We have announced certain defined sustainability commitments with a goal of achieving these commitments by 2030 (2030 Sustainability Commitments). Trane Technologies' 2030 Sustainability Commitments include our 'Gigaton Challenge' to reduce customer greenhouse gas emissions by a billion metric tons; 'Leading by Example' through reducing embodied carbon by 40%, and designing products for circularity; and creating 'Opportunity for All' by investing in our people and our communities.Reportable SegmentsWe operate under three reportable segments.â€¢Our Americas segment innovates for customers in North America and Latin America. Due to the diversity of these products and services and the variety of markets served, we encounter a wide variety of competitors that vary by product line and services. They include well-established regional or specialized competitors, as well as larger U.S. and non-U.S. corporations or divisions of larger companies.The principal methods of competition in these markets relate to price, quality, delivery, service and support, technology and innovation. We are one of the leading manufacturers in the world of HVAC systems and services and transport temperature control products and services.5Table of ContentsDistributionOur products are distributed by a number of methods, which we believe are appropriate to the type of product. U.S. sales are made through branch sales offices, distributors and dealers across the country. Non-U.S. sales are made through numerous subsidiary sales and service companies with a supporting chain of distributors throughout the world.Operations by Geographic AreaApproximately 26% of our net revenues in 2024 were derived outside the U.S. and we sold products in approximately 100 countries. Therefore, the attendant risks of manufacturing or selling in a particular country, such as currency devaluation, nationalization and establishment of common markets, may have an adverse impact on our non-U.S. operations.CustomersWe have no customer that accounted for more than 10% of our consolidated net revenues in 2024, 2023 or 2022. No material part of our business is dependent upon a single customer or a small group of customers; therefore, the loss of any one customer would not have a material adverse effect on our results of operations or cash flows.MaterialsWe both manufacture and procure many of the components included in our products. For components we manufacture, we are required to source a wide variety of commodities such as steel, copper, and aluminum. These principal commodities are purchased from a large number of independent sources around the world, primarily within the region where the products are manufactured. We believe that available sources of supply will generally be sufficient for the foreseeable future.For many components we procure, we have an effective supply chain resiliency plan and multiple capable sources to ensure sufficient supply, however there are certain categories of components that could occasionally see limited availability or shortages.SeasonalityDemand for certain products and services is influenced by weather conditions. For instance, sales in our commercial and residential HVAC businesses historically tend to be higher in the second and third quarters of the year because this represents spring and summer in the U.S. and other northern hemisphere markets, which are the peak seasons for sales of air conditioning systems and services. Therefore, results of any quarterly period may not be indicative of expected results for a full year and unusual weather patterns or events could positively or negatively affect certain segments of our business and impact overall results of operations.Research and DevelopmentWe engage in research and development activities in an effort to introduce new products, enhance existing product effectiveness, improve ease of use and reliability as well as expand the various applications for which our products may be appropriate. In 2024, we spent $309.6Â million on research and development, focused on product and system sustainability improvements such as increasing energy efficiency, developing products that allow for use of lower global warming potential refrigerants, reducing material content in products, and designing products for circularity. New product development (NPD) programs complete a Design for Sustainability module within our NPD process to ensure that programs consider environmental impact.We also have a strong focus on sustaining activities, which include costs incurred to reduce production costs, improve existing products, create custom solutions for customers and provide support to our manufacturing facilities. We anticipate that we will continue to make significant expenditures for research and development and sustaining activities to maintain and improve our competitive position.Patents and LicensesOur intellectual property rights are important to our business and include numerous patents, trademarks, copyrights, trade secrets, proprietary technology, technical data, business processes, and other confidential information. Although in aggregate the Company's intellectual property is important to its operations, the Company does not consider any single patent, trademark, copyright, trade secret, proprietary technology, technical data, business process or any other confidential information (or any related group of any such items) to be of material importance to any segment or to the business as a whole. From time to time the Company engages in litigation to protect its intellectual property rights. For a discussion of risks related to the Company's intellectual property, refer to "Item 1A. Risk Factors."6Table of ContentsBacklogOur backlog of orders, believed to be firm, at DecemberÂ 31, was as follows:In millions20242023Americas$5,323.1Â $5,302.9Â EMEA585.3Â 614.9Â Asia Pacific839.3Â 1,012.7Â Total$6,747.7Â $6,930.5Â These backlog figures are based on orders received and only include amounts associated with our equipment and contracting and installation performance obligations. A major portion of our residential products are built in advance of order and either shipped or assembled from stock. We expect to ship a majority of the DecemberÂ 31, 2024 backlog during 2025. However, orders for specialized equipment or specific customer applications are submitted with extended lead times and are subject to revision and deferral, and to a lesser extent cancellation or termination. To the extent projects are delayed or there are resource constraints, the timing of our revenue could be affected.Environmental MattersWe continue to be dedicated to environmental and sustainability programs to minimize the use of natural resources, reduce the utilization and generation of hazardous materials from our manufacturing processes and to remediate identified environmental concerns. As to the latter, we are currently engaged in site investigations and remediation activities to address environmental cleanup from past operations at current and former manufacturing facilities.It is our policy to establish environmental reserves for investigation and remediation activities when it is probable that a liability has been incurred and a reasonable estimate of the liability can be made. Estimated liabilities are determined based upon existing remediation laws and technologies. Inherent uncertainties exist in such evaluations due to unknown environmental conditions, changes in government laws and regulations, and changes in cleanup technologies. The environmental reserves are updated on a routine basis as remediation efforts progress and new information becomes available.We are sometimes a party to environmental lawsuits and claims and have received notices of potential violations of environmental laws and regulations from the Environmental Protection Agency and similar state and international authorities. We have also been identified as a potentially responsible party (PRP) for cleanup costs associated with off-site waste disposal at federal Superfund and state remediation sites. In most instances at multi-party sites, our share of the liability is not material.In estimating our liability at multi-party sites, we have assumed that we will not bear the entire cost of remediation of any site to the exclusion of other PRPs who may be jointly and severally liable. The ability of other PRPs to participate has been taken into account, based on our understanding of the parties' financial condition and probable contributions on a site-by-site basis.For a further discussion of our potential environmental liabilities, see Note 20 "Commitments and Contingencies" to the Consolidated Financial Statements.Asbestos-Related MattersWe are involved in a number of asbestos-related lawsuits, claims and legal proceedings. In June 2020, our indirect wholly-owned subsidiaries Aldrich Pump LLC (Aldrich) and Murray Boiler LLC (Murray) each filed a voluntary petition for reorganization under Chapter 11 of Title 11 of the United States Code (the Bankruptcy Code) in the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Western District of North Carolina in Charlotte (the Bankruptcy Court). As a result of the Chapter 11 filings, all asbestos-related lawsuits against Aldrich and Murray have been stayed due to the imposition of a statutory automatic stay applicable in Chapter 11 bankruptcy cases. Only Aldrich and Murray have filed for Chapter 11 relief. Neither Aldrich's wholly-owned subsidiary, 200 Park, Inc. (200 Park), Murray's wholly-owned subsidiary, ClimateLabs LLC (ClimateLabs), Trane Technologies plc nor its other subsidiaries (the Trane Companies) are part of the Chapter 11 filings. In addition, at the request of Aldrich and Murray, the Bankruptcy Court has entered an order temporarily staying all asbestos-related claims against the Trane Companies that relate to claims against Aldrich or Murray (except for asbestos-related claims for which the exclusive remedy is provided under workers' compensation statutes or similar laws).The goal of these Chapter 11 filings is to resolve equitably and permanently all current and future asbestos-related claims in a manner beneficial to claimants, Aldrich and Murray through court approval of a plan of reorganization that would create a trust pursuant to section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, establish claims resolution procedures for all current and future asbestos-related claims against Aldrich and Murray and channel such claims to the trust for resolution in accordance with those procedures.7Table of ContentsFor detailed information on the bankruptcy cases of Aldrich and Murray, see:â€¢Part I, Item 1A, "Risk Factors - Risks Related to Litigation,"â€¢Part I, Item 3, "Legal Proceedings,"â€¢Part II, Item 7, "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations - Significant Matters," andâ€¢Part II, Item 8, Consolidated Financial Statements and Note 20, "Commitments and Contingencies."Human Capital ManagementOur people and culture are critical to achieving our operational, financial and strategic success.As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we employed approximately 45,000 people in 61 countries including over 16,000 employees outside of the United States. Our Trane Technologies EEO-1 Report published on our website outlines additional details on our U.S. workforce composition.Our continued focus on building an uplifting culture, where our employees can be at their best, has positively contributed to retaining employees at strong levels. All officers are elected to hold office for one year or until their successors are elected and qualified.11Table of ContentsItemÂ 1A.Â Â Â Â RISK FACTORSOur business, financial condition, results of operations, and cash flows are subject to a number of risks that could cause the actual results and conditions to differ materially from those projected in forward-looking statements contained in this Annual Report on Form 10-K. The risks set forth below are those we consider most significant. We face other risks, however, that we do not currently perceive to be material which could cause actual results and conditions to differ materially from our expectations. You should evaluate all risks before you invest in our securities. If any of the risks actually occur, our business, financial condition, results of operations or cash flows could be adversely impacted. In that case, the trading price of our ordinary shares could decline, and you may lose all or part of your investment.Risks Related to Economic ConditionsOur global operations subject us to economic risks.Our global operations are dependent upon products manufactured, purchased and sold in the U.S. and internationally. These activities are subject to risks that are inherent in operating globally, including:â€¢changes in local laws and regulations including potential imposition of currency restrictions; new or changing tax laws, including the implementation of a global minimum tax; variations in monetary policies; and other restraints;â€¢trade protection measures such as import or export restrictions and requirements, the imposition of tariffs and quotas or revocation or material modification of trade agreements;â€¢limitation of ownership rights, including expropriation of assets by a local government, and limitation on the ability to repatriate earnings;â€¢sovereign debt crises and currency instability in developed and developing countries;â€¢difficulty in staffing and managing global operations including supply chain disruptions which may be exacerbated by pandemics or other public health crises, natural disasters, or other events affecting the supply of labor, materials and components;â€¢difficulty of enforcing agreements, collecting receivables and protecting assets through non-U.S. legal systems;â€¢national and international conflict, including war, civil disturbances and terrorist acts; andâ€¢recessions, economic downturns, price instability, inflation, slowing economic growth and social and political instability.These risks could increase our cost of doing business internationally, increase our counterparty risk, disrupt our operations, disrupt the ability of suppliers and customers to fulfill their obligations, limit our ability to sell products in certain markets and have a material adverse impact on our results of operations, financial condition, and cash flows.Commodity and raw material shortages, supply chain risks and price increases could adversely affect our financial results.We rely on suppliers to secure commodities, particularly steel and non-ferrous metals, and third-party parts and components, including electronic components, required for the manufacture of our products. A disruption in deliveries from our suppliers or decreased availability of commodities and third-party parts and components could adversely affect our ability to meet our commitments to customers, impact pricing, increase our operating costs, or impact timing and delivery of products and services. Disruptions have previously occurred and may occur in the future due to global pandemics, natural disasters, regulatory changes, geopolitical events, electronic component shortages, supplier capacity constraints, labor shortages, port congestion, logistical problems, political unrest, and other issues. Some of these disruptions have resulted in supply chain constraints affecting our business including our ability to timely produce and ship our products. The unavailability of some commodities and third-party parts and components could have a material adverse impact on our results of operations and cash flows.Volatility in the prices of commodities and third-party parts and components or the impact of inflationary increases could increase the costs of our products and services. We may not be able to pass on these costs to our customers and this could have a material adverse impact on our results of operations and cash flows. Conversely, in the event there is deflation, we may experience pressure from our customers to reduce prices. There can be no assurance that we would be able to reduce our costs (through negotiations with suppliers or other measures) to offset any such price concessions which could adversely impact results of operations and cash flows. While we use financial derivatives, supplier price locks or indices-based pricing mechanisms to partially hedge against this volatility, by using these instruments we may potentially forego the benefits that might result from favorable fluctuations in prices and could experience lower margins in periods of declining commodity prices. In addition, while hedging activity may minimize near-term volatility of the commodity prices, it would not protect us from long-term commodity price increases.12Table of ContentsSome of our purchases are from sole or limited source suppliers for reasons of cost effectiveness, regulatory requirements, uniqueness of design, or product quality. If these suppliers encounter financial or operating difficulties, we might not be able to quickly establish or qualify replacement sources of supply.We face significant competition in the markets that we serve.The markets that we serve are highly competitive. We compete worldwide with a number of other manufacturers and distributors that produce and sell similar products. There has been consolidation and new entrants (including non-traditional competitors) within our industries and there may be future consolidation and new entrants which could result in increased competition and significantly alter the dynamics of the competitive landscape in which we operate. Due to our global footprint we are competing worldwide with large companies and with smaller, local operators who may have customer, regulatory or economic advantages in the geographies in which they are located. In addition, some of our competitors may employ pricing and other strategies that are not traditional. While we understand our markets and competitive landscape, there is always the risk of disruptive technologies coming from companies that are not traditionally manufacturers or service providers of our products. As we integrate acquisitions into our portfolio of solutions, we may face new competitors in our target markets and incur increased competition from alternative solutions. We must continually innovate new or enhanced products and services to maintain and expand our brand recognition and market leadership position to effectively compete in the markets that we serve. A failure or inability to effectively address market trends, adapt to changes in customer preferences, and compete in our market may adversely affect demand for our products and services, which may cause a material adverse effect on our financial condition.Our growth is dependent, in part, on the timely development, commercialization and acceptance of new and enhanced products and services.We must efficiently and effectively innovate, develop and commercialize new and enhanced products and services in a rapidly changing technological and business environment in order to remain competitive in our current and future markets and in order to continue to grow our business. The timely development and commercialization of new products and services and the enhancement of existing products and services is required to meet our customer demands, market trends, and regulatory requirements. The ongoing refreshment of our product and service offerings portfolio requires strategic choices of a significant investment of resources, anticipation of the opportunity and risks of new technologies, and the ability to compete with others who may have superior resources in specific technology domains. We cannot provide any assurance that any new or enhanced product or service will be successfully commercialized in a timely manner, if ever, or, if commercialized, will result in returns greater than our investment. Investment in a product or service could divert our attention and resources from other projects that become more commercially viable in the market. We also cannot provide any assurance that any new or enhanced product or service will be accepted by our current and future markets. Failure to timely and accurately predict customer needs and preferences, anticipate regulatory conditions affecting current and future products, mitigate supply chain disruptions on new products, or our failure to develop new and enhanced products and services that are accepted by these markets could have a material adverse impact on our competitive position, operations, financial condition, and cash flows.Capital and credit market conditions could adversely affect our business operations, investments, and financial performance.Instability in U.S. and global capital and credit markets, including market disruptions, limited liquidity and interest rate volatility, or reductions in the credit ratings assigned to us by independent rating agencies could reduce our access to capital markets or increase the cost of funding our short- and long-term credit requirements. In particular, if we are unable to access capital and credit markets, or access them on terms that are acceptable to us, we may not be able to make certain investments or fully execute our business plans and strategies. If we were to raise funding through the issuance of equity securities, our shareholders would experience dilution of their existing ownership interest. If we were to raise significant additional funds by issuing debt, we could be subject to limitations on our operations due to restrictive covenants or rating agencies could downgrade our credit ratings or put them on negative watch.Our suppliers and customers are also dependent upon the capital and credit markets. Limitations on the ability of customers, suppliers or financial counterparties to access credit at interest rates and on terms that are acceptable to them could lead to insolvencies of key suppliers and customers, limit or prevent customers from obtaining credit to finance purchases of our products and services and cause delays in the delivery of key products from suppliers.The performance of the financial markets and interest rates can also impact the value of our defined benefit pension plans and other post-retirement benefit programs. Significant decreases in discount rate or investment losses on plan assets may increase our funding obligations, which may adversely affect our financial results. See Note 11 â€" "Pensions and Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pensions."13Table of ContentsCurrency exchange rate fluctuations and other related risks may adversely affect our results.We are exposed to a variety of market risks, including the effects of changes in currency exchange rates. See Part II Item 7A, "Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosure About Market Risk."We have operations throughout the world that manufacture and sell products in various international markets. As a result, we are exposed to movements in exchange rates of various currencies against the U.S. dollar as well as against other currencies throughout the world.Many of our non-U.S. operations have a functional currency other than the U.S. dollar, and their results are translated into U.S. dollars for reporting purposes. Therefore, our reported results will be higher or lower depending on the weakening or strengthening of the U.S. dollar against the respective foreign currency. Decreased strength of the U.S. dollar could also adversely affect the cost of raw materials, products, or services that we purchase from non-U.S. suppliers.We use derivative instruments to partially hedge those material exposures that cannot be naturally offset. The instruments utilized are viewed as risk management tools and are not used for trading or speculative purposes. To minimize the risk of counterparty non-performance, derivative instrument agreements are made only through major financial institutions with significant experience in such derivative instruments.We also face risks arising from the imposition of exchange controls and currency devaluations. Exchange controls may limit our ability to convert foreign currencies into U.S. dollars or to remit dividends and other payments by our foreign subsidiaries or businesses located in or conducted within a country imposing controls. Currency devaluations result in a diminished value of funds denominated in the currency of the country instituting the devaluation.Changes in U.S. or foreign trade policies and other factors beyond our control may adversely impact our business and operating resultsChanges in governmental policies on foreign trade, geopolitical tensions and trade disputes can disrupt supply chains and increase the cost of our products. This could cause our products to be more expensive for customers, which could reduce the demand for or attractiveness of such products. In addition, a geopolitical conflict in a region where we operate could disrupt our ability to conduct business operations in that region. In addition to tariffs, trade embargoes, and sanctions, countries also could adopt other measures, such as controls on imports or exports of goods, technology, or data, which could adversely affect our operations and supply chain and limit our ability to offer our products and services as intended. These kinds of restrictions could be adopted with little to no advanced notice, and we may not be able to effectively mitigate the adverse impacts from such measures. Political uncertainty surrounding trade or other international disputes also could have a negative impact on customer confidence and willingness to spend money, which could impair our future growth.World geopolitical conflicts have created humanitarian crises, materially impacted economic activities, and may materially impact our global and regional operations.The global economy has been negatively impacted by geopolitical conflicts, including the military conflict between Russia and Ukraine and conflict in the Middle East. Governments including the U.S., United Kingdom, and those of the European Union have imposed export controls on certain products and financial and economic sanctions on certain industry sectors and parties in Russia which has triggered retaliatory sanctions by the Russian government and its allies. The outcome and future impacts of these world conflicts remain highly uncertain, continue to evolve and may grow more severe the longer the military action and sanctions remain in effect. Risks associated with world geopolitical conflicts that have arisen or could arise in the future, include, but are not limited to, adverse effects on political developments and on general economic conditions, including inflation and consumer spending; disruptions to our supply chains; disruptions to our information systems, including through network failures, malicious or disruptive software, or cyberattacks; trade disruptions; energy shortages or rationing that may adversely impact our manufacturing facilities and consumer spending, particularly in Europe; rising fuel and/or rising costs of producing, procuring and shipping our products; our exposure to foreign currency exchange rate fluctuations; and constraints, volatility or disruption in the financial markets.We have no way to predict the progress or outcome of world geopolitical conflicts, including the situations in Ukraine and the Middle East. Although neither the Russia-Ukraine conflict nor the Middle East conflict have, to date, caused any material adverse effect on our business or financial performance, until there are peaceful resolutions, these conflicts could have a material adverse effect on our operations, results of operations, financial condition, liquidity, growth prospects and business outlook.The full extent to which a pandemic, epidemic, or spread of infectious diseases or other public health crises will affect us will depend on future developments that are highly uncertain and cannot be accurately predicted.The extent to which a pandemic, epidemic, or other widespread outbreaks of infectious disease or other public health crises, including a resurgence of any previously identified outbreaks of infectious diseases, may impact our business going forward 14Table of Contentswill depend on factors such as the duration and scope of infections; governmental, business, and individuals' actions in response to the health crisis; travel and other restrictions; and the impact on economic activity including the possibility of financial market instability or recession. How a pandemic, epidemic, or other public health crises will affect us will depend on future developments that are highly uncertain and cannot be accurately predicted. Such events may also exacerbate other risks discussed herein, any of which could have a material adverse effect on us.Prior experience with the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic demonstrated widespread, rapidly evolving and unpredictable impacts on global society, economics, financial markets and business practices. Government efforts to contain the pandemic included travel bans and restrictions, quarantines, shelter in place orders and shutdowns. Although our operations have stabilized since the peak of the COVID-19 pandemic, our business and global operations were impacted by supply chain delays, higher material costs and product

