Report on Form 10-Q, and the reports and documents incorporated by reference in this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, may contain forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, which are based on managementâ€™s current beliefs and expectations and are subject to substantial risks and uncertainties, both known and unknown, that could cause our future results, performance or achievements to differ significantly from that expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. You can identify these forward-looking statements by the use of words such as â€œshould,â€ â€œexpect,â€ â€œanticipate,â€ â€œestimate,â€ â€œtarget,â€ â€œmay,â€ â€œproject,â€ â€œguidance,â€ â€œintend,â€ â€œplan,â€ â€œbelieveâ€ and other words and terms of similar meaning and expression in connection with any discussion of future operating or financial performance.Â Important factors that could cause or contribute to such differences include risks relating to: Â Â â€¢ Â our ability to successfully compete in the marketplace, including: that we are substantially dependent on our generic products; concentration of our customer base and commercial alliances among our customers; delays in launches of new generic products; our ability to develop and commercialize biopharmaceutical products; competition for our innovative medicines; our ability to achieve expected results from investments in our product pipeline; our ability to develop and commercialize additional pharmaceutical products; our ability to successfully execute our Pivot to Growth strategy, including to expand our innovative and biosimilar medicines pipeline and profitably commercialize the innovative medicines and biosimilar portfolio, whether organically or through business development, and to sustain and focus our portfolio of generics medicines; and the effectiveness of our patents and other measures to protect our intellectual property rights, including any potential challenges to our Orange Book patent listings in the U.S.; Â Â â€¢ Â our substantial indebtedness, which may limit our ability to incur additional indebtedness, engage in additional transactions or make new investments, may result in a future downgrade of our credit ratings; and our inability to raise debt or borrow funds in amounts or on terms that are favorable to us; Â Â â€¢ Â our business and operations in general, including: the impact of global economic conditions and other macroeconomic developments and the governmental and societal responses thereto; the widespread outbreak of an illness or any other communicable disease, or any other public health crisis; effectiveness of our optimization efforts; our ability to attract, hire, integrate and retain highly skilled personnel; interruptions in our supply chain or problems with internal or third party manufacturing; disruptions of information technology systems; breaches of our data security challenges associated with conducting business globally, including political or economic instability, major hostilities or terrorism, such as the ongoing conflict between Russia and Ukraine and the state of war declared in Israel; costs and delays resulting from the extensive pharmaceutical regulation to which we are subject; our ability to successfully bid for suitable acquisition targets or licensing opportunities, or to consummate and integrate acquisitions; and our prospects and opportunities for growth if we sell assets or business units and close or divest plants and facilities, as well as our ability to successfully and cost-effectively consummate such sales and divestitures, including our planned divestiture of our API business; Â Â â€¢ Â compliance, regulatory and litigation matters, including: failure to comply with complex legal and regulatory environments; the effects of governmental and civil proceedings and litigation which we are, or in the future become, party to; the effects of reforms in healthcare regulation and reductions in pharmaceutical pricing, reimbursement and coverage; increased legal and regulatory action in connection with public concern over the abuse of opioid medications; our ability to timely make payments required under our nationwide opioids settlement agreement and provide our generic version of NarcanÂ® (naloxone hydrochloride nasal spray) in the amounts and at the times required under the terms of such agreement; scrutiny from competition and pricing authorities around the world, including our ability to comply with and operate under our deferred prosecution agreement (â€œDPAâ€) with the U.S. Department of Justice (â€œDOJâ€); potential liability for intellectual property right infringement; product liability claims; failure to comply with complex Medicare, Medicaid and other governmental programs reporting and payment obligations; compliance with anti-corruption, sanctions and trade control laws; environmental risks; and the impact of sustainability issues; Â 3 Table of ContentsTEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Â Â â€¢ Â the impact of the state of war declared in Israel and the military activity in the region, including the risk of disruptions to our operations and facilities, such as our manufacturing and R&D facilities, located in Israel, the impact of our employees who are military reservists being called to active military duty, and the impact of the war on the economic, social and political stability of Israel; Â Â â€¢ Â other financial and economic risks, including: our exposure to currency fluctuations and restrictions as well as credit risks; potential impairments of our long-lived assets; the impact of geopolitical conflicts

Â 10 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Note 1 â€“ Basis of presentation: Â Â a. Basis of presentation The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the same basis as the annual consolidated financial statements. In the opinion of management, the financial statements reflect all normal and recurring adjustments necessary to fairly state the financial position and results of operations of Teva. The information included in this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes included in the Companyâ€™s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023, as filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (â€œSECâ€). The year-end balance sheet data was derived from the audited consolidated financial statements as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023, but not all disclosures required by generally accepted accounting principles in the United States (â€œU.S. GAAPâ€) are included. In preparing the Companyâ€™s consolidated financial statements, management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, equity and disclosure of contingent liabilities and assets at the dates of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reported years. Actual results could differ from those estimates. In preparing the Companyâ€™s consolidated financial statements, management also considered the economic implications of inflation expectations on its critical and significant accounting estimates. As applicable to these consolidated financial statements, the most significant estimates and assumptions relate to determining the valuation and recoverability of IPR&D assets, marketed product rights and goodwill, assessing sales reserves and allowances in the United States, uncertain tax positions, valuation allowances and contingencies. These estimates could be impacted by higher costs and the ability to pass on such higher costs to customers, which is highly uncertain. Government actions taken to address macroeconomic developments, as well as their economic impact on Tevaâ€™s third-party manufacturers and suppliers, customers and markets, could also impact such estimates and may change in future periods. In February 2022, Russia launched an invasion of Ukraine. As of the date of these consolidated financial statements, sustained conflict and disruption in the region is ongoing. Russia and Ukraine markets are included in Tevaâ€™s International Markets segment results. Teva has no manufacturing or R&D facilities in these markets. During the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the impact of this conflict on Tevaâ€™s results of operation and financial condition continues to be immaterial. In October 2023, Israel was attacked by a terrorist organization and entered a state of war on several fronts. As of the date of these consolidated financial statements, sustained conflict in the region is ongoing. Israel is included in Tevaâ€™s International Markets segment results. Tevaâ€™s global headquarters and several manufacturing and R&D facilities are located in Israel. Currently, such activities in Israel remain largely unaffected. Teva continues to maintain contingency plans with backup production locations for key products. During the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the impact of this war on Tevaâ€™s results of operations and financial condition is immaterial, but such impact may increase, which could be material, as a result of the continuation, escalation or expansion of such war. Tevaâ€™s results of operations for the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 are not necessarily indicative of results that could be expected for the entire fiscal year. Certain amounts in the consolidated financial statements and associated notes may not add up due to rounding. All percentages have been calculated using unrounded amounts. Â Â b. Significant accounting policies Recently adopted accounting pronouncements None. Recently issued accounting pronouncements, not yet adopted In December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09 â€œIncome Taxes (Topic 740): Improvements to Income Tax Disclosuresâ€. This guidance is intended to enhance the transparency and decision-usefulness of income tax disclosures. The amendments in ASU 2023-09 address investor requests for enhanced income tax information primarily through changes to disclosure regarding rate reconciliation and income taxes paid both in the U.S. and in foreign jurisdictions. ASU 2023-09 is effective for fiscal years beginning after DecemberÂ 15, 2024 on a prospective basis, with the option to apply the standard retrospectively. Early adoption is permitted. The Company is currently evaluating this guidance to determine the impact it may have on its consolidated financial statements disclosures. Â Â 11 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07 â€œSegment Reporting: Improvements to Reportable Segment Disclosuresâ€. This guidance expands public entitiesâ€™ segment disclosures primarily by requiring disclosure of significant segment expenses that are regularly provided to the chief operating decision maker and included within each reported measure of segment profit or loss, an amount and description of its composition for other segment items, and interim disclosures of a reportable segmentâ€™s profit or loss and assets. The guidance is effective for fiscal years beginning after DecemberÂ 15, 2023, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after DecemberÂ 15, 2024, with early adoption permitted. The amendments are required to be applied retrospectively to all prior periods presented in an entityâ€™s financial statements. The Company does not expect the adoption of the ASU to have a material impact on its consolidated financial statements related disclosures. In October 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-06 â€œDisclosure Improvements: Codification Amendments in Response to the SECâ€™s Disclosure Update and Simplification Initiative,â€ which incorporates certain SEC disclosure requirements into the FASB Accounting Standards Codification (â€œCodificationâ€). The amendments in the ASU are expected to clarify or improve disclosure and presentation requirements of a variety of Codification topics, allow investors to more easily compare entities subject to the SECâ€™s existing disclosures with those entities that were not previously subject to the requirements, and align the requirements in the Codification with the SECâ€™s regulations. The effective date for each amendment will be the date on which the SECâ€™s removal of that related disclosure from Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K becomes effective, with early adoption prohibited. The amendments in this ASU should be applied prospectively. The Company does not expect ASU 2023-06 will have a material impact to its consolidated financial statements. Â Â c. Revision of Previously Reported Consolidated Financial Statements In connection with the preparation of the consolidated financial statements as of and for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023, the Company identified errors in a single contingent consideration liability and related expenses in connection with estimated future royalty payments, along with corresponding deferred tax adjustments, that aggregated into an understatement of the contingent consideration liability of approximately $132Â million, of which $98Â million related to 2022 and $34Â million related to 2023. These errors resulted from the exclusion of royalty payments that should have been included in the fair value re-measurement calculation of the contingent consideration liability as of and for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2022, and the quarterly and year-to-date periods ended JuneÂ 30, SeptemberÂ 30 and DecemberÂ 31, 2022, and MarchÂ 31, JuneÂ 30 and SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. These errors did not impact the Companyâ€™s actual royalty payments, as well as total cash flows from operating activities, financing activities and investing activities in the periods stated above. The Company evaluated the errors, individually and in the aggregate, considering both qualitative and quantitative factors, and concluded that these errors did not have a material impact on any of the prior periods stated above. However, the aggregate amount of the prior period errors in 2022, would have been material to the consolidated financial statements for fiscal year 2023. Therefore, the Company has revised the prior periods impacted for these errors. The tables below present the impact of the revision on the line items within the Companyâ€™s consolidated financial statements for the relevant periods: Â Â Â Â Three months ended Â Â Nine months ended Â Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Â Â Â U.S $ in millions (except per share amounts) Â Â Â Â (Unaudited) Â Â Â Â As previously reported Â Â Adjustment Â Â AsÂ revised Â Â AsÂ previously reported Â Â Adjustment Â Â AsÂ revised Â Other asset impairments, restructuring and other items Â Â $ 46 Â Â Â 11 Â Â Â 57 Â Â $ 241 Â Â Â 34 Â Â Â 276 Â Operating income (loss) Â Â Â 355 Â Â Â (11)Â Â Â 344 Â Â Â (289)Â Â Â (34)Â Â Â (323)Â Income (loss) before income taxes Â Â Â 75 Â Â Â (11)Â Â Â 64 Â Â Â (1,097)Â Â Â (34)Â Â Â (1,131)Â Income taxes (benefit) Â Â Â (12)Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â (12)Â Â Â (48)Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â (48)Â Net income (loss) Â Â Â 88 Â Â Â (11)Â Â Â 77 Â Â Â (1,048)Â Â Â (34)Â Â Â (1,082)Â Net income (loss) attributable to Teva Â Â Â 80 Â Â Â (11)Â Â Â 69 Â Â Â (988)Â Â Â (34)Â Â Â (1,022)Â Earnings (loss) per share attributable to ordinary shareholders: Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Basic and diluted loss per share Â Â $ 0.07 Â Â Â (0.01)Â Â Â 0.06 Â Â $ (0.88)Â Â Â (0.04)Â Â Â (0.91)Â Â Â§ Represents an amount less than $0.5Â million. The Companyâ€™s most significant agreements of this nature are summarized below. mAbxience In April 2024, Teva announced it entered into a strategic licensing agreement with mAbxience for a biosimilar candidate currently in development for the treatment of multiple oncology indications. Under the terms of the licensing agreement, mAbxience will develop and produce the biosimilar product and Teva will lead the regulatory processes and commercialization in multiple global markets, including Europe and the U.S. In September 2024, Teva and mAbxience entered into an amendment to the licensing agreement whereby, similar to the initial licensing agreement, mAbxience will lead the development and production of an anti-PD-1 oncology biosimilar candidate and Teva will manage regulatory approvals and oversee commercialization in the designated markets. Under the initial agreement, in the second quarter of 2024, Teva paid mAbxience upfront and milestone payments in a total amount of $20Â million, which were recorded as R&D expenses. Pursuant to the amendment of the licensing agreement, in the third quarter of 2024 Teva recognized upfront and milestone payments in a total amount of $15Â million as R&D expenses, of which $5Â million were paid in October 2024, and the remaining is due by the end of 2024. mAbxience may be eligible for additional future development, regulatory and commercial milestone payments, in an aggregate amount of up to $320Â million. Launch Therapeutics and Abingworth On MarchÂ 28, 2024, Teva and Launch Therapeutics, Inc. (â€œLaunch Therapeuticsâ€) entered into a clinical collaboration agreement to further accelerate the clinical research program of Tevaâ€™s ICS-SABA (TEV-â€˜248). As part of this clinical collaboration agreement Teva also entered into a development funding agreement with funds affiliated with Abingworth LLP (â€œAbingworthâ€). Under the clinical collaboration agreement, Launch Therapeutics, a clinical development company backed by Abingworth and Carlyle, the global investment firm, will have the lead role in the operational execution and management of the planned clinical trials. Teva will retain primary responsibility for manufacturing, regulatory interactions in the U.S., and commercialization. ICS-SABA (TEV-â€™248) is currently in Phase 3 for the treatment of asthma symptoms addressing both immediate symptoms and long-term inflammation. Under the development funding agreement, Abingworth will provide Teva up to $150Â million to fund ongoing development costs for ICS-SABA (TEV-â€˜248). In exchange and subject to regulatory approval, Teva will pay Abingworth a milestone payment in the amount actually funded by Abingworth up to $150Â million, as well as success payments based on ICS-SABA (TEV-â€˜248) sales. During the third quarter of 2024, Teva recorded $20Â millionÂ as reimbursement for R&D expensesÂ incurred in connection with this agreement. Biolojic Design On NovemberÂ 26, 2023, Teva entered into a license agreement with Biolojic Design Ltd. (â€œBiolojicâ€), pursuant to which Teva received exclusive rights to develop, manufacture and globally commercialize a BD9 multibody for the potential treatment of Atopic Dermatitis and Asthma. In exchange, Teva paid an upfront payment in an amount of $10Â million in January 2024, which was recorded as an R&D expense in the fourth quarter of 2023. Biolojic may be eligible to receive additional development and commercial milestone payments of up to approximately $500Â million, over the next several years, based on the achievement of certain pre-clinical, clinical and regulatory milestones, with the majority of the payments based on future salesÂ achievements. Royalty Pharma On NovemberÂ 9, 2023, Teva entered into a funding agreement with Royalty Pharma plc. (â€œRoyalty Pharmaâ€) to further accelerate the clinical research program for Tevaâ€™s olanzapine LAI (TEV-â€™749). Under the terms of the funding agreement, Royalty Pharma will provide Teva up to $100Â million to fund ongoing development costs for olanzapine LAI (TEV-â€˜749), with an option to increase the total funding amount to $125Â million, which expired in the second quarter of 2024. In exchange and subject to regulatory approval, Teva will pay Royalty Pharma a milestone payment in the amount actually funded by Royalty Pharma, paid over 5 years, in addition to royalties upon commercialization. Teva will continue to lead the development and commercialization of the product globally. During the fourth quarter of 2023, and the first, second and third quarters of 2024, Teva recorded $35Â million, $27Â million, $19Â million and $18Â million respectively, as reimbursement for R&D expenses incurred in connection with this agreement, which collectively amounted to the total funding Royalty Pharma was to provide Teva ofÂ $100Â million. Olanzapine LAI (TEV-â€™749) is currently in Phase 3 for the treatment of schizophrenia (see also MedinCell transaction below). Â Â 14 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â Sanofi On OctoberÂ 3, 2023, Teva entered into an exclusive collaboration with Sanofi to co-develop and co- commercialize Tevaâ€™s duvakitug (anti-TL1A, TEV-â€™574) asset, a novel anti-TL1A therapy for the treatment of ulcerative colitis