sufficient to cover the vessels in the fleet having the greatest maximum liability under OPA. CERCLA contains a similar liability regime whereby owners and operators of vessels are liable for cleanup, removal and remedial costs, as well as damage for injury to, or destruction or loss of, natural resources, including the reasonable costs associated with assessing same, and health assessments or health effects studies. There is no liability if the discharge of a hazardous substance results solely from the act or omission of a third party, an act of God or an act of war. Liability under CERCLA is limited to the greater of $300 per gross ton or $5A million for vessels carrying a hazardous substance as cargo and the greater of $300 per gross ton or $500,000 for any other vessel. These limits do not apply (rendering the responsible person liable for the total cost of response and damages) if the release or threat of release of a hazardous substance resulted from willful misconduct or negligence, or the primary cause of the release was a violation of applicable safety, construction or operating standards or regulations. The limitation on liability also does not apply if the responsible person fails or refused to provide all reasonable cooperation and assistance as requested in connection with response activities where the vessel is subject to OPA. We currently maintain, for each of our vessels, pollution liability coverage insurance in the amount of $1A billion per vessel per incident. In addition, we carry hull and machinery and protection and indemnity insurance to cover the risks of fire and explosion. Under certain circumstances, fire and explosion could result in a catastrophic loss. While we believe that our present insurance coverage is adequate, not all risks can be insured, and there can be no guarantee that any specific claim will be paid, or that we will always be able to obtain adequate insurance coverage at reasonable rates. If the damages from a catastrophic spill exceeded our insurance coverage, it would have a severe effect on us and could possibly result in our insolvency. OPA and CERCLA both require owners and operators of vessels to establish and maintain with the United States Coast Guard evidence of financial responsibility sufficient to meet the maximum amount of liability to which the particular responsible person may be subject as discussed above. Under the self-insurance provisions, the ship owner or operator must have a net worth and working capital, measured in assets located in the United States against A 37 Table of Contents liabilities located anywhere in the world, that exceeds the applicable amount of financial responsibility. We have complied with the United States Coast Guard regulations by providing a financial guaranty evidencing sufficient self-insurance. OPA specifically permits individual states to impose their own liability regimes with regard to oil pollution incidents occurring within their boundaries, and some states have enacted legislation providing for unlimited liability for oil spills. In some cases, states, which have enacted such legislation, have not yet issued implementing regulations defining vessels owners' responsibilities under these laws. We intend to comply with all applicable state regulations in the ports where our vessels call. Environmental Regulations-Other Environmental Initiatives The EU has adopted legislation that: (1)A requires member states to refuse access to their ports to certain sub-standard vessels, according to vessel type, flag and number of previous detentions; (2)A creates an obligation on member states to inspect at least 25% of vessels using their ports annually and provides for increased surveillance of vessels posing a high risk to maritime safety or the marine environment; (3)A provides the EU with greater authority and control over classification societies, including the ability to seek to suspend or revoke the authority of negligent societies; and (4)A requires member states to impose criminal sanctions for certain pollution events, such as the unauthorized discharge of tank washings. It is impossible to predict what additional legislation or regulations, if any, may be promulgated by the EU or any other country or authority. The European Parliament and the Council of the E.U. have adopted regulation 2015/757, the EU-MRV, on the monitoring, reporting and verification of CO2 emissions from maritime transport. It entered into force on JulyÂ 1, 2015 and monitoring began JanuaryÂ 1, 2018. The maritime EU-MRV regulation applies to all merchant ships of 5,000 gross tons or above on voyages from, to and between ports under jurisdiction of E.U. member states. Companies operating the vessels will have to monitor the CO2 emissions released while in port and for any voyages to or from a port under the jurisdiction of an E.U. member state and to keep records on CO2 emissions on both per-voyage and annual bases. Furthermore, as of JanuaryÂ 1, 2018, our vessels began monitoring and reporting CO2 emissions pursuant to the IMO DCS regulation, which is part of the IMO's efforts to reduce GHG emissions from ships by 50% by 2050 compared to 2008. On FebruaryÂ 4, 2019, the European Commission tabled a proposal concerning the amendment of the EU-MRV. The main objective of the proposal was to amend the EU-MRV in order to take account of the new IMO DCS for fuel oil consumption of ships that was introduced by the IMO in March 2018. As part of the IMO's efforts to reduce GHG emissions from ships, an initial IMO GHG strategy envisaged a reduction in carbon intensity of international shipping (a 40A % reduction of average CO2 emissions per transport work by 2030 and a 70% reduction by 2050, compared to 2008) and a 50A % reduction in total annual GHG emissions from international shipping by 2050, compared to 2008. The globally applicable IMO DCS system, currently runs in parallel with the EU-MRV, thus duplicating regulation for shipping companies whose ships sail both inside and outside the EU. The EU recently included international carbon emissions from the maritime sector in the EU emissions trading system. These monitoring and reporting processes adopted by the EU-MRV and the IMO DCS regulations is considered to be part of a market-based mechanism for a carbon tax to be adopted. On JuneÂ 22, 2022, the European Union revised proposed amendments to regulation 2015/757. In July 2023, the IMO adopted the 2023 IMO Strategy on Reduction of GHG Emissions from Ships, which provides new mid-term emissions reduction goals and builds upon the initial strategy's levels of ambition. The revised levels of ambition include (1)A further decreasing the carbon intensity from ships through improvement of energy efficiency; (2)A reducing carbon intensity of international shipping; (3)A increasing adoption of zero or near-zero emissions technologies, fuels, and energy sources to represent at least 5%, striving for 10%, of the energy used by international shipping by 2023 and (4)A achieving net zero GHG emissions from international shipping. A basket of mid-term measures to reduce GHG emissions that combines technical and economical elements is expected to be finalized at MEPC 81 in spring 2024, and ultimately enter into force in 2027. Potential long-term measures may be finalized and agreed by MEPC beyond 2030. Following a JulyÂ 14, 2021 European Commission proposal, the European Parliament voted to include CO2, methane (NH4) and nitrous oxide (N2O) emissions from shipping within the EU's Emissions Trading Scheme (the EU ETS). The proposal was adopted in May 2023, and became effective JanuaryÂ 1, 2024. The EU ETS now applies to all voyages by vessels 5,000 gross tonnage and above that start or finish within the EU. It requires vessel A 38 Table of Contents operators to purchase allowances that correspond to the emissions covered by the system. The scheme phased in for CO2A in 2024, and will phase in for methane and nitrous oxide in 2026. Additional jurisdictions may adopt similar GHG emissions monitoring and reduction schemes in the future. Varying emission requirements will present significant challenges for vessel owners and operators. To address the potential compliance challenges for some of the existing vessels, particularly the older ones, while keeping in line with the IMO strategy's levels of ambition and the EU ETS, we may incur significant capital expenditures to apply efficiency improvement measures and meet the Required EEXI threshold, for example with respect to shaft/engine power limitation (power optimization), fuel change, energy saving devices and ship replacement. The introduction of the EEXI regulatory framework may also accelerate the scrapping of older tonnage, while the adoption of shaft/engine power limitation as measures to comply with the latest amendments may lead to the continuing prevalence of slow steaming to even lower speeds which could result in contracting/ building of new ships to replace any reduction in capacity. The impact of these requirements on our business and operations, including any necessary capital expenditures, is difficult to accurately predict at this time. Fourteen years after the IMO's initial adoption of the Hong Kong International Convention for the Safe and Environmentally Sound Recycling of Ships, 2009, a sufficient number of contracting states have ratified the Convention and reached requirements for entry into force. Entry into force of this Convention required that the combined merchant fleets of the contracting states constitute not less than 40% percent of the gross tonnage (gt) of the world's merchant shipping and the combined maximum annual ship recycling volume of these states during the preceding 10 years constitutes not less than three percent of the gt of the combined merchant shipping of the same states. The Hong Kong convention enters into force on June 26, 2025. On March 23, 2012, the United States Coast Guard adopted ballast water discharge standards under the U.S. National Invasive Species Act, or NISA. The regulations, which became effective on June 21, 2012, set maximum acceptable discharge limits for living organisms and established standards for ballast water management systems, and they are consistent with the requirements under the BWM Convention described above. The requirements are being phased in based on the size of the vessel and its next dry docking date. As of the date of this report, the United States Coast Guard has approved nearly 50 Ballast Water Treatment Systems. A list of approved equipment can be found on the Coast Guard Maritime Information Exchange web page. Several U.S. states, such as California, have also adopted more stringent legislation or regulations relating to the permitting and management of ballast water discharges compared to U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) regulations. The U.S. Clean Water Act (CWA) prohibits the discharge of oil or hazardous substances in navigable waters and imposes strict liability in the form of penalties for any unauthorized discharges. The CWA also imposes substantial liability for the costs of removal, remediation and damages and complements the remedies available under OPA. Under EPA regulations we are required to obtain a CWA permit to discharge ballast water and other wastewaters incidental to the normal operation of our vessels if we operate within the three mile territorial waters or inland waters of the United States. This permit, which the EPA has designated as the Vessel General Permit for Discharges Incidental to the Normal Operation of Vessels, or VGP, incorporates the current United States Coast Guard requirements for ballast water management, as well as supplemental ballast water requirements, and includes requirements applicable to 26 specific discharge streams, such as deck runoff, bilge water and gray water. The United States Coast Guard and the EPA have entered into a memorandum of understanding which provides for collaboration on the enforcement of the VGP requirements. As a result, the United States Coast Guard includes the VGP as part of its normal Port State Control inspections. The EPA issued a VGP that became effective in December 2013. Among other things, it contained numeric ballast water discharge limits for most vessels and more stringent requirements for exhaust gas scrubbers and required the use of environmentally friendly lubricants. We have submitted NOIs (Notices of Intent) for Discharges Incidental to the Normal Operation of a Vessel under the 2013 VGP to the U.S. EPA for all our ships trading in U.S. waters. The 2013 VGP was set to expire on December 13, 2018; however, its provisions will remain in effect until the regulations under the 2018 Vessel Incidental Discharge Act (VIDA) are final and enforceable. VIDA, signed into law on December 4, 2018, establishes a new framework for the regulation of vessel incidental discharges under CWA Section 312(p). VIDA requires the EPA to develop performance standards for those discharges within two years of enactment, and requires the United States Coast Guard to develop implementation, compliance, and enforcement regulations within two years of the EPA's promulgation of its performance standards. All provisions of the 2013 VGP will remain in force and effect until the United States Coast Guard regulations under VIDA are finalized. On October 26, 2020, the EPA published a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking "Vessel Incidental Discharge National Standards of Performance in the Federal Register for public comment. The comment period closed on November 25, 2020. Compliance with the EPA and United States Coast Guard ballast water management regulations could require the installation of equipment on our vessels to treat ballast water before it is discharged or the implementation of other port facility disposal arrangements at potentially substantial cost, or may otherwise restrict our vessels from entering United States waters. Climate Control Initiatives Although the Kyoto Protocol requires adopting countries to implement national programs to reduce emissions of greenhouse gases, emissions of greenhouse gases from international shipping are not currently subject to the Kyoto Protocol. The Kyoto Protocol was extended to 2020 at the 2012 United Nations Climate Change Conference, with the hope that a new climate change treaty would be adopted by 2015 and come into effect by 2020. The Paris Agreement adopted under the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change in December 2015 contemplates commitments from each nation party thereto to take action to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and limit increases in global temperatures but did not include any restrictions or other measures specific to shipping emissions. However, restrictions on shipping emissions are likely to continue to be considered and a new treaty may be adopted in the future that includes restrictions on shipping emissions. International or multi-national bodies or individual countries may adopt their own climate change regulatory initiatives. The IMO's Marine Environment Protection Committee adopted two sets of mandatory requirements to address greenhouse gas emissions from shipping that entered into force in January 2013. The Energy Efficiency Design Index establishes minimum energy efficiency levels per capacity mile and applies to new vessels of 400 gross tons or greater. Currently operating vessels must develop and implement Ship Energy Efficiency Plans. By 2025, all new ships built must be 30% more energy efficient than those built in 2014, but it is likely that the IMO will increase these requirements such that new ships must be up to 50% more energy efficient than those built in 2014 by 2022. These new requirements could cause us to incur additional costs to comply. MARPOL adopted in June 2021 will build on the EEDI and SEEMP and require ships to reduce carbon intensity based on a new Energy Efficiency Existing Ship Index and reduce operational carbon intensity reductions based on a new operational carbon intensity indicator, in line with the IMO strategy which aims to reduce carbon intensity of international shipping by 40% by 2030. Likewise, the Energy Efficiency Existing Ship Index (EEXI) and the Carbon Intensity Indicator (CII), both introduced on January 1, 2023, will impose additional technical requirements on vessels, based on their particular specifications, including, in the case of the CII, the potential requirement for the development of SEEMP plan for vessels that earn low compliance ratings for three consecutive years. CII requirements are set to become particularly stringent by 2030. The USCG plans to develop and propose regulations to implement these provisions in the United States. The IMO is also considering the development of market-based mechanisms for limiting greenhouse gas emissions from ships, but it is impossible to predict the likelihood of adoption of such a standard or the impact on our operations. In April 2015, the EU adopted regulations requiring the monitoring and reporting of greenhouse gas emissions from marine vessels (of over 5,000 gross tons) which went into effect in January 2018. The EPA has issued a finding that greenhouse gas emissions endanger the public health and safety and has adopted regulations under the Clean Air Act to limit emissions of greenhouse gases from certain mobile sources and proposed regulations to limit greenhouse gas emissions from large stationary sources, although the mobile source regulations do not apply to greenhouse gas emissions from vessels. Any passage of climate control initiatives by the IMO, the EU or the individual countries in which we operate that limit greenhouse gas emissions from vessels could require us to limit our operations or make significant financial expenditures that we cannot predict with certainty at this time. Passage of climate control initiatives that affect the demand for LPG products and oil may also materially affect our business. Even in the absence of climate control legislation and regulations, our business may be materially affected to the extent that climate change may result in sea level changes or more intense weather events. On June 29, 2017, the Global Industry Alliance, or the GIA, was officially inaugurated. The GIA is a program, under the Global Environmental Facility-United Nations Development Program-IMO project, which supports shipping, and related industries, as they move towards a low carbon future. Organizations including, but not limited to, ship owners, operators, classification societies, and oil companies, signed to launch the GIA. The 40 Table of Contents In addition, the United States is currently experiencing changes in its environmental policy, the results of which have yet to be fully determined. For example, in 2021, the United States announced its commitment to working with the IMO to adopt a goal of achieving zero emissions from international shipping by 2050. Additional legislation or regulation applicable to the operation of our ships that may be implemented in the future could negatively affect our profitability. Furthermore, recent action by the IMO's Maritime Safety Committee and U.S. agencies indicate that cybersecurity regulations for the maritime industry are likely to be further developed in the near future in an attempt to combat cybersecurity threats, as described below. This might cause companies to cultivate additional procedures for monitoring cybersecurity, which could require additional expenses and/or capital expenditures. However, the impact of such regulations is difficult to predict at this time. Vessel Security Regulations Since the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, there have been a variety of initiatives intended to enhance vessel security. On November 25, 2002, the Maritime Transportation Security Act of 2002, or MTSA, came into effect in the United States. To implement certain portions of the MTSA, in July 2003, the United States Coast Guard issued regulations requiring the implementation of certain security requirements aboard vessels operating in waters subject to the jurisdiction of the United States. Similarly, in December 2002, amendments to the International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea, or SOLAS, created a new chapter of the convention dealing specifically with maritime security. The chapter went into effect in July 2004, and imposes various detailed security obligations on vessels and port authorities, most of which are contained in the newly created International Ship and Port Facilities Security or, ISPS, Code. Among the various requirements are: the on-board installation of automatic information systems, or AIS, to enhance vessel-to-vessel and vessel-to-shore communications; the on-board installation of ship security alert systems; the development of vessel security plans; and the compliance with flag state security certification requirements. The United States Coast Guard regulations aim to align with international maritime security standards exempted non-United States vessels from MTSA vessel security measures provided such vessels have on board, by July 1, 2004, a valid International Ship Security Certificate (ISSC) that attests to the vessel's compliance with SOLAS security requirements and the ISPS Code. We have obtained ISSCs for all of our vessels and implemented the various security measures addressed by the MTSA, SOLAS and the ISPS Codes to ensure that our vessels attain compliance with all applicable security requirements within the prescribed time periods. We do not believe these requirements will have a material financial impact on our operations. IMO Cyber Security The Maritime Safety Committee, at its 98th session in June 2017, adopted Resolution MSC.428(98) - Maritime Cyber Risk Management in Safety Management Systems. The resolution encourages administrations to ensure that cyber risks are appropriately addressed in existing safety management systems (as defined in the ISM Code) no later than the first annual verification of the company's Document of Compliance after January 1, 2021. Owners risk having ships detained if they have not included cyber security in the SMS of ships by January 1, 2021. Vessel Recycling Regulations The EU has adopted a regulation that seeks to facilitate the ratification of the IMO Recycling Convention and sets forth rules relating to vessel recycling and management of hazardous materials on vessels. In addition to new requirements for the recycling of vessels, the new regulation contains rules for the control and proper management of hazardous materials on vessels and prohibits or restricts the installation or use of certain hazardous materials on vessels. The new regulation applies to vessels flying the flag of an EU member state and certain of its provisions apply to vessels flying the flag of a third country calling at a port or anchorage of a member state. For example, when calling at a port or anchorage of a member state, a vessel flying the flag of a third country will be required, among other things, to have on board an inventory of hazardous materials that complies with the requirements of the 41 Table of Contents new regulation and the vessel must be able to submit to the relevant authorities of that member state a copy of a statement of compliance issued by the relevant authorities of the country of the vessel's flag verifying the inventory. The new regulation took effect on non-EU-flagged vessels calling on EU ports of call beginning on December 31, 2020. Classification and Inspection All our vessels are certified as being classed by a classification society member of the International Association of Classification Societies such as Lloyd's Register of Shipping, Bureau Veritas, American Bureau of Shipping and Nippon Kaiji Kyokai. All new and secondhand vessels that we purchase must be certified prior to their delivery under our standard contracts and memoranda of agreement. If the vessel is not certified on the date of closing, we have no obligation to take delivery of the vessel. Most insurance underwriters make it a condition for insurance coverage that a vessel be certified as classed by a classification society that is a member of the International Association of Classification Societies. Every vessel's hull and machinery is classed by a classification society authorized by its country of registry. The classification society certifies that the vessel has been built and maintained in accordance with the rules of such classification society and complies with applicable rules and regulations of the country of registry of the vessel and the international conventions of which that country is a member. Each vessel is inspected by a surveyor of the classification society every year - an annual survey, every two to three years - an intermediate survey, and every four to five years - a special survey. Vessels also may be required, as part of the intermediate survey process, to be dry-docked every 30 to 36 months for inspection of the underwater parts of the vessel and for necessary repairs related to such inspection; alternatively, such requirements may be dealt concurrently with the special survey. In addition to the classification inspections, many of our customers, including the major oil companies, regularly inspect our vessels as a pre-condition to chartering voyages on these vessels. We believe that our well-maintained, high quality tonnage should provide us with a competitive advantage in the current environment of increasing regulations, and customer emphasis on quality of service. All areas subject to surveys as defined by the classification society, are required to be surveyed at least once per class period, unless shorter intervals between surveys are prescribed elsewhere. The period between two subsequent surveys of each area must not exceed five years. Vessels are dry docked for the special survey for inspection of the underwater parts and for repairs related to inspections. If any defects are found, the classification surveyor will issue a recommendation which must be rectified by the ship owner within the prescribed time limits. Risk of Loss and Liability Insurance General The operation of any cargo vessel includes risks such as mechanical failure, physical damage, collision, property loss, cargo loss or damage and business interruption due to political circumstances in foreign countries, hostilities and labor strikes. In addition, there is always an inherent possibility of marine disaster, including environmental mishaps, and the liabilities arising from owning and operating vessels in international trade. While we believe that our present insurance coverage is adequate, not all risks can be insured, and there can be no guarantee that any specific claim will be paid, or that we will always be able to obtain adequate insurance coverage at reasonable rates. Hull and Machinery Insurance We have obtained marine hull and machinery and war risk insurance, which include the risk of actual or constructive total loss, for all of our vessels. The vessels are each covered up to at least fair market value, with deductibles of $100,000 per vessel. The 42 Table of Contents We also maintain increased value insurance for most of our vessels. Under the increased value insurance, in case of total loss of the vessel, we will be able to recover the sum insured under the increased value policy in addition to the sum insured under the Hull and Machinery policy. Increased value insurance also covers excess liabilities which are not recoverable in full by the Hull and Machinery policies by reason of under insurance. Protection and Indemnity Insurance Protection and indemnity insurance, is a form of mutual indemnity insurance, which covers our third party liabilities in connection with our shipping activities. It is provided by non-profit-making protection and indemnity commonly known as P&I Associations or clubs. This insurance provides cover towards third-party liability and other related expenses of injury or death of crew, passengers and other third parties, loss or damage to cargoes, claims arising from collisions with other vessels, damage to third-party properties, pollution arising from oil or other substances, and salvage, towing and other related costs, including wreck removal. Our current protection and indemnity insurance provides cover for Oil Pollution up to $1.0 billion per vessel per incident. The P&I Associations that comprise the International Group insure approximately 90% of the world's commercial tonnage and have entered into a pooling agreement to reinsure each association's liabilities. Claims pooling between the clubs is regulated by the Pooling Agreement which defines the risks that can be pooled and how losses are to be shared between the participating clubs. The Pool provides a mechanism for sharing all claims in excess of US$100 million up to, approximately US$3.1 billion. Under the current structure, clubs' contributions to claims in the lower pool layer from $100 million to $500 million are assessed on a tripartite formula which takes account of each club's contributing tonnage, premium and claims record. For claims falling in the upper pool layer from $500 million to $1000 million, 7.5% is retained by the club bringing the claim and 92.5% is shared by all on a tonnage-weighted basis. The Group clubs arrange a common market reinsurance contract to provide reinsurance for claims which exceed the upper limit of the pool (US $100 million) up to an amount of US $3.1 billion any one claim (US $1.1 billion for Oil Pollution claims).