which may impact the demand for our products, obsolescence of our products and our results of operations.We are on track with our climate commitment to offer a full line of next generation products by 2030 without compromising safety or energy efficiency. Additionally, in 2019, we announced our 2030 commitment which targets reducing one gigaton â€" one billion metric tons â€" of carbon emissions (CO2e) from our customers' footprint by 2030. While we are committed to pursuing these sustainability objectives, our ability to achieve our sustainability objectives is subject to numerous risks and uncertainties, including increased operation costs and future changes in regulation, and there can be no assurance that we will successfully achieve our commitments. Failure to meet these commitments could result in reputational and other harm to our company. Changes regarding climate risk management and practices may result in higher regulatory, compliance risks and costs.Risks Related to Our Business OperationsOur business strategy includes acquiring businesses, product lines, technologies and capabilities, plants and other assets, entering into joint ventures and making investments that complement our existing businesses. We also occasionally divest businesses that we own. We may not identify acquisition or joint venture candidates or investment opportunities at the same rate as the past. Acquisitions, dispositions, joint ventures and investments that we identify could be unsuccessful or consume significant resources, which could adversely affect our operating results.Consistent with our growth strategy, we continue to analyze and evaluate the acquisition and divestiture of strategic businesses and product lines, technologies and capabilities, plants and other assets, joint ventures and investments with the potential to, among other things, strengthen our industry position, enhance our existing set of product and services offerings, increase productivity and efficiencies, grow revenues, earnings and cash flow, help us stay competitive or reduce costs. There can be no assurance that we will identify or successfully complete transactions with suitable candidates in the future, that we will consummate these transactions at rates similar to the past or that completed transactions will be successful. Strategic transactions may involve significant cash expenditures, debt incurrence, operating losses and expenses that could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. Such transactions involve numerous other risks, including:â€¢diversion of management time and attention from daily operations;â€¢difficulties integrating acquired businesses, technologies and personnel into our business, including doing so without high costs;â€¢difficulties in obtaining and verifying the financial statements and other business and other due diligence information of acquired businesses;â€¢inability to obtain required regulatory approvals and/or required financing on favorable terms;â€¢potential loss of key employees, key contractual relationships or key customers of either acquired businesses or our business;19Table of Contentsâ€¢assumption of the liabilities and exposure to unforeseen or undisclosed liabilities of acquired businesses, and exposure to regulatory sanctions;â€¢inheriting internal control deficiencies;â€¢dilution of interests of holders of our common shares through the issuance of equity securities or equity-linked securities; andâ€¢in the case of joint ventures and other investments, interests that diverge from those of our partners without the ability to direct the management and operations of the joint venture or investment in the manner we believe most appropriate to achieve the expected value.Any acquisitions, divestitures, joint ventures or investments may ultimately harm our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. There are additional risks related to our Reverse Morris Trust transaction, see Part I, Item 1A, "Risk Factors - Risks Related to the Transactions" for more information.Natural disasters or other unexpected catastrophic events may disrupt our operations, adversely affect our results of operations and financial condition, and may not be fully covered by insurance.The occurrence of one or more catastrophic events including hurricanes, fires, earthquakes, floods and other forms of severe weather, health epidemics or pandemics or other contagious outbreaks or other catastrophic events, including wars, conflicts, or terrorism in the U.S. or in other countries in which we operate or are located could adversely affect our operations and financial performance. Natural disasters, power outages, health epidemics or pandemics or other contagious outbreaks or other unexpected events, including wars, conflicts, or acts of terrorism, could result in physical damage to and complete or partial closure of one or more of our plants, temporary or long-term disruption of our operations by causing business interruptions, material scarcity, price volatility or supply chain disruptions. Climate change is a risk multiplier with respect to these physical disasters in both frequency and severity and may affect our global business operations as a result. Existing insurance arrangements may not provide full protection for the costs that may arise from such events, particularly if such events are catastrophic in nature or occur in combination. The occurrence of any of these events could increase our insurance and other operating costs or harm our sales in affected areas.Our business success depends on attracting, developing, and retaining highly qualified talent.The skills, experience, and industry knowledge of our employees significantly benefit our operations and performance. The market for employees and leaders with certain skills and experiences is very competitive, and difficulty attracting, developing, and retaining members of our management team and key employees could have a negative effect on our business, operating results, and financial condition. Maintaining a positive and inclusive culture and work environment, offering attractive compensation, benefits, and development opportunities, and effectively implementing processes and technology that enable our employees to work effectively and efficiently are important to our ability to attract and retain employees.Our business may be adversely affected by temporary work stoppages, union negotiations, labor disputes and other matters associated with our labor force.Certain of our employees are covered by collective bargaining agreements or works councils. We experience from time-to-time temporary work stoppages, union negotiations, labor disputes and other matters associated with our labor force and some of these events could result in significant increases in our cost of labor, impact our productivity or damage our reputation. Additionally, a work stoppage at one of our suppliers could materially and adversely affect our operations if an alternative source of supply were not readily available. Stoppages by employees of our customers could also result in reduced demand for our products.Risks Relating to Tax MattersChanges in tax or other laws, regulations or treaties, changes in our status under U.S. or non-U.S. laws or adverse determinations by taxing or other governmental authorities could increase our tax burden or otherwise affect our financial condition or operating results, as well as subject our shareholders to additional taxes.The taxes associated with our operations and corporate structure could be impacted by changes in tax or other laws, treaties or regulations or the interpretation or enforcement thereof by the U.S. or non-U.S. tax or other governmental authorities. Even after legislation is enacted, further guidance, regulations and technical corrections pertaining to the legislation continue to be issued by the tax authorities, some of which may have retroactive application. We continue to monitor and review new guidance and regulations as they are issued, as any changes could have a material adverse effect on our financial statements. In addition, governmental authorities are actively engaged in formulating new legislative proposals. Any future legislative changes to the tax laws and judicial or regulatory interpretation thereof, the geographic mix of earnings, changes in overall profitability, and other factors could also materially impact our effective tax rate.20Table of ContentsWe continue to monitor for other tax changes, U.S. (including state and local) and non-U.S. related, which can also adversely impact our overall tax burden. From time to time, proposals have been made and/or legislation has been introduced to change the tax laws, regulations or interpretations thereof of various jurisdictions or limit tax treaty benefits that if enacted or implemented could materially increase our tax burden and/or effective tax rate and could have a material adverse impact on our financial condition and results of operations. Moreover, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) framework consisting of an agreed set of international rules for fighting base erosion and profit shifting, including Pillar One and Pillar Two, will adversely impact us as these rules are enacted into law in countries in which we do business. On December 12, 2022, the European Union (EU) Member States agreed in principle on the introduction of a global minimum tax rate (proposed 15% minimum tax rate). On December 18, 2023, Ireland (our parent company jurisdiction) enacted laws related to this minimum tax, effective January 1, 2024. Our effective tax rate has been adversely impacted by these changes; we continue to monitor the effects of proposed and enacted legislative changes, in Ireland and elsewhere. In addition to the above, the European Commission has been very active in investigating whether various tax regimes or private tax rulings provided by a country to particular taxpayers may constitute State Aid. We cannot predict the outcome of any of these potential changes or investigations in any of the jurisdictions, but if any of the above occurs and impacts us, this could materially increase our tax burden and/or effective tax rate and could have a material adverse impact on our financial condition and results of operations.While we monitor proposals and other developments that would materially impact our tax burden and/or effective tax rate and investigate our options, we could still be subject to increased taxation on a prospective basis no matter what action we undertake if certain legislative proposals or regulatory changes are enacted, certain tax treaties are amended and/or our interpretation of applicable tax or other laws is challenged and determined to be incorrect. In particular, any changes and/or differing interpretations of applicable tax law that have the effect of disregarding the shareholders' decision to reorganize in Ireland, limiting our ability to take advantage of tax treaties between jurisdictions, modifying or eliminating the deductibility of various currently deductible payments, or increasing the tax burden of operating or being resident in a particular country could subject us to increased taxation.In addition, tax authorities periodically review tax returns filed by us and can raise issues regarding our filing positions, timing and amount of income or deductions, and the allocation of income among the jurisdictions in which we operate. These examinations on their own, or any subsequent litigation related to the examinations, may result in additional taxes or penalties against us. If the ultimate result of these audits differs from our original or adjusted estimates, they could have a material impact on our tax provision.Risks Related to our Reverse Morris Trust TransactionOn February 29, 2020 (Distribution Date), we completed our Reverse Morris Trust transaction (the Transaction) with Gardner Denver Holdings, Inc. (Gardner Denver, which changed its name to Ingersoll Rand Inc. (Ingersoll Rand) after the Transaction) whereby we distributed Ingersoll-Rand U.S. HoldCo, Inc., which contained our former Industrial segment (Ingersoll Rand Industrial) through a pro rata distribution (the Distribution) to shareholders of record as of February 24, 2020 (Spin-off Shareholders). Ingersoll Rand Industrial then merged with a wholly-owned subsidiary of Ingersoll Rand. Upon close of the Transaction, the Spin-off Shareholders received approximately 50.1% of the shares of Ingersoll Rand common stock on a fully-diluted basis and Gardner Denver shareholders retained approximately 49.9% of the shares of Ingersoll Rand on a fully diluted basis. As a result, Spin-off Shareholders received 0.8824 shares of Ingersoll Rand common stock with respect to each share of our stock owned as of February 24, 2020. In connection with the Transaction, we received a special cash payment of $1.9Â billion.If the Distribution as part of our Reverse Morris Trust Transaction is determined to be taxable for Irish tax purposes, significant Irish tax liabilities may arise for the Spin-off Shareholders.We received an opinion from Irish Revenue regarding certain tax matters associated with the Distribution, as well as a legal opinion from our Irish counsel Arthur Cox LLP, regarding certain Irish tax consequences of the Distribution for the Spin-off Shareholders. For the Spin-off Shareholders who are not resident or ordinarily resident in Ireland for Irish tax purposes and who do not hold their shares in connection with a trade or business carried on by such Spin-off Shareholders through an Irish branch or agency, we consider, based on both opinions taken together, that no adverse Irish tax consequences for such Spin-off Shareholders should have arisen. These opinions relied on certain facts and assumptions and certain representations. Notwithstanding the opinion from Irish Revenue, Irish Revenue could ultimately determine on audit that the Distribution is taxable for Irish tax purposes, for example, if it determines that any of these facts, assumptions or representations are not correct or have been violated. A legal opinion represents the tax adviser's best legal judgment and is not binding on Irish Revenue or the courts and Irish Revenue or the courts may not agree with the legal opinion. In addition, the legal opinion is based on current law and cannot be relied upon if current law changes with retroactive effect. If the Distribution ultimately is determined to be taxable for Irish tax purposes, we and the Spin-off Shareholders could have significant Irish tax liabilities as a result of the 21Table of ContentsDistribution, and there could be a material adverse impact on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows in future reporting periods.If the Distribution together with certain related transactions do not qualify as tax-free under Sections 355 and 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code, including as a result of subsequent acquisitions of stock of the Company or Ingersoll Rand, then the Company and the Spin-off Shareholders may be required to pay substantial U.S. federal income taxes, and Ingersoll Rand may be obligated to indemnify the Company for such taxes imposed on the Company.At the time of the Distribution, we received an opinion from our U.S. tax counsel Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison LLP (Paul Weiss) substantially to the effect that, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, the Distribution together with certain related transactions undertaken in anticipation of the Distribution and taking into account the merger of Ingersoll Rand Industrial with the wholly-owned subsidiary of Ingersoll Rand will qualify as a tax-free transaction under Sections 368(a), 361 and 355 of the Internal Revenue Code (the Code), with the result that we and the Spin-off Shareholders will not recognize any gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a result of the spin-off. The opinion of our counsel was based on, among other things, certain representations and assumptions as to factual matters made by Ingersoll Rand, Ingersoll Rand Industrial and the Company. The failure of any factual representation or assumption to be true, correct and complete in all material respects could adversely affect the validity of the opinion of counsel. An opinion of counsel represents counsel's best legal judgment, is not binding on the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) or the courts, and the IRS or the courts may not agree with the opinion. In addition, an opinion will be based on current law, and cannot be relied upon if current law changes with retroactive effect. If the Distribution, and/or related internal transactions in anticipation of the Distribution ultimately are determined to be taxable, we could incur significant U.S. federal income tax liabilities, which could cause a material adverse impact on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows in future reporting periods, although if this determination resulted from certain actions taken by Ingersoll Rand Industrial or Ingersoll Rand, Ingersoll Rand would be required to bear the cost of any resultant tax liability pursuant to the terms of the Tax Matters Agreement dated February 29, 2020, among Ingersoll-Rand Plc, Ingersoll-Rand Lux International Holding Company S.Â r.l, Ingersoll-Rand Services Company, Ingersoll-Rand U.S. HoldCo, Inc., and Gardner Denver Holdings, Inc. (Tax Matters Agreement).The Distribution will be taxable to the Company pursuant to Section 355(e) of the Code if there is a 50% or greater change in ownership of either the Company or Ingersoll Rand Industrial, directly or indirectly (including through such a change in ownership of Ingersoll Rand), as part of a plan or series of related transactions that include the Distribution. A Section 355(e) change of ownership would not make the Distribution taxable to the Spin-off Shareholders, but instead may result in corporate-level taxable gain to certain of our subsidiaries. Because the Spin-off Shareholders will collectively be treated as owning more than 50% of the Ingersoll Rand common stock following the merger, the merger alone should not cause the Distribution to be taxable to our subsidiaries under Section 355(e). However, Section 355(e) might apply if other acquisitions of stock of the Company before or after the merger, or of Ingersoll Rand before or after the merger, are considered to be part of a plan or series of related transactions that include the Distribution together with certain related transactions. If Section 355(e) applied, certain of our subsidiaries might recognize a very substantial amount of taxable gain, although if this applied as a result of certain actions taken by Ingersoll Rand Industrial, Ingersoll Rand or certain specified Ingersoll Rand stockholders, Ingersoll Rand would be required to bear the cost of any resultant tax liability under Section 355(e) pursuant to the terms of the Tax Matters Agreement.If the merger does not qualify as a tax-free reorganization under Section 368(a) of the Code, the Spin-off Shareholders may be required to pay substantial U.S. federal income taxes.On the Distribution Date, we have received an opinion from Paul Weiss, and Ingersoll Rand received an opinion from their counsel Simpson Thacher & Bartlett LLP, substantially to the effect that the merger will qualify as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code with the result that U.S. holders of Ingersoll Rand Industrial common stock who received Ingersoll Rand common stock in the merger will not recognize any gain or loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes (except with respect to cash received in lieu of fractional shares of Ingersoll Rand common stock). These opinions were based upon, among other things, certain representations and assumptions as to factual matters made by Ingersoll Rand, the Company, Ingersoll Rand Industrial and the merger subsidiary used by Ingersoll Rand. The failure of any factual representation or assumption to be true, correct and complete in all material respects could adversely affect the validity of the opinions. An opinion of counsel represents counsel's best legal judgment, is not binding on the IRS or the courts, and the IRS or the courts may not agree with the opinion. In addition, the opinions are based on current law, and cannot be relied upon if current law changes with retroactive effect. If the merger were taxable, U.S. holders of the common stock of Ingersoll Rand Industrial would be considered to have made a taxable sale of their Ingersoll Rand Industrial common stock to Ingersoll Rand, and such U.S. holders of Ingersoll Rand Industrial would generally recognize taxable gain or loss on their receipt of Ingersoll Rand common stock in the merger.22Table of ContentsRisks Related to Our Irish DomicileIrish law differs from the laws in effect in the United States and may afford less protection to holders of our securities.The United States currently does not have a treaty with Ireland providing for the reciprocal recognition and enforcement of judgments in civil and commercial matters. As such, there is some uncertainty as to whether the courts of Ireland would recognize or enforce judgments of U.S. courts obtained against us or our directors or officers based on U.S. federal or state civil liability laws, including the civil liability provisions of the U.S. federal or state securities laws, or hear actions against us or those persons based on those laws.As an Irish company, we are governed by the Irish Companies Act, which differs in some material respects from laws generally applicable to U.S. corporations and shareholders, including, among others, differences relating to interested director and officer transactions, indemnification of directors and shareholder lawsuits. Likewise, the duties of directors and officers of an Irish company generally are owed to the company only. Shareholders of Irish companies generally do not have a personal right of action against directors or officers of the company and may exercise such rights of action on behalf of the company only in limited circumstances. Accordingly, holders of our securities may have more difficulty protecting their interests than would holders of securities of a corporation incorporated in a jurisdiction of the United States. In addition, Irish law does not allow for any form of legal proceedings directly equivalent to the shareholder class action available in the United States.Irish law allows shareholders to authorize share capital which then can be issued by a board of directors without shareholder approval. Also, subject to specified exceptions, Irish law grants statutory pre-emptive rights to existing shareholders to subscribe for new issuances of shares for cash but allows shareholders to authorize the waiver of the statutory pre-emptive rights with respect to any particular allotment of shares. Under Irish law, we must have authority from our shareholders to issue any shares, including shares that are part of the Company's authorized but unissued share capital. In addition, unless otherwise authorized by its shareholders, when an Irish company issues shares for cash to new shareholders, it is required first to offer those shares on the same or more favorable terms to existing shareholders on a pro-rata basis. If we are unable to obtain these authorizations from our shareholders or are otherwise limited by the terms of our authorizations, our ability to issue shares or otherwise raise capital could be adversely affected.Dividends and share repurchases are subject to uncertainty and could be modified, accelerated, or discontinued, which could affect the price of our common stock.Quarterly cash dividends are an important component of our capital allocation strategy, which we have historically funded primarily with operating free cash flow. Although we expect to pay a competitive and growing dividend, we are not required to pay any dividend and our dividend may be discontinued, accelerated, suspended or delayed at any time without prior notice. Furthermore, the amount of such dividends may be changed, and the amount, timing and frequency of such dividends may vary from historical practice or from our stated expectations. In addition, although our Board of Directors has granted us authority to repurchase our shares under a share repurchase program, we are not required to repurchase any shares, and any previous share repurchases do not necessarily denote our expectations of future share repurchases. Important factors that could cause us to discontinue, limit, suspend, increase or delay our quarterly cash dividends or share repurchase program include market conditions, the market price of our common stock, the nature and timing of other investment and acquisition opportunities, changes in our business strategy, the terms of our financing arrangements, our outlook as to the ability to obtain financing at attractive rates, the impact on our credit ratings, changes in tax laws, and appropriate liquidity.Dividends received by our shareholders may be subject to Irish dividend withholding tax.In certain circumstances, we are required to deduct Irish dividend withholding tax (currently at the rate of 25%) from dividends paid to our shareholders. In the majority of cases, shareholders resident in the United States will not be subject to Irish withholding tax, and shareholders resident in a number of other countries will not be subject to Irish withholding tax provided that they complete certain Irish dividend withholding tax forms. However, some shareholders may be subject to withholding tax, which could have an adverse impact on the price of our shares.Dividends received by our shareholders could be subject to Irish income tax.Dividends paid in respect of our shares will generally not be subject to Irish income tax where the beneficial owner of these dividends is exempt from dividend withholding tax, unless the beneficial owner of the dividend has some connection with Ireland other than his or her shareholding in Trane Technologies plc.Our shareholders who receive their dividends subject to Irish dividend withholding tax will generally have no further liability to Irish income tax on the dividends unless the beneficial owner of the dividend has some connection with Ireland other than his or her shareholding in Trane Technologies plc.23Table of ContentsItemÂ 1B.Â Â Â Â UNRESOLVED STAFF COMMENTSNone.ItemÂ 1C.Â Â Â CYBERSECURITYWe maintain a cybersecurity program and framework as set forth in our cybersecurity policies and standards. The foundation of our cybersecurity program is based on the National Institute of Standards and Technology ("NIST") Cybersecurity Framework, which includes a set of controls to prevent, detect, and respond to cybersecurity threats and incidents. These controls include constant monitoring, log collection and analysis, threat hunting and intelligence surveillance, and regular vulnerability scans/penetration tests. Additionally, in furtherance of assessing, identifying and managing material cybersecurity risks, we:â€¢Leverage technology solutions, including proactive detection tools, to protect our assets and detect threats in our environment;â€¢Perform regular internal assessments of our cybersecurity program against the NIST Cybersecurity Framework. The results of these assessments are then reviewed and, based on such findings, action plans are developed and progress tracked through completion;â€¢Analyze both internal and external cybersecurity incidents and related threat intelligence to determine applicability to our environment and industry. Findings from such analyses are then reviewed and utilized to create action plans where applicable and relevant to our environment and industry;â€¢Maintain an enterprise-wide disaster recovery governance program, which includes cybersecurity-related disaster recovery standards and compliance procedures related thereto;â€¢Regularly perform cybersecurity-related disaster recovery testing to ensure that the Company's mission-critical systems are recoverable, in support of the business continuity needs of our various business lines; â€¢Maintain an operational technology (OT) security program to address cyber risks that are inherent and unique to our industry and manufacturing environment; â€¢Maintain a centralized product security program that unifies company-wide strategy to ensure our customer-facing products and services are secure by design; andâ€¢Integrate each of our business and corporate groups with our internal cybersecurity team to ensure cybersecurity requirements are embedded into operating environments as appropriate, which drives business strategies, budgeting, and similar processes. In addition, senior and executive management, as well as our Board of Directors, regularly review our financial planning processes for these areas, inclusive of our cybersecurity programs.Any changes or additions to our cybersecurity program and related practices and procedures described above in response to cybersecurity needs are reviewed by our executive management, Board of Directors and Audit Committee.We regularly engage independent third-parties and auditors to assess our cybersecurity program and practices and assist in the mitigation of risk. The effectiveness of our cybersecurity environment is regularly tested by internal personnel and these third-parties. These assessments are performed in connection with standards and requirements under the Payment Card Industry (PCI) data security standard, Sarbanes-Oxley Act (SOX), and the U.S. Department of Defense, cybersecurity capability maturity benchmarking and voluntary certifications by us, such as the Service Organization Control Type 2 (SOC 2). The results of these audits and assessments are promptly reviewed and enhancements are made to our cybersecurity program and practices based on such findings as appropriate. We also maintain a cybersecurity third party risk management program which evaluates third parties that either host or have access to our data and/or systems to ensure that they are aligned with our security requirements. The program includes initial review, ongoing monitoring and contractual agreements with cybersecurity requirements to ensure third party services meet our standards for such providers, and the cybersecurity risks associated with the use of these services is acceptable.Like other comparable-sized companies, our information technology systems, networks and infrastructure and technology embedded in certain of our control products have been and may continue to be vulnerable to cyber-attacks and unauthorized security intrusions. These types of attacks may include computer viruses, malicious code, unauthorized access, phishing attempts, denial-of-service attacks, among others. For more information about these and other cybersecurity risks faced by us, see Part IA, Item 1A, "Risk Factors - Risks Related to Cybersecurity and Technology."Our Board of Directors has ultimate oversight for risks relating to our cybersecurity program and practices and receives regular updates from our internal cybersecurity team on cybersecurity risks and threats. In addition, our Audit Committee provides Board-level oversight for management's actions with respect to practices, procedures and controls used to identify, assess and manage our key cybersecurity programs and risks. We also maintain an Enterprise Risk Intelligence Committee (ERIC), a management-level cross-functional group designed to monitor and mitigate risks, including cybersecurity risks, that pose a threat to our strategic objectives. The ERIC is charged with providing guidance and direction for integrating enterprise risk 24Table of Contentsintelligence with important business processes, such as strategic planning, business forecasting, operational management, and investment allocation to ensure consistent consideration of risks in decision making. Finally, we maintain an Enterprise Cybersecurity Governance Committee that presents updates on cybersecurity initiatives, known and emerging issues and risks, and program updates to a cross-section of our senior management.ItemÂ 2.Â Â Â Â PROPERTIESAs of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we owned or leased approximately 30 million square feet of space worldwide. The second acquisition is a building management platform for HVAC optimization, using advanced artificial intelligence technologies. The results of the acquisition will be reported within the Americas segment. As a result of the Chapter 11 filings, all asbestos-related lawsuits against Aldrich and Murray have been stayed due to the imposition of a statutory automatic stay applicable in Chapter 11 bankruptcy cases. Only Aldrich and Murray have filed for Chapter 11 relief. Neither Aldrich's wholly-owned subsidiary, 200 Park, Murray's wholly-owned subsidiary, ClimateLabs, nor the Trane Companies are part of the Chapter 11 filings.The goal of these Chapter 11 filings is to resolve equitably and permanently all current and future asbestos-related claims in a manner beneficial to claimants, Aldrich and Murray through court approval of a plan of reorganization that would create a trust pursuant to section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, establish claims resolution procedures for all current and future asbestos-related claims against Aldrich and Murray and channel such claims to the trust for resolution in accordance with those procedures.28Table of ContentsAldrich and its wholly-owned subsidiary 200 Park and Murray and its wholly-owned subsidiary ClimateLabs were deconsolidated as of the Petition Date and their respective assets and liabilities were derecognized from our Consolidated Financial Statements. In 2021, Aldrich and Murray reached an agreement in principle with the court-appointed legal representative of future asbestos claimants (the FCR) and filed a motion to create a $270.0 million trust intended to constitute a "qualified settlement fund" within the meaning of the Treasury Regulations under Section 468B of the Internal Revenue Code (QSF). On January 27, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court granted the request to fund the QSF, which was funded on March 2, 2022, resulting in an operating cash outflow of $270.0 million reported in our Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows, of which $91.8 million was allocated to continuing operations and $178.2 million was allocated to discontinued operations for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2022.On April 6, 2023, certain individual claimants filed a motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 cases (Claimant Motion to Dismiss). Subsequently, on May 15, 2023, the committee representing current asbestos claimants (the ACC) filed its own motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 cases (ACC Motion to Dismiss, and, together with the Claimant Motion to Dismiss, the Motions to Dismiss). Aldrich, Murray and the FCR filed responses in opposition to the Motions to Dismiss, and the Company filed papers joining in Aldrich and Murray's opposition. A hearing on the Motions to Dismiss was held on July 14, 2023. On December 28, 2023, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order denying the Motions to Dismiss. On January 11, 2024, the ACC and the individual claimants filed motions with the United States District Court for the District of North Carolina (the District Court) seeking leave to appeal the order denying the Motions to Dismiss (Motions for Leave to Appeal) and to certify the appeals directly to the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. At a hearing on February 9, 2024, the Bankruptcy Court granted the motions to certify direct appeals to the Fourth Circuit. On April 17, 2024, the Fourth Circuit entered an order denying the petitions for direct appeal. On May 1, 2024, the ACC and the individual claimants filed petitions with the Fourth Circuit seeking rehearing en banc. Aldrich and Murray opposed the petitions and the Fourth Circuit denied the petitions by order dated May 15, 2024. On May 28, 2024, Aldrich and Murray filed their response with the District Court in opposition to the Motions for Leave to Appeal. The FCR filed its response to the Motions for Leave to Appeal on May 29, 2024. The ACC and the individual claimants filed their replies in support of the Motions for Leave to Appeal on June 11, 2024. On January 23, 2023, an individual claimant filed a motion to lift the automatic order to pursue its asbestos suit against Aldrich and Murray notwithstanding the Chapter 11 cases (the Stay Relief Motion). Aldrich and Murray, the FCR, and certain non-debtor affiliates each opposed the Stay Relief Motion. The Bankruptcy Court denied the Stay Relief Motion after holding a hearing on March 30, 2023. The Bankruptcy Court entered an order memorializing its March oral ruling on November 13, 2024. The individual claimant filed a notice with the Bankruptcy Court appealing the order denying the Stay Relief Motion to the District Court on November 27, 2024.It is not possible to predict how the District Court will rule on these pending motions, whether an appellate court will affirm or reverse the Bankruptcy Court orders denying the Motions to Dismiss and the Stay Relief Motion, whether the Bankruptcy Court will approve the terms of the Plan, what the extent of the asbestos liability will be or how long the Chapter 11 cases will last.The Chapter 11 cases remain pending as of FebruaryÂ 6, 2025.For detailed information on the bankruptcy cases of Aldrich and Murray, see Part I, Item 1, "Business - Asbestos-Related Matters," Part I, Item 1A, "Risk Factors - Risks Related to Litigation," Part I, Item 3, "Legal Proceedings," and Part II, Item 8, Consolidated Financial Statements, and Note 20, "Commitments and Contingencies."29Table of ContentsTrends and Economic EventsWe are a global corporation with worldwide operations. As a global business, our operations are affected by worldwide, regional and industry-specific economic factors as well as geopolitical, environmental and social factors wherever we operate or do business. Our geographic diversity and the breadth of our products and services portfolios have helped mitigate the impact of any one industry or the economy of any single country on our consolidated operating results.Given our broad range of products manufactured and geographic markets served, management uses a variety of factors to predict the outlook for the Company. We monitor key competitors and customers in order to gauge relative performance and the outlook for the future. We regularly perform detailed evaluations of the different market segments we serve to proactively detect trends and to adapt our strategies accordingly, including potential triggers and actions to be taken under recessionary scenarios. In addition, we believe our backlog and order levels are indicative of future revenue and thus are a key measure of anticipated performance.We expect conditions to remain mixed across our served end markets and geographies. Overall Commercial HVAC markets in Americas and EMEA remain strong due to demand for our differentiated customer driven solutions and the benefits of installing energy efficient products and decarbonizing the built environment. In Asia, markets are more dynamic, with weak macro-economic conditions driving soft demand in China and more stable macro-economic conditions driving modest demand in the rest of Asia. Transport refrigeration markets are experiencing lower demand as freight rates remain low, particularly in the United States. Residential markets in the United States have improved in 2024 but are undergoing a regulatory transition which could bring short-term variation in demand, and uncertainties remain from economic risks and higher interest rates.We continue to see material and wage inflation impact our cost structure. Our performance may be impacted by future developments that are uncertain. Geopolitical risks and macroeconomic events could cause disruptions to operations, supply chains, end markets, financial markets and overall economic conditions which could negatively impact our business.We believe we have a solid foundation of global brands that are highly differentiated in all of our major product lines. Our geographic mix, diversity of our portfolio, and our large installed product base, provide growth opportunities from replacement demand and within our service revenue streams. Additionally, we are investing substantial resources to innovate and develop new products and services which we expect to drive future growth.30Table of ContentsResults of OperationsNon-GAAP Financial MeasuresOrganic Revenue We define organic revenue as net revenues adjusted for the impact of currency, acquisitions and divestitures. Organic revenue is not defined under U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) and may not be comparable to similarly-titled measures used by other companies and should not be considered a substitute for revenue as determined in accordance with GAAP.Â Selected references are made to revenue growth on an organic basis so that certain financial results can be viewed without the impacts of fluctuations in foreign currency rates and acquisitions, thereby providing comparisons of operating performance from period to period of the business that we have owned during both periods presented. We believe organic revenue growth provides investors with useful supplemental information about our revenues in both periods presented.Segment Adjusted EBITDAWe define Segment Adjusted EBITDA as net earnings excluding interest expense, income taxes, depreciation and amortization, restructuring, non-cash adjustments for contingent consideration, merger and acquisition-related costs, unallocated corporate expenses, discontinued operations and other non-recurring items. Segment Adjusted EBITDA, and ratios based on it, are used in the development of annual operating plans, including capital expenditure and operational budgets, and in measuring performance against targets for purposes of incentive compensation. Segment Adjusted EBITDA also provides a useful tool for assessing the operating performance and comparability between periods and our ability to generate cash because it excludes the impact of certain non-cash or non-recurring items that can vary significantly from period to period. Segment Adjusted EBITDA is not defined under GAAP and may not be comparable to similarly-titled measures used by other companies and should not be considered a substitute for net earnings or other results as determined in accordance with GAAP.Â Segment Adjusted Operating IncomeWe define Segment Adjusted Operating Income as operating income adjusted to exclude restructuring costs, merger and acquisition-related costs, non-cash adjustments for contingent consideration and other non-recurring items. Segment Adjusted Operating Income, and ratios based on it, are used to provide a comprehensive view of segment profitability and evaluate efficient returns on assets. Segment Adjusted Operating Income also provides a useful tool for assessing the comparability between periods because it eliminates non-recurring items that can vary from period to period. For more information, see "Non-GAAP Financial Measures."The increase in Net revenues was primarily driven by higher volumes as a result of stronger end-customer demand within our Americas and EMEA segments, realization of price increases and incremental revenue from acquisitions, partially offset by an unfavorable impact from foreign currency translation. Refer to "Results by Segment" below for a discussion of Net revenues by segment.Gross Profit MarginGross profit margin for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 increased 260 basis points to 35.7% compared to 33.1% for the same period of 2023 primarily due to gross productivity and price realization, partially offset by inflation.Selling and Administrative ExpensesSelling and administrative expenses for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 increased by 20.8%, or $617.2 million, compared with the same period of 2023. The increase in Selling and administrative expenses was primarily driven by an increase in human capital costs related to investing in our people, higher sales commissions, incremental selling and administrative expenses of acquired businesses and higher levels of business reinvestment. Additionally, non-cash adjustments to contingent consideration reduced Selling and administrative expenses for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and DecemberÂ 31, 2023 by $25.0Â million and $49.3Â million, respectively. Selling and administrative expenses as a percentage of Net revenues for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 increased 140 basis points from 16.7% to 18.1%.Interest ExpenseInterest expense for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 increased by 1.7% or $3.9 million compared with the same period of 2023 primarily due to the issuance of $500Â million of 5.100% Senior Notes due in 2034. The increase in interest expense was partially offset by an increase in interest income from short-term investments purchased with proceeds from the debt issuance, which is reported in Other (income)/expense, net. We had no commercial paper outstanding as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024.Provision for Income TaxesThe 2024 effective tax rate was 19.4% which was lower than the U.S. Statutory rate of 21% due to excess tax benefits from employee share-based payments and earnings in non-U.S. jurisdictions, which, in aggregate have a lower effective tax rate, and includes the impact of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) tax reform initiative (Pillar Two), partially offset by U.S. state and local taxes. Revenues from non-U.S. jurisdictions accounted for approximately 26% of our total 2024 revenues, such that a material portion of our pretax income was earned and taxed outside the U.S. at rates up to 38%. When comparing the results of multiple reporting periods, among other factors, the mix of earnings between U.S. and foreign jurisdictions can cause variability in our overall effective tax rate.The 2023 effective tax rate was 19.4% which was lower than the U.S. Statutory rate of 21% due to a $30.3 million reduction in valuation allowances primarily related to deferred tax assets associated with both foreign tax credits and operations of international subsidiaries. Additional items that impact the effective tax rate are excess tax benefits from employee share-based payments and earnings in non-U.S. jurisdictions, which in aggregate have a lower effective tax rate offset by an impairment of an equity investment, and U.S. state and local taxes. Revenues from non-U.S. jurisdictions accounted for approximately 28% of our total 2023 revenues, such that a material portion of our pretax income was earned and taxed outside the U.S. at rates up to 38%. Liquidity and Capital ResourcesWe assess our liquidity in terms of our ability to generate cash to fund our operating, investing and financing activities. In doing so, we review and analyze our current cash on hand, the number of days our sales are outstanding, inventory turns, capital expenditure commitments and income tax payments. Our cash requirements primarily consist of the following:â€¢Funding of working capitalâ€¢Debt service requirementsâ€¢Funding of capital expendituresâ€¢Dividend paymentsâ€¢Funding of acquisitions, joint ventures and equity investmentsâ€¢Share repurchasesOur primary sources of liquidity include cash balances on hand, cash flows from operations, proceeds from debt offerings, commercial paper, and borrowing availability under our existing credit facilities. We earn a significant amount of our operating income in jurisdictions where it is deemed to be permanently reinvested. Our most prominent jurisdiction of operation is the U.S. We expect existing cash and cash equivalents available to the U.S. operations, the cash generated by our U.S. operations, our committed credit lines as well as our expected ability to access the capital and debt markets will be sufficient to fund our U.S. operating and capital needs for at least the next twelve months and thereafter for the foreseeable future. In addition, we expect existing non-U.S. cash and cash equivalents and the cash generated by our non-U.S. operations will be sufficient to fund our non-U.S. operating and capital needs for at least the next twelve months and thereafter for the foreseeable future. The maximum aggregate amount of unsecured commercial paper notes available to be issued, on a private placement basis, under the commercial paper program is $2.0 billion, of which we had no outstanding balance as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024.As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we had $1,590.1 million of cash and cash equivalents on hand, of which $1,423.0 million was held by non-U.S. subsidiaries. Cash and cash equivalents held by our non-U.S. subsidiaries are generally available for use in our U.S. operations via intercompany loans, equity infusions or via distributions from direct or indirectly owned non-U.S. subsidiaries for which we do not assert permanent reinvestment. In general, repatriation of cash to the U.S. can be completed with no significant incremental U.S. tax. However, to the extent that we repatriate funds from non-U.S. subsidiaries for which we assert permanent reinvestment to fund our U.S. operations, we would be required to accrue and pay applicable non-U.S. taxes. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we currently have no plans to repatriate funds from subsidiaries for which we assert permanent reinvestment.Share repurchases are made in accordance with our balanced capital allocation strategy, subject to market conditions and regulatory requirements. In February 2022, our Board of Directors authorized the repurchase of up to $3.0 billion of our ordinary shares (2022 Authorization) and in December 2024, our Board of Directors authorized the repurchase of up to an additional $5.0 billion of our ordinary shares (2024 Authorization) upon the conclusion of the 2022 Authorization. During the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we repurchased and canceled approximately $1.3Â billion of ordinary shares, leaving $1.2 billion remaining under the 2022 Authorization and $5.0 billion remaining under the 2024 Authorization. Additionally, during the period after DecemberÂ 31, 2024 through January 31, 2025, we repurchased approximately $100Â million of our ordinary shares under the 2022 Authorization.We expect to pay a competitive and growing dividend. Since the launch of Trane Technologies in March 2020, we have increased our quarterly dividend per share by 58%, from $0.53 to $0.84 per ordinary share, or $2.12 to $3.36 per share annualized. All four 2024 quarterly dividends were paid during the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024. In February 2025, our Board of Directors declared an increase in our quarterly share dividend by 12%, from $0.84 to $0.94 per ordinary share, or $3.36 to $3.76 per share annualized starting in the first quarter of 2025. We continue to actively manage and strengthen our business portfolio to meet the current and future needs of our customers. We achieve this partly through engaging in research and development and sustaining activities and partly through acquisitions. Sustaining activities include costs incurred to reduce production costs, improve existing products, create custom solutions for customers and provide support to our manufacturing facilities. Each year, we make investments in new product development and new technology innovation as they are key factors in achieving our strategic objectives as a leader in the climate sector. In addition, we make investments in technology and business for our operational sustainability programs. Our research and development and sustaining costs account for approximately 2% of annual Net revenues. 35Table of ContentsIn pursuing our business strategy, we routinely conduct discussions, evaluate targets and enter into agreements regarding possible acquisitions, divestitures, joint ventures and equity investments. We have acquired several businesses, entered into joint ventures and invested in companies that complement existing products and services further enhancing our product portfolio. We deployed capital of approximately $197 million and $881Â million to acquisitions and equity investments completed during the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and DecemberÂ 31, 2023, respectively. In 2024, we committed capital of approximately $470 million attributable to acquisitions and equity investments that were signed in 2024 and were closed in 2024 or in January 2025.We incur costs associated with restructuring initiatives intended to result in improved operating performance, profitability and working capital levels. Actions associated with these initiatives may include workforce reductions, improving manufacturing productivity, realignment of management structures and rationalizing certain assets. We believe that our existing cash balances, anticipated cash flow from operations, committed credit lines and access to the capital markets will be sufficient to fund share repurchases, dividends, research and development, sustaining activities, business portfolio changes and ongoing restructuring actions.Certain of our subsidiaries entered into Funding Agreements with Aldrich and Murray pursuant to which those subsidiaries are obligated, among other things, to pay the costs and expenses of Aldrich and Murray during the pendency of the Chapter 11 cases to the extent distributions from their respective subsidiaries are insufficient to do so and to provide an amount for the funding for a trust established pursuant to section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, to the extent that the other assets of Aldrich and Murray are insufficient to provide the requisite trust funding. During the third quarter of 2021, Aldrich and Murray filed a motion with the Bankruptcy Court to create a $270.0 million qualified settlement fund (QSF). The funds held in the QSF would be available to provide funding for the Section 524(g) Trust upon effectiveness of the Plan. On January 27, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court granted the request to fund the QSF, which was funded on March 2, 2022.LiquidityThe following table contains several key measures of our financial condition and liquidity at the periods ended DecemberÂ 31:In millions20242023Cash and cash equivalents$1,590.1Â $1,095.3Â Short-term borrowings and current maturities of long-term debt452.2Â 801.9Â Long-term debt4,318.1Â 3,977.9Â Total debt4,770.3Â 4,779.8Â Total Trane Technologies plc shareholders' equity7,457.4Â 6,995.2Â Total equity7,486.9Â 7,017.0Â Debt-to-total capital ratio38.9Â %40.5Â %Debt and Credit FacilitiesAs of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, our short-term obligations primarily consist of current maturities of $157.2 million that mature in June 2025 and $295.0 million of fixed rate debentures that contain a put feature that the holders may exercise on each anniversary of the issuance date. This measure is useful to management and investors because it is consistent with management's assessment of our operating cash flow performance. The most comparable GAAP measure to free cash flow is Net cash provided by (used in) continuing operating activities. Free cash flow may not be comparable to similarly-titled measures used by other companies and should not be considered a substitute for Net cash provided by (used in) continuing operating activities in accordance with GAAP.A reconciliation of Net cash provided by (used in) continuing operating activities to free cash flow the years ended DecemberÂ 31 is as follows:In millions20242023Net cash provided by (used in) continuing operating activities$3,177.7Â $2,426.8Â Capital expenditures(370.6)(300.7)Cash payments for restructuring8.6Â 12.3Â Legacy legal liability2.7Â â€”Â Transformation costs paidâ€”Â 3.9Â M&A transaction costs1.7Â 18.9Â Insurance settlements on property claimsâ€”Â (10.0)Adjustment for Outperformance Incentive Program (2)(31.1)â€”Â Free cash flow (1)$2,789.0Â $2,151.2Â (1) Represents a non-GAAP measure. (2) The Company implemented a special three-year Outperformance Incentive Program during the year ended December 31, 2024 that provides additional incentive-based cash compensation to eligible participants based primarily on the achievement of outsized revenue performance beyond what is achievable under the Companyâ€™s existing short-term incentive programs. Performance is measured over three annual periods representing the years ended December 31, 2024, 2025 and 2026. Cash payments related to performance achieved will be made in the quarter ended March 31, 2027. This adjustment represents amounts earned in the respective performance period that will be paid during the quarter ended March 31, 2027. Pension PlansOur investment objective in managing defined benefit plan assets is to ensure that all present and future benefit obligations are met as they come due. We seek to achieve this goal while trying to mitigate volatility in plan funded status, contribution and expense by better matching the characteristics of the plan assets to that of the plan liabilities. We use a dynamic approach to asset allocation to increase fixed income assets as the plan's funded status improves. We monitor plan funded status and asset allocation regularly in addition to investment manager performance. In addition, we monitor the impact of market conditions on our defined benefit plans on a regular basis. None of our defined benefit pension plans have experienced a significant impact on their liquidity due to market volatility. See Note 11, "Pension and Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pensions," to the Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information regarding pensions.Capital ResourcesBased on historical performance and current expectations, we believe our cash and cash equivalents balance, the cash generated from our operations, our committed credit lines and our expected ability to access capital markets, including our commercial paper program, will satisfy our working capital needs, capital expenditures, dividends, share repurchases, upcoming debt maturities, and other liquidity requirements associated with our operations for the foreseeable future.Capital expenditures were $370.6 million, $300.7 million and $291.8 million for the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively. Our investments continue to improve manufacturing productivity, expand capacity, reduce costs, provide environmental enhancements, upgrade information technology infrastructure and security and advanced technologies for existing facilities. The capital expenditure program for 2025 is estimated to be approximately 2.0% of revenues, including amounts approved in prior periods. Many of these projects are subject to review and cancellation at our option without incurring substantial charges.For financial market risk impacting the Company, see Part II, ItemÂ 7A, "Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosure About Market Risk."38Table of ContentsCapitalizationFinancing rates and conditions associated with future borrowings under our commercial paper program or term debt offerings will be affected by general financing conditions and our credit ratings. On April 10, 2024, Moody's announced that it upgraded our long-term credit rating from Baa1 to A3 and put the Company on positive outlook. On October 31, 2024, Standard and Poor's announced that it revised our long-term credit rating from BBB+ stable to BBB+ positive. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, our credit ratings were as follows:Â Short-termLong-termMoody'sP-2A3Standard and Poor'sA-2BBB+The credit ratings set forth above are not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold securities and may be subject to revision or withdrawal by the assigning rating organization. Each rating should be evaluated independently of any other rating.Our public debt does not contain financial covenants and our revolving credit lines have a debt-to-total capital covenant of 65%. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, our debt-to-total capital ratio was significantly beneath this limit.Contractual ObligationsOur contractual cash obligations include required payments of long-term debt principal and interest, purchase obligations and expected obligations under our pension and postretirement benefit plans. In addition, we have required payments of operating leases, income taxes and expected obligations under the Funding agreement, environmental and product liability matters. For additional information regarding leases, income taxes, including unrecognized tax benefits, and contingent liabilities, see Note 10 "Leases," Note 16 "Income Taxes" and Note 20 "Commitments and Contingencies," respectively, to the Consolidated Financial Statements. Our material cash requirements include the following contractual and other obligations.DebtAt DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we had outstanding aggregate long-term debt principal payments of $4,802.2 million, with $452.2 million payable within 12 months. The amount payable within 12 months includes $295.0 million of debt redeemable at the option of the holder. The scheduled maturities of these bonds range between 2027 and 2028. Future interest payments on long-term debt total $2,348.6 million, with $220.5 million payable within 12 months. See Note 7, "Debt and Credit Facilities," to the Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information regarding debt.Purchase ObligationsPurchase obligations include commitments under legally enforceable contracts or purchase orders. At DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we had purchase obligations of $1,161.2 million, which are primarily payable within 12 months.PensionsIt is our objective to contribute to the pension plans to ensure adequate funds are available in the plans to make benefit payments to plan participants and beneficiaries when required. We currently expect that we will contribute approximately $30 million to our enterprise plans worldwide in 2025. The timing and amounts of future contributions are dependent upon the funding status of the plans, which is expected to vary as a result of changes in interest rates, returns on underlying assets, and other factors. See Note 11, "Pensions and Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pensions," to the Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information regarding pensions.Postretirement Benefits Other than PensionsWe fund postretirement benefit costs principally on a pay-as-you-go basis as medical costs are incurred by covered retiree populations. Benefit payments, which are net of expected plan participant contributions and Medicare Part D subsidy, are expected to be approximately $29 million in 2025. See Note 11, "Pensions and Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pensions," to the Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information regarding postretirement benefits other than pensions.39Table of ContentsSupplemental Guarantor Financial InformationTrane Technologies plc (Plc or Parent Company) and certain of its 100% directly or indirectly owned subsidiaries provide guarantees of public debt issued by other 100% directly or indirectly owned subsidiaries of Plc. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with those accounting principles requires management to use judgment in making estimates and assumptions based on the relevant information available at the end of each period. These estimates and assumptions have a significant effect on reported amounts of assets and liabilities, revenue and expenses as well as the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities because they result primarily from the need to make estimates and assumptions on matters that are inherently uncertain. Actual results may differ from these estimates. If updated information or actual amounts are different from previous estimates, the revisions are included in our results for the period in which they become known.The following is a summary of certain accounting estimates and assumptions made by management that we consider critical.â€¢Goodwill and indefinite-lived intangible assets â€“ We have significant goodwill and indefinite-lived intangible assets on our balance sheet related to acquisitions. These assets are tested and reviewed annually during the fourth quarter for impairment or when there is a significant change in events or circumstances that indicate that the fair value of an asset is more likely than not less than the carrying amount of the asset. In addition, an interim impairment test is completed upon a triggering event or when there is a reorganization of reporting structure or disposal of all or a portion of a reporting unit.The determination of estimated fair value requires us to make assumptions about estimated cash flows, including profit margins, long-term forecasts, discount rates and terminal growth rates. We developed these assumptions based on the market and geographic risks unique to each reporting unit. The estimates of fair value are based on the best information available as of the date of the assessment, which primarily incorporates management assumptions about expected future cash flows.Annual Goodwill Impairment TestImpairment of goodwill is tested at the reporting unit level. The test compares the carrying amount of the reporting unit to its estimated fair value. If the estimated fair value of a reporting unit exceeds its carrying amount, goodwill of the 41Table of Contentsreporting unit is not impaired. To the extent that the carrying value of the reporting unit exceeds its estimated fair value, an impairment loss would be recognized for the amount by which the reporting unit's carrying amount exceeds its fair value, not to exceed the carrying amount of goodwill in that reporting unit.As quoted market prices are not available for our reporting units, the calculation of their estimated fair value is determined using three valuation techniques: a discounted cash flow model (an income approach), a market-adjusted multiple of earnings or revenues (a market approach), and a similar transactions method (also a market approach). The discounted cash flow approach relies on our estimates of future cash flows and explicitly addresses factors such as timing, revenue growth rates, and margins, with due consideration given to forecasting risk. The market-adjusted multiple of earnings or revenues approach reflects the market's expectations for future growth and risk, with adjustments to account for differences between the guideline publicly traded companies and the subject reporting units. The similar transactions method considers prices paid in transactions that have recently occurred in our industry or in related industries. These valuation techniques are weighted 50%, 40% and 10%, respectively.Under the income approach, we assumed a forecasted cash flow period of five to ten years with discount rates ranging from 8.5% to 15.5% and a terminal growth rate of 3.5% to 4.0%. Under the guideline public company method, we used multiples of earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (EBITDA) or revenues based on the market information of comparable companies. Additionally, we compared the estimated aggregate fair value of our reporting units to our overall market capitalization. The excess of the estimated fair value over carrying value (expressed as a percentage of carrying value) for most reporting units exceeded 400%. The estimated fair value of one reporting unit formed upon the acquisition of Nuvolo in November 2023 was approximately equal to its carrying value. As of December 31, 2024, this reporting unit had $313.0 million of goodwill. A significant increase in the discount rate, decrease in the long-term growth rate, or substantial reductions in our end markets and volume assumptions could have a negative impact on the estimated fair value of this reporting unit.Other Indefinite-lived intangible assetsOther intangible assets with indefinite useful lives are tested for impairment on an annual basis. The fair value of intangible assets with indefinite useful lives is determined on a relief from royalty methodology (income approach) which is based on the implied royalty paid, at an appropriate discount rate, to license the use of an asset rather than owning the asset. The present value of the after-tax cost savings (i.e., royalty relief) indicates the estimated fair value of the asset. Any excess of the carrying value over the estimated fair value would be recognized as an impairment loss equal to that excess.In testing our other indefinite-lived intangible assets for impairment, we forecasted revenues for a period of five years with discount rates ranging from 8.5% to 14.0%, terminal growth rates of 3.5%, and royalty rates ranging from 1.0% to 4.5%. For significant indefinite-lived intangible assets, the excess of the estimated fair value over carrying value (expressed as a percentage of carrying value) exceeded 400%. A significant increase in the discount rate, decrease in the long-term growth rate, decrease in the royalty rate or substantial reductions in our end markets and volume assumptions could have a negative impact on the estimated fair values of any of our tradenames.â€¢Business combinations - Acquisitions that meet the definition of a business combination are recorded using the acquisition method of accounting. We include the operating results of acquired entities from their respective dates of acquisition. We recognize and measure the identifiable assets acquired, liabilities assumed, including contingent consideration relating to potential earnout provisions and any non-controlling interest as of the acquisition date fair value. The valuation of intangible assets is determined using an income approach methodology. We use assumptions to value the intangible assets including projected cash flows, including revenue growth rates and margins, customer attrition rates, royalty rates, tax rates and discount rates. The excess, if any, of total consideration transferred in a business combination over the fair value of identifiable assets acquired, liabilities assumed, and any non-controlling interest is recognized as goodwill. Costs incurred as a result of a business combination other than costs related to the issuance of debt or equity securities are recorded in the period the costs are incurred.Contingent considerationWe assess any contingent consideration included in the consideration paid of a business combination. The value recorded is based on estimates of future financial projections on revenue under various potential scenarios, in which a Monte Carlo simulation model runs many iterations based on comparable companies' revenue growth rates and their implied revenue volatilities. These cash flow projections are discounted with a risk adjusted rate. Each quarter until such contingent amounts are earned, the fair value of the liability is evaluated at each reporting period and adjusted as a component of operating expenses based on changes to the underlying assumptions. The estimates used to determine the fair value of the contingent consideration liability are subject to significant judgment, specifically revenue growth rates, implied revenue volatilities and discount rates.42Table of Contentsâ€¢Revenue recognition â€“ Revenue is recognized when control of a good or service promised in a contract (i.e., performance obligation) is transferred to a customer. Control is obtained when a customer has the ability to direct the use of and obtain substantially all of the remaining benefits from that good or service. A majority of our revenues are recognized at a point-in-time as control is transferred at a distinct point in time per the terms of a contract. However, a portion of our revenues are recognized over time as the customer simultaneously receives control as we perform work under a contract. For these arrangements, the cost-to-cost input method is used as it best depicts the transfer of control to the customer that occurs as we incur costs.The transaction price allocated to performance obligations reflects our expectations about the consideration we will be entitled to receive from a customer. To determine the transaction price, variable and non-cash consideration are assessed as well as whether a significant financing component exists. We include variable consideration in the estimated transaction price when it is probable that significant reversal of revenue recognized would not occur when the uncertainty associated with variable consideration is subsequently resolved. We consider historical data in determining our best estimates of variable consideration, and the related accruals are recorded using the expected value method.We enter into sales arrangements that contain multiple goods and services. For these arrangements, each good or service is evaluated to determine whether it represents a distinct performance obligation and whether the sales price for each obligation is representative of standalone selling price. If available, we utilize observable prices for goods or services sold separately to similar customers in similar circumstances to evaluate relative standalone selling price. List prices are used if they are determined to be representative of standalone selling prices. Where necessary, we ensure that the total transaction price is then allocated to the distinct performance obligations based on the determination of their relative standalone selling price at the inception of the arrangement.We recognize revenue for delivered goods or services when the delivered good or service is distinct, control of the good or service has transferred to the customer, and only customary refund or return rights related to the goods or services exist. For extended warranties and long-term service agreements, revenue for these distinct performance obligations are recognized over time on a straight-line basis over the respective contract term.