and Crohnâ€™s disease, two types of inflammatory bowel disease, which is currently in Phase 2b clinical trials. Under the terms of the collaboration agreement, in partial consideration of the licenses granted to Sanofi, Teva received an upfront payment of $500Â million in the fourth quarter of 2023, recognized as revenue. Additionally, Teva may receive up to $1Â billion in development and launch milestones. Each company will equally share the remaining development costs globally and net profits and losses in major markets, with other markets subject to a royalty arrangement, and Sanofi will lead the development of the Phase 3 program. Teva will lead commercialization of the product in Europe, Israel and specified other countries, and Sanofi will lead commercialization in North America, Japan, other parts of Asia and the rest of the world. MODAG In October 2021, Teva announced a license agreement with MODAG GmbH (â€œModagâ€) providing Teva with an exclusive global license to develop, manufacture and commercialize Modagâ€™s lead compound, emrusolmin (TEV-â€™286) and a related compound (TEV-â€™287). Emrusolmin (TEV-â€™286) was initially developed for the treatment of Multiple System Atrophy (â€œMSAâ€) and Parkinsonâ€™s disease, and has the potential to be applied to other treatments for neurodegenerative disorders, such as Alzheimerâ€™s disease. Teva has initiated a Phase 2 clinical trial. In the fourth quarter of 2021, Teva made an upfront payment of $10Â million to Modag, recorded as an R&D expense. Modag may be eligible for additional future development milestone payments, in an aggregate amount of up to $30Â million, as well as future commercial milestones and royalties. Alvotech In August 2020, Teva entered into an agreement with biopharmaceutical company Alvotech for the exclusive commercialization in the U.S. of five biosimilar product candidates. The initial pipeline for this collaboration contained biosimilar candidates addressing multiple therapeutic areas, including proposed biosimilars to HumiraÂ® (adalimumab) and StelaraÂ® (ustekinumab). Under the terms of the agreement, Alvotech is responsible for the development, registration and supply of the biosimilar product candidates and Teva will exclusively commercialize the products in the U.S. In July 2023, Alvotech and Teva amended their collaboration agreement, adding two new biosimilar candidates as well as line extensions of two current biosimilar candidates to their partnership. Teva made upfront and milestone payments in an aggregate amount of $78Â million in 2020, 2021 and 2023. Teva made additional milestone payments of $27Â million in the second quarter of 2024 and $19Â million in the third quarter of 2024. Additional development and commercial milestone payments of up to approximately $380Â million, in addition to royalty and milestone payments related to the amendment of the collaboration agreement entered into in July 2023, may be payable by Teva over the next few years. Teva and Alvotech will share revenue from the commercialization of these biosimilars. The amendment of the collaboration agreement entered into in July 2023 includes increased involvement by Teva regarding manufacturing and quality at Alvotechâ€™s manufacturing facility. Additionally, pursuant to the amendment, on September 29, 2023, Teva purchased $40 million of subordinated convertible bonds of Alvotech. On June 26, 2024, Alvotech announced its intention to exercise its redemption rights and redeemed the convertible bonds for $44 million, including accrued interest, which were paid to Teva in July 2024. On FebruaryÂ 24, 2024, Alvotech and Teva announced that the FDA approved SIMLANDIÂ® (adalimumab-ryvk) injection, as an interchangeable biosimilar to HumiraÂ®, for the treatment of adult rheumatoid arthritis, juvenile idiopathic arthritis, adult psoriatic arthritis, adult ankylosing spondylitis, Crohnâ€™s disease, adult ulcerative colitis, adult plaque psoriasis, adult hidradenitis suppurativa and adult uveitis. On AprilÂ 17, 2024, Alvotech and Teva amended their collaboration agreement to enable the purchase by Quallent of a private label adalimumab-ryvk injection from Alvotech for the U.S. market, with Alvotech sharing profits with Teva on the private label sales. On MayÂ 20, 2024, Alvotech and Teva announced that SIMLANDI is available in the United States. Â 15 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â With respect to the proposed biosimilar to StelaraÂ®, on JuneÂ 12, 2023, Alvotech and Teva reached a settlement and license agreement with JohnsonÂ & Johnson, granting a licensed entry date in the U.S. no later than February 21, 2025. On AprilÂ 16, 2024, Alvotech and Teva announced that the FDA approved SELARSDITM (ustekinumab-aekn) injection for subcutaneous use, as a biosimilar to StelaraÂ®, for the treatment of moderate to severe plaque psoriasis and for active psoriatic arthritis in adults and pediatric patients six years and older, and on OctoberÂ 22, 2024, announced that the FDA approved SELARSDI in a new presentation, 130 mg/26 mL (5 mg/mL) solution in a single-dose vial for intravenous infusion, expanding its label to include treatment of adults with Crohnâ€™s disease and ulcerative colitis. Takeda In December 2016, Teva entered into a license agreement with a subsidiary of Takeda Pharmaceutical Company Ltd. (â€œTakedaâ€), for the research, development, manufacture and commercialization of ATTENUKINETM technology. Teva received a $30Â million upfront payment and a milestone payment of $20Â million in 2017. During the second quarter of 2022, Takeda initiated its Phase 2 study of modakafusp alfa (formerly TAK-573 or TEV â€™573) and as a result paid Teva a milestone payment of $25Â million, which was recognized as revenue in the second quarter of 2022. In April 2024, Takeda informed Teva of its intent to terminate the agreement with respect to such product candidate, which product rights will revert back to Teva in early 2025. Takeda continues to have rights under the license agreement with respect to other product candidates. MedinCell In November 2013, Teva entered into an agreement with MedinCell for the development and commercialization of multiple long-acting injectable (â€œLAIâ€) products. Teva leads the clinical development and regulatory process and is responsible for the commercialization of these products. The lead product is risperidone LAI (formerly known as TV-46000). On AprilÂ 28, 2023, the FDA approved UZEDYÂ® (risperidone) extended-release injectable suspension for the treatment of schizophrenia in adults, which was launched in the U.S. in May 2023. MedinCell may be eligible for future sales-based milestones of up to $105Â million with respect to UZEDY. Teva also pays MedinCell royalties on net sales. The second selected product candidate is olanzapine LAI (TEV-â€™749) for the treatment of schizophrenia. In the third quarter of 2022, Teva decided to progress development of the product to Phase 3 and, as a result, paid a $3Â million milestone payment to MedinCell, which was recognized as R&D expenses. On MayÂ 8, 2024, Teva and MedinCell announced positive phase 3 efficacy results from a trial evaluating olanzapine LAI as a once-monthly subcutaneous long-acting injectable in adults with schizophrenia. Additional safety and efficacy results are planned in the first half of 2025. MedinCell may become eligible for further development and commercial milestones of up to $108Â million, as well as royalties on sales of olanzapine LAI (TEV-â€™749). Assets and Liabilities Held for Sale: General Assets and liabilities held for sale as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and DecemberÂ 31, 2023, included certain businesses in Tevaâ€™s International Markets segment that are expected to be sold within the next year, mainly the business venture in Japan. In connection with the held for sale classification, in the first quarter of 2024, Teva recorded expenses of $577Â million due to an expected loss upon sale, including $369Â million of expected loss from reclassification of currency translation adjustments to the statements of income upon sale, in other assets impairments, restructuring and other items. In the second quarter of 2024, Teva recorded an additional expense of $67Â million related to the expected loss from reclassification of currency translation adjustments referred to above. In the third quarter of 2024, Teva recorded a favorable adjustment of $83Â million, primarily related to the change in expected loss from reclassification of currency translation adjustments referred to above. See note 12. Amortization of intangible assets was $146Â million and $145Â million in the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. Amortization of intangible assets was $444Â million and $471Â million in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. IPR&D Tevaâ€™s IPR&D are assets that have not yet been approved in its major markets. IPR&D carries intrinsic risks that the asset might not succeed in advanced phases and may be impaired in future periods. Intangible assets impairments Impairments of long-lived intangible assets for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 were $28Â million and $47Â million, respectively. Impairments in the third quarter of 2024 consisted of: Identifiable product rights of $28Â million, mainly due to updated market assumptions regarding price and volume of products mainly in the U.S. Â 21 Table of ContentsTEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â Impairments in the third quarter of 2023 consisted of: Â Â (a) IPR&D assets of $29Â million, mainly due to generic pipeline products resulting from development progress and changes in other key valuation indications (e.g., market size, competition assumptions, legal landscape and launch date); and Â Â (b) Identifiable product rights of $18Â million mainly due to updated market assumptions regarding price and volume of products. Impairments of long-lived intangible assets for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 were $169Â million and $289Â million, respectively. Impairments in the first nine months of 2024 consisted of: Â Â (a) Identifiable product rights of $136Â million, mainly due to updated market assumptions regarding price and volume of products mainly in the U.S.; and Â Â (b) IPR&D assets of $33Â million, mainly due to generic pipeline products resulting from development progress and changes in other key valuation indications mainly in the U.S. (e.g., market size, competition assumptions, legal landscape and launch date). Impairments in the first nine months of 2023 consisted of: Â Â (a) Identifiable product rights of $206Â million due to: (i) $112Â million in Japan, mainly due to regulatory pricing reductions; and (ii) $94Â million related to updated market assumptions regarding price and volume of products; and Â Â (b) IPR&D assets of $83Â million, mainly due to generic pipeline products resulting from development progress and changes in other key valuation indications (e.g., market size, competition assumptions, legal landscape and launch date). The fair value measurement of the impaired intangible assets in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 is based on significant unobservable inputs in the market and thus represents a LevelÂ 3 measurement within the fair value hierarchy.

The discount rate applied ranged from 8.5% to 10%. A probability of success factor of 90% was used in the fair value calculation to reflect inherent regulatory and commercial risk of IPR&D.

2024 and DecemberÂ 31, 2023 was approximately $29.3Â billion and $28.3Â billion, respectively. Teva operates its business through three reporting segments: United States, Europe and International Markets. Each of these business segments is a reporting unit. Additional reporting units include Tevaâ€™s production and sale of APIs to third parties (â€œTeva APIâ€) and an out-licensing platform offering a portfolio of products to other pharmaceutical companies through its affiliate Medis. Tevaâ€™s API and Medis reporting units are included under â€œOtherâ€ in the table above. See note 15 for additional segment information. Teva determines the fair value of its reporting units using the income approach. The income approach is a forward-looking approach for estimating fair value. Within the income approach, the method used is the discounted cash flow method. Teva begins with a forecast of all the expected net cash flows associated with the reporting unit, which includes the application of a terminal value, and then applies a discount rate to arrive at a net present value amount. Cash flow projections are based on Tevaâ€™s estimates of revenue growth rates and operating margins, taking into consideration industry and market conditions. The discount rate used is based on the weighted average cost of capital (â€œWACCâ€), adjusted for the relevant risk associated with country-specific and business-specific characteristics. If any of these expectations were to vary materially from Tevaâ€™s assumptions, Teva may record an impairment of goodwill allocated to these reporting units in the future. First Quarter Developments As further discussed in note 15, as of JanuaryÂ 1, 2024, Canada is reported as part of Tevaâ€™s International Markets segment and not as part of Tevaâ€™s North America segment, which has been renamed as Tevaâ€™s United States segment. As a result, Teva aligned its segment reporting and its reporting units in accordance with this change, and reallocated its goodwill to the adjusted reporting units using a relative fair value allocation.
In conjunction with the goodwill reallocation, Teva performed a goodwill impairment test for the balances in its adjusted United States and International Markets reporting units and concluded that the fair value of each reporting unit was in excess of its carrying value. During the first quarter of 2024, management evaluated whether there were any developments that occurred during the quarter to determine if it was more likely than not that the fair value of any of its reporting units was below its carrying amount as of MarchÂ 31, 2024. Management concluded that no triggering event had occurred and, therefore, no quantitative assessment was performed. Second Quarter Developments During the second quarter of 2024, Teva completed its long-range planning (â€œLRPâ€) process. The LRP is part of Tevaâ€™s internal financial planning and budgeting processes and is discussed and reviewed by Tevaâ€™s management and its board of directors. Â 23 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â Additionally, Teva conducted a quantitative analysis of all reporting units as part of its annual goodwill impairment test with the assistance of an independent valuation expert. As disclosed in prior periods, the excess of the estimated fair value of Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit over its estimated carrying amount was negligible as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023 and MarchÂ 31, 2024. The updated quantitative analysis performed in the second quarter of 2024, which was based on the aforementioned LRP process and Tevaâ€™s Pivot to Growth strategy assumptions, resulted in a recognition of a goodwill impairment charge of $400Â million related to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit. Following the goodwill impairment charges recorded in relation to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit, the carrying values of this reporting unit equaled its fair value as of JuneÂ 30, 2024. Therefore, if business conditions or expectations were to change materially, it may be necessary to record further impairment charges to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit in the future (see â€œThird Quarter Developmentsâ€ below). Tevaâ€™s United States, Europe, International Markets and Medis reporting units had fair values in excess of 10% over their book values as of JuneÂ 30, 2024. In the second quarter of 2023, Teva recorded a goodwill impairment charge of $700Â million related to its International Markets reporting unit, mainly due to an increase in the discount rate due to higher risk associated with country-specific characteristics of several countries. Third Quarter Developments During the third quarter of 2024, management evaluated whether there were any developments that occurred during the quarter to determine if it was more likely than not that the fair value of any of its reporting units was below its carrying amount as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024. As part of this evaluation, management noted a triggering event related to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit, which resulted from updated assumptions in connection with Tevaâ€™s intention to divest its API business through a sale. Teva performed a quantitative assessment in the third quarter of 2024, which resulted in the recording of a goodwill impairment charge of $600Â million related to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit. Following this goodwill impairment charge, the carrying value of Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit equaled its fair value as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024. Therefore, if business conditions or expectations, including related to Tevaâ€™s intention to divest its API business, were to change materially, it may be necessary to record further impairment charges to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit in the future. With respect to the remaining reporting units, management concluded that it was not more likely than not that the fair value of any of the reporting units was below its carrying amounts as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and, therefore, no quantitative assessment was performed. NOTE 7 â€“ Debt obligations: Â a. Short-term debt: Â Â Â Â Interest rate as of SeptemberÂ 30,Â 2024 Â Â Maturity Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â DecemberÂ 31, Â Â Â Â subsidiaries of the Company and is fully and unconditionally guaranteed by the Company as to payment of all principal, interest, discount and additional amounts, if any. The long-term debt outlined in the above table is generally redeemable at any time at varying redemption prices plus accrued and unpaid interest. Â 25 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â Tevaâ€™s debt as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 was effectively denominated in the following currencies: 58% in U.S. dollars, 40% in euro and 2% in Swiss franc. Tevaâ€™s principal sources of short-term liquidity are its cash on hand, existing cash investments, liquid securities and available credit facilities, primarily its $1.8Â billion unsecured syndicated sustainability-linked revolving credit facility entered into in April 2022, as amended on FebruaryÂ 6, 2023 and on MayÂ 3, 2024 (â€œRCFâ€). The RCF had an initial maturity date of April 2026 with two one-year extension options. In April 2024, an extension option was exercised and the RCF maturity date was extended to April 2027. The RCF contains certain covenants, including certain limitations on incurring liens and indebtedness and maintenance of certain financial ratios, including a maximum leverage ratio, which becomes more restrictive over time. On MayÂ 3, 2024, the terms of the RCF were amended to update the Companyâ€™s maximum permitted leverage ratio under the RCF for certain periods. Under the terms of the RCF, as amended, the Companyâ€™s leverage ratio shall not exceed (i) 4.00x in 2024, 2025 and in the first quarter of 2026, (ii) 3.75x in the second, third and fourth quarters of 2026 and (iii) 3.50x in the first quarter of 2027 and onwards. The RCF permits the Company to increase the maximum leverage ratio if it consummates or commences certain material transactions. Under the RCF, as amended, the applicable margin used to calculate the interest rate under the RCF is linked to one sustainability performance target, the number of new regulatory submissions in low and middle-income countries. Proceeds from borrowings under the RCF can be used for general corporate purposes, including repaying existing debt. As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, and as of the date of this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, no amounts were outstanding under the RCF. Based on current and forecasted results, the Company expects that it will not exceed the financial covenant thresholds set forth in the RCF within one year from the date the financial statements are issued. Under specified circumstances, including non-compliance with any of the covenants described above and the unavailability of any waiver, amendment or other modification thereto, the Company will not be able to borrow under the RCF.