April 1, 2024, we had one of the largest single-owned fleets in our primary sector segment (3,000 cbm to 8,000 cbm), which, in our view, also positions us well from the standpoint of charterers and competitors. We also have a presence in the larger sized vessels with four Handysize vessels and four MGC vessels (including two JV vessels). Our presence in the Handysize segment begun in 2017 while we entered the MGC segment in 2020. While the existing fleets of the Handysize and MGC vessels are smaller in terms of number of vessels our presence there is more limited. We believe, that the LPG shipping sector will continue to be highly competitive, and will be driven by both energy production and consumption. Competition for charters can be intense and depends on price as well as on the location, size, age, condition, specifications and acceptability of the vessel and its operator to the charterer and is frequently tied to having an available vessel with the appropriate approvals from oil majors. Principal factors that are important to our charterers include the quality and suitability of the vessel, its age, technical sophistication, safety record, compliance with IMO standards and the heightened industry standards that have been set by some energy companies, and the competitiveness of the bid in terms of overall price. A 43 Table of Contents Seasonality The LPG carrier market is typically stronger in the fall and winter months in anticipation of increased consumption of propane and butane for heating during the winter months. In addition, unpredictable weather patterns in these months tend to disrupt vessel scheduling and supplies of certain commodities. As a result, our revenues may be stronger in fiscal quarters ended December 31 and March 31 and relatively weaker during the fiscal quarters ended June 30 and September 30, as was generally the case in each of the last five fiscal years. C. Organizational Structure As of April 1, 2024, other than the entities owning the JV Vessels, as indicated therein, we were the sole owner of all the outstanding shares of the subsidiaries listed in Exhibit 8. D. Properties Other than our vessels we do not have any material property. For information on our fleet, see Item 4. Information on the Company-Business Overview. Our vessels are subject to priority mortgages, which secure our obligations under our various credit facilities. For further details regarding our credit facilities, refer to Item 5. Operating and Financial Review and Prospects-B. Liquidity and Capital Resources-Credit Facilities. We have no freehold or material leasehold interest in any real property. We lease office space from an affiliated company of Stealth Maritime. See Item 7. Major Shareholders and Related Party Transactions-B. Related Party Transactions-Office Space. A Item 4A. Unresolved Staff Comments None. A Item 5. Operating and Financial Review and Prospects The following discussion of our financial condition and results of operations should be read in conjunction with the financial statements and the notes to those statements included elsewhere in this Annual Report. This discussion includes forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. As a result of many factors, such as those set forth under Item 3. Key Information-Risk Factors and elsewhere in this Annual Report, our actual results may differ materially from those anticipated in these forward-looking statements. Overview We are a provider of international seaborne transportation services to LPG producers and users. As of December 31, 2023, we operated a fleet of 33 LPG carriers, including six JV vessels, that can carry various petroleum gas products in liquefied form, including propane, butane, butadiene, isopropane, propylene and VCM (acetylene Vinyl Chloride Monomer) as well as ammonia in the larger vessels in our fleet. As of April 1, 2024, our fleet is composed of 33 LPG carriers including six JV vessels, with a total capacity of approximately 389,420 cubic meters (cbm). The charterer of the 35,232 cbm LPG carrier, Eco Ethereal, owned by our JV, in which we have a 51.0% interest, has exercised its option to purchase this vessel, which was delivered to its new owner during the second quarter of 2024. For the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023, we owned, excluding our JV vessels, an average of 41.3, 34.8 and 29.3 vessels, respectively, generating revenues of $150.2 million, $152.8 million, and $143.5 million respectively. We incorporated Imperial Petroleum Inc. (Imperial Petroleum) under the laws of the Republic of the Marshall Islands on May 14, 2021, to serve as the holding company of four subsidiaries, each owning one of the tanker vessels in our fleet, which we subsequently contributed to Imperial Petroleum in connection with the Tanker 44 Table of Contents Spin-Off. The tanker vessels consisted of three medium range product carriers with a total capacity of 140,000 dwt that carried refined petroleum products such as gasoline, diesel, fuel oil and jet fuel, as well as edible oils and chemicals, and one 115,804 dwt Aframax tanker which was used for carrying crude oil. On December 3, 2021, we effected the Tanker Spin-Off by distributing all of Imperial Petroleum's outstanding shares of common stock and 8.75% Series A Cumulative Redeemable Perpetual Preferred Stock, liquidation preference $25.00 per share, to our stockholders, which completed the separation of Imperial Petroleum from Stealth Gas. In the first quarter of 2019, we sold a 49.9% equity interest in the subsidiaries owning four of our vessels, the Gas Haralambos, the Gas Defiance, the Gas Shuriken and the Eco Lucidity, to a leading maritime-focused investor. We and our manager, Stealth Maritime, continue to manage these vessels. In the second quarter of 2019 we acquired a 2007-built, 38,000 cbm LPG carrier, the Eco Nebula, with this same investor, in which we have a 50.1% equity interest. In the first quarter of 2020, a separate joint venture arrangement with an unaffiliated third party, in which we have a 51% equity interest and joint control, acquired three 2010-built Medium Gas Carriers, the Gaschem Hamburg, the Gaschem Stade and the Eco Ethereal (ex Gaschem Bremen,) of an aggregate capacity of 105,650 cbm. The Gaschem Hamburg was subsequently sold in the second quarter of 2021 and the joint venture entity invested in one newbuilding Medium Gas Carrier, the Eco Sorcerer, which was delivered in the fourth quarter of 2023. The Gaschem Stade which was renamed to Eco Evoluzione and sold in March 2023 and the charterer has exercised its option to purchase the Eco Ethereal (ex Gaschem Bremen), upon expiration of its charter in April 2024. Due to the joint control over these entities, our equity interest percentages in the entities owning these vessels, are accounted for under the equity method. We, through Stealth Maritime, manage the employment of our fleet. We intend to continue to deploy our fleet under period charters including time and bareboat charters, which can last up to several years, and spot market or voyage charters, which generally last from one to six months, subject to market conditions. Period charters and short term time charters are for a fixed period of time. A A Charters and revenues. Under a time charter, the charterer pays a fixed rate per day over the term of the charter; a time charter, including a short term time charter, may provide for rate adjustments and profit sharing. Under a bareboat charter, the charterer pays us a fixed rate for its use of our ship for the term of the charter. Under a voyage charter, we agree to transport a specified cargo from a loading port to a discharging port for a fixed amount. A A Charters and expenses. Under a time charter, we are responsible for the vessel's operating costs (crew, provisions, stores, lubricants, insurance, maintenance and repairs) incurred during the term of the charter, while the charterer pays voyage expenses (port, canal and fuel costs) that are unique to each particular voyage. Under a bareboat charter, the charterer is responsible for all vessel operating expenses and voyage expenses incurred during the term of the charter. Under a voyage or spot charter, we are responsible for both the vessel operating expenses and the voyage expenses incurred in performing the charter. As of April 1, 2024, of the 27 vessels in our fleet excluding our JV vessels, one was employed in the spot market, with the remaining vessels deployed on period charters and none of our LPG carriers were deployed on bareboat charters. As of April 1, 2024 and excluding our JV vessels, 69% of our anticipated fleet days were covered by period charter contracts for the remainder of 2024 and 27% for 2025. The corresponding forward coverage as of April 4, 2023 was 65% for the remainder of 2023 and 12% for 2024. We are, however, exposed to prevailing charter rate fluctuations for the remaining fleet days not covered by period charter contracts, as well as performance by our counterparties for the chartered days. A 45 Table of Contents A. Operating Results Factors Affecting Our Results of Operations We believe that the important measures for analyzing trends in the results of our operations consist of the following: A A Calendar days. We define calendar days as the total number of days in a period during which each vessel in our fleet was in our possession including off-hire days associated with major repairs, dry dockings or special or intermediate surveys. Calendar days are an indicator of the size of our fleet over a period and affect both the amount of revenue and the amount of expense that we record during that period as well as be used for calculating daily equivalents. When reporting Calendar days we exclude the days related to our JV vessels as the amount of revenue and expense related to these vessels is recorded separately. For the years 2021, 2022 and 2023 as the average number of vessels were reduced from 41.3 to 34.8 and to 29.3 respectively the calendar days were reduced from 15,071 to 12,687 and to 10,698 respectively. A A Voyage days. We define voyage days as the total number of days in a period during which each vessel in our fleet (excluding JV vessels) was in our possession net of off-hire days associated with major repairs, dry dockings or special or intermediate surveys. The shipping industry uses voyage days (also referred to as available days) to measure the number of days in a period during which vessels are available to generate revenues. A A Fleet utilization; Fleet operational utilization. We calculate fleet utilization by dividing the number of our voyage days during a period by the number of our calendar days during that period, and we calculate fleet operational utilization by dividing the number of our voyage days-excluding commercially idle days-during a period, by the number of our calendar days during that period. The shipping industry uses fleet utilization to measure a company's efficiency in minimizing the amount of days that its vessels are off-hire for reasons such as scheduled repairs, vessel upgrades or drydockings and other surveys, and uses fleet operational utilization to also measure a company's efficiency in finding suitable employment for its vessels. A A Cyclicity. The international gas carrier market, including the transport of LPG, is cyclical with attendant volatility in profitability, charter rates and vessel values, resulting from changes in the supply of, and demand for, LPG carrier capacity. From the last quarter of 2011 until the third quarter of 2014, LPG carrier market conditions generally improved from low levels with higher LPG carrier charter rates and utilization levels, however, the impact of the dramatic decline in oil prices on demand for LPG adversely affected LPG carrier charter rates and utilization levels from the fourth quarter of 2014 until the latter part of 2017, particularly in the smaller vessel classes. In 2017, there were increases in oil prices and in the second half of 2017 some limited improvement in LPG carrier charter rates and utilization levels which continued in 2018 and until the beginning of 2020, when the broader shipping market was globally affected by the outbreak of the COVID-19 virus and the resulting disruptions to the international shipping industry and energy demand, which continued to negatively affect small and medium range LPG carrier charter rates into early 2023. While the global economy has generally improved in many parts of the world in 2023 and early 2024, LPG charter rates face significant downside risks, including in the event of renewed weakness in the global economy and lower demand for the seaborne transport of LPG products. In addition, the conflict in Ukraine is disrupting energy production and this conflict, as well as Houthi attacks on vessels in the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden, are disrupting trade patterns, including shipping in the Black Sea, the Red Sea and elsewhere, and the impact of these events on energy prices and LPG carrier charter rates, which initially have increased, is uncertain, particularly if it results in an economic downturn and reduced demand for energy and LPG specifically or reduced supply due to sanctions imposed on Russia. With regards to the vessels in the spot market, we are exposed to changes in spot rates for LPG carriers and such changes affect our earnings and the value of our LPG carriers at any given time. When LPG vessel prices are considered to be low, companies not usually involved in shipping may make speculative vessel orders, thereby increasing the global supply of LPG carriers, satisfying demand sooner and potentially suppressing charter rates. A 46 Table of Contents A Seasonality. The LPG carrier market is typically stronger in the fall and winter months in anticipation of increased consumption of propane and butane for heating during the winter months. In addition, unpredictable weather patterns in these months tend to disrupt vessel scheduling and supplies of certain commodities. As a result, our revenues may be stronger in fiscal quarters ending December 31 and March 31 and relatively weaker during the fiscal quarters ending June 30 and September 30, as was the case in 2021, 2022 and 2023. Our ability to control our fixed and variable expenses, including those for commission expenses, crew wages and related costs, the cost of insurance, expenses for repairs and maintenance, the cost of spares and consumable stores, tonnage taxes and other miscellaneous expenses also affect our financial results. Factors beyond our control, such as developments relating to market premiums for insurance and the value of the U.S. dollar compared to currencies in which certain of our expenses, primarily crew wages are denominated, can also cause our vessel operating expenses to increase. In addition, our net income is affected by our financing arrangements, including our interest rate swap arrangements. Joint Ventures As of April 1, 2024, six of the vessels in our fleet were owned through two separate joint venture arrangements. Pursuant to one JV arrangement we sold a 49.9% equity interest in four JV vessels in the first quarter of 2019, and we acquired with the same JV arrangement a 38,000 cbm LPG carrier in the second quarter of 2019 in which we also have a 50.1% equity interest that we sold in 2022. In addition, we further acquired, through a separate joint venture, a 51% equity interest in three 35,000 cbm LPG carriers in the first quarter of 2020, two of which were subsequently sold to a third party, in the first half of 2021 and the first quarter of 2023, respectively, and we subsequently exercised an option to acquire from a related party a 51% equity interest in a 40,000 cbm newbuilding LPG carrier delivered in 2023, the remaining 49% having been bought by our JV partner. The charterer has exercised its option to purchase the Eco Ethereal (ex Gaschem Bremen), upon expiration of its charter in April 2024, currently owned by the JV in which we have a 51% equity interest. See Note 7 Investments in Joint Ventures in our audited consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this report, for additional information regarding these joint ventures. Our investments in joint ventures are accounted for using the equity method of accounting since we have joint control over the joint venture entities. We do not consolidate the joint venture entities because we do not have a controlling financial interest. The significant factors considered and judgments made in determining that the power to direct the activities of the joint venture entities that most significantly impact their economic performance are shared, are that all significant business decisions over operating and financial policies of the joint venture entities, require unanimous consent from each joint venture investor. Under the equity method of accounting, investments are stated at initial cost and are adjusted for subsequent additional investments and our proportionate share of earnings or losses and distributions. We evaluate our investments in joint ventures for impairment when events or circumstances indicate that the carrying value of such investments may have experienced other than temporary decline in value below their carrying value. If the estimated fair value is less than the carrying value and is considered other than a temporary decline, the carrying value is written down to its estimated fair value and the resulting impairment is recorded in the consolidated statements of operations. Basis of Presentation and General Information Revenues Our voyage revenues are driven primarily by the number of vessels in our fleet, the number of voyage days during which our vessels generate revenues and the amount of daily charter hire that our vessels earn under charters which, in turn, are affected by a number of factors, including our decisions relating to vessel acquisitions and disposals, the amount of time that we spend positioning our vessels, the amount of time that our vessels spend in dry dock undergoing repairs, maintenance and upgrade work, the age, condition and specifications of our vessels and the levels of supply and demand in the LPG carrier, and prior to the completion of the Tanker Spin-Off in December 2021, product carrier and crude oil tanker charter markets. A 47 Table of Contents We employ our vessels under time, bareboat and spot charters. Bareboat charters provide for the charterer to bear the cost of operating the vessel and as such typically market rates for bareboat charters are lower than those for time charters. While we had four vessels under bareboat charters as of December 31, 2021, these charters expired during 2022 and we have not employed any vessels under bareboat charter since the middle of 2022. Vessels operating on period charters, principally time and bareboat charters, provide more predictable cash flows, but can yield lower profit margins than vessels operating in the spot charter market during periods characterized by favorable market conditions. As a result, during the time our vessels are committed on period charters we will be unable, during periods of improving charter markets, to take advantage of improving charter rates as we could if our vessels were employed only on spot charters. Vessels operating in the spot charter market generate revenues that are less predictable but may enable us to capture increased profit margins during periods of improving charter rates, although we are then exposed to the risk of declining charter rates, which may have a materially adverse impact on our financial performance. If we commit vessels on period charters, future spot market rates may be higher or lower than those rates at which we have time chartered our vessels. Voyage Expenses Voyage expenses include port and canal charges, bunker (fuel oil) expenses and commissions. These charges and expenses increase in periods during which vessels are employed on the spot market, because under these charters, these expenses are for the account of the vessel owner. Under period charters, these charges and expenses, including bunkers (fuel oil) but excluding commissions which are always paid by the vessel owner, are paid by the charterer. Bunkers (fuel oil), the price of which declined beginning in the third quarter of 2014 into 2017 and then following a rise, decreased again at the beginning of 2020 and remained at low levels for the majority of the year, after the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic, before increasing in late 2021 and 2022, accounted for 35.7% of total voyage expenses for the year ended December 31, 2023, 57.7% of total voyage expenses for the year ended December 31, 2022, and 52.3% of total voyage expenses for the year ended December 31, 2021. Commissions on hire are paid to our manager Stealth Maritime and/or third party brokers. Stealth Maritime receives a fixed brokerage commission of 1.25% on freight, hire and demurrage for each vessel based on our management agreement since 2005. In 2023 and 2022, port and canal charges and bunker expenses represented a relatively small portion of our vessels' overall expenses, 6.6% and 13.5%, respectively, because the majority of our vessels were employed under period charters, including time and bareboat charters, that require the charterer to bear such expenses. As of April 1, 2024, we had one vessel in the spot market for which we pay voyage expenses; the corresponding number as of April 4, 2023 was three and as of April 1, 2022 was five. Vessel Operating Expenses Vessel operating expenses include crew wages and related costs, the cost of insurance, expenses for repairs and maintenance, the cost of spares and consumable stores, tonnage taxes and other miscellaneous expenses. Our ability to control these fixed and variable expenses, also affects our financial results. In addition, the type of charter under which our vessels are employed (time, bareboat or spot charter) also affects our operating expenses because we do not pay the operating expenses of vessels that we deploy on bareboat charters. Factors beyond our control, some of which may affect the shipping industry in general, including, for instance, developments relating to market prices for insurance and regulations related to safety and environmental matters may also cause these expenses to increase. Management Fees During each of the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023, we paid Stealth Maritime, our fleet manager, a fixed rate management fee of per day for each vessel in our fleet under spot or time charter (except for four vessels for which, since 2020, a fixed daily fee of $280 is charged by our fleet manager as part of the services we are currently provided by third party managers) and a fixed rate fee of $125 per day for each of the vessels operating on bareboat charter. These rates have been in effect since January 1, 2007. Stealth Maritime also receives a fee equal to 1% calculated on the price stated in the relevant memorandum of agreement for any vessel bought or sold by them on our behalf. A 48 Table of Contents General and Administrative Expenses We incur general and administrative expenses that consist primarily of legal fees, audit fees, office rental fees, officers and board remuneration or reimbursement, directors' and officers' insurance, listing fees and other general and administrative expenses. Our general and administrative expenses also include our direct compensation expenses and the value of non-cash executive services provided through, and other expenses arising from, our management agreement with Stealth Maritime, our directors' compensation and the value of the lease expense for the space we rent from Stealth Maritime. For our compensation expenses, pursuant to our management agreement, we currently reimburse Stealth Maritime for its payment of the compensation of our Chief Executive Officer, Chief Technical Officer and Internal Auditor. During the year ended December 31, 2023, such cash compensation was in the aggregate amount of $1.0A million. We also recognize stock-based compensation expense, when we grant equity awards (see "Item 6. Directors, Senior Management and Employees.-B. Compensation of Directors and Senior Management.-a. Depreciation and Dry docking We depreciate our vessels on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives, determined to be 30 years from the date of their initial delivery from the shipyard in the case of our LPG carriers. Depreciation is based on cost less the estimated scrap value of the vessels. LPG carriers tend to trade for longer periods due to the less corrosive nature of the cargoes they carry. Residual values used in depreciation calculations are based on $350 per light weight ton. We expense costs associated with dry dockings and special and intermediate surveys as incurred which may affect the volatility of our results. During 2023, we drydocked three of the larger Handysize vessels at a total cost of $2.6A million and three additional JV vessels, while in 2022 we drydocked five small vessels at a total cost of $3.0A million, and in 2021, we drydocked eight vessels at a total cost of $5.3A million. We expect that during 2024 seven small vessels and one additional JV vessel will be drydocked. Impairment Loss Based on the accounting standards followed by the Company, impairment losses are recognized on long-lived assets used in operations or held for sale, when indicators of impairment are present and the undiscounted cash flows estimated to be generated by those assets are less than their carrying amounts and the asset's carrying value exceeds its fair value. The Company performs an analysis of the anticipated undiscounted future net cash flows of the related long-lived assets. If the carrying value of the related asset exceeds the undiscounted cash flows, the carrying value is reduced to its fair value and the difference is recorded as an impairment loss in the consolidated statements of operations. For the years ended December 31, 2023, 2022 and 2021, we recognized an impairment loss of (1) $2.8A million mainly relating to the sale of three LPG vessels that were classified as Held for Sale as of December 31, 2023, (2) $3.2A million mainly relating to the sale of four LPG vessels that were delivered to their new owners in a subsequent period, (3) $44.6A million on four tankers related to Tanker Spin-Off, on three LPG vessels and for one of our oldest LPG vessels, respectively. Net (Gain)/Loss on Sale of Vessels The carrying value of our vessels includes the original cost of the vessels plus capitalized expenses since acquisition relating to improvements and upgrading of the vessels, less accumulated depreciation and less any impairment. In 2023, we agreed to sell seven vessels, the five were delivered to their new owners in 2023, while two, the Eco Green and the Eco Dream, were delivered to their new owners in the first quarter of 2024. We recognized a gain on the sale of the four vessels that were delivered within 2023 of $7.6A million. In addition, one of our JVs sold one MGC vessel, the Eco Evoluzione in March 2023 recognizing a gain of $13.9A million from the sale. In 2022, we agreed to sell four vessels, the Gas Inspiration, which was delivered to her new owners in March 2022, the Gas Monarch, which was delivered to her new owners in May 2022, the Gas Prodigy and the Gas Spirit, which were delivered to their new owners in January 2023 (as of December 31, 2022 both vessels were classified as held for sale). We recognized an impairment loss of $3.1A million for three out of these four vessels. In addition, one of our JVs sold the Eco Nebula that was delivered to her new owners in August 2022 and from the sale our JV recognized a gain of $9.2A million. In 2021, we agreed to sell two vessels, the Gas Imperiale, which was delivered to her new owners in September 2021, and the Eco Loyalty, which was delivered to her new owners in February 2022 (as of December 31, 2021 that vessel was classified as held for sale). For these two vessels we recognized an impairment loss of $3.0A million. In addition, one of our JVs sold the Gaschem Hamburg that was delivered to her new owners in May 2021 and from the sale our JV recognized a gain of $6.8A million. Gain/(Loss) on Derivatives One of our two interest rate swaps, as of December 31, 2023 is accounted for as cash flow hedge (2022: six of our interest rate swaps and 2021: six of our interest rate swaps) and the changes in its fair value is recorded in Accumulated other comprehensive Income/(Loss). All changes in the fair value of our cash flow interest rate swaps that are not accounted for as cash flow hedges, are recorded in earnings under Gain/(Loss) on Derivatives. Interest rate swaps recorded under this latter category increase the potential volatility of our reported earnings, as opposed to those that qualify for hedge accounting, due to the recognition of non-cash fair value movements of our cash flow interest rate swaps and foreign currency exchange arrangements directly in our statement of operations. Interest Expense and Finance Costs We have entered into credit facilities to fund a portion of the purchase price of the vessels in our fleet, which are described in the "Credit Facilities" section below. We incur interest expense on outstanding indebtedness under these credit facilities, which we include in interest expense. We also incurred financing costs in connection with establishing those facilities, which are deferred and amortized over the period of the facility, which we also include in interest expense. We will incur additional interest expenses under any new credit facilities we enter into to finance or refinance the purchase price of additional vessels as described in the "Liquidity and Capital Resources" section below. The discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations is based upon our consolidated financial statements, which have been prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP. The preparation of those financial statements requires us to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities, revenues and expenses and related disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of our financial statements. Actual results may differ from these estimates under different assumptions or conditions. (2) Our total voyage days for our fleet reflect the total days the vessels we operated were in our possession for the relevant periods, net of off-hire days associated with major repairs, drydockings or special or intermediate surveys. (3) Total time and bareboat charter days for fleet are the number of voyage days the vessels in our fleet operated on time or bareboat charters for the relevant period. (4) Total spot market charter days for fleet are the number of voyage days the vessels in our fleet operated on spot market charters for the relevant period. (5) Total calendar days are the total days the vessels we operated were in our possession for the relevant period including off-hire days associated with major repairs, drydockings or special or intermediate surveys. (6) Fleet utilization is the percentage of time that our vessels were available for revenue generating voyage days, and is determined by dividing voyage days by fleet calendar days for the relevant period. (7) Fleet operational utilization is the percentage of time that our vessels generated revenue, and is determined by dividing voyage days (excluding commercially idle days) by fleet calendar days for the relevant period. (8) Average Time Charter Equivalent daily rate is a measure of the average daily revenue performance of a vessel on a per voyage basis. We determine the adjusted average charter rate by dividing voyage revenues (net of voyage expenses) by voyage days for the relevant time period. Voyage expenses primarily consist of port, canal and fuel costs that are unique to a particular voyage and are payable by us under a spot charter (which would otherwise be paid by the charterer under a time or bareboat charter contract), as well as commissions or any voyage costs incurred while the vessel is idle. Charter equivalent revenues and average time charter equivalent daily rate are non-GAAP measures which provide additional meaningful information in conjunction with voyage revenues, the most directly comparable GAAP measure, because they assist Company management in making decisions regarding the deployment and use of its vessels and in evaluating their financial performance. They are also standard shipping industry performance measures used primarily to compare period-to-period changes in a shipping company's performance despite changes in the mix of charter types (i.e., spot charters or time charters, but not bareboat charters) under which the vessels may be employed between the periods. Our calculation of charter equivalent revenues and average time charter equivalent daily rate may not be comparable to that reported by other companies in the shipping or other industries. Under bareboat charters, we are not responsible for either voyage expenses, unlike spot charters, or vessel operating expenses, unlike spot charters and time charters; Reconciliation of charter equivalent revenues as reflected in the consolidated statements of operations and calculation of average time charter equivalent daily rate follow: Year Ended December 31, 2021 to 2023 Voyage revenues 150,204,527 152,760,888 143,527,769 Voyage expenses (22,209,286) (22,177,478) (13,209,204) Total voyage days for fleet 14,786 12,538 10,566 Charter equivalent revenues 127,995,241 130,583,310 130,318,565 Total voyage days for fleet 14,786 12,538 10,566 Average Time Charter Equivalent daily rate 8,657 10,415 12,334 (9) Vessel operating expenses, including related party vessel operating expenses, consist of crew costs, provisions, deck and engine stores, lubricating oil, insurance, maintenance and repairs, is calculated by dividing vessel operating expenses by fleet calendar days for the relevant time period. (10) Daily general and administrative expenses are calculated by dividing total general and administrative expenses by fleet calendar days for the relevant period. (11) Management fees are based on a fixed rate management fee of $440 per day for each vessel in our fleet under spot or time charter and a fixed rate fee of $125 per day for each of the vessels operating on bareboat charter. There is also a fixed daily fee of $280 charged to four LPG vessels for which some services have been provided by third party managers. Daily management fees are calculated by dividing total management fees by fleet calendar days for the relevant period. (12) Total operating expenses, or TOE, is a measurement of our total expenses associated with operating our vessels. TOE is the sum of vessel operating expenses and general and administrative expenses. Daily TOE is calculated by dividing TOE by fleet calendar days for the relevant time period. Year ended December 31, 2023 compared to the year ended December 31, 2022 The average number of vessels in our fleet was 29.3 for the year ended December 31, 2023 compared to 34.8 for the year ended December 31, 2022. REVENUES-Voyage revenues for the year ended December 31, 2023 were $143.5A million compared to $152.8A million for the year ended December 31, 2022, a decrease of 9.3A million or 6%, primarily due to the reduction in our fleet size despite improved market conditions that pushed charter rates higher partly. 52 Table of Contents counterbalancing the reduction in revenues. Total calendar days for our fleet were 10,698 for the year ended December 31, 2023 compared to 12,687 for the year ended December 31, 2022, due to the decrease in the average number of vessels in our fleet. VOYAGE EXPENSES-Voyage expenses were