â€¢Income taxes â€“ Deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on temporary differences between financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities, applying enacted tax rates expected to be in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse. We recognize future tax benefits, such as net operating losses and tax credits, to the extent that realizing these benefits is considered in our judgment to be more likely than not. We regularly review the recoverability of our deferred tax assets considering our historic profitability, projected future taxable income, timing of the reversals of existing temporary differences and the feasibility of our tax planning strategies. Where appropriate, we record a valuation allowance with respect to a future tax benefit.The provision for income taxes involves a significant amount of management judgment regarding interpretation of relevant facts and laws in the jurisdictions in which we operate. Future changes in applicable laws, projected levels of taxable income, and tax planning could change the effective tax rate and tax balances recorded by us. In addition, tax authorities periodically review income tax returns filed by us and can raise issues regarding our filing positions, timing and amount of income or deductions, and the allocation of income among the jurisdictions in which we operate. A significant period of time may elapse between the filing of an income tax return and the ultimate resolution of an issue raised by a revenue authority with respect to that return. We believe that we have adequately provided for any reasonably foreseeable resolution of these matters. We will adjust our estimate if significant events so dictate. To the extent that the ultimate results differ from our original or adjusted estimates, the effect will be recorded in the provision for income taxes in the period that the matter is finally resolved.â€¢Employee benefit plans â€“ We provide a range of benefits to eligible employees and retirees, including pensions, postretirement and postemployment benefits. Determining the cost associated with such benefits is dependent on various actuarial assumptions including discount rates, expected return on plan assets, compensation increases, mortality, turnover rates and healthcare cost trend rates. Actuarial valuations are performed to determine expense in accordance with GAAP. Actual results may differ from the actuarial assumptions and are generally accumulated and amortized into earnings over future periods. We review our actuarial assumptions at each measurement date and make modifications to the assumptions based on current rates and trends, if appropriate. The discount rate, the rate of compensation increase and the expected long-term rates of return on plan assets are determined as of each measurement date. We believe that the assumptions utilized in recording our obligations under our plans are reasonable based on input from our actuaries, outside investment advisors and information as to assumptions used by plan sponsors.43Table of ContentsChanges in any of the assumptions can have an impact on the net periodic pension cost or postretirement benefit cost. Estimated sensitivities to the expected 2025 net periodic pension cost of a 0.25% rate decline in the two basic assumptions are as follows: the decline in the discount rate would increase expense by $0.2Â million and the decline in the estimated return on assets would increase expense by $4.8Â million. A 0.25% rate decrease in the discount rate for postretirement benefits would increase expected 2025 net periodic postretirement benefit cost by $0.3Â million.Recent Accounting PronouncementsSee Note 2, "Summary of Significant Accounting Policies" to the Consolidated Financial Statements for a discussion of recent accounting pronouncements.ItemÂ 7A.Â Â Â Â QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURE ABOUT MARKET RISKWe are exposed to fluctuations in currency exchange rates, interest rates and commodity prices which could impact our results of operations and financial condition. Foreign Currency ExposuresWe have operations throughout the world that manufacture and sell products in various international markets. As a result, we are exposed to movements in exchange rates of various currencies against the U.S. dollar as well as against other currencies throughout the world.Many of our non-U.S. operations have a functional currency other than the U.S. dollar, and their results are translated into U.S. dollars for reporting purposes. Therefore, our reported results will be higher or lower depending on the weakening or strengthening of the U.S. dollar against the respective foreign currency. Our largest concentration of revenues from non-U.S. operations as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 are in Euros and Chinese Yuan. A hypothetical 10% unfavorable change in the average exchange rate used to translate Net revenues for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 from either Euros or Chinese Yuan-based operations into U.S. dollars would result in a decline of approximately $170Â million and $60Â million, respectively.We use derivative instruments to partially hedge those material exposures that cannot be naturally offset. The instruments utilized are viewed as risk management tools, primarily involve little complexity and are not used for trading or speculative purposes. To minimize the risk of counterparty non-performance, derivative instrument agreements are made only through major financial institutions with significant experience in such derivative instruments.We evaluate our exposure to changes in currency exchange rates on our foreign currency derivatives using a sensitivity analysis. The sensitivity analysis is a measurement of the potential loss in fair value based on a percentage change in exchange rates. Based on the currency derivative instruments in place at DecemberÂ 31, 2024, a hypothetical change in fair value of those derivative instruments assuming a 10% adverse change in exchange rates would result in an unrealized loss of $15.5 million, as compared with $6.5 million at DecemberÂ 31, 2023. These amounts, when realized, would be offset by changes in the fair value of the underlying transactions.Commodity Price ExposuresÂ Â Â Â We are exposed to volatility in the prices of commodities used in some of our products and we use commodity hedge contracts in the financial derivatives market and fixed price purchase contracts to manage this exposure. Commodity risks are systematically managed pursuant to policy guidelines. As a cash flow hedge, gains and losses resulting from the hedging instruments mitigate a portion of our exposures to changes in commodity prices. The maturities of the commodity hedge contracts coincide with the expected purchase of the commodities. Based on the commodity derivative instruments in place at DecemberÂ 31, 2024, a hypothetical change in fair value of those derivative instruments assuming a 10% decrease in commodity prices would result in an unrealized loss of $12.7 million, as compared with $8.2Â million at DecemberÂ 31, 2023. These amounts, when realized, would be offset by changes in the fair value of the underlying commodity purchases.Interest Rate ExposureOur debt portfolio mainly consists of fixed-rate instruments, and therefore any fluctuation in market interest rates is not expected to have a material effect on our results of operations.44Table of ContentsItemÂ 8.Â Â Â Â Â Â FINANCIAL STATEMENTS(a)The following Consolidated Financial Statements and the report thereon of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP dated FebruaryÂ 6, 2025, are presented in this Annual Report on Form 10-KÂ beginning on page F-1.Consolidated Financial Statements:Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting FirmConsolidated Statements of Earnings for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022Consolidated Balance Sheets at DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023Consolidated Statements of Equity for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022Notes to Consolidated Financial StatementsItemÂ 9.Â Â Â Â Â Â CHANGES IN AND DISAGREEMENTS WITH ACCOUNTANTS ON ACCOUNTING AND FINANCIAL DISCLOSURENone.ItemÂ 9A.Â Â Â Â CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES(a)Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and ProceduresThe Company's management, including its Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, have conducted an evaluation of the effectiveness of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures (as such term is defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act)), as of the end of the period covered by this Annual Report on Form 10-K. Based on that evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer concluded as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, that the Company's disclosure controls and procedures were effective in ensuring that information required to be disclosed by the Company in reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act has been recorded, processed, summarized and reported, within the time periods specified in the Commission's rules and forms, and that such information has been accumulated and communicated to the Company's management including its Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.(b)Management's Report on Internal Control Over Financial ReportingThe Company's management is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting as such term is defined under Exchange Act Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f). Internal control over financial reporting is a process designed by, or under the supervision of, the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer and effected by the Company's Board of Directors to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies and procedures may deteriorate.Management has assessed the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024. In making its assessment, management has utilized the criteria set forth by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations (COSO) of the Treadway Commission in Internal Control - Integrated Framework (2013). Management concluded that based on its assessment, the Company's internal control over financial reporting was effective as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024.The effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 has been audited by PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, an independent registered public accounting firm, as stated in their report which appears herein.(c)Changes in Internal Control Over Financial ReportingThere were no changes in internal control over financial reporting (as defined by Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) under the Exchange Act) that occurred during the quarter ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's internal control over financial reporting.45Table of ContentsItemÂ 9B.Â Â Â Â OTHER INFORMATIONSecurities Trading Plans of Directors and Executive OfficersOur director compensation program, which consists of an annual cash retainer and grant of restricted stock units (RSUs), is designed to compensate non-employee directors fairly for work required for a company of our size and scope and to align their interests with the long-term interests of our shareholders. Similarly, a portion of the compensation of our executive officers (as defined in SEC Rule 16a-1(f)) is delivered in the form of our Long-Term Incentive Program (LTI), which is comprised of stock options, RSUs and performance share units (PSUs). We believe compensating our directors and executive officers with a mix of equity-based awards effectively links compensation to long-term shareholder value creation, Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG), and financial results.Subject to the satisfaction of our share ownership requirements, our directors and executive officers may, from time to time, engage in transactions to sell some of the shares granted to them as part of our director and executive compensation programs after such shares vest following the expiration of any time-based restrictions or achievement of certain pre-established performance goals. In addition, our directors and executive officers may also, from time to time, engage in other transactions involving our securities, which may entail the purchase or sale of our common stock outside of these compensation programs on an open-market basis.All transactions in our securities by our directors and executive officers must occur in accordance with our Insider Trading Policy, which, among other things, requires that such transactions be in accordance with applicable U.S. federal securities laws that prohibit trading while in possession of material nonpublic information. We also have audited the Company's internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2024, based on criteria established in Internal Control - Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO).In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2024 and 2023, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2024 in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Also in our opinion, the Company maintained, in all material respects, effective internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2024, based on criteria established in Internal Control - Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the COSO.Basis for OpinionsThe Company's management is responsible for these consolidated financial statements, for maintaining effective internal control over financial reporting, and for its assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting, included in Management's Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting appearing under Item 9A. Our responsibility is to express opinions on the Company's consolidated financial statements and on the Company's internal control over financial reporting based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB) and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud, and whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects.Our audits of the consolidated financial statements included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the consolidated financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the consolidated financial statements. Our audit of internal control over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. Our audits also included performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinions.Definition and Limitations of Internal Control over Financial ReportingA company's internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (i) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (ii) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (iii) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.F-2Table of ContentsCritical Audit MattersThe critical audit matters communicated below are matters arising from the current period audit of the consolidated financial statements that were communicated or required to be communicated to the audit committee and that (i) relate to accounts or disclosures that are material to the consolidated financial statements and (ii) involved our especially challenging, subjective, or complex judgments. The communication of critical audit matters does not alter in any way our opinion on the consolidated financial statements, taken as a whole, and we are not, by communicating the critical audit matters below, providing separate opinions on the critical audit matters or on the accounts or disclosures to which they relate.Revenue Recognition from Contracts with CustomersAs described in Notes 2 and 12 to the consolidated financial statements, the Company recognized $19.8 billion of consolidated net revenue for the year ended December 31, 2024. Revenue is recognized when control of a good or service promised in a contract (i.e., performance obligation) is transferred to a customer. Control is obtained when a customer has the ability to direct the use of and obtain substantially all of the remaining benefits from that good or service. A majority of the Company's revenue is recognized at a point-in-time as control is transferred at a distinct point in time per the terms of a contract. However, a portion of the Company's revenue is recognized over-time as the customer simultaneously receives control as the Company performs work under a contract. For these arrangements, management uses the cost-to-cost input method as it best depicts the transfer of control to the customer that occurs as the Company incurs costs. The transaction price allocated to performance obligations reflects the Company's expectations about the consideration it will be entitled to receive from a customer. To determine the transaction price, management assesses variable and noncash consideration as well as whether a significant financing component exists.The principal considerations for our determination that performing procedures relating to revenue recognition from contracts with customers is a critical audit matter are the high degree of auditor effort in performing procedures and evaluating audit evidence related to the Company's revenue recognition of point-in-time and over-time contracts with customers.Addressing the matter involved performing procedures and evaluating audit evidence in connection with forming our overall opinion on the consolidated financial statements. These procedures included testing the effectiveness of controls relating to the revenue recognition process on the Company's point-in-time and over-time contracts with customers. These procedures also included, among others (i) evaluating revenue transactions on a sample basis by obtaining and inspecting evidence of an arrangement with a customer, evidence of goods delivered or services provided and evidence of consideration received in exchange for transferring those goods or services, and (ii) evaluating the completeness and accuracy of data provided by management.Annual Goodwill Impairment Test â€“ Nuvolo Reporting Unit As described in Notes 2 and 5 to the consolidated financial statements, the Company's consolidated goodwill balance was $6,128 million as of December 31, 2024, of which $313 million relates to one reporting unit formed upon the acquisition of Nuvolo in November 2023. Management tests goodwill for impairment annually during the fourth quarter or whenever there is a significant change in events or circumstances that indicate that the fair value of the asset is more likely than not less than the carrying amount of the asset. Impairment of goodwill is tested at the reporting unit level. The test compares the carrying amount of the reporting unit to its estimated fair value. If the estimated fair value of a reporting unit exceeds its carrying amount, goodwill of the reporting unit is not impaired. To the extent that the carrying value of the reporting unit exceeds its estimated fair value, an impairment loss would be recognized for the amount by which the reporting unit's carrying amount exceeds its fair value, not to exceed the carrying amount of goodwill in that reporting unit. As disclosed by management, because quoted market prices are not available for the Company's reporting units, the calculation of their estimated fair value is determined using three valuation techniques: a discounted cash flow model (an income approach), a market-adjusted multiple of earnings or revenues (a market approach), and a similar transactions method (also a market approach). The discounted cash flow approach relies on management's estimates of future cash flows and explicitly addresses factors such as timing, revenue growth rates, and margins, with due consideration given to forecasting risk. The market-adjusted multiple of earnings or revenues approach reflects the market's expectations for future growth and risk, with adjustments to account for differences between the guideline publicly traded companies and the Company's reporting units. The similar transactions method considers prices paid in transactions that have recently occurred in the reporting unit's industry or in related industries. These valuation techniques are weighted 50%, 40% and 10%, respectively. Under the income approach, management's assumptions include the revenue growth rate and discount rate. Under the guideline public company method, the Company used multiples of earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization (EBITDA) or revenues based on the market information of comparable companies.The principal considerations for our determination that performing procedures relating to the goodwill impairment assessment of the Nuvolo reporting unit is a critical audit matter are (i) the significant judgment by management when developing the fair value estimate of the Nuvolo reporting unit; (ii) a high degree of auditor judgment, subjectivity, and effort in performing procedures and evaluating management's significant assumptions related to revenue growth rate and discount rate used in the F-3Table of Contentsdiscounted cash flow valuation model; and (iii) the audit effort involved the use of professionals with specialized skill and knowledge. Addressing the matter involved performing procedures and evaluating audit evidence in connection with forming our overall opinion on the consolidated financial statements. These procedures included testing the effectiveness of controls relating to management's goodwill impairment test, including controls over the valuation of the Nuvolo reporting unit. These procedures also included, among others (i) testing management's process for developing the fair value estimate of the Nuvolo reporting unit; (ii) evaluating the appropriateness of the valuation techniques used by management; (iii) testing the completeness and accuracy of underlying data used in the discounted cash flow model and market-adjusted multiple of revenues valuation approach; and (iv) evaluating the reasonableness of the significant assumptions used by management related to revenue growth rate and discount rate used in the discounted cash flow valuation model. Evaluating management's assumptions related to revenue growth rate involved evaluating whether the assumptions used by management were reasonable considering (i) the current performance of the Nuvolo reporting unit; (ii) the consistency with external market and industry data; and (iii) whether these assumptions were consistent with evidence obtained in other areas of the audit. Professionals with specialized skill and knowledge were used to assist in evaluating (i) the appropriateness of the valuation techniques and (ii) the reasonableness of the discount rate assumption./s/ PricewaterhouseCoopers LLPCharlotte, North CarolinaFebruaryÂ 6, 2025We have served as the Company's auditor since at least 1906. DESCRIPTION OF COMPANYTrane Technologies plc, a public limited company, incorporated in Ireland in 2009, and its consolidated subsidiaries (collectively we, our, the Company or Trane Technologies) is a global climate innovator. The Company brings sustainable and efficient solutions to buildings, homes and transportation through the Company's strategic brands, TraneÂ® and Thermo KingÂ®, and its environmentally responsible portfolio of products, services and connected intelligent controls. The Company generates revenue and cash primarily through the design, manufacture, sales and service of solutions for Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning (HVAC), transport refrigeration, and custom refrigeration solutions.NOTE 2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIESA summary of significant accounting policies used in the preparation of the accompanying Consolidated Financial Statements follows:Basis of Presentation: The accompanying Consolidated Financial Statements reflect the consolidated operations of the Company and have been prepared in accordance with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) as defined by the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) within the FASB Accounting Standards Codification (ASC). Intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated. The results of operations and cash flows of all discontinued operations have been separately reported as discontinued operations for all periods presented. The Company recorded certain income and expenses associated with asbestos liabilities and corresponding insurance recoveries within Discontinued operations, net of tax, as they related to previously divested businesses, except for amounts associated with the predecessor of the Murray Boiler LLC (Murray) asbestos liabilities and corresponding insurance recoveries, which were recorded within continuing operations. See Note 20, "Commitments and Contingencies" for more information regarding asbestos-related matters.The Consolidated Financial Statements include all majority-owned subsidiaries of the Company. A noncontrolling interest in a subsidiary is considered an ownership interest in a majority-owned subsidiary that is not attributable to the parent. The Company includes Noncontrolling interest as a component of Total equity in the Consolidated Balance Sheets and the Net earnings attributable to noncontrolling interests are presented as an adjustment from Net earnings used to arrive at Net earnings attributable to Trane Technologies plc in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings.Use of Estimates:Â The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements as well as the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Estimates are based on several factors including the facts and circumstances available at the time the estimates are made, historical experience, risk of loss, general economic conditions and trends, and the assessment of the probable future outcome. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Estimates and assumptions are reviewed periodically, and the effects of changes, if any, are reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings in the period that they are determined.Currency Translation:Â Assets and liabilities of non-U.S. subsidiaries, where the functional currency is not the U.S. dollar, have been translated at year-end exchange rates, and income and expense accounts have been translated using average exchange rates throughout the year. Adjustments resulting from the process of translating an entity's financial statements into the U.S. dollar have been recorded in the equity section of the Consolidated Balance Sheets within Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). Transactions that are denominated in a currency other than an entity's functional currency are subject to changes in exchange rates with the resulting gains and losses recorded within Other income/(expense), net.Cash and Cash Equivalents: Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, demand deposits and all highly liquid investments with original maturities at the time of purchase of three months or less. The Company maintains amounts on deposit at various financial institutions, which may at times exceed federally insured limits. However, management periodically evaluates the credit-worthiness of those institutions and has not experienced any losses on such deposits.F-10Table of ContentsAllowance for Credit Losses: The Company maintains an allowance for credit losses which represents the best estimate of expected loss inherent in the Company's accounts receivable portfolio. This estimate is based upon a two-step policy that results in the total recorded allowance for credit losses.Â The first step is to record a portfolio reserve based on the aging of the outstanding accounts receivable portfolio and the Company's historical experience with the Company's end markets, customer base and products.Â The second step is to create a specific reserve for significant accounts as to which the customer's ability to satisfy their financial obligation to the Company is in doubt due to circumstances such as bankruptcy, deteriorating operating results or financial position.Â In these circumstances, management uses its judgment to record an allowance based on the best estimate of expected loss, factoring in such considerations as the market value of collateral, if applicable.Â Actual results could differ from those estimates. These estimates and assumptions are reviewed periodically, and the effects of changes, if any, are reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings in the period that they are determined. The Company's allowance for credit losses was $56.6 million and $44.8 million as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively.Inventories:Â Depending on the business, U.S. inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market using the last-in, first-out (LIFO) method or the lower of cost and net realizable value (NRV) using the first-in, first-out (FIFO) method. Non-U.S. inventories are stated at the lower of cost and NRV using the FIFO method. At both DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, approximately 59% of all inventory utilized the LIFO method.Property, Plant and Equipment: Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Assets placed in service are recorded at cost and depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of the asset except for leasehold improvements, which are depreciated over the shorter of their economic useful life or their lease term. The range of useful lives used to depreciate property, plant and equipment is as follows:Buildings10to50yearsMachinery and equipment2to12yearsSoftware2to7yearsMajor expenditures for replacements and significant improvements that increase asset values and extend useful lives are also capitalized. Capitalized costs are amortized over their estimated useful lives using the straight-line method. Repairs and maintenance expenditures that do not extend the useful life of the asset are charged to expense as incurred. The carrying amounts of assets that are sold or retired and the related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts in the year of disposal, and any resulting gain or loss is reflected within current earnings.The Company assesses the recoverability of the carrying value of its property, plant and equipment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the asset group may not be recoverable. Recoverability is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of the asset group to the future net undiscounted cash flows expected to be generated by the asset group. If the undiscounted cash flows are less than the carrying amount of the asset group, an impairment loss is recognized for the amount by which the carrying value of the asset group exceeds the fair value of the asset group.Goodwill and Intangible Assets:Â The Company records as goodwill the excess of the purchase price over the fair value of the net assets acquired in a business combination. Measurement period adjustments may be recorded once a final valuation has been performed. Goodwill and other indefinite-lived intangible assets are tested and reviewed annually for impairment during the fourth quarter or whenever there is a significant change in events or circumstances that indicate that the fair value of the asset is more likely than not less than the carrying amount of the asset. In addition, an interim impairment test is completed upon a triggering event or when there is a reorganization of reporting structure or disposal of all or a portion of a reporting unit.Impairment of goodwill is tested at the reporting unit level. The test compares the carrying amount of the reporting unit to its estimated fair value. If the estimated fair value of a reporting unit exceeds its carrying amount, goodwill of the reporting unit is not impaired. To the extent that the carrying value of the reporting unit exceeds its estimated fair value, an impairment loss would be recognized for the amount by which the reporting unit's carrying amount exceeds its fair value, not to exceed the carrying amount of goodwill in that reporting unit.Intangible assets such as customer-related intangible assets and other intangible assets with finite useful lives are amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated economic lives. The weighted-average useful lives approximate the following:Customer relationships15yearsOther8yearsThe Company assesses the recoverability of the carrying value of its intangible assets with finite useful lives whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the asset group may not be recoverable. Recoverability is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of an asset group to the future net undiscounted cash flows expected to be generated by the asset group. If the undiscounted cash flows are less than the carrying amount of the asset group, an impairment loss is recognized for the amount by which the carrying value of the asset group exceeds the fair value of the asset group.F-11Table of ContentsBusiness Combinations: Acquisitions that meet the definition of a business combination are recorded using the acquisition method of accounting. The Company includes the operating results of acquired entities from their respective dates of acquisition. The Company recognizes and measures the identifiable assets acquired, liabilities assumed, including contingent consideration relating to earnout provisions, and any non-controlling interest as of the acquisition date fair value. The excess, if any, of total consideration transferred in a business combination over the fair value of identifiable assets acquired, liabilities assumed and any non-controlling interest is recognized as goodwill. Costs incurred as a result of a business combination other than costs related to the issuance of debt or equity securities are recorded in the period the costs are incurred. Additionally, at each reporting period, contingent consideration is remeasured to fair value, with changes recorded in Selling and administrative expenses in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings.Equity Investments: Partially-owned equity affiliates generally represent 20-50% ownership interests in equity investments where the Company demonstrates significant influence, but does not have a controlling financial interest. Partially-owned equity affiliates are accounted for under the equity method.The Company invests in companies that complement existing products and services further enhancing its product portfolio. The Company records equity investments for which it does not have significant influence and without a readily determinable fair value at cost with adjustments for observable changes in price or impairment as permitted by the measurement alternative. Investments for which the measurement alternative has been elected are assessed for impairment upon a triggering event. Equity investments without a readily determinable fair value were $87.7Â million and $69.9Â million for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and DecemberÂ 31, 2023, respectively.Employee Benefit Plans: The Company provides a range of benefits, including pensions, postretirement and postemployment benefits to eligible current and former employees. Determining the cost associated with such benefits is dependent on various actuarial assumptions, including discount rates, expected return on plan assets, compensation increases, mortality, turnover rates, and healthcare cost trend rates. Actuaries perform the required calculations to determine expense in accordance with GAAP. Actual results may differ from the actuarial assumptions and are generally accumulated into Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) and amortized into Net earnings over future periods. The Company reviews its actuarial assumptions at each measurement date and makes modifications to the assumptions based on current rates and trends, if appropriate.Loss Contingencies:Â Liabilities are recorded for various contingencies arising in the normal course of business. The Company has recorded reserves in the financial statements related to these matters, which are developed using input derived from actuarial estimates and historical and anticipated experience data depending on the nature of the reserve, and in certain instances with consultation of legal counsel, internal and external consultants and engineers. Subject to the uncertainties inherent in estimating future costs for these types of liabilities, the Company believes its estimated reserves are reasonable and does not believe the final determination of the liabilities with respect to these matters would have a material effect on the financial condition, results of operations, liquidity or cash flows of the Company for any year. Environmental Costs:Â The Company is subject to laws and regulations relating to protecting the environment. Environmental expenditures relating to current operations are expensed or capitalized as appropriate. Expenditures relating to existing conditions caused by past operations, which do not contribute to current or future revenues, are expensed. Liabilities for remediation costs are recorded when they are probable and can be reasonably estimated, generally no later than the completion of feasibility studies or the Company's commitment to a plan of action. The assessment of this liability, which is calculated based on existing remediation technology, does not reflect any offset for possible recoveries from insurance companies, and is not discounted.Product Warranties: Standard product warranty accruals are recorded at the time of sale and are estimated based upon product warranty terms and historical experience. The Company assesses the adequacy of its liabilities and will make adjustments as necessary based on known or anticipated warranty claims, or as new information becomes available. The Company's extended warranty liability represents the deferred revenue associated with its extended warranty contracts and is amortized into revenue on a straight-line basis over the life of the contract, unless another method is more representative of the costs incurred. The Company assesses the adequacy of its liability by evaluating the expected costs under its existing contracts to ensure these expected costs do not exceed the extended warranty liability.Income Taxes:Â Deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on temporary differences between financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities, applying enacted tax rates expected to be in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse. The Company recognizes future tax benefits, such as net operating losses and tax credits, to the extent that realizing these benefits is considered in its judgment to be more likely than not. The Company regularly reviews the recoverability of its deferred tax assets considering its historic profitability, projected future taxable income, timing of the reversals of existing temporary differences and the feasibility of its tax planning strategies. Where appropriate, the Company records a valuation allowance with respect to a future tax benefit.F-12Table of ContentsRevenue Recognition:Â Revenue is recognized when control of a good or service promised in a contract (i.e., performance obligation) is transferred to a customer. Control is obtained when a customer has the ability to direct the use of and obtain substantially all of the remaining benefits from that good or service. The majority of the Company's revenue is recognized at a point-in-time as control is transferred at a distinct point in time per the terms of a contract. However, a portion of the Company's revenue is recognized over-time as the customer simultaneously receives control as the Company performs work under a contract. For these arrangements, the cost-to-cost input method (percentage of completion) is used as it best depicts the transfer of control to the customer that occurs as the Company incurs costs. See Note 12, "Revenue" to the Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information regarding revenue recognition.Research and Development Costs: The Company conducts research and development activities focused on product and system sustainability improvements such as increasing energy efficiency, developing products that allow for use of lower global warming potential refrigerants, reducing material content in products, and designing products for circularity. These expenditures are expensed when incurred. For the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, these expenditures amounted to $309.6Â million, $252.3Â million and $211.2Â million, respectively.Recent Accounting PronouncementsThe FASB ASC is the sole source of authoritative GAAP other than the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) issued rules and regulations that apply only to SEC registrants. The FASB issues an Accounting Standard Update (ASU) to communicate changes to the codification. The Company considers the applicability and impact of all ASU's. ASU's not listed below were assessed and determined to be either not applicable or are not expected to have a material impact on the consolidated financial statements.Recently Adopted Accounting PronouncementsIn November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07, "Segment Reporting (Topic 280): Improvements to Reportable Segment Disclosures" (ASU 2023-07) which requires public entities to disclose information about their reportable segments' oversight and significant expenses on an interim and annual basis. The ASU is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023 and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. To achieve that objective, the Company should disclose qualitative and quantitative information about its supplier finance programs. The Company adopted this standard on January 1, 2023, except for the amendment on roll forward information which is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023. See Note 8, "Supplier Financing Arrangements" for more information regarding the Company's supplier financing program.In November 2021, the FASB issued ASU 2021-10, "Government Assistance (Topic 832): Disclosures by Business Entities about Government Assistance" (ASU 2021-10), which requires additional disclosures regarding government grants and cash contributions. The additional disclosures required by this update include information about the nature of the transactions and the related accounting policy used to account for the transaction, the financial statement line items affected by the transactions and the amounts applicable to each financial statement line item and significant terms and conditions of the transactions, including commitments and contingencies. ASU 2021-10 is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2021 with early adoption permitted. The Company adopted this standard on January 1, 2022 with no material impact on its Consolidated Financial Statements.Accounting Pronouncements Issued but not yet AdoptedIn November 2024, the FASB issued ASU 2024-03, "Income Statement-Reporting Comprehensive Income-Expense Disaggregation Disclosures (Subtopic 220-40)" (ASU 2024-03) which requires additional disaggregated disclosures in the notes to financial statements for certain categories of expenses that are included on the face of the income statement. The ASU is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2026 and interim periods beginning after December 15, 2027. Early adoption is permitted. The Company does not currently expect to adopt this ASU before the required effective date. The Company is evaluating the impact of the standard on its financial statement disclosures.F-13Table of ContentsIn December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09, "Improvements to Income Tax Disclosures (Topic 740)" (ASU 2023-09) which improves the transparency of income tax disclosures by requiring consistent categories and greater disaggregation of information in the rate reconciliation and income taxes paid disaggregated by jurisdiction. The ASU is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted. The Company does not currently expect to adopt this ASU before the required effective date. The Company is evaluating the impact of the standard on its financial statement disclosures.In October 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-06, "Disclosure Improvements: Codification Amendments in Response to SEC's Disclosure Update and Simplification Initiative" (ASU 2023-06) to amend a variety of disclosure requirements in the ASC. The effective date for each amendment will be the date on which the SEC's removal of that related disclosure from Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K becomes effective. Early adoption is prohibited. Upon adoption, this ASU is not expected to have a material impact on its financial statement disclosures.NOTE 3. The Company measures the fair value of its debt instruments for disclosure purposes based upon observable market prices quoted on public exchanges for similar assets. These fair value inputs are considered Level 2 within the fair value hierarchy. See Note 9, "Fair Value Measurements" for information on the fair value hierarchy.NOTE 8. SUPPLIER FINANCING ARRANGEMENTSThe Company has an agreement with a U.S. financial institution that allows its suppliers to sell their receivables to the financial institution at the sole discretion of both the supplier and the financial institution on terms that are negotiated between them. The Company may not always be notified when its suppliers sell receivables under this program.The Company's obligations to its suppliers, including the amounts due and scheduled payment dates, are not impacted by the suppliers' decisions to sell their receivables under the program. The payment terms that the Company has with participating suppliers under these programs are generally up to 120 days. The changes in the supplier financing program for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 were as follows:In millionsBalance outstanding at beginning of year$246.0Invoices confirmed during year1,026.2Confirmed invoices paid during year(999.4)Balance outstanding at end of year$272.8Amounts due to suppliers participating in the supplier financing program are presented within Accounts payable in the Consolidated Balance Sheet.NOTE 9. FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTSFair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value hierarchy that prioritizes information used in developing assumptions when pricing an asset or liability is as follows:â€¢Level 1: Observable inputs such as quoted prices in active markets;â€¢Level 2: Inputs, other than quoted prices in active markets, that are observable either directly or indirectly; andâ€¢Level 3: Unobservable inputs where there is little or no market data, which requires the reporting entity to develop its own assumptions.Observable market data is required to be used in making fair value measurements when available. When inputs used to measure fair value fall within different levels of the hierarchy, the level within which the fair value measurement is categorized is based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement.F-18Table of ContentsThe following table presents the Company's fair value hierarchy for those assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024:In millionsFair ValueFair value measurementsLevel 1Level 2Level 3Assets:Derivative instruments$2.5Â $â€”Â $2.5Â $â€”Â Liabilities:Derivative instruments8.9Â â€”Â 8.9Â â€”Â Contingent consideration61.2Â â€”Â â€”Â 61.2Â The following table presents the Company's fair value hierarchy for those assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023:In MillionsFair ValueFair value measurementsLevel 1Level 2Level 3Assets:Derivative instruments$4.1Â $â€”Â $4.1Â $â€”Â Liabilities:Derivative instruments4.8Â â€”Â 4.8Â â€”Â Contingent consideration90.3Â â€”Â â€”Â 90.3Â Derivative instruments include forward foreign currency contracts and instruments related to non-functional currency balance sheet exposures and commodity swaps. The fair value of the foreign exchange derivative instruments are determined based on a pricing model that uses spot rates and forward prices from actively quoted currency markets that are readily accessible and observable. The fair value of the commodity derivatives is valued under a market approach using published prices, where applicable, or dealer quotes.The carrying values of cash and cash equivalents, short-term investments, accounts receivable and accounts payable are a reasonable estimate of their fair value due to the short-term nature of these instruments. There have been no transfers between levels of the fair value hierarchy.The Company agreed to two contingent consideration arrangements in connection with the acquisition of Nuvolo Technologies Corporation (Nuvolo) in November 2023. The first contingent consideration arrangement, payable of up to $90.0 million in cash, is based on the attainment of key revenue targets from November 2, 2023 through April 4, 2025. If the first contingent consideration targets are met, a second contingent consideration arrangement with no maximum earnout is available to the sellers based on revenues in excess of the initial targets attained from a specified customer contract through April 4, 2025.The Company agreed to a contingent consideration arrangement in connection with the acquisition of Farrar Scientific Corporation in October 2021, conditioned on the attainment of key financial targets during the period of January 1, 2022 through December 31, 2024. These targets were not met and no payment was made.Each quarter, the Company evaluates the fair value of the liability as assumptions change and any non-cash adjustments are recorded in Selling and administrative expenses in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings. Contingent consideration related to acquisitions are measured at fair value using Level 3 unobservable inputs. The fair value of the contingent consideration is determined using the Monte Carlo simulation model based on revenue projections during the earnout period, implied revenue volatility and a risk adjusted discount rate.The changes in the fair value of the Company's Level 3 liabilities during the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023 are as follows:In millions20242023Balance at beginning of period$90.3Â $49.3Â Fair value of contingent consideration recorded in connection with acquisitionsâ€”Â 90.3Â Change in fair value of contingent consideration(25.0)(49.3)Measurement period adjustment(4.1)â€”Â Balance at end of period$61.2Â $90.3Â F-19Table of ContentsThe following inputs and assumptions were used in the Monte Carlo simulation model to estimate the fair value of the contingent consideration at DecemberÂ 31, 2024:20242023Discount rate (risk adjusted)8.55%-8.58%8.14%-8.48%Volatility 14.80Â %16.20Â %Refer to Note 17, "Acquisitions and Divestitures" for more information regarding the contingent consideration.Certain assets are measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis. The Company's equity investments without a readily available fair value are accounted for using the measurement alternative and are measured at fair value when observable transactions of identical or similar securities occurs, or due to an impairment. When indicators of impairment exist or observable price changes of qualified transactions occur, the respective equity investment would be classified within Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy due to the absence of quoted market prices, the inherent lack of liquidity and unobservable inputs used to measure fair value that require management's judgment. NOTE 10. LEASESThe Company's lease portfolio includes various contracts for real estate, vehicles, information technology and other equipment. At contract inception, the Company determines a lease exists if the contract conveys the right to control an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. Control is considered to exist when the lessee has the right to obtain substantially all of the economic benefits from the use of an identified asset as well as the right to direct the use of that asset. If a contract is considered to be a lease, the Company recognizes a lease liability based on the present value of the future lease payments, with an offsetting entry to recognize a right-of-use asset.Â Options to extend or terminate a lease are included when it is reasonably certain an option will be exercised. As a majority of the Company's leases do not provide an implicit rate within the lease, an incremental borrowing rate is used which is based on information available at the commencement date.The following table includes a summary of the Company's lease portfolio and Balance Sheet classification:In millionsClassificationDecember 31,2024December 31,2023AssetsOperating lease right-of-use assets (1)Other noncurrent assets$602.6Â $513.1Â LiabilitiesOperating lease currentOther current liabilities173.5Â 155.4Â Operating lease noncurrentOther noncurrent liabilities441.2Â 367.3Â Weighted average remaining lease term5.0 years5.0 yearsWeighted average discount rate4.6Â %4.5Â %(1) Prepaid lease payments and lease incentives are recorded as part of the right-of-use asset. In addition, the Company utilizes a portfolio approach for the vehicle, information technology and equipment asset classes as the application of the lease model to the portfolio would not differ materially from the application of the lease model to the individual leases within the portfolio.The following table includes lease costs and related cash flow information for the years ended DecemberÂ 31:In millions20242023Operating lease expense$197.8Â $187.8Â Variable lease expense35.6Â 31.0Â Cash paid for amounts included in the measurement of lease liabilities:Operating cash flows from operating leases195.4Â 185.3Â Right-of-use assets obtained in exchange for new operating lease liabilities244.9Â 179.2Â Operating lease expense is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term. The expected long-term rate of return is determined as of the measurement date. The Company reviews each plan and its historical returns and target asset allocations to determine the appropriate expected long-term rate of return on plan assets to be used.The Company's objective in managing its defined benefit plan assets is to ensure that all present and future benefit obligations are met as they come due. It seeks to achieve this goal while trying to mitigate volatility in plan funded status, contribution, and expense by better matching the characteristics of the plan assets to that of the plan liabilities. The Company utilizes a dynamic approach to asset allocation whereby a plan's allocation to fixed income assets increases as the plan's funded status improves. The Company monitors plan funded status and asset allocation regularly in addition to investment manager performance.F-24Table of ContentsThe fair values of the Company's pension plan assets at DecemberÂ 31, 2024 by asset category were as follows:Â Fair value measurementsNet asset valueTotalfairÂ valueIn millionsLevelÂ 1Level 2LevelÂ 3Cash and cash equivalents$6.5Â $30.0Â $â€”Â $â€”Â $36.5Â Equity investments:Registered mutual funds â€“ equity specialtyâ€”Â â€”Â â€”Â 73.7Â 73.7Â Commingled funds â€“ equity specialtyâ€”Â â€”Â â€”Â 244.2Â 244.2Â â€”Â â€”Â â€”Â 317.9Â 317.9Â Fixed income investments:U.S. government and agency obligationsâ€”Â 384.1Â â€”Â â€”Â 384.1Â Corporate and non-U.S. bondsâ€”Â 1,001.9Â â€”Â â€”Â 1,001.9Â Asset-backed and mortgage-backed securitiesâ€”Â 14.9Â â€”Â â€”Â 14.9Â Registered mutual funds â€“ fixed income specialtyâ€”Â â€”Â â€”Â 91.7Â 91.7Â Commingled funds â€“ fixed income specialtyâ€”Â â€”Â â€”Â 81.0Â 81.0Â Other fixed income(a)â€”Â â€”Â 31.5Â â€”Â 31.5Â â€”Â 1,400.9Â 31.5Â 172.7Â 1,605.1Â Derivativesâ€”Â (0.5)â€”Â â€”Â (0.5)Other(b)â€”Â â€”Â 86.2Â â€”Â 86.2Â Total assets at fair value$6.5Â $1,430.4Â $117.7Â $490.6Â $2,045.2Â Receivables and payables, net(35.0)Net assets available for benefitsÂ Â Â $2,010.2Â The fair values of the Company's pension plan assets at DecemberÂ 31, 2023 by asset category were as follows:Â Fair value measurementsNet asset valueTotalfairÂ valueIn millionsLevelÂ 1Level 2LevelÂ 3Cash and cash equivalents$4.7Â $43.9Â $â€”Â $â€”Â $48.6Â Equity investments:Registered mutual funds â€“ equity specialtyâ€”Â â€”Â â€”Â 78.7Â 78.7Â Commingled funds â€“ equity specialtyâ€”Â â€”Â â€”Â 262.4Â 262.4Â â€”Â â€”Â â€”Â 341.1Â 341.1Â Fixed income investments:U.S. government and agency obligationsâ€”Â 355.7Â â€”Â â€”Â 355.7Â Corporate and non-U.S. bondsâ€”Â 1,079.5Â â€”Â â€”Â 1,079.5Â Asset-backed and mortgage-backed securitiesâ€”Â 12.5Â â€”Â â€”Â 12.5Â Registered mutual funds â€“ fixed income specialtyâ€”Â â€”Â â€”Â 96.1Â 96.1Â Commingled funds â€“ fixed income specialtyâ€”Â â€”Â â€”Â 75.0Â 75.0Â Other fixed income(a)â€”Â â€”Â 31.2Â â€”Â 31.2Â â€”Â 1,447.7Â 31.2Â 171.1Â 1,650.0Â Derivativesâ€”Â 5.9Â â€”Â â€”Â 5.9Â Other(b)â€”Â â€”Â 89.7Â â€”Â 89.7Â Total assets at fair value$4.7Â $1,497.5Â $120.9Â $512.2Â $2,135.3Â Receivables and payables, net10.4Â Net assets available for benefitsÂ Â Â $2,145.7Â (a)This class includes group annuity and guaranteed interest contracts.(b)This investment comprises the Company's non-significant, non-US pension plan assets. Fixed income securities are valued through a market approach with inputs including, but not limited to, benchmark yields, reported trades, broker quotes and issuer spreads. Commingled funds are valued at their daily net asset value (NAV) per share or the equivalent. NAV per share or the equivalent is used for fair value purposes as a practical expedient. NAVs are calculated by the investment manager or sponsor of the fund. Refer to Note 9, "Fair Value Measurements" for additional information related to the fair value hierarchy. There have been no significant transfers between levels of the fair value hierarchy.The Company made required and discretionary contributions to its pension plans of $58.9 million in 2024, $93.5 million in 2023, and $90.5 million in 2022 and currently projects that it will contribute approximately $30 million to its plans worldwide in 2025. The Company's policy allows it to fund an amount, which could be in excess of or less than the pension cost expensed, subject to the limitations imposed by current tax regulations. However, the Company anticipates funding the plans in 2025 in accordance with contributions required by funding regulations or the laws of each jurisdiction.Most of the Company's U.S. employees are covered by defined contribution plans. Employer contributions are determined based on criteria specific to the individual plans and amounted to approximately $188 million, $165 million and $138 million in 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively. The Company's contributions relating to non-U.S. defined contribution plans and other non-U.S. benefit plans were $38.6 million, $30.9 million and $33.8 million in 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively.Multiemployer Pension PlansThe Company also participates in a number of multiemployer defined benefit pension plans related to collectively bargained U.S. employees of Trane. The Company's contributions are determined by the terms of the related collective-bargaining agreements. These multiemployer plans pose different risks to the Company than single-employer plans, including:1.The Company's contributions to multiemployer plans may be used to provide benefits to all participating employees of the plan, including employees of other employers.2.In the event that another participating employer ceases contributions to a plan, the Company, together with other remaining participating employers, may be responsible for any unfunded obligations of the employer that ceased making contributions.3.If the Company chooses to withdraw from any of the multiemployer plans or if a partial withdrawal occurs, the Company may be required to pay a withdrawal liability, based on the underfunded status of the plan.As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, the Company does not participate in any multiemployer plans that are individually significant.Postretirement Benefits Other Than PensionsThe Company sponsors several postretirement plans that provide healthcare benefits and, in some instances, life insurance benefits for eligible current and retired employees. These plans are unfunded and have no plan assets; instead they are funded by the Company on a pay-as-you-go basis in the form of direct benefit payments. Generally, postretirement health benefits are contributory, with contributions adjusted annually. Life insurance plans for retirees are primarily non-contributory.The following table details changes in the Company's postretirement plan benefit obligations for the years ended DecemberÂ 31:In millions20242023Benefit obligation at beginning of year$241.3Â $266.4Â Service cost1.2Â 1.4Â Interest cost11.5Â 13.3Â Actuarial (gains) losses(5.6)(7.4)Benefits paid, net of Medicare Part D subsidy(25.3)(32.4)Benefit obligations at end of year$222.7Â $241.3Â The benefit plan obligations are reflected in the Consolidated Balance Sheets as follows:In millionsDecember 31, 2024December 31, 2023Accrued compensation and benefits(27.9)(29.3)Postemployment and other benefit liabilities(194.8)(212.0)Total(222.7)(241.3)F-26Table of ContentsThe pre-tax amounts recognized in Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) were as follows:In millionsPrior service benefit (cost)Net actuarial gains (losses)TotalBalance at December 31, 2023(2.7)114.9Â $112.2Â Current year changes recorded to AOCIâ€”Â 5.6Â 5.6Â Amortization reclassified to earnings0.6Â (13.2)(12.6)Balance at December 31, 2024(2.1)107.2Â $105.1Â The components of net periodic postretirement benefit cost for the years ended DecemberÂ 31 were as follows:In millions202420232022Service cost$1.2Â $1.4Â $1.8Â Interest cost11.5Â 13.3Â 6.9Â Net amortization of:Prior service costs (benefits)0.6Â 0.6Â â€”Â Plan net actuarial (gains) losses(13.2)(13.0)(5.6)Net periodic postretirement benefit cost$0.1Â $2.3Â $3.1Â Amounts recorded in continuing operations:Â Â Â Operating income$1.2Â $1.4Â $1.8Â Â Â Â Other income/(expense), net0.1Â 1.4Â 1.4Â Amounts recorded in discontinued operations(1.2)(0.5)(0.1)Total$0.1Â $2.3Â $3.1Â Net periodic postretirement benefit cost (credit) for 2025 is projected to be $(0.3) million. REVENUEPerformance ObligationsA performance obligation is a distinct good, service or a bundle of goods and services promised in a contract. The Company identifies performance obligations at the inception of a contract and allocates the transaction price to individual performance obligations to faithfully depict the Company's performance in transferring control of the promised goods or services to the customer.The following are the primary performance obligations identified by the Company:Equipment. The Company principally generates revenue from the sale of equipment to customers and recognizes revenue at a point in time when control transfers to the customer. Transfer of control is generally determined based on the shipping terms of the contract. Contracting and installation. The Company enters into various construction-type contracts to design, deliver and build integrated solutions to meet customer specifications. These transactions provide services that range from the development and installation of new HVAC systems to the design and integration of critical building systems to optimize energy efficiency and overall performance. These contracts have a typical term of less than one year and are considered a single performance obligation as multiple combined goods and services promised in the contract represent a single output delivered to the customer. Revenues associated with contracting and installation contracts are recognized over time with progress towards completion measured using the cost-to-cost input method (percentage of completion) as the basis to recognize revenue and an estimated profit. To-date efforts for work performed corresponds with and faithfully depicts transfer of control to the customer.Services and maintenance. The Company provides various levels of preventative and/or repair and maintenance type service agreements for its customers. The typical length of a contract is between 12 months and 60 months. Revenues associated with these performance obligations are primarily recognized over time on a straight-line basis over the life of the contract as the customer simultaneously receives and consumes the benefit provided by the Company. However, if historical evidence indicates that the cost of providing these services on a straight-line basis is not appropriate, revenue is recognized over the contract period in proportion to the costs expected to be incurred while performing the service. Revenues for certain repair services that do not meet the criteria for over time revenue recognition and sales of parts are recognized at a point in time.Extended warranties. The Company enters into various warranty contracts with customers related to its products. A standard warranty generally warrants that a product is free from defects in workmanship and materials under normal use and conditions for a certain period of time. The Company's standard warranty is not considered a distinct performance obligation as it does not provide services to customers beyond assurance that the covered product is free of initial defects. An extended warranty provides a customer with additional time that the Company is liable for covered incidents associated with its products. Extended warranties are purchased separately and can last up to five years. As a result, they are considered separate performance obligations for the Company. Revenue associated with these performance obligations is primarily recognized over time on a straight-line basis over the life of the contract as the customer simultaneously receives and consumes the benefit provided by the Company. However, if historical evidence indicates that the cost of providing these services on a straight-line basis is not appropriate, revenue is recognized over the contract period in proportion to the costs expected to be incurred while performing the service. Refer to Note 20, "Commitments and Contingencies," for more information related to product warranties.The transaction price allocated to performance obligations reflects the Company's expectations about the consideration it will be entitled to receive from a customer. To determine the transaction price, variable and non-cash consideration are assessed as well as whether a significant financing component exists. The Company includes variable consideration in the estimated transaction price when it is probable that significant reversal of revenue recognized would not occur when the uncertainty associated with variable consideration is subsequently resolved. The Company considers historical data in determining its best estimates of variable consideration, and the related accruals are recorded using the expected value method.For projects financed through energy savings, the Company provides financial guarantees for in-process work and financial commitments with end dates varying from the current fiscal year through the completion of such transactions that could be triggered in the event of nonperformance. Additionally, for completed energy savings contracts, the Company has ongoing performance guarantees related to the customers' realization of committed energy savings that are evaluated during the measurement and verification portion of contracting and installation agreements. These performance guarantees represent variable consideration and are estimated as part of the overall transaction price. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, the Company has outstanding performance guarantees of approximately $1Â billion related to completed energy savings contracts that extend from 2025-2049. Since 1995, the Company has recognized an immaterial amount in adjustments to the overall transaction price of energy savings contracts as a result of these performance guarantees.The Company enters into sales arrangements that contain multiple goods and services. For these arrangements, each good or service is evaluated to determine whether it represents a distinct performance obligation and whether the sales price for each obligation is representative of standalone selling price. If available, the Company utilizes observable prices for goods or F-28Table of Contentsservices sold separately to similar customers in similar circumstances to evaluate relative standalone selling price. List prices are used if they are determined to be representative of standalone selling prices. Where necessary, the Company ensures that the total transaction price is then allocated to the distinct performance obligations based on the determination of their relative standalone selling price at the inception of the arrangement.The Company recognizes revenue for delivered goods or services when the delivered good or service is distinct, control of the good or service has transferred to the customer, and only customary refund or return rights related to the goods or services exist. The Company excludes from revenues taxes it collects from a customer that are assessed by a government authority.Disaggregated RevenueNet revenues by geography and major type of good or service for the years ended at December 31 were as follows:In millions202420232022AmericasÂ Â Â Â Â Equipment$10,608.2Â $9,259.7Â $8,575.1Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Services5,295.0Â 4,572.3Â 4,065.7Â Total Americas$15,903.2Â $13,832.0Â $12,640.8Â EMEAEquipment$1,780.3Â $1,700.5Â $1,420.9Â Services776.4Â 700.7Â 613.6Â Total EMEA$2,556.7Â $2,401.2Â $2,034.5Â Asia PacificÂ Â Â Â Â Equipment$926.0Â $1,015.2Â $934.8Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Services452.3Â 429.2Â 381.6Â Total Asia Pacific$1,378.3Â $1,444.4Â $1,316.4Â Total Net revenues$19,838.2Â $17,677.6Â $15,991.7Â Revenue from goods and services transferred to customers at a point in time accounted for approximately 80%, 81% and 82% of the Company's revenue for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively.Contract BalancesThe opening and closing balances of contract assets and contract liabilities arising from contracts with customers for the period ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and DecemberÂ 31, 2023 were as follows:In millionsLocation on Consolidated Balance Sheet20242023Contract assets - currentOther current assets$427.3Â $458.4Â Contract liabilities - currentAccrued expenses and other current liabilities1,310.9Â 1,301.2Â Contract liabilities - noncurrentOther noncurrent liabilities294.0Â 247.2Â The timing of revenue recognition, billings and cash collections results in accounts receivable, contract assets, and customer advances and deposits (contract liabilities) on the Consolidated Balance Sheets. In general, the Company receives payments from customers based on a billing schedule established in its contracts. Contract assets relate to the conditional right to consideration for any completed performance under the contract when costs are incurred in excess of billings under the percentage of completion methodology. Accounts receivable are recorded when the right to consideration becomes unconditional. Contract liabilities relate to payments received in advance of performance under the contract or when the Company has a right to consideration that is unconditional before it transfers a good or service to the customer. Contract liabilities are recognized as revenue as (or when) the Company performs under the contract. During the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, changes in contract asset and liability balances were not materially impacted by any other factors.Approximately 72% of the contract liability balance at DecemberÂ 31, 2023 was recognized as revenue during the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024. The program provides awards in the form of PSUs based on performance against pre-established objectives. The annual target award level is expressed as a number of the Company's ordinary shares based on the fair market value of the Company's stock on the date of grant. All PSUs are settled in the form of ordinary shares.PSU awards are earned based 50% upon a performance condition, measured by relative Cash Flow Return on Invested Capital (CROIC) to the S&P 500 Industrials Index over a 3-year performance period, and 50% upon a market condition, measured by the Company's relative total shareholder return (TSR) as compared to the TSR of the S&P 500 Industrials Index over a 3-year performance period. Beginning with the 2024 grant year, for PSUs granted to retirement eligible employees, the Company recognizes the expense over the period during which an employee is required to provide service in exchange for the award, which is 12 months. For awards granted to retirement eligible employees prior to 2024, the expense was recognized over the 3-year performance period. The fair value of the market condition is estimated using a Monte Carlo simulation model in a risk-neutral framework based upon historical volatility, risk-free rates and correlation matrix.F-33Table of ContentsThe following table summarizes PSU activity for the maximum number of shares that may be issued for the years 2024, 2023 and 2022:PSUsWeighted-average grant date fair valueOutstanding and unvested at December 31, 2021801,956Â $131.14Â Granted195,930Â 170.31Â Vested(346,540)89.70Â Forfeited(42,320)164.21Â Outstanding and unvested at DecemberÂ 31, 2022609,026Â $165.02Â Granted208,046Â 207.23Â Vested(237,586)147.33Â Forfeited(20,526)186.32Â Outstanding and unvested at DecemberÂ 31, 2023558,960Â $187.47Â Granted161,978Â 332.85Â Vested(184,060)182.48Â Forfeited(21,072)226.31Â Outstanding and unvested at DecemberÂ 31, 2024515,806Â $233.32Â At DecemberÂ 31, 2024, there was $14.7 million of total unrecognized compensation cost from PSU arrangements based on current performance, which is related to unvested shares. Although the outcomes and timing of such events are highly uncertain, it is reasonably possible that the balance of gross unrecognized tax benefits, excluding interest and penalties, could potentially be reduced by up to approximately $35 million during the next 12 months.F-37Table of ContentsThe provision for income taxes involves a significant amount of management judgment regarding interpretation of relevant facts and laws in the jurisdictions in which the Company operates. Future changes in applicable laws, projected levels of taxable income and tax planning could change the effective income tax rate and tax balances recorded by the Company. In addition, tax authorities periodically review income tax returns filed by the Company and can raise issues regarding its filing positions, timing and amount of income or deductions, and the allocation of income among the jurisdictions in which the Company operates. A significant period of time may elapse between the filing of an income tax return and the ultimate resolution of an issue raised by a revenue authority with respect to that return. In the normal course of business the Company is subject to examination by taxing authorities throughout the world, including such major jurisdictions as Belgium, Brazil, Canada, China, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, Mexico, Singapore, Spain, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom and the United States. These examinations on their own, or any subsequent litigation related to the examinations, may result in additional income taxes or penalties against the Company. If the ultimate result of these audits differ from original or adjusted estimates, they could have a material impact on the Company's income tax provision. In general, the examination of the Company's U.S. federal tax returns is complete for years prior to 2016. The Company's U.S. federal income tax returns for 2016 to 2019 are currently under examination by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). In general, the examination of the Company's material non-U.S. income tax returns is complete or effectively settled for the years prior to 2013, with certain matters prior to 2013 being resolved through appeals and litigation and also unilateral procedures as provided for under double tax treaties.NOTE 17. The Asia Pacific segment encompasses heating, cooling and ventilation systems, services and solutions for commercial buildings, and transport refrigeration systems and solutions.The Company's chief operating decision maker (CODM), the Chief Executive Officer, uses two profitability measures, Segment Adjusted EBITDA and Segment Adjusted Operating Income, in assessing segment performance and deciding how to allocate resources:â€¢Segment Adjusted EBITDA represents net earnings excluding interest expense, income taxes, depreciation and amortization, restructuring, non-cash adjustments for contingent consideration, merger and acquisition-related costs, unallocated corporate expenses, discontinued operations and other non-recurring transactions. Segment Adjusted EBITDA also provides a useful tool for assessing the operating performance and comparability between periods and our ability to generate cash because it excludes the impact of certain non-cash or non-recurring items that can vary significantly from period to period. Segment Adjusted EBITDA is used in the development of annual operating plans, including capital expenditure and operational budgets, and in measuring performance against targets for purposes of incentive compensation.â€¢Segment Adjusted Operating Income represents operating income adjusted to exclude restructuring costs, merger and acquisition-related costs, non-cash adjustments for contingent consideration and other non-recurring items. Segment Adjusted Operating Income, and ratios based on it, are used to provide a comprehensive view of segment profitability and evaluate efficient returns on assets.Segment Adjusted EBITDA and Segment Adjusted Operating Income are not defined under GAAP and may not be comparable to similarly titled measures used by other companies and should not be considered a substitute for net earnings or other results reported in accordance with GAAP. Measures of total assets by reportable segment are not provided to the CODM. Therefore, asset information by segment is not disclosed.A summary of results by reportable segment for the years ended DecemberÂ 31 were as follows:In millions202420232022AmericasSegment revenues$15,903.2Â $13,832.0Â $12,640.8Â Segment cost of goods sold(10,249.9)(9,262.4)(8,714.1)Segment selling and administrative expenses(2,614.2)(2,123.7)(1,857.7)Segment Adjusted Operating Income$3,039.1Â $2,445.9Â $2,069.0Â Segment depreciation and amortization299.8Â 258.8Â 256.8Â Segment other income/(expense), net(20.6)(35.1)0.5Â Segment Adjusted EBITDA$3,318.3Â $2,669.6Â $2,326.3Â EMEASegment revenues$2,556.7Â $2,401.2Â $2,034.5Â Segment cost of goods sold(1,641.8)(1,584.4)(1,408.7)Segment selling and administrative expenses(442.1)(392.3)(315.5)Segment Adjusted Operating Income$472.8Â $424.5Â $310.3Â Segment depreciation and amortization43.5Â 40.5Â 28.8Â Segment other income/(expense), net(11.2)(0.3)(1.0)Segment Adjusted EBITDA$505.1Â $464.7Â $338.1Â Asia PacificSegment revenues$1,378.3Â $1,444.4Â $1,316.4Â Segment cost of goods sold(843.2)(935.2)(886.9)Segment selling and administrative expenses(226.3)(208.4)(197.8)Segment Adjusted Operating Income$308.8Â $300.8Â $231.7Â Segment depreciation and amortization17.9Â 18.3Â 17.2Â Segment other income/(expense), net2.6Â 2.2Â (0.6)Segment Adjusted EBITDA$329.3Â $321.3Â $248.3Â F-41Table of ContentsIn millions202420232022Reconciliation of Segment Adjusted EBITDA and Segment Adjusted Operating Income to earnings before income taxesTotal Segment Adjusted EBITDA$4,152.7Â $3,455.6Â $2,912.7Â Total Segment depreciation and amortization(361.2)(317.6)(302.9)Total Segment other income/(expense), net29.1Â 33.2Â 1.2Â Total Segment Adjusted Operating Income3,820.6Â 3,171.2Â 2,611.0Â Restructuring costs(5.0)(15.1)(20.7)Non-cash adjustments for contingent consideration25.0Â 49.3Â 46.9Â Insurance settlements on property claimsâ€”Â 10.0Â 25.0Â Acquisition inventory step-up and backlog amortizationâ€”Â (18.5)(1.2)Unallocated corporate expenses(340.5)(302.9)(242.1)Interest expense(238.4)(234.5)(223.5)Other income/(expense), net(19.9)(92.2)(23.3)Earnings before income taxes$3,241.8Â $2,567.3Â $2,172.1Â Capital ExpendituresAmericas$244.7Â $217.2Â $230.5Â EMEA36.6Â 31.9Â 25.9Â Asia Pacific16.1Â 14.3Â 11.2Â Capital expenditures from reportable segments$297.4Â $263.4Â $267.6Â Corporate capital expenditures73.2Â 37.3Â 24.2Â Total capital expenditures$370.6Â $300.7Â $291.8Â At December 31, a summary of long-lived assets by geographic area were as follows:In millions20242023United States$1,936.0Â $1,618.6Â Non-U.S.691.1Â 666.7Â Total$2,627.1Â $2,285.3Â NOTE 20. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIESThe Company is involved in various litigation, claims and administrative proceedings, including those related to the bankruptcy proceedings for Aldrich Pump LLC (Aldrich) and Murray Boiler LLC (Murray) and environmental and product liability matters. The Company records accruals for loss contingencies when it is both probable that a liability will be incurred and the amount of the loss can be reasonably estimated.Â Amounts recorded for identified contingent liabilities are estimates, which are reviewed periodically and adjusted to reflect additional information when it becomes available. Subject to the uncertainties inherent in estimating future costs for contingent liabilities, except as expressly set forth in this note, management believes that any liability which may result from these legal matters would not have a material adverse effect on the financial condition, results of operations, liquidity or cash flows of the Company.Asbestos-Related MattersCertain indirect wholly-owned subsidiaries and former companies of the Company have been named as defendants in asbestos-related lawsuits in state and federal courts. In virtually all of the suits, a large number of other companies have also been named as defendants. The vast majority of those claims were filed against predecessors of Aldrich and Murray and generally allege injury caused by exposure to asbestos contained in certain historical products sold by predecessors of Aldrich or Murray, primarily pumps, boilers and railroad brake shoes. None of the Company's existing or previously-owned businesses were a producer or manufacturer of asbestos.On June 18, 2020, Aldrich and Murray filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code to resolve equitably and permanently all current and future asbestos related claims in a manner beneficial to claimants and to Aldrich and Murray. As a result of the Chapter 11 filings, all asbestos-related lawsuits against Aldrich and Murray have been stayed due to the imposition of a statutory automatic stay applicable in Chapter 11 bankruptcy cases. In addition, at the request of Aldrich and Murray, the Bankruptcy Court has entered an order temporarily staying all asbestos-related claims against the Trane Companies that relate to claims against Aldrich or Murray (except for asbestos-related claims for which the exclusive remedy is provided F-42Table of Contentsunder workers' compensation statutes or similar laws). On August 23, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court entered its findings of facts and conclusions of law and order declaring that the automatic stay applies to certain asbestos related claims against the Trane Companies and enjoining such actions. As a result, all asbestos-related lawsuits against Aldrich, Murray and the Trane Companies remain stayed.The goal of these Chapter 11 filings is to resolve equitably and permanently all current and future asbestos-related claims in a manner beneficial to claimants and to Aldrich and Murray through court approval of a plan of reorganization that would create a trust pursuant to section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, establish claims resolution procedures for all current and future asbestos-related claims against Aldrich and Murray and channel such claims to the trust for resolution in accordance with those procedures. Aldrich and Murray intend to seek an agreement with representatives of the asbestos claimants on the terms of a plan for the establishment of such a trust.Prior to the Petition Date, predecessors of each of Aldrich and Murray had been litigating asbestos-related claims brought against them. No such claims have been paid since the Petition Date, and it is not contemplated that any such claims will be paid until the end of the Chapter 11 cases.From an accounting perspective, the Company no longer has control over Aldrich and Murray as of the Petition Date as their activities are subject to review and oversight by the Bankruptcy Court. Therefore, Aldrich and its wholly-owned subsidiary 200 Park and Murray and its wholly-owned subsidiary ClimateLabs were deconsolidated as of the Petition Date and their respective assets and liabilities were derecognized from the Company's Consolidated Financial Statements. Amounts derecognized in 2020 primarily related to the legacy asbestos-related liabilities and asbestos-related insurance recoveries and $41.7 million of cash.Upon deconsolidation in 2020, the Company recorded its retained interest in Aldrich and Murray at fair value within Other noncurrent assets in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. In determining the fair value of its equity investment, the Company used a market-adjusted multiple of earnings valuation technique. As a result, the Company recorded an aggregate equity investment of $53.6 million as of the Petition Date.Simultaneously, the Company recognized a liability of $248.8 million within Other noncurrent liabilities in the Consolidated Balance Sheets related to its obligation under the Funding Agreements. The liability was based on asbestos-related liabilities and insurance-related assets balances previously recorded by the Company prior to the Petition Date.As a result of the deconsolidation, the Company recognized an aggregate loss of $24.9 million in its Consolidated Statements of Earnings during the year ended December 31, 2020. A gain of $0.9Â million related to Murray and its wholly-owned subsidiary ClimateLabs was recorded within Other income/ (expense), net and a loss of $25.8 million related to Aldrich and its wholly-owned subsidiary 200 Park was recorded within Discontinued operations, net of tax. Additionally, the deconsolidation resulted in an investing cash outflow of $41.7 million in the Company's Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows, of which $10.8 million was recorded within continuing operations during the year ended December 31, 2020.On August 26, 2021, the Company announced that Aldrich and Murray reached an agreement in principle with the court-appointed legal representative of future asbestos claimants (the FCR) in the bankruptcy proceedings. The agreement in principle includes the key terms for the permanent resolution of all current and future asbestos claims against Aldrich and Murray pursuant to a plan of reorganization (the Plan). Under the agreed terms, the Plan would create a trust pursuant to section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code and establish claims resolution procedures for all current and future claims against Aldrich and Murray (Asbestos Claims). On the effective date of the Plan, Aldrich and Murray would fund the trust with $545.0 million, comprised of $540.0 million in cash and a promissory note to be issued by Aldrich and Murray to the trust in the principal amount of $5.0 million, and the Asbestos Claims would be channeled to the trust for resolution in accordance with the claims resolution procedures. Following the effective date of the Plan, Aldrich and Murray would have no further obligations with respect to the Asbestos Claims. The FCR has agreed to support such Plan. The agreement in principle with the FCR is subject to final documentation and is conditioned on arrangements acceptable to Aldrich and Murray with respect to their asbestos insurance assets. It is currently contemplated that the asbestos insurance assets of Aldrich and Murray would be contributed to the trust, and that, in consideration of their cash contribution to the trust, Aldrich and Murray would have the exclusive right to pursue, collect and retain all insurance reimbursements available in connection with the resolution of Asbestos Claims by the trust. The committee representing current asbestos claimants (the ACC) is not a party to the agreement in principle. Any settlement and its implementation in a plan of reorganization is subject to the approval of the Bankruptcy Court, and there can be no assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will approve the agreement on the terms proposed.On September 24, 2021, Aldrich and Murray filed the Plan with the Bankruptcy Court. The Plan is supported by, and reflects the agreement in principle reached with the FCR. On the same date, in connection with the Plan, Aldrich and Murray filed a motion with the Bankruptcy Court to create a $270.0 million trust intended to constitute a "qualified settlement fund" within the meaning of the Treasury Regulations under Section 468B of the Internal Revenue Code (QSF). The funds held in the QSF would be available to provide funding for the Section 524(g) Trust upon effectiveness of the Plan.F-43Table of ContentsDuring the year ended December 31, 2021, in connection with the agreement in principle reached by Aldrich and Murray with the FCR and the motion to create a $270.0 million QSF, the Company recorded a charge of $21.2 million to increase its Funding Agreement liability to $270.0 million. The corresponding charge was bifurcated between Other income/ (expense), net of $7.2 million relating to Murray and discontinued operations of $14.0 million relating to Aldrich.On January 27, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court granted the request to fund the QSF, which was funded on March 2, 2022, resulting in an operating cash outflow of $270.0 million reported in the Company's Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows, of which $91.8 million was allocated to continuing operations and $178.2 million was allocated to discontinued operations for the year ended December 31, 2022. On April 18, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order granting Aldrich and Murray's request to seek to estimate their aggregate liability for all current and future asbestos-related personal injury claims. Aldrich and Murray are pursuing discovery and related matters in connection with the estimation proceedings.On October 18, 2021, the ACC filed a motion seeking standing to pursue and investigate on behalf of the bankruptcy estates of Aldrich and Murray, claims arising from or related to the 2020 Corporate Restructuring. Also on October 18, 2021, the ACC filed a complaint seeking to substantively consolidate the bankruptcy estates of Aldrich and Murray with certain of the Company's subsidiaries. On December 20, 2021, Aldrich, Murray and certain of the Company's subsidiaries filed motions to dismiss the ACC's substantive consolidation complaint. On April 14, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court granted the ACC's standing motion and denied the motions to dismiss the substantive consolidation complaint. On June 18, 2022, the ACC filed complaints against the Company and other related parties asserting various claims and causes of action arising from or related to the 2020 Corporate Restructuring. The Company is vigorously opposing and defending against these claims.On April 6, 2023, certain individual claimants filed a motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 cases (Claimant Motion to Dismiss). Subsequently, on May 15, 2023, the ACC filed its own motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 cases (ACC Motion to Dismiss, and, together with the Claimant Motion to Dismiss, the Motions to Dismiss). Aldrich, Murray and the FCR filed responses in opposition to the Motions to Dismiss, and the Company filed papers joining in Aldrich and Murray's opposition. A hearing on the Motions to Dismiss was held on July 14, 2023. On December 28, 2023, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order denying the Motions to Dismiss. On January 11, 2024, the ACC and the individual claimants filed motions with the United States District Court for the District of North Carolina (the District Court) seeking leave to appeal the order denying the Motions to Dismiss and to certify the appeals directly to the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. At a hearing on February 9, 2024, the Bankruptcy Court granted the motions to certify direct appeals to the Fourth Circuit. On April 17, 2024, the Fourth Circuit entered an order denying the petitions for direct appeal. On May 1, 2024, the ACC and the individual claimants filed petitions with the Fourth Circuit seeking rehearing en banc. Aldrich and Murray opposed the petitions and the Fourth Circuit denied the petitions by order dated May 15, 2024. On May 28, 2024, Aldrich and Murray filed their response with the District Court in opposition to the Motions for Leave to Appeal. The FCR filed its response to the Motions for Leave to Appeal on May 29, 2024. On January 23, 2023, an individual claimant filed a motion to lift the automatic order to pursue its asbestos suit against Aldrich and Murray notwithstanding the Chapter 11 cases (the Stay Relief Motion). Aldrich and Murray, the FCR, and certain non-debtor affiliates each opposed the Stay Relief Motion. The Bankruptcy Court denied the Stay Relief Motion after holding a hearing on March 30, 2023. The Bankruptcy Court entered an order memorializing its March oral ruling on November 13, 2024. The individual claimant filed a notice with the Bankruptcy Court appealing the order denying the Stay Relief Motion to the District Court on November 27, 2024.It is not possible to predict how the District Court will rule on these pending motions, whether an appellate court will affirm or reverse the Bankruptcy Court orders denying the Motions to Dismiss and the Stay Relief Motion, whether the Bankruptcy Court will approve the terms of the Plan, what the extent of the asbestos liability will be or how long the Chapter 11 cases will last. The ACC and the individual claimants filed their replies in support of the Motions for Leave to Appeal on June 11, 2024. The Chapter 11 cases remain pending as of FebruaryÂ 6, 2025.Furthermore, in connection with the 2020 Corporate Restructuring, Aldrich, Murray and their respective subsidiaries entered into several agreements with subsidiaries of the Company to ensure they each have access to services necessary for the effective operation of their respective businesses and access to capital to address any liquidity needs that arise as a result of working capital requirements or timing issues. In addition, the Company regularly transacts business with Aldrich and its wholly-owned subsidiary 200 Park and Murray and its wholly-owned subsidiary ClimateLabs. As of the Petition Date, these entities are considered related parties and post deconsolidation activity between the Company and them are reported as third party transactions and are reflected within the Company's Consolidated Statements of Earnings. Since the Petition Date, there were no material transactions between the Company and these entities other than as described above.F-44Table of ContentsEnvironmental MattersThe Company continues to be dedicated to environmental and sustainability programs to minimize the use of natural resources, reduce the utilization and generation of hazardous materials from our manufacturing processes and remediate identified environmental concerns. As to the latter, the Company is currently engaged in site investigations and remediation activities to address environmental cleanup from past operations at current and former manufacturing facilities.It is the Company's policy to establish environmental reserves for investigation and remediation activities when it is probable that a liability has been incurred and a reasonable estimate of the liability can be made. Estimated liabilities are determined based upon existing remediation laws and technologies. Inherent uncertainties exist in such evaluations due to unknown environmental conditions, changes in government laws and regulations, and changes in cleanup technologies. The environmental reserves are updated on a routine basis as remediation efforts progress and new information becomes available.The Company is sometimes a party to environmental lawsuits and claims and has received notices of potential violations of environmental laws and regulations from the Environmental Protection Agency and similar state and international authorities. It has also been identified as a potentially responsible party (PRP) for cleanup costs associated with off-site waste disposal at federal Superfund and state remediation sites. In most instances at multi-party sites, the Company's share of the liability is not material.In estimating its liability at multi-party sites, the Company has assumed it will not bear the entire cost of remediation of any site to the exclusion of other PRPs who may be jointly and severally liable. The ability of other PRPs to participate has been taken into account, based on the Company's understanding of the parties' financial condition and probable contributions on a per site basis.Reserves for environmental matters are classified as Accrued expenses and other current liabilities or Other noncurrent liabilities based on their expected term. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, the Company has recorded reserves for environmental matters of $52.4 million and $47.5 million, respectively. Of these amounts, $40.3 million and $38.9 million, respectively, relate to investigation and remediation of properties and multi-waste disposal sites related to businesses formerly owned by the Company.Warranty LiabilityStandard product warranty accruals are recorded at the time of sale and are estimated based upon product warranty terms and historical experience. The Company assesses the adequacy of its liability by evaluating the expected costs under its existing contracts to ensure these expected costs do not exceed the extended warranty liability.The changes in the extended warranty liability for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, were as follows:In millions20242023Balance at beginning of period$349.4Â $317.7Â Amortization of deferred revenue for the period(134.6)(118.6)Additions for extended warranties issued during the period194.6Â 148.6Â Changes to accruals related to preexisting warranties3.0Â 0.9Â Translation(2.0)0.8Â Balance at end of period$410.4Â $349.4Â The extended warranty liability is classified as Accrued expenses and other current liabilities or Other noncurrent liabilities based on the timing of when the deferred revenue is expected to be amortized into Net revenues. For the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, the Company incurred costs of $68.7 million, $54.3 million and $54.8Â million, respectively, related to extended warranties.NOTE 21. F-46 EX-4.46 2 exhibit446descriptionofreg.htm EX-4.46 DocumentExhibit 4.46DESCRIPTION OF TRANE TECHNOLOGIES SHARE CAPITAL REGISTERED UNDER SECTION 12 OF THE EXCHANGE ACTThe following description of the share capital of Trane Technologies plc (â€œTraneâ€) is a summary. This summary is not complete and is subject to the complete text of Traneâ€™s memorandum and articles of association previously filed with the Commission and to the Irish Companies Act 2014 (the â€œIrish Companies Actâ€). We encourage you to read those documents and laws carefully.Capital StructureAuthorized Share Capital. The authorized share capital of Trane is â‚¬40,000 and US$1,175,010,000 divided into 40,000 ordinary shares with a nominal value of â‚¬1Â per share, 1,175,000,000 ordinary shares with a nominal value of US$1.00 per share and 10,000,000 preferred shares with a nominal value of US$0.001 per share.Trane may issue shares subject to the maximum prescribed by its authorized share capital contained in its memorandum of association and subject to the maximum authorized by shareholders from time to time.As a matter of Irish company law, the directors of a company may issue new ordinary or preferred shares without shareholder approval once authorized to do so by the articles of association of the company or by an ordinary resolution adopted by the shareholders at a general meeting. An ordinary resolution requires over 50% of the votes of a companyâ€™s shareholders cast at a general meeting. The authority conferred can be granted for a maximum period of five years, at which point it must be renewed by the shareholders of the company by an ordinary resolution. The shareholders of Trane adopted an ordinary resolution at the 2022 annual general meeting of the Company on JuneÂ 2, 2022 authorizing the directors of Trane to issue up to an aggregate nominal amount of $85,251,537 (85,251,537 shares) (being equivalent to approximately 33% of the aggregate nominal value of the issued ordinary share capital of the Company as of AprilÂ 8, 2022), for a period of 18 months from JuneÂ 2, 2022.The authorized share capital may be increased or reduced by way of an ordinary resolution of Traneâ€™s shareholders. The shares comprising the authorized share capital of Trane may be divided into shares of such par value as the resolution shall prescribe.The rights and restrictions to which the ordinary shares are subject are prescribed in Traneâ€™s articles of association. Traneâ€™s articles of association entitle the board of directors, without shareholder approval, to determine the terms of the preferred shares issued by Trane. The Trane board of directors is authorized, without obtaining any vote or consent of the holders of any class or series of shares (other than the authority to allot shares referred to above) unless expressly provided by the terms of that class or series or shares, to provide from time to time for the issuance of other classes or series of preferred shares and to establish the characteristics of each class or series, including the number of shares, designations, relative voting rights, dividend rights, liquidation and other rights, redemption, repurchase or exchange rights and any other preferences and relative, participating, optional or other rights and limitations not inconsistent with applicable law.Irish law does not recognize fractional shares held of record; accordingly, Traneâ€™s articles of association do not provide for the issuance of fractional shares of Trane, and the official Irish register of Trane will not reflect any fractional shares.Pre-emption Rights, Share Warrants and Share OptionsCertain statutory pre-emption rights apply automatically in favor of Traneâ€™s shareholders where shares in Trane are to be issued for cash. However, Trane initially opted out of these pre-emption rights on its incorporation in its articles of association as permitted under Irish company law. Because Irish law requires this opt-out to be renewed every five years by a special resolution of the shareholders, Traneâ€™s articles of association provide that this opt-out must be so renewed. A special resolution requires not less than 75% of the votes of Traneâ€™s shareholders cast at a general meeting. If the opt-out is not renewed, shares issued for cash must be offered to pre-existing shareholders of Trane pro rata to their existing shareholding before the shares can be issued to any new shareholders. The statutory pre-emption rights do not apply where shares are issued for non-cash consideration and do not apply to the issue of non-equity shares (that is, shares that have the right to participate only up to a specified amount in any income or capital distribution). Shareholders of Trane passed a special resolution at the 2022 annual general meeting of the Company on June 2, 2022 authorizing the directors of Trane to opt out of pre-emption rights with respect to equity securities with up to an aggregate nominal value of $12,916,899 (12,916,899 shares) (being equivalent to approximately 5% of the aggregate nominal value of the issued ordinary share capital of Trane as of AprilÂ 8, 2022), for a period of 18 months from June 2, 2022.The articles of association of Trane provide that, subject to any shareholder approval requirement under any laws, regulations or the rules of any stock exchange to which Trane is subject, the board is authorized, from time to time, in its discretion, to grant such persons, for such periods and upon such terms as the board deems advisable, options to purchase such number of shares of any class or classes or of any series of any class as the board may deem advisable, and to cause warrants or other appropriate instruments evidencing such options to be issued. The Irish Companies Act provides that directors may issue share warrants or options without shareholder approval once authorized to do so by the articles of association or an ordinary resolution of shareholders. The board may issue shares upon exercise of warrants or options without shareholder approval or authorization.Trane is subject to the rules of the NYSE that require shareholder approval of certain share issuances.DividendsUnder Irish law, dividends and distributions may only be made from distributable reserves. Distributable reserves, broadly, means the accumulated realized profits of Trane less accumulated realized losses of Trane. In addition, no distribution or dividend may be made unless the net assets of Trane are equal to, or in excess of, the aggregate of Traneâ€™s called up share capital plus undistributable reserves and the distribution does not reduce Traneâ€™s net assets below such aggregate. Undistributable reserves include the share premium account, the capital redemption reserve fund, the revaluation reserve, and the amount by which Traneâ€™s accumulated unrealized profits, so far as not previously utilized by any capitalization, exceed Traneâ€™s accumulated unrealized losses, so far as not previously written off in a reduction or reorganization of capital.The determination as to whether or not Trane has sufficient distributable reserves to fund a dividend must be made by reference to â€œrelevant financial statementsâ€ of Trane. The â€œrelevant financial statementsâ€ will be either the last set of unconsolidated annual audited financial statements or unaudited financial statements prepared in accordance with the Irish Companies Act, which gives a â€œtrue and fair viewâ€ of Traneâ€™s unconsolidated financial position and accord with accepted accounting practice. The relevant financial statements must be filed in the Companies Registration Office (the official public registry for companies in Ireland).The mechanism as to who declares a dividend and when a dividend shall become payable is governed by the articles of association of Trane. Traneâ€™s articles of association authorize the directors to declare such dividends as appear justified from the profits of Trane without the approval of the shareholders at a general meeting. The board of directors may also recommend a dividend to be approved and declared by the shareholders at a general meeting. Although the shareholders may direct that the payment be made by distribution of assets, shares or cash, no dividend issued may exceed the amount recommended by the directors. The dividends can be declared and paid in the form of cash or non-cash assets.The directors of Trane may deduct from any dividend payable to any member all sums of money (if any) payable by such member to Trane in relation to the shares of Trane.Â The directors of Trane are also entitled to issue shares with preferred rights to participate in dividends declared by Trane. The holders of such preferred shares may, depending on their terms, be entitled to claim arrears of a declared dividend out of subsequently declared dividends in priority to ordinary shareholders.Share Repurchases, Redemptions and ConversionsOverviewArticle 3(d) of Traneâ€™s articles of association provides that any ordinary share which Trane has acquired or agreed to acquire shall be deemed to be a redeemable share. Accordingly, for Irish company law purposes, the repurchase of ordinary shares by Trane will technically be effected as a redemption of those shares as described below under â€œâ€“Repurchases and Redemptions by Trane.â€ If the articles of association of Trane did not contain Article 3(d), repurchases by Trane would be subject to many of the same rules that apply to purchases of Trane shares by subsidiaries described below under â€œâ€“Purchases by Subsidiaries of Trane,â€ including the shareholder approval requirements described below and the requirement that any on-market purchases be effected on a â€œrecognized stock exchange.â€ Except where otherwise noted, when we refer elsewhere in this summary to repurchasing or buying back ordinary shares of Trane, we are referring to the redemption of ordinary shares by Trane pursuant to Article 3(d) of the articles of association or the purchase of ordinary shares of Trane by a subsidiary of Trane, in each case in accordance with the Trane articles of association and Irish company law as described below.Repurchases and Redemptions by TraneUnder Irish law, a company can issue redeemable shares and redeem them out of distributable reserves (which are described above under â€œâ€“Dividendsâ€) or the proceeds of a new issue of shares for that purpose. Trane currently has distributable reserves which are calculated by reference to the relevant financial statements of Trane. Please see â€œâ€“Dividends.â€ All redeemable shares must be fully paid and the terms of redemption of the shares must provide for payment on redemption. Redeemable shares may, upon redemption, be cancelled or held in treasury. Shareholder approval will not be required to redeem Trane shares.The board of directors of Trane will also be entitled to issue preferred shares which may be redeemed at the option of either Trane or the shareholder, depending on the terms of such preferred shares. Please see â€œâ€“Capital Structureâ€“Authorized Share Capitalâ€ above for additional information on redeemable shares.Repurchased and redeemed shares may be cancelled or held as treasury shares. The nominal value of treasury shares held by Trane at any time must not exceed 10% of the nominal value of the issued share capital of Trane. While Trane holds shares as treasury shares, it cannot exercise any voting rights in respect of those shares. Treasury shares may be cancelled by Trane or re-issued subject to certain conditions.Purchases by Subsidiaries of TraneUnder Irish law, it may be permissible for an Irish or non-Irish subsidiary to purchase shares of Trane either on-market or off-market. A general authority of the shareholders of Trane is required to allow a subsidiary of Trane to make on-market purchases of Trane shares; however, as long as this general authority has been granted, no specific shareholder authority for a particular on-market purchase by a subsidiary of Trane shares is required. Trane does not currently seek such authority from its shareholders but may seek such general authority from shareholders in the future. In order for a subsidiary of Trane to make an on-market purchase of Traneâ€™s shares, such shares must be purchased on a â€œrecognized stock exchange.â€ The NYSE, on which the shares of Trane are listed, became a â€œrecognized stock exchangeâ€ for this purpose on MarchÂ 12, 2010, as a result of the coming into effect of the Irish Companies (Recognised Stock Exchanges) Regulations 2010. For an off-market purchase by a subsidiary of Trane, the proposed purchase contract must be authorized by special resolution of the shareholders of Trane before the contract is entered into. The person whose shares are to be bought back cannot vote in favor of the special resolution and, for at least 21 days prior to the special resolution, the purchase contract must be on display or must be available for inspection by shareholders at the registered office of Trane.The number of shares held by the subsidiaries of Trane at any time will count as treasury shares and will be included in any calculation of the permitted treasury share threshold of 10% of the nominal value of the issued share capital of Trane. While a subsidiary holds shares of Trane, it cannot exercise any voting rights in respect of those shares. The acquisition of the shares of Trane by a subsidiary must be funded out of distributable reserves of the subsidiary.Existing Share Repurchase ProgramThe board of directors of Trane has authorized a program to repurchase up to $3.0Â billion of its ordinary shares, to commence upon the completion of Trane's 2021 $2 billion program. The 2021 program had approximately $200 million remaining as of January 31, 2023. Based on market conditions, share repurchases will be made from time to time in the open market and in privately negotiated transactions at the discretion of management. The repurchase program does not have a prescribed expiration date.As noted above, because repurchases of Trane shares by Trane will technically be effected as a redemption of those shares pursuant to Article 3(d) of the articles of association, shareholder approval for such repurchases will not be required.Bonus SharesUnder Traneâ€™s articles of association, the board may resolve to capitalize any amount credited to any reserve or fund available for distribution or the share premium account of Trane for issuance and distribution to shareholders as fully paid up bonus shares on the same basis of entitlement as would apply in respect of a dividend distribution.Consolidation and Division; SubdivisionUnder its articles of association, Trane may by ordinary resolution consolidate and divide all or any of its share capital into shares of larger par value than its existing shares or subdivide its shares into smaller amounts than is fixed by its articles of association.Reduction of Share CapitalTrane may, by ordinary resolution, reduce its authorized share capital in any way. Trane also may, by special resolution and subject to confirmation by the Irish High Court, reduce or cancel its issued share capital in any way.General Meetings of ShareholdersTrane is required to hold annual general meetings at intervals of no more than fifteen months, provided that an annual general meeting is held in each calendar year, no more than nine months after Traneâ€™s fiscal year-end. Trane has held all of its annual general meetings in Ireland. However, any annual general meeting may be held outside Ireland if a resolution so authorizing is passed at the preceding annual general meeting. Because of the fifteen-month requirement described in this paragraph, Traneâ€™s articles of association include a provision reflecting this requirement of Irish law. At any annual general meeting, only such business shall be conducted as shall have been brought before the meeting (a)Â by or at the direction of the board or (b)Â by any member entitled to vote at such meeting who complies with the procedures set forth in the articles of association.Extraordinary general meetings of Trane may be convened by (i)Â the chairman of the board of directors, (ii)Â the board of directors, (iii)Â on requisition of the shareholders holding not less than 10% of the paid up share capital of Trane carrying voting rights or (iv)Â on requisition of Traneâ€™s auditors. Extraordinary general meetings are generally held for the purposes of approving shareholder resolutions of Trane as may be required from time to time. At any extraordinary general meeting, only such business shall be conducted as is set forth in the notice thereof.Notice of a general meeting must be given to all shareholders of Trane and to the auditors of Trane. The articles of association of Trane provide that the maximum notice period is 60 days. The minimum notice periods are 21 daysâ€™ notice in writing for an annual general meeting or an extraordinary general meeting to approve a special resolution and 14 daysâ€™ notice in writing for any other extraordinary general meeting. Because of the 21-day and 14-day requirements described in this paragraph, Traneâ€™s articles of association include provisions reflecting these requirements of Irish law.In the case of an extraordinary general meeting convened by shareholders of Trane, the proposed purpose of the meeting must be set out in the requisition notice. The requisition notice can contain any resolution. Upon receipt of this requisition notice, the board of directors has 21 days to convene a meeting of Traneâ€™s shareholders to vote on the matters set out in the requisition notice. This meeting must be held within two months of the receipt of the requisition notice. If the board of directors does not convene the meeting within such 21-day period, the requisitioning shareholders, or any of them representing more than one half of the total voting rights of all of them, may themselves convene a meeting, which meeting must be held within three months of the receipt of the requisition notice.The only matters which must, as a matter of Irish company law, be transacted at an annual general meeting are the presentation of the annual financial statements, reports of the directors and auditors, the review by the members of the companyâ€™s affairs, the appointment of auditors and the approval of the auditorâ€™s remuneration (or delegation of same), the declaration of dividends and the election of directors. If no resolution is made in respect of the reappointment of an auditor at an annual general meeting, the previous auditor will be deemed to have continued in office.Directors are elected by the affirmative vote of a majority of the votes cast by shareholders at an annual general meeting and serve for one year terms. Where there is a contested election and the number of nominees exceeds the number of directors to be elected, then a plurality voting standard shall apply and only those nominees receiving the most votes for the available seats will be elected. However, because Irish law requires a minimum of two directors at all times, in the event that an election results in no director being elected, each of the two nominees receiving the greatest number of votes in favor of his or her election shall hold office until his or her successor shall be elected. In the event that an election results in only one director being elected, that director shall be elected and shall serve for a one year term, and the nominee receiving the greatest number of votes in favor of their election shall hold office until his or her successor shall be elected.If the directors become aware that the net assets of Trane are half or less of the amount of Traneâ€™s called-up share capital, the directors of Trane must convene an extraordinary general meeting of Traneâ€™s shareholders not later than 28 days from the date that they learn of this fact. This meeting must be convened for the purposes of considering whether any, and if so what, measures should be taken to address the situation.VotingAt a general meeting a resolution put to the vote is decided by a poll whereby every shareholder shall have one vote for each ordinary share that he or she holds as of the record date for the meeting. Voting rights may be exercised by shareholders registered in Traneâ€™s share register as of the record date for the meeting or by a duly appointed proxy of such a registered shareholder, which proxy need not be a shareholder. Where interests in shares are held by a nominee trust company, this company may exercise the rights of the beneficial holders on their behalf as their proxy. All proxies must be appointed in the manner prescribed by Traneâ€™s articles of association, by such time as is prescribed in the notice of the meeting, and if no time is specified, by no later than 48 hours before the commencement of the meeting. The articles of association of Trane permit the appointment of proxies by the shareholders to be notified to Trane electronically.In accordance with the articles of association of Trane, the directors of Trane may from time to time cause Trane to issue preferred shares. These preferred shares may have such voting rights as may be specified in the terms of such preferred shares (e.g., they may carry more votes per share than ordinary shares or may entitle their holders to a class vote on such matters as may be specified in the terms of the preferred shares).Treasury shares will not be entitled to vote at general meetings of shareholders.Irish company law requires â€œspecial resolutionsâ€ of the shareholders at a general meeting to approve certain matters. A special resolution requires not less than 75% of the votes cast of Traneâ€™s shareholders at a general meeting. This may be contrasted with â€œordinary resolutions,â€ which require a simple majority of the votes of Traneâ€™s shareholders cast at a general meeting. Examples of matters requiring special resolutions include:Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Amending the objects of Trane;Â Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Amending the articles of association of Trane;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Approving the change of name of Trane;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Authorizing the entering into of a guarantee or provision of security in connection with a loan, quasi-loan or credit transaction to a director or connected person;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Opting out of pre-emption rights on the issuance of new shares;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Re-registration of Trane from a public limited company as a private company;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Variation of class rights attaching to classes of shares;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Purchase of own shares off-market;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â The reduction of share capital;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Resolving that Trane be wound up by the Irish courts;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Resolving in favor of a shareholdersâ€™ voluntary winding-up;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Re-designation of shares into different share classes; andÂ Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Setting the re-issue price of treasury shares.A scheme of arrangement with shareholders requires a court order from the Irish High Court and the approval of: (1)Â 75% of the voting shareholders by value; and (2)Â 50% in number of the voting shareholders, at a meeting called to approve the scheme.Variation of Rights Attaching to a ClassÂ or Series of SharesVariation of all or any special rights attached to any class or series of shares of Trane is addressed in the articles of association of Trane as well as the Irish Companies Act. Any variation of class rights attaching to the issued shares of Trane must be approved by a special resolution of the shareholders of the class or series affected.Â Quorum for General MeetingsThe presence, in person or by proxy, of the holders of a majority of the Trane ordinary shares outstanding constitutes a quorum for the conduct of business. No business may take place at a general meeting of Trane if a quorum is not present in person or by proxy. The board of directors has no authority to waive quorum requirements stipulated in the articles of association of Trane. Abstentions and broker non-votes will be counted as present for purposes of determining whether there is a quorum in respect of the proposals.Inspection of Books and RecordsUnder Irish law, shareholders have the right to: (i)Â receive a copy of the memorandum and articles of association of Trane and any act of the Irish government which alters the memorandum of association of Trane; (ii)Â inspect and obtain copies of the minutes of general meetings and resolutions of Trane; (iii)Â inspect and receive a copy of the register of shareholders, register of directors and secretaries, register of directorsâ€™ interests and other statutory registers maintained by Trane; (iv)Â receive copies of balance sheets and directorsâ€™ and auditorsâ€™ reports which have previously been sent to shareholders prior to an annual general meeting; and (v)Â receive balance sheets of a subsidiary company of Trane which have previously been sent to shareholders prior to an annual general meeting for the preceding ten years. The auditors of Trane will also have the right to inspect all books, records and vouchers of Trane. The auditorsâ€™ report must be circulated to the shareholders with audited consolidated annual financial statements of Trane prepared in accordance with applicable accounting standards 21 days before the annual general meeting and must be read to the shareholders at Traneâ€™s annual general meeting.AcquisitionsThere are a number of mechanisms for acquiring an Irish public limited company, including:Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â (a)Â Â Â Â a court-approved scheme of arrangement under the Irish Companies Act. A scheme of arrangement with shareholders requires a court order from the Irish High Court and the approval of: (1) 75% of the voting shareholders by value; and (2) 50% in number of the voting shareholders, at a meeting called to approve the scheme;Â Â Â Â (b)Â Â Â Â through a tender offer by a third party for all of the shares of Trane. Where the holders of 80% or more of Traneâ€™s shares have accepted an offer for their shares in Trane, the remaining shareholders may be statutorily required to also transfer their shares. If the bidder does not exercise its â€œsqueeze outâ€ right, then the non-accepting shareholders also have a statutory right to require the bidder to acquire their shares on the same terms. If shares of Trane were listed on the Irish Stock Exchange or another regulated stock exchange in the European Union (the â€œEUâ€), this threshold would be increased to 90%;Â Â Â Â (c)Â Â Â Â it is possible for Trane to be acquired by way of a merger with an EU-incorporated public company under the EU Cross Border Merger Directive 2005/56. Such a merger must be approved by a special resolution. If Trane is being merged with another EU public company under the EU Cross Border Merger Directive 2005/56 and the consideration payable to Traneâ€™s shareholders is not all in the form of cash, Traneâ€™s shareholders may be entitled to require their shares to be acquired at fair value; andÂ Â Â Â (d)Â Â Â Â it is also possible for Trane to be acquired by way of a merger with an Irish incorporated company under the Irish Companies Act. Such a merger must be implemented by a court order from the Irish High Court and be approved by a special resolution of Traneâ€™s shareholders.Under Irish law, there is no requirement for a companyâ€™s shareholders to approve a sale, lease or exchange of all or substantially all of a companyâ€™s property and assets. However, Traneâ€™s articles of association provide that the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding voting shares on the relevant record date is required to approve a sale, lease or exchange of all or substantially all of its property or assets.Â Appraisal RightsGenerally, under Irish law, shareholders of an Irish company do not have appraisal rights. Under the EC (Cross-Border Mergers) Regulations 2008 (as amended by the European Communities (Mergers and Divisions of Companies) (Amendment) Regulations 2011) and Part 17 of the Irish Companies Act governing the merger of an Irish public limited company and a company incorporated in the European Economic Area, a shareholder (a)Â who voted against the special resolution approving the merger or (b)Â of a company in which 90% of the shares is held by the other company the party to the merger of the transferor company has the right to request that the company acquire its shares for cash.Disclosure of Interests in SharesUnder the Irish Companies Act, there is a notification requirement for shareholders who acquire or cease to be interested in 3% of the shares of an Irish public limited company. A shareholder of Trane must therefore make such a notification to Trane if as a result of a transaction the shareholder will be interested in 3% or more of the shares of Trane or if as a result of a transaction a shareholder who was interested in more than 3% of the shares of Trane ceases to be so interested. Where a shareholder is interested in more than 3% of the shares of Trane, any alteration of his or her interest that brings his or her total holding through the nearest whole percentage number, whether an increase or a reduction, must be notified to Trane. The relevant percentage figure is calculated by reference to the aggregate par value of the shares in which the shareholder is interested as a proportion of the entire par value of Traneâ€™s share capital. Where the percentage level of the shareholderâ€™s interest does not amount to a whole percentage this figure may be rounded down to the next whole number. All such disclosures should be notified to Trane within 5 business days of the transaction or alteration of the shareholderâ€™s interests that gave rise to the requirement to notify. Where a person fails to comply with the notification requirements described above no right or interest of any kind whatsoever in respect of any shares in Trane concerned, held by such person, shall be enforceable by such person, whether directly or indirectly, by action or legal proceeding. However, such person may apply to the court to have the rights attaching to the shares concerned reinstated.In addition to the above disclosure requirement, Trane, under the Irish Companies Act, may by notice in writing require a person whom Trane knows or has reasonable cause to believe to be, or at any time during the three years immediately preceding the date on which such notice is issued, to have been interested in shares comprised in Traneâ€™s relevant share capital to: (a)Â indicate whether or not it is the case, and (b)Â where such person holds or has during that time held an interest in the shares of Trane, to give such further information as may be required by Trane including particulars of such personâ€™s own past or present interests in shares of Trane. Any information given in response to the notice is required to be given in writing within such reasonable time as may be specified in the notice.Where such a notice is served by Trane on a person who is or was interested in shares of Trane and that person fails to give Trane any information required within the reasonable time specified, Trane may apply to court for an order directing that the affected shares be subject to certain restrictions. Under the Irish Companies Act, the restrictions that may be placed on the shares by the court are as follows:Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â (a)Â Â Â Â any transfer of those shares, or in the case of unissued shares any transfer of the right to be issued with shares and any issue of shares, shall be void;(b)Â Â Â Â no voting rights shall be exercisable in respect of those shares;(c)Â Â Â Â no further shares shall be issued in right of those shares or in pursuance of any offer made to the holder of those shares; and(d)Â Â Â Â no payment shall be made of any sums due from Trane on those shares, whether in respect of capital or otherwise.Â Where the shares in Trane are subject to these restrictions, the court may order the shares to be sold and may also direct that the shares shall cease to be subject to these restrictions.Anti-Takeover ProvisionsBusiness Combinations with Interested ShareholdersAs provided in Traneâ€™s articles of association, the affirmative vote of the holders of 80% of the shares then in issue of all classes of shares entitled to vote considered for purposes of this provision as one class, is required for Trane to engage in any â€œbusiness combinationâ€ with any interested shareholder (generally, a 10% or greater shareholder), provided that the above vote requirement does not apply to:Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â any business combination with an interested shareholder that has been approved by the board of directors; orÂ Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â any agreement for the amalgamation, merger or consolidation of any of Traneâ€™s subsidiaries with Trane or with another of Traneâ€™s subsidiaries if (1)Â the relevant provisions of Traneâ€™s articles of association will not be changed or otherwise affected by or by virtue of the amalgamation, merger or consolidation and (2)Â the holders of greater than 50% of the voting power of Trane or the subsidiary, as appropriate, immediately prior to the amalgamation, merger or consolidation continue to hold greater than 50% of the voting power of the amalgamated company immediately following the amalgamation, merger or consolidation.Traneâ€™s articles of association provide that â€œbusiness combinationâ€ means:Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â any amalgamation, merger or consolidation of Trane or one of Traneâ€™s subsidiaries with an interested shareholder or with any person that is, or would be after such amalgamation, merger or consolidation, an affiliate or associate of an interested shareholder;Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â any transfer or other disposition to or with an interested shareholder or any affiliate or associate of an interested shareholder of all or any material part of the assets of Trane or one of Traneâ€™s subsidiaries; andÂ Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â any issuance or transfer of Traneâ€™s shares upon conversion of or in exchange for the securities or assets of any interested shareholder, or with any company that is, or would be after such merger or consolidation, an affiliate or associate of an interested shareholder.Irish Takeover Rules and Substantial Acquisition RulesA transaction by virtue of which a third party is seeking to acquire 30% or more of the voting rights of Trane will be governed by the Irish Takeover Panel Act 1997 and the Irish Takeover Rules made thereunder and will be regulated by the Irish Takeover Panel. The â€œGeneral Principlesâ€ of the Irish Takeover Rules and certain important aspects of the Irish Takeover Rules are described below.General PrinciplesThe Irish Takeover Rules are built on the following General Principles which will apply to any transaction regulated by the Irish Takeover Panel:Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â in the event of an offer, all classes of shareholders of the target company should be afforded equivalent treatment and, if a person acquires control of a company, the other holders of securities must be protected;Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â the holders of securities in the target company must have sufficient time to allow them to make an informed decision regarding the offer;Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â the board of a company must act in the interests of the company as a whole. If the board of the target company advises the holders of securities as regards the offer it must advise on the effects of the implementation of the offer on employment, employment conditions and the locations of the target companyâ€™s place of business;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â false markets in the securities of the target company or any other company concerned by the offer must not be created;Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â a bidder can only announce an offer after ensuring that he or she can fulfill in full the consideration offered;Â Â Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â a target company may not be hindered longer than is reasonable by an offer for its securities. This is a recognition that an offer will disrupt the day-to-day running of a target company particularly if the offer is hostile and the board of the target company must divert its attention to resist the offer; andÂ Â Â Â Â â€¢Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â a â€œsubstantial acquisitionâ€ of securities (whether such acquisition is to be effected by one transaction or a series of transactions) will only be allowed to take place at an acceptable speed and shall be subject to adequate and timely disclosure.Mandatory BidIf an acquisition of shares were to increase the aggregate holding of an acquirer and its concert parties to shares carrying 30% or more of the voting rights in Trane, the acquirer and, depending on the circumstances, its concert parties would be required (except with the consent of the Irish Takeover Panel) to make a cash offer for the outstanding shares at a price not less than the highest price paid for the shares by the acquirer or its concert parties during the previous 12 months. This requirement would also be triggered by an acquisition of shares by a person holding (together with its concert parties) shares carrying between 30% and 50% of the voting rights in Trane if the effect of such acquisition were to increase the percentage of the voting rights held by that person (together with its concert parties) by 0.05% within a twelve-month period. A single holder (that is, a holder excluding any parties acting in concert with the holder) holding more than 50% of the voting rights of a company is not subject to this rule.Voluntary Bid; Requirements to Make a Cash Offer and Minimum Price RequirementsA voluntary offer is an offer that is not a mandatory offer. If a bidder or any of its concert parties acquire ordinary shares of Trane within the period of three months prior to the commencement of the offer period, the offer price must be not less than the highest price paid for Trane ordinary shares by the bidder or its concert parties during that period. The Irish Takeover Panel has the power to extend the â€œlook backâ€ period to 12 months if the Irish Takeover Panel, having regard to the General Principles, believes it is appropriate to do so.If the bidder or any of its concert parties has acquired ordinary shares of Trane (i)Â during the period of 12 months prior to the commencement of the offer period which represent more than 10% of the total ordinary shares of Trane or (ii)Â at any time after the commencement of the offer period, the offer shall be in cash (or accompanied by a full cash alternative) and the price per Trane ordinary share shall be not less than the highest price paid by the bidder or its concert parties during, in the case of (i), the period of 12 months prior to the commencement of the offer period and, in the case of (ii), the offer period. The Irish Takeover Panel may apply this rule to a bidder who, together with its concert parties, has acquired less than 10% of the total ordinary shares of Trane in the 12 month period prior to the commencement of the offer period if the Panel, having regard to the General Principles, considers it just and proper to do so.An offer period will generally commence from the date of the first announcement of the offer or proposed offer.Â Substantial Acquisition RulesThe Irish Takeover Rules also contain rules governing substantial acquisitions of shares which restrict the speed at which a person may increase his or her holding of shares and rights over shares to an aggregate of between 15% and 30% of the voting rights of Trane. Except in certain circumstances, an acquisition or series of acquisitions of shares or rights over shares representing 10% or more of the voting rights of Trane is prohibited, if such acquisition(s), when aggregated with shares or rights already held, would result in the acquirer holding 15% or more but less than 30% of the voting rights of Trane and such acquisitions are made within a period of seven days. These rules also require accelerated disclosure of acquisitions of shares or rights over shares relating to such holdings.Frustrating ActionUnder the Irish Takeover Rules, the board of directors of Trane is not permitted to take any action which might frustrate an offer for the shares of Trane once the board of directors has received an approach which may lead to an offer or has reason to believe an offer is imminent except as noted below. Potentially frustrating actions such as (i)Â the issue of shares, options or convertible securities, (ii)Â material disposals, (iii)Â entering into contracts other than in the ordinary course of business or (iv)Â any action, other than seeking alternative offers, which may result in frustration of an offer, are prohibited during the course of an offer or at any time during which the board has reason to believe an offer is imminent. Exceptions to this prohibition are available where:Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â (a)Â Â Â Â the action is approved by Traneâ€™s shareholders at a general meeting; orÂ Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â (b)Â Â Â Â with the consent of the Irish Takeover Panel where:Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â (i)Â Â Â Â the Irish Takeover Panel is satisfied the action would not constitute a frustrating action;Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â (ii)Â Â Â Â the holders of 50% of the voting rights state in writing that they approve the proposed action and would vote in favor of it at a general meeting;Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â (iii)Â Â Â Â in accordance with a contract entered into prior to the announcement of the offer; orÂ Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â (iv)Â Â Â Â the decision to take such action was made before the announcement of the offer and either has been at least partially implemented or is in the ordinary course of business.For other provisions that could be considered to have an anti-takeover effect, please see above at â€œâ€”Pre-emption Rights, Share Warrants and Share Optionsâ€ and â€œâ€”Disclosure of Interests in Shares,â€ in addition to â€œâ€”Corporate Governanceâ€ below.Corporate GovernanceThe articles of association of Trane allocate authority over the management of Trane to the board of directors. The board of directors may then delegate management of Trane to committees of the board, executives or to a management team, but regardless, the directors will remain responsible, as a matter of Irish law, for the proper management of the affairs of Trane. Trane currently has an Audit Committee, a Human Resources and Compensation Committee, a Sustainability, Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee, a Finance Committee, a Technology and Innovation Committee and an Executive Committee. Trane has also adopted Corporate Governance Guidelines that provide the corporate governance framework for Trane.Legal Name; Formation; Fiscal Year; Registered OfficeThe legal and commercial name of Trane, an Irish company, is Trane Technologies plc. Trane was incorporated in Ireland, as a public limited company on AprilÂ 1, 2009 with company registration number 469272. Traneâ€™s fiscal year ends on DecemberÂ 31 and Traneâ€™s registered address is 170/175 Lakeview Dr., Airside Business Park, Swords, Co. Dublin, Ireland.