Additionally, violations of the covenants, under the circumstances referred to above, would result in an event of default in all borrowings under the RCF and, when greater than a specified threshold amount as set forth in each series of senior notes and sustainability-linked senior notes is outstanding, could lead to an event of default under the Companyâ€™s senior notes and sustainability-linked senior notes due to cross-acceleration provisions. Teva expects that it will continue to have sufficient cash resources to support its debt service payments and all other financial obligations within one year from the date that the financial statements are issued. NOTE 8 â€“ Derivative instruments and hedging activities: Â a. Foreign exchange risk management: In the first nine months of 2024, approximately 47% of Tevaâ€™s revenues were denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar. As a result, Teva is subject to significant foreign currency risks. The Company enters into forward exchange contracts and purchases and writes options in order to hedge the currency exposure on balance sheet items, revenues and expenses. In addition, the Company takes measures to reduce its exposure by using natural hedging. The Company also acts to offset risks in opposite directions among the subsidiaries within Teva. The currency hedged items are usually denominated in the following main currencies: euro, Swiss franc, Japanese yen, British pound, Russian ruble, Canadian dollar, Polish zloty, new Israeli shekel, Indian rupee and other currencies. Depending on market conditions, foreign currency risk is also managed through the use of foreign currency debt. The Company may choose to hedge against possible fluctuations in foreign subsidiaries net assets (â€œnet investment hedgeâ€) and has in the past entered into cross-currency swaps and forward-contracts in order to hedge such an exposure. Most of the counterparties to the derivatives are major banks and the Company is monitoring the associated inherent credit risks. The Company does not enter into derivative transactions for trading purposes. Â 26 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â b. Interest risk management: The Company raises capital through various debt instruments, including senior notes, sustainability-linked senior notes, bank loans and convertible debentures that bear fixed or variable interest rates, as well as a syndicated sustainability-linked revolving credit facility and securitization programs that bear a variable interest rate. In some cases, the Company has swapped from a fixed to a variable interest rate (â€œfair value hedgeâ€) and from a fixed to a fixed interest rate with an exchange from a currency other than the functional currency (â€œcash flow hedgeâ€), thereby reducing overall interest expenses or hedging risks associated with interest rate fluctuations. As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, all outstanding senior notes, sustainability-linked senior notes and convertible debentures bear a fixed interest rate. Â c. Bifurcated embedded derivatives: Upon the issuance of its sustainability-linked senior notes, Teva recognized embedded derivatives related to interest rate adjustments and a potential one-time premium payment upon failure to achieve certain sustainability performance targets, such as access to medicines in low-to-middle-income countries and reduction of absolute greenhouse gas emissions, which were bifurcated and are accounted for separately as derivative financial instruments. As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the fair value of these derivative instruments is negligible. d. Derivative instruments outstanding: The following table summarizes the notional amounts for hedged items, when transactions are designated as hedge accounting: Â Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â DecemberÂ 31, Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Cross-currency

The agreement was terminated in the first quarter of 2024 and resulted in cash proceeds of $16Â million. (2) Teva uses foreign exchange contracts (mainly option and forward contracts) to hedge balance sheet items from currency exposure. These foreign exchange contracts are not designated as hedging instruments for accounting purposes. In connection with these foreign exchange contracts, Teva recognizes gains or losses that offset the revaluation of the balance sheet items also recorded under financial expenses, net. (3) Teva entered into option and forward contracts designed to limit the exposure of foreign exchange fluctuations on projected revenues and expenses recorded in euro, Swiss franc, Japanese yen, British pound, Russian ruble, Canadian dollar, Polish zloty and some other currencies to protect its projected operating results for 2024. These derivative instruments do not meet the criteria for hedge accounting, however, they are accounted for as an economic hedge. These derivative instruments, which may include hedging transactions against future projected revenues and expenses, are recognized on the balance sheet at their fair value on a quarterly basis, while the foreign exchange impact on the underlying revenues and expenses may occur in subsequent quarters. In the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the negative impact from these derivatives recognized under revenues was $9Â million. In the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the positive impact from these derivatives recognized under revenues was $1Â million. In the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023, the positive impact from these derivatives recognized under revenues was $22Â million. In the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023, the positive impact from these derivatives recognized under revenues was $20Â million. Changes in the fair value of the derivative instruments are recognized in the same line item in the statements of income as the underlying exposure being hedged. Cash flows associated with these derivatives are reflected as cash flows from operating activities in the consolidated statements of cash flows. Â Â e. Amortizations due to terminated derivative instruments: Forward-starting interest rate swaps and treasury lock agreements In 2015, Teva entered into forward-starting interest rate swaps and treasury lock agreements to protect the Company from interest rate fluctuations in connection with a future debt issuance the Company was planning. These forward-starting interest rate swaps and treasury lock agreements were terminated in July 2016 upon the debt issuance. Termination of these transactions resulted in a loss position of $493Â million, which was recorded as other comprehensive income (loss) and is amortized under financial expenses, net over the life of the debt. With respect to these forward-starting interest rate swaps and treasury lock agreements, losses of $7Â million were recognized under financial expenses, net, for each of the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, and losses of $21Â million and $25Â million were recognized under financial expenses, net for each of the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. Â Â f. Securitization: U.S. securitization program On NovemberÂ 7, 2022, Teva and a bankruptcy-remote special purpose vehicle (â€œSPVâ€) entered into an accounts receivable securitization facility (â€œAR Facilityâ€) with PNC Bank, National Association (â€œPNCâ€) with a three-year term. The AR Facility provided for purchases of accounts receivable by PNC in an amount of up to $1Â billion through November 2023, and up to $500Â million from November 2023 through November 2025. On JuneÂ 30, 2023, the AR Facility agreement was amended to include an additional receivables purchaser under the agreement, in an amount of up to $250Â million through November 2025. As a result, the total commitment of PNC was reduced to an amount of up to $750Â million, effective JuneÂ 30, 2023. Under the terms of the AR facility agreement, in November 2023, the total commitment of PNC was further reduced to an amount of up to $500Â million through November 2025. On November 7, 2023, the SPV amended the agreement and increased the commitment amount to a maximum of $1Â billion by including an additional receivables purchaser in an amount of up to $250Â million through March 2024, which was then reduced by $125Â million through November 2025. As a result, the commitment amount was reduced to a maximum of $875Â million without any additional purchasers participating in the AR facility. On OctoberÂ 29, 2024, the SPV amended the agreement and increased the commitment amount to a maximum amount of $950Â million by an existing receivables purchaser increasing its commitment by $75Â million. Â 29 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â Pledged accounts receivables In connection with the U.S. securitization program, accounts receivables, net of allowance for credit losses, include $934Â million and $437Â million as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and DecemberÂ 31, 2023, respectively, which are pledged by the SPV to PNC. Â Â g. Supplier Finance Program Obligation Teva maintains supply chain finance agreements with participating financial institutions. Under these agreements, participating suppliers may voluntarily elect to sell their accounts receivable with Teva to these financial institutions. Tevaâ€™s suppliers negotiate their financing agreements directly with the respective financial institutions and Teva is not a party to these agreements. Teva has no economic interest in its suppliersâ€™ decisions to participate in the program and Teva pays the financial institutions the stated amount of confirmed invoices on the maturity dates, which is generally within 120 days from the date the invoice was received. The agreements with the financial institutions do not require Teva to provide assets pledged as security or other forms of guarantees for the supplier finance program. All outstanding amounts related to suppliers participating in the supplier finance program are recorded under accounts payables in Tevaâ€™s consolidated balance sheets. As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and DecemberÂ 31, 2023, respectively, $163Â million and $108Â million of accounts payables to suppliers participatingÂ in these supplier finance programs were outstanding. NOTE 9 â€” Legal settlements and loss contingencies: In the third quarter of 2024, Teva recorded expenses of $450Â million in legal settlements and loss contingencies, compared to expenses of $314Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Expenses in the third quarter of 2024 were mainly related to a decision by the European Commission in its antitrust investigation into COPAXONEÂ®, and an update to the estimated settlement provision for the opioid cases (mainly related to the settlement agreement with the city of Baltimore and the effect of the passage of time on the net present value of the discounted payments). Expenses in the third quarter of 2023 were mainly related to an update to the provision for the DOJ patient assistance program litigation, as well as an update to the estimated settlement provision of the opioid cases (mainly the effect of the passage of time on the net present value of the discounted payments). See note 10. In the first nine months of 2024, Teva recorded expenses of $638Â million in legal settlements and loss contingencies, compared to $1,009Â million in the first nine months of 2023. Expenses in the first nine months of 2024 were mainly related to a decision by the European Commission in its antitrust investigation into COPAXONE, and an update to the estimated settlement provision for the opioid cases (mainly the effect of the passage of time on the net present value of the discounted payments and the settlement agreement with the city of Baltimore). Expenses in the first nine months of 2023 were mainly related to an estimated provision for the DOJ patient assistance program litigation, an update to the estimated settlement provision of the opioid cases, the provision for the settlement of the U.S. DOJ criminal antitrust charges on the marketing and pricing of certain Teva USA generic products, as well as the provision for the settlement of the reverse-payment antitrust litigation over certain HIV medicines. As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and DecemberÂ 31, 2023, Tevaâ€™s provision for legal settlements and loss contingencies recorded under accrued expenses and other taxes and long-term liabilities was $4,915Â million and $4,771Â million, respectively. NOTE 10 â€” Commitments and contingencies: General From time to time, Teva and/or its subsidiaries are subject to claims for damages and/or equitable relief arising in the ordinary course of business. In addition, as described below, in large part as a result of the nature of its business, Teva is frequently subject to litigation. Teva generally believes that it has meritorious defenses to the actions brought against it and vigorously pursues the defense or settlement of each such action. Teva records a provision in its consolidated financial statements to the extent that it concludes that a contingent liability is probable and the amount thereof is reasonably estimable. Based upon the status of the cases described below, managementâ€™s assessments of the likelihood of damages, and the advice of legal counsel, no material provisions have been made regarding the matters disclosed in this note, except as noted below. Litigation outcomes and contingencies are unpredictable, and substantial damages or other relief may be awarded. Accordingly, managementâ€™s assessments involve complex judgments about future events and often rely heavily on estimates and assumptions. Teva continuously reviews the matters described below and may, from time to time, remove previously disclosed matters where the exposures were fully resolved in the prior year, or determined to no longer meet the materiality threshold for disclosure, or were substantially resolved. Â 30 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â If one or more of such proceedings described below were to result in final judgments against Teva, such judgments could be material to its results of operations and cash flows in a given period. In addition, Teva incurs significant legal fees and related expenses in the course of defending its positions even if the facts and circumstances of a particular litigation do not give rise to a provision in the consolidated financial statements. In connection with third-party agreements, Teva may under certain circumstances be required to indemnify, and may be indemnified by, in unspecified amounts, the parties to such agreements against third-party claims. Among other things, Tevaâ€™s agreements with third parties may require Teva to indemnify them, or require them to indemnify Teva, for the costs and damages incurred in connection with product liability claims, in specified or unspecified amounts. Except as otherwise noted, all of the litigation matters disclosed below involve claims arising in the United States. Except as otherwise noted, all third-party sales figures given below are based on IQVIA data. Intellectual Property Litigation From time to time, Teva seeks to develop generic and biosimilar versions of patent-protected pharmaceuticals and biopharmaceuticals for sale prior to patent expiration in various markets. In the United States, to obtain approval for most generics prior to the expiration of the originatorâ€™s patents, Teva must challenge the patents under the procedures set forth in the Hatch-Waxman Act of 1984, as amended. For many biosimilar products that are covered by patents, Teva participates in the â€œpatent danceâ€ procedures of the Biologics Price Competition and Innovation Act (â€œBPCIAâ€), which allow for the challenge to originator patents prior to obtaining biosimilar product approval. To the extent that Teva seeks to utilize such patent challenge procedures, Teva is and expects to be involved in patent litigation regarding the validity, enforceability or infringement of the originatorâ€™s patents. Teva may also be involved in patent litigation involving the extent to which its product or manufacturing process techniques may infringe other originator or third-party patents. Additionally, depending upon a complex analysis of a variety of legal and commercial factors, Teva may, in certain circumstances, elect to market a generic or biosimilar version of the product even though litigation is still pending. To the extent Teva elects to proceed in this manner, it could face substantial liability for patent infringement if the final court decision is adverse to Teva, which could be material to its results of operations and cash flows in a given period. Teva could also be sued for patent infringement outside of the context of the Hatch-Waxman Act or BPCIA. For example, Teva could be sued for patent infringement after commencing sales of a product. This type of litigation can involve any of Tevaâ€™s pharmaceutical products, not just its generic and biosimilar products. The general rule for damages in patent infringement cases in the United States is that the patentee should be compensated by no less than a reasonable royalty and it may also be able, in certain circumstances, to be compensated for its lost profits. The amount of a reasonable royalty award would generally be calculated based on the sales of Tevaâ€™s product. The amount of lost profits would generally be based on the lost sales of the patenteeâ€™s product. In addition, the patentee may seek consequential damages as well as enhanced damages of up to three times the profits lost by the patent holder for willful infringement, although courts have typically awarded much lower multiples. Teva is also involved in litigation regarding patents in other countries where it does business, particularly in Europe. The laws concerning generic pharmaceuticals and patents differ from country to country. Damages for patent infringement in Europe may include lost profits or a reasonable royalty, but enhanced damages for willful infringement are generally not available. In July 2014, GlaxoSmithKline (â€œGSKâ€) filed claims against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of Delaware for infringement of a patent directed to using carvedilol in a specified manner to decrease the risk of mortality in patients with congestive heart failure. Teva began selling its carvedilol tablets (the generic version of GSKâ€™s CoregÂ®) in September 2007. A jury returned a verdict in GSKâ€™s favor, which was initially overturned by the U.S. District Court. The Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit reinstated the $235.5Â million jury verdict, not including pre- or post-judgment interest, finding Teva liable for patent infringement. The U.S. Supreme Court denied Tevaâ€™s appeal for a rehearing. The case has been remanded to the district court for further proceedings on Tevaâ€™s other legal and equitable defenses that have not yet been considered by the district court. Teva recognized a provision based on its offer to settle the matter. Â 31 Table of ContentsTEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â In January 2021, Teva initiated a patent invalidity action against the compound patent and Supplementary Protection Certificate (â€œSPCâ€) asserted to cover Bristol-Myers Squibb Companyâ€™s (â€œBMSâ€) EliquisÂ® (apixaban). In May 2022, the U.K. High Court held that the compound patent and SPC are invalid and Teva began selling its generic version of EliquisÂ® (apixaban). In May 2023, the U.K. Court of Appeal upheld this decision and denied BMSâ€™s request to appeal to the U.K. Supreme Court. On OctoberÂ 31, 2023, the U.K. Supreme Court denied BMSâ€™s application for further review, making the decision to revoke the compound patent and SPC final. Separately, in February 2021, Teva initiated a patent invalidity action against the formulation patents, which are also under opposition at the European Patent Office (â€œEPOâ€). On JulyÂ 15, 2022, the U.K. High Court held that these formulation patents were invalid but granted permission to appeal, which was subsequently stayed pending the outcome of the opposition at the EPO to one of the formulation patents. On DecemberÂ 21, 2023, the EPOâ€™s Technical Board of Appeal held its hearing on the opposition, and on MarchÂ 13, 2024, it issued a written decision revoking the patent. On MayÂ 13, 2024, BMS filed a submission to the Enlarged Board of Appeal seeking its permission to review the Technical Board of Appealâ€™s decision, a hearing for which is scheduled for DecemberÂ 3, 2024. Product Liability Litigation Tevaâ€™s business inherently exposes it to potential product liability claims. Teva maintains a program of insurance, which may include commercial insurance, self-insurance (including direct risk retention), or a combination of both types of insurance, in amounts and on terms that it believes are reasonable and prudent in light of its business and related risks. However, Teva sells, and will continue to sell, pharmaceuticals that are not covered by its product liability insurance; in addition, it may be subject to claims for which insurance coverage is denied, as well as claims that exceed its policy limits. Product liability coverage for pharmaceutical companies is becoming more expensive and increasingly difficult to obtain. As a result, Teva may not be able to obtain the type and amount of insurance it desires, or any insurance on reasonable terms, in certain or all of its markets. Teva and its subsidiaries are parties to litigation relating to previously unknown nitrosamine impurities discovered in certain products. The discovery led to a global recall of single and combination valsartan medicines around the world starting in July 2018 and to subsequent recalls on other products. The nitrosamine impurities in valsartan were allegedly found in the active pharmaceutical ingredient (â€œAPIâ€) supplied to Teva by multiple API manufacturers, including by Zhejiang Huahai Pharmaceuticals Co. Ltd. Since July 2018, Teva has been actively engaged with global regulatory authorities in reviewing its sartan and other products to determine whether NDMA and/or other related nitrosamine impurities are present in specific products. Where necessary, Teva has initiated additional voluntary recalls. Multiple lawsuits have been filed in connection with this matter. Tevaâ€™s products allegedly at issue in the various nitrosamine-related litigations pending in the United States include valsartan, losartan, metformin and ranitidine. There are currently two Multi-District Litigations (â€œMDLâ€) pending against Teva and other manufacturers, including one MDL in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey related to, with respect to Teva, valsartan and losartan, and another MDL in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Florida related to ranitidine. The claims against Teva in these MDLs include individual personal injury and/or product liability claims, economic damages claims brought by consumers and end payors as putative class actions, and medical monitoring class claims. The district court in the valsartan MDL certified a series of subclasses on plaintiffsâ€™ economic loss claims as well as a medical monitoring class and originally scheduled the first trial to commence in the fourth quarter of 2024, but that trial has been postponed indefinitely by the court. Discovery is ongoing in the MDL with respect to the