been to acquire our vessels, maintain the quality of our vessels, service our debt and fund working capital requirements, as well as to repurchase shares of our common stock. We had net proceeds from vessel sales of $80.1Å million in 2023, $25.0Å million in 2022 and $7.8Å million in 2021. During January 2024, we concluded the sale of the 2015 built Eco Dream (4,989 cbm) and 2015 built Eco Green (4,991 cbm), that were classified as Held for Sale in the amount of $34.9Å million as of DecemberÅ 31, 2023. No debt was repaid as a result of this sale as both vessels were debt free. As of DecemberÅ 31, 2023, 15 out of the 27 vessels in our fleet were debt free and as of AprilÅ 1, 2024, 18 out of the 27 vessels in our fleet were debt free, and adding leverage to any of these vessels, subject to bank availability, would potentially be an additional source of liquidity. We last raised equity capital in 2014, through three registered common stock offerings with net proceeds of approximately $112.3Å million. Our liquidity needs, as of DecemberÅ 31, 2023 through the end of 2024 and beyond, primarily relate to scheduled debt repayments, funding expenses for operating our vessels (including management fees), general and administrative expenses as well as to committed capital expenditures and any vessel acquisitions we elect to make either independently or in collaboration with a third party investor. As of DecemberÅ 31, 2023, our committed capital expenditures consisted of $93.6Å million in remaining installment payments for our two newbuilding vessels under construction, which we paid upon delivery of the vessels to us in January 2024. In January 2024, we drew down approximately $70Å million under a recently concludedÅ 8-yearÅ credit facility related to these vessels. Furthermore, we have seven scheduled drydockings for 2024, for our fully-owned vessels, the costs of which are anticipated to be covered from our operating cash flows, while we do not have material expenditure requirements for water ballast system installations. As of DecemberÅ 31, 2023, our contractual obligations related to our aggregate debt outstanding, excluding deferred finance charges, was $124.1Å million, of which $16.9Å million was due in 2024, $34.0Å million due in 2025, $54.1Å million due in 2026, $4.0Å million due in 2027 and $15.2Å million due in 2028, and an additional $15.5Å million in estimated interest payments (net of interest rate swap agreements) related to the debt outstanding, based on 3-month Term SOFR rates for the duration of the debt (ranging from 4.72% to 3.07%) plus the applicable margin related to each credit facility. During February 2024, we voluntarily repaid with cash on hand $29.3Å million outstanding under one of our loan agreements, related to five of our vessels, and in January 2024, we drew down approximately $70Å million under a new 8-yearÅ credit facility related to two newly-delivered vessels. Å 54 Table of Contents We have guaranteed to the respective lenders the performance of the loan agreement entered into by two entities over which we have joint control and we account them for under the equity method. Total outstanding loan balances of these entities as of DecemberÅ 31, 2023 amounted to $7Å million. We have also guaranteed the performance of the loan agreement with outstanding balance as of DecemberÅ 31, 2023 of $27Å million, up to 51%, our equity interest in the joint venture, with respect to one entity. See ÅöNote 17 Commitments and ContingenciesÅ in our audited consolidated financial statements include elsewhere in this report. We believe our internally generated cash flows will be sufficient to fund our operations, including working capital requirements, for at least 12 months and debt service requirements. For a description of our credit facilities please refer to the discussion under the heading ÅöCred Å Credit FacilitiesÅ below. Our dividend policy and stock repurchases will also affect our liquidity position. See ÅöItem 8. Financial Information-Dividend Policy.Å On MayÅ 24, 2023, we publicly announced that our Board of Directors had authorized the repurchase of up to $15,000,000 of shares of our common stock, and on OctoberÅ 26, 2023 we announced a $10Å million increase to this repurchase program for a total aggregate amount of $25Å million. As of AprilÅ 1, 2024, 3,927,055 shares of common stock had been repurchased for an aggregate of $19.4Å million, with the average purchase price of $4.95 per share, and $5.6Å million remained authorized for further repurchases in the future at managementÅ’s discretion. Net cash provided by operating activities increased in 2023 compared to 2022 primarily due to reductions in operating and voyage expenses mainly as a result of the reduction in the number of vessels in the fleet, as well as increased distributions from our joint ventures, and increased in 2022 compared to 2021 primarily due increased revenues from our vessels and reductions in expenses, particularly operating expenses as well as distributions of profits we received from our joint ventures. Net cash (used in)/provided by investing activities was an inflow of $111,340,031 in 2023, an outflow of $17.3Å million in 2022, and an outflow of $19.2Å million in 2021. In 2023, net cash provided by investing activities mainly consisted of $80.1Å million in proceeds from the sale of vessels, $26.5Å million from time deposits that matured and a $4.7Å million return of investment from one of our joint ventures related to the sale of the Eco Evoluzione. In 2022, net cash used in investing activities consisted of $24.2Å million in advances for vessel acquisition and improvement of vessels, mainly related to the deposits paid for the two newbuilding vessels and $26.5Å million invested as short term investments, mainly time deposits held in our banks with maturity of three or more months, offset by proceeds of $25.0Å million related mainly to the sale of three of our vessels, and an $8.0Å million return of investment from one of our joint ventures related to the sale of the Eco Nebula. In 2021, net cash used in investing activities consisted of $25.2Å million related to the delivery of one newbuilding LPG vessel, the Eco Blizzard, offset by proceeds of $7.8Å million from the sale of Gas Imperiale, and $3.3Å million invested for the acquisition of one newbuilding 40,000 cbm LPG carrier, which was delivered in December 2023 to the JV arrangement established in early 2020, and in which we hold an equity participation of 51%. The $3.3Å million consisted of the exercise of a purchase option and the reimbursement of a yard installment both towards a related party, offset by a $1.5Å million dividend received from our JV arrangement. Å 55 Table of Contents Net cash used in financing activities-Net cash used in financing activities was $174.2Å million for the year ended DecemberÅ 31, 2023, consisting primarily of $154.9Å million of loan repayments and $19.1Å million of stock repurchases. Net cash used in financing activities was $25.9Å million for the year ended DecemberÅ 31, 2022, consisting primarily of $83.6Å million of loan repayments offset by proceeds of $59.4Å million provided by bank borrowings. Net cash used in financing activities was $29.1Å million for the year ended DecemberÅ 31, 2021, consisting primarily of $173.0Å million of loan repayments, $150.7Å million provided by bank borrowings and $4.7Å million used in relation to the spin-off of four of our tankers, that was retained by Imperial Petroleum. As and when we identify assets that we believe will provide attractive returns, we generally enter into specific term loan facilities and borrow amounts under these facilities as the vessels are delivered to us. This is the primary driver of the timing and amount of cash provided to us by our financing activities, however, from time to time to bolster our cash position and take advantage of financing opportunities, including to refinance the acquisition cost of vessels acquired earlier, we have entered into and may in the future borrow under credit facilities secured by previously unencumbered vessels in our then existing fleet. Credit Facilities We, and certain of our subsidiaries, have entered into a number of credit facilities in connection with financing the acquisition of certain vessels in our fleet. The following summarizes certain terms of our credit facilities under which we had aggregate outstanding indebtedness of $123.5Å million, net of deferred finance charges of $0.6Å million, as of DecemberÅ 31, 2023, which is reflected in our balance sheet as ÅöLong-term debtÅ and ÅöCurrent portion of long-term debt.Å For a description of our credit facilities also see Note 9 to our consolidated financial statements included elsewhere in this report. The average interest rates (including the margin) on the above outstanding loans were 7.07% for the year ended DecemberÅ 31, 2023 and 4.20% for the year ended DecemberÅ 31, 2022. As of December 31, 2023, $42.5Å million of our outstanding loans were covered by interest rate swap agreements paying fixed rates ranging from 1.49% to 2.74% and received floating rates based on SOFR. In January 2024, we drew down, in two tranches, an aggregate of $70.0Å million under a loan agreement relating to the financing of two newbuilding vessels upon the delivery of these vessels to us. In February, 2024 the outstanding loan of $29.3Å million related to all the vessels in the credit facility with issue date AugustÅ 5, 2021 was repaid. Å 56 Table of Contents As of AprilÅ 1, 2024, 18Å of our vessels, out of the 27 vessels in our fleet (excluding JV vessels), were unencumbered. Financial Covenants Our credit facilities, as of DecemberÅ 31, 2023, contain financial covenants requiring us to: Å Å Å ensure that our leverage, which is defined as total debt net of cash/total market adjusted assets, does not at any time exceed 80%; Å Å Å maintain a ratio of the aggregate market value of the vessels securing the loan to the principal amount outstanding under such loan (which we sometimes refer to as the value maintenance or security coverage clause) at all times in excess of a range from 120% to 135% depending on our different loan agreements; Å Å Å ensure that our ratio of EBITDA (as defined in the loan agreements) to interest expense over the preceding twelve months is at all times more than 2.5 times; and Å Å Å to maintain on a monthly basis a cash balance amounting to $659,137 representing a proportionate amount of the next installment and relevant interest plus a minimum aggregate cash balance amounting to $5,893,721 in the earnings account with the relevant banks. We are also required to maintain at the end of each quarter a free cash balance of $10,000,000. Some of our current loan agreements also require that our Chief Executive Officer, Harry Vafias, together with his immediate family, at all times own at least 10% of our outstanding capital stock and certain of our loan agreements provide that it would be an event of default if Harry Vafias ceased to serve as an executive officer or director of our company, Harry Vafias, together with his immediate family, ceased to exert significant influence over our company or any other person or group controlled 25% or more of the voting power of our outstanding capital stock. In addition, some of our loan agreements include restrictions on the payment of dividends in amounts exceeding 50% of our free cash flow in any rolling 12-month period. Our existing credit facility agreements contain customary events of default with respect to us and our applicable subsidiaries, including upon the non-payment of amounts due under the credit facility; breach of covenants; matters affecting the collateral under such facility; insolvency proceedings and the occurrence of any event that, in light of which, the lender considers that there is a significant risk that the borrowers are, or will later become, unable to discharge their liabilities as they fall due. Our credit facilities provide that upon the occurrence of an event of default, the lenders may require that all amounts outstanding under the credit facility be repaid immediately and terminate our ability to borrow under the credit facility and foreclose on the mortgages over the vessels and the related collateral. Our credit facilities also contain cross-default clauses. C. Research and Development, Patents and Licenses None. D. Trend Information Our results of operations depend primarily on the charter hire rates that we are able to realize. In turn, charter rates are determined by the underlying balance in demand and supply for vessels of the type that comprise our fleet. Demand for LPG transportation is influenced by various global economic factors and trade patterns, while the supply is primarily a factor of the fleet growth, determined by the number of vessels in the order book entering the fleet and the number of vessels exiting the fleet, primarily sold for demolition. As a result, the LPG shipping sector has been a highly cyclical industry experiencing volatility in charter hire rates and vessel values. Å 57 Table of Contents After a difficult period following the global financial crisis we saw some improvement from the fourth quarter of 2011 to the third quarter of 2014, LPG charter rates subsequently declined sharply, due largely to the dramatic decline in oil prices, and after reasonable improvement between the second half of 2017 and the first quarter of 2019, again declined, having been negatively impacted by the decrease in global demand for energy resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic. Beginning in the second half of 2021 charter rates saw an improvement as demand for LPG rebounded with seasonal variations. Since 2022 charter rates have been gradually rising reaching multi-year highs in the first quarter of 2024. Charter rates improved during 2023, and for example were approximately $275,000 per month, for a small vessel trading West of Suez, in December 2023 compared to approximately $255,000 per month in December 2022. Similarly charter rates improved during 2023 in the larger segments and for example were approximately $900,000 per month for a handysize vessel in December 2023 compared to approximately $765,000 per month in December 2022. Although prospects for the small and handysize LPG segment currently appear favorable mid and long term, as the order book for 2024 and the next couple of years is negligible, future growth in the demand for LPG carriers and charter rates will depend on economic growth in the world economy and demand for LPG. Charter rates for MGC vessels also did rise during 2023 as a result of increasing demand for seaborne transportation. However, the orderbook for MGC vessels is higher compared to the small and handysize vessels, particularly starting from 2025 onwards. Global financial conditions remain volatile and may negatively impact demand for seaborne transportation of LPG, it is only in the first quarter of 2023 that the largest consumer of LPG, China, lifted its restrictive policies, while the rise in interest rates globally adds to this volatility in financial conditions as it may push economies into recession. In addition, the conflict in Ukraine is disrupting energy production and trade patterns and its impact on energy prices and tanker charter rates, which initially have increased particularly as European countries sought to secure supplies further afield especially from the United States, is uncertain. The price of oil, which declined sharply in 2020 and remained at relatively low levels in the most of 2021, also impacts demand for seaborne transportation of LPG. A surge in the price of oil, like the one the one witnessed in early 2022 as well as recently, should under normal circumstances positively impact seaborne transportation of LPG. We believe that the future growth in demand for LPG carriers and the charter rate levels will depend primarily upon the supply and demand for LPG, particularly supply in the United States and the economies of the Middle East, where large quantities are produced, and demand in the Far East and developing countries in Asia, particularly China and India, and Africa and in general upon seasonal and regional changes in supply/demand and changes to the capacity of the world fleet. E. Critical Accounting Estimates Critical accounting estimates are those that reflect significant judgments or uncertainties, and potentially result in materially different results under different assumptions and conditions. We have described below what we believe are our most critical accounting estimates that involve a high degree of judgment and the methods of their application. For a description of all of our significant accounting policies, see Note 2 to our consolidated financial statements included elsewhere herein. Impairment or disposal of long-lived assets: We follow the Accounting Standards Codification (ÅöASCÅ) Subtopic 360-10, ÅöProperty, Plant and EquipmentÅ (ÅöASC 360-10Å), which requires long-lived assets used in operations be reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the assets may not be recoverable. On a quarterly basis, in case an impairment indicator exists, we perform an analysis of the anticipated undiscounted future net cash flows of our long-lived assets. If the carrying value of the related asset exceeds the undiscounted cash flows and the fair market value of the asset, the carrying value is reduced to its fair value and the difference is recorded as an impairment loss in the consolidated statement of operations. We review certain indicators of potential impairment, such as vessel fair values, vessel sales and purchases, business plans and overall market conditions including any regulatory changes that may have a material impact on the vessel lives. The decline in the values of some of the vessels included in our LPG fleet was considered to be an indicator of potential impairment. As of the end of each respective quarter of 2023, we performed step one, the undiscounted cash flow test as required by the ASC guidance. We determined undiscounted projected net operating cash flows for each vessel with carrying value exceeding its fair value and compared it to the vesselÅ’s carrying value. This assessment was made at the individual vessel level since separately identifiable cash flow information for each vessel was available. In developing estimates of future cash flows to be generated over remaining useful Å 58 Table of Contents lives of the vessels, we made assumptions about the future, such as: (1)Å vessel charter rates, (2)Å vessel utilization rates, (3)Å vessel operating expenses, (4)Å dry docking costs, (5)Å vessel scrap values at the end of vesselÅ’s remaining useful lives and (6)Å the remaining useful lives of the vessels. These assumptions were based on historical trends as well as future expectations in line with our historical performance and our expectations for future fleet utilization under our current fleet deployment strategy and overall market conditions. Projected cash flows were determined for the vessels by considering the revenues from existing charters for those vessels that are employed on time charters and revenue estimates based on nine-year historical average rates (base rates) for periods for which there is no charter in place. With regards to operating expenses and utilization rate, these were based on historical trends. Revenue estimates are highly subjective. We believe that the nine-year average historical average rates represent an appropriate estimation of the future revenue rates since they more accurately reflect the earnings capacity of our vessels and because they capture the volatility of the market as they include numerous market highs and lows. Furthermore, they are considered a fair estimate based on past experience. During 2023, the Company identified and recorded an impairment loss of $2.8Å million for three of its vessels, which were agreed to be sold for further trading, one was delivered during 2023 and two were subsequently delivered during January 2024. During 2022, the Company identified and recorded an impairment loss of $3.1Å million for three of its vessels, the Gas Monarch, the Gas Spirit and