Â Duration; Dissolution; Rights upon LiquidationTraneâ€™s duration will be unlimited. Trane may be dissolved at any time by way of either a shareholdersâ€™ voluntary winding up or a creditorsâ€™ voluntary winding up. In the case of a shareholdersâ€™ voluntary winding up, the consent of not less than 75% of the shareholders of Trane is required. Trane may also be dissolved by way of court order on the application of a creditor, or by the Companies Registration Office as an enforcement measure where Trane has failed to file certain returns.The rights of the shareholders to a return of Traneâ€™s assets on dissolution or winding up, following the settlement of all claims of creditors, may be prescribed in Traneâ€™s articles of association or the terms of any preferred shares issued by the directors of Trane from time to time. The holders of preferred shares in particular may have the right to priority in a dissolution or winding up of Trane. If the articles of association contain no specific provisions in respect of a dissolution or winding up then, subject to the priorities or any creditors, the assets will be distributed to shareholders in proportion to the paid-up par value of the shares held. Traneâ€™s articles of association provide that the ordinary shareholders of Trane are entitled to participate pro rata in a winding up, but their right to do so may be subject to the rights of any preferred shareholders to participate under the terms of any series or class of preferred shares.Uncertificated SharesHolders of ordinary shares of Trane will not have the right to require Trane to issue certificates for their shares. Trane will only issue uncertificated ordinary shares.Stock Exchange ListingThe Trane ordinary shares are listed on the NYSE under the symbol â€œTT.â€No Sinking FundThe ordinary shares have no sinking fund provisions.No Liability for Further Calls or AssessmentsAll of our issued ordinary shares are duly and validly issued and fully paid.Transfer and Registration of SharesTraneâ€™s share register will be maintained by its transfer agent. Registration in this share register will be determinative of membership in Trane. A shareholder of Trane who holds shares beneficially will not be the holder of record of such shares. Instead, the depository (for example, CedeÂ & Co., as nominee for DTC) or other nominee will be the holder of record of such shares. Accordingly, a transfer of shares from a person who holds such shares beneficially to a person who also holds such shares beneficially through a depository or other nominee will not be registered in Traneâ€™s official share register, as the depository or other nominee will remain the record holder of such shares.A written instrument of transfer is required under Irish law in order to register on Traneâ€™s official share register any transfer of shares (i)Â from a person who holds such shares directly to any other person, (ii)Â from a person who holds such shares beneficially to a person who holds such shares directly, or (iii)Â from a person who holds such shares beneficially to another person who holds such shares beneficially where the transfer involves a change in the depository or other nominee that is the record owner of the transferred shares. An instrument of transfer also is required for a shareholder who directly holds shares to transfer those shares into his or her own broker account (or vice versa). Such instruments of transfer may give rise to Irish stamp duty, which must be paid prior to registration of the transfer on Traneâ€™s official Irish share register.Â We currently intend to pay (or cause one of our affiliates to pay) stamp duty in connection with share transfers made in the ordinary course of trading by a seller who holds shares directly to a buyer who holds the acquired shares beneficially. In other cases Trane may, in its absolute discretion, pay (or cause one of its affiliates to pay) any stamp duty. Traneâ€™s articles of association provide that, in the event of any such payment, Trane (i)Â may seek reimbursement from the transferor or transferee (at our discretion), (ii)Â may set-off the amount of the stamp duty against future dividends payable to the transferor or transferee (at our discretion), and (iii)Â will have a lien against the Trane shares on which we have paid stamp duty. Parties to a share transfer may assume that any stamp duty arising in respect of a transaction in Trane shares has been paid unless one or both of such parties is otherwise notified by us.Traneâ€™s articles of association delegate to Traneâ€™s secretary or an assistant secretary the authority to execute an instrument of transfer on behalf of a transferring party. In order to help ensure that the official share register is regularly updated to reflect trading of Trane shares occurring through normal electronic systems, we intend to regularly produce any required instruments of transfer in connection with any transactions for which we pay stamp duty (subject to the reimbursement and set-off rights described above). In the event that we notify one or both of the parties to a share transfer that we believe stamp duty is required to be paid in connection with such transfer and that we will not pay such stamp duty, such parties may either themselves arrange for the execution of the required instrument of transfer (and may request a form of instrument of transfer from Trane for this purpose) or request that Trane execute an instrument of transfer on behalf of the transferring party in a form determined by Trane. In either event, if the parties to the share transfer have the instrument of transfer duly stamped (to the extent required) and then provide it to Traneâ€™s transfer agent, the transferee will be registered as the legal owner of the relevant shares on Traneâ€™s official Irish share register (subject to the matters described below).The directors of Trane have general discretion to decline to register an instrument of transfer unless the transfer is in respect of one class of share only.The registration of transfers may be suspended by the directors at such times and for such period, not exceeding in the whole 30 days in each year, as the directors may from time to time determine. By accepting the Option, Participant acknowledges that he or she agrees to comply with applicable Brazilian laws and pay any and all applicable Tax-Related Items associated with the exercise of the Option, the receipt of any dividends and the sale of Shares acquired under the Plan.Exchange Control Information. If Participant is a resident or domiciled in Brazil, he or she may be required to submit a declaration of assets and rights held outside of Brazil to the Central Bank of Brazil, depending on the aggregate value of such assets and rights. If the aggregate value of such assets and rights is US$1,000,000 or more but less than US$100,000,000, a declaration must be submitted annually. If the aggregate value exceeds US$100,000,000, a declaration must be submitted quarterly. Assets and rights that must be reported include Shares.CanadaNon-Qualified Securities. All or a portion of the Shares subject to the Option may be â€œnon-qualified securitiesâ€ within the meaning of the Income Tax Act (Canada). The Company shall provide Participant with additional information and/or appropriate notification regarding the characterization of the Option for Canadian income tax purposes as may be required by the Income Tax Act (Canada) and the regulations thereunder.Form of Payment for Options. Due to legal restrictions in Canada, Participant may not pay the exercise price or Tax-Related Items by surrendering Shares that he or she already owns or by attesting to the ownership of Shares.No Obligation to Make Payment. This provision replaces Section 1(c) of the Appendix:Except as explicitly and minimally required under applicable legislation, no Affiliate (including, but not limited to, the Employer) has any obligation to make any payment of any kind to Participant under this Award Agreement;Exclusion from Compensation or Salary. This provision replaces Section 1(h) of the Appendix: Except as explicitly and minimally required under applicable legislation, the Option and the Shares subject to the Option, and the income from and value of same, are not part of normal or expected compensation or salary for any purpose, including, but not limited to, calculating any severance, resignation, termination, redundancy, dismissal, end of service payments, bonuses, long-service awards, holiday pay, pension or retirement or welfare benefits or similar payments;No Compensation for Forfeiture. This provision replaces Section 1(l) of the Appendix:Except as explicitly and minimally required under applicable legislation, no claim or entitlement to compensation or damages shall arise from forfeiture of the Option resulting from Participant ceasing to provide employment or other services to the Company, the Employer, or any Affiliate (for any reason whatsoever, whether or not later found to be invalid or in breach of applicable laws in the jurisdiction where Participant is employed or the terms of Participantâ€™s employment agreement, if any) or from cancellation of the Option or recoupment resulting from exercise of the Option as described in Section 4 of the Stock Option Award Agreement;Termination of Employment. This provision replaces Section 1(m) of the Appendix:For purposes of the Option, and except as provided herein, Participantâ€™s employment or other service relationship will be considered terminated (regardless for the reason for such termination and whether or not the termination is later found to be invalid, unlawful, or in breach of applicable laws in the jurisdiction where Participant is employed or providing services or the terms of Participantâ€™s employment or service agreement, if any), and Participantâ€™s right (if any) to earn, seek damages in lieu of, vest in, exercise, or otherwise benefit from any portion of the Option pursuant to this Award Agreement will be measured by, the date Participant is no longer actually providing services to the Company or one of its Affiliates (the â€œTermination Dateâ€).Unless explicitly required by applicable legislation, the Termination Date shall exclude and shall not be extended by any period during which notice, pay in lieu of notice or related payments or damages are provided or required to be provided under statute, contract, common/civil law or otherwise. For greater certainty, Participant will not earn or be entitled to any pro-rated vesting or extended exercisability for that portion of time before the Termination Date, nor will Participant be entitled to any compensation for lost vesting or exercisability. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if applicable employment standards legislation explicitly requires continued vesting or exercisability during a statutory notice period, Participantâ€™s right to vest in, exercise, or otherwise benefit from the Option, if any, will terminate effective upon the expiry of the minimum statutory notice period, but Participant will not earn or be entitled to pro-rated vesting or extended exercisability if the vesting date or exercisability period falls after the end of the statutory notice period, nor will Participant be entitled to any compensation for lost vesting or exercisability. In any event, if employment standards legislation explicitly requires continued vesting or exercisability during a statutory notice period, then the additional vesting and exercisability provided under Section 1(b) is deemed to be inclusive of any entitlements that arise during the applicable statutory notice period. For further clarity, any reference to a termination of Participantâ€™s employment or other service relationship or a date of termination under this Award Agreement or the Plan will be interpreted to mean the Termination Date.Securities Law Information. Participant is permitted to sell Shares acquired under the Plan through UBS or such other broker designated under the Plan, provided that the resale of such Shares takes place outside of Canada through the facilities of a stock exchange on which the Shares are listed. The Companyâ€™s ordinary shares are currently traded on the New York Stock Exchange which is located outside of Canada, under the ticker symbol â€œTTâ€ and Shares acquired under the Plan may be sold through this exchange. Foreign Asset / Account Reporting Information. Foreign specified property, including Shares and rights to Shares (e.g., Options), held by a Canadian resident must be reported annually on Form T1135 (Foreign Income Verification Statement) if the total cost of such foreign specified property exceeds C$100,000 at any time during the year. If applicable, Form T1135 is due by April 30th of the following year. Options must be reported â€“ generally at a nil cost â€“ if the C$100,000 cost threshold is exceeded because of other foreign specified property held by the resident. When Shares are acquired, their cost generally is the adjusted cost base (â€œACBâ€) of the Shares. The ACB would ordinarily equal the fair market value of the Shares at the time of acquisition, but if other Shares are owned, this ACB may have to be averaged with the ACB of the other Shares. Participant is responsible for ensuring his or her compliance with any applicable reporting obligations and should speak to his or her personal legal advisor on this matter.Data Privacy. (g) Issuance of Shares. The Company shall cause Shares to be issued to Participant with respect to the RSUs that become vested pursuant to this Section 1 (each such vesting event being a â€œVesting Dateâ€). Such Shares shall be issued within 30 days following each Vesting Date. However, if the RSUs are considered an item of deferred compensation under Section 409A of the Code and the Shares are distributable at a time or times by reference to a Participantâ€™s separation from service (within the meaning of Section 409A(a)(2)(A)(i) of the Code) and Participant on the date of Participantâ€™s separation from service is both subject to U.S. federal income taxation and a â€œspecified employeeâ€ (within the meaning of Section 409A(a)(2)(B)(i) of the Code), any Shares that would otherwise be issuable during the 6-month period commencing on Participantâ€™s separation from service will be issued on the first day which immediately follows the last day of the 6-month period that commences on Participantâ€™s separation from service (or, if Participant dies during such period, within 30 days after Participantâ€™s death). Definitions.(a) For purposes of this Award Agreement, Affiliate shall include any entity that was an Affiliate as of the Grant Date if such entity has ceased to be an Affiliate as a result of a Major Restructuring unless otherwise specified herein.(b) Cause shall mean (i) any action by Participant involving willful malfeasance or willful gross misconduct having a demonstrable adverse effect on the Company or an Affiliate; (ii) solely for purposes of Section 2(e), substantial failure or refusal by Participant to perform his or her employment duties, which failure or refusal continues for a period of 10 days following delivery of written notice of such failure or refusal to Participant by the Company or an Affiliate; (iii) Participant being convicted of a felony under the laws of the United States or any state or district (or the equivalent in any non-U.S. jurisdiction); or (iv) any material violation of the Companyâ€™s code of conduct, as in effect from time to time. (c) Good Reason shall mean (i) a substantial diminution in Participantâ€™s job responsibilities or a material adverse change in Participantâ€™s title or status (however, performing the same job for a smaller organization following a Major Restructuring shall not constitute Good Reason); (ii) a reduction of Participantâ€™s base salary or target bonus (however, a reduction of Participantâ€™s base salary or target bonus shall not constitute Good Reason if there is a broad-based reduction in the base salary or target bonus applicable to employees in the Company or an Affiliate) or the failure to pay Participantâ€™s base salary or bonus when due or the failure to maintain on behalf of Participant (and his or her dependents) benefits which are at least comparable in the aggregate to those in effect prior to the completion of the Major Restructuring; or (iii) the relocation of the principal place of Participantâ€™s employment by more than 35 miles from Participantâ€™s principal place of employment immediately prior to the completion of the Major Restructuring; however, any of the events described in clauses (i)â€“(iii) above shall constitute Good Reason only if the Company (or an Affiliate, if applicable) fails to cure such event within 30 days after receipt from Participant of written notice of the event which constitutes Good Reason; and such Participant shall cease to have a right to terminate due to Good Reason on the 90th day following the later of the occurrence of the event or Participantâ€™s knowledge thereof, unless Participant has given the Company written notice thereof prior to such date.(d) Group Termination Event shall mean an involuntary termination of employment that is part of a group termination of employment, including, but not limited to, terminations resulting from sale of a business or division, outsourcing of an entire function, reduction in workforce or closing of a facility. In no event shall Participantâ€™s employer ceasing to be an Affiliate (as defined in the Plan) as a result of a Major Restructuring, on its own, constitute an Involuntary Loss of Job. (f) Job Elimination shall mean an involuntary termination of employment by reason of job elimination, substantial change in the nature of Participantâ€™s position, or job relocation.(g) Major Restructuring shall mean a reorganization, recapitalization, extraordinary stock dividend, merger, sale, spin-off or other similar transaction or series of transactions which, individually or in the aggregate, has the effect of resulting in the elimination of all, or the majority of, any one or more of the Companyâ€™s business segments, so long as such transaction or transactions do not constitute a Change in Control.(h) Retirement shall mean attainment of age 55 with at least 10 years of service with the Company and any Affiliate, unless otherwise defined in an Appendix. For purposes of this definition of Retirement, service with the Company or any of its Affiliates while the Company was known by the name Ingersoll-Rand plc shall be deemed service with the Company and its Affiliates. 3. Responsibility for Taxes. Participant acknowledges that, regardless of any action taken by the Company or, if different, Participantâ€™s employer (the â€œEmployerâ€), the ultimate liability for all income tax, social insurance, payroll tax, fringe benefits tax, payment on account or other tax-related items related to Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan and legally applicable to Participant (â€œTax-Related Itemsâ€) is and remains Participantâ€™s responsibility and may exceed the amount, if any, actually withheld by the Company or the Employer. Participant further acknowledges that the Company and the Employer (i) make no representations or undertakings regarding the treatment of any Tax-Related Items in connection with any aspect of the RSUs; and (ii) do not commit to and are under no obligation to structure the terms of the grant or any aspect of the RSUs to reduce or eliminate Participantâ€™s liability for Tax-Related Items or achieve any particular tax result. Further, if Participant is subject to Taxâ€‘Related Items in more than one jurisdiction, Participant acknowledges that the Company and/or the Employer (or former employer, as applicable) may be required to withhold or account for Tax-Related Items in more than one jurisdiction.In connection with any relevant taxable or tax withholding event, as applicable, Participant will pay or make adequate arrangements satisfactory to the Company and/or the Employer to satisfy all Tax-Related Items. To satisfy any withholding obligations of the Company and/or the Employer with respect to Tax-Related Items (other than U.S. Federal Insurance Contribution Act taxes or other Tax-Related Items which become payable in a year prior to the year in which the Shares are issued pursuant to the RSUs), the Company will withhold Shares otherwise issuable upon vesting of the RSUs. Alternatively, or in addition, Participant authorizes the Company and/or the Employer, or their respective agents, at their discretion, to satisfy their obligations, if any, with regard to all Tax-Related Items by one or a combination of the following: (a) withholding from Participantâ€™s wages or other cash compensation payable to Participant by the Company, the Employer, or any Affiliate, (b) withholding from proceeds of the sale of Shares acquired upon vesting of the RSUs either through a voluntary sale or through a mandatory sale arranged by the Company (on Participantâ€™s behalf pursuant to this authorization without further consent), (c) requiring Participant to tender a cash payment to the Company or an Affiliate in the amount of the Tax-Related Items and/or (d) any other method of withholding determined by the Company to be permitted under the Plan and, to the extent required by applicable law or under the Plan, approved by the Committee; provided, however, that if Participant is an officer of the Company subject to Section 16 of the Exchange Act, the withholding methods described in this Section 3(a), through (d) will only be used if the Committee (as constituted to satisfy Rule 16b-3 of the Exchange Act) determines, in advance of the applicable withholding event, that one of such withholding methods will be used in lieu of withholding Shares. The Company may withhold for Tax-Related Items by considering statutory or other withholding rates, including maximum applicable rates in Participantâ€™s jurisdiction(s). In the event of over-withholding, Participant may receive a refund of any over-withheld amount in cash (with no entitlement to the equivalent amount in Shares), from the Company or the Employer; otherwise, Participant may be able to seek a refund from the local tax authorities. In the event of under-withholding, Participant may be required to pay any additional Tax-Related Items directly to the applicable tax authority or to the Company and/or the Employer. The Company may refuse to issue or deliver the Shares or the proceeds of the sale of Shares, if Participant fails to comply with his or her obligations in connection with the Tax-Related Items.4. Participant acknowledges that a waiver by the Company of breach of any provision of this Award Agreement shall not operate or be construed as a waiver of any other provision of this Award Agreement, or of any subsequent breach by Participant or any other participant in the Plan.11. No Advice Regarding Grant. The Company is not providing any tax, legal or financial advice, nor is the Company making any recommendations regarding Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan, or his or her acquisition or sale of the underlying Shares. Participant should consult with his or her own personal tax, legal and financial advisors regarding Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan before taking any action related to the Plan.12. Insider Trading Restrictions/Market Abuse Laws. Participant may be subject to insider trading restrictions and/or market abuse laws in applicable jurisdictions including, but not limited to, the United States and, if different, Participantâ€™s country of residence, which may affect his or her ability to acquire or sell Shares or rights to Shares (e.g., RSUs) under the Plan during such times as Participant is considered to have â€œinside informationâ€ regarding the Company (as defined by the laws in the applicable jurisdictions). Any restrictions under these laws or regulations are separate from and in addition to any restrictions that may be imposed under any applicable Company insider trading policy. Participant is responsible for ensuring his or her compliance with any applicable restrictions and should speak to his or her personal legal advisor on this matter.13. Unless explicitly required by applicable legislation, the Termination Date shall exclude and shall not be extended by any period during which notice, pay in lieu of notice or related payments or damages are provided or required to be provided under statute, contract, common/civil law or otherwise. For greater certainty, Participant will not earn or be entitled to any pro-rated vesting for that portion of time before the Termination Date, nor will Participant be entitled to any compensation for lost vesting or other participation. In any event, if employment standards legislation explicitly requires continued vesting or other participation during a statutory notice period, then any additional vesting provided under Section 1(c) is deemed to be inclusive of any entitlements that arise during the applicable statutory notice period. When Shares are acquired, their cost generally is the adjusted cost base (â€œACBâ€) of the Shares. The ACB would ordinarily equal the fair market value of the Shares at the time of acquisition, but if other Shares are owned, this ACB may have to be averaged with the ACB of the other Shares. This provision replaces Section 1(c) of Appendix B:Except as explicitly and minimally required under applicable legislation, no Affiliate (including, but not limited to, the Employer) has any obligation to make any payment of any kind to Participant under this Award Agreement;Exclusion from Compensation or Salary. This provision replaces Section 1(h) of Appendix B: Except as explicitly and minimally required under applicable legislation, the PSUs and the Shares subject to the PSUs, and the income from and value of same, are not part of normal or expected compensation or salary for any purpose, including, but not limited to, calculating any severance, resignation, termination, redundancy, dismissal, end of service payments, bonuses, long-service awards, holiday pay, pension or retirement or welfare benefits or similar payments;No Compensation for Forfeiture. This provision replaces Section 1(l) of Appendix B:Except as explicitly and minimally required under applicable legislation, no claim or entitlement to compensation or damages shall arise from forfeiture of the PSUs resulting from Participant ceasing to provide employment or other services to the Company, the Employer, or any Affiliate (for any reason whatsoever, whether or not later found to be invalid or in breach of applicable laws in the jurisdiction where Participant is employed or the terms of Participantâ€™s employment agreement, if any) or from cancellation of the PSUs or recoupment of any financial gain resulting from the PSUs as described in Section 6 of the Performance Stock Unit Award Agreement;Termination of Employment. This provision replaces Section 1(m) of Appendix B:For purposes of the PSUs, and except as provided herein, Participantâ€™s employment or other service relationship will be considered terminated (regardless of the reason for such termination and whether or not the termination is later found to be invalid, unlawful or in breach of applicable laws in the jurisdiction where Participant is employed or providing services or the terms of Participantâ€™s employment or service agreement, if any), and Participantâ€™s right (if any) to earn, seek damages in lieu of, vest in or otherwise benefit from any portion of the PSUs pursuant to this Award Agreement will be measured by, the date Participant is no longer actually providing services to the Company or one of its Affiliates (the â€œTermination Dateâ€).Unless explicitly required by applicable legislation, the Termination Date shall exclude and shall not be extended by any period during which notice, pay in lieu of notice or related payments or damages are provided or required to be provided under statute, contract, common/civil law or otherwise. For greater certainty, Participant will not earn or be entitled to any pro-rated vesting for that portion of time before the Termination Date, nor will Participant be entitled to any compensation for lost vesting or other participation. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if applicable employment standards legislation explicitly requires continued vesting or other participation during a statutory notice period, Participantâ€™s right to vest in or otherwise benefit from the PSUs, if any, will terminate effective upon the expiry of the minimum statutory notice period, but Participant will not earn or be entitled to pro-rated vesting or other participation if the vesting date falls after the end of the statutory notice period, nor will Participant be entitled to any compensation for lost vesting or participation. In any event, if employment standards legislation explicitly requires continued vesting or participation during a statutory notice period, then any additional vesting provided under Section 3 of the Performance Stock Unit Award Agreement is deemed to be inclusive of any entitlements that arise during the applicable statutory notice period. For further clarity, any reference to a termination of Participantâ€™s employment or other service relationship or a date of termination under this Award Agreement or the Plan will be interpreted to mean the Termination Date.Securities Law Information. Participant is permitted to sell Shares acquired under the Plan through UBS or such other broker designated under the Plan, provided that the resale of such Shares takes place outside of Canada through the facilities of a stock exchange on which the Shares are listed. The Companyâ€™s ordinary shares are currently traded on the New York Stock Exchange which is located outside of Canada, under the ticker symbol â€œTTâ€ and Shares acquired under the Plan may be sold through this exchange. Foreign specified property, including Shares and rights to Shares (e.g., PSUs), held by a Canadian resident must be reported annually on Form T1135 (Foreign Income Verification Statement) if the total cost of such foreign specified property exceeds C$100,000 at any time during the year. If applicable, Form T1135 is due by April 30th of the following year. PSUs must be reported â€“ generally at a nil cost â€“ if the C$100,000 cost threshold is exceeded because of other foreign specified property held by the resident. When Shares are acquired, their cost generally is the adjusted cost base (â€œACBâ€) of the Shares. The ACB would ordinarily equal the fair market value of the Shares at the time of acquisition, but if other Shares are owned, this ACB may have to be averaged with the ACB of the other Shares. EX-19 7 ex19-insidertradingpolicy2.htm EX-19 DocumentTRANE TECHNOLOGIES PLCINSIDER TRADING POLICYPURPOSETrane Technologies plc (the â€œCompanyâ€) has adopted this insider trading policy (this â€œPolicyâ€) to promote compliance with insider trading laws by the Company and its affiliates, directors, officers, employees, agents and advisors. Insider trading laws prohibit trading in a companyâ€™s securities while in possession of material non-public information about that company. Violations of insider trading laws, inadvertent or otherwise, can result in severe civil and criminal penalties for the individuals involved, as well as for the Company and its management. Violations, or even the allegation or appearance of an improper transaction, can also damage the Companyâ€™s reputation for integrity and professionalism.This Policy supplements, and does not supersede, the Companyâ€™s Code of Conduct, which includes provisions requiring compliance with applicable laws, including laws relating to insider trading and stock tipping.APPLICABILITYThis Policy applies to you if you are a director, officer, employee, agent or advisor of the Company and its subsidiaries in and outside of the United States. This Policy also applies to your related persons (see definition below).POLICYIt is the Companyâ€™s policy that you may not transact in Company securities while in the possession of material non-public information. You also may not engage in any other action to take advantage of that material non-public information or pass it on to others so that they may trade on the information.This Policy also applies to material non-public information about any other company obtained in the course of your employment or association with the Company. If you obtain material non-public information about another company, you may not transact in securities of that company, engage in any action to take advantage of that information or pass that information to others so that they may trade on the information.Additional restrictions on trading Company securities apply to restricted persons, as discussed below.DEFINITIONS AND EXPLANATIONSâ€¢Who is an â€œinsiderâ€? Any person who has material non-public information is considered an insider as to that information. Insiders include Company directors, officers, employees, agents, advisors and those persons in a special relationship with the Company, such as its auditors, consultants, and outside counsel. The question of who is an insider is decided in the context of each transaction. In other words, an individual is an insider with respect to each item of material non-public information of which he or she is aware.â€¢What is â€œmaterialâ€ information? The materiality of information depends upon the circumstances.Â Â Â Â A fact is considered â€œmaterialâ€ if there is a substantial likelihood that a reasonable investor would consider it important in making a decision to buy, sell or hold a security or where the fact is likely to have a significant effect on the market price of the security. Material information can be positive or negative and can relate to virtually any aspect of the Companyâ€™s business or to any type of security, debt or equity. Some examples of material information include:â—¦Earnings information.â—¦Changes to total Company earnings, sales or cash flow guidance.â—¦Confirmation of previous Company guidance on earnings, sales or cash flow where the passage of time or the occurrence of an event has caused previous guidance to become â€œstale.â€â—¦Changes in dividend policy or capital structure.â—¦A pending or proposed Company transaction, such as a merger, acquisition or sale of assets, a business or securities of another company.TRANE TECHNOLOGIES PLCINSIDER TRADING POLICYâ—¦A material impairment or change in the value of the Companyâ€™s assets.â—¦Information regarding management changes at the executive officer level (currently Senior Vice President or higher).â—¦Change in auditors or auditor notification that the Company may no longer rely on an auditorâ€™s report.â—¦Significant cybersecurity incidents or events.â—¦Events regarding the Companyâ€™s securities â€” e.g., defaults on senior securities, calls of securities for redemption, repurchase plans, stock splits or changes in dividends, changes to the rights of security holders, and public or private sales of additional securities.These examples are merely illustrations of material items. Many other types of information may be considered material depending on the circumstances. Materiality of particular information must be assessed on a case-by-case basis.â€¢What is â€œnonpublicâ€ information? Information is â€œnonpublicâ€ if it is not available to the general public. In order for information to be considered public, it must be widely disseminated by the Company in a manner making it generally available to investors. For example, information will be considered generally available to investors if the Company publishes it through such media as Dow Jones, Reuters Economic Services, The Wall Street Journal, Associated Press or United Press International or the Company files or furnishes the information to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. The circulation of rumors, even if accurate and reported in the news media, does not constitute effective public dissemination.Even after a public announcement of material information, a reasonable period of time must pass Â Â Â Â in order for the market to absorb and react to the information. As a general rule, information is considered non-public until the beginning of the first full trading day after the date on which the information is publicly released. For example, if the Company issues a press release disclosing material non-public information (e.g., Company earnings information) before the opening of market on Tuesday, then the first time you can transact in Company securities is the opening of market on Wednesday, assuming you are not aware of other material non-public information at that time. If the Company issues a press release disclosing material non-public information after the market closes on Tuesday, then the first time you can transact in Company securities is the opening of market on Thursday. However, this period varies depending on the type of information released, the marketâ€™s expectations relating to the subject matter of the release, and the marketâ€™s reaction after the information is released. As described in more detail below, additional black-out periods may be implemented with regard to certain employees or groups from time to time who are in possession of material nonpublic information regarding potentially significant matters.â€¢Who is a â€œrelated personâ€? A â€œrelated personâ€ includes (a) your spouse, minor children and anyone else living in your household, (b) family members who do not live in your household but whose transactions in Company securities are directed by you or subject to your influence or control, and (c) entities whose transactions in Company securities are directed by you or subject to your influence or control, such as partnerships in which you are a general partner, trusts of which you are a trustee, and estates of which you are an executor. Although other persons, such as your parents, aunts, uncles, sisters, brothers or friends, may not be considered to be related persons if they are not living in your household and you donâ€™t influence or control their transactions in Company securities, they may be â€œtippeesâ€ for securities law purposes if you communicate material non-public information to them. â€œTippingâ€ is discussed below.â€¢Who is a â€œrestricted personâ€? A â€œrestricted personâ€ is a person designated by the Company as having regular access to material non-public information. The Company will notify you if it deems you to be a restricted person. Restricted persons are subject to additional restrictions discussed below.TRANE TECHNOLOGIES PLCINSIDER TRADING POLICYâ€¢What does it mean to â€œtransactâ€ or â€œtradeâ€ in securities? To transact or trade in securities includes (a) purchases or sales, including any exercise of stock options, (b) transactions in puts, calls or other derivative securities tied to a security of a company, (c) entering into a credit default swap on a companyâ€™s debt, (d) bona fide gifts of securities or (e) making or modifying any instructions or investment options (including under the Companyâ€™s or any other companyâ€™s 401(k) plan) that could result in any of the foregoing.GUIDELINESTo comply with the letter and spirit of this Policy, you should observe the following rules:â€¢Non-disclosure of Material Public Information. Until material non-public information has been widely disseminated by the Company, it must not be disclosed to anyone, except the persons within the Company or third-party agents of the Company (such as advisors and outside counsel) whose positions require them to know it.â€¢Prohibited Trading in Securities. You may not transact or recommend that another person transact in Company securities when you are aware of material information about the Company that has not been released to the public. If you become aware of material non-public information about another company, including our customers, suppliers or an economically-linked company, such as a competitor, that has not been released to the public during the course of your employment or association with the Company, you may not transact, or recommend that any other person transact, in such other companyâ€™s securities. Authorities may view this as â€œshadow tradingâ€ of the material nonpublic information and therefore may hold such director, officer or employee liable for insider trading based on that action. These restrictions apply to all transactions, including through brokers or on-line brokerage accounts.â€¢How Transactions Appear in Hindsight. If securities transactions become the subject of scrutiny, they are likely to be viewed after the fact with the benefit of knowledge of all of the circumstances present at the time, even if you engaged in the transaction without considering these circumstances. As a result, before engaging in any transaction, you should carefully consider how the transaction may be construed with the benefit of hindsight.â€¢â€œTippingâ€ Information to Others. You may be liable for communicating or â€œtippingâ€ material non-public information to any outside party (a tippee) or for recommending that the tippee transact in securities of the Company or other company based on such information. Tippees are not limited to related persons; they can be friends, neighbors or acquaintances.Tippees inherit your duties and are liable for trading on material non-public information illegally tipped to them by you. Similarly, just as you are liable for the insider trading of your tippees, so are tippees who pass the information along to others who trade. In other words, a tippeeâ€™s liability for insider trading is no different from that of an insider. Tippees can obtain material non-public information by receiving specific tips from others or through conversations at social, business or other gatherings, among other things.â€¢Avoid Speculation. Investing in Company securities provides an opportunity to share in the future growth of the Company. However, short-range speculation based on fluctuations in the market price of Company securities may put your personal gain in conflict with the best interests of the Company and its shareholders. The Company prohibits its directors and executive officers from (i) purchasing any financial instruments designed to hedge or offset any decrease in the market value of Company securities, and (ii) engaging in any form of short-term speculative trading in Company securities. Directors and executive officers are also prohibited from holding Company TRANE TECHNOLOGIES PLCINSIDER TRADING POLICYsecurities in a margin account or pledging Company securities as collateral for a loan unless the Senior Vice President and General Counsel provides pre-clearance after the director or executive officer clearly demonstrates the financial capability to repay the loan without resort to the pledged securities. The Company strongly recommends that persons and their related persons subject to this Policy who are not directors or executive officers not engage in any of these activities.ADDITIONAL RESTRICTIONS FOR RESTRICTED PERSONSâ€¢Restricted Persons. Restricted persons may only transact in Company securities during open window periods, except as otherwise may be permitted under this Policy. Directors, Enterprise Leadership Team (â€œELTâ€) members and all other elected officers may only transact during open window periods after receiving pre-clearance from the Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary or his/her designee, as discussed further below.â€¢Trading Window. The period prior to the public release of the Companyâ€™s quarterly and annual financial results is a particularly sensitive period for transactions in Company securities from the perspective of insider trading. This sensitivity is due to the fact that officers, directors and certain employees will often, during these periods, possess material non-public information about the expected financial results for the quarter or year. Accordingly, if you are aware of the Companyâ€™s financial results, you may not transact in Company securities while the Companyâ€™s trading window is closed. The trading window generally opens on the morning of the business day following the issuance of the Companyâ€™s earnings release and closes at the end of the tenth business day prior to the conclusion of each fiscal quarter. Restricted persons will receive a communication from the Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary announcing the opening and closing of the Companyâ€™s trading window.The Company may also close the trading window from time to time in connection with specific material developments. In such events, the Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary may notify particular individuals that they are not permitted to engage in any transactions in Company securities. If you are notified that the trading window is closed other than at the regularly scheduled time, you may not disclose this to others. Depending on the circumstances, the closing of the trading window may be announced or unannounced. If unannounced, an individual will be informed of the closure when he or she contacts the Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary to seek clearance of a transaction, as described below.Note that the restrictions imposed in connection with the closure of trading windows are in addition to the other restrictions in this Policy. Trading while a trading window is open is NOT a â€œsafe harbor.â€ You continue to be restricted from transacting in Company securities while in possession of material non-public information even if the trading window is open.â€¢Pre-Clearance. Directors, ELT members and all other elected officers are required to obtain prior clearance from the Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary or his/her designee before you or a related person transacts in Company securities. You will receive a communication from the Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary each time the window is opening if you are required to pre- clear transactions. If the transaction is not consummated or completed on the day clearance advice is given, you or the related person must again request clearance for the transaction. Any advice will relate solely to the restraints imposed by law and will not constitute advice regarding the investment aspects of any transaction. In addition, receipt of clearance is NOT a safe harbor. You continue to be restricted from transacting in Company securities while in possession of material non-public information even if you receive pre-clearance.TRANE TECHNOLOGIES PLCINSIDER TRADING POLICYâ€¢10b5-1 Trading Plans. The securities laws allow a safe harbor from insider trading liability for transactions pursuant to a written trading plan (each, a â€œRule 10b5-1 Planâ€) that meets the requirements of Rule 10b5-1 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the â€œExchange Actâ€). Transactions under properly constructed Rule 10b5-1 Plans can be completed during blackout periods and at other times when the individual in question possesses material nonpublic information, and they are not subject to pre-clearance requirements. Restricted persons must obtain pre-clearance from the Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary or his/her designee before entering into a Rule 10b5-1 Plan.Securities laws prohibit (i) entry into more than one Rule 10b5-1 Plan that is designed to effectuate a single trade of securities in one transaction (known as a â€œsingle tradeâ€ plan) during any 12-month period, or (ii) maintaining more than one Rule 10b5-1 Plan at any given time if trading arrangements under such plans may occur simultaneously. These restrictions do not apply to â€œsell-to-coverâ€ transactions that authorize the sale of only enough securities necessary to satisfy tax obligations arising from the vesting of a compensatory award. All Rule 10b5-1 Plans are subject to a mandatory â€œcooling offâ€ period that ends on the later of (i) 90 days after the adoption of the Rule 10b5-1 Plan or (ii) two business days following the disclosure of the Companyâ€™s financial results in a Form 10-K or Form 10-Q for the fiscal quarter in which the Rule 10b5-1 Plan was adopted.Restricted persons must also obtain pre-clearance from the Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary or his/her designee before revoking a Rule 10b5-1 Plan that was pre-cleared. A restricted person acting in good faith may amend a previously approved Rule 10b5-1 Plan so long as such amendments are made during an open trading window and at a time when the restricted person does not possess material non-public information. However, amendments that modify or change the amount, price, or timing of the purchase or sale of securities are subject to a new cooling off period pursuant to SEC rules. â€¢Post-Transaction Notification Requirement Filing/Transaction Reports with the SEC. If you are a person designated by the Company as subject to the reporting provisions and trading restrictions of Section 16 of the Exchange Act (each such person, a â€œSection 16(b) Personâ€), you are required to file reports with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission within two business days of any transaction involving Company securities, including any exercise of stock options or disposition of securities by bona fide gift. As a result, these individuals are required to report transactions promptly to the Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary, so that reports can be completed and filed on a timely basis.â€¢Short Swing Profits. If you are a Section 16(b) Person, you may not both buy and sell Company securities within any six-month period. This rule applies regardless of whether the individual in question possesses any material nonpublic information.VIOLATIONSYOU SHOULD REMEMBER THAT YOU BEAR THE ULTIMATE RESPONSIBILITY FOR ADHERING TO THIS POLICY AND AVOIDING IMPROPER TRADING.Securities laws impose civil and criminal fines and penalties, including imprisonment, on persons who trade in a companyâ€™s securities at a time when they have knowledge of material nonpublic information concerning that companyâ€™s securities. Insiders may also be liable for improper transactions by any tippee to whom they have disclosed material nonpublic information regarding a company or to whom they have made recommendations to transact in a companyâ€™s securities on the basis of such information, even if the TRANE TECHNOLOGIES PLCINSIDER TRADING POLICYinsider did not profit from the trading. In addition to any governmental action or penalty, the Company will impose appropriate disciplinary action on any director, officer or employee who violates this Policy. Such disciplinary action could include termination of employment.QUESTIONSPlease direct any questions regarding this Policy to the Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary. To further align the interests of its employees and its shareholders, Trane Technologies plc (the â€œCompanyâ€) has implemented a claw-back/recoupment policy to ensure the recovery of incentive-based compensation and other equity-based awards, including where required by applicable law due to a required Accounting Restatement in accordance with the compensation recovery requirements set forth in Section 10D of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the â€œExchange Actâ€), as added by Section 954 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, and the listing standards of The New York Stock Exchange (â€œNYSEâ€), or in the event of reputational or financial harm to the Company caused by the misconduct of a current or former employee.2.Administration. This Policy shall be administered by the Human Resources and Compensation Committee of the Board of Directors (the â€œBoardâ€) of the Company (the â€œHRCCâ€). Any determinations made by the HRCC shall be final and binding on all affected individuals.3.Operation.a.Mandatory Recoupment - In the event of an Accounting Restatement due to the Companyâ€™s material non-compliance with any financial reporting requirement under U.S. federal securities laws, then the Company shall, subject to Section 4 of this Policy, by using prompt and reasonable efforts, recover from each current or former Executive Officer, all Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation received by such Executive Officer during the Clawback Period. Each Executive Officer shall repay, or establish a payment plan satisfactory to the Company, any Excessive Incentive Compensation within thirty (30) days of a written request from the Company seeking such repayment. To the extent that the Executive Officer either cannot repay or chooses not to effect repayment to the Company pursuant to the preceding sentence, repayment of Excessive Incentive Compensation may be accomplished by offsetting amounts owed by the Company to the Executive Officer, including cancellation of outstanding cash incentive and/or equity awards, and recovering any other compensation paid or payable to such Executive Officer as permitted by law.b.Discretionary Recoupment - In the event the HRCC determines that any current or former employee has committed Misconduct that resulted in, or could potentially result in, any form of reputational or financial harm to the Company, the HRCC may, in its sole discretion and to the extent allowable by law, direct the Company to recover all or any portion of any cash or equity based performance incentives or equity-based awards previously paid to, or earned by, such current or former employee during any period attributable to Misconduct. In such event, each current or former employee who has been determined by the HRCC to have committed Misconduct shall repay, or establish a payment plan satisfactory to the Company, of the cash or equity-based performance incentives or equity-based awards previously received by such individual within thirty (30) days of a written request from the Company seeking repayment. To the extent that the current or 1former employee either cannot repay or chooses not to effect repayment to the Company pursuant to this paragraph, repayment may be accomplished by offsetting amounts owed by the Company to such current or former officer, including cancellation of outstanding cash incentive and/or equity awards, and recovering any other compensation paid or payable as permitted by law.c.Notwithstanding the foregoing, there shall be no duplication of recovery under this Policy and any of 15 U.S.C. Section 7243 (Section 304 of The Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002) or Section 10D of the Exchange Act. Furthermore, in no event shall the Company indemnify, or create any arrangement to indemnify, any current or former Executive Officer or employee against the loss associated with recovery of Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation under this Policy.d.To the extent that a current or former Executive Officer or employee fails to repay all Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation to the Company when due (as determined in accordance with this Section 3), the Company shall take all actions reasonable and appropriate to recover such Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation from such current or former Executive Officer or employee. Such Executive Officer or employee shall be required to reimburse the Company for any and all expenses reasonably incurred (including legal fees) by the Company in recovering such Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation in accordance with the immediately preceding sentence.e.The Company shall file all disclosures with respect to this Policy in accordance with the requirement of the U.S. federal securities laws, including the disclosure required by the applicable SEC filings. 4. ExceptionsThe Company shall not be required recover all or a portion of any Excessive Incentive- Based Compensation as prescribed in Section 3(a) of this Policy if one or more of the following conditions are met and, as a result, the HRCC determines that recovery would be impracticable:a.The direct expenses paid to a third party to assist in enforcing the Policy against a current or former Executive Officer would exceed the amount to be recovered, after the Company has (i) made a reasonable attempt to recover the Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation; (ii) documented such attempts to recover the Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation; and (iii) in the event of a proposed recovery from an Executive Officer, provided such documentation to NYSE;b.Recovery would violate home country law where that law was adopted prior to November 28, 2022, provided that, before determining that it would be impracticable to recover any amount of Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation based on violation of home country law, the Company has obtained an opinion of home country counsel, acceptable to NYSE, that recovery would result in such a violation and a copy of the opinion is provided to NYSE; or2c.Recovery would likely cause an otherwise tax-qualified retirement plan, under which benefits are broadly available to employees of the Company, to fail to meet the requirements of 26 U.S.C. 401(a)(13) or 26 U.S.C. 411(a) and regulations thereunder. 5. Definitions. For purposes of this Policy, the following terms have the meanings indicated, in addition to any other terms defined herein:a.â€œAccounting Restatementâ€ means an accounting restatement of the Companyâ€™s financial statements due to the Companyâ€™s material noncompliance with any financial reporting requirement under the securities laws, including (i) any required accounting restatement to correct an error in previously issued financial statements that is material to the previously issued financial statements, or (ii) that would result in a material misstatement if the error were corrected in the current period or left uncorrected in the current period.. Accounting Restatement does not include an accounting restatement due to a change in accounting policies or principles.b.â€œClawback Periodâ€ means, with respect to any Accounting Restatement, the three completed fiscal years of the Company immediately preceding the Restatement Date and any transition period (that results from a change in the Companyâ€™s fiscal year) of less than nine months within or immediately following those three completed fiscal years.c.â€œExcessive Incentive-Based Compensationâ€ means the amount of Incentive-Based Compensation received (actual or deemed even if payment or grant of the Incentive-Based Compensation occurs after the end of that period) on or after October 2, 2023 by a current or former Executive Officer that exceeds the amount of Incentive-Based Compensation that otherwise would have been received by such current or former Executive Officer had it been determined based on the Accounting Restatement, computed without regard to taxes paid. Incentive-Based Compensation is deemed to be received in the Companyâ€™s fiscal period during which the Financial Reporting Measure specified in the Incentive-Based Compensation award is attained, even if the payment or grant of such Incentive-Based Compensation occurs after the end of that period. For Incentive-Based Compensation based on Total Shareholder Return or stock price, where the amount of erroneously awarded compensation is not subject to mathematical recalculation directly from the information in an Accounting Restatement, the amount shall be based on a reasonable estimate of the effect of the Accounting Restatement on the applicable measure (in which case, the Company shall maintain documentation of such determination of that reasonable estimate and provide such documentation to NYSE). In no event shall Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation include any compensation made by the Company into tax- qualified retirement plans within the meaning of 26 U.S.C. Â§ 401(a).d.â€œExecutive Officerâ€ means the Companyâ€™s president, principal financial officer, principal accounting officer (or if there is no principal accounting officer, the controller), any vice- president in charge of a principal business unit, division or 3function (such as sales, administration, or finance), any other officer who performs a policy-making function for the Company, or any other person who performs similar policy-making functions for the Company, as determined by the HRCC in accordance with federal securities laws, SEC rules or the rules of any national securities exchange or national securities association on which the Companyâ€™s securities are listed. Identification of an executive officer for purposes of this Policy includes at a minimum executive officers identified pursuant to 17 C.F.R. 229.401(b). For avoidance of doubt, recovery of Incentive-Based Compensation received by an Executive Officer shall only apply to that portion of Incentive-Based Compensation received by such Executive Officer (i) after beginning service as an Executive Officer, (ii) if that person served as an Executive Officer at any time during the recovery period (as determined in accordance with 17 CFR 240.10D-1(b)(1)(ii)(B)), and (iii) while the issuer has a class of securities listed on a national securities exchange or a national securities association (in accordance with 17 CFR 240.10D-1(b)(1)(i)(C).e.Financial Reporting Measures are measures that are determined and presented in accordance with the accounting principles used in preparing the Companyâ€™s financial statements, and any measures that are derived wholly or in part from such measures. Financial Reporting Measures include stock price and total shareholder return. A Financial Reporting Measure need not be presented within the financial statements or included in a filing with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.f.â€œIncentive-Based Compensationâ€ means any compensation that is granted, earned, or vested based wholly or in part upon the attainment of any Financial Reporting Measure including, without limitation and by way of example: (i) the annual or other short-term incentive awards granted or earned based on the degree of achievement of one or more Financial Reporting Measures under the Companyâ€™s annual or short-term cash incentive compensation programs; (ii) the stock options granted or vested under the Companyâ€™s long-term incentive and/or equity programs; (iii) the performance share units or other performance-based awards (plus any amount attributable to such awards) granted or earned based on the degree of achievement of one or more Financial Reporting Measures under the Companyâ€™s long-term incentive and/or equity programs; and (iv) any other incentive-based compensation granted or earned based on the degree of achievement of one or more Financial Reporting Measures pursuant to an â€œincentive plan,â€ as such term is defined for purposes of Regulation S-K under the Exchange Act; plus any shares of stock issued under, and/or any other benefit reasonably related to, such compensation. Incentive-Based Compensation does not include: (i) bonuses paid solely at the discretion of the Board or the HRCC that are not paid from a bonus pool that is determined by satisfying a Financial Reporting Measure performance goal or solely upon satisfying one or more subjective standards and/or completion of a specified employment period, (ii) non-equity incentive plan awards earned solely upon satisfying one or more strategic or operational measures, or (iii) equity awards not contingent upon achieving any Financial Reporting Measure performance goal and vesting is 4contingent solely upon the completion of a specified employment period and/or attaining one or more non-Financial Reporting Measures.g.â€œMisconductâ€ means any action or omission that (i) involves willful malfeasance or willful gross negligence having a demonstrable adverse effect on the Company or any of its affiliates; (ii) results in the employee being convicted of a felony under the laws of the United States or any state or district (or the equivalent in any non-U.S. jurisdiction); or (iii) constitutes a material violation of the Companyâ€™s code of conduct.h.â€œRestatement Dateâ€ means the earlier to occur of (i) the date the Board, a committee of the Board or the officers of the Company authorized to take such action if Board action is not required, concludes, or reasonably should have concluded, that the Company is required to prepare an Accounting Restatement, or (ii) the date of court, regulator or other legally authorized body directs the Company to prepare an Accounting Restatement.Adopted December 6, 2024.5 EX-97.2 15 ex972ttflfinancingclawback.htm EX-97.2 DocumentExhibit 97.2Clawback/Recoupment Policy:1.Statement of Policy. Furthermore, in no Exhibit 97.2event shall the Company indemnify, or create any arrangement to indemnify, any current or former Executive Officer or employee against the loss associated with recovery of Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation under this Policy.d.To the extent that a current or former Executive Officer or employee fails to repay all Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation to the Company when due (as determined in accordance with this Section 3), the Company shall take all actions reasonable and appropriate to recover such Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation from such current or former Executive Officer or employee. Such Executive Officer or employee shall be required to reimburse the Company for any and all expenses reasonably incurred (including legal fees) by the Company in recovering such Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation in accordance with the immediately preceding sentence.e.The Company shall file all disclosures with respect to this Policy in accordance with the requirement of the U.S. federal securities laws, including the disclosure required by the applicable SEC filings.4. Exceptions The Company shall not be required recover all or a portion of any Excessive Incentive- Based Compensation as prescribed in Section 3(a) of this Policy if one or more of the following conditions are met and, as a result, the Board determines that recovery would be impracticable:a.The direct expenses paid to a third party to assist in enforcing the Policy against a current or former Executive Officer would exceed the amount to be recovered, after the Company has (i) made a reasonable attempt to recover the Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation; (ii) documented such attempts to recover the Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation; and (iii) in the event of a proposed recovery from an Executive Officer, provided such documentation to NYSE;b.Recovery would violate home country law where that law was adopted prior to November 28, 2022, provided that, before determining that it would be impracticable to recover any amount of Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation based on violation of home country law, the Company has obtained an opinion of home country counsel, acceptable to NYSE, that recovery would result in such a violation and a copy of the opinion is provided to NYSE; orc.Recovery would likely cause an otherwise tax-qualified retirement plan, under which benefits are broadly available to employees of the Company, to fail to meet the requirements of 26 U.S.C. 401(a)(13) or 26 U.S.C. 411(a) and regulations thereunder. 5. Definitions. For purposes of this Policy, the following terms have the meanings indicated, in addition to any other terms defined herein:a.â€œAccounting Restatementâ€ means the result of the process of revising previously issued financial statements to reflect the correction of one or more errors that are material to those financial statements. Accounting Restatement does not include an accounting restatement due to a change in accounting policies or principles.b.â€œClawback Periodâ€ means, with respect to any Accounting Restatement, the three completed fiscal years of the Company immediately preceding the Restatement Date and any transition period (that results from a change in the Companyâ€™s fiscal year) of less than nine months within or immediately following those three completed fiscal years.Exhibit 97.2c.â€œExcessive Incentive-Based Compensationâ€ means the amount of Incentive-Based Compensation received (actual or deemed even if payment or grant of the Incentive-Based Compensation occurs after the end of that period) on or after October 2, 2023 by a current or former Executive Officer that exceeds the amount of Incentive-Based Compensation that otherwise would have been received by such current or former Executive Officer had it been determined based on the Accounting Restatement, computed without regard to taxes paid. For Incentive-Based Compensation based on Total Shareholder Return or stock price, where the amount of erroneously awarded compensation is not subject to mathematical recalculation directly from the information in an Accounting Restatement, the amount shall be based on a reasonable estimate of the effect of the Accounting Restatement on the applicable measure (in which case, the Company shall maintain documentation of such determination of that reasonable estimate and provide such documentation to NYSE). In no event shall Excessive Incentive-Based Compensation include any compensation made by the Company into tax-qualified retirement plans within the meaning of 26 U.S.C. Â§ 401(a). d.â€œExecutive Officerâ€ means the Companyâ€™s president, principal financial officer, principal accounting officer (or if there is no principal accounting officer, the controller), any vice-president in charge of a principal business unit, division or function (such as sales, administration, or finance), any other officer who performs a policy-making function for the Company, or any other person who performs similar policy-making functions for the Company, as determined by the Board in accordance with federal securities laws, SEC rules or the rules of any national securities exchange or national securities association on which the Companyâ€™s securities are listed. Identification of an executive officer for purposes of this Policy includes at a minimum executive officers identified pursuant to 17 C.F.R. 229.401(b). For avoidance of doubt, recovery of Incentive-Based Compensation received by an Executive Officer shall only apply to that portion of Incentive-Based Compensation received by such Executive Officer (i) after beginning service as an Executive Officer and (ii) if that person served as an Executive Officer at any time during the recovery period (as determined in accordance with 17 CFR 240.10D-1(b)(1)(ii)(B)).e.â€œIncentive-Based Compensationâ€ means any compensation that is granted, earned, or vested based wholly or in part upon the attainment of any financial reporting measure including, without limitation and by way of example: (i) the annual or other short-term incentive awards granted or earned based on the degree of achievement of one or more financial reporting measures under the Companyâ€™s annual or short-term cash incentive compensation programs; (ii) the stock options granted or vested under the Companyâ€™s long-term incentive and/or equity programs; (iii) the performance share units or other performance-based awards (plus any amount attributable to such awards) granted or earned based on the degree of achievement of one or more financial reporting measures under the Companyâ€™s long-term incentive and/or equity programs; and (iv) any other incentive-based compensation granted or earned based on the degree of achievement of one or more financial reporting measures pursuant to an â€œincentive plan,â€ as such term is defined for purposes of Regulation S-K under the Exchange Act; plus any shares of stock issued under, and/or any other benefit reasonably related to, such compensation. Incentive-Based Compensation does not include: (i) bonuses paid solely at the discretion of the Board that are not paid from a bonus pool that is determined by satisfying a financial reporting measure performance goal or solely upon satisfying one or more subjective standards and/or completion of a specified employment period, (ii) non-equity incentive plan awards earned solely upon satisfying one or more strategic or operational Exhibit 97.2measures, or (iii) equity awards not contingent upon achieving any financial reporting measure performance goal and vesting is contingent solely upon the completion of a specified employment period and/or attaining one or more non-financial reporting measures. f.â€œMisconductâ€ means any action or omission that (i) involves willful malfeasance or willful gross negligence having a demonstrable adverse effect on the Company or any of its affiliates; (ii) results in the employee being convicted of a felony under the laws of the United States or any state or district (or the equivalent in any non-U.S. jurisdiction); or (iii) constitutes a material violation of the Companyâ€™s code of conduct.g.â€œRestatement Dateâ€ means the earlier to occur of (i) the date the Board, a committee of the Board or the officers of the Company authorized to take such action if Board action is not required, concludes, or reasonably should have concluded, that the Company is required to prepare an Accounting Restatement, or (ii) the date of court, regulator or other legally authorized body directs the Company to prepare an Accounting Restatement.Adopted December 6, 2024. Accounting Policies [Abstract]