losartan claims against Teva. The claims against Teva and other generic manufacturers in the ranitidine MDL have been dismissed on preemption grounds but are subject to appeal. The district court in the ranitidine MDL also excluded all of plaintiffsâ€™ general causation experts and granted summary judgment to the brand defendants on preemption grounds and later applied that general causation ruling to all defendants. This ruling is on appeal in the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals. Certain generic manufacturers, including Teva, have also been named in state court actions asserting allegations similar to those in the aforementioned MDLs. In particular, state court valsartan and losartan actions are pending but currently stayed in New Jersey and Delaware, with the exception of a single-plaintiff case that was later refiled in a New Jersey state court in October 2022 and is in the very initial stages of discovery. State court ranitidine cases naming Teva are also pending in coordinated proceedings in California and Pennsylvania. Teva was dismissed from all ranitidine claims pending in Illinois based on preemption grounds, which plaintiffs have appealed for final judgments as to all remaining defendants. Teva was also dismissed on preliminary objections in Pennsylvania for plaintiffs whose cases are governed by Pennsylvania law, but further motion practice may continue. The litigation in Pennsylvania has effectively been stayed pending a decision on a motion filed by plaintiffs to recuse the presiding judge which was denied but certified for interlocutory appeal. Â 32 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â In addition to the valsartan and ranitidine MDLs and coordinated state court proceedings, Teva has been named in a consolidated proceeding pending in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey brought by individuals and end payors seeking economic damages on behalf of purported classes of consumers and end payors who purchased Tevaâ€™s and other generic manufacturersâ€™ metformin products. The parties are now engaged in discovery related to the surviving metformin claims. Teva was recently named in a related proceeding pending in the same district brought by end payors also seeking economic damages on behalf of a purported class of end payors who purchased Tevaâ€™s and other generic manufacturersâ€™ metformin products. This action was consolidated with the original proceeding for discovery and pretrial purposes only. Teva, along with the other defendants, have moved to dismiss the claims in this newly consolidated proceeding. Similar lawsuits are pending in Canada and Germany. Competition Matters As part of its generic pharmaceuticals business, Teva has challenged a number of patents covering branded pharmaceuticals, some of which are among the most widely-prescribed and well-known drugs on the market. Many of Tevaâ€™s patent challenges have resulted in litigation relating to Tevaâ€™s attempts to market generic versions of such pharmaceuticals under the federal Hatch-Waxman Act. Some of this litigation has been resolved through settlement agreements in which Teva obtained a license to market a generic version of the drug, often years before the patents expire. Teva and its subsidiaries have been named as defendants in cases that allege antitrust violations arising from such settlement agreements. The plaintiffs in these cases are usually direct and indirect purchasers of pharmaceutical products, some of whom assert claims on behalf of classes of all direct and indirect purchasers, and they typically allege that (i)Â Teva received something of value from the innovator in exchange for an agreement to delay generic entry, and (ii)Â significant savings could have been realized if there had been no settlement agreement and generic competition had commenced earlier. These plaintiffs seek various forms of injunctive and monetary relief, including damages based on the difference between the brand price and what the generic price allegedly would have been and disgorgement of profits, which are often automatically tripled under the relevant statutes, plus attorneysâ€™ fees and costs. The alleged damages generally depend on the size of the branded market and the length of the alleged delay, and can be substantial, potentially measured in multiples of the annual brand sales, particularly where the alleged delays are lengthy or branded drugs with annual sales in the billions of dollars are involved. Teva believes that its settlement agreements are lawful and serve to increase competition, and has defended them vigorously. In Tevaâ€™s experience to date, these cases have typically settled for a fraction of the high end of the damages sought, although there can be no assurance that such outcomes will continue. In June 2013, the U.S. Supreme Court held, in Federal Trade Commission (â€œFTCâ€) v. Actavis, Inc., that a rule of reason test should be applied in analyzing whether such settlements potentially violate the federal antitrust laws. The Supreme Court held that a trial court must analyze each agreement in its entirety in order to determine whether it violates the antitrust laws. This test has resulted in increased scrutiny of Tevaâ€™s patent settlements, additional action by the FTC and state and local authorities, and an increased risk of liability in Tevaâ€™s currently pending antitrust litigations. In December 2011, three groups of plaintiffs filed claims against Wyeth and Teva for alleged violations of the antitrust laws in connection with their November 2005 settlement of patent litigation involving extended-release venlafaxine (generic Effexor XRÂ®). The cases were filed by a purported class of direct purchasers, a purported class of indirect purchasers and certain chain pharmacies in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey. The plaintiffs claim that the settlement agreement between Wyeth and Teva unlawfully delayed generic entry. On SeptemberÂ 18, 2024, the district court lifted its stay of discovery and the case is now proceeding. On OctoberÂ 16, 2024, Teva and one group of plaintiffs (the â€œIndirect Purchaser Plaintiffsâ€ or â€œIPPsâ€) announced that they have reached an agreement in principle to resolve the IPPsâ€™ claims against Teva. The parties are in the process of documenting the proposed settlement, which will be subject to court approval. Annual sales of Effexor XRÂ® were approximately $2.6Â billion at the time of settlement and at the time Teva launched its generic version of Effexor XRÂ® in July 2010. Â 33 Table of ContentsTEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â In February 2012, two purported classes of direct-purchaser plaintiffs filed claims against GSK and Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey for alleged violations of the antitrust laws in connection with their February 2005 settlement of patent litigation involving lamotrigine (generic LamictalÂ®). The plaintiffs claimed that the settlement agreement unlawfully delayed generic entry and sought unspecified damages. During FebruaryÂ 2023, a number of direct purchasers who were denied class certification filed suit as individual plaintiffs, which action was transferred to the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey. Discovery of the newly added individual plaintiffs is ongoing. Annual sales of LamictalÂ® were approximately $950Â million at the time of the settlement and approximately $2.3Â billion at the time Teva launched its generic version of LamictalÂ® in July 2008. In April 2013, purported classes of direct purchasers of, and end payers for, NiaspanÂ® (extended release niacin) filed claims against Teva and Abbott for violating the antitrust laws by entering into a settlement agreement in April 2005 to resolve patent litigation over the product. A multidistrict litigation has been established in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. Throughout 2015 and in January 2016, several individual direct-purchaser opt-out plaintiffs filed complaints with allegations nearly identical to those of the direct purchasersâ€™ class. On AprilÂ 24, 2023, the U.S. District Courtâ€™s denial of the indirect purchasersâ€™ motion for class certification was affirmed by the Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, and on JuneÂ 5, 2023, the Court of Appeals denied the indirect purchasersâ€™ petition for re-hearing. In October 2016, the District Attorney for Orange County, California, filed a similar complaint in California state court, alleging violations of state law and seeking restitution and civil penalties. The California state court case is temporarily stayed. Annual sales of NiaspanÂ® were approximately $416Â million at the time of the settlement and approximately $1.1Â billion at the time Teva launched its generic version of NiaspanÂ® in September 2013. In August 2019, certain direct-purchaser plaintiffs filed claims in federal court in Philadelphia against Teva and its affiliates alleging that the September 2006 patent litigation settlement relating to AndroGelÂ® 1% (testosterone gel) between Watson, from which Teva later acquired certain assets and liabilities, and Solvay Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (â€œSolvayâ€) violated antitrust laws. In September 2023, the plaintiffs voluntarily dismissed certain claims, and in September 2024, certain defendants, including the remaining Teva affiliates, and the plaintiffs agreed to settle the remaining claims. The litigation has been stayed pending finalization of the settlements. Annual sales of AndroGelÂ® 1% were approximately $350Â million at the time of the earlier Watson/Solvay settlement and approximately $140Â million at the time Actavis launched its generic version of AndroGelÂ® 1% in November 2015. A provision for this matter was previously included in the financial statements. Between SeptemberÂ 1, 2020 and DecemberÂ 20, 2020, plaintiffs purporting to represent putative classes of direct and indirect purchasers and opt-out retailer purchasers of BystolicÂ® (nebivolol hydrochloride) filed complaints in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York against several generic manufacturers, including Teva, Actavis, and Watson, alleging, among other things, that the settlement agreements these generic manufacturers entered into with Forest Laboratories, Inc., the innovator, to resolve patent litigation over BystolicÂ® violated the antitrust laws. The cases were coordinated, and the district court granted the defendantsâ€™ motion to dismiss all claims with prejudice. The plaintiffs appealed the district courtâ€™s grant of defendantsâ€™ motion to dismiss, and on MayÂ 13, 2024, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit affirmed the district courtâ€™s dismissal with prejudice and issued a mandate on JuneÂ 4, 2024, formally ending the appeal. The plaintiffsâ€™ period to file a petition for a writ of certiorari to the U.S. Supreme Court expired. Annual sales of BystolicÂ® in the United States were approximately $700Â million at the time of Watsonâ€™s 2013 settlement with Forest. In November 2020, the European Commission issued a final decision in its proceedings against both Cephalon and Teva, finding that the 2005 settlement agreement between the parties had the object and effect of hindering the entry of generic modafinil, and imposed fines totaling euro 60.5Â million on Teva and Cephalon. Teva and Cephalon filed an appeal against the decision in February 2021, and a judgment was issued on OctoberÂ 18, 2023 rejecting Tevaâ€™s grounds of appeal. A provision for this matter was included in the financial statements. Teva has provided the European Commission with a bank guarantee in the amount of the imposed fines. On JanuaryÂ 4, 2024, Teva appealed the October 2023 judgment to the European Court of Justice. In February 2021, the State of New Mexico filed a lawsuit against Teva and certain other defendants related to various medicines used to treat HIV (the â€œNew Mexico litigationâ€). Between September 2021 and April 2022, several private plaintiffs including retailers and health insurance providers filed similar claims in various courts, which were all removed and/or consolidated into the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California (the â€œCalifornia litigationâ€). As they relate to Teva, the lawsuits challenged settlement agreements Teva entered into with Gilead in 2013 and/or 2014 to resolve patent litigation relating to Tevaâ€™s generic versions of VireadÂ® and/or TruvadaÂ® and AtriplaÂ®, although plaintiffs in the California litigation abandoned any claim for damages relating to the VireadÂ® settlement. In May Â 34 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â 2023, Teva and Gilead reached a settlement agreement with the retailer plaintiffs in the California litigation and Teva recognized a provision for this matter based on such settlement. On JuneÂ 30, 2023, the jury in the trial against the remaining plaintiffs in the California litigation issued a verdict in favor of Teva and Gilead, rejecting all of the remaining plaintiffsâ€™ claims. On FebruaryÂ 12, 2024, the court entered a judgment as to all claims against Teva in the California litigation and the plaintiffs have filed notices of appeal with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, and the appeal is currently being briefed. In the New Mexico litigation, on JuneÂ 27, 2024, Teva and the State of New Mexico finalized their settlement agreement, and the New Mexico court entered a consent judgment resolving the New Mexico litigation. Teva recognized a provision for the settlement with New Mexico. Annual sales in the United States at the time of the settlement of VireadÂ®, TruvadaÂ® and AtriplaÂ® were approximately $582Â million, $2.4Â billion, and $2.9Â billion, respectively. Annual sales in the United States at the time Teva launched its generic version of VireadÂ® in 2017, TruvadaÂ® in 2020 and AtriplaÂ® in 2020 were approximately $728Â million, $2.1Â billion and $444Â million, respectively. In March 2021, the European Commission opened a formal antitrust investigation to assess whether Teva may have abused a dominant position by delaying the market entry and uptake of medicines that compete with COPAXONE. On OctoberÂ 10, 2022, the European Commission issued a Statement of Objections, which sets forth its preliminary allegations that Teva had engaged in anti-competitive practices. On October 31, 2024, the European Commission announced its final decision, alleging that Teva had abused a dominant position in certain European member states by (i) filing and withdrawing certain divisional patents, and (ii) raising concerns about competitorsâ€™ follow-on versions of COPAXONE. The decision, which Teva intends to appeal, also includes a fine of approximately $500 million (462.6 million euros). In accordance with Accounting Standards Codification 450 â€œAccounting for Contingencies,â€ Teva recognized a provision in its financial statements in the third quarter of 2024, based on managementâ€™s current best estimate of the outcome within a range of outcomes for the final resolution of this case. Teva intends to provide the European Commission a bank guarantee to cover at least a portion of the fine. On JuneÂ 29, 2021, Mylan Pharmaceuticals (â€œMylanâ€) filed claims against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of NewÂ Jersey. On MarchÂ 11, 2022 and MarchÂ 15, 2022, purported purchasers of COPAXONE filed claims against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey on behalf of themselves and similarly situated direct and indirect purchasers of COPAXONE. On AugustÂ 22, 2022, additional purported purchasers of COPAXONE sued Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of Vermont on behalf of themselves and similarly situated indirect purchasers of COPAXONE. The complaints variously assert claims for alleged violations of the Lanham Act, state and federal unfair competition and monopolization laws, tortious interference, trade libel, and a violation of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (â€œRICO Actâ€). Additionally, plaintiffs claim Teva was involved in an unlawful scheme to delay and hinder generic competition concerning COPAXONE sales. Plaintiffs seek damages for lost profits and expenses, disgorgement, restitution, treble damages, attorneysâ€™ fees and costs, and injunctive relief. Teva moved to dismiss all of the complaints, and on JanuaryÂ 22, 2024, Tevaâ€™s motion to dismiss the complaint in the District of Vermont was granted as to certain state law claims but was otherwise denied. Decisions on Tevaâ€™s remaining motions to dismiss are pending. On JulyÂ 15, 2021, the U.K. Competition and Markets Authority (â€œCMAâ€) issued a decision imposing fines for breaches of U.K. competition law by Allergan, Actavis UK, Auden Mckenzie and a number of other companies in connection with the supply of 10mg and 20mg hydrocortisone tablets in the U.K. The decision combines the CMAâ€™s three prior investigations into the supply of hydrocortisone tablets in the U.K., as well as the CMAâ€™s subsequent investigation relating to an alleged anticompetitive agreement with Waymade. On JanuaryÂ 9, 2017, Teva completed the sale of Actavis UK to Accord Healthcare Limited, in connection with which Teva agreed to indemnify Accord Healthcare for potential fines imposed by the CMA and/or damages awarded by a court against Actavis UK in relation to two of the three statements of objection from the CMA (dated DecemberÂ 16, 2016 and MarchÂ 3, 2017), and resulting from conduct prior to the closing date of the sale. In addition, Teva agreed to indemnify Allergan against losses arising from this matter in the event of any such fines or damages. On OctoberÂ 6, 2021, Accord UK (previously Actavis UK) and Auden Mckenzie appealed to the U.K. Competition Appeal Tribunal (the â€œTribunalâ€) the CMAâ€™s decisions that the prices of hydrocortisone were unfair and excessive and that the agreements amounted to infringements of the U.K.â€™s Competition Act as so-called pay-for-delay arrangements. The hearing for the appeal concluded in the first quarter of 2023, with partial judgments handed down by the Tribunal on SeptemberÂ 18, 2023 (judgment on unfair pricing), MarchÂ 8, 2024 (judgments on pay-for-delay and due process) and AprilÂ 29, 2024 (judgment on fines). The CMA appealed to the U.K. Court of Appeals on an expedited basis against certain elements of the pay-for-delay and due process judgments that it had lost, and on SeptemberÂ 6, 2024, the U.K. Court of Appeal overturned the Tribunalâ€™s judgment on due process and, as a result, the Tribunal will now consider and issue a further judgment on fines. Accord UK and Auden Mckenzie have requested permission to appeal to the U.K. Supreme Court and have submitted to the Tribunal additional applications for permission to appeal certain other issues relating to unfair pricing and fines. A provision for the estimated exposure for Teva related to the fines and/or damages has been recorded in the financial statements. Â 35 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â In November 2022, two complaints filed by plaintiffs purporting to represent retailer purchasers and a putative class of end-payor purchasers were filed in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey against Teva and its marketing partner, Natco Pharma Limited (â€œNatcoâ€), alleging violations of the antitrust laws in connection with their December 2015 settlement of patent litigation with Celgene Corporation (which was subsequently acquired by BMS) involving the drug RevlimidÂ® (lenalidomide). The complaints also name Celgene and BMS as defendants. On JanuaryÂ 24, 2023, the complaints were consolidated for pre-trial purposes only with an earlier-filed, already consolidated Insurer Opt-Out Action filed against BMS and Celgene. On FebruaryÂ 16, 2023, plaintiffs filed amended complaints adding additional plaintiffs. On MayÂ 16, 2023, Teva and Natco, along with Celgene, moved to dismiss the complaints against them. Additionally, on OctoberÂ 6, 2023, two individual payor plaintiffs brought claims similar to those described above in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California, which actions were transferred to the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey and consolidated with the pending consolidated actions. On JuneÂ 6, 2024, the court granted in full Celgeneâ€™s motion to dismiss the Insurer Opt-Out Action, but allowed plaintiffs leave to amend most of their claims. The Court had previously administratively terminated Tevaâ€™s, Natcoâ€™s, and Celgeneâ€™s motions to dismiss the retailer and end-payor complaints pending the decision on the Insurer Opt-Out Action. The plaintiffs filed amended complaints on AugustÂ 5, 2024, and the defendantsâ€™ filed motions to dismiss on OctoberÂ 7, 2024. Annual sales of RevlimidÂ® in the United States were approximately $3.5Â billion at the time of the settlement. On DecemberÂ 2, 2022, plaintiffs purporting to represent putative classes of indirect purchasers of EpiPenÂ® (epinephrine injection) and NUVIGILÂ® (armodafinil) filed a complaint in the U.S. District Court for the District of Kansas against Teva, Cephalon, and a former Teva executive. Teva owns the New Drug Application (â€œNDAâ€) for NUVIGIL and sold the brand product, for which generic entry occurred in 2016. Teva filed an ANDA to sell generic EpiPenÂ®, which Teva launched in 2018, following receipt of FDA approval. The complaint alleges, among other things, that the defendants violated federal antitrust laws, the RICO Act, and various state laws in connection with settlements resolving patent litigation relating to those products. Plaintiffs seek injunctive relief, compensatory and punitive damages, interest, attorneysâ€™ fees and costs. On SeptemberÂ 26, 2023, plaintiffs filed a brief in opposition to Tevaâ€™s motion to dismiss the amended complaint, in which plaintiffs limited their claims only to those relating to the alleged delay of generic NUVIGIL. On MarchÂ 26, 2024, the court issued its decision, which granted Tevaâ€™s motion in part, dismissing plaintiffsâ€™ RICO claims and certain state law claims, but denied Tevaâ€™s motion regarding plaintiffsâ€™ antitrust claims. On AprilÂ 26, 2024,