The Gas Prodigy, which were agreed to be sold for further trading. In addition, as of December 31, 2021, a 100% probability was assigned to the sale of the vessel Gas Galaxy, which was above twenty years of age, and as a result the vessel was recorded at its fair value and an impairment loss amounting to $45,578 was recognized for the year ended December 31, 2022. During the twelve months of 2021, the Company identified and recorded an impairment loss of $4.3A million for three of its vessels, the Eco Loyalty, the Gas Imperiale and the Gas Inspiration, which were agreed to be sold for further trading and an impairment loss of $0.1A million for the Gas Monarch for which the undiscounted estimated future net operating cash flows did not exceed its carrying value. As of December 31, 2021, the Company identified and recorded an additional impairment loss of $40.2A million in connection with the Tanker Spin-off. The carrying values of our vessels may not represent their fair market value at any point in time since the market prices of second-hand vessels tend to fluctuate with changes in charter rates and the cost of new-buildings. Sensitivity Analysis. The impairment test is highly sensitive to variances in future charter rates. When we conducted the analysis of the impairment test as of December 31, 2023 we also performed a sensitivity analysis related to the future cash flow estimates. Set forth below is an analysis, as of December 31, 2023, of the percentage difference between the current average rates for our fleet compared with the base rates used in the impairment test as described above, as well as an analysis of the impact on our impairment analysis if we were to utilize the most recent five-year, three-year and one-year historical average rates, which shows the number of vessels whose carrying value would not have been recovered and the related impairment charge.

	Average Difference	Base Rates	No. Vessels	Amount ($M)
Historical Average Rate	-1%	$0.96	1	$0.96
Current Average Rate	+1%	$0.96	1	$0.96
Three-Year Historical Average Rate	+1%	$0.96	1	$0.96
Five-Year Historical Average Rate	+1%	$0.96	1	$0.96

Although we believe that the assumptions used to evaluate potential impairment are reasonable and appropriate, such assumptions are highly subjective. There can be no assurance as to how long charter rates and vessel values will remain at their current levels or whether they will improve by any significant degree. Charter rates may remain at relatively low levels for some time, or decline, which could adversely affect our revenue and profitability, and future assessments of vessel impairment.

Table of Contents Based on the carrying value of each of our vessels held for use as of December 31, 2023 and what we believe the charter-free market values of each of these vessels were as of December 31, 2023, 8 of our 27 owned vessels in the water had current carrying values, above their market values (11 of our 34 vessels in the water as of December 31, 2022). We believe that the aggregate carrying value of these vessels, assessed separately, exceeds their aggregate charter-free market value by approximately $12.2A million and $22.7A million as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively. However, we believe that with respect to each of these 8 vessels, we will recover their carrying values at the end of their useful lives, based on their undiscounted cash flows. The Company's estimates of market values assume that the vessels are all in good and seaworthy condition without need for repair and, if inspected, would be certified as being in class without recommendations of any kind. In addition, because vessel values are highly volatile, these estimates may not be indicative of either the current or future prices that the Company could achieve if it were to sell any of the vessels. The Company would not record an impairment charge for any of the vessels for which the fair market value is below its carrying value unless and until the Company either determines to sell the vessel for a loss or determines that the vessel's carrying amount is not recoverable.

C. Board Practices The Board of Directors may change the number of directors by a vote of a majority of the entire Board. Each director is elected to serve until the third succeeding annual meeting of stockholders and until his or her successor shall have been duly elected and qualified, except in the event of death, resignation or removal. A vacancy on the board created by death, resignation, removal (which may only be for cause), or failure of the stockholders to elect the entire class of directors to be elected at any election of directors or for any other reason, may be filled only by an affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors then in office, even if less than a quorum, at any special meeting called for that purpose or at any regular meeting of the board of directors. Our Board of Directors is divided into three classes with only one class of directors being elected in each year and each class serving a three-year term. At December 31, 2023 and April 1, 2024, we had four members on our Board of Directors named above. Our Board of Directors has determined that Michael G. Jolliffe, Markos Drakos and John Kostoyannis are independent directors within the meaning of the applicable Nasdaq listing requirements and SEC independence requirements applicable to Audit Committee members since none of them has received any compensation from the Company except for director's fees and restricted stock awards to directors, and none of them has any relationship or has had any transaction with the Company which the Board believes would compromise their independence. Officers are elected from time to time by vote of our Board of Directors and hold office until a successor is elected. We have no service contracts with any of our directors that provide for benefits upon termination of employment. During the fiscal year ended December 31, 2023, the full Board of Directors held four meetings, and also acted by written consent. Each director attended all of the meetings of the Board and all of the meetings of committees of which such director was a member in 2023.

D. Promote open discussion among the independent directors, a majority of the directors met four times in 2023 in regularly scheduled executive sessions without participation of our Company's management and will continue to do so. Mr. Jolliffe has served as the presiding director for purposes of these meetings. Stockholders who wish to send communications on any topic to the Board of Directors or to the independent directors as a group, or to the presiding director, Mr. Jolliffe, may do so by writing to StealthGas Inc., 331 Kissifiss Avenue, Erithra 14561 Athens, Greece. Corporate Governance Our Board of Directors and our Company's management reviews our corporate governance practices in order to oversee our compliance with the applicable corporate governance rules of the Nasdaq Stock Market and the SEC. We have adopted a number of key documents that are the foundation of our corporate governance, including:

- a Code of Business Conduct and Ethics;
- a Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee Charter;
- a Compensation Committee Charter; and
- An Audit Committee Charter.

We will provide a paper copy of any of these documents upon the written request of a stockholder. Stockholders may direct their requests to the attention of Investor Relations, c/o Harry Vafias, StealthGas Inc., 331 Kissifiss Avenue, Erithra 14561 Athens, Greece. These documents are also available on our website at www.stealthgas.com under the heading "Corporate Governance."