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

A summary of significant accounting policies used in the preparation of the accompanying Consolidated Financial Statements follows:

Basis of Presentation: The accompanying Consolidated Financial Statements reflect the consolidated operations of the Company and have been prepared in accordance with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) as defined by the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) within the FASB Accounting Standards Codification (ASC). Intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated.

The results of operations and cash flows of all discontinued operations have been separately reported as discontinued operations for all periods presented. The Company recorded certain income and expenses associated with asbestos liabilities and corresponding insurance recoveries within Discontinued operations, net of tax, as they related to previously divested businesses, except for amounts associated with the predecessor of the Murray Boiler LLC (Murray) asbestos liabilities and corresponding insurance recoveries, which were recorded within continuing operations. See Note 20, "Commitments and Contingencies" for more information regarding asbestos-related matters.

The Consolidated Financial Statements include all majority-owned subsidiaries of the Company. A noncontrolling interest in a subsidiary is considered an ownership interest in a majority-owned subsidiary that is not attributable to the parent. The Company includes Noncontrolling interest as a component of Total equity in the Consolidated Balance Sheets and the Net earnings attributable to noncontrolling interests are presented as an adjustment from Net earnings used to arrive at Net earnings attributable to Trane Technologies plc in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings.

Use of Estimates: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements as well as the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Estimates are based on several factors including the facts and circumstances available at the time the estimates are made, historical experience, risk of loss, general economic conditions and trends, and the assessment of the probable future outcome. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Estimates and assumptions are reviewed periodically, and the effects of changes, if any, are reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings in the period that they are determined.

Currency Translation: Assets and liabilities of non-U.S. subsidiaries, where the functional currency is not the U.S. dollar, have been translated at year-end exchange rates, and income and expense accounts have been translated using average exchange rates throughout the year. Adjustments resulting from the process of translating an entity's financial statements into the U.S. dollar have been recorded in the equity section of the Consolidated Balance Sheets within Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). Transactions that are denominated in a currency other than an entity's functional currency are subject to changes in exchange rates with the resulting gains and losses recorded within Other income/(expense), net.

Cash and Cash Equivalents: Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, demand deposits and all highly liquid investments with original maturities at the time of purchase of three months or less. The Company maintains amounts on deposit at various financial institutions, which may at times exceed federally insured limits. However, management periodically evaluates the credit-worthiness of those institutions and has not experienced any losses on such deposits.

Allowance for Credit Losses: The Company maintains an allowance for credit losses which represents the best estimate of expected loss inherent in the Company's accounts receivable portfolio. This estimate is based upon a two-step policy that results in the total recorded allowance for credit losses. The first step is to record a portfolio reserve based on the aging of the outstanding accounts receivable portfolio and the Company's historical experience with the Company's end markets, customer base and products. The second step is to create a specific reserve for significant accounts as to which the customer's ability to satisfy their financial obligation to the Company is in doubt due to circumstances such as bankruptcy, deteriorating operating results or financial position. In these circumstances, management uses its judgment to record an allowance based on the best estimate of expected loss, factoring in such considerations as the market value of collateral, if applicable. Actual results could differ from those estimates. These estimates and assumptions are reviewed periodically, and the effects of changes, if any, are reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings in the period that they are determined. The Company's allowance for credit losses was $56.6 million and $44.8 million as of December 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively.

Inventories: Depending on the business, U.S. inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market using the last-in, first-out (LIFO) method or the lower of cost and net realizable value (NRV) using the first-in, first-out (FIFO) method. Non-U.S. inventories are stated at the lower of cost and NRV using the FIFO method. At both December 31, 2024 and 2023, approximately 59% of all inventory utilized the LIFO method.

Property, Plant and Equipment: Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Assets placed in service are recorded at cost and depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of the asset except for leasehold improvements, which are depreciated over the shorter of their economic useful life or their lease term. The range of useful lives used to depreciate property, plant and equipment is as follows:

Buildings	10	to	50	years
Machinery and equipment	2	to	12	years
Software	2	to	7	years

Major expenditures for replacements and significant improvements that increase asset values and extend useful lives are also capitalized. Capitalized costs are amortized over their estimated useful lives using the straight-line method. Repairs and maintenance expenditures that do not extend the useful life of the asset are charged to expense as incurred. The carrying amounts of assets that are sold or retired and the related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts in the year of disposal, and any resulting gain or loss is reflected within current earnings.

The Company assesses the recoverability of the carrying value of its property, plant and equipment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the asset group may not be recoverable. Recoverability is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of the asset group to the future net undiscounted cash flows expected to be generated by the asset group. If the undiscounted cash flows are less than the carrying amount of the asset group, an impairment loss is recognized for the amount by which the carrying value of the asset group exceeds the fair value of the asset group.

Goodwill and Intangible Assets: The Company records as goodwill the excess of the purchase price over the fair value of the net assets acquired in a business combination. Measurement period adjustments may be recorded once a final valuation has been performed. Goodwill and other indefinite-lived intangible assets are tested and reviewed annually for impairment during the fourth quarter or whenever there is a significant change in events or circumstances that indicate that the fair value of the asset is more likely than not less than the carrying amount of the asset. In addition, an interim impairment test is completed upon a triggering event or when there is a reorganization of reporting structure or disposal of all or a portion of a reporting unit.

Impairment of goodwill is tested at the reporting unit level. The test compares the carrying amount of the reporting unit to its estimated fair value. If the estimated fair value of a reporting unit exceeds its carrying amount, goodwill of the reporting unit is not impaired. To the extent that the carrying value of the reporting unit exceeds its estimated fair value, an impairment loss would be recognized for the amount by which the reporting unit's carrying amount exceeds its fair value, not to exceed the carrying amount of goodwill in that reporting unit.

Intangible assets such as customer-related intangible assets and other intangible assets with finite useful lives are amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated economic lives. The weighted-average useful lives approximate the following:

Customer relationships	15 years
Other	8 years

The Company assesses the recoverability of the carrying value of its intangible assets with finite useful lives whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the asset group may not be recoverable. Recoverability is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of an asset group to the future net undiscounted cash flows expected to be generated by the asset group. If the undiscounted cash flows are less than the carrying amount of the asset group, an impairment loss is recognized for the amount by which the carrying value of the asset group exceeds the fair value of the asset group.

Business Combinations: Acquisitions that meet the definition of a business combination are recorded using the acquisition method of accounting. The Company includes the operating results of acquired entities from their respective dates of acquisition. The Company recognizes and measures the identifiable assets acquired, liabilities assumed, including contingent consideration relating to earnout provisions, and any non-controlling interest as of the acquisition date fair value. The excess, if any, of total consideration transferred in a business combination over the fair value of identifiable assets acquired, liabilities assumed and any non-controlling interest is recognized as goodwill. Costs incurred as a result of a business combination other than costs related to the issuance of debt or equity securities are recorded in the period the costs are incurred. Additionally, at each reporting period, contingent consideration is remeasured to fair value, with changes recorded in Selling and administrative expenses in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings.

Equity Investments: Partially-owned equity affiliates generally represent 20-50% ownership interests in equity investments where the Company demonstrates significant influence, but does not have a controlling financial interest. Partially-owned equity affiliates are accounted for under the equity method.

The Company invests in companies that complement existing products and services further enhancing its product portfolio. The Company records equity investments for which it does not have significant influence and without a readily determinable fair value at cost with adjustments for observable changes in price or impairment as permitted by the measurement alternative. Investments for which the measurement alternative has been elected are assessed for impairment upon a triggering event. Equity investments without a readily determinable fair value were $87.7 million and $69.9 million for the years ended December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2023, respectively.

Employee Benefit Plans: The Company provides a range of benefits, including pensions, postretirement and postemployment benefits to eligible current and former employees. Determining the cost associated with such benefits is dependent on various actuarial assumptions, including discount rates, expected return on plan assets, compensation increases, mortality, turnover rates, and healthcare cost trend rates. Actuaries perform the required calculations to determine expense in accordance with GAAP. Actual results may differ from the actuarial assumptions and are generally accumulated into Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) and amortized into Net earnings over future periods. The Company reviews its actuarial assumptions at each measurement date and makes modifications to the assumptions based on current rates and trends, if appropriate.

Loss Contingencies: Liabilities are recorded for various contingencies arising in the normal course of business. The Company has recorded reserves in the financial statements related to these matters, which are developed using input derived from actuarial estimates and historical and anticipated experience data depending on the nature of the reserve, and in certain instances with consultation of legal counsel, internal and external consultants and engineers. Subject to the uncertainties inherent in estimating future costs for these types of liabilities, the Company believes its estimated reserves are reasonable and does not believe the final determination of the liabilities with respect to these matters would have a material effect on the financial condition, results of operations, liquidity or cash flows of the Company for any year.

Environmental Costs: The Company is subject to laws and regulations relating to protecting the environment. Environmental expenditures relating to current operations are expensed or capitalized as appropriate. Expenditures relating to existing conditions caused by past operations, which do not contribute to current or future revenues, are expensed. Liabilities for remediation costs are recorded when they are probable and can be reasonably estimated, generally no later than the completion of feasibility studies or the Company's commitment to a plan of action. The assessment of this liability, which is calculated based on existing remediation technology, does not reflect any offset for possible recoveries from insurance companies, and is not discounted.

Product Warranties: Standard product warranty accruals are recorded at the time of sale and are estimated based upon product warranty terms and historical experience. The Company assesses the adequacy of its liabilities and will make adjustments as necessary based on known or anticipated warranty claims, or as new information becomes available. The Company's extended warranty liability represents the deferred revenue associated with its extended warranty contracts and is amortized into revenue on a straight-line basis over the life of the contract, unless another method is more representative of the costs incurred. The Company assesses the adequacy of its liability by evaluating the expected costs under its existing contracts to ensure these expected costs do not exceed the extended warranty liability.

Income Taxes: Deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on temporary differences between financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities, applying enacted tax rates expected to be in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse. The Company recognizes future tax benefits, such as net operating losses and tax credits, to the extent that realizing these benefits is considered in its judgment to be more likely than not. The Company regularly reviews the recoverability of its deferred tax assets considering its historic profitability, projected future taxable income, timing of the reversals of existing temporary differences and the feasibility of its tax planning strategies. Where appropriate, the Company records a valuation allowance with respect to a future tax benefit.