Teva sought certification to seek an interlocutory appeal of the decision, which is still pending. Annual sales of NUVIGIL in the United States were approximately $300Â million at the time Teva entered into the first settlement with an ANDA filer in 2012. In May 2023, certain end-payor plaintiffs filed putative class action complaints in the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts against Teva and a number of its affiliates, alleging that Teva engaged in anticompetitive conduct to suppress generic competition to its branded QVARÂ® asthma inhalers in violation of state and federal antitrust laws and state consumer protection laws. Teva moved to dismiss these claims, and on MayÂ 7, 2024, the court granted Tevaâ€™s motion in part and denied its motion in part. The court dismissed plaintiffsâ€™ claim that Teva had engaged in â€œsham litigationâ€ and certain of plaintiffsâ€™ state antitrust and consumer protection claims, but permitted the case to proceed on the remainder of plaintiffsâ€™ allegations. Following this decision, two direct purchaser plaintiffs filed similar putative class action complaints in the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts. On JuneÂ 18, 2024, Teva answered in all cases and simultaneously moved for judgment on the pleadings pursuant to Rule 12(c), which remains pending. Subsequently, on JuneÂ 28, 2024, Teva stipulated to the dismissal of the two direct purchaser plaintiffsâ€™ claims, with prejudice. Government Investigations and Litigation Relating to Pricing and Marketing Teva is involved in government investigations and litigation arising from the marketing and promotion of its pharmaceutical products in the United States. In 2015 and 2016, Actavis and Teva USA each respectively received subpoenas from the U.S. Department of Justice (â€œDOJâ€) Antitrust Division seeking documents and other information relating to the marketing and pricing of certain Teva USA generic products and communications with competitors about such products. On AugustÂ 25, 2020, a federal grand jury in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania returned a three-count indictment charging Teva USA with criminal felony Sherman Act violations. The indictment alleged that Teva USA had participated in three separate conspiracies with other Â 36 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â generic drug manufacturers to maintain and fix prices, allocate customers, and other alleged antitrust offenses concerning the sale of generic drugs. The indictment identified the following generic drugs: pravastatin, carbamazepine, clotrimazole, etodolac (IR and ER), fluocinonide (cream, e-cream, gel, and ointment), warfarin, nadolol, temozolomide, and tobramycin. On AugustÂ 21, 2023, Teva USA entered into a 3-year deferred prosecution agreement (â€œDPAâ€) with the DOJ. Under the terms of the DPA, Teva USA: (i)Â admitted to violating the antitrust laws by agreeing with competitors, in three instances between 2013 and 2015 involving three separate customers, not to bid on an opportunity to supply a customer with a particular generic product (in the first instance pravastatin, in the second clotrimazole, and in the third tobramycin); (ii) agreed to divest the pravastatin that it sells in the United States to a third-party buyer; (iii)Â agreed to donate $50Â million worth of clotrimazole and tobramycin, valued at wholesale acquisition cost (â€œWACâ€), to humanitarian organizations over five years; and (iv)Â agreed to pay a fine in the amount of $225Â million over 5 years, with $22.5Â million due each year from 2024 through 2027, and $135Â million due in 2028. Teva recognized a provision for the resolution of this case.â€ƒIn May 2018, Teva received a civil investigative demand from the DOJ Civil Division pursuant to the federal False Claims Act, seeking documents and information produced since JanuaryÂ 1, 2009 relevant to the Civil Divisionâ€™s investigation concerning allegations that generic pharmaceutical manufacturers, including Teva, engaged in market allocation and/or price-fixing agreements, paid illegal remuneration, and caused false claims to be submitted in violation of the False Claims Act. On OctoberÂ 10, 2024, Teva entered into a settlement agreement with the Civil Division to resolve these allegations. Teva will pay $25Â million under the terms of the settlement â€“ $10Â million in the fourth quarter of 2024, and $15Â million in 2025 â€“ which includes no admission of wrongdoing. Teva has recognized a provision for the resolution of this matter. In 2015 and 2016, Actavis and Teva USA each respectively received a subpoena from the Connecticut Attorney General seeking documents and other information relating to potential state antitrust law violations. On DecemberÂ 15, 2016, the civil action that was brought by the attorneys general of twenty states against Teva USA and several other companies asserting claims under federal antitrust law alleging price fixing of generic products in the United States was subsequently amended to include 49 states, as well as the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico as plaintiffs, and to add new allegations and state law claims against both Actavis and Teva. On MayÂ 10, 2019, most of these attorneys general filed another antitrust complaint against Actavis, Teva and other companies and individuals, which was subsequently amended on NovemberÂ 1, 2019, alleging that Teva was at the center of a conspiracy in the generic pharmaceutical industry and asserting that Teva and others fixed prices, rigged bids, and allocated customers and market share with respect to certain products. On JuneÂ 10, 2020, most of the same states, with the addition of the U.S. Virgin Islands, filed a third complaint in the U.S. District Court for the District of Connecticut naming, among other defendants, Actavis, in a similar complaint relating to dermatological generics products, and that complaint was later amended to, among other things, add California as a plaintiff. In the various complaints described above, which also include claims against certain former employees of Actavis and Teva USA, the states seek a finding that the defendantsâ€™ actions violated federal antitrust law and state antitrust and consumer protection laws, as well as injunctive relief, disgorgement, damages on behalf of various state and governmental entities and consumers, civil penalties and costs. All such complaints were transferred to the generic drug multidistrict litigation in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania (â€œPennsylvania MDLâ€). On MayÂ 7, 2021, the Pennsylvania MDL court chose the attorneys generalâ€™s third complaint filed on JuneÂ 10, 2020, as subsequently amended, to serve as a bellwether complaint in the Pennsylvania MDL, along with certain complaints filed by private plaintiffs. On JuneÂ 7, 2022, the Court dismissed the attorneys generalâ€™s claims for monetary relief under federal law, concluding that the federal statute under which the attorneys general brought suit authorizes injunctive relief only. However, the attorneys general have pending claims for monetary relief under state law. On FebruaryÂ 27, 2023, the Court largely denied defendantsâ€™ motions to dismiss the federal claims asserted by the attorneys general in their bellwether complaint. Another motion to dismiss related to the state law claims asserted by the attorneys general in their bellwether complaint remains pending. Teva has settled with the states of Mississippi (in June 2021), Louisiana (in March 2022), Georgia (in September 2022), Arkansas (in October 2022), Florida (in February 2023), Kentucky (in June 2023), South Dakota (in June 2024), and New Mexico (in June 2024). Teva paid each state an amount proportional to its share of the national population (approximately $1,000,000 for each 1% share of the national population), and the states have dismissed their claims against Actavis and Teva USA, as well as certain former employees of Actavis and Teva USA, pursuant to these settlements. These settlements, in addition to the status of ongoing negotiations with several other U.S. state attorneys general to settle on comparable terms, caused management to consider settlement of the claims filed by the remaining Â 37 Table of ContentsTEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â attorneys general to be probable, and management recorded an estimated provision in the third quarter of 2022. The States of Alabama (in March 2022) and Hawaii (in August 2023) and the territories of American Samoa (in July 2020) and Guam (in February 2023) have all voluntarily dismissed all of their claims in the litigation against Actavis and Teva USA. The dismissals by Alabama, Hawaii and Guam were with prejudice and the dismissal by American Samoa was without prejudice. Beginning on MarchÂ 2, 2016, and through July 2023, numerous complaints have been filed in the United States on behalf of putative classes of direct and indirect purchasers of several generic drug products, as well as several individual direct and indirect purchaser opt-out plaintiffs, including most recently an opt-out complaint filed by nine direct-action plaintiffs on AprilÂ 4, 2024. These complaints, which allege that the defendants engaged in conspiracies to fix prices and/or allocate market share of generic products have been brought against various manufacturer defendants, including Teva USA and Actavis. The plaintiffs generally seek injunctive relief and damages under federal antitrust law, and damages under various state laws. The Pennsylvania MDL court scheduled potential bellwether trials for the putative classes of direct and indirect purchasers of two drugs for August 2024. From 2019 to 2021, certain individual plaintiffs commenced civil actions in the Pennsylvania Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County against many of the defendants in the Pennsylvania MDL, including Teva and Actavis. One plaintiff, Aetna Inc., has filed a complaint, and the defendants have moved to place all of the cases filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County in deferred status, which motion remains pending. Certain counties in NewÂ York and Texas have also commenced civil actions against many of the defendants in the Pennsylvania MDL, including Teva and Actavis, and the complaints have been transferred to the Pennsylvania MDL. On JanuaryÂ 31, 2024, the attorney generalsâ€™ motion to remand their three lawsuits to the District of Connecticut, where they were originally filed, was granted, and on MarchÂ 18, 2024, the Third Circuit Court of Appeals denied defendantsâ€™ petition for writ of mandamus. In April 2024, all three of the attorneys generalâ€™s lawsuits have been transferred back to the U.S. District Court for the District of Connecticut, which has adopted a schedule for summary judgment in the attorneys generalâ€™s third complaint pursuant to which multiple groups of motions will be filed during 2024 and 2025. Fact discovery in the first and second complaints is ongoing. There is also one similar complaint brought in Canada, which is in its early stages and alleges that the defendants engaged in conspiracies to fix prices and/or allocate market share of generic drug products to the detriment of a class of private payors. In March 2017, Teva received a subpoena from the U.S. Attorneyâ€™s office in Boston, Massachusetts requesting documents related to Tevaâ€™s donations to patient assistance programs. In August 2020, the U.S. Attorneyâ€™s office in Boston, Massachusetts brought a civil action in the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts alleging causes of action under the federal False Claims Act and for unjust enrichment (the â€œDOJ PAP Complaintâ€). It was alleged that Tevaâ€™s donations to certain 501(c)(3) charities that provided financial assistance to multiple sclerosis patients violated the Anti-Kickback Statute, and the DOJ sought a maximum of over $1Â billion in damages, which would automatically be trebled in the event of an adverse verdict, and Teva would also be subject to mandatory statutory penalties for each false claim, the amount of which (potentially billions of U.S. dollars in additional penalties, at the high end) would be determined by the court within a statutory range. On OctoberÂ 10, 2024, Teva entered into a settlement agreement with the DOJ to resolve these claims. Teva will pay $425Â million over 6 years under the terms of the settlement â€“ $19Â million in the fourth quarter of 2024, $34Â million in 2025, $49Â million in each of 2026 and 2027, $99Â million in 2028, and $175Â million in 2029 â€“ which includes no admission of wrongdoing. Teva has recognized a provision for the resolution of this case. Additionally, on JanuaryÂ 8, 2021, Humana, Inc. (â€œHumanaâ€) filed an action against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Florida based on the allegations raised in the DOJ PAP Complaint. In June 2023, Teva filed a joint motion to dismiss the amended complaint, together with co-defendant Advanced Care Scripts, Inc., on the grounds that Humana lacks standing to assert RICO claims and the claims are time-barred and/or insufficiently pled, and that motion remains pending. On NovemberÂ 17, 2022, United Healthcare also filed an action against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey based on the conduct alleged in the DOJ PAP Complaint, and on FebruaryÂ 29, 2024, United Healthcare filed an amended complaint. On AugustÂ 16, 2024, several MSP Recovery-related entities filed a putative class action against Teva and others in the U.S. District Court for the District of Kansas based on the alleged conduct in the DOJ PAP Complaint. Â 38 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â In April 2021, a city and county in Washington filed claims against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington for alleged violations of the RICO Act, Washingtonâ€™s Consumer Protection Act, and unjust enrichment concerning Tevaâ€™s sale of COPAXONE. Plaintiffs purport to represent a nationwide class of health plans and a subclass of Washington-based health plans that purchased and/or reimbursed health plan members for COPAXONE. Plaintiffs allege that Teva engaged in several fraudulent schemes that resulted in plaintiffs and the putative class members purchasing and/or reimbursing plan members for additional prescriptions of COPAXONE and/or at inflated COPAXONE prices. Plaintiffs seek treble damages for the excess reimbursements and inflated costs, as well as injunctive relief. On NovemberÂ 17, 2021, Teva moved to dismiss the suit, on the grounds that plaintiffsâ€™ claims are barred by the applicable statutes of limitations and the direct purchaser rule, suffer from jurisdictional defects, and fail to plausibly allege fraud or other elements of their claims. On MarchÂ 9, 2023, the court held a hearing on the motion to dismiss, and a decision remains pending. On DecemberÂ 1, 2022, Teva received a civil subpoena from the U.S. Attorneyâ€™s office in Boston, Massachusetts requesting certain documents related to the sale and marketing of AUSTEDOÂ® and risperidone LAI. Teva is cooperating with the request for documents. In June 2024, Teva received a civil investigative demand from the Federal Trade Commission (â€œFTCâ€) seeking documents and information regarding an investigation related to patents listed in the Food and Drug Administrationâ€™s Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations publication (â€œOrange Bookâ€) in connection with certain inhaler products. Teva is cooperating with the request for documents and information. On OctoberÂ 1, 2024, Teva received a civil investigative demand from the U.S. Attorneyâ€™s office in Boston, Massachusetts and the Civil Division of the Department of Justice requesting certain documents and information related to the manufacturing practices at its former manufacturing facility in Irvine, California, which Teva closed in 2022. Teva is cooperating with the request for documents and information. Opioids Litigation Since May 2014, more than 3,500 complaints have been filed by various governmental agencies and private plaintiffs in U.S. state and federal courts with respect to opioid sales and distribution against various Teva affiliates and several other pharmaceutical companies, the vast majority of which have been resolved. Cases brought by third party payers, both as individual cases and as class actions, remain. The majority of the remaining cases are consolidated in the multidistrict litigation in the Northern District of Ohio (the â€œMDL Opioid Proceedingâ€). These cases assert claims under similar provisions of different state laws and generally allege that the defendants engaged in improper marketing and distribution of Tevaâ€™s branded opioids, including ACTIQÂ® and FENTORAÂ®, and also assert claims related to Tevaâ€™s generic opioid products. In addition, over 950 personal injury plaintiffs, including various putative class actions of individuals, have asserted personal injury and wrongful death claims in over 600 complaints, nearly all of which are consolidated in the MDL Opioid Proceeding.Â Furthermore, approximately 100 personal injury complaints allege that Anda (in addition to naming other distributors and manufacturers) failed to develop and implement systems sufficient to identify suspicious orders of opioid products and prevent their abuse and diversion. Plaintiffs seek a variety of remedies, including restitution, civil penalties, disgorgement of profits, treble damages,Â non-economic damages, attorneysâ€™ fees and injunctive relief. Certain plaintiffs seek damages for all costs associated with addressing the abuse of opioids and opioid addiction and certain plaintiffs specify multiple billions of dollars in the aggregate as alleged damages. In many of these cases, plaintiffs are seeking joint and several damages among all defendants. All but a handful of these cases are stayed in the MDL Opioid Proceedings. In June 2023, Teva finalized and fully resolved its nationwide settlement agreement with the states and litigating subdivisions. Under the financial terms of the nationwide settlement agreement with the states and subdivisions, Teva will pay up to $4.25Â billion (including the already settled cases), spread over 13 years. This total includes the supply of up to $1.2Â billion of Tevaâ€™s generic version of NarcanÂ® (naloxone hydrochloride nasal spray), valued at wholesale acquisition cost, over 10 years or cash at 20% of the wholesale acquisition cost ($240 million) in lieu of product. In September 2024, Teva reached and finalized an agreement with the City of Baltimore to settle its opioid-related claims for a total of $80Â million (of which $35Â million will be paid by the end of 2024 and the remainder will be paid by JulyÂ 1, 2025), averting a trial that was scheduled to begin on SeptemberÂ 16, 2024. Â 39 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â With its settlement with the City of Baltimore, Teva has settled with 100% of the U.S. states and litigating political subdivisions and the Native American tribes (the â€œTribesâ€). Tevaâ€™s estimated cash payments between 2024 and 2028 for all opioids settlements are: $428Â million payable in 2024 (of which $392Â million was paid as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024), $423Â million payable in 2025; $368Â million payable in 2026; $374Â million payable in 2027; and $390Â million payable in 2028. These payments are subject to change based on various factors including, but not limited to, timing of payments, most favored nations clauses associated with prior settlements, and the statesâ€™ elections to take Tevaâ€™s generic version of NarcanÂ® (naloxone hydrochloride nasal spray). The remaining payments, subject to adjustments, will be paid beyond 2028. Various Teva affiliates, along with several other pharmaceutical companies, were named as defendants in opioids cases initiated by approximately 500 U.S. hospitals and other healthcare providers asserting opioid-related claims, including public nuisance. Specifically, the lawsuits brought by the hospitals allege that they have incurred financial harm from increased operating costs for treating patients whose underlying illnesses are purportedly exacerbated or complicated by opioid addiction. In September 2024, Teva and the representatives for acute care hospitals finalized the terms of a proposed settlement agreement. Under the financial terms of the proposed national settlement agreement, Teva will pay up to $126Â million in cash, spread over 18 years, and supply up to $49Â million of Tevaâ€™s generic version of NarcanÂ® (naloxone hydrochloride nasal spray), valued at wholesale acquisition cost, over 7 years. The proposed settlement agreement is contingent upon Tevaâ€™s satisfaction, in its sole discretion, with the level of participation by acute care hospitals and health care systems in the proposed settlement agreement. In light of the nationwide settlement agreement between Teva and the Statesâ€™ Attorneys General and their subdivisions, Tevaâ€™s indemnification obligations arising from Tevaâ€™s acquisition of the Actavis Generics business for opioid-related claims, prior settlements reached with Louisiana, Texas, Rhode Island, Florida, San Francisco, West Virginia, New York, the Tribes, Nevada and the City of Baltimore, the agreement in principle with the hospitals discussed above, as well as an estimate for a number of items including, but not limited to, costs associated with administering injunctive terms, and most favored nations clauses associated with prior settlements, the Company has recorded a provision. The provision is a reasonable estimate of the ultimate costs for Tevaâ€™s opioids settlements, after discounting payments to their net present value. Opioid-related lawsuits brought against Teva by dozens of third-party payers, such as unions and welfare funds, remain pending. A reasonable upper end of a range of loss cannot be determined for the entirety of the remaining opioid-related cases. An adverse resolution of any of these lawsuits or investigations may involve large monetary penalties, damages, and/or other forms of monetary and non-monetary relief and could have a material and adverse effect on Tevaâ€™s reputation, business, results of operations and cash flows. In addition, Teva, certain of its subsidiaries and other defendants, are defending claims and putative class action lawsuits in Canada related to the manufacture, sale, marketing and distribution of opioid medications. The lawsuits include a claim by the Province of British Columbia on behalf of itself and a putative class of other federal and provincial governments, and claims of municipalities, First Nations, and persons who used opioids on behalf of themselves and putative classes. In November and December 2023, the British Columbia Supreme Court held a hearing regarding preliminary motions, including plaintiffsâ€™ certification motion, which remain pending. Shareholder Litigation On NovemberÂ 6, 2016 and DecemberÂ 27, 2016, two putative securities class actions were filed in the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California against Teva and certain of its current and former officers and directors. Those lawsuits subsequently were consolidated and transferred to the U.S. District Court for the District of Connecticut (the â€œOntario Teachers Securities Litigationâ€). On DecemberÂ 13, 2019, the lead plaintiff filed an amended complaint, purportedly on behalf of purchasers of Tevaâ€™s securities between FebruaryÂ 6, 2014 and MayÂ 10, 2019, asserting that Teva and certain of its current and former officers and directors violated federal securities and common laws in connection with Tevaâ€™s alleged failure to disclose pricing strategies for various drugs in its generic drug portfolio and by making allegedly false or misleading statements in certain offering materials. From July 2017Â to June 2019, other putative securities class actions were filed in other federal courts based on similar allegations and claims, and were transferred to the U.S. District Court for the District of Connecticut. Between August 2017 and January 2022, twenty-three complaints were filed against Teva and certain of its current and former officers and directors on behalf of plaintiffs in various forums across the country, but many of those plaintiffs â€œopted-outâ€ of the Ontario Teachers Securities Litigation. On JanuaryÂ 18, 2022, Teva entered into a settlement in the Ontario Teachers Securities Litigation for $420Â million, which received final approval from the court on JuneÂ 2, 2022. The vast majority of the total settlement amount was covered by the Companyâ€™s insurance carriers, with a small portion contributed by Teva. Additionally, as part of the settlement, Teva admitted no liability and denied all allegations of wrongdoing. On JanuaryÂ 22, 2021, the Court dismissed the â€œopt-outâ€ plaintiffsâ€™ claims arising from statements made prior to the five-year statute of repose, but denied Tevaâ€™s motion to dismiss their claims under Israeli laws. Teva has settled the majority of the â€œopt-outâ€ claims, and one opt-out case remains outstanding. Teva also reached a settlement with shareholders who filed class actions in Israel with similar allegations to those raised in the Ontario Teachers Securities Litigation, which was approved by the court in Israel in November 2023. Â 40 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â On SeptemberÂ 23, 2020, a putative securities class action was filed in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania against Teva and certain of its former officers. On AugustÂ 10, 2021, the lead plaintiff filed a corrected amended class action complaint, purportedly on behalf of persons who purchased or otherwise acquired Teva securities between OctoberÂ 29, 2015 and AugustÂ 18, 2020. The corrected amended complaint alleges that Teva and certain of its current and former officers violated federal securities laws by allegedly making false and misleading statements regarding the commercial performance of COPAXONE, namely, by failing to disclose that Teva had allegedly caused the submission of false claims to Medicare through Tevaâ€™s donations to bona fide independent charities that provide financial assistance to patients, which allegedly impacted COPAXONEâ€™s commercial success and the sustainability of its revenues and resulted in the DOJ PAP Complaint filed by the DOJ. The corrected amended complaint seeks unspecified damages and legal fees. On AugustÂ 2, 2022, the court stayed all proceedings other than class certification proceedings pending the resolution of the DOJ PAP Complaint. On NovemberÂ 3, 2023, the court granted plaintiffâ€™s motion for class certification. On NovemberÂ 17, 2023, Teva filed a petition with the Third Circuit Court of Appeals for leave to appeal the class certification ruling, which was denied on MayÂ 16, 2024. On AugustÂ 30, 2024, the court lifted the stay. A motion to approve a securities class action was also filed in the Central District Court in Israel, which has been stayed pending the U.S. litigation, with similar allegations to those made in the above complaint filed in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. Environmental Matters Teva or its subsidiaries are party to a number of environmental proceedings, or have received claims, including under the federal Superfund law or other federal, provincial or state and local laws, imposing liability for alleged noncompliance, or for the investigation and remediation of releases of hazardous substances and for natural resource damages. Many of these proceedings and claims seek to require the generators of hazardous wastes disposed of at a third party-owned site, or the party responsible for a release of hazardous substances that impacted a site, to investigate and clean the site or to pay or reimburse others for such activities, including for oversight by governmental authorities and any related damages to natural resources. Teva or its subsidiaries have received claims, or been made a party to these proceedings, along with others, as an alleged generator of wastes that were disposed of or treated at third-party waste disposal sites, or as a result of an alleged release from one of Tevaâ€™s facilities or former facilities. Although liability among the responsible parties, under certain circumstances, may be joint and several, these proceedings are frequently resolved so that the allocation of clean-up and other costs among the parties reflects the relative contributions of the parties to the site conditions and takes into account other pertinent factors. Tevaâ€™s potential liability varies greatly at each of the sites; for some sites the costs of the investigation, clean-up and natural resource damages have not yet been determined, and for others Tevaâ€™s allocable share of liability has not been determined. At other sites, Teva has taken an active role in identifying those costs, to the extent they are identifiable and estimable, which do not include reductions for potential recoveries of clean-up costs from insurers, indemnitors, former site owners or operators or other potentially responsible parties. In addition, enforcement proceedings relating to alleged violations of federal, state, commonwealth or local requirements at some of Tevaâ€™s facilities may result in the imposition of significant penalties (in amounts not expected to materially adversely affect Tevaâ€™s results of operations) and the recovery of certain costs and natural resource damages, and may require that corrective actions and enhanced compliance measures be implemented. ItemÂ 103 of Regulation S-K promulgated by the SEC requires disclosure of certain environmental matters when a governmental authority is a party to the proceedings and such proceedings involve potential monetary sanctions, unless the Company reasonably believes that the matter will result in no monetary sanctions, or in monetary sanctions, exclusive of interest and costs, of less than $300,000. The following matter is disclosed in accordance with that requirement. On JulyÂ 8, 2021, the National Green Tribunal Principal Bench, New Delhi, issued an order against Tevaâ€™s subsidiary in India, Teva API India Private Limited, finding non-compliance with environmental laws and assessed a penalty of $1.4Â million. The Company disputed certain of the findings and the amount of the penalty and filed an appeal before the Supreme Court of India. On AugustÂ 5, 2021, the Supreme Court of India admitted the appeal for hearing and granted an interim unconditional stay on the National Green Tribunalâ€™s order. The Company does not believe that the eventual outcome of such matter will have a material effect on its business. Â 41 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â Other Matters On FebruaryÂ 1, 2018, former shareholders of Ception Therapeutics, Inc., a company that was acquired by and merged into Cephalon in 2010, prior to Cephalonâ€™s acquisition by Teva, filed breach of contract and other related claims against the Company, Teva USA and Cephalon in the Delaware Court of Chancery.