No additional awards can be granted under our 2007 Plan. Under Nasdaq rules, we may, consistent with Marshall Islands law, adopt new equity compensation plans without the approval of stockholders. A Item 7. Major Shareholders and Related Party Transactions A Major Shareholders The following table sets forth certain information regarding the beneficial ownership of our outstanding shares of common stock as of April 1, 2024 by: A A each person or entity that we know beneficially owns 5% or more of our shares of common stock; A A our Chief Executive Officer and our other members of senior management; A A A each of our directors; and A A all of our current directors and executive officers as a group. Beneficial ownership is determined in accordance with the rules of the SEC. In general, a person who has or shares voting power and/or dispositive power with respect to securities is treated as a beneficial owner of those securities. It does not necessarily imply that the named person has the economic or other benefits of ownership. For purposes of this table, shares subject to options, warrants or rights currently exercisable or exercisable within 60 days of April 1, 2024 are considered as beneficially owned by the person holding such options, warrants or rights. Each shareholder is entitled to one vote for each share held. The applicable percentage of ownership for each shareholder is based on 36,741,272 shares of common stock outstanding as of April 1, 2024, giving effect to the grant of 525,247 restricted shares of common stock under our 2015 Equity Plan on April 23, 2024. Information for certain holders is based on their latest filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission or information delivered to us. These shares remain subject to forfeiture if the time-based vesting conditions are not satisfied. We effected a registered public offering of our common stock and our common stock began trading on the Nasdaq Stock Market in October 2005. Our major stockholders have the same voting rights as our other shareholders. As of April 1, 2024, we had approximately 20 shareholders of record. Three of the stockholders of record were located in the United States and held in the aggregate 26,084,402 shares of common stock representing approximately 72.0% of our outstanding shares of common stock. However, the three United States shareholders of record include CEDEFAST, which, as nominee for The Depository Trust Company, is the record holder of 26,184,096 shares of common stock. Accordingly, we believe that the shares held by CEDEFAST include shares of common stock beneficially owned by both holders in the United States and non-United States beneficial owners. As a result, these numbers may not accurately represent the number of beneficial owners in the United States. We are not aware of any arrangements the operation of which may at a subsequent date result in a change of control of the Company. B. Related Party Transactions Pursuant to our Audit Committee Charter, our Audit Committee is responsible for establishing procedures for the approval of all related party transactions involving executive officers and directors, which procedures require the audit committee to approve any such transaction. Our Code of Business Conduct and Ethics requires our Audit Committee to review and approve any A-related party transaction as defined in Item 7.B of Form 20-F before it is consummated. A 67 Table of Contents Management Affiliations Harry Vafias, our president, chief executive officer and one of our directors, is an officer, director and the sole shareholder of Flawless Management Inc., our largest stockholder. He is also the son of the principal and founder of Brave Maritime, an affiliate of Stealth Maritime, which is our management company. Stealth Maritime may subcontract the technical management of some of our LPG carriers to Brave Maritime the fees for which technical management services are paid by Stealth Maritime out of the fees we pay to it as described below. None of our vessels is currently subcontracted to Brave Maritime. Management and Other Fees We have a management agreement with Stealth Maritime, pursuant to which Stealth Maritime provides us with technical, administrative, commercial and certain other services. In relation to the technical services, Stealth Maritime is responsible for arranging for the crewing of the vessels, the day to day operations, inspections and vetting, supplies, maintenance, repairs, bunkering dry-docking and insurance. Administrative functions include but are not limited to accounting, back-office, reporting, legal and secretarial services. In addition, Stealth Maritime provides services for the chartering of our vessels and monitoring thereof, freight collection, and sale and purchase. In providing most of these services, Stealth Maritime pays third parties and receives reimbursement from us. Under the management agreement Stealth Maritime may subcontract certain of its obligations. Beginning in 2018, Stealth Maritime also provides crew management services to certain of our vessels. These services have been subcontracted by Stealth Maritime to an affiliated ship-management company, Hellenic Manning Overseas Inc. (formerly known as Navis Maritime Services Inc.), which is 25% owned by an affiliate of Stealth Maritime. The Company pays to Stealth Maritime a fixed monthly fee of $2,500 per vessel for these crew management services, all of which fees are passed on to Hellenic Manning Overseas Inc. For the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023, these crew management fees were $0.9A million, $0.9A million and $0.8A million, respectively. As of April 1, 2024, 31 vessels (including JVs) were being manned by Hellenic Manning Overseas Inc. In the years ended December 31, 2023, 2022 and 2021, we paid Stealth Maritime a fixed management fee of $440 per vessel operating under a voyage or time charter per day, pro-rated for the calendar days we own the vessels. We paid a fixed fee of $125 per vessel per day for each of our vessels operating on bareboat charter. These fixed daily fees are based on the management agreement with Stealth Maritime and have not changed since 2007. For three LPG vessels which are currently under a time charter contract and some services are currently provided by third party management, we pay a fixed daily management fee of $280 to Stealth Maritime. Management fees for the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023 were $5.8A million, $5.2A million and $4.5A million, respectively. In addition, our manager arranges for supervision onboard the vessels, when required, by superintendent engineers and when such visits exceed a period of five days in a twelve-month period we are charged $500 for each additional day. In the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023 we paid $0.12A million, $0.12A million and $0.11A million, respectively, related to onboard supervision. We pay our manager, Stealth Maritime, a fee equal to 1.25% of the gross freight, demurrage and charter hire collected from the employment of our vessels. For the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023, total brokerage commissions of 1.25% amounted to $1.9A million, $1.9A million and $1.8A million, respectively, and were included in our consolidated statements of operations under A Voyage expenses-related party. A Stealth Maritime also receives a fee equal to 1% calculated on the price as stated in the relevant memorandum of agreement for any vessel bought or sold by them on our behalf. For the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023, the amounts of $0.3A million, nil, and nilA, respectively, were capitalized to the cost of the vessels in respect of the 1% purchase fee. Annually, the Board reviews the management fees charged by Stealth Maritime as compared to the fees charged by the management companies of our publicly-listed peers. We believe the rates reflected are among the lowest of publicly-listed companies. A 68 Table of Contents For the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023, the amounts of $0.08A million, $0.12A million and $0.7A million, respectively, were recognized as commission expenses relating to the sale of vessels and are included in our consolidated statements of operations under the caption A Net loss on sale of vessels. A For the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023, commission expenses relating to vessels held for sale of $0.1A million, $0.1A million and $0.4A million, respectively, are included in the consolidated statements of operation under the caption A Impairment Losses. We also reimburse Stealth Maritime for its payment for executive services related to our Chief Executive Officer, Chief Financial Officer, Internal Auditor and Chief Technical Officer. During the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023, such compensation was in the aggregate amount of $1.0A million, $0.9A million, and $1.0A million respectively. Additional vessels that we may acquire in the future may be managed by Stealth Maritime or other unaffiliated management companies. The initial term of our management agreement with Stealth Maritime expired in June 2010 but is extended on a year-to-year basis thereafter unless six-month written notice is provided prior to the expiration of the term. Such notice has not been given by either party. The current account balance with the manager at December 31, 2022 and at December 31, 2023 was a liability of $2.5A million and a liability of $0.9A million, Plan on April 23, 2024). All of our shares of stock are in registered form. Common Stock Each outstanding share of common stock entitles the holder to one vote on all matters submitted to a vote of stockholders. Subject to preferences that may be applicable to any outstanding shares of preferred stock, holders of shares of common stock are entitled to receive ratably all dividends, if any, declared by our Board of Directors out of funds legally available for dividends. Holders of common stock do not have conversion, redemption or preemptive rights to subscribe to any of our securities. All outstanding shares of common stock are, and the shares to be sold in this offering when issued and paid for will be, fully paid and non-assessable. The rights, preferences and privileges of holders of common stock are subject to the rights of the holders of any shares of preferred stock which we may issue in the future. Blank Check Preferred Stock Under the terms of our articles of incorporation, our Board of Directors has authority, without any further vote or action by our stockholders, to issue up to 5,000,000 shares of blank check preferred stock. Our Board of Directors could issue shares of preferred stock on terms calculated to discourage, delay or prevent a change of control of our company or the removal of our management. Dividends We have not paid a dividend since March 2009. In the first quarter of 2009, our Board of Directors determined to suspend the payment of cash dividends as a result of weak market conditions in the international shipping industry and to preserve the Company's liquid cash resources. Our board of directors will evaluate our dividend policy consistent with our cash flows and liquidity requirements. Declaration and payment of any dividend is subject to the discretion of our Board of Directors. The timing and amount of dividend payments will be dependent upon our earnings, financial condition, cash requirements and availability, restrictions in our loan agreements, or other financing arrangements, the provisions of Marshall Islands law affecting the payment of distributions to stockholders and other factors. Because we are a holding company with no material assets other than the stock of our subsidiaries, our ability to pay dividends will depend on the earnings and cash flow of our subsidiaries and their ability to pay dividends to us. Marshall Islands law generally prohibits the payment of dividends other than from surplus or while a company is insolvent or would be rendered insolvent upon the payment thereof. Under the terms of our existing credit facilities, we are generally permitted to declare or pay cash dividends in any twelve-month period as long as the amount of the dividends and share repurchases do not exceed 50% of the Company's free cash flow (as defined in our credit agreements) and provided we are not in default under the other covenants contained in these credit facilities. See Item 3. Key Information-Risk Factors-Risks Related To Our Common Stock "We may not pay dividends on our common stock. B. Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws Our purpose is to engage in any lawful act or activity for which corporations may now or hereafter be organized under the Marshall Islands Business Corporations Act, or BCA. Our articles of incorporation and bylaws do not impose any limitations on the ownership rights of our stockholders. Under our bylaws, annual stockholder meetings will be held at a time and place selected by our Board of Directors. The meetings may be held in or outside of the Marshall Islands. Special meetings may be called by the Board of Directors. Our Board of Directors may set a record date between 15 and 60 days before the date of any meeting to determine the stockholders that will be eligible to receive notice and vote at the meeting. A 71 Table of Contents Directors. Our directors are elected by a plurality of the votes cast at a meeting of the stockholders by the holders of shares entitled to vote in the election. There is no provision for cumulative voting. The Board of Directors may change the number of directors by a vote of a majority of the entire board. Each director shall be elected to serve until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified, except in the event of his death, resignation, removal, or the earlier termination of his term of office. The Board of Directors has the authority to fix the amounts which shall be payable to the members of our Board of Directors for attendance at any meeting or for services rendered to us. Dissenters' Rights of Appraisal and Payment. Under the BCA, our stockholders have the right to dissent from various corporate actions, including any merger or sale of all or substantially all of our assets not made in the usual course of our business, and receive payment of the fair value of their shares. However, the right of a dissenting stockholder under the BCA to receive payment of the fair value of his shares is not available for the shares of any class or series of stock, which shares or depository receipts in respect thereof, at the record date fixed to determine the stockholders entitled to receive notice of and to vote at the meeting of the stockholders to act upon the agreement of merger or consolidation, were either (i) listed on a securities exchange or admitted for trading on an interdealer quotation system or (ii) held of record by more than 2,000 holders. The right of a dissenting stockholder to receive payment of the fair value of his or her shares shall not be available for any shares of stock of the constituent corporation surviving a merger if the merger did not require for its approval the vote of the stockholders of the surviving corporation. In the event of any further amendment of our articles of incorporation, a stockholder also has the right to dissent and receive payment for his or her shares if the amendment alters certain rights in respect of those shares. The dissenting stockholder must follow the procedures set forth in the BCA to receive payment. In the event that we and any dissenting stockholder fail to agree on a price for the shares, the BCA procedures involve, among other things, the institution of proceedings in the circuit court in the judicial circuit in the Marshall Islands in which our Marshall Islands office is situated. The value of the shares of the dissenting stockholder is fixed by the court after reference, if the court so elects, to the recommendations of a court-appointed appraiser. Stockholders' Derivative Actions. Under the BCA, any of our stockholders may bring an action in our name to procure a judgment in our favor, also known as a derivative action, provided that the stockholder bringing the action is a holder of common stock both at the time the derivative action is commenced and at the time of the transaction to which the action relates. Anti-takeover Provisions of our Charter Documents. Several provisions of our articles of incorporation and bylaws may have anti-takeover effects. These provisions are intended to avoid costly takeover battles, lessen our vulnerability to a hostile change of control and enhance the ability of our Board of Directors to maximize stockholder value in connection with any unsolicited offer to acquire us. However, these anti-takeover provisions, which are summarized below, could also discourage, delay or prevent (1) the merger or acquisition of our company by means of a tender offer, a proxy contest or otherwise, that a stockholder may consider in its best interest and (2) the removal of incumbent officers and directors. Blank Check Preferred Stock. Under the terms of our articles of incorporation, our Board of Directors has authority, without any further vote or action by our stockholders, to issue up to 5,000,000 shares of blank check preferred stock. Our Board of Directors may issue shares of preferred stock on terms calculated to discourage, delay or prevent a change of control of our company or the removal of our management. Classified Board of Directors. Our articles of incorporation provide for a Board of Directors serving staggered, three-year terms. Approximately one-third of our Board of Directors will be elected each year. This classified board provision could discourage a third party from making a tender offer for our shares or attempting to obtain control of our company. It could also delay stockholders who do not agree with the policies of the Board of Directors from removing a majority of the Board of Directors for two years. Election and Removal of Directors. Our articles of incorporation and bylaws prohibit cumulative voting in the election of directors. Our bylaws require parties other than the Board of Directors to give advance written notice of nominations for the election of directors. Our bylaws also provide that our directors may be removed only for cause and only upon the affirmative vote of the holders of at least 80% of the outstanding shares of our capital stock entitled to vote for those directors. These provisions may discourage, delay or prevent the removal of incumbent officers and directors. A 72 Table of Contents Calling of Special Meetings of Stockholders. Our bylaws provide that special meetings of our stockholders may be called only by resolution of our Board of Directors. Advance Notice Requirements for Stockholder Proposals and Director Nominations. Our bylaws provide that stockholders seeking to nominate candidates for election as directors or to bring business before an annual meeting of stockholders must provide timely notice of their proposal in writing to the corporate secretary. Generally, to be timely, a stockholder's notice must be received at our principal executive offices not less than 90 days or more than 120 days prior to the first anniversary date of the previous year's annual meeting. If, however, the date of our annual meeting is more than 30 days before or 60 days after the first anniversary date of the previous year's annual meeting, a stockholder's notice must be received at our principal executive offices by the later of (i) the close of business on the 90th day prior to the annual meeting date or (ii) the close of business on the tenth day following the date on which such annual meeting date is first publicly announced or disclosed by us. Our bylaws also specify requirements as to the form and content of a stockholder's notice. These provisions may impede stockholders' ability to bring matters before an annual meeting of stockholders or make nominations for directors at an annual meeting of stockholders. Business Combinations. Our articles of incorporation prohibit us from engaging in a business combination with certain persons for three years following the date the person becomes an interested stockholder. Interested stockholders generally include: A. A persons who are the beneficial owners of 15% or more of the outstanding voting stock of the corporation; and B. A persons who are affiliates or associates of the corporation and who hold 15% or more of the corporation's outstanding voting stock at any time within three years before the date on which the person's status as an interested stockholder is determined. Subject to certain exceptions, a business combination includes, among other things: A. A certain mergers or consolidations of the corporation or any direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiary of the company; B. A the sale, lease, exchange, mortgage, pledge, transfer or other disposition of assets having an aggregate market value equal to 10% or more of either the aggregate market value of all assets of the corporation, determined on a consolidated basis, or the aggregate value of all the outstanding stock of the corporation; C. A certain transactions that result in the issuance or transfer by the corporation of any stock of the corporation to the interested stockholder; D. A any transaction involving the corporation that has the effect of increasing the proportionate share of the stock of any class or series, or securities convertible into the stock of any class or series, of the corporation that is owned directly or indirectly by the interested stockholder; and E. A any receipt by the interested stockholder of the benefit (except as a stockholder) of any loans, advances, guarantees, pledges or other financial benefits provided by or through the corporation. A 73 Table of Contents These provisions of our articles of incorporation do not apply to a business combination if: A. A before a person becomes an interested stockholder, the board of directors of the corporation approves the business combination or transaction in which the stockholder became an interested stockholder; B. A upon consummation of the transaction that resulted in the interested stockholder becoming an interested stockholder, the interested stockholder owned at least 85% of the voting stock of the corporation outstanding at the time the transaction commenced, other than certain excluded shares; C. A following a transaction in which the person became an interested stockholder, the business combination is (a) approved by the board of directors of the corporation and (b) authorized at a regular or special meeting of stockholders, and not by written consent, by the vote of the holders of at least two-thirds of the voting stock of the corporation not owned by the stockholder; or D. A a transaction with a stockholder that was or became an interested stockholder prior to the consummation of our initial public offering. C. Material Contracts We refer to Item 7. Major Shareholders and Related Party Transactions-B. Related Party Transactions for a discussion of our material agreements outside the ordinary course of our business to which we are a party. Other than the agreements discussed in the aforementioned section of this annual report, we have no material contracts, other than contracts entered into in the ordinary course of business, to which we or any member of the group is a party. D. Exchange Controls and Other Limitations Affecting Stockholders Under Marshall Islands law, there are currently no restrictions on the export or import of capital, including foreign exchange controls or restrictions that affect the remittance of dividends, interest or other payments to non-resident holders of our common stock. We are not aware of any limitations on the rights to own our common stock, including rights of non-resident or foreign stockholders to hold or exercise voting rights on our common stock, imposed by foreign law or by our articles of incorporation or bylaws. E. Tax Considerations Marshall Islands Tax Consequences We are incorporated in the Marshall Islands. Because we and our subsidiaries do not, and we do not expect that we and our subsidiaries will, conduct business or operations in the Republic of The Marshall Islands, under current Marshall Islands law we are not subject to tax on income or capital gains and no Marshall Islands withholding tax will be imposed upon payments of dividends by us to our stockholders so long as such stockholders do not reside in, maintain offices in, or engage in business in the Republic of The Marshall Islands. In addition, holders of shares of our common stock will not be subject to Marshall Islands stamp, capital gains or other taxes on the purchase, ownership or disposition of shares of our common stock and will not be required by the Republic of The Marshall Islands to file a tax return relating to such common stock. United States Federal Income Tax Consequences Except as otherwise noted, this discussion is based on the assumption that we will not maintain an office or other fixed place of business within the United States. We have no current intention of maintaining such an office. References in this discussion to "we" and "us" are to StealthGas Inc. and its subsidiaries on a consolidated basis, unless the context otherwise requires. A 74 Table of Contents This section does not purport to be a comprehensive description of all of the tax considerations that may be relevant to us or each investor. This section does not address all aspects of U.S. federal income taxation that may be relevant to any particular investor based on such investor's individual circumstances. In particular, this section considers only investors that will own common stock as capital assets and does not address the potential application of the alternative minimum tax or the U.S. federal income tax consequences to investors that are subject to special treatment, including broker-dealers, insurance companies, taxpayers who have elected mark-to-market accounting, tax-exempt organizations, regulated investment companies, real estate investment trusts, financial institutions or other financial services entities, taxpayers who hold common shares as part of a straddle, hedge, conversion transaction or other integrated transaction, taxpayers required to recognize income for U.S. federal income tax purposes no later than when such income is reported on an applicable financial statement, taxpayers that own 10% or more, directly or constructively, of the common shares, certain expatriates or former long-term residents of the United States, taxpayers that are subject to the estate tax and anti-avoidance rules, and United States Holders (as defined herein) whose functional currency is not the U.S. dollar. We have not sought, nor do we intend to seek, a ruling from the IRS as to any U.S. federal income tax consequence described herein. The IRS may disagree with the description herein, and its determination may be upheld by a court. The following does not address any aspect of U.S. federal gift or estate tax laws, or state or local tax laws. Additionally, the section does not consider the tax treatment of partnerships or other pass-through entities or persons who hold our common stock through such entities. Shareholders should consult their tax advisors regarding the specific tax consequences to them of the acquisition, holding or disposition of our common shares, in light of their particular circumstances. United States Federal Income Taxation of Our Company Taxation of Operating Income: In General Unless exempt from United States federal income taxation under the rules discussed below, a foreign corporation is subject to United States federal income taxation in respect of any income that is derived from the use of vessels, from the hiring or leasing of vessels for use on a time, voyage or bareboat charter basis, from the participation in a pool, partnership, strategic alliance, joint operating agreement or other joint venture it directly or indirectly owns or participates in that generates such income, or from the performance of services directly related to those uses, which we refer to as "shipping income," to the extent that the shipping income is derived from sources within the United States. For these purposes, 50% of shipping income that is attributable to transportation that begins or ends, but that does not both begin and end, in the United States constitutes income from sources within the United States, which we refer to as "United States-source shipping income." Shipping income attributable to transportation that both begins and ends in the United States is generally considered to be 100% from sources within the United States. We do not expect to engage in transportation that produces income which is considered to be 100% from sources within the United States. Shipping income attributable to transportation exclusively between non-United States ports is generally considered to be 100% derived from sources outside the United States. Shipping income derived from sources outside the United States will not be subject to any United States federal income tax. In the absence of exemption from tax under Section 883, our gross United States-source shipping income, unless determined to be effectively connected with the conduct of a United States trade or business, as described below, would be subject to a 4% tax imposed without allowance for deductions as described below. Exemption of Operating Income from United States Federal Income Taxation Under Section 883 of the Code, an entity, such as us and our vessel-owning subsidiaries, that is treated for United States federal income tax purposes as a non-United States on-United States corporation will be exempt from United States federal income taxation on its United States-source shipping income if: (i) the entity is organized in a country other than the United States (an "equivalent exemption jurisdiction"); that grants an exemption to corporations organized in the United States that is equivalent to that provided for in Section 883 of the Code (an "equivalent exemption"); and A 75 Table of Contents (ii) either (A) for more than half of the days in the relevant tax year more than 50% of the value of the entity's stock is owned, directly or under applicable constructive ownership rules, by individuals who are residents of equivalent exemption jurisdictions or certain other qualified shareholders (the "50% Ownership Test") and certain ownership certification requirements are complied with or (B) for the relevant tax year the entity's stock is primarily and regularly traded on an established securities market in an equivalent exemption jurisdiction or the United States (the "Publicly-Traded Test"). We believe, based on Revenue Ruling 2008-17, 2008-12 IRB 626, and the exchanges of notes referred to therein, that each of Liberia and the Marshall Islands, the jurisdictions in which we and our vessel-owning subsidiaries are organized, is an equivalent exemption jurisdiction with respect to income from bareboat and time or voyage charters. Under the rules described in the preceding paragraph, our wholly-owned vessel-owning subsidiaries that are directly or indirectly wholly-owned by us throughout a taxable year will be entitled to the benefits of Section 883 for such taxable year if we satisfy the 50% Ownership Test or the Publicly-Traded Test for such year. Due to the widely-held ownership of our stock, it may be difficult for us to satisfy the 50% Ownership Test. Our ability to satisfy the Publicly-Traded Test is discussed below. The Section 883 regulations provide, in pertinent part, that stock of a foreign corporation will be considered to be primarily traded on an established securities market in a particular country if the number of shares of each class of stock that are traded during any taxable year on all established securities markets in that country exceeds the number of shares in each such class that are traded during that year on established securities markets in any other single country. Our common stock, which is the sole class of our issued and outstanding stock, is ~~äöä~~äöäprimarily tradedäöä on the Nasdaq Global Select Market. Under the regulations, our common stock will be considered to be ~~äöä~~äöäregularly tradedäöä on an established securities market if one or more classes of our stock representing more than 50% of our outstanding shares, by total combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote and total value, is listed on the market. We refer to this as the listing threshold. Since our common stock is our sole outstanding class of stock and is listed on the Nasdaq Global Select Market, we will satisfy the listing requirement. It is further required that with respect to each class of stock relied upon to meet the listing threshold (i)Ä such class of the stock is traded on the market, other than in minimal quantities, on at least 60 days during the taxable year or 1/6 of the days in a short taxable year; and (ii)Ä the aggregate number of shares of such class of stock traded on such market is at least 10% of the average number of shares of such class of stock outstanding during such year or as appropriately adjusted in the case of a short taxable year. We believe we will satisfy the trading frequency and trading volume tests. Even if this were not the case, the regulations provide that the trading frequency and trading volume tests will be deemed satisfied if, as we believe to be the case with our common stock, such class of stock is traded on an established market in the United States and such stock is regularly quoted by dealers making a market in such stock. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the regulations provide, in pertinent part, that a class of our stock will not be considered to be ~~äöä~~äöäregularly tradedäöä on an established securities market for any taxable year in which 50% or more of such class of our outstanding shares of the stock is owned, actually or constructively under specified stock attribution rules, on more than half the days during the taxable year by persons who each own 5% or more of the value of such class of our outstanding stock, which we refer to as the ~~äöä~~äöä5% Override Ruleäöä. For purposes of being able to determine the persons who own 5% or more of our stock, or ~~äöä~~äöä5% Stockholdersäöä, the regulations permit us to rely on those persons that are identified on Schedule 13G and Schedule 13D filings with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission, or the ~~äöä~~äöäSECäöä, as having a 5% or more beneficial interest in our common stock. The regulations further provide that an investment company which is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, will not be treated as a 5% Stockholder for such purposes. Our shares of common stock have in the past and may in the future also be, owned, actually or under applicable attribution rules, such that 5% Stockholders own, in the aggregate, 50% or more of our common stock. In such Ä 76 Table of Contents circumstances, we will be subject to the 5% Override Rule unless we can establish that among the shares included in the closely-held block of our shares of common stock are a sufficient number of shares of common stock that are owned or treated as owned by ~~äöä~~äöäqualified share-holdersäöä that the shares of common stock included in such block that are not so treated could not constitute 50% or more of the shares of our common stock for more than half the number of days during the taxable year. In order to establish this, such qualified share-holders would have to comply with certain documentation and certification requirements designed to substantiate their identity as qualified share-holders. For these purposes, a ~~äöä~~äöäqualified share-holderäöä includes (i)Ä an individual that owns or is treated as owning shares of our common stock and is a resident of a jurisdiction that provides an exemption that is equivalent to that provided by SectionÄ 883 of the Code and (ii)Ä certain other persons. There can be no assurance that we will not be subject to the 5% Override Rule. Our Chief Executive Officer, who is treated under applicable ownership attribution rules as owning approximately 29.2% of our shares of common stock as of AprilÄ 1, 2024, has entered into an agreement with us regarding his compliance, and the compliance by certain entities that he controls and through which he owns our shares, with the certification requirements designed to substantiate status as qualified stockholders. In certain circumstances, his compliance and the compliance of such entities he controls with the terms of that agreement may enable us and our subsidiaries to qualify for the benefits of SectionÄ 883 even where persons each of whom owns, either directly or under applicable attribution rules, 5% or more of our shares own, in the aggregate, more than 50% of our outstanding shares. There can be no assurance, however, that his compliance and the compliance of such entities he controls with the terms of that agreement will enable us or our subsidiaries to qualify for the benefits of SectionÄ 883. There can be no assurance that we or any of our subsidiaries will qualify for the benefits of SectionÄ 883 for any year. To the extent the benefits of SectionÄ 883 are unavailable, our United States-source shipping income and that at our subsidiaries, to the extent not considered to be ~~äöä~~äöäeffectively connectedäöä with the conduct of a United States trade or business, as described below, would be subject to a 4% tax imposed by SectionÄ 887 of the Code on a gross basis, without the benefit of deductions. Since under the sourcing rules described above, we expect that no more than 50% of our shipping income and that of our subsidiaries would be treated as being derived from United States-sources, we expect that the maximum effective rate of United States federal income tax on such gross shipping income would never exceed 2% under the 4% gross basis tax regime. To the extent the benefits of the SectionÄ 883 exemption are unavailable and our United States-source shipping income or that of our subsidiaries is considered to be ~~äöä~~äöäeffectively connectedäöä with the conduct of a United States trade or business, as described below, any such ~~äöä~~äöäeffectively connectedäöä United States-source shipping income, net of applicable deductions, would be subject to the United States federal corporate income tax currently imposed at rates of up to 21%. In addition, we or our subsidiaries may be subject to the 30% ~~äöä~~äöäbranch profitsäöä taxes on earnings effectively connected with the conduct of such trade or business, as determined after allowance for certain adjustments, and on certain interest paid or deemed paid attributable to the conduct of a United States trade or business by us or our subsidiaries. Our United States-source shipping income and that of our subsidiaries, other than leasing income, will be considered ~~äöä~~äöäeffectively connectedäöä with the conduct of a United States trade or business only if: Ä Ä äöä Ä we or our subsidiaries have, or are considered to have, a fixed place of business in the United States involved in the earning of shipping income; and Ä Ä äöä Ä substantially all (at least 90%) of our United States-source shipping income, other than leasing income or that of a subsidiary, is attributable to regularly scheduled transportation, such as the operation of a vessel that follows a published schedule with repeated sailings at regular intervals between the same points for voyages that begin or end in the United States. We do not intend to have, or permit circumstances that would result in having, any vessel operating to the United States on a regularly scheduled basis. Ä 77 Table of Contents Our United States-source shipping income from leasing or that of our subsidiaries will be considered ~~äöä~~äöäeffectively connectedäöä with the conduct of a United States trade or business only if: Ä Ä Ä äöä Ä we or our subsidiaries have, or are considered to have, a fixed place of business in the United States that is involved in the meaning of such leasing income; and Ä Ä Ä äöä Ä substantially all (at least 90%) of our United States-source shipping income from leasing or that of a subsidiary is attributable to such fixed place of business. For these purposes, leasing income is treated as attributable to a fixed place of business where such place of business is a material factor in the realization of such income and such income is realized in the ordinary course of business carried on through such fixed place of business. Based on the foregoing and on the expected mode of our shipping operations and other activities, we believe that none of our United States-source shipping income or that of our subsidiaries is ~~äöä~~äöäeffectively connectedäöä with the conduct of a United States trade or business. United States Taxation of Gain on Sale of Vessels Regardless of whether we qualify for exemption under SectionÄ 883, we will not be subject to United States federal income taxation with respect to gain realized on a sale of a vessel, provided the sale is considered to occur outside of the United States under United States federal income tax principles. In general, a sale of a vessel will be considered to occur outside of the United States for this purpose if title to the vessel, and risk of loss with respect to the vessel, pass to the buyer outside of the United States. It is expected that any sale of a vessel will be so structured that it will be considered to occur outside of the United States. United States Federal Income Taxation of United States Holders As used herein, the term ~~äöä~~äöäUnited States Holderäöä means a beneficial owner of common stock that is a United States citizen or resident, United States corporation or other United States entity taxable as a corporation, an estate the income of which is subject to United States federal income taxation regardless of its source, or a trust if a court within the United States is able to exercise primary jurisdiction over the administration of the trust and one or more United States persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust. This discussion applies only to beneficial owners of common stock that own the common stock as ~~äöä~~äöäcapital assetsäöä (generally, for investment purposes) and does not comment on all aspects of U.S. federal income taxation that may be important to certain shareholders in light of their particular circumstances, such as shareholders subject to special tax rules (e.g., financial institutions, regulated investment companies, real estate investment trusts, insurance companies, traders in securities that have elected the mark-to-market method of accounting for their securities, persons liable for alternative minimum tax, broker-dealers, tax-exempt organizations, partnerships or other pass-through entities and their investors or former citizens or long-term residents of the United States) or shareholders that will hold common stock as part of a straddle, hedge, conversion, constructive sale or other integrated transaction for U.S. federal income tax purposes, all of whom may be subject to U.S. federal income tax rules that differ significantly from those summarized below. If a partnership (or an entity treated as a partnership for United States federal income tax purposes) holds our common stock, the tax treatment of a partner will generally depend upon the status of the partner and upon the activities of the partnership. If you are a partner in a partnership holding our common stock, you are encouraged to consult your tax advisor. Distributions Subject to the discussion of passive foreign investment companies below, any distributions made by us with respect to our common stock to a United States Holder will generally constitute dividends, which may be taxable as ordinary income or ~~äöä~~äöäqualified dividend incomeäöä as described in more detail below, to the extent of our current or accumulated earnings and profits, as determined under United States federal income tax principles. Distributions in excess of our earnings and profits will be treated first as a nontaxable return of capital to the extent of the United Ä 78 Table of Contents States Holderäöä's tax basis in his common stock on a dollar for dollar basis and thereafter as capital gain. Because we are not a United States corporation, United States Holders that are corporations will not be entitled to claim a dividends received deduction with respect to any distributions they receive from us. Dividends paid with respect to our common stock will generally be treated as passive category income or, in the case of certain types of United States Holders, general category income for purposes of computing allowable foreign tax credits for United States foreign tax credit purposes. Dividends paid on our common stock to a United States Holder who is an individual, trust or estate (a ~~äöä~~äöäUnited States Individual Holderäöä) should be treated as ~~äöä~~äöäqualified dividend incomeäöä that is taxable to such United States Individual Holders at preferential tax rates provided that (1)Ä the common stock is readily tradable on an established securities market in the United States (such as the Nasdaq Global Select Market); (2) we are not a passive foreign investment company, or PFIC, for the taxable year during which the dividend is paid or the immediately preceding taxable year see the discussion under the heading ~~äöä~~äöäPFIC Status and Significant Tax Consequencesäöä below for a discussion of our potential qualification as a PFIC; and (3)Ä the United States Individual Holder owns the common stock (and has not been protected from risk of loss) for more than 60 days in the 121-day period beginning 60 days before the date on which the common stock becomes ex-dividend. Special rules may apply to any ~~äöä~~äöäextraordinary dividendäöä. Generally, an extraordinary dividend is a dividend in an amount which is equal to or in excess of ten percent of a stockholderäöä's adjusted basis (or fair market value in certain circumstances) in a share of common stock paid by us. If we pay an ~~äöä~~äöäextraordinary dividendäöä on our common stock that is treated as ~~äöä~~äöäqualified dividend incomeäöä, then any loss derived by a United States Individual Holder from the sale or exchange of such common stock will be treated as long-term capital loss to the extent of such dividend. There is no assurance that any dividends paid on our common stock will be eligible for these preferential rates in the hands of a United States Individual Holder. Any dividends paid by us which are not eligible for these preferential rates will be taxed to a United States Individual Holder at the standard ordinary income rates. Legislation has been proposed which, if enacted into law in its present form, would likely preclude, prospectively from the date of enactment, our dividends from being treated as ~~äöä~~äöäqualified dividend incomeäöä eligible for the preferential tax rates described above. Sale, Exchange or other Disposition of Common Stock Assuming we do not constitute a PFIC for any taxable year, a United States Holder generally will recognize taxable gain or loss upon a sale, exchange or other disposition of our common stock in an amount equal to the difference between the amount realized by the United States Holder from such sale, exchange or other disposition and the United States Holderäöä's tax basis in such stock. Such gain or loss will be treated as long-term capital gain or loss if the United States Holderäöä's holding period is greater than one year at the time of the sale, exchange or other disposition. Such capital gain or loss will generally be treated as United States-source income or loss, as applicable, for United States foreign tax credit purposes. A United States Holderäöä's ability to deduct capital losses is subject to certain limitations, PFIC Status and Significant Tax Consequences Special United States federal income tax rules apply to a United States Holder that holds stock in a foreign corporation classified as a PFIC for United States federal income tax purposes. In general, we will be treated as a PFIC with respect to a United States Holder if, for any taxable year in which such holder held our common stock, either: Ä Ä äöä Ä at least 75% of our gross income for such taxable year consists of passive income (e.g., dividends, interest, capital gains and rents derived other than in the active conduct of a rental business); or Ä Ä äöä Ä at least 50% of the average value of our assets during such taxable year produce, or are held for the production of, passive income. For purposes of determining whether we are a PFIC, we will be treated as earning and owning our proportionate share of the income and assets, respectively, of any of our subsidiary corporations in which we own at least 25Ä percent of the value of the subsidiaryäöä's stock. Income earned, or deemed earned, by us in connection with the performance of services will not constitute passive income. By contrast, rental income will generally constitute ~~äöä~~äöäpassive incomeäöä unless we are treated under specific rules as deriving our rental income in the active conduct of a trade or business. Ä 79 Table of Contents We may hold, directly or indirectly, interests in other entities that are PFICs (~~äöä~~äöäSubsidiary PFICsäöä). If we are a PFIC, each United States Holder will be treated as owning its pro rata share by value of the stock of any such Subsidiary PFICs. In connection with determining our PFIC status we treat and intend to continue to treat the gross income that we derive or are deemed to derive from our time chartering activities as services income, rather than rental income. We believe that our income from time chartering activities does not constitute ~~äöä~~äöäpassive incomeäöä and that the assets that we own and operate in connection with the production of that income do not constitute assets held for the production of passive income. We treat and intend to continue to treat, for purposes of the PFIC rules, the income that we derive from bareboat charters as passive income and the assets giving rise to such income as assets held for the production of passive income. We believe there is substantial authority supporting our position consisting of case law and IRS pronouncements concerning the characterization of income derived from time charters and voyage charters as services income for other tax purposes. There is, however, no legal authority specifically under the PFIC rules regarding our current and proposed method of operation and it is possible that the Internal Revenue Service, or IRS, may not accept our positions and that a court may uphold such challenge, in which case we and certain of our subsidiaries could be treated as PFICs. In this regard we note that a federal court decision, Tidewater Inc. and Subsidiaries v. United States, 565 F.3d 299 (5th Cir. 2009), held that income derived from certain time chartering activities should be treated as rental income rather than services income for purposes of the ~~äöä~~äöäforeign sales corporationäöä rules under the Code. The IRS has stated that it disagrees with and will not acquiesce to the Tidewater decision, and in its discussion stated that the time charters at issue in Tidewater would be treated as producing services income for PFIC purposes. However, the IRSäöä's statement with respect to the Tidewater decision was an administrative action that cannot be relied upon or otherwise cited as precedent by taxpayers. Consequently, in the absence of any binding legal authority specifically relating to the statutory provisions governing PFICs, there can be no assurance that the IRS or a court would agree with the Tidewater decision. In addition, in making the determination as to whether we are a PFIC, we intend to treat the deposits that we make on our newbuilding contracts and that are with respect to vessels we do not expect to bareboat charter as assets which are not held for the production of passive income for purposes of determining whether we are a PFIC. We note that there is no direct authority on this point and it is possible that the IRS may disagree with our position. However, if the principles of the Tidewater decision were applicable to our time charters, or our new build deposits were treated as assets producing passive income, we would likely be treated as a PFIC. Moreover, although we intend to conduct our affairs in a manner to avoid being classified as a PFIC, we cannot assure you that the nature of our assets, income and operations will not change, or that we can avoid being treated as a PFIC for any taxable year. We do not believe that we were a PFIC for 2023. This belief is based in part upon our beliefs regarding the value of the assets that we hold for the production of or in connection with the production of passive income relative to the value of our other assets. Should these beliefs turn out to be incorrect, then we and certain of our subsidiaries could be treated as PFICs for 2023. There can be no assurance that the IRS or a court will not determine values for our assets that would cause us to be treated as a PFIC for 2023 or a subsequent year. In addition, although we do not believe that we were a PFIC for 2023, we may choose to operate our business in the current or in future taxable years in a manner that could cause us to become a PFIC for those years. Because our status as a PFIC for any taxable year will not be determinable until after the end of the taxable year, and depends upon our assets, income and operations in that taxable year, there can be no assurance that we will not be considered a PFIC for 2023 or any future taxable year. As discussed more fully below, if we were to be treated as a PFIC for any taxable year, a United States Holder would be subject to different taxation rules depending on whether the United States Holder makes an election to treat us as a ~~äöä~~äöäQualified Electing Fundäöä, which election we refer to as a ~~äöä~~äöäQEF electionäöä. As an alternative to making a QEF election, a United States Holder should be able to make a ~~äöä~~äöämark-to-marketäöä election with respect to our common stock, as discussed below. Regardless of whether a United States Holder makes a QEF election or a mark-to-market election, if we were to be treated as a PFIC for any taxable year ending on or after DecemberÄ 31, 2023, the United States Holder generally would be required to file an IRS Form 8621 reporting his ownership of shares in a PFIC. We may elect to provide such information on our website. Ä 80 Table of Contents Taxation of United States Holders Making a Timely QEF Election If a United States Holder makes a timely QEF election, which United States Holder we refer to as an ~~äöä~~äöäElecting Holderäöä, the Electing Holder must report each year for United States federal income tax purposes his pro-rata share of our ordinary earnings and our net capital gain, if any, for our taxable year that ends with or within the taxable year of the Electing Holder, regardless of whether or not distributions were received from us by the Electing Holder. Generally, a QEF election should be made on or before the due date for filing the electing United States Holderâ€™s U.S. federal income tax return for the first taxable year in which our common stock is held by such United States Holder and we are classified as a PFIC. The Electing Holderâ€™s adjusted tax basis in the common stock will be increased to reflect taxed but undistributed earnings and profits. Distributions of earnings and profits that had been previously taxed will result in a corresponding reduction in the adjusted tax basis in the common stock and will not be taxed again once distributed. An Electing Holder would generally recognize capital gain or loss on the sale, exchange or other disposition of our common stock. A United States Holder would make a QEF election with respect to any year that our company and any PFIC Subsidiary is a PFIC by filing one copy of IRS Form 8621 with his United States federal income tax return and a second copy in accordance with the instructions to such form. If we were aware that we were to be treated as a PFIC for any taxable year, we would provide each United States Holder with all necessary information in order to make the QEF election described above with respect to our common stock and the stock of any Subsidiary PFIC. Taxation of United States Holders Making a â€œMark-to-Marketâ€ Election Alternatively, if we were to be treated as a PFIC for any taxable year and, as we anticipate, our common stock is treated as â€œmarketable stock,â€ a United States Holder would be allowed to make a â€œmark-to-marketâ€ election with respect to our common stock, provided the United States Holder completes and files IRS Form 8621 in accordance with the relevant instructions and related Treasury Regulations. If that election is made, the United States Holder generally would include as ordinary income in each taxable year the excess, if any, of the fair market value of the common stock at the end of the taxable year over such holderâ€™s adjusted tax basis in the common stock. The United States Holder would also be permitted an ordinary loss in respect of the excess, if any, of the United States Holderâ€™s adjusted tax basis in the common stock over its fair market value at the end of the taxable year, but only to the extent of the net amount previously included in income as a result of the mark-to-market election. A United States Holderâ€™s tax basis in his common stock would be adjusted to reflect any such income or loss amount. Gain realized on the sale, exchange or other disposition of our common stock would be treated as ordinary income, and any loss realized on the sale, exchange or other disposition of the common stock would be treated as ordinary loss to the extent that such loss does not exceed the net mark-to-market gains previously included by the United States Holder. A mark-to-market election under the PFIC rules with respect to our common stock would not apply to a Subsidiary PFIC, and a United States Holder would not be able to make such a mark-to-market election in respect of its indirect ownership interest in that Subsidiary PFIC. Consequently, United States Holders of our common stock could be subject to the PFIC rules with respect to income of the Subsidiary PFIC, the value of which already had been taken into account indirectly via mark-to-market adjustments. Taxation of United States Holders Not Making a Timely QEF or Mark-to-Market Election If we were to be treated as a PFIC for any taxable year, a United States Holder who does not make either a QEF election or a â€œmark-to-marketâ€ election for that year, whom we refer to as a â€œNon-Electing Holder,â€ would be subject to special rules with respect to (1)Â any excess distribution (i.e., the portion of any distributions received by the Non-Electing Holder on our common stock in a taxable year in excess of 125Â percent of the average annual distributions received by the Non-Electing Holder in the three preceding taxable years, or, if shorter, the Non-Electing Holderâ€™s holding period for the common stock), and (2)Â any gain realized on the sale, exchange or other disposition of our common stock. Under these special rules: A. A. A. the excess distribution or gain would be allocated ratably over the Non-Electing Holderâ€™s aggregate holding period for the common stock; B. 81 Table of Contents A. A. the amount allocated to the current taxable year or to any portion of the United States Holderâ€™s holding period prior to the first taxable year for which we were a PFIC would be taxed as ordinary income; and A. A. the amount allocated to each of the other taxable years would be subject to tax at the highest rate of tax in effect for the applicable class of taxpayer for that year, and an interest charge for the deemed deferral benefit would be imposed with respect to the resulting tax attributable to each such other taxable year. These penalties would not apply to a pension or profit sharing trust or other tax-exempt organization that did not borrow funds or otherwise utilize leverage in connection with its acquisition of our common stock. Other PFIC Elections. If a United States Holder held our stock during a period when we were treated as a PFIC but the United States Holder did not have a QEF election in effect with respect to us, then in the event that we were not treated as a PFIC for a subsequent taxable year, the United States Holder could elect to cease to be subject to the rules described above with respect to those shares by making a â€œdeemed saleâ€ or, in certain circumstances, a â€œdeemed dividendâ€ election with respect to our stock. If the United States Holder makes a deemed sale election, the United States Holder will be treated, for purposes of applying the rules described above under the heading â€œTaxation of United States Holders Not Making a Timely QEF or Mark-to-Market Electionâ€, as having disposed of our stock for its fair market value on the last day of the last taxable year for which we qualified as a PFIC (the â€œtermination dateâ€). The United States Holder would increase his, her or its basis in such common stock by the amount of the gain on the deemed sale described in the preceding sentence. Following a deemed sale election, the United States Holder would not be treated, for purposes of the PFIC rules, as having owned the common stock during a period prior to the termination date when we qualified as a PFIC. If we were treated as a â€œcontrolled foreign corporationâ€ for United States federal income tax purposes for the taxable year that included the termination date, then a United States Holder could make a â€œdeemed dividendâ€ election with respect to our common stock. If a deemed dividend election is made, the United States Holder is required to include in income as a dividend his, her or its pro rata share (based on all of our stock held by the United States Holder, directly or under applicable attribution rules, on the termination date) of our post-1986 earnings and profits as of the close of the taxable year that includes the termination date (taking only earnings and profits accumulated in taxable years in which we were a PFIC into account). The deemed dividend described in the preceding sentence is treated as an excess distribution for purposes of the rules described above under the heading â€œTaxation of United States Holders Not making a Timely QEF or Mark-to-Market Electionâ€. The United States Holder would increase his, her or its basis in our stock by the amount of the deemed dividend. Following a deemed dividend election, the United States Holder would not be treated, for purposes of the PFIC rules, as having owned the stock during a period prior to the termination date when we qualified as a PFIC. For purposes of determining whether the deemed dividend election is available, we generally will be treated as a controlled foreign corporation for a taxable year when, at any time during that year, United States persons, each of whom owns, directly or under applicable attribution rules, shares having 10% or more of the total voting power of our stock, in the aggregate own, directly or under applicable attribution rules, shares representing more than 50% of the voting power or value of our stock. A deemed sale or deemed dividend election must be made on the United States Holderâ€™s original or amended return for the shareholderâ€™s taxable year that includes the termination date and, if made on an amended return, such amended return must be filed not later than the date that is three years after the due date of the original return for such taxable year. Special rules apply where a person is treated, for purposes of the PFIC rules, as indirectly owning our common stock. United States Federal Income Taxation of â€œNon-United States Holdersâ€ A beneficial owner of common stock that is not a United States Holder and is not treated as a partnership for United States federal income tax purposes is referred to herein as a â€œNon-United States Holder.â€ 82 Table of Contents Dividends on Common Stock Non-United States Holders generally will not be subject to United States federal income tax or withholding tax on dividends received from us with respect to our common stock, unless that income is effectively connected with the Non-United States Holderâ€™s conduct of a trade or business in the United States. If the Non-United States Holder is entitled to the benefits of a United States income tax treaty with respect to those dividends, that income generally is taxable only if it is attributable to a permanent establishment maintained by the Non-United States Holder in the United States. Sale, Exchange or Other Disposition of Common Stock Non-United States Holders generally will not be subject to United States federal income tax or withholding tax on any gain realized upon the sale, exchange or other disposition of our common stock, unless: A. A. the gain is effectively connected with the Non-United States Holderâ€™s conduct of a trade or business in the United States. If the Non-United States Holder is entitled to the benefits of an income tax treaty with respect to that gain, that gain generally is taxable only if it is attributable to a permanent establishment maintained by the Non-United States Holder in the United States; or A. A. the Non-United States Holder is an individual who is present in the United States for 183 days or more during the taxable year of disposition and other conditions are met. If the Non-United States Holder is engaged in a United States trade or business for United States federal income tax purposes, the income from the common stock, including dividends and the gain from the sale, exchange or other disposition of the stock that is effectively connected with the conduct of that trade or business will generally be subject to regular United States federal income tax in the same manner as discussed in the previous section relating to the taxation of United States Holders. In addition, in the case of a corporate Non-United States Holder, such holderâ€™s earnings and profits that are attributable to the effectively connected income, which are subject to certain adjustments, may be subject to an additional branch profits tax at a rate of 30%, or at a lower rate as may be specified by an applicable income tax treaty. Backup Withholding and Information Reporting In general, dividend payments, or other taxable distributions, made within the United States to a non-corporate United States Holder will be subject to information reporting requirements and backup withholding tax if such holder: A. A. fails to provide an accurate taxpayer identification number; A. A. is notified by the Internal Revenue Service that you have failed to report all interest or dividends required to be shown on your federal income tax returns; or A. A. in certain circumstances, fails to comply with applicable certification requirements. Non-United States Holders may be required to establish their exemption from information reporting and backup withholding by certifying their status on IRS Form W-8BEN, W-8ECI or W-8IMY, as applicable. If a holder sells our common stock to or through a United States office or broker, the payment of the proceeds is subject to both United States backup withholding and information reporting unless the holder certifies that it is a non-United States person, under penalties of perjury, or the holder otherwise establishes an exemption. If a holder sells our common stock through a non-United States office of a non-United States broker and the sales proceeds are paid outside the United States then information reporting and backup withholding generally will not apply to that payment. However, United States information reporting requirements, but not backup withholding, will apply to a payment of sales proceeds, even if that payment is made outside the United States, if a holder sells our common stock through a non-United States office of a broker that is a United States person or has some other contacts with the United States. 83 Table of Contents Backup withholding tax is not an additional tax. Rather, a holder generally may obtain a refund of any amounts withheld under backup withholding rules that exceed such stockholderâ€™s income tax liability by filing a refund claim with the Internal Revenue Service. In accordance with these requirements, we file reports and other information as a foreign private issuer with the SEC. The SEC maintains a website (<http://www.sec.gov>) that contains reports, proxy and information statements and other information regarding registrants that file electronically with the SEC. You may access our public filings with the SEC without charge on this website. I. Subsidiary Information Not applicable. J. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk Our risk management policy Our primary market risks relate to adverse movements in freight rates for our LPG carriers and any declines that may occur in the value of our assets which are made up primarily of LPG carriers. Our policy is to also continuously monitor our exposure to other business risks, including counter party risks related to our charterers, the impact of changes in interest rates, currency rates, and bunker prices on earnings and cash flows. We assess these risks and, when appropriate, enter into derivative contracts with credit-worthy counter parties to minimize our exposure to the risks. In regard to bunker prices, as our employment policy for our vessels has continued to be and is expected to continue with a high percentage of our fleet on period employment, we are not directly exposed for the majority of our fleet to increases in bunker fuel prices as these are the responsibility of the charterer under period charter arrangements. For the remainder of the fleet operating in the spot market we do not intend to enter into bunker hedging arrangements. Interest rate risk We are subject to market risks relating to changes in interest rates, because we have floating rate debt outstanding under our loan agreements on which we pay interest based on SOFR plus a margin. In order to manage our exposure to changes in interest rates due to this floating rate indebtedness, we enter into interest rate swap agreements. Set forth below is a table of our interest rate swap arrangements converting floating interest rate exposure into fixed as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023 and 2024. The swap valuations in the table presented below are presented from the Companyâ€™s perspective. A. 84 Table of Contents A. A. EffectiveDate A. A. TerminationDate A. A. NotionalAmountA. A. During 2023 as we repaid part of our indebtedness, we closed $50.0A million notional amount of swaps we had previously entered into, and received $3.9A million compensation in aggregate from the respective counterparties, being the fair value of the swaps at the time of closing. In February 2024, as part of further debt repayment, we closed Swap 2 of the table above, and received compensation of $1.0A million, being the fair value of the swap at the time of closing. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2023, total bank indebtedness of the Company was $124.1A million, of which $42.5A million was covered by the interest rate swap agreements described above. As set forth in the above table, as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023, we paid fixed rates ranging from 1.49% to 2.74% and received floating rates based on SOFR under our floating-to-fixed rate interest rate swap agreements. We have not and do not intend to enter into interest rate swaps for speculative purposes. Based on the amount of our outstanding indebtedness as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023, and our interest swap arrangements as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023, a hypothetical one percentage point increase in relevant interest rates (three month U.S. dollar SOFR) would have increased our interest expense, on an annualized basis, by approximately $1.3A million (2022: $2.0 million) for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Foreign exchange rate fluctuation We generate all of our revenues in U.S. dollars and incurred about 20.6% of our expenses in currencies other than U.S. dollars in 2023 (2022: 16.3%). For accounting purposes, expenses incurred in other currencies are converted into U.S. dollars at the exchange rate prevailing on the date of each transaction. Due to our relatively low percentage exposure of any particular currency other than our base currency, which is the U.S. dollar we believe that such currency movements will not otherwise have a material effect on us. As such, we do not hedge these exposures as the amounts involved do not make hedging economic. As of AprilÂ 1, 2024 we have no payment obligations related to the building of vessels in currencies other than U.S. dollars. We have not and do not intend to enter into foreign currency contracts for speculative purposes. Please read Note 2 (Significant Accounting Policies), Note 9 (Long -Term Debt) and Note 10 (Derivatives and Fair Value Disclosures) to our Financial Statements included herein, which provide additional information with respect to our derivative financial instruments and existing debt agreements. Disclosure Controls and Procedures StealthGasâ€™s management, with the participation of its Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, has evaluated the effectiveness of the design and operation of the Companyâ€™s disclosure controls and procedures, as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the Exchange Act, as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Disclosure controls and procedures are defined under SEC rules as controls and other procedures that are designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed by a company in the reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within required time periods. Disclosure controls and procedures include controls and procedures designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed by an issuer in the reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act is accumulated and communicated to the issuerâ€™s management, including its principal executive and principal financial officers, or persons performing similar functions, as appropriate, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure. There are inherent limitations to the effectiveness of any system of disclosure controls and procedures, including the possibility of human error and the circumvention or overriding of the controls and procedures. Accordingly, even effective disclosure controls and procedures can only provide reasonable assurance of achieving their control objectives. Based on the Companyâ€™s evaluation, management concluded that the Companyâ€™s disclosure controls and procedures were effective as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. b. Managementâ€™s Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting The Companyâ€™s management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting, as defined in Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) under the Exchange Act, and for the assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting. The Companyâ€™s internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States (â€œU.S. GAAPâ€). A companyâ€™s internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (i)Â pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (ii)Â provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with USA GAAP, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (iii)Â provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of