Revenue Recognition: Revenue is recognized when control of a good or service promised in a contract (i.e., performance obligation) is transferred to a customer. Control is obtained when a customer has the ability to direct the use of and obtain substantially all of the remaining benefits from that good or service. The majority of the Company's revenue is recognized at a point-in-time as control is transferred at a distinct point in time per the terms of a contract. However, a portion of the Company's revenue is recognized over-time as the customer simultaneously receives control as the Company performs work under a contract. For these arrangements, the cost-to-cost input method (percentage of completion) is used as it best depicts the transfer of control to the customer that occurs as the Company incurs costs. See Note 12, "Revenue" to the Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information regarding revenue recognition.

Research and Development Costs: The Company conducts research and development activities focused on product and system sustainability improvements such as increasing energy efficiency, developing products that allow for use of lower global warming potential refrigerants, reducing material content in products, and designing products for circularity. These expenditures are expensed when incurred. For the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, these expenditures amounted to $309.6 million, $252.3 million and $211.2 million, respectively.

Issuance of Senior Notes

In June 2024, the Company, through its wholly-owned subsidiary Trane Technologies Financing Limited, issued $500.0 million aggregate principal amount of 5.100% Senior Notes due 2034. The net proceeds from the offering were used to purchase short-term investments of $450.0 million that matured in October 2024. The net proceeds of the short-term investments were used to fund the repayment of the $500.0 million aggregate principal amount of the outstanding 3.550% Senior Notes that matured in November 2024, including payment of fees, expenses, and accrued interest in connection therewith.

Other Credit Facilities

The Company maintains two $1.0 billion senior unsecured revolving credit facilities, one of which matures in June 2026 and the other which matures in April 2027 (collectively, the Facilities), through its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Trane Technologies HoldCo Inc. and Trane Technologies Financing Limited (collectively, the Borrowers). The Facilities include Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) metrics related to two of the Company's sustainability commitments: greenhouse gas intensity and participation of women in management. The Company's annual performance against these ESG metrics may result in price adjustments to the commitment fee and applicable interest rate.

The Facilities provide support for the Company's commercial paper program and can be used for working capital and other general corporate purposes. Trane Technologies plc, Trane Technologies Irish Holdings Unlimited Company, Trane Technologies Lux International Holding Company S.à.r.l., Trane Technologies Americas Holding Corporation, Trane Technologies Global Holding II Company Limited, and Trane Technologies Company LLC each provide irrevocable and unconditional guarantees for these Facilities. In addition, each Borrower will guarantee the obligations under the Facilities of the other Borrowers. Total commitments of $2.0 billion were unused at December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2023.

Fair Value of Debt

The fair value of the Company's debt instruments at December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2023 was $4.6 billion and $4.7 billion, respectively. The Company measures the fair value of its debt instruments for disclosure purposes based upon observable market prices quoted on public exchanges for similar assets. These fair value inputs are considered Level 2 within the fair value hierarchy. See Note 9, "Fair Value Measurements" for information on the fair value hierarchy.

Supplier Finance Program

SUPPLIER FINANCING ARRANGEMENTS

The Company has an agreement with a U.S. financial institution that allows its suppliers to sell their receivables to the financial institution at the sole discretion of both the supplier and the financial institution on terms that are negotiated between them. The Company may not always be notified when its suppliers sell receivables under this program.

The Company's obligations to its suppliers, including the amounts due and scheduled payment dates, are not impacted by the suppliers' decisions to sell their receivables under the program. The payment terms that the Company has with participating suppliers under these programs are generally up to 120 days. The changes in the supplier financing program for the year ended December 31, 2024 were as follows:

Fair Value Measurements [Abstract]

Fair Value Measurement and Measurement Inputs, Recurring and Nonrecurring [Text Block]

FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value hierarchy that prioritizes information used in developing assumptions when pricing an asset or liability is as follows:

- Level 1: Observable inputs such as quoted prices in active markets;
- Level 2: Inputs, other than quoted prices in active markets, that are observable either directly or indirectly; and
- Level 3: Unobservable inputs where there is little or no market data, which requires the reporting entity to develop its own assumptions.

Observable market data is required to be used in making fair value measurements when available. When inputs used to measure fair value fall within different levels of the hierarchy, the level within which the fair value measurement is categorized is based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

The following table presents the Company's fair value hierarchy for those assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of December 31, 2024:

		Fair value measurements
In millions	Fair Value	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Assets:
Derivative instruments	$ 2.5	$ —	$ 2.5	$ —
Liabilities:
Derivative instruments	8.9	—	8.9	—
Contingent consideration	61.2	—	—	61.2

The following table presents the Company's fair value hierarchy for those assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of December 31, 2023:

		Fair value measurements
In Millions	Fair Value	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Assets:
Derivative instruments	$ 4.1	$ —	$ 4.1	$ —
Liabilities:
Derivative instruments	4.8	—	4.8	—
Contingent consideration	90.3	—	—	90.3

Derivative instruments include forward foreign currency contracts and instruments related to non-functional currency balance sheet exposures and commodity swaps. The fair value of the foreign exchange derivative instruments are determined based on a pricing model that uses spot rates and forward prices from actively quoted currency markets that are readily accessible and observable. The fair value of the commodity derivatives is valued under a market approach using published prices, where applicable, or dealer quotes.

The carrying values of cash and cash equivalents, short-term investments, accounts receivable and accounts payable are a reasonable estimate of their fair value due to the short-term nature of these instruments. There have been no transfers between levels of the fair value hierarchy.

The Company agreed to two contingent consideration arrangements in connection with the acquisition of Nuvolo Technologies Corporation (Nuvolo) in November 2023. The first contingent consideration arrangement, payable of up to $90.0 million in cash, is based on the attainment of key revenue targets from November 2, 2023 through April 4, 2025. If the first contingent consideration targets are met, a second contingent consideration arrangement with no maximum earnout is available to the sellers based on revenues in excess of the initial targets attained from a specified customer contract through April 4, 2025.

The Company agreed to a contingent consideration arrangement in connection with the acquisition of Farrar Scientific Corporation in October 2021, conditioned on the attainment of key financial targets during the period of January 1, 2022 through December 31, 2024. These targets were not met and no payment was made.

Each quarter, the Company evaluates the fair value of the liability as assumptions change and any non-cash adjustments are recorded in Selling and administrative expenses in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings. Contingent consideration related to acquisitions are measured at fair value using Level 3 unobservable inputs. The fair value of the contingent consideration is determined using the Monte Carlo simulation model based on revenue projections during the earnout period, implied revenue volatility and a risk adjusted discount rate.

The changes in the fair value of the Company's Level 3 liabilities during the years ended December 31, 2024 and 2023 are as follows:

In millions	2024	2023
Balance at beginning of period	$ 90.3	$ 49.3
Fair value of contingent consideration recorded in connection with acquisitions	—	90.3
Change in fair value of contingent consideration	(25.0)	(49.3)
Measurement period adjustment	(4.1)	—
Balance at end of period	$ 61.2	$ 90.3

The following inputs and assumptions were used in the Monte Carlo simulation model to estimate the fair value of the contingent consideration at December 31, 2024:

	2024	2023
Discount rate (risk adjusted)	8.55%-8.58%	8.14%-8.48%
Volatility	14.80 %	16.20 %

Refer to Note 17, "Acquisitions and Divestitures" for more information regarding the contingent consideration.

Certain assets are measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis. The Company's equity investments without a readily available fair value are accounted for using the measurement alternative and are measured at fair value when observable transactions of identical or similar securities occurs, or due to an impairment. When indicators of impairment exist or observable price changes of qualified transactions occur, the respective equity investment would be classified within Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy due to the absence of quoted market prices, the inherent lack of liquidity and unobservable inputs used to measure fair value that require management's judgment.

Leases [Abstract]

Lessee, Operating Leases [Text Block]

LEASES

The Company's lease portfolio includes various contracts for real estate, vehicles, information technology and other equipment. At contract inception, the Company determines a lease exists if the contract conveys the right to control an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. Control is considered to exist when the lessee has the right to obtain substantially all of the economic benefits from the use of an identified asset as well as the right to direct the use of that asset. If a contract is considered to be a lease, the Company recognizes a lease liability based on the present value of the future lease payments, with an offsetting entry to recognize a right-of-use asset. Options to extend or terminate a lease are included when it is reasonably certain an option will be exercised. As a majority of the Company's leases do not provide an implicit rate within the lease, an incremental borrowing rate is used which is based on information available at the commencement date.

The following table includes a summary of the Company's lease portfolio and Balance Sheet classification:

In millions	Classification	December 31, 2024	December 31, 2023
Assets
Operating lease right-of-use assets [1]	Other noncurrent assets	$ 602.6	$ 513.1
Liabilities
Operating lease current	Other current liabilities	173.5	155.4
Operating lease noncurrent	Other noncurrent liabilities	441.2	367.3
Weighted average remaining lease term		5.0 years	5.0 years
Weighted average discount rate		4.6 %	4.5 %

[1] Prepaid lease payments and lease incentives are recorded as part of the right-of-use asset. The net impact was $12.1 million and $9.6 million at December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2023, respectively.

The Company accounts for each separate lease component of a contract and its associated non-lease component as a single lease component. In addition, the Company utilizes a portfolio approach for the vehicle, information technology and equipment asset classes as the application of the lease model to the portfolio would not differ materially from the application of the lease model to the individual leases within the portfolio.

The following table includes lease costs and related cash flow information for the years ended December 31:

In millions	2024	2023
Operating lease expense	$ 197.8	$ 187.8
Variable lease expense	35.6	31.0
Cash paid for amounts included in the measurement of lease liabilities:
Operating cash flows from operating leases	195.4	185.3
Right-of-use assets obtained in exchange for new operating lease liabilities	244.9	179.2

Operating lease expense is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term. In addition, the Company has certain leases that contain variable lease payments which are based on an index, a rate referenced in the lease or on the actual usage of the leased asset. These payments are not included in the right-of-use asset or lease liability and are expensed as incurred as variable lease expense.

Maturities of lease obligations were as follows:

Pensions and Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pensions

Retirement Benefits, Description [Abstract]

Pensions and Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pensions

PENSIONS AND POSTRETIREMENT BENEFITS OTHER THAN PENSIONS

The Company sponsors several U.S. defined benefit and defined contribution plans covering substantially all of the Company's U.S. employees. Additionally, the Company has many non-U.S. defined benefit and defined contribution plans covering eligible current and retired non-U.S. employees. Postretirement benefits other than pensions (OPEB) provide healthcare benefits and, in some instances, life insurance benefits for certain eligible current and retired employees.

Pension Plans

The non-contributory defined benefit pension plans covering non-collectively bargained U.S. employees provide benefits on a final average pay formula while plans for most collectively bargained U.S. employees provide benefits on a flat dollar benefit formula or a percentage of pay formula. The non-U.S. pension plans generally provide benefits based on earnings and years of service. The Company also maintains additional other supplemental plans for officers and other key or highly compensated employees.

The following table details information regarding the Company's pension plans at December 31:

Net amount recognized	$ (228.9)	$ (266.8)

[1] Actuarial (gains) losses primarily resulted from changes in discount rates.

It is the Company's objective to contribute to the pension plans to ensure adequate funds, and no less than required by law, are available in the plans to make benefit payments to plan participants and beneficiaries when required. However, certain plans are not or cannot be funded due to either legal, accounting, or tax requirements in certain jurisdictions. As of December 31, 2024, approximately seven percent of the Company's projected benefit obligation relates to plans that cannot be funded.

The pretax amounts recognized in Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) were as follows:

In millions	Prior service benefit (cost)	Net actuarial gains (losses)	Total
December 31, 2023	$ (18.0)	$ (485.8)	$ (503.8)

December 31, 2024	$ (14.8)	$ (464.7)	$ (479.5)

Weighted-average assumptions used to determine the benefit obligation at December 31 were as follows:

Discount rate:
U.S. plans	5.62 %	5.16 %
Non-U.S. plans	4.75 %	4.18 %
Rate of compensation increase:
U.S. plans	4.03 %	4.02 %
Non-U.S. plans	4.08 %	4.07 %

The accumulated benefit obligation for all defined benefit pension plans was $2,201.3 million and $2,372.2 million at December 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively. The projected benefit obligation, accumulated benefit obligation, and fair value of plan assets for pension plans with accumulated benefit obligations more than plan assets were $1,833.3 million, $1,808.8 million and $1,541.5 million, respectively, as of December 31, 2024, and $1,928.6 million, $1,902.3 million and $1,611.0 million, respectively, as of December 31, 2023.

Pension benefit payments are expected to be paid as follows:

The components of the Company's net periodic pension benefit costs for the years ended December 31 include the following:

In millions	2024	2023	2022
Service cost	$ 32.1	$ 34.4	$ 47.5

Other income/(expense), net	11.5	18.6	9.2
Amounts recorded in discontinued operations	6.7	6.7	3.8
Total	$ 46.2	$ 54.9	$ 56.2

Pension benefit cost for 2025 is projected to be approximately $53 million.

Weighted-average assumptions used to determine net periodic pension cost for the years ended December 31 were as follows:

Discount rate:
U.S. plans
Service cost	5.12 %	5.48 %	3.06 %
Interest cost	5.08 %	5.35 %	2.36 %

Rate of compensation increase:

Non-U.S. plans	4.07 %	4.23 %	4.00 %
Expected return on plan assets:
U.S. plans	6.00 %	6.25 %	4.00 %
Non-U.S. plans	4.69 %	5.02 %	2.50 %

The expected long-term rate of return on plan assets reflects the average rate of returns expected on the funds invested or to be invested to provide for the benefits included in the projected benefit obligation. The expected long-term rate of return on plan assets is based on what is achievable given the plan's investment policy, the types of assets held and target asset allocations. The expected long-term rate of return is determined as of the measurement date. The Company reviews each plan and its historical returns and target asset allocations to determine the appropriate expected long-term rate of return on plan assets to be used.

The Company's objective in managing its defined benefit plan assets is to ensure that all present and future benefit obligations are met as they come due. It seeks to achieve this goal while trying to mitigate volatility in plan funded status, contribution, and expense by better matching the characteristics of the plan assets to that of the plan liabilities. The Company utilizes a dynamic approach to asset allocation whereby a plan's allocation to fixed income assets increases as the plan's funded status improves. The Company monitors plan funded status and asset allocation regularly in addition to investment manager performance.

The fair values of the Company's pension plan assets at December 31, 2024 by asset category were as follows:

(a) This class includes group annuity and guaranteed interest contracts.
(b) This investment comprises the Company's non-significant, non-US pension plan assets. It primarily includes insurance contracts.

Cash equivalents are valued using a market approach with inputs including quoted market prices for either identical or similar instruments. Fixed income securities are valued through a market approach with inputs including, but not limited to, benchmark yields, reported trades, broker quotes and issuer spreads. Commingled funds are valued at their daily net asset value (NAV) per share or the equivalent. NAV per share or the equivalent is used for fair value purposes as a practical expedient. NAVs are calculated by the investment manager or sponsor of the fund. Refer to Note 9, "Fair Value Measurements" for additional information related to the fair value hierarchy. There have been no significant transfers between levels of the fair value hierarchy.

The Company made required and discretionary contributions to its pension plans of $58.9 million in 2024, $93.5 million in 2023, and $90.5 million in 2022 and currently projects that it will contribute approximately $30 million to its plans worldwide in 2025. The Company's policy allows it to fund an amount, which could be in excess of or less than the pension cost expensed, subject to the limitations imposed by current tax regulations. However, the Company anticipates funding the plans in 2025 in accordance with contributions required by funding regulations or the laws of each jurisdiction.

Most of the Company's U.S. employees are covered by defined contribution plans. Employer contributions are determined based on criteria specific to the individual plans and amounted to approximately $188 million, $165 million and $138 million in 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively. The Company's contributions relating to non-U.S. defined contribution plans and other non-U.S. benefit plans were $38.6 million, $30.9 million and $33.8 million in 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively.

Multiemployer Pension Plans

The Company also participates in a number of multiemployer defined benefit pension plans related to collectively bargained U.S. employees of Trane. The Company's contributions are determined by the terms of the related collective-bargaining agreements. These multiemployer plans pose different risks to the Company than single-employer plans, including:

1. The Company's contributions to multiemployer plans may be used to provide benefits to all participating employees of the plan, including employees of other employers.
2. In the event that another participating employer ceases contributions to a plan, the Company, together with other remaining participating employers, may be responsible for any unfunded obligations of the employer that ceased making contributions.
3. If the Company chooses to withdraw from any of the multiemployer plans or if a partial withdrawal occurs, the Company may be required to pay a withdrawal liability, based on the underfunded status of the plan.

As of December 31, 2024, the Company does not participate in any multiemployer plans that are individually significant.

Postretirement Benefits Other Than Pensions

The Company sponsors several postretirement plans that provide healthcare benefits and, in some instances, life insurance benefits for eligible current and retired employees. These plans are unfunded and have no plan assets; instead they are funded by the Company on a pay-as-you-go basis in the form of direct benefit payments. Generally, postretirement health benefits are contributory, with contributions adjusted annually. Life insurance plans for retirees are primarily non-contributory.

The following table details changes in the Company's postretirement plan benefit obligations for the years ended December 31:

Performance Obligations

A performance obligation is a distinct good, service or a bundle of goods and services promised in a contract. The Company identifies performance obligations at the inception of a contract and allocates the transaction price to individual performance obligations to faithfully depict the Company's performance in transferring control of the promised goods or services to the customer.

The following are the primary performance obligations identified by the Company:

Equipment. The Company principally generates revenue from the sale of equipment to customers and recognizes revenue at a point in time when control transfers to the customer. Transfer of control is generally determined based on the shipping terms of the contract.

Contracting and installation. The Company enters into various construction-type contracts to design, deliver and build integrated solutions to meet customer specifications. These transactions provide services that range from the development and installation of new HVAC systems to the design and integration of critical building systems to optimize energy efficiency and overall performance. These contracts have a typical term of less than one year and are considered a single performance obligation as multiple combined goods and services promised in the contract represent a single output delivered to the customer. Revenues associated with contracting and installation contracts are recognized over time with progress towards completion measured using the cost-to-cost input method (percentage of completion) as the basis to recognize revenue and an estimated profit. To-date efforts for work performed corresponds with and faithfully depicts transfer of control to the customer.

Services and maintenance. The Company provides various levels of preventative and/or repair and maintenance type service agreements for its customers. The typical length of a contract is between 12 months and 60 months. Revenues associated with these performance obligations are primarily recognized over time on a straight-line basis over the life of the contract as the customer simultaneously receives and consumes the benefit provided by the Company. However, if historical evidence indicates that the cost of providing these services on a straight-line basis is not appropriate, revenue is recognized over the contract period in proportion to the costs expected to be incurred while performing the service. Revenues for certain repair services that do not meet the criteria for over time revenue recognition and sales of parts are recognized at a point in time.

Extended warranties. The Company enters into various warranty contracts with customers related to its products. A standard warranty generally warrants that a product is free from defects in workmanship and materials under normal use and conditions for a certain period of time. The Company's standard warranty is not considered a distinct performance obligation as it does not provide services to customers beyond assurance that the covered product is free of initial defects. An extended warranty provides a customer with additional time that the Company is liable for covered incidents associated with its products. Extended warranties are purchased separately and can last up to five years. As a result, they are considered separate performance obligations for the Company. Revenue associated with these performance obligations is primarily recognized over time on a straight-line basis over the life of the contract as the customer simultaneously receives and consumes the benefit provided by the Company. However, if historical evidence indicates that the cost of providing these services on a straight-line basis is not appropriate, revenue is recognized over the contract period in proportion to the costs expected to be incurred while performing the service. Refer to Note 20, "Commitments and Contingencies," for more information related to product warranties.

The transaction price allocated to performance obligations reflects the Company's expectations about the consideration it will be entitled to receive from a customer. To determine the transaction price, variable and non-cash consideration are assessed as well as whether a significant financing component exists. The Company includes variable consideration in the estimated transaction price when it is probable that significant reversal of revenue recognized would not occur when the uncertainty associated with variable consideration is subsequently resolved. The Company considers historical data in determining its best estimates of variable consideration, and the related accruals are recorded using the expected value method.

For projects financed through energy savings, the Company provides financial guarantees for in-process work and financial commitments with end dates varying from the current fiscal year through the completion of such transactions that could be triggered in the event of nonperformance. Additionally, for completed energy savings contracts, the Company has ongoing performance guarantees related to the customers' realization of committed energy savings that are evaluated during the measurement and verification portion of contracting and installation agreements. These performance guarantees represent variable consideration and are estimated as part of the overall transaction price. As of December 31, 2024, the Company has outstanding performance guarantees of approximately $1 billion related to completed energy savings contracts that extend from 2025-2049. Since 1995, the Company has recognized an immaterial amount in adjustments to the overall transaction price of energy savings contracts as a result of these performance guarantees.

The Company enters into sales arrangements that contain multiple goods and services. For these arrangements, each good or service is evaluated to determine whether it represents a distinct performance obligation and whether the sales price for each obligation is representative of standalone selling price. If available, the Company utilizes observable prices for goods or services sold separately to similar customers in similar circumstances to evaluate relative standalone selling price. List prices are used if they are determined to be representative of standalone selling prices. Where necessary, the Company ensures that the total transaction price is then allocated to the distinct performance obligations based on the determination of their relative standalone selling price at the inception of the arrangement.

The Company recognizes revenue for delivered goods or services when the delivered good or service is distinct, control of the good or service has transferred to the customer, and only customary refund or return rights related to the goods or services exist. The Company excludes from revenues taxes it collects from a customer that are assessed by a government authority.

Contract Balances

The opening and closing balances of contract assets and contract liabilities arising from contracts with customers for the period ended December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2023 were as follows:

In millions	Location on Consolidated Balance Sheet	2024	2023
Contract assets - current	Other current assets	$ 427.3	$ 458.4
Contract liabilities - current	Accrued expenses and other current liabilities	1,310.9	1,301.2
Contract liabilities - noncurrent	Other noncurrent liabilities	294.0	247.2

The timing of revenue recognition, billings and cash collections results in accounts receivable, contract assets, and customer advances and deposits (contract liabilities) on the Consolidated Balance Sheets. In general, the Company receives payments from customers based on a billing schedule established in its contracts. Contract assets relate to the conditional right to consideration for any completed performance under the contract when costs are incurred in excess of billings under the percentage of completion methodology. Accounts receivable are recorded when the right to consideration becomes unconditional. Contract liabilities relate to payments received in advance of performance under the contract or when the Company has a right to consideration that is unconditional before it transfers a good or service to the customer. Contract liabilities are recognized as revenue as (or when) the Company performs under the contract. During the years ended December 31, 2024 and 2023, changes in contract asset and liability balances were not materially impacted by any other factors.

Approximately 72% of the contract liability balance at December 31, 2023 was recognized as revenue during the year ended December 31, 2024. Additionally, approximately 18% of the contract liability balance at December 31, 2024 was classified as noncurrent and not expected to be recognized as revenue in the next 12 months.

Stock Options / RSUs

Eligible participants may receive (i) stock options, (ii) RSUs or (iii) a combination of both stock options and RSUs. The fair value of each of the Company's stock option and RSU awards is expensed on a straight-line basis over the required service period, which is generally the 3-year vesting period. Beginning with the 2024 grant year, for stock options and RSUs granted to retirement eligible employees, the Company recognizes expense over the period during which an employee is required to provide service in exchange for the award, which is generally 12 months. For awards granted to retirement eligible employees prior to 2024, the Company recognized expense for the fair value at the grant date.

The average fair value of the stock options granted is determined using the Black Scholes option pricing model. The following assumptions were used during the year ended December 31:

Dividend yield	1.11 %	1.50 %	1.60 %
Volatility	29.99 %	29.37 %	28.23 %
Risk-free rate of return	4.00 %	3.62 %	1.56 %
Expected life in years	4.8	4.8	4.8

A description of the significant assumptions used to estimate the fair value of the stock option awards is as follows:

- Dividend yield - The Company determines the dividend yield based upon the expected quarterly dividend payments as of the grant date and the current fair market value of the Company's shares.
- Volatility - The expected volatility is based on a weighted average of the Company's implied volatility and the most recent historical volatility of the Company's shares commensurate with the expected life.
- Risk-free rate of return - The Company applies a yield curve of continuous risk-free rates based upon the published US Treasury spot rates on the grant date.
- Expected life in years - The expected life of the Company's stock option awards represents the weighted-average of the actual period since the grant date for all exercised or canceled options and an expected period for all outstanding options.

Changes in options outstanding under the plans for the years 2024, 2023 and 2022 were as follows:

	Shares subject to option	Weighted-average exercise price	Aggregate intrinsic value (millions)	Weighted-average remaining life (years)
December 31, 2021	4,411,000	$ 83.39

Exercisable December 31, 2024	1,815,960	$ 107.50	$ 475.5	4.4

At December 31, 2024, there was $12.3 million of total unrecognized compensation cost from stock option arrangements granted under the plan, which is primarily related to unvested shares of non-retirement eligible employees. The aggregate intrinsic value of options exercised during the years ended December 31, 2024 and 2023 was $210.2 million and $159.8 million, respectively. Generally, stock options expire ten years from their date of grant.

The following table summarizes RSU activity for the years 2024, 2023 and 2022:

	RSUs	Weighted-average grant date fair value
Outstanding and unvested at December 31, 2021	371,030	$ 118.88

At December 31, 2024, there was $25.2 million of total unrecognized compensation cost from RSU arrangements granted under the plan, which is related to unvested shares of non-retirement eligible employees.

Performance Shares

The Company has a Performance Share Program (PSP) for key employees. The program provides awards in the form of PSUs based on performance against pre-established objectives. The annual target award level is expressed as a number of the Company's ordinary shares based on the fair market value of the Company's stock on the date of grant. All PSUs are settled in the form of ordinary shares.

PSU awards are earned based 50% upon a performance condition, measured by relative Cash Flow Return on Invested Capital (CROIC) to the S&P 500 Industrials Index over a 3-year performance period, and 50% upon a market condition, measured by the Company's relative total shareholder return (TSR) as compared to the TSR of the S&P 500 Industrials Index over a 3-year performance period. Beginning with the 2024 grant year, for PSUs granted to retirement eligible employees, the Company recognizes the expense over the period during which an employee is required to provide service in exchange for the award, which is 12 months. For awards granted to retirement eligible employees prior to 2024, the expense was recognized over the 3-year performance period. The fair value of the market condition is estimated using a Monte Carlo simulation model in a risk-neutral framework based upon historical volatility, risk-free rates and correlation matrix.

The following table summarizes PSU activity for the maximum number of shares that may be issued for the years 2024, 2023 and 2022:

	PSUs	Weighted-average grant date fair value
Outstanding and unvested at December 31, 2021	801,956	$ 131.14
Granted	195,930	170.31

Granted	161,978	332.85
Vested	(184,060)	182.48
Forfeited	(21,072)	226.31
Outstanding and unvested at December 31, 2024	515,806	$ 233.32

At December 31, 2024, there was $14.7 million of total unrecognized compensation cost from PSU arrangements based on current performance, which is related to unvested shares. This compensation will be recognized over the required service period, which is generally the three-year vesting period.

Deferred Compensation

The Company allows key employees to defer a portion of their eligible compensation into a number of investment choices, including its ordinary share equivalents. Any amounts invested in ordinary share equivalents will be settled in ordinary shares of the Company at the time of distribution.

At December 31, 2024, no deferred taxes have been provided for earnings of certain of the Company's subsidiaries, since these earnings have been and under current plans will continue to be permanently reinvested in these subsidiaries. These earnings amount to approximately $2 billion which if distributed would result in additional taxes, which may be payable upon distribution, of approximately $316 million.

At December 31, 2024, the Company had the following operating loss, capital loss and tax credit carryforwards available to offset taxable income in prior and future years:

In millions	Amount	Expiration Period
U.S. Federal net operating loss carryforwards	$ 67.7	2025-Unlimited
U.S. Federal credit carryforwards	77.1	2026-2043
U.S. State net operating loss carryforwards	2,224.1	2025-Unlimited

Non-U.S. net operating loss carryforwards	379.7	2025-Unlimited

The U.S. state net operating loss carryforwards were incurred in various jurisdictions. The non-U.S. net operating loss carryforwards were incurred in various jurisdictions, predominantly in Belgium, Brazil, Luxembourg, and Spain.

Activity associated with the Company's valuation allowance is as follows:

In millions	2024	2023	2022
Beginning balance	$ 164.0	$ 199.8	$ 258.6

Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss)	(1.2)	(1.4)	0.4
Ending balance	$ 110.3	$ 164.0	$ 199.8

During 2024, the Company recorded a $30.4 million reduction in valuation allowances primarily related to deferred tax assets associated with both foreign tax credits and operations of international subsidiaries. Additional reductions in the valuation allowance related to deferred tax assets associated with foreign tax credits could be recognized in future periods if foreign source income exceeds current projections for the periods 2025 through 2027, the remainder of the carryforward period.

During 2023, the Company recorded a $30.3 million reduction in valuation allowances primarily related to deferred tax assets associated with both foreign tax credits and operations of international subsidiaries.

During 2022, the Company recorded a $48.2 million reduction in valuation allowances primarily related to certain net state deferred tax assets resulting from U.S. legal entity restructurings and deferred tax assets associated with foreign tax credits as a result of an increase in the 2022 year and projected foreign source income.

Unrecognized tax benefits

The Company has total unrecognized tax benefits of $86.5 million and $84.9 million as of December 31, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. The amount of unrecognized tax benefits that, if recognized, would affect the continuing operations effective tax rate are $47.8 million as of December 31, 2024. A reconciliation of the beginning and ending amount of unrecognized tax benefits is as follows:

In millions	2024	2023	2022
Beginning balance	$ 84.9	$ 82.4	$ 65.2
Additions based on tax positions related to the current year	4.6	3.6	3.9
Additions based on tax positions related to prior years	8.1	0.6	22.5
Reductions based on tax positions related to prior years	(2.8)	(0.5)	(5.9)
Reductions related to settlements with tax authorities	(2.5)	(1.4)	(0.9)
Reductions related to lapses of statute of limitations	(3.5)	(1.0)	(0.6)
Translation (gain) loss	(2.3)	1.2	(1.8)
Ending balance	$ 86.5	$ 84.9	$ 82.4

The Company records interest and penalties associated with the uncertain tax positions within its Provision for income taxes. The Company had reserves associated with interest and penalties, net of tax, of $13.9 million and $16.0 million at December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2023, respectively. For the years ended December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2023, the Company recognized $0.4 million and $0.2 million tax expense, respectively, in interest and penalties, net of tax in continuing operations related to these uncertain tax positions.

The total amount of unrecognized tax benefits relating to the Company's tax positions is subject to change based on future events including, but not limited to, the settlements of ongoing audits and/or the expiration of applicable statutes of limitations. Although the outcomes and timing of such events are highly uncertain, it is reasonably possible that the balance of gross unrecognized tax benefits, excluding interest and penalties, could potentially be reduced by up to approximately $35 million during the next 12 months.

The provision for income taxes involves a significant amount of management judgment regarding interpretation of relevant facts and laws in the jurisdictions in which the Company operates. Future changes in applicable laws, projected levels of taxable income and tax planning could change the effective income tax rate and tax balances recorded by the Company. In addition, tax authorities periodically review income tax returns filed by the Company and can raise issues regarding its filing positions, timing and amount of income or deductions, and the allocation of income among the jurisdictions in which the Company operates. A significant period of time may elapse between the filing of an income tax return and the ultimate resolution of an issue raised by a revenue authority with respect to that return. In the normal course of business the Company is subject to examination by taxing authorities throughout the world, including such major jurisdictions as Belgium, Brazil, Canada, China, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, Mexico, Singapore, Spain, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom and the United States. These examinations on their own, or any subsequent litigation related to the examinations, may result in additional income taxes or penalties against the Company. If the ultimate result of these audits differ from original or adjusted estimates, they could have a material impact on the Company's income tax provision. In general, the examination of the Company's U.S. federal tax returns is complete for years prior to 2016. The Company's U.S. federal income tax returns for 2016 to 2019 are currently under examination by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). In general, the examination of the Company's material non-U.S. income tax returns is complete or effectively settled for the years prior to 2013, with certain matters prior to 2013 being resolved through appeals and litigation and also unilateral procedures as provided for under double tax treaties.

FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. The fair value hierarchy that prioritizes information used in developing assumptions when pricing an asset or liability is as follows:

- Level 1: Observable inputs such as quoted prices in active markets;
- Level 2: Inputs, other than quoted prices in active markets, that are observable either directly or indirectly; and
- Level 3: Unobservable inputs where there is little or no market data, which requires the reporting entity to develop its own assumptions.

Observable market data is required to be used in making fair value measurements when available. When inputs used to measure fair value fall within different levels of the hierarchy, the level within which the fair value measurement is categorized is based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

The following table presents the Company's fair value hierarchy for those assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of December 31, 2024:

In millions	Fair Value	Fair value measurements
		Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Assets:
Derivative instruments	$ 2.5	$ —	$ 2.5	$ —
Liabilities:
Derivative instruments	8.9	—	8.9	—
Contingent consideration	61.2	—	—	61.2

The following table presents the Company's fair value hierarchy for those assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis as of December 31, 2023:

In Millions	Fair Value	Fair value measurements
		Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Assets:
Derivative instruments	$ 4.1	$ —	$ 4.1	$ —
Liabilities:
Derivative instruments	4.8	—	4.8	—
Contingent consideration	90.3	—	—	90.3

Derivative instruments include forward foreign currency contracts and instruments related to non-functional currency balance sheet exposures and commodity swaps. The fair value of the foreign exchange derivative instruments are determined based on a pricing model that uses spot rates and forward prices from actively quoted currency markets that are readily accessible and observable. The fair value of the commodity derivatives is valued under a market approach using published prices, where applicable, or dealer quotes.

The carrying values of cash and cash equivalents, short-term investments, accounts receivable and accounts payable are a reasonable estimate of their fair value due to the short-term nature of these instruments. There have been no transfers between levels of the fair value hierarchy.

The Company agreed to two contingent consideration arrangements in connection with the acquisition of Nuvolo Technologies Corporation (Nuvolo) in November 2023. The first contingent consideration arrangement, payable of up to $90.0 million in cash, is based on the attainment of key revenue targets from November 2, 2023 through April 4, 2025. If the first contingent consideration targets are met, a second contingent consideration arrangement with no maximum earnout is available to the sellers based on revenues in excess of the initial targets attained from a specified customer contract through April 4, 2025.

The Company agreed to a contingent consideration arrangement in connection with the acquisition of Farrar Scientific Corporation in October 2021, conditioned on the attainment of key financial targets during the period of January 1, 2022 through December 31, 2024. These targets were not met and no payment was made.

Each quarter, the Company evaluates the fair value of the liability as assumptions change and any non-cash adjustments are recorded in Selling and administrative expenses in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings. Contingent consideration related to acquisitions are measured at fair value using Level 3 unobservable inputs. The fair value of the contingent consideration is determined using the Monte Carlo simulation model based on revenue projections during the earnout period, implied revenue volatility and a risk adjusted discount rate.

The changes in the fair value of the Company's Level 3 liabilities during the years ended December 31, 2024 and 2023 are as follows:

In millions	2024	2023
Balance at beginning of period	$ 90.3	$ 49.3
Fair value of contingent consideration recorded in connection with acquisitions	—	90.3
Change in fair value of contingent consideration	(25.0)	(49.3)
Measurement period adjustment	(4.1)	—
Balance at end of period	$ 61.2	$ 90.3

The following inputs and assumptions were used in the Monte Carlo simulation model to estimate the fair value of the contingent consideration at December 31, 2024:

	2024	2023
Discount rate (risk adjusted)	8.55%-8.58%	8.14%-8.48%
Volatility	14.80 %	16.20 %

Refer to Note 17, "Acquisitions and Divestitures" for more information regarding the contingent consideration.

Certain assets are measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis. The Company's equity investments without a readily available fair value are accounted for using the measurement alternative and are measured at fair value when observable transactions of identical or similar securities occurs, or due to an impairment. When indicators of impairment exist or observable price changes of qualified transactions occur, the respective equity investment would be classified within Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy due to the absence of quoted market prices, the inherent lack of liquidity and unobservable inputs used to measure fair value that require management's judgment.

Business Combination Disclosure

Acquisitions

Fiscal Year 2024

During the third quarter of 2024, the Company acquired two businesses, both reported within the Americas segment from the date of acquisition. One acquisition was a Commercial HVAC distributor with sales and service business in the United States. The second acquisition was a technology-focused acquisition that expands the Company's product offerings in the Transport Refrigeration business. The aggregate cash paid, net of cash acquired, totaled $174.5 million and was financed through cash on hand. Intangible assets associated with these acquisitions totaled $51.6 million and primarily relate to customer relationships. The excess purchase price over the estimated fair value of net assets acquired was recognized as goodwill and totaled $96.3 million. We expect the majority of the goodwill recognized for these acquisitions to be deductible for tax purposes. The values assigned to individual assets acquired and liabilities assumed are preliminary based on management's current best estimate and subject to change as certain matters are finalized.

The fair values of the customer relationship intangible assets were determined using the multi-period excess earnings method based on discounted projected net cash flows associated with the net earnings attributable to the acquired customer relationships. These projected cash flows are estimated over the remaining economic life of the intangible asset and are considered from a market participant perspective. Key assumptions include projected cash flows, including revenue growth rates and margins and customer attrition rates. The customer relationships had a weighted-average useful life of 12 years. The Company has not included pro forma financial information as the overall pro forma impact was deemed not material.

Fiscal Year 2023

On May 2, 2023, the Company acquired 100% of MTA S.p.A (MTA) for $224.4 million, net of cash acquired, financed through commercial paper and cash on hand. MTA is a leading industrial process cooling technology business which brings complementary, high-performing solutions to the comprehensive Commercial HVAC product and services portfolios in the EMEA and Americas segments. Intangible assets associated with this acquisition totaled $93.3 million and primarily relate to customer relationships. The excess purchase price over the estimated fair value of net assets acquired was recognized as goodwill and totaled $114.6 million, inclusive of the impact of measurement period adjustments. The goodwill resulting from the acquisition is not deductible for tax purposes. The results of the acquisition are reported within the EMEA and Americas segments from the date of acquisition.

On May 12, 2023, the Company acquired 100% of Helmer Scientific Inc (Helmer), a precision temperature cooling company in the life sciences vertical within the Americas segment. The aggregate cash paid, net of cash acquired, totaled $266.4 million and was financed through commercial paper and cash on hand. Intangible assets associated with this acquisition totaled $95.7 million and primarily relate to customer relationships. The excess purchase price over the estimated fair value of net assets acquired was recognized as goodwill and totaled $130.5 million, inclusive of the impact of measurement period adjustments. For income tax purposes, the acquisition was treated as an asset purchase and the goodwill will be deductible for tax purposes. The results of the acquisition are reported within the Americas segment from the date of acquisition.

On November 2, 2023, the Company acquired 100% of Nuvolo, a global leader in modern, cloud-based enterprise asset management and connected workplace software and solutions. The results of the acquisition are reported within the Americas segment from the date of acquisition.

The Company paid $352.6 million in initial cash consideration, financed through cash on hand, and agreed to two additional contingent consideration arrangements. The first contingent consideration arrangement, payable of up to $90.0 million in cash, is based on the attainment of revenue targets from November 2, 2023 through April 4, 2025. If the first contingent consideration targets are met, a second contingent consideration arrangement related to a specified customer contract is available to the sellers, with no maximum earnout, based on revenues attained from that specified customer contract through April 4, 2025. The total purchase price for the acquisition was expected to be $442.9 million, comprised of the upfront cash consideration of $352.6 million paid on November 2, 2023 and the fair value of the contingent consideration arrangements at the acquisition-date of $90.3 million. See Note 9, "Fair Value Measurements" to the Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information regarding fair value of contingent consideration.

Intangible assets associated with the Nuvolo acquisition totaled $141.0 million and primarily relate to developed technology and customer relationships. The excess purchase price over the estimated fair value of net assets acquired was recognized as goodwill and totaled $313.1 million, inclusive of measurement period adjustments. The goodwill is primarily attributable to the fair value of market share and revenue growth from Nuvolo. The benefit of access to the workforce is an additional element of goodwill. The goodwill created in the acquisition is not deductible for tax purposes.

The amounts assigned to the major identifiable intangible asset classifications for the 2023 acquisitions were as follows:

In millions	Weighted-average useful life (in years)	Fair value
Customer relationships	13	189.9
Developed technology	9	107.1
Other	6	33.0
Total intangible assets		$ 330.0

The valuation of intangible assets was determined using an income approach methodology. The Company estimated a portion of the fair value of the customer relationships intangible assets using an excess earnings model and a portion using the with and without method. The Company estimated a portion of the fair value of the developed technology intangible asset using a relief from royalty approach and a portion using an excess earnings model. These fair value measurements were based on significant inputs not observable in the market and thus represent a Level 3 measurement. Key assumptions include projected cash flows, including revenue growth rates and margins, customer attrition rates, royalty rates and discount rates attributable to each intangible asset.

The Company has not included pro forma financial information as the 2023 pro forma impact was deemed not material.