Â Among other things, the plaintiffs alleged that Cephalon had breached the terms of the 2010 Ception-Cephalon merger agreement by failing to exercise commercially reasonable efforts to develop and commercialize CINQAIRÂ® (reslizumab) for the treatment of eosinophilic esophagitis (â€œEEâ€). The plaintiffs claimed damages of at least $200Â million, an amount they alleged was equivalent to the milestones payable to the former shareholders of Ception in the event Cephalon were to obtain regulatory approval for EE in the United States ($150 million) and Europe ($50 million). On DecemberÂ 28, 2018, following defendantsâ€™ motion to dismiss the complaint, the court granted the motion in part and dismissed all of plaintiffsâ€™ claims, except for their claim against Cephalon for breach of contract. In November 2021, plaintiffs moved to amend their complaint to, among other things, reassert claims against the Company and Teva USA. However, on JulyÂ 12, 2022, plaintiffs filed a new amended complaint that included claims against Teva USA but not the Company, in exchange for Teva USAâ€™s agreement to guarantee any judgment entered against Cephalon in the litigation. A bench trial for this matter was held in September 2022 and on AprilÂ 30, 2024, the court issued a memorandum opinion in favor of Cephalon and Teva USA, finding that they did not breach the merger agreement as plaintiffs had alleged. Plaintiffs have appealed that ruling to the Delaware Supreme Court, and the appeal remains pending. Gain Contingencies From time to time, Teva may directly or indirectly pursue claims against certain parties, including but not limited to patent infringement lawsuits against other pharmaceutical companies to protect its patent rights, as well as derivative actions brought on behalf of Teva. Teva recognizes gain contingencies from the defendants in such lawsuits when they are realized or when all related contingencies have been resolved. No gain has been recognized regarding the matters disclosed below, unless mentioned otherwise. In October 2017, Teva filed a lawsuit in the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts alleging that Eli LillyÂ & Co.â€™s (â€œLillyâ€) marketing and sale of its galcanezumab product for the treatment of migraine infringes nine Teva patents, including three method of treatment patents and six composition of matter patents. Lilly then submitted inter partes review (â€œIPRâ€) petitions to the Patent Trial and Appeal Board (â€œPTABâ€), challenging the validity of the nine Teva patents. The PTAB issued decisions upholding the three method of treatment patents but finding the six composition of matter patents invalid, which decisions were affirmed by the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit on AugustÂ 16, 2021. A jury trial regarding the three method of treatment patents resulted in a verdict in Tevaâ€™s favor on NovemberÂ 9, 2022, in which the three method of treatment patents were determined to be valid and infringed by Lilly and Teva was awarded $176.5Â million in damages. On SeptemberÂ 26, 2023, the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts issued a decision that reversed the juryâ€™s verdict and damages award, finding Tevaâ€™s method of treatment patents to be invalid. Teva filed its opening appeal brief on FebruaryÂ 2, 2024 and Lilly filed its responsive brief on AprilÂ 19, 2024. Teva filed its responsive brief on MayÂ 29, 2024, and Lillyâ€™s final brief was filed on JulyÂ 19, 2024. No date has been set for the appeal hearing. In March 2024, Teva filed a lawsuit in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey alleging that Amarin Pharma, Inc., Amarin Pharmaceuticals Ireland Limited, and Amarin Corporation plc (collectively â€œAmarinâ€) engaged in a decade-long scheme to lock up the supply of icosapent ethyl to prevent and delay generic competition to its branded VascepaÂ® drug product.Â Tevaâ€™s lawsuit coincides with four other lawsuits brought by generic drug manufacturers and purchasers ofÂ branded VascepaÂ®Â alleging the same or similar conduct by Amarin.Â Tevaâ€™s requested relief includes compensatory damages for lost sales and lost profits from generic icosapent ethyl drug sales that Teva could have made absent Amarinâ€™s alleged interference. On MayÂ 24, 2024, Amarin filed a motion in the U.S. District Court for the District of Nevada, seeking to enforce the terms of an earlier Teva-Amarin agreement to settle patent litigation regarding VascepaÂ®, which Amarin asserts precludes Teva from filing the present antitrust action. Teva opposed this motion on JuneÂ 7, 2024, and Amarinâ€™s motion remains pending. As the lawsuit is still in its initial stages, it is not possible to predict its outcome and there is no guarantee that Teva will be granted its requested relief. In June 2024, Teva filed a lawsuit in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California alleging that Corcept Therapeutics, Inc. (â€œCorceptâ€), and Optime Care Inc. (â€œOptimeâ€) have engaged in a multifaceted, years-long scheme to stifle generic competition to Corceptâ€™s branded KorlymÂ® (mifepristone) drug product, which is indicated to treat endogenous Cushingâ€™s syndrome. Teva alleges that Corcept and Optime have suppressed competition by abusing the Â 42 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â patent and judicial systems, entering a long-term, blanket exclusive-dealing agreement that has locked up a key pharmaceutical distribution channel, and making illicit payments to physicians as compensation for prescribing KorlymÂ®. Tevaâ€™s requested relief includes compensatory damages for lost sales and lost profits from generic mifepristone drug sales that Teva could have made absent Corcept and Optimeâ€™s alleged interference, as well as injunctive relief to remove the unlawful barriers to generic competition created by Corcept and Optime. As the lawsuit is still in its initial stages, it is not possible to predict its outcome and there is no guarantee that Teva will be granted its requested relief. Motions to approve derivative actions seeking monetary damages against certain past and present directors and officers have been filed in Israeli Courts alleging negligence and recklessness, as well as motions for document disclosure prior to initiating derivative actions. Motions were filed with respect to several U.S. and EU settlement agreements, opioids, allegations related to the DOJâ€™s complaint regarding the COPAXONE patient assistance program in the U.S., and with respect to the European Commissionâ€™s investigation relating to COPAXONE. In May 2024, Teva settled the derivative action related to the opioids litigation, and on SeptemberÂ 16, 2024, the settlement received final approval from the Tel Aviv District Court. Â 43 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â NOTE 11 â€“ Income taxes: In the third quarter of 2024, Teva recognized a tax expense of $69Â million, on a pre-tax lossÂ of $324Â million. In the third quarter of 2023, Teva recognized a tax benefit of $12Â million, on a pre-taxÂ incomeÂ of $64Â million. Tevaâ€™s tax rate for the third quarter of 2024 was mainly impacted by impairment charges with no corresponding tax effects, an adjustment to the Companyâ€™s corporate tax rate in Israel on losses related to non-qualified tax incentive activities in Israel, legal expenses with no corresponding tax effect related to the fine issued by the European Commission in connection with its antitrust investigation into COPAXONE, and recording of valuation allowance with respect to certain carry over credits outside of Israel. Tevaâ€™s tax rate for the third quarter for 2023 was mainly affected by deferred tax benefits resulting from intellectual property related integration plans, which have been adopted, among others, in an effort of addressing the global adoption of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Pillar Two minimum effective corporate tax. The pre-tax loss in the third quarter of 2023 was revised as discussed in note 1c. In the first nine months of 2024, Teva recognized a tax expense of $648Â million, on a pre-tax loss of $1,037Â million. In the first nine months of 2023, Teva recognized a tax benefit of $48Â million, on a pre-tax loss of $1,131Â million. Tevaâ€™s tax rate for the first nine months of 2024 was mainly impacted by a settlement agreement with the Israeli Tax Authorities (â€œITAâ€) as discussed below, impairment charges with no corresponding tax effects, deferred tax benefits resulting from intellectual property related integration plans, an adjustment to the Companyâ€™s corporate tax rate in Israel on losses related to non-qualified tax incentives activities in Israel, legal expenses with no corresponding tax effect related to the fine issued by the European Commission in connection with its antitrust investigation into COPAXONE, and recording of valuation allowance with respect to certain carry over credits outside of Israel. Tevaâ€™s tax rate for the first nine months of 2023 was mainly affected by deferred tax benefits from intellectual property related integration plans, impairments, legal settlements, and interest expense disallowances. The pre-tax loss in the first nine months of 2023 was revised as discussed in note 1c. The statutory Israeli corporate tax rate is 23% in 2024. Tevaâ€™s global tax rate differs from the Israeli statutory tax rate, mainly due to generation of profits in various jurisdictions in which tax rates are different than the Israeli tax rate, tax benefits, as well as infrequent or non-recurring items. Teva filed a claim seeking the refund of withholding taxes paid to the Indian tax authorities in 2012. A trial for this case is currently ongoing. A final and binding decision against Teva in this case may lead to a charge of $125Â million. On JuneÂ 23, 2024, Teva entered into an agreement with the ITA to settle certain litigation with respect to taxes payable for the Companyâ€™s taxable years 2008 through 2020 (the â€œAgreementâ€). Pursuant to the terms of the Agreement, the Company will pay a total amount of approximately $750Â million to the ITA spread over a six-year period beginning this year. The Company has the right to prepay, and amounts paid over time are subject to interest and increase for inflation. Such total amount includes: (i) $495Â million in corporate taxes with respect to the Companyâ€™s historical earnings that were previously considered by the Company to be exempt from taxes under the Encouragement for Capital Investment Law; and (ii)Â approximately $250Â million in corporate taxes, relating to additional disputed tax issues in the aforementioned taxable years. The Agreement resulted in an increase of $506Â million in the Companyâ€™s total income taxes in the second quarter of 2024, as certain elements had been recognized in previous periods. Additionally, under the terms of the Agreement, it was further agreed that in the future event the Company pays dividends on, or repurchases, its equity interests, the Company will pay an additional 5%-7% of the amount of such dividends or repurchases in corporate taxes, up to a maximum tax payment amount of approximately $500Â million. Any amounts due under this provision of the Agreement will be recorded in the future as incurred. Teva believes it has adequately provided for all of its uncertain tax positions, including items currently under dispute, however, adverse results could be material. The OECD introduced Base Erosion and Profit Shifting (â€œBEPSâ€) Pillar Two rules that impose a global minimum tax rate of 15% for large multinational corporations. On DecemberÂ 12, 2022, the EU Council announced that EU member states had reached an agreement to implement the minimum taxation component of 15% of the OECDâ€™s reform of international taxation. Other countries have also enacted or are expected to enact legislation to be effective as early as JanuaryÂ 1, 2024, with general implementation of a global minimum tax by JanuaryÂ 1, 2025. Teva has evaluated the potential impact on its 2024 consolidated financial statements and related disclosures and does not expect Pillar Two to have a material impact on its effective tax rate or consolidated financial statements in the foreseeable future. Impairments In the three months ended September 30, 2024, Teva recorded an income ofÂ $80Â million under impairments of tangible assets, compared to an expense of $1Â million in the three months ended September 30, 2023. The income for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 was mainly related to a favorable adjustment to the changes of the expected loss from reclassification of currency translation adjustments, partially offset by an additional impairment due to fair value update in connection with the classification of the business venture in Japan as held for sale. See note 2. Impairments of tangible assets for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 were $589Â million and $21Â million, respectively. The impairment for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 was mainly related to the classification of the business venture in Japan as held for sale (see note 2). The impairments for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 were mainly related to certain assets in the U.S. and Europe. Teva may record additional impairments in the future, to the extent it changes its plans on any given asset and/or the assumptions underlying such plans, as a result of its ongoing network consolidation activities and its â€œPivot to Growth Strategyâ€. Contingent consideration In the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, Teva recorded an expense of $34Â million for contingent consideration, compared to an expense of $27Â million in the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. The expenses in the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 were mainly due to the effect of the passage of time on the net present value of the discounted payments. The expenses in the three months ended September 30, 2023 were mainly related to a change in the estimated future royalty payments to Allergan in connection with lenalidomide capsules (the generic version of RevlimidÂ®) and a change in the estimated future royalty payments to Eagle in connection with expected future bendamustine sales. The expense in the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 was revised as discussed in note 1c. In the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, Teva recorded an expense of $305Â million for contingent consideration, compared to an expense of $140Â million in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. The expenses in the first nine months of 2024 and 2023 were mainly related to a change in the estimated future royalty payments to Allergan in connection with lenalidomide capsules (the generic version of RevlimidÂ®) and a change in the estimated future royalty payments to Eagle in connection with expected future bendamustine sales. The expense in the first nine months of 2023 was revised as discussed in note 1c. Restructuring In the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, Teva recorded $21Â million of restructuring expenses, compared to $27Â million in the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. Expenses for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 were primarily related to network consolidation activities. Â 45 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â In the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, Teva recorded $52Â million of restructuring expenses, compared to $93Â million in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. Â 48 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â NOTE 15 â€“ Segments: Teva operates its business and reports its financial results in three segments: (a) United States segment. (b) Europe segment, which includes the European Union, the United Kingdom and certain other European countries. (c) International Markets segment, which includes all countries other than the United States and countries included in the Europe segment. In addition to these three segments, Teva has other sources of revenues, primarily the sale of APIs to third parties, certain contract manufacturing services and an out-licensing platform offering a portfolio of products to other pharmaceutical companies through its affiliate Medis. Tevaâ€™s Chief Executive Officer (â€œCEOâ€), who is the chief operating decision maker (â€œCODMâ€), reviews financial information prepared on a consolidated basis, accompanied by disaggregated information about revenues and contributed profit by the three identified reportable segments, namely United States, Europe and International Markets, to make decisions about resources to be allocated to the segments and assess their performance. Segment profit is comprised of gross profit for the segment less R&D expenses, S&M expenses, G&A expenses and other income related to the segment. Segment profit does not include amortization and certain other items. Teva manages its assets on a company basis, not by segments, as many of its assets are shared or commingled. Tevaâ€™s CODM does not regularly review asset information by reportable segment and, therefore, Teva does not report asset information by reportable segment. Tevaâ€™s CEO may review its strategy and organizational structure from time to time. Based on such review, in May 2023 Teva launched its new Pivot to Growth strategy. Any additional changes in strategy may lead to a reevaluation of the Companyâ€™s segments and goodwill allocation to reporting units, as well as fair value attributable to its reporting units. See note 3 and note 6. In conjunction with a recent shift in executive management responsibilities and in alignment with Tevaâ€™s Pivot to Growth strategy, Teva decided that Canada is no longer included as part of Tevaâ€™s North America segment as of JanuaryÂ 1, 2024. From that date Canada is reported as part of the Companyâ€™s International Markets segment and Tevaâ€™s North America segment has been renamed the United States segment. Teva aligned its internal financial and segment reporting and its reporting units in accordance with this change effective JanuaryÂ 1, 2024. Prior period amounts have been recast to conform to the reporting structure for the current year. On JanuaryÂ 31, 2024, Teva announced that it intends to divest its API business (including its R&D, manufacturing and commercial activities) through a sale, which divestment is expected to be completed in the first half of 2025. The intention to divest is in alignment with Tevaâ€™s Pivot to Growth strategy. However, there can be no assurance regarding the ultimate timing or structure of a potential divestiture or that a divestiture will be agreed or completed at all. Â Â a. Â 54 Table of Contents TEVA PHARMACEUTICAL INDUSTRIES LIMITED Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements (Unaudited) Â Teva determined the fair value of the liabilities for contingent consideration based on a probability-weighted discounted cash flow analysis. This fair value measurement is based on significant unobservable inputs in the market and thus represents a LevelÂ 3 measurement within the fair value hierarchy. The fair value of contingent consideration is based on several factors, such as cash flows projected from the success of unapproved product candidates; probability of success of product candidates, including risks associated with uncertainty regarding achievement and payment of milestone events; time and resources required to complete the development and approval of product candidates; life of the potential commercialized products and associated risks with obtaining regulatory approvals in the United States and Europe, and the risk adjusted discount rate for fair value measurement. The discount rate applied ranged from 8.5% to 11%. The weighted average discount rate, calculated based on the relative fair value of Tevaâ€™s contingent consideration liabilities, was 8.8%. Contingent consideration is evaluated quarterly, or more frequently, if circumstances dictate. Changes in the fair value of contingent consideration are recorded in the consolidated statements of income. Significant changes in unobservable inputs, mainly the probability of success and cash flows projected, could result in material changes to the contingent consideration liabilities. A change of the discount rate by 1% would have not resulted in material changes to the contingent consideration liabilities. The investment in convertible bond security is accounted for as available for sale with changes in fair value reflected in other comprehensive income. See Alvotech transaction under note 2. The following table summarizes the activity for the financial assets and liabilities where fair value measurements are estimated utilizing LevelÂ 3 inputs: Â Â Â Â Nine months endedÂ September 30, 2024 Â Â Â NineÂ months endedÂ September 30, 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Fair value at the beginning of the period Â Â $ (477)Â Â Â Â (250)Â Investment in convertible bond Â Â Â â€”â€, Â Â Â Â 25 Â Conversion option Â Â Â â€”â€, Â Â Â Â 15 Â Redemption of convertible bond security Â Â Â (40)Â Â Â Â â€”â€, Â Bifurcated embedded derivatives Â Â Â§ Â Â Â Â§ Â Adjustments to provisions for contingent consideration: Â Â Â Â Allergan transaction* Â Â Â (267)Â Â Â Â (111)Â Eagle transaction Â Â Â (37)Â Â Â Â (35)Â Novetide transaction Â Â Â (1)Â Â Â Â 2 Â Settlement of contingent consideration: Â Â Â Â Allergan transaction Â Â Â 227 Â Â Â Â 132 Â Eagle transaction Â Â Â 41 Â Â Â Â 61 Â Novetide transaction Â Â Â 2 Â Â Â Â 2 Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Fair value at the end of the period Â Â $ (552)Â Â Â $ (159)Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â§ Represents an amount less than $0.5Â million. * The financial data presented in the tables above with respect to adjustments to provisions for contingent consideration related to Allergan for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 have been revised as discussed in note 1c.  