Company's assets could have a material effect on the financial statements. Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate. In making its assessment of the Company's internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2023, management used the criteria set forth in Internal Control-Integrated Framework (2013A) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission ("COSO") and evaluated the internal control over financial reporting. Management concluded that, as of December 31, 2023 the Company's internal control over financial reporting was effective. Deloitte Certified Public Accountants S.A., our independent registered public accounting firm, has audited the financial statements included herein and our internal control over financial reporting and has issued an attestation report on the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2023 which is reproduced in its entirety in Item 15(c) below.

Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects. Our audit included obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk, and performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion. Item 16K. Cybersecurity Risk Management and Strategy Our company recognizes the importance of safeguarding the security of the computer systems, software, networks, and other technology assets used in our business, both ashore and onboard our vessels. Our manager, Stealth Maritime, has implemented processes for identifying, assessing, and mitigating cybersecurity risks and, as part of an Enterprise Risk Management, or ERM, process, our manager has implemented a cybersecurity risk management program that is informed by recognized industry standards and frameworks and incorporates elements of the same. Our manager's cybersecurity risk management program incorporates a number of components, including, but not limited to, information security policies and operating procedures, periodic information security risk assessments and other vulnerability analyses, and ongoing monitoring of critical risks from cybersecurity threats using automated tools. Additionally, our manager has implemented a process to conduct cybersecurity awareness training for employees during onboarding and, thereafter, throughout the year, and conducts regular phishing simulations in an effort to raise awareness of spoofed or manipulated electronic communications and other cybersecurity threats. Our manager maintains a Cybersecurity Incident Response Plan, which is designed to guide responses to cyber incidents, including to mitigate and contain any potential cybersecurity incidents that could affect its systems, network, or data. The Cybersecurity Incident Response Plan identifies the individuals responsible for developing, maintaining, and following procedures related to cybersecurity incident response, including escalation protocols. As part of our manager's cybersecurity risk management program, all processes around third-party vendor risk management are maintained, including a framework for managing third-party information security risks.

90 Table of Contents Governance Our Board of Directors has ultimate responsibility for the oversight of cybersecurity risks and responses to cybersecurity incidents, should they arise. The Board of Directors is informed periodically regarding the status of initiatives to further reduce cybersecurity risk by the IT function and other functions as needed. The key individuals responsible for the overall assessment and day-to-day management of material risks from cybersecurity threats include the head of Information Technology and chief executive officer at our manager Stealth Maritime. Our manager's current head of IT possesses approximately 26 years of experience with information technology and cybersecurity risk management programs. Our manager's chief executive officer alongside our senior management, provide quarterly reports to the Board of Directors covering cybersecurity and other information technology risks affecting us. These reports may include reviewing our manager's current infrastructure and the status of key cybersecurity initiatives, including the status of ongoing mitigation efforts, providing insights into the latest cybersecurity threats, and discussing any recent security incidents impacting similarly-situated companies. In the event of a cybersecurity incident, we have implemented a process in which our Chief Executive Officer would report such incident to our board of directors if the incident is determined to present critical risk to us. Although risks from cybersecurity threats have not to date materially affected us, our business strategy, results of operations or financial condition, we may, from time to time, experience threats to and security incidents related to the data and systems used in our business. See Section 3.D. Risk Factors "Relating to Our Industry."

December 31, 2023, based on criteria established in the Internal Control Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission and our report dated April 26, 2024 expressed an unqualified opinion on the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Basis for Opinion These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the PCAOB and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB. We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion. Critical Audit Matter The critical audit matter communicated below is a matter arising from the current-period audit of the financial statements that was communicated or required to be communicated to the audit committee and that (1) relates to accounts or disclosures that are material to the financial statements and (2) involved our especially challenging, subjective, or complex judgments. The communication of critical audit matters does not alter in any way our opinion on the financial statements, taken as a whole, and we are not, by communicating the critical audit matter below, providing a separate opinion on the critical audit matter or on the accounts or disclosures to which it relates. Vessel Impairment Refer to Future Charter Rates for Vessels with Impairment Indicators Refer to Note 2 of the consolidated financial statements Critical Audit Matter Description The Company's evaluation of its vessels for impairment involves an initial assessment of each vessel to determine whether events or changes in circumstances exist that may indicate that the carrying amount of the vessel is greater than its fair value and may no longer be considered to be recoverable. As of December 31, 2023, 8 out of 27 vessels had an impairment indication. During the year ended December 31, 2023, the Company recognized an impairment loss of $2.8A million relating to 3 LPG vessels, 2 of which have been classified as held for sale as of December 31, 2023 and 1 which was sold during 2023. A F-95 Table of Contents If indicators of impairment exist for a vessel, the Company determines the recoverable amount by performing an analysis of the anticipated undiscounted future net cash flows associated with the vessel. If the carrying value of the vessel exceeds its undiscounted future net cash flows, the carrying value is reduced to its fair value. The undiscounted cash flows incorporate various factors and significant assumptions, including estimated future charter rates. Future charter rates reflect the rates currently in effect for the duration of the vessel's current contracted charters, and an estimated daily time charter rate for the unchartered period using the most recent nine-year historical time charter average for the vessel class. These assumptions are based on historical trends that are in line with the Company's historical performance and expectations for the vessel's utilization under the current deployment strategy. We identified future charter rates for Vessels with Impairment Indicators used in the undiscounted future cash flows analysis as a critical audit matter because of the complex judgments made by management to estimate future charter rates and the significant impact they have on undiscounted cash flows expected to be generated over the remaining useful life of the vessel. This required a high degree of auditor judgment and an increased extent of effort when performing audit procedures to evaluate the reasonableness of management's future charter rates. How the Critical Audit Matter Was Addressed in the Audit Our audit procedures related to the future charter rates for Vessels with Impairment Indicators utilized in the undiscounted future cash flows included the following: A We tested the effectiveness of relevant controls over management's review of the impairment analysis, including the future charter rates used within the undiscounted future cash flows analysis. A We evaluated the Company's methodology for estimating the future charter rates by using our industry experience and by comparing actual results to management's historical forecasts. A We evaluated the Company's assumptions regarding future charter rates by comparing the future charter rates utilized in the undiscounted future cash flow analysis to 1) the Company's historical rates, 2) the Company's budget, and 3) historical rate information by vessel class published by third parties. A /s/ Deloitte Certified Public Accountants S.A. April 26, 2024 Athens, Greece We have served as the Company's auditor since 2005. A F-96 Table of Contents StealthGas Inc. Basis of Presentation and General Information The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the accounts of StealthGas Inc. and its wholly owned subsidiaries (collectively, the âCompanyâ) which, as of December 31, 2023 owned a fleet of twenty-seven liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) carriers providing worldwide marine transportation services under long, medium or short-term charters. StealthGas Inc. was formed under the laws of Marshall Islands on December 22, 2004. The Companyâs vessels are managed by Stealth Maritime Corporation S.A. (the âManagerâ), a company controlled by members of the family of the Companyâs Chief Executive Officer. The Manager, a related party, was incorporated in Liberia and registered in Greece on May 17, 1999 under the provisions of law 89/1967, 378/1968 and article 25 of law 27/75 as amended by article 4 of law 2234/94. (See Note 3). During 2021, 2022 and 2023, the following charterers accounted for 10% or more of the Companyâs revenues. (âImperialâ) which was formed by the Company in May 2021. Shareholders of the Company received one Imperial common share and one Imperial Series A preferred share for every eight shares and forty-eight shares, respectively, of the Company they owned as of November 23, 2021. Common shares and Series A preferred shares of Imperial commenced trading on December 6, 2021 on the Nasdaq Capital Market under the symbols âIMPPAâ and âIMPPPâ, respectively. Imperial is a provider of international seaborne transportation services to oil producers, refineries and commodities traders, owning and operating the tanker vessels previously owned and operated by StealthGas Inc., and is now a separate publicly traded company. StealthGas Inc. continues to operate in the LPG shipping market and remains a publicly traded company. Significant Accounting Policies Principles of Consolidation: The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (âUS GAAPâ) and include the accounts of StealthGas Inc. and its wholly owned subsidiaries. All inter-company balances and transactions have been eliminated upon consolidation. Use of Estimates: The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with USA GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Other Comprehensive Income/(loss): The Company follows the provisions of guidance regarding reporting comprehensive income which requires separate presentation of certain transactions, such as unrealized gains and losses from effective portion of cash flow hedges, which are recorded directly as components of stockholdersâ equity. Foreign Currency Translation: The functional currency of the Company is the U.S.A Dollar because the Companyâs vessels operate in international shipping markets, which utilize the U.S.A Dollar as the functional currency. The accounting books of the Company are maintained in U.S. Dollars. Transactions involving other currencies during the year are converted into U.S. Dollars using the exchange rates in effect at the time of the transactions. At the balance sheet dates, monetary assets and liabilities, which are denominated in other currencies, are translated to reflect the period end exchange rates. Resulting gains or losses are separately reflected in the accompanying consolidated statements of operations. Cash and Cash Equivalents: The Company considers highly liquid investments such as time deposits and certificates of deposit with original maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. Short-term Investments: A Time deposits held with banks with original maturities longer than three months are classified and presented as Short-term investments. In the event remaining maturities are shorter than 12 months, such deposits are classified as current assets; if original maturities are longer than 12 months, such deposits are classified as non-current assets. Restricted Cash: Restricted cash mainly reflects deposits with certain banks that can only be used to pay the current loan installments or which are required to be maintained as a certain minimum cash balance per mortgaged vessel. In the event that the obligation relating to such deposits is expected to be terminated within the next twelve months, these deposits are classified as current assets; otherwise they are classified as non-current assets. Trade Receivables: The amount shown as trade receivables includes estimated recoveries from charterers for hire, freight and demurrage billings, net of allowance for doubtful accounts. At each balance sheet date, all potentially uncollectible accounts are assessed individually for purposes of determining the appropriate provision for doubtful accounts. No provision for doubtful accounts was required for the years ended December 31, 2021 and 2022. For the year ended December 31, 2023 a provision of $0.3 million was recorded. Claims Receivable: Claims receivable are recorded on the accrual basis and represent the claimable expenses, net of deductibles, incurred through each balance sheet date, for which recovery from insurance companies is probable and claim is not subject to litigation. Inventories: Inventories consist of bunkers (for vessels under voyage charter or on ballast or idle) and lubricants which are stated at the lower of cost and net realizable value. The cost is determined by the first-in, first-out method. The net realizable value represents estimated selling prices less reasonably predictable costs of disposal and transportation. The Company considers victualing and stores as being consumed when purchased and, therefore, such costs are expensed when incurred. Vessels, net: Vessels are stated at cost less depreciation and impairment, if any. Cost consists of the contract price less discounts and any material expenses incurred upon acquisition (initial repairs, improvements, acquisition and expenditures made to prepare the vessel for its initial voyage). Subsequent expenditures for conversions and major improvements are also capitalized when they appreciably extend the life, increase the earning capacity or improve the efficiency or safety of the vessels, or otherwise are charged to expenses as incurred. Where vessels are acquired with existing time charters, the Company allocates the purchase price to the vessels and to the attached time charters on the basis of their relative fair values. The capitalized above-market (assets) and below-market (liabilities) charters are amortized as a reduction and increase, respectively, to revenues over the remaining term of the charter. A F-104 Table of Contents Impairment of Vessels: The Company follows the Accounting Standards Codification (âASCâ) Subtopic 360-10, âProperty, Plant and Equipmentâ (âASC 360-10â), which requires impairment losses to be recorded for long-lived assets used in operations when indicators of impairment are present and the undiscounted cash flows estimated to be generated by those assets are less than their carrying amounts. If indicators of impairment are present, the Company performs an analysis of the anticipated undiscounted future net cash flows of the related long-lived assets, quarterly. If the carrying value of the related asset exceeds the undiscounted cash flows, the carrying value is reduced to its fair value and the difference is recorded as an impairment loss in the consolidated statements of operations. Various factors including anticipated future charter rates, estimated scrap values, future dry-docking costs and estimated vessel operating costs are included in this analysis. These factors are based on historical trends as well as future expectations. Undiscounted cash flows are determined by considering the revenues from existing charters for those vessels that are employed on time charters and when there is no charter in place the estimates based on historical average rates. An impairment loss was identified and recorded for the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023 (Note 6). Vesselsâ Depreciation: The cost of each of the Companyâs vessels is depreciated on a straight-line basis over the vesselâs remaining economic useful life, after considering the estimated residual value. Management estimates the useful life of each of the Companyâs LPG carriers to be 30 years from the date of their construction. Assets Held for Sale: The Company classifies vessels, along with associated assets and liabilities, as being held for sale when the following criteria are met: (i)Â management possessing the necessary authority has committed to a plan to sell the vessels, (ii)Â the vessels are available for immediate sale in their present condition, (iii)Â an active program to find a buyer and other actions required to complete the plan to sell the vessels have been initiated, (iv)Â the sale of the vessels is probable, and transfer of the asset is expected to qualify for recognition as a completed sale within one year and (v)Â the vessels are being actively marketed for sale at a price that is reasonable in relation to their current fair value and actions required to complete the plan indicate that it is unlikely that significant changes to the plan will be made or that the plan will be withdrawn. Vessels classified as held for sale are measured at the lower of their carrying amount or fair value less cost to sell. These vessels are not depreciated once they meet the criteria to be classified as held for sale. Furthermore, in the period a vessel meets the held for sale criteria in accordance with ASC 360-10, a loss is recognized for any reduction of the vesselâs carrying amount to its fair value less cost to sell (Note 6). Segment Reporting: The Company reports financial information and evaluates its operations by total charter revenues and not by the type of vessel, length of vessel employment, customer or type of charter. As a result, management, including the chief operating decision maker, reviews operating results solely by revenue per day and operating results of the fleet, and thus, the Company has determined that it operates under one reportable segment as well as one operating segment. Furthermore, when the Company charters a vessel to a charterer, the charterer is free to trade the vessel worldwide and, as a result, the disclosure of geographical information is impracticable. Accounting for Special Survey and Dry-docking Costs: Special survey and dry-docking costs are expensed in the period incurred. Deferred Finance Charges: Fees incurred for obtaining new loans or refinancing existing ones are deferred and amortized to interest expense over the life of the related debt using the effective interest method. The unamortized deferred financing charges are presented as a direct deduction from the carrying amount of the related loan and credit facility in the consolidated balance sheet. Deferred financing costs relating to undrawn facilities are presented within âDeferred finance chargesâ under non-current assets in the consolidated balance sheet. Accounting for Revenue and Related Expenses: The Company generates its revenues from charterers for the charter hire of its vessels. Vessels are chartered on time charters, bareboat charters or voyage charters. A time charter is a contract for the use of a vessel for a specific period of time and a specified daily charter hire rate. A time charter generally provides typical warranties and owner protective restrictions. The performance obligations in a time charter are satisfied over the term of the contract beginning when the vessel is delivered to the charterer until it is redelivered back to the owner of the vessel. Some of the Companyâs time charters may also contain profit sharing provisions, under which the Company can realize additional revenues in the event that spot rates are higher than the base rates in these time charters. A bareboat charter is a contract in which the vessel owner provides the vessel to the charterer for a fixed period of time at a specified daily rate, which is generally payable in advance, and the charterer generally assumes all risk and costs of operation during the bareboat charter period. The Companyâs time charter and bareboat contracts are classified as operating leases pursuant to Accounting Standards Codification (âASCâ) 842 â Leases, because (i)Â the vessel is an identifiable asset (ii)Â the owner of the vessel does not have substantive substitution rights and (iii)Â the charterer has the right to control the use of the vessel during the term of the contract and derives the economic benefits from such use. Time charter and bareboat revenues are recognized when a charter agreement exists, the vessel is made available to the charterer and collection of the related revenue is reasonably assured. Time charter and bareboat charter revenues are recognized as earned on a straight-line basis over the term of the charter as service is provided. Revenues from profit sharing arrangements in time charters are recognized in the A F-105 Table of Contents period earned. Under time and bareboat charter agreements, all voyages expenses, except commissions are assumed by the charterer, while under bareboat charter agreements, the charterer also assumes responsibility for all vessel operating expenses, dry-docking expenses and risk of operation. The Company, elected to make use of a practical expedient for lessors, not to separate the lease and non-lease components included in the time charter revenue but rather to recognize operating lease revenue as a combined single lease component for all time charter contracts as the related lease component, the hire of a vessel, and the non-lease component, the fees for operating and maintaining the vessel, have the same timing and pattern of transfer (both the lease and non-lease components are earned by passage of time) and the predominant component is the lease. A voyage charter is a contract, in which the vessel owner undertakes to transport a specific amount and type of cargo on a load port-to-discharge port basis, subject to various cargo handling terms. The Company accounts for a voyage charter when all the following criteria are met: (1)Â the parties to the contract have approved the contract in the form of a written charter agreement and are committed to perform their respective obligations, (2)Â the Company can identify each partyâs rights regarding the services to be transferred, (3)Â the Company can identify the payment terms for the services to be transferred, (4)Â the charter agreement has commercial substance (that is, the risk, timing, or amount of the Companyâs future cash flows is expected to change as a result of the contract) and (5)Â it is probable that the Company will collect substantially all of the consideration to which it will be entitled in exchange for the services that will be transferred to the charterer. The Company determined that its voyage charters consist of a single performance under the two-class method by dividing net income by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. Diluted earnings per share reflect the potential dilution that could occur if securities or other contracts to issue common stock were exercised. Dilution is computed by either the treasury stock method or the twoâ€ class method, whichever results in the more dilutive effect. Under the treasury stock method, all of the Companyâ€™s dilutive securities are assumed to be exercised or converted and the proceeds used to repurchase common shares at the weighted average market price of the Companyâ€™s common stock during the relevant periods. The incremental shares (the difference between the number of shares assumed issued and the number of shares assumed purchased) are included in the denominator of the diluted earnings per share computation to the extent these are not anti-dilutive (Note 13).

Derivatives: The Company is party to interest swap agreements where it receives a floating interest rate and pays a fixed interest rate for a certain period in exchange. The Company designates its derivatives based on guidance on ASC 815, â€Derivatives and Hedgingâ€ which establishes accounting and reporting requirements for derivative instruments, including certain derivative instruments embedded in other contracts, and for hedging activities. The guidance on accounting for certain derivative instruments and certain hedging activities requires all derivative instruments to be recorded on the balance sheet as either an asset or liability measured at its fair value, with changes in fair value recognized in earnings unless specific hedge accounting criteria are met. The Company classifies settlement payments/receipts as operating activities within the statement of cash flows. (i) Hedge Accounting: At the inception of a hedge relationship, the Company formally designates and documents the hedge relationship to which the Company wishes to apply hedge accounting and the risk management objective and strategy undertaken for the hedge. The documentation includes identification of the hedging instrument, hedged item or transaction, the nature of the risk being hedged and how the entity will assess the hedging instrumentâ€™s effectiveness in offsetting exposure to changes in the hedged itemâ€™s cash flows attributable to the hedged risk. Such hedges are expected to be highly effective in achieving offsetting changes in cash flows and are assessed on an ongoing basis to determine whether they actually have been highly effective throughout the financial reporting periods for which they were designated. Contracts which meet the strict criteria for hedge accounting are accounted for as cash flow hedges. A cash flow hedge is a hedge of the exposure to variability in cash flows that is attributable to a particular risk associated with a recognized asset or liability, or a highly probable forecasted transaction that could affect profit or loss. The effective portion of the gain or loss on the hedging instrument is recognized directly as a component of â€Accumulated other comprehensive incomeâ€ in equity, while the ineffective portion, if any, is recognized immediately in current period earnings within â€Interest and finance costsâ€. The Company discontinues cash flow hedge accounting if the hedging instrument expires and it no longer meets the criteria for hedge accounting or designation is revoked by the Company. At that time, any cumulative gain or loss on the hedging instrument recognized in equity is kept in equity until the forecasted transaction occurs. When the forecasted transaction occurs, any cumulative gain or loss on the hedging instrument is recognized in the statement of income within â€Interest and finance costsâ€. If a hedged transaction is no longer expected to occur, the net cumulative gain or loss recognized in equity is transferred to net profit or loss for the year within â€Interest and finance costsâ€. (ii) Other Derivatives: Changes in the fair value of derivative instruments that have not been designated as hedging instruments are reported in current period earnings within â€Gain on derivativesâ€. Investments in joint ventures: The Companyâ€™s investments in joint ventures are accounted for using the equity method of accounting. Under the equity method of accounting, investments are stated at initial cost and are adjusted for subsequent additional investments and the Companyâ€™s proportionate share of earnings or losses and distributions. The Company evaluates its investments in joint ventures for impairment when events or circumstances indicate that the carrying value of such investments may have experienced other than temporary decline in value below their carrying value. If the estimated fair value is less than the carrying value and is considered other than a temporary decline, the carrying value is written down to its estimated fair value and the resulting impairment is recorded in the consolidated statements of operations. Leases â€ The Company as a Lessee: Under ASC 842, leases are classified as either finance or operating arrangements, with such classification affecting the pattern and classification of expense recognition in an entityâ€™s income statement. For operating leases, ASC 842 requires recognition in an entityâ€™s income statement of a single lease expense, calculated so that the cost of the lease is allocated over the lease term, generally on a straight-line basis. Right-of-use assets represent a right to use an underlying asset for the lease term and the related lease liability represents an obligation to make lease payments pursuant to the contractual terms of the lease agreement. The Company elected the practical expedient of ASC 842 that allowed for time charter-in contracts with an initial lease term of one year or less to be excluded from the operating lease right-of-use assets and lease liabilities recognized in the consolidated balance sheet. The Company recognizes the operating lease right-of-use assets and the corresponding lease A-F107 Table of Contents liabilities in the consolidated balance sheet for time charter-in contracts and the agreement to lease office space with a lease term of more than one year at the commencement of the lease. Recent Accounting Pronouncements: In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07, which requires the disclosure of significant segment expenses that are part of an entityâ€™s segment measure of profit or loss and regularly provided to the chief operating decision maker. In addition, it adds or makes clarifications to other segment-related disclosures, such as clarifying that the disclosure requirements in ASC 280 are required for entities with a single reportable segment and that an entity may disclose multiple measures of segment profit and loss. ASU 2023-07 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023 and interim periods beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted. The amendments should be adopted retrospectively. The Company does not believe that the adoption of this accounting standard will have a material effect on these financial statements and related disclosures. 3. significant concentrations of credit risk, consist principally of cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, short-term investments, trade receivables, claims receivable, payable to related parties, trade accounts payable and accrued liabilities. The Company limits its credit risk with respect to accounts receivable by performing ongoing credit evaluations of its customers' financial condition and generally does not require collateral for its trade accounts receivable. The Company places its cash and cash equivalents, short-term investments and other investments with high credit quality financial institutions. The Company performs periodic evaluations of the relative credit standing of those financial institutions. The Company is exposed to credit risk in the event of non-performance by its counterparties to derivative instruments; however, the Company limits its exposure by transacting with counterparties with high credit ratings. The carrying values of cash and cash equivalents, short-term investments, restricted cash, trade and other receivables, claims receivable, payable to related parties, trade accounts payable and accrued liabilities are reasonable estimates of their fair value due to the short term nature of these financial instruments. Cash and cash equivalents, short-term investments and restricted cash are considered Level 1 items as they represent liquid assets with short-term maturities. The fair value of long term bank loans is estimated based on current F-117 Table of Contents rates offered to the Company for similar debt of the same remaining maturities. Their carrying value approximates their fair market value due to their variable interest rate, being SOFR. SOFR rates are observable at commonly quoted intervals for the full terms of the loans and hence floating rate loans are considered Level 2 items in accordance with the fair value hierarchy. Additionally, the Company considers the creditworthiness of each counterparty when determining the fair value of the derivative instruments. The company's interest rate swap agreements are recorded at fair value. The fair value of the interest rate swaps is determined using a discounted cash flow method based on market-based SOFR swap yield curves. SOFR swap rates are observable at commonly quoted intervals for the full terms of the swap and therefore are considered Level 2 items. Fair Value Disclosures: The Company has categorized assets and liabilities recorded at fair value based upon the fair value hierarchy specified by the guidance. The levels of fair value hierarchy are as follows: Level 1: Quoted market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities. Level 2: Observable market based inputs or unobservable inputs that are corroborated by market data. Level 3: Unobservable inputs that are not corroborated by market data. 14. Revenues The amounts in the accompanying consolidated statements of operations are analyzed as follows:

Bareboat revenues	$6,244,684	$6,240,791	$6,240,791
Voyage charter revenues	$38,113,496	$38,113,496	$38,113,496
Total	$44,358,180	$44,351,287	$44,354,287

The time charter party generally provides typical warranties regarding the speed and the performance of the vessel as well as some owner protective restrictions such that the vessel is sent only to safe ports by the charterer, subject always to compliance with applicable sanction laws, and carry only lawful and non-hazardous cargo. The Company may enter into time charters ranging from one month to twelve months and in isolated cases on longer terms depending on market conditions. The charterer has the full discretion over the ports visited, shipping routes and vessel speed, subject only to the owner protective restrictions discussed above. Vessels may also be chartered under voyage charters, where a contract is made for the use of a vessel under which the Company is paid freight on the basis of moving cargo from a loading port to a discharge port. A significant portion of the voyage hire is typically paid upon the completion of the voyage. The amount of revenue earned as demurrage relating to the Company's voyage charters for the years ended December 31, 2021, 2022 and 2023 was $4.1 million, $3.4 million and $4.2 million, respectively and is included within Voyage charter revenues in the above table. As of December 31, 2022 and December 31, 2023, receivables from the Company's voyage charters amounted to $1.5 million and $0.8 million, respectively. As of December 31, 2022 and 2023, the Company recognized $270,514 and $130,589, respectively, of contract fulfillment costs which mainly represent bunker expenses incurred prior to commencement of loading relating to the Company's voyage charters. These costs are recorded in Other current assets in the consolidated balance sheets. As of December 31, 2022 and 2023, revenues relating to undelivered performance obligations of the Company's voyage charters amounted to $1,912,239 and $993,982, respectively. The Company recognized these amounts as revenues in the first quarters of 2023 and 2024, respectively. Three of the time charters entered into in 2014, also grant the charterer an option to purchase the respective vessels during the time charter period, at stipulated prices, decreasing on a pro-rated basis by a fixed amount per year until the expiration of the time charters. These options expired in 2022 without being exercised.

15. Vessel Operating Expenses The amounts in the accompanying consolidated statements of operations are analyzed as follows:

16. Income Taxes Under the laws of the countries of the companies' incorporation and/or vessels' registration, the companies are not subject to tax on international shipping income, however, they are subject to registration and tonnage taxes, which have been included in Vessel operating expenses in the consolidated statements of operations. Pursuant to the Internal Revenue Code of the United States (the "Code"), U.S. source income from the international operations of ships is generally exempt from U.S. tax if the Company operating the ships meets certain requirements. Among other things, in order to qualify for this exemption, the Company operating the ships must be incorporated in a country which grants an equivalent exemption from income taxes to U.S. corporations. All the Company's ship-operating subsidiaries satisfy F-123 Table of Contents these initial criteria. In addition, these companies must be more than 50% owned by individuals who are residents, as defined, in the country of incorporation or another foreign country that grants an equivalent exemption to U.S. corporations. These companies also currently satisfy the more than 50% beneficial ownership requirement. In addition, the management of the Company believes that by virtue of a special rule applicable to situations where the ship-operating companies are beneficially owned by a publicly traded company like the Company, the more than 50% beneficial ownership requirement can also be satisfied based on the trading volume and the anticipated widely-held ownership of the Company's shares, but no assurance can be given that this will remain so in the future, since continued compliance with this rule is subject to factors outside the Company's control.

17. Commitments and Contingencies From time to time the Company expects to be subject to legal proceedings and claims in the ordinary course of its business, principally relating to personal injury and property casualty claims. Such claims, even if lacking merit, could result in the expenditure of significant financial and managerial resources. Currently, the Company is not aware of any such claims or contingent liabilities, which should be disclosed, or for which a provision should be established in the accompanying consolidated financial statements.

The Company has guaranteed to the respective banks the performance of the loan agreements entered into by Spacegas Inc., Financial Power Inc. and MGC Aggressive Holdings Inc. (Note 7). The Company assigns a remote possibility of default to the abovementioned loan agreements and hence has not established any provisions for losses relating to this matter. With regards to the guarantee provided for the loan agreement entered into by MGC Aggressive Holdings Inc., the joint venture party owning 49% equity interest in MGC Aggressive Holdings Inc. has provided a counter guarantee to the Company amounting to 49% of the outstanding loan balances of MGC Aggressive Holdings Inc. Total outstanding loan balances and accrued interest of MGC Aggressive Holdings Inc. as of December 31, 2023 amounted to $27,000,000 and $483,671, respectively.