Fiscal Year 2022

On October 31, 2022, the Company acquired 100% of AL-KO Air Technology (AL-KO) for $111.7 million, net of cash acquired, financed through cash on hand, and inclusive of the impact of measurement period adjustments. AL-KO designs, engineers, manufactures, sells, installs, and services air handling and extraction systems in commercial applications. Intangible assets associated with this acquisition totaled $49.4 million and primarily relate to customer relationships. The excess purchase price over the estimated fair value of net assets acquired was recognized as goodwill and totaled $48.5 million, inclusive of the impact of measurement period adjustments. The results of operations of AL-KO are reported within the EMEA and Asia Pacific segments from the date of acquisition.

On April 1, 2022, the Company acquired a Commercial HVAC independent dealer, reported within the Americas segment from the date of acquisition, to support the Company's ongoing strategy to expand its distribution network and service area. The aggregate cash paid, net of cash acquired, totaled $110.0 million and was financed through cash on hand. Intangible assets associated with this acquisition totaled $52.7 million and primarily relate to customer relationships. The excess purchase price over the estimated fair value of net assets acquired was recognized as goodwill and totaled $42.5 million.

The amounts assigned to the major identifiable intangible asset classifications for the 2022 acquisitions were as follows:

In millions	Weighted-average useful life (in years)	Fair value
Customer relationships	15	$ 82.9
Other	6	19.2
Total intangible assets		$ 102.1

The valuation of intangible assets was determined using an income approach methodology. The fair value of the customer relationship intangible assets was determined using the excess earnings method based on discounted projected net cash flows associated with the net earnings attributable to the acquired customer relationships. These projected cash flows are estimated over the remaining economic life of the intangible asset and are considered from a market participant perspective. Key assumptions used in estimating future cash flows included projected revenue growth rates and customer attrition rates. The projected future cash flows are discounted to present value using an appropriate discount rate.

The Company has not included pro forma financial information as the 2022 pro forma impact was deemed not material.

EARNINGS PER SHARE (EPS)

Basic EPS is calculated by dividing Net earnings attributable to Trane Technologies plc by the weighted-average number of ordinary shares outstanding for the applicable period. Diluted EPS is calculated after adjusting the denominator of the basic EPS calculation for the effect of all potentially dilutive ordinary shares, which in the Company's case, includes shares issuable under share-based compensation plans. The following table summarizes the weighted-average number of ordinary shares outstanding for basic and diluted earnings per share calculations:

Segment Reporting

[Abstract]

Business Segment Information

BUSINESS SEGMENT INFORMATION

The Company operates under three reportable segments designed to create deep customer focus and relevance in markets around the world. Intercompany sales between segments are immaterial.

- The Company's Americas segment innovates for customers in North America and Latin America. The Americas segment encompasses commercial heating, cooling and ventilation systems, building controls and solutions, and energy services and solutions; residential heating and cooling; and transport refrigeration systems and solutions.
- The Company's EMEA segment innovates for customers in the Europe, Middle East and Africa region. The EMEA segment encompasses heating, cooling and ventilation systems, services and solutions for commercial buildings, and transport refrigeration systems and solutions.
- The Company's Asia Pacific segment innovates for customers throughout the Asia Pacific region. The Asia Pacific segment encompasses heating, cooling and ventilation systems, services and solutions for commercial buildings, and transport refrigeration systems and solutions.

The Company's chief operating decision maker (CODM), the Chief Executive Officer, uses two profitability measures, Segment Adjusted EBITDA and Segment Adjusted Operating Income, in assessing segment performance and deciding how to allocate resources:

- Segment Adjusted EBITDA represents net earnings excluding interest expense, income taxes, depreciation and amortization, restructuring, non-cash adjustments for contingent consideration, merger and acquisition-related costs, unallocated corporate expenses, discontinued operations and other non-recurring transactions. Segment Adjusted EBITDA also provides a useful tool for assessing the operating performance and comparability between periods and our ability to generate cash because it excludes the impact of certain non-cash or non-recurring items that can vary significantly from period to period. Segment Adjusted EBITDA is used in the development of annual operating plans, including capital expenditure and operational budgets, and in measuring performance against targets for purposes of incentive compensation.
- Segment Adjusted Operating Income represents operating income adjusted to exclude restructuring costs, merger and acquisition-related costs, non-cash adjustments for contingent consideration and other non-recurring items. Segment Adjusted Operating Income, and ratios based on it, are used to provide a comprehensive view of segment profitability and evaluate efficient returns on assets.

Segment Adjusted EBITDA and Segment Adjusted Operating Income are not defined under GAAP and may not be comparable to similarly titled measures used by other companies and should not be considered a substitute for net earnings or other results reported in accordance with GAAP. Measures of total assets by reportable segment are not provided to the CODM. Therefore, asset information by segment is not disclosed.

Commitments and Contingencies

Commitments And Contingencies Abstract

Commitments and Contingencies

Dec. 31, 2024

COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

The Company is involved in various litigation, claims and administrative proceedings, including those related to the bankruptcy proceedings for Aldrich Pump LLC (Aldrich) and Murray Boiler LLC (Murray) and environmental and product liability matters. The Company records accruals for loss contingencies when it is both probable that a liability will be incurred and the amount of the loss can be reasonably estimated. Amounts recorded for identified contingent liabilities are estimates, which are reviewed periodically and adjusted to reflect additional information when it becomes available. Subject to the uncertainties inherent in estimating future costs for contingent liabilities, except as expressly set forth in this note, management believes that any liability which may result from these legal matters would not have a material adverse effect on the financial condition, results of operations, liquidity or cash flows of the Company.

Asbestos-Related Matters

Certain indirect wholly-owned subsidiaries and former companies of the Company have been named as defendants in asbestos-related lawsuits in state and federal courts. In virtually all of the suits, a large number of other companies have also been named as defendants. The vast majority of those claims were filed against predecessors of Aldrich and Murray and generally allege injury caused by exposure to asbestos contained in certain historical products sold by predecessors of Aldrich or Murray, primarily pumps, boilers and railroad brake shoes. None of the Company's existing or previously-owned businesses were a producer or manufacturer of asbestos.

On June 18, 2020, Aldrich and Murray filed voluntary petitions for relief under Chapter 11 of the Bankruptcy Code to resolve equitably and permanently all current and future asbestos related claims in a manner beneficial to claimants and to Aldrich and Murray. As a result of the Chapter 11 filings, all asbestos-related lawsuits against Aldrich and Murray have been stayed due to the imposition of a statutory automatic stay applicable in Chapter 11 bankruptcy cases. In addition, at the request of Aldrich and Murray, the Bankruptcy Court has entered an order temporarily staying all asbestos-related claims against the Trane Companies that relate to claims against Aldrich or Murray (except for asbestos-related claims for which the exclusive remedy is provided under workers' compensation statutes or similar laws). On August 23, 2021, the Bankruptcy Court entered its findings of facts and conclusions of law and order declaring that the automatic stay applies to certain asbestos related claims against the Trane Companies and enjoining such actions. As a result, all asbestos-related lawsuits against Aldrich, Murray and the Trane Companies remain stayed.

The goal of these Chapter 11 filings is to resolve equitably and permanently all current and future asbestos-related claims in a manner beneficial to claimants and to Aldrich and Murray through court approval of a plan of reorganization that would create a trust pursuant to section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code, establish claims resolution procedures for all current and future asbestos-related claims against Aldrich and Murray and channel such claims to the trust for resolution in accordance with those procedures. Aldrich and Murray intend to seek an agreement with representatives of the asbestos claimants on the terms of a plan for the establishment of such a trust.

Prior to the Petition Date, predecessors of each of Aldrich and Murray had been litigating asbestos-related claims brought against them. No such claims have been paid since the Petition Date, and it is not contemplated that any such claims will be paid until the end of the Chapter 11 cases.

From an accounting perspective, the Company no longer has control over Aldrich and Murray as of the Petition Date as their activities are subject to review and oversight by the Bankruptcy Court. Therefore, Aldrich and its wholly-owned subsidiary 200 Park and Murray and its wholly-owned subsidiary ClimateLabs were deconsolidated as of the Petition Date and their respective assets and liabilities were derecognized from the Company's Consolidated Financial Statements. Amounts derecognized in 2020 primarily related to the legacy asbestos-related liabilities and asbestos-related insurance recoveries and $41.7 million of cash.

Upon deconsolidation in 2020, the Company recorded its retained interest in Aldrich and Murray at fair value within Other noncurrent assets in the Consolidated Balance Sheets. In determining the fair value of its equity investment, the Company used a market-adjusted multiple of earnings valuation technique. As a result, the Company recorded an aggregate equity investment of $53.6 million as of the Petition Date.

Simultaneously, the Company recognized a liability of $248.8 million within Other noncurrent liabilities in the Consolidated Balance Sheets related to its obligation under the Funding Agreements. The liability was based on asbestos-related liabilities and insurance-related assets balances previously recorded by the Company prior to the Petition Date.

As a result of the deconsolidation, the Company recognized an aggregate loss of $24.9 million in its Consolidated Statements of Earnings during the year ended December 31, 2020. A gain of $0.9 million related to Murray and its wholly-owned subsidiary ClimateLabs was recorded within Other income/ (expense), net and a loss of $25.8 million related to Aldrich and its wholly-owned subsidiary 200 Park was recorded within Discontinued operations, net of tax. Additionally, the deconsolidation resulted in an investing cash outflow of $41.7 million in the Company's Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows, of which $10.8 million was recorded within continuing operations during the year ended December 31, 2020.

On August 26, 2021, the Company announced that Aldrich and Murray reached an agreement in principle with the court-appointed legal representative of future asbestos claimants (the FCR) in the bankruptcy proceedings. The agreement in principle includes the key terms for the permanent resolution of all current and future asbestos claims against Aldrich and Murray pursuant to a plan of reorganization (the Plan). Under the agreed terms, the Plan would create a trust pursuant to section 524(g) of the Bankruptcy Code and establish claims resolution procedures for all current and future claims against Aldrich and Murray (Asbestos Claims). On the effective date of the Plan, Aldrich and Murray would fund the trust with $545.0 million, comprised of $540.0 million in cash and a promissory note to be issued by Aldrich and Murray to the trust in the principal amount of $5.0 million, and the Asbestos Claims would be channeled to the trust for resolution in accordance with the claims resolution procedures. Following the effective date of the Plan, Aldrich and Murray would have no further obligations with respect to the Asbestos Claims. The FCR has agreed to support such Plan. The agreement in principle with the FCR is subject to final documentation and is conditioned on arrangements acceptable to Aldrich and Murray with respect to their asbestos insurance assets. It is currently contemplated that the asbestos insurance assets of Aldrich and Murray would be contributed to the trust, and that, in consideration of their cash contribution to the trust, Aldrich and Murray would have the exclusive right to pursue, collect and retain all insurance reimbursements available in connection with the resolution of Asbestos Claims by the trust. The committee representing current asbestos claimants (the ACC) is not a party to the agreement in principle. Any settlement and its implementation in a plan of reorganization is subject to the approval of the Bankruptcy Court, and there can be no assurance that the Bankruptcy Court will approve the agreement on the terms proposed.

On September 24, 2021, Aldrich and Murray filed the Plan with the Bankruptcy Court. The Plan is supported by, and reflects the agreement in principle reached with the FCR. On the same date, in connection with the Plan, Aldrich and Murray filed a motion with the Bankruptcy Court to create a $270.0 million trust intended to constitute a "qualified settlement fund" within the meaning of the Treasury Regulations under Section 468B of the Internal Revenue Code (QSF). The funds held in the QSF would be available to provide funding for the Section 524(g) Trust upon effectiveness of the Plan.

During the year ended December 31, 2021, in connection with the agreement in principle reached by Aldrich and Murray with the FCR and the motion to create a $270.0 million QSF, the Company recorded a charge of $21.2 million to increase its Funding Agreement liability to $270.0 million. The corresponding charge was bifurcated between Other income/ (expense), net of $7.2 million relating to Murray and discontinued operations of $14.0 million relating to Aldrich.

On January 27, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court granted the request to fund the QSF, which was funded on March 2, 2022, resulting in an operating cash outflow of $270.0 million reported in the Company's Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows, of which $91.8 million was allocated to continuing operations and $178.2 million was allocated to discontinued operations for the year ended December 31, 2022. On April 18, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order granting Aldrich and Murray's request to seek to estimate their aggregate liability for all current and future asbestos-related personal injury claims. Aldrich and Murray are pursuing discovery and related matters in connection with the estimation proceedings.

On October 18, 2021, the ACC filed a motion seeking standing to pursue and investigate on behalf of the bankruptcy estates of Aldrich and Murray, claims arising from or related to the 2020 Corporate Restructuring. Also on October 18, 2021, the ACC filed a complaint seeking to substantively consolidate the bankruptcy estates of Aldrich and Murray with certain of the Company's subsidiaries. On December 20, 2021, Aldrich, Murray and certain of the Company's subsidiaries filed motions to dismiss the ACC's substantive consolidation complaint. On April 14, 2022, the Bankruptcy Court granted the ACC's standing motion and denied the motions to dismiss the substantive consolidation complaint. On June 18, 2022, the ACC filed complaints against the Company and other related parties asserting various claims and causes of action arising from or related to the 2020 Corporate Restructuring. The Company is vigorously opposing and defending against these claims.

On April 6, 2023, certain individual claimants filed a motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 cases (Claimant Motion to Dismiss). Subsequently, on May 15, 2023, the ACC filed its own motion to dismiss the Chapter 11 cases (ACC Motion to Dismiss, and, together with the Claimant Motion to Dismiss, the Motions to Dismiss). Aldrich, Murray and the FCR filed responses in opposition to the Motions to Dismiss, and the Company filed papers joining in Aldrich and Murray's opposition. A hearing on the Motions to Dismiss was held on July 14, 2023. On December 28, 2023, the Bankruptcy Court entered an order denying the Motions to Dismiss. On January 11, 2024, the ACC and the individual claimants filed motions with the United States District Court for the District of North Carolina (the District Court) seeking leave to appeal the order denying the Motions to Dismiss and to certify the appeals directly to the Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. At a hearing on February 9, 2024, the Bankruptcy Court granted the motions to certify direct appeals to the Fourth Circuit. On April 17, 2024, the Fourth Circuit entered an order denying the petitions for direct appeal. On May 1, 2024, the ACC and the individual claimants filed petitions with the Fourth Circuit seeking rehearing en banc. Aldrich and Murray opposed the petitions and the Fourth Circuit denied the petitions by order dated May 15, 2024. On May 28, 2024, Aldrich and Murray filed their response with the District Court in opposition to the Motions for Leave to Appeal. The FCR filed its response to the Motions for Leave to Appeal on May 29, 2024.

On January 23, 2023, an individual claimant filed a motion to lift the automatic order to pursue its asbestos suit against Aldrich and Murray notwithstanding the Chapter 11 cases (the Stay Relief Motion). Aldrich and Murray, the FCR, and certain non-debtor affiliates each opposed the Stay Relief Motion. The Bankruptcy Court denied the Stay Relief Motion after holding a hearing on March 30, 2023. The Bankruptcy Court entered an order memorializing its March oral ruling on November 13, 2024. The individual claimant filed a notice with the Bankruptcy Court appealing the order denying the Stay Relief Motion to the District Court on November 27, 2024.

It is not possible to predict how the District Court will rule on these pending motions, whether an appellate court will affirm or reverse the Bankruptcy Court orders denying the Motions to Dismiss and the Stay Relief Motion, whether the Bankruptcy Court will approve the terms of the Plan, what the extent of the asbestos liability will be or how long the Chapter 11 cases will last. The ACC and the individual claimants filed their replies in support of the Motions for Leave to Appeal on June 11, 2024. The Chapter 11 cases remain pending as of February 6, 2025.

Furthermore, in connection with the 2020 Corporate Restructuring, Aldrich, Murray and their respective subsidiaries entered into several agreements with subsidiaries of the Company to ensure they each have access to services necessary for the effective operation of their respective businesses and access to capital to address any liquidity needs that arise as a result of working capital requirements or timing issues. In addition, the Company regularly transacts business with Aldrich and its wholly-owned subsidiary 200 Park and Murray and its wholly-owned subsidiary ClimateLabs. As of the Petition Date, these entities are considered related parties and post deconsolidation activity between the Company and them are reported as third party transactions and are reflected within the Company's Consolidated Statements of Earnings. Since the Petition Date, there were no material transactions between the Company and these entities other than as described above.

Environmental Matters

The Company continues to be dedicated to environmental and sustainability programs to minimize the use of natural resources, reduce the utilization and generation of hazardous materials from our manufacturing processes and remediate identified environmental concerns. As to the latter, the Company is currently engaged in site investigations and remediation activities to address environmental cleanup from past operations at current and former manufacturing facilities.

It is the Company's policy to establish environmental reserves for investigation and remediation activities when it is probable that a liability has been incurred and a reasonable estimate of the liability can be made. Estimated liabilities are determined based upon existing remediation laws and technologies. Inherent uncertainties exist in such evaluations due to unknown environmental conditions, changes in government laws and regulations, and changes in cleanup technologies. The environmental reserves are updated on a routine basis as remediation efforts progress and new information becomes available.

The Company is sometimes a party to environmental lawsuits and claims and has received notices of potential violations of environmental laws and regulations from the Environmental Protection Agency and similar state and international authorities. It has also been identified as a potentially responsible party (PRP) for cleanup costs associated with off-site waste disposal at federal Superfund and state remediation sites. In most instances at multi-party sites, the Company's share of the liability is not material.

In estimating its liability at multi-party sites, the Company has assumed it will not bear the entire cost of remediation of any site to the exclusion of other PRPs who may be jointly and severally liable. The ability of other PRPs to participate has been taken into account, based on the Company's understanding of the parties' financial condition and probable contributions on a per site basis.

Reserves for environmental matters are classified as Accrued expenses and other current liabilities or Other noncurrent liabilities based on their expected term. As of December 31, 2024 and 2023, the Company has recorded reserves for environmental matters of $52.4 million and $47.5 million, respectively. Of these amounts, $40.3 million and $38.9 million, respectively, relate to investigation and remediation of properties and multi-waste disposal sites related to businesses formerly owned by the Company.

Warranty Liability

Standard product warranty accruals are recorded at the time of sale and are estimated based upon product warranty terms and historical experience. The Company assesses the adequacy of its liabilities and will make adjustments as necessary based on known or anticipated warranty claims, or as new information becomes available.

The changes in the standard product warranty liability for the years ended December 31, were as follows:

In millions	2024	2023
Balance at beginning of period	$ 373.9	$ 323.6
Reductions for payments	(182.3)	(146.5)
Accruals for warranties issued during the current period	229.9	187.0
Changes to accruals related to preexisting warranties	(3.9)	9.1
Translation	(3.0)	0.7
Balance at end of period	$ 414.6	$ 373.9

Standard product warranty liabilities are classified as Accrued expenses and other current liabilities or Other noncurrent liabilities based on their expected term. The Company's total current standard product warranty reserve at December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2023 was $185.3 million and $157.6 million, respectively.

Warranty Deferred Revenue

The Company's extended warranty liability represents the deferred revenue associated with its extended warranty contracts and is amortized into Net revenues on a straight-line basis over the life of the contract, unless another method is more representative of the costs incurred. The Company assesses the adequacy of its liability by evaluating the expected costs under its existing contracts to ensure these expected costs do not exceed the extended warranty liability.

The changes in the extended warranty liability for the years ended December 31, were as follows:

In millions	2024	2023
Balance at beginning of period	$ 349.4	$ 317.7
Amortization of deferred revenue for the period	(134.6)	(118.6)
Additions for extended warranties issued during the period	194.6	148.6
Changes to accruals related to preexisting warranties	3.0	0.9
Translation	(2.0)	0.8
Balance at end of period	$ 410.4	$ 349.4

The extended warranty liability is classified as Accrued expenses and other current liabilities or Other noncurrent liabilities based on the timing of when the deferred revenue is expected to be amortized into Net revenues. The Company's total current extended warranty liability at December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2023 was $143.5 million and $123.8 million, respectively. For the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, the Company incurred costs of $68.7 million, $54.3 million and $54.8 million, respectively, related to extended warranties.

Material Terms of Trading Arrangement	Securities Trading Plans of Directors and Executive Officers

Our director compensation program, which consists of an annual cash retainer and grant of restricted stock units (RSUs), is designed to compensate non-employee directors fairly for work required for a company of our size and scope and to align their interests with the long-term interests of our shareholders. Similarly, a portion of the compensation of our executive officers (as defined in SEC Rule 16a-1(f)) is delivered in the form of our Long-Term Incentive Program (LTI), which is comprised of stock options, RSUs and performance share units (PSUs). We believe compensating our directors and executive officers with a mix of equity-based awards effectively links compensation to long-term shareholder value creation, Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG), and financial results.

Subject to the satisfaction of our share ownership requirements, our directors and executive officers may, from time to time, engage in transactions to sell some of the shares granted to them as part of our director and executive compensation programs after such shares vest following the expiration of any time-based restrictions or achievement of certain pre-established performance goals. In addition, our directors and executive officers may also, from time to time, engage in other transactions involving our securities, which may entail the purchase or sale of our common stock outside of these compensation programs on an open-market basis.

All transactions in our securities by our directors and executive officers must occur in accordance with our Insider Trading Policy, which, among other things, requires that such transactions be in accordance with applicable U.S. federal securities laws that prohibit trading while in possession of material nonpublic information. Rule 10b5-1 of the Securities Exchange Act provides an affirmative defense that enables prearranged transactions in securities in a manner that avoids concerns about initiating transactions at a future date while possibly in possession of material nonpublic information. Our insider trading policy permits our directors and executive officers to enter trading plans designed to prearrange transactions in our securities in accordance with Rule 10b5-1.

During the fourth quarter of 2024, none of our directors or executive officers adopted or terminated a "non-Rule 10b5-1 trading arrangement," as defined in Item 408(a) of Regulation S-K. The following table describes contracts, instructions or written plans for the sale or purchase of our securities adopted or terminated by our directors and executive officers during the fourth quarter of 2024, each of which is intended to satisfy the affirmative defense conditions of Rule 10b5-1(c), referred to as Rule 10b5-1 trading plans:

Cybersecurity Risk Management and Strategy Disclosure	12 Months Ended Dec. 31, 2024
Cybersecurity Risk Management, Strategy, and Governance [Line Items]
Cybersecurity Risk Management Processes for Assessing, Identifying, and Managing Threats [Text Block]	CYBERSECURITY

We maintain a cybersecurity program and framework as set forth in our cybersecurity policies and standards. The foundation of our cybersecurity program is based on the National Institute of Standards and Technology ("NIST") Cybersecurity Framework, which includes a set of controls to prevent, detect, and respond to cybersecurity threats and incidents. These controls include constant monitoring, log collection and analysis, threat hunting and intelligence surveillance, and regular vulnerability scans/penetration tests. Additionally, in furtherance of assessing, identifying and managing material cybersecurity risks, we:

- Leverage technology solutions, including proactive detection tools, to protect our assets and detect threats in our environment;
- Perform regular internal assessments of our cybersecurity program against the NIST Cybersecurity Framework. The results of these assessments are then reviewed and, based on such findings, action plans are developed and progress tracked through completion;
- Analyze both internal and external cybersecurity incidents and related threat intelligence to determine applicability to our environment and industry. Findings from such analyses are then reviewed and utilized to create action plans where applicable and relevant to our environment and industry;
- Maintain an enterprise-wide disaster recovery governance program, which includes cybersecurity-related disaster recovery standards and compliance procedures related thereto;
- Regularly perform cybersecurity-related disaster recovery testing to ensure that the Company's mission-critical systems are recoverable, in support of the business continuity needs of our various business lines;
- Maintain an operational technology (OT) security program to address cyber risks that are inherent and unique to our industry and manufacturing environment;
- Maintain a centralized product security program that unifies company-wide strategy to ensure our customer-facing products and services are secure by design; and
- Integrate each of our business and corporate groups with our internal cybersecurity team to ensure cybersecurity requirements are embedded into operating environments as appropriate, which drives business strategies, budgeting, and similar processes. In addition, senior and executive management, as well as our Board of Directors, regularly review our financial planning processes for these areas, inclusive of our cybersecurity programs.

Any changes or additions to our cybersecurity program and related practices and procedures described above in response to cybersecurity needs are reviewed by our executive management, Board of Directors and Audit Committee.

We regularly engage independent third-parties and auditors to assess our cybersecurity program and practices and assist in the mitigation of risk. The effectiveness of our cybersecurity environment is regularly tested by internal personnel and these third-parties. These assessments are performed in connection with standards and requirements under the Payment Card Industry (PCI) data security standard, Sarbanes-Oxley Act (SOX), and the U.S. Department of Defense, cybersecurity capability maturity benchmarking and voluntary certifications by us, such as the Service Organization Control Type 2 (SOC 2). The results of these audits and assessments are promptly reviewed and enhancements are made to our cybersecurity program and practices based on such findings as appropriate. We also maintain a cybersecurity third party risk management program which evaluates third parties that either host or have access to our data and/or systems to ensure that they are aligned with our security requirements. The program includes initial review, ongoing monitoring and contractual agreements with cybersecurity requirements to ensure third party services meet our standards for such providers, and the cybersecurity risks associated with the use of these services is acceptable.

Like other comparable-sized companies, our information technology systems, networks and infrastructure and technology embedded in certain of our control products have been and may continue to be vulnerable to cyber-attacks and unauthorized security intrusions. These types of attacks may include computer viruses, malicious code, unauthorized access, phishing attempts, denial-of-service attacks, among others. For more information about these and other cybersecurity risks faced by us, see Part IA, Item 1A, "Risk Factors - Risks Related to Cybersecurity and Technology."

Our Board of Directors has ultimate oversight for risks relating to our cybersecurity program and practices and receives regular updates from our internal cybersecurity team on cybersecurity risks and threats. In addition, our Audit Committee provides Board-level oversight for management's actions with respect to practices, procedures and controls used to identify, assess and manage our key cybersecurity programs and risks. We also maintain an Enterprise Risk Intelligence Committee (ERIC), a management-level cross-functional group designed to monitor and mitigate risks, including cybersecurity risks, that pose a threat to our strategic objectives. The ERIC is charged with providing guidance and direction for integrating enterprise risk intelligence with important business processes, such as strategic planning, business forecasting, operational management, and investment allocation to ensure consistent consideration of risks in decision making. Finally, we maintain an Enterprise Cybersecurity Governance Committee that presents updates on cybersecurity initiatives, known and emerging issues and risks, and program updates to a cross-section of our senior management.

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (Policy)	12 Months Ended Dec. 31, 2024
Accounting Policies [Abstract]
Organization, Consolidation and Presentation of Financial Statements Disclosure [Text Block]	The accompanying Consolidated Financial Statements reflect the consolidated operations of the Company and have been prepared in accordance with U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) as defined by the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) within the FASB Accounting Standards Codification (ASC). Intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated. The results of operations and cash flows of all discontinued operations have been separately reported as discontinued operations for all periods presented. The Company recorded certain income and expenses associated with asbestos liabilities and corresponding insurance recoveries within Discontinued operations, net of tax, as they related to previously divested businesses, except for amounts associated with the predecessor of the Murray Boiler LLC (Murray) asbestos liabilities and corresponding insurance recoveries, which were recorded within continuing operations. See Note 20, "Commitments and Contingencies" for more information regarding asbestos-related matters. The Consolidated Financial Statements include all majority-owned subsidiaries of the Company. A noncontrolling interest in a subsidiary is considered an ownership interest in a majority-owned subsidiary that is not attributable to the parent. The Company includes Noncontrolling interest as a component of Total equity in the Consolidated Balance Sheets and the Net earnings attributable to noncontrolling interests are presented as an adjustment from Net earnings used to arrive at Net earnings attributable to Trane Technologies plc in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings.

Use of Estimates, Policy

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements as well as the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Estimates are based on several factors including the facts and circumstances available at the time the estimates are made, historical experience, risk of loss, general economic conditions and trends, and the assessment of the probable future outcome. Actual results could differ from those estimates. Estimates and assumptions are reviewed periodically, and the effects of changes, if any, are reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings in the period that they are determined.

Currency Translation

Assets and liabilities of non-U.S. subsidiaries, where the functional currency is not the U.S. dollar, have been translated at year-end exchange rates, and income and expense accounts have been translated using average exchange rates throughout the year. Adjustments resulting from the process of translating an entity's financial statements into the U.S. dollar have been recorded in the equity section of the Consolidated Balance Sheets within Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss). Transactions that are denominated in a currency other than an entity's functional currency are subject to changes in exchange rates with the resulting gains and losses recorded within Other income/(expense), net.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand, demand deposits and all highly liquid investments with original maturities at the time of purchase of three months or less. The Company maintains amounts on deposit at various financial institutions, which may at times exceed federally insured limits. However, management periodically evaluates the credit-worthiness of those institutions and has not experienced any losses on such deposits.

Receivables, Trade and Other Accounts Receivable, Allowance for Doubtful Accounts, Policy

The Company maintains an allowance for credit losses which represents the best estimate of expected loss inherent in the Company's accounts receivable portfolio. This estimate is based upon a two-step policy that results in the total recorded allowance for credit losses. The first step is to record a portfolio reserve based on the aging of the outstanding accounts receivable portfolio and the Company's historical experience with the Company's end markets, customer base and products. The second step is to create a specific reserve for significant accounts as to which the customer's ability to satisfy their financial obligation to the Company is in doubt due to circumstances such as bankruptcy, deteriorating operating results or financial position. In these circumstances, management uses its judgment to record an allowance based on the best estimate of expected loss, factoring in such considerations as the market value of collateral, if applicable. Actual results could differ from those estimates. These estimates and assumptions are reviewed periodically, and the effects of changes, if any, are reflected in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings in the period that they are determined. The Company's allowance for credit losses was $56.6 million and $44.8 million as of December 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively.

Inventories

Depending on the business, U.S. inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market using the last-in, first-out (LIFO) method or the lower of cost and net realizable value (NRV) using the first-in, first-out (FIFO) method. Non-U.S. inventories are stated at the lower of cost and NRV using the FIFO method. At both December 31, 2024 and 2023, approximately 59% of all inventory utilized the LIFO method.

Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Assets placed in service are recorded at cost and depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful life of the asset except for leasehold improvements, which are depreciated over the shorter of their economic useful life or their lease term. The range of useful lives used to depreciate property, plant and equipment is as follows:

Buildings	10	to	50	years
Machinery and equipment	2	to	12	years
Software	2	to	7	years

Major expenditures for replacements and significant improvements that increase asset values and extend useful lives are also capitalized. Capitalized costs are amortized over their estimated useful lives using the straight-line method. Repairs and maintenance expenditures that do not extend the useful life of the asset are charged to expense as incurred. The carrying amounts of assets that are sold or retired and the related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts in the year of disposal, and any resulting gain or loss is reflected within current earnings.

The Company assesses the recoverability of the carrying value of its property, plant and equipment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the asset group may not be recoverable. Recoverability is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of the asset group to the future net undiscounted cash flows expected to be generated by the asset group. If the undiscounted cash flows are less than the carrying amount of the asset group, an impairment loss is recognized for the amount by which the carrying value of the asset group exceeds the fair value of the asset group.

Goodwill and Intangible Assets

The Company records as goodwill the excess of the purchase price over the fair value of the net assets acquired in a business combination. Measurement period adjustments may be recorded once a final valuation has been performed. Goodwill and other indefinite-lived intangible assets are tested and reviewed annually for impairment during the fourth quarter or whenever there is a significant change in events or circumstances that indicate that the fair value of the asset is more likely than not less than the carrying amount of the asset. In addition, an interim impairment test is completed upon a triggering event or when there is a reorganization of reporting structure or disposal of all or a portion of a reporting unit.

Impairment of goodwill is tested at the reporting unit level. The test compares the carrying amount of the reporting unit to its estimated fair value. If the estimated fair value of a reporting unit exceeds its carrying amount, goodwill of the reporting unit is not impaired. To the extent that the carrying value of the reporting unit exceeds its estimated fair value, an impairment loss would be recognized for the amount by which the reporting unit's carrying amount exceeds its fair value, not to exceed the carrying amount of goodwill in that reporting unit.

Intangible assets such as customer-related intangible assets and other intangible assets with finite useful lives are amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated economic lives. The weighted-average useful lives approximate the following:

Customer relationships	15 years
Other	8 years

The Company assesses the recoverability of the carrying value of its intangible assets with finite useful lives whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the asset group may not be recoverable. Recoverability is measured by a comparison of the carrying amount of an asset group to the future net undiscounted cash flows expected to be generated by the asset group. If the undiscounted cash flows are less than the carrying amount of the asset group, an impairment loss is recognized for the amount by which the carrying value of the asset group exceeds the fair value of the asset group.

Business Combinations Policy

Acquisitions that meet the definition of a business combination are recorded using the acquisition method of accounting. The Company includes the operating results of acquired entities from their respective dates of acquisition. The Company recognizes and measures the identifiable assets acquired, liabilities assumed, including contingent consideration relating to earnout provisions, and any non-controlling interest as of the acquisition date fair value. The excess, if any, of total consideration transferred in a business combination over the fair value of identifiable assets acquired, liabilities assumed and any non-controlling interest is recognized as goodwill. Costs incurred as a result of a business combination other than costs related to the issuance of debt or equity securities are recorded in the period the costs are incurred. Additionally, at each reporting period, contingent consideration is remeasured to fair value, with changes recorded in Selling and administrative expenses in the Consolidated Statements of Earnings.

Equity Method Investments

Partially-owned equity affiliates generally represent 20-50% ownership interests in equity investments where the Company demonstrates significant influence, but does not have a controlling financial interest. Partially-owned equity affiliates are accounted for under the equity method.

The Company invests in companies that complement existing products and services further enhancing its product portfolio. The Company records equity investments for which it does not have significant influence and without a readily determinable fair value at cost with adjustments for observable changes in price or impairment as permitted by the measurement alternative. Investments for which the measurement alternative has been elected are assessed for impairment upon a triggering event. Equity investments without a readily determinable fair value were $87.7 million and $69.9 million for the years ended December 31, 2024 and December 31, 2023, respectively.

Compensation Related Costs, Policy

The Company provides a range of benefits, including pensions, postretirement and postemployment benefits to eligible current and former employees. Determining the cost associated with such benefits is dependent on various actuarial assumptions, including discount rates, expected return on plan assets, compensation increases, mortality, turnover rates, and healthcare cost trend rates. Actuaries perform the required calculations to determine expense in accordance with GAAP. Actual results may differ from the actuarial assumptions and are generally accumulated into Accumulated other comprehensive income (loss) and amortized into Net earnings over future periods. The Company reviews its actuarial assumptions at each measurement date and makes modifications to the assumptions based on current rates and trends, if appropriate.

Loss Contingencies

Liabilities are recorded for various contingencies arising in the normal course of business. The Company has recorded reserves in the financial statements related to these matters, which are developed using input derived from actuarial estimates and historical and anticipated experience data depending on the nature of the reserve, and in certain instances with consultation of legal counsel, internal and external consultants and engineers. Subject to the uncertainties inherent in estimating future costs for these types of liabilities, the Company believes its estimated reserves are reasonable and does not believe the final determination of the liabilities with respect to these matters would have a material effect on the financial condition, results of operations, liquidity or cash flows of the Company for any year.

Regulatory Environmental Costs, Policy

The Company is subject to laws and regulations relating to protecting the environment. Environmental expenditures relating to current operations are expensed or capitalized as appropriate. Expenditures relating to existing conditions caused by past operations, which do not contribute to current or future revenues, are expensed. Liabilities for remediation costs are recorded when they are probable and can be reasonably estimated, generally no later than the completion of feasibility studies or the Company's commitment to a plan of action. The assessment of this liability, which is calculated based on existing remediation technology, does not reflect any offset for possible recoveries from insurance companies, and is not discounted

Standard Product Warranty, Policy

Standard product warranty accruals are recorded at the time of sale and are estimated based upon product warranty terms and historical experience. The Company assesses the adequacy of its liabilities and will make adjustments as necessary based on known or anticipated warranty claims, or as new information becomes available.

Extended Product Warranty, Policy

The Company's extended warranty liability represents the deferred revenue associated with its extended warranty contracts and is amortized into revenue on a straight-line basis over the life of the contract, unless another method is more representative of the costs incurred. The Company assesses the adequacy of its liability by evaluating the expected costs under its existing contracts to ensure these expected costs do not exceed the extended warranty liability.

Income Taxes

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are determined based on temporary differences between financial reporting and tax bases of assets and liabilities, applying enacted tax rates expected to be in effect for the year in which the differences are expected to reverse. The Company recognizes future tax benefits, such as net operating losses and tax credits, to the extent that realizing these benefits is considered in its judgment to be more likely than not. The Company regularly reviews the recoverability of its deferred tax assets considering its historic profitability, projected future taxable income, timing of the reversals of existing temporary differences and the feasibility of its tax planning strategies. Where appropriate, the Company records a valuation allowance with respect to a future tax benefit.

Revenue Recognition

Revenue is recognized when control of a good or service promised in a contract (i.e., performance obligation) is transferred to a customer. Control is obtained when a customer has the ability to direct the use of and obtain substantially all of the remaining benefits from that good or service. The majority of the Company's revenue is recognized at a point-in-time as control is transferred at a distinct point in time per the terms of a contract. However, a portion of the Company's revenue is recognized over-time as the customer simultaneously receives control as the Company performs work under a contract. For these arrangements, the cost-to-cost input method (percentage of completion) is used as it best depicts the transfer of control to the customer that occurs as the Company incurs costs. See Note 12, "Revenue" to the Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information regarding revenue recognition.

Research and Development Expense, Policy

The Company conducts research and development activities focused on product and system sustainability improvements such as increasing energy efficiency, developing products that allow for use of lower global warming potential refrigerants, reducing material content in products, and designing products for circularity. These expenditures are expensed when incurred. For the years ended December 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, these expenditures amounted to $309.6 million, $252.3 million and $211.2 million, respectively.

Recent adopted accounting pronouncements

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

The FASB ASC is the sole source of authoritative GAAP other than the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) issued rules and regulations that apply only to SEC registrants. The FASB issues an Accounting Standard Update (ASU) to communicate changes to the codification. The Company considers the applicability and impact of all ASU's. ASU's not listed below were assessed and determined to be either not applicable or are not expected to have a material impact on the consolidated financial statements.

Recently Adopted Accounting Pronouncements

In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07, "Segment Reporting (Topic 280): Improvements to Reportable Segment Disclosures" (ASU 2023-07) which requires public entities to disclose information about their reportable segments' oversight and significant expenses on an interim and annual basis. The ASU is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023 and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. The Company adopted this, as required, for the year ended December 31, 2024. See Note 19, "Business Segment Information" for more information regarding the Company's segment disclosures.

In September 2022, the FASB issued ASU 2022-04, "Liabilities - Supplier Finance Program (Subtopic 405-50): Disclosure of Supplier Program Finance Obligations," which requires that a company that enters into a supplier finance program disclose sufficient information about the program to allow a user of financial statements to understand the program's nature, activity during the period, changes from period to period, and potential magnitude. To achieve that objective, the Company should disclose qualitative and quantitative information about its supplier finance programs. The Company adopted this standard on January 1, 2023, except for the amendment on roll forward information which is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023. See Note 8, "Supplier Financing Arrangements" for more information regarding the Company's supplier financing program.

In November 2021, the FASB issued ASU 2021-10, "Government Assistance (Topic 832): Disclosures by Business Entities about Government Assistance" (ASU 2021-10), which requires additional disclosures regarding government grants and cash contributions. The additional disclosures required by this update include information about the nature of the transactions and the related accounting policy used to account for the transaction, the financial statement line items affected by the transactions and the amounts applicable to each financial statement line item and significant terms and conditions of the transactions, including commitments and contingencies. ASU 2021-10 is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2021 with early adoption permitted. The Company adopted this standard on January 1, 2022 with no material impact on its Consolidated Financial Statements.

Accounting Pronouncements Issued but not yet Adopted

In November 2024, the FASB issued ASU 2024-03, "Income Statement-Reporting Comprehensive Income-Expense Disaggregation Disclosures (Subtopic 220-40)" (ASU 2024-03) which requires additional disaggregated disclosures in the notes to financial statements for certain categories of expenses that are included on the face of the income statement. The ASU is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2026 and interim periods beginning after December 15, 2027. Early adoption is permitted. The Company does not currently expect to adopt this ASU before the required effective date. The Company is evaluating the impact of the standard on its financial statement disclosures.

In December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09, "Improvements to Income Tax Disclosures (Topic 740)" (ASU 2023-09) which improves the transparency of income tax disclosures by requiring consistent categories and greater disaggregation of information in the rate reconciliation and income taxes paid disaggregated by jurisdiction. The ASU is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted. The Company does not currently expect to adopt this ASU before the required effective date. The Company is evaluating the impact of the standard on its financial statement disclosures.

In October 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-06, "Disclosure Improvements: Codification Amendments in Response to SEC's Disclosure Update and Simplification Initiative" (ASU 2023-06) to amend a variety of disclosure requirements in the ASC. The effective date for each amendment will be the date on which the SEC's removal of that related disclosure from Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K becomes effective. Early adoption is prohibited. Upon adoption, this ASU is not expected to have a material impact on its financial statement disclosures.