On SeptemberÂ 29, 2023, Teva purchased $40Â million of subordinated convertible bonds of Alvotech. Â 56 Table of Contents ITEMâ€‰2. MANAGEMENTâ€™S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS Business Overview We are a global pharmaceutical leader, harnessing our generics expertise and stepping up innovation to continue the momentum behind the discovery, delivery, and expanded development of modern medicine. We operate worldwide, with headquarters in Israel and a significant presence in the United States, Europe and many other markets around the world. Today, our global network of capabilities enables our approximately 37,000 employees across 58 markets to push the boundaries of scientific innovation and deliver quality medicines to help improve health outcomes of millions of patients every day. Teva was incorporated in Israel on FebruaryÂ 13, 1944 and is the successor to a number of Israeli corporations, the oldest of which was established in 1901. Our Business Segments We operate our business through three segments: United States (previously referred to as North America segment, see below â€œâ€”United States Segmentâ€), Europe and International Markets. Each business segment manages our entire product portfolio in its region, including generics, which includes biosimilars and OTC products, as well as innovative medicines. This structure enables strong alignment and integration between operations, commercial regions, R&D and our global marketing and portfolio function, optimizing our product lifecycle across therapeutic areas. In addition to these three segments, we have other activities, primarily the sale of API to third parties, certain contract manufacturing services and an out-licensing platform offering a portfolio of products to other pharmaceutical companies through our affiliate Medis. Pivot to Growth Strategy In May 2023, we introduced our Pivot to Growth strategy, which is based on four key pillars: (i)Â delivering on our growth engines, mainly AUSTEDOÂ®, AJOVYÂ®, UZEDYÂ® and our late-stage pipeline of biosimilars; (ii)Â stepping up innovation through delivering on our late-stage innovative pipeline assets as well as building up our early-stage pipeline organically and potentially through business development activities; (iii)Â sustaining our generics medicines powerhouse with a global commercial footprint, focused portfolio, pipeline and manufacturing footprint; and (iv)Â focusing our business by optimizing our portfolio and global manufacturing footprint to enable strategic capital deployment to accelerate our near and long-term growth engines and reorganizing certain of our business units to a more optimal structure, while also reorganizing key business units to enhance operational efficiency. Macroeconomic and Geopolitical Environment In recent years, the global economy has been impacted by fluctuating foreign exchange rates. In the third quarter of 2024, approximately 45% of our revenues were denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar and we manufacture our products largely outside of the United States. Fluctuations in the U.S. dollar versus other currencies in which we operate may materially impact our revenues, results of operations, profits and cash flows. Additionally, high levels of inflation have recently resulted in significant economic volatility and monetary tightening by central banks through higher interest rates. Global economy has also been impacted by geopolitical tensions which have resulted in disruptions to global supply chains, including our internal supply chain. In October 2023, Israel was attacked by a terrorist organization and entered a state of war on several fronts, which as of the date of this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q is ongoing. Our global headquarters as well as several of our manufacturing and R&D facilities are located in Israel and, while operations there currently remain largely unaffected, the impact of this war on our operations may increase, which could be material, as a result of the continuation, escalation or expansion of this war. In light of the above, supply chain disruptions could continue to result in delays in our production and distribution processes, R&D initiatives and our ability to timely respond to consumer demand. We have implemented certain measures in response to such events and are continually considering various initiatives, including price adjustments where we are not restricted contractually or regulatorily, enhanced inventory management, alternative sourcing strategies for our raw material supply and backup production plans for key products, to allow us to partially mitigate and offset the impact of these macroeconomic and geopolitical factors. However, although inflationary and other macroeconomic pressures may or have eased, the higher costs we have experienced during recent periods have already impacted our operations and will likely continue to have an effect on our financial results. Â 57 Table of Contents Highlights Significant highlights in the third quarter of 2024 included1: Â Â â€¢ Â Revenues in the third quarter of 2024 were $4,332Â million, an increase of 13% in U.S. dollars, or 15% in local currency terms, compared to the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly due to higher revenues from generic products in all our segments, from AUSTEDO in our United States segment, as well as from the sale of product rights in our Europe and International Markets segments. Â Â â€¢ Â Our United States segment generated revenues of $2,225Â million and segment profit of $748Â million in the third quarter of 2024. Revenues increased by 17% and segment profit increased by 31% compared to the third quarter of 2023. Â Â â€¢ Â Our Europe segment generated revenues of $1,265Â million and segment profit of $373Â million in the third quarter of 2024. Revenues increased by 10% in U.S. dollars, or 11% in local currency terms, compared to the third quarter of 2023. Segment profit increased by 10% compared to the third quarter of 2023. Â Â â€¢ Â Our International Markets segment generated revenues of $613Â million and segment profit of $109Â million in the third quarter of 2024. Revenues increased by 4% in U.S. dollars, or 18% in local currency terms, compared to the third quarter of 2023. Segment profit decreased by 7% compared to the third quarter of 2023. Â Â â€¢ Â Our revenues from other activities in the third quarter of 2024 were $229Â million, an increase of 6% in U.S. dollars, or 5% local currency terms, compared to the third quarter of 2023. Â Â â€¢ Â Exchange rate movements during the third quarter of 2024, including hedging effects, negatively impacted overall revenues by $88Â million and operating loss by $57Â million, compared to the third quarter of 2023. Â Â â€¢ Â Gross profit margin was 49.6% in the third quarter of 2024, compared to 48.1% in the third quarter of 2023. Â Â â€¢ Â R&D expenses, net in the third quarter of 2024 were $240Â million, a decrease of 5% compared to $253Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Â Â â€¢ Â We recorded a goodwill impairment charge of $600Â million in the third quarter of 2024, related to our Teva API reporting unit. See note 6 to our consolidated financial statements. Â Â â€¢ Â We recorded legal settlements and loss contingencies of $450 million in the third quarter of 2024, compared to $314 million in the third quarter of 2023. See note 9 to our consolidated financial statements. Â Â â€¢ Â Operating loss was $51Â million in the third quarter of 2024, compared to an operating income of $344Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Â Â â€¢ Â In the third quarter of 2024, we recognized a tax expense of $69Â million, on a pre-tax loss of $324Â million. In the third quarter of 2023, we recognized a tax benefit of $12Â million, on a pre-tax income of $64Â million. See note 11 to our consolidated financial statements. Â Â â€¢ Â As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, our debt was $18,980Â million, compared to $19,833Â million as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. In October 2024, we repaid at maturity $685Â million of our 1.13% senior notes due in 2024. See note 7 to our consolidated financial statements. Â Â â€¢ Â Cash flow generated from operating activities during the third quarter of 2024 was $693Â million, compared to $5Â million of cash flow generated from operating activities in the third quarter of 2023. The higher cash flow generated from operating activities in the third quarter of 2024, resulted mainly from higher profit in our United States segment, as well as from changes in working capital items, including a positive impact from accounts receivables, net of SR&A, as well as from accounts payables and inventory levels, partially offset by higher legal payments during the third quarter of 2024. Â 1Â The data included in the Highlights section with respect operating income (loss), income taxes for the prior period have been revised to reflect a revision in relation to a contingent consideration and related expenses in the consolidated financial statements. For additional information, see note 1c to our consolidated financial statements. Â 58 Table of Contents Â â€¢ Â During the third quarter of 2024, we generated free cash flow of $922Â million, which we define as comprising $693Â million in cash flow generated from operating activities, $339Â million in beneficial interest collected in exchange for securitized accounts receivables (under our EU securitization program) and $38Â million in divestitures of businesses and other assets, partially offset by $148Â million in cash used for capital investment. During the third quarter of 2023, we generated free cash flow of $229Â million. The increase in the third quarter of 2024, resulted mainly from higher cash flow generated from operating activities. Results of Operations Comparison of Three Months Ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 to Three Months Ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Segment Information United States Segment The following table presents revenues, expenses and profit for our United States segment for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â Three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions /%Â ofÂ SegmentÂ Revenues) Â Revenues Â Â $ 2,225 Â Â Â Â 100 %Â Â $ 1,896 Â Â Â Â 100 %Â Gross profit Â Â Â 1,265 Â Â Â Â 56.9 %Â Â Â 1,060 Â Â Â Â 55.9 %Â R&D expenses Â Â Â 151 Â Â Â Â 6.8 %Â Â Â 156 Â Â Â Â 8.2 %Â S&M expenses Â Â Â 259 Â Â Â Â 11.6 %Â Â Â 243 Â Â Â Â 12.8 %Â G&A expenses Â Â Â 107 Â Â Â Â 4.8 %Â Â Â 93 Â Â Â Â 4.9 %Â Other loss (income) Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â (2)Â Â Â Â Â§ Â Segment profit* Â Â $ 748 Â Â Â Â 33.6 %Â Â $ 571 Â Â Â Â 30.1 %Â * Segment profit does not include amortization and certain other items. United States Revenues As part of a recent shift in executive management responsibilities and in line with our Pivot to Growth strategy, commencing JanuaryÂ 1, 2024, Canada is reported as part of our International Markets segment. Prior period amounts were recast to reflect this change. See note 15 to our consolidated financial statements. Revenues from our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $2,225Â million, an increase of $329Â million, or 17%, compared to the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly due to higher revenues from generic products, AUSTEDO and UZEDY, partially offset by lower revenues from certain innovative products, primarily COPAXONE and BENDEKA and TREANDA. Â 59 Table of Contents Revenues by Major Products and Activities The following table presents revenues for our United States segment by major products and activities for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â Three months endedSeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â PercentageChange Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â Â 2023 Â Â Â 2024-2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Â Â Â Â Generic products Â Â $ 1,094 Â Â Â $ 839 Â Â Â Â 30 %Â AJOVY Â Â Â 58 Â Â Â Â 56 Â Â Â Â 4 %Â AUSTEDO Â Â Â 435 Â Â Â Â 339 Â Â Â Â 28 %Â BENDEKA and TREANDA Â Â Â 40 Â Â Â Â 56 Â Â Â Â (28 %)Â COPAXONE Â Â Â 69 Â Â Â Â 98 Â Â Â Â (30 %)Â UZEDY Â Â Â 35 Â Â Â Â 2 Â Â Â Â N/A Â Anda Â Â Â 380 Â Â Â Â 367 Â Â Â Â 3 %Â Other Â Â Â 115 Â Â Â Â 140 Â Â Â Â (18 %)Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Total Â Â $ 2,225 Â Â Â $ 1,896 Â Â Â Â 17 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Generic products revenues in our United States segment (including biosimilars) in the third quarter of 2024 were $1,094Â million, an increase of 30% compared to the third quarter of 2023, the majority of which is driven by higher revenues from lenalidomide capsules (the generic version of RevlimidÂ®), and the remaining, primarily by the launch of liraglutide injection 1.8mg (an authorized generic of VictozaÂ®) and higher revenues from epinephrine injectable solution (the generic equivalent of EpiPenÂ® and EpiPen JrÂ®). Among the most significant generic products we sold in the United States in the third quarter of 2024 were lenalidomide capsules (the generic version of RevlimidÂ®), epinephrine injectable solution (the generic equivalent of EpiPenÂ® and EpiPen JrÂ®), TruximaÂ® (the biosimilar to RituxanÂ®) and liraglutide 1.8 mg injection (an authorized generic of VictozaÂ®). In the third quarter of 2024, our total prescriptions were approximately 292Â million (based on trailing twelve months), representing 7.6% of total U.S. generic prescriptions, compared to approximately 320Â million (based on trailing twelve months), representing 8.4% of total U.S. generic prescriptions in the third quarter of 2023, all according to IQVIA data. On OctoberÂ 1, 2024, Teva launched octreotide acetate for injectable suspension, the first generic version of SandostatinÂ® LAR

Depot. Octreotide acetate for injectable suspension is indicated for the treatment of acromegaly and severe diarrhea associated with carcinoid syndrome, and is available to patients in the U.S. AJOVY revenues in our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $58Â million, an increase of 4% compared to the third quarter of 2023, mainly due to growth in volume. In the third quarter of 2024, AJOVYâ€™s exit market share in the United States in terms of total number of prescriptions was 29.1% compared to 24.9% in the third quarter of 2023. AJOVY is indicated for the preventive treatment of migraine in adults, and was launched in the U.S. in 2018. AJOVY is the only anti-CGRP subcutaneous product indicated for quarterly treatment. AJOVY is protected worldwide by patents expiring in 2026 at the earliest; extensions have been granted in several countries, including the United States and in Europe, until 2031. Additional patents relating to the use of AJOVY in the treatment of migraine have also been issued in the United States and will expire between 2035 and 2039. Such patents are also pending in other countries. AJOVY will also be protected by regulatory exclusivity for 12 years from marketing approval in the United States (obtained in September 2018) and 10 years from marketing approval in Europe (obtained in April 2019). In October 2017, we filed a lawsuit in the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts alleging that Eli LillyÂ & Co.â€™s (â€œLillyâ€) marketing and sale of its galcanezumab product for the treatment of migraine infringes nine Teva patents, including three method of treatment patents and six composition of matter patents. Lilly then submitted inter partes review (â€œIPRâ€) petitions to the Patent Trial and Appeal Board (â€œPTABâ€), challenging the validity of the nine Teva patents. The PTAB issued decisions upholding the three method of treatment patents but finding the six composition of matter patents invalid, which decisions were affirmed by the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit on AugustÂ 16, 2021. A jury trial regarding the three method of treatment patents resulted in a verdict in Tevaâ€™s favor on NovemberÂ 9, 2022, in which the three method of treatment patents were determined to be valid and infringed by Lilly, and Teva was awarded $176.5Â million in damages. On SeptemberÂ 26, 2023, the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts issued a decision that reversed the juryâ€™s verdict and damages award, finding Tevaâ€™s method of treatment patents to be invalid. Teva appealed this ruling on OctoberÂ 24, 2023. On FebruaryÂ 2, 2024, Teva filed its opening appeal brief, to which Lilly filed its responding brief on AprilÂ 19, 2024, which Teva responded to on MayÂ 29, 2024. Lillyâ€™s final brief was filed on JulyÂ 19, 2024. No date has been set for the appeal hearing. Â 60 Table of Contents In addition, in 2018 we entered into separate agreements with Alder Biopharmaceuticals, Inc. and Lilly, resolving the European Patent Office oppositions that they filed against our AJOVY patents. The settlement agreement with Lilly also resolved Lillyâ€™s action to revoke the patent protecting AJOVY in the United Kingdom. AUSTEDO revenues in our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 increased by 28%, to $435Â million, compared to $339Â million in the third quarter of 2023, mainly due to growth in volume and expanded access for patients. AUSTEDO was launched in the U.S. in 2017. It is indicated for the treatment of chorea associated with Huntington disease and for the treatment of tardive dyskinesia in adults. AUSTEDO is protected in the United States by 14 Orange Book patents expiring between 2031 and 2038. We received notice letters from two ANDA filers regarding the filing of their ANDAs with paragraph (IV)Â certifications for certain of the patents listed in the Orange Book for AUSTEDO. On JulyÂ 1, 2021, we filed claims against two generic ANDA filers, Aurobindo and Lupin, in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey. In addition, Apotex filed a petition for IPR by the PTAB of the patent covering the deutetrabenazine compound that expires in 2031. On MarchÂ 9, 2022, the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office denied Apotexâ€™s petition and declined to institute a review of the deutetrabenazine patent. On AprilÂ 29, 2022 and JuneÂ 8, 2022, we reached agreements with Lupin and Aurobindo, respectively, to sell their generic products beginning in April 2033, or earlier under certain circumstances. There are no further patent litigations pending regarding AUSTEDO. AUSTEDO XR (deutetrabenazine) extended-release tablets was approved by the FDA on FebruaryÂ 17, 2023, in three doses of 6, 12 and 24 mg, and became commercially available in the U.S. in May 2023. In May 2024, the FDA approved AUSTEDO XR as a one pill, once-daily treatment option in doses of 30, 36, 42, and 48 mg. In July 2024, the FDA approved the 18 mg dosage for AUSTEDO XR making it a one pill, once-daily option for all available doses. AUSTEDO XR is a once-daily formulation indicated in adults for tardive dyskinesia and chorea associated with Huntingtonâ€™s disease, which is additional to the currently marketed twice-daily AUSTEDO. AUSTEDO XR is protected by 11 Orange Book patents expiring between 2031 and 2041. UZEDY (risperidone) extended-release injectable suspension revenues in our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $35Â million. UZEDY was approved by the FDA on AprilÂ 28, 2023 for the treatment of schizophrenia in adults, and was launched in the U.S. in May 2023. UZEDY is a subcutaneous, long-acting formulation of risperidone that controls the steady release of risperidone. UZEDY is protected by nine Orange Book patents expiring between 2025 and 2033. We are moving forward with plans to launch UZEDY in other countries around the world. UZEDY faces competition from multiple other products. BENDEKA and TREANDA combined revenues in our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $40Â million, a decrease of 28% compared to the third quarter of 2023, mainly due to competition from alternative therapies, as well as the entry of generic bendamustine products into the market. The orphan drug exclusivity that had attached to bendamustine products expired in December 2022. In April 2019, we signed an amendment to the license agreement with Eagle extending the royalty term applicable to the United States to the full period for which we sell BENDEKA and increased the royalty rate. In consideration, Eagle agreed to assume a portion of BENDEKA-related patent litigation expenses. There are 18 patents listed in the U.S. Orange Book for BENDEKA with expiration dates in 2026 and 2031. In April 2020, the U.S. District Court for the District of Delaware issued a trial decision upholding the validity of all of the asserted patents and finding that four ANDA filers for generic versions of BENDEKA infringe at least one of the patents. Teva settled with one of the three ANDA filers that appealed the district courtâ€™s decision, and on AugustÂ 13, 2021, the Federal Circuit issued a Rule 36 affirmance of such decision. Litigation against the fifth ANDA filer was dismissed after withdrawal of its patent challenge, and on OctoberÂ 18, 2021, the case against a sixth ANDA filer was also settled. Teva also settled litigations against three 505(b)(2) applicants, Hospira, Inc. (â€œHospiraâ€), Dr.Â Reddyâ€™s Laboratories (â€œDRLâ€) and Accord Healthcare (â€œAccordâ€). Based on these settlement agreements, the three 505(b)(2) filers, Hospira, Accord and DRL can launch their products on NovemberÂ 17, 2027 or earlier under certain circumstances. On MayÂ 4, 2023, and JuneÂ 9, 2023, Teva and Eagle also filed suit against BendaRx Corp. in the U.S. District Court for the District of Delaware, following its filing of a 505(b)(2) NDA for a bendamustine product. In addition, on JuneÂ 16, 2023, Teva filed suit against BendaRx USA Corp. in the U.S. District Court for the District of Eastern Virginia, which was then stayed and has now been transferred to the U.S. District Court for the District of Delaware where it has been consolidated with the suits filed there. Â 61 Table of Contents In addition to the settlement with Eagle regarding its bendamustine 505(b)(2) NDA, between 2015 and 2020, we reached final settlements with 22 ANDA filers for generic versions of the lyophilized form of TREANDA and one 505(b)(2) NDA filer for a generic version of the liquid form of TREANDA, providing for the launch of generic versions of TREANDA prior to patent expiration. Currently, there are multiple generic TREANDA products on the market. COPAXONE revenues in our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $69Â million, a decrease of 30% compared to the third quarter of 2023, mainly due to market share erosion and competition. The market for MS treatments continues to develop, particularly with the approval of generic versions of COPAXONE. Oral treatments for MS, such as TecfideraÂ®, GilenyaÂ® and AubagioÂ®, continue to present significant and increasing competition. COPAXONE also continues to face competition from existing injectable products, as well as from monoclonal antibodies, such as OcrevusÂ® and KesimptaÂ®. Anda revenues from third-party products in our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 increased by 3% to $380Â million, compared to $367Â million in the third quarter of 2023, mainly due to higher volumes. Anda, our distribution business in the United States, distributes generic and innovative medicines and OTC pharmaceutical products from Teva and various third-party manufacturers to independent retail pharmacies, pharmacy retail chains, hospitals and physician offices in the United States. Anda is able to compete in the distribution market by maintaining a broad portfolio of products, competitive pricing and delivery throughout the United States. Product Launches and Pipeline In the third quarter of 2024, we launched the generic version of the following branded products in the United States: Â Product Name Â Â BrandÂ Name Â Â LaunchDate Â Â Â TotalÂ AnnualÂ U.S.BrandedÂ SalesÂ atÂ Timeof Launch(U.S. $ in millions(IQVIA))* Â Paclitaxel Protein-Bound Particles for Injectable Suspension (albumin-bound) Â Â Â Abraxane Â®Â Â Â July Â Â Â $ 809 Â Lisdexamfetamine Dimesylate Chewable Tablets CII - USA Â Â Â Vyvanse Â®Â Â Â September Â Â Â $ 200 Â Mesalamine Delayed-Release Tablets, USP Â Â Â N/A Â Â Â August Â Â Â $ 167 Â Naloxone Hydrochloride Nasal Spray (OTC) Â Â Â Narcan Â®Â Â Â September Â Â Â $ 66 Â Metoclopramide Injection, USP Â Â Â N/A Â Â Â September Â Â Â $ 12 Â Sulfamethoxazole and Trimethoprim Injection, USP in the PREMIERProRxÂ®* Label Â Â Â N/A Â Â Â August Â Â Â $ 1 Â Â Â The figures presented are for the twelve months ended in the calendar quarter immediately prior to our launch or re-launch.  Represents estimated sales based on OTC sales reported through IQVIA. As of September 30, 2024, our generic products pipeline in the United States includes 125 product applications awaiting FDA approval, including 62 tentative approvals. This total reflects all pending ANDAs, supplements for product line extensions and tentatively approved applications and includes some instances where more than one application was submitted for the same reference product. Excluding overlaps, the branded products underlying these pending applications had U.S. sales for the twelve months ended JuneÂ 30, 2024 of approximately $119Â billion, according to IQVIA. Approximately 79% of pending applications include a paragraph IV patent challenge, and we believe we are first-to-file with respect to 55 of these products, or 85 products including final approvals where launch is pending a settlement agreement or court decision. Collectively, these first-to-file opportunities represent over $79Â billion in U.S. brand sales for the twelve months ended JuneÂ 30, 2024, according to IQVIA. IQVIA reported brand sales are one of the many indicators of future potential value of a launch, but equally important are the mix and timing of competition, as well as cost effectiveness. The potential advantages of being the first filer with respect to some of these products may be subject to forfeiture, shared exclusivity or competition from so-called â€œauthorized generics,â€ which may ultimately affect the value derived. Â 62 Table of Contents In the third quarter of 2024, we received tentative approvals for generic equivalents of the products listed in the table below, excluding overlapping applications. A â€œtentative approvalâ€ indicates that the FDA has substantially completed its review of an application and final approval is expected once the relevant patent expires, a court decision is reached, a 30-month regulatory stay lapses, or a 180-day exclusivity period awarded to another manufacturer either expires or is forfeited. United States Gross Profit Gross profit from our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 was $1,265Â million, an increase of 19%, compared to $1,060Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Gross profit margin for our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 increased to 56.9%, compared to 55.9% in the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly due to a favorable mix of products primarily driven by higher revenues from lenalidomide capsules (the generic version of RevlimidÂ®) and AUSTEDO. United States R&D Expenses R&D expenses relating to our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $151Â million, a decrease of 3%, compared to $156Â million in the third quarter of 2023. For a description of our R&D expenses in the third quarter of 2024, see â€œâ€”Teva Consolidated Resultsâ€”Research and Development (R&D) Expensesâ€ below. United States S&M Expenses S&M expenses relating to our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $259Â million, an increase of 6%, compared to $243Â million in the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly due to promotional activities related to AUSTEDO, primarily the direct-to-consumer advertising campaign and our patient support programs. United States G&A Expenses G&A expenses relating to our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $107Â million, an increase of 16% compared to $93Â million in the third quarter of 2023. United States Profit Profit from our United States segment consists of gross profit less R&D expenses, S&M expenses, G&A expenses and any other income related to this segment. Segment profit does not include amortization and certain other items. Profit from our United States segment in the third quarter of 2024 was $748Â million, an increase of 31% compared to $571Â million in the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly due to higher gross profit, partially offset by higher S&M and G&A expenses, as discussed above. Â 63 Table of Contents Europe Segment The following table presents revenues, expenses and profit for our Europe segment for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â Three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S.Â $Â inÂ millionsÂ /Â %Â ofÂ SegmentÂ Revenues) Â Revenues Â Â $ 1,265 Â Â Â Â 100 %Â Â $ 1,146 Â Â Â Â 100 %Â Gross profit Â Â Â 698 Â Â Â Â 55.2 %Â Â Â 648 Â Â Â Â 56.6 %Â R&D expenses Â Â Â 55 Â Â Â Â 4.3 %Â Â Â 62 Â Â Â Â 5.4 %Â S&M expenses Â Â Â 203 Â Â Â Â 16.0 %Â Â Â 184 Â Â Â Â 16.0 %Â G&A expenses Â Â Â 67 Â Â Â Â 5.3 %Â Â Â 66 Â Â Â Â 5.7 %Â Other loss (income) Â Â Â 1 Â Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Segment profit Â Â $ 373 Â Â Â Â 29.5 %Â Â $ 338 Â Â Â Â 29.5 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â * Segment profit does not include amortization and certain other items. Â§ Represents an amount less than $0.5Â million or 0.5%, as applicable. Europe Revenues Our Europe segment includes the European Union, the United Kingdom and certain other European countries. Revenues from our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $1,265Â million, an increase of 10%, or $119Â million, compared to the third quarter of 2023. In local currency terms, revenues increased by 11% compared to the third quarter of 2023, mainly due to higher revenues from generic and OTC products as well as AJOVY. Our higher revenues in the third quarter of 2024 were also partly driven by the sale of certain product rights. In the third quarter of 2024, revenues were negatively impacted by exchange rate fluctuations of $6Â million, net of hedging effects, compared to the third quarter of 2023. Revenues in the third quarter of 2024, included $10Â million from a negative hedging impact, which is included in â€œOtherâ€ in the table below. Revenues in the third quarter of 2023 included $15Â million from a positive hedging impact, which is included in â€œOtherâ€ in the table below. See note 8d to our consolidated financial statements. Revenues by Major Products and Activities The following table presents revenues for our Europe segment by major products and activities for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â ThreeÂ monthsÂ endedSeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â PercentageChange Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â Â 2023 Â Â Â 2024-2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Â Â Â Â Generic products Â Â $ 973 Â Â Â $ 886 Â Â Â Â 10 %Â AJOVY Â Â Â 56 Â Â Â Â 41 Â Â Â Â 37 %Â COPAXONE Â Â Â 53 Â Â Â Â 55 Â Â Â Â (5 %)Â Respiratory products Â Â Â 60 Â Â Â Â 61 Â Â Â Â (1 %)Â Other* Â Â Â 124 Â Â Â Â 104 Â Â Â Â 19 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Total Â Â $ 1,265 Â Â Â $ 1,146 Â Â Â Â 10 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â * Other revenues in the third quarter of 2024 include the sale of certain product rights. Â 64 Table of Contents Generic products revenues (including OTC and biosimilar products) in our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024, were $973Â million, an increase of 10% compared to the third quarter of 2023. In local currency terms, revenues increased by 8%, mainly due to price increases as a result of market conditions such as inflationary pressures in certain markets, as well as higher revenues from recently launched products. AJOVY revenues in our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024 increased by 37% to $56Â million, compared to $41Â million in the third quarter of 2023. In local currency terms revenues increased by 36% due to growth in volume. For information about AJOVY patent protection, see â€œâ€”United States Revenuesâ€”Revenues by Major Products and Activitiesâ€ above. COPAXONE revenues in our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $53Â million, a decrease of 5% in both U.S. dollars and local currency terms, compared to the third quarter of 2023, due to price reductions and a decline in volume resulting from availability of alternative therapies and competing glatiramer acetate products. In certain countries, Teva remains in litigation against generic companies regarding COPAXONE. Respiratory products revenues in our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $60Â million, a decrease of 1% compared to the third quarter of 2023. In local currency terms, revenues decreased by 3% compared to the third quarter of 2023, mainly due to net price reductions and lower volumes. Product Launches and Pipeline As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, our generic products pipeline in Europe included 412 generic approvals relating to 53 compounds in 108 formulations, with no European Medicines Agency (â€œEMAâ€) approvals received. In addition, approximately 1,508 marketing authorization applications are pending approval in 37 European countries, relating to 94 compounds in 215 formulations. Two applications are pending with the EMA relating to seven strengths in 30 markets. For information regarding our innovative medicines and biosimilar products pipeline, see â€œâ€”Teva Consolidated Resultsâ€”Research and Development (R&D) Expensesâ€ below. Europe Gross Profit Gross profit from our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024 was $698Â million, an increase of 8% compared to $648Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Gross profit margin for our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024 decreased to 55.2%, compared to 56.6% in the third quarter of 2023. This decrease was mainly due to a negative exchange rate impact from hedging activities. Europe R&D Expenses R&D expenses relating to our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $55Â million, a decrease of 11% compared to $62Â million in the third quarter of 2023. For a description of our R&D expenses in the third quarter of 2024, see â€œâ€”Teva Consolidated Resultsâ€”Research and Development (R&D) Expensesâ€ below. Europe S&M Expenses S&M expenses relating to our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $203Â million, an increase of 10% compared to $184Â million in the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly to support revenue growth in generic products and AJOVY. Europe G&A Expenses G&A expenses relating to our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $67Â million, an increase of 2% compared to $66Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Europe Profit Profit from our Europe segment consists of gross profit less R&D expenses, S&M expenses, G&A expenses and any other income related to this segment. Segment profit does not include amortization and certain other items. Profit from our Europe segment in the third quarter of 2024 was $373Â million, an increase of 10%, compared to $338Â million in the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly due to higher gross profit resulting mainly from proceeds from the sale of certain product rights, partially offset by S&M expenses. Â 65 Table of Contents International Markets Segment The following table presents revenues, expenses and profit for our International Markets segment for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â Three months endedSeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S.Â $Â inÂ millionsÂ /Â %Â ofÂ SegmentÂ Revenues) Â Revenues Â Â $ 613 Â Â Â Â 100 %Â Â $ 591 Â Â Â Â 100 %Â Gross profit Â Â Â 306 Â Â Â Â 49.9 %Â Â Â 293 Â Â Â Â 49.6 %Â R&D expenses Â Â Â 27 Â Â Â Â 4.4 %Â Â Â 30 Â Â Â Â 5.1 %Â S&M expenses Â Â Â 134 Â Â Â Â 21.9 %Â Â Â 116 Â Â Â Â 19.6 %Â G&A expenses Â Â Â 36 Â Â Â Â 5.8 %Â Â Â 33 Â Â Â Â 5.5 %Â Other loss (income) Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â (2)Â Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Segment profit* Â Â $ 109 Â Â Â Â 17.8 %Â Â $ 117 Â Â Â Â 19.7 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â * Segment profit does not include amortization and certain other items. Â§ Represents an amount less than $0.5Â million or 0.5%, as applicable. International Markets Revenues Our International Markets segment includes all countries in which we operate other than the United States and the countries included in our Europe segment. The International Markets segment includes more than 35 countries, covering a substantial portion of the global pharmaceutical industry. As part of a recent shift in executive management responsibilities, commencing JanuaryÂ 1, 2024, Canada is reported under our International Markets segment and is no longer included as part of our United States segment. Prior period amounts were recast to reflect this change. See note 15 to our consolidated financial statements. The countries in our International Markets segment include highly regulated, mainly generic markets, such as Canada and Israel, branded generics-oriented markets, such as Russia and certain Latin America markets and hybrid markets, such as Japan. In February 2022, Russia launched an invasion of Ukraine. As of the date of this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, sustained conflict and disruption in the region is ongoing. Russia and Ukraine markets are included in our International Markets segment results and we have no manufacturing or R&D facilities in these markets. During the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the impact of this conflict on our International Markets segmentâ€™s results of operations and financial condition was immaterial. Consistent with our foreign exchange risk management hedging programs, in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 we partially hedged our exposure to currency exchange rate fluctuations with respect to our balance sheet assets, revenues and expenses. However, as of the end of the third quarter of 2024, we hedge a small part of our projected net revenues in Russian ruble for 2024. Prior to and since the escalation of the conflict, we have been taking measures to reduce our operational cash balances in Russia and Ukraine. We have been monitoring the solvency of our customers in Russia and Ukraine and have taken measures, where practicable, to mitigate our exposure to risks related to the conflict in the region. However, the duration, severity and global implications (including potential inflation and devaluation consequences) of the conflict cannot be predicted at this time and could have an effect on our business, including on our exchange rate exposure, supply chain, operational costs and commercial presence in these markets. Revenues from our International Markets segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $613Â million, an increase of 4% compared to the third quarter of 2023. In local currency terms, revenues increased by 18% compared to the third quarter of 2023, mainly due to higher revenues from generic products in most markets, partially offset by regulatory price reductions and generic competition to off-patented products in Japan. Our higher revenues in the third quarter of 2024 were also partly driven by the sale of certain product rights. In the third quarter of 2024, revenues were negatively impacted by exchange rate fluctuations of $84Â million, including hedging effects, compared to the third quarter of 2023. Revenues in the third quarter of 2024 included $1Â million from a positive hedging impact, compared to a positive hedging impact of $7Â million in the third quarter of 2023, which are included in â€œOtherâ€ in the table below. See note 8d to our consolidated financial statements. Â 66 Table of Contents Revenues by Major Products and Activities The following table presents revenues for our International Markets segment by major products and activities for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â ThreeÂ monthsÂ endedSeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â PercentageChange Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â Â 2023 Â Â Â 2024-2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S.Â $Â inÂ millions) Â Â Â Â Â Generic products Â Â $ 477 Â Â Â $ 470 Â Â Â Â 1 %Â AJOVY Â Â Â 24 Â Â Â Â 18 Â Â Â Â 35 %Â COPAXONE Â Â Â 13 Â Â Â Â 16 Â Â Â Â (18 %)Â Other* Â Â Â 99 Â Â Â Â 87 Â Â Â Â 14 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Total Â Â $ 613 Â Â Â $ 591 Â Â Â Â 4 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â * Other revenues in the third quarter of 2024 include the sale of certain product rights. Generic products revenues (including OTC and biosimilar products) in our International Markets segment were $477Â million in the third quarter of 2024, an increase of 1% compared to the third quarter of 2023. In local currency terms, revenues increased by 13% compared to the third quarter of 2023, mainly due to higher revenues in most markets, largely driven by price increases as a result of higher costs due to inflationary pressure in certain markets and higher volumes, partially offset by regulatory price reductions and generic competition to off-patented products in Japan. AJOVY was launched in certain markets in our International Markets segment, including in Canada, Japan, Australia, Israel, South Korea, Brazil and others. AJOVY revenues in our International Markets segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $24Â million, compared to $18Â million in the third quarter of 2023, due to growth in existing markets in which AJOVY was launched. COPAXONE revenues in our International Markets segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $13Â million compared to $16Â million in the third quarter of 2023. AUSTEDO was launched in China and Israel in 2021 and in Brazil in 2022, for the treatment of chorea associated with Huntingtonâ€™s disease and for the treatment of tardive dyskinesia. In February 2024, we announced a strategic partnership for the marketing and distribution of AUSTEDO in China. We continue with additional submissions in various other markets. International Markets Gross Profit Gross profit from our International Markets segment in the third quarter of 2024 was $306Â million, an increase of 4% compared to $293Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Gross profit margin for our International Markets segment in the third quarter of 2024 increased to 49.9%, compared to 49.6% in the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly due to price increases largely as a result of inflationary pressures in certain markets, the sale of certain product rights and a favorable mix of products, partially offset by regulatory price reductions and generic competition to off-patented products in Japan, as well as higher costs due to inflationary and other macroeconomic pressures. International Markets R&D Expenses R&D expenses relating to our International Markets segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $27Â million, a decrease of 11% compared to the third quarter of 2023. For a description of our R&D expenses in the third quarter of 2024, see â€œâ€”Teva Consolidated Resultsâ€”Research and Development (R&D) Expensesâ€ below. Â 67 Table of Contents International Markets S&M Expenses S&M expenses relating to our International Markets segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $134Â million, an increase of 16% compared to the third quarter of 2023, mainly to support revenue growth including through our strategic partnership in China for AUSTEDO. International Markets G&A Expenses G&A expenses relating to our International Markets segment in the third quarter of 2024 were $36Â million, an increase of 10% compared to the third quarter of 2023. International Markets Other Income Other income in the third quarter of 2024 was minimal, compared to $2Â million in the third quarter 2023. Other income in the third quarter of 2023 included a capital gain from the sale of assets. International Markets Profit Profit from our International Markets segment consists of gross profit less R&D expenses, S&M expenses, G&A expenses and any other income related to this segment. Segment profit does not include amortization and certain other items. Profit from our International Markets segment in the third quarter of 2024 was $109Â million, a decrease of 7%, compared to $117Â million in the third quarter of 2023. This decrease was mainly due to higher S&M expenses in the third quarter of 2024. Other Activities We have other sources of revenues, primarily the sale of APIs to third parties, certain contract manufacturing services and an out-licensing platform offering a portfolio of products to other pharmaceutical companies through our affiliate Medis. Our other activities are not included in our United States, Europe or International Markets segments described above. On JanuaryÂ 31, 2024, we announced that we intend to divest our API business (including its R&D, manufacturing and commercial activities) through a sale, which divestment is expected to be completed in the first half of 2025. The intention to divest is in alignment with our Pivot to Growth strategy. However, there can be no assurance regarding the ultimate timing or structure of a potential divestiture or that a divestiture will be agreed or completed at all. Our revenues from other activities in the third quarter of 2024 were $229Â million, an increase of 6% in U.S. dollars, or 5% in local currency terms, compared to the third quarter of 2023. API sales to third parties in the third quarter of 2024 were $130Â million, reflecting an increase of 4% in both U.S. dollars and local currency terms, compared to the third quarter of 2023, following a reallocation of an immaterial business within our other activities, in line with our intention to divest our API business. Teva Consolidated Results The data presented with respect to other asset impairments, restructuring and other items, operating income (loss), income taxes, net income (loss) attributable to Teva and earnings (loss) per share for the prior period have been revised to reflect a revision in relation to a contingent consideration and related expenses in our consolidated financial statements. For additional information, see note 1c to our consolidated financial statements. Revenues Revenues in the third quarter of 2024 were $4,332Â million, an increase of 13% in U.S. dollars, or 15% in local currency terms, compared to the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly due to higher revenues from generic products in all our segments, from AUSTEDO in our United States segment, as well as from the sale of product rights in our Europe and International Markets segments. See â€œâ€”United States Revenues,â€ â€œâ€”Europe Revenues,â€ â€œâ€”International Markets Revenuesâ€ and â€œâ€”Other Activitiesâ€ above. Exchange rate movements during the third quarter of 2024, including hedging effects, negatively impacted revenues by $88Â million, compared to the third quarter of 2023. See note 8d to our consolidated financial statements. Â 68 Table of Contents Gross Profit Gross profit in the third quarter of 2024 was $2,148Â million, an increase of 16% compared to $1,851Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Gross profit margin was 49.6% in the third quarter of 2024, compared to 48.1% in the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly due to a favorable mix of products, primarily AUSTEDO, partially offset by a negative impact from foreign exchange rate movements including hedging effects. Research and Development (R&D) Expenses, net Our R&D activities for innovative medicines and biosimilar products in each of our segments include costs of discovery research, preclinical work, drug formulation, early- and late-stage clinical development and product registration costs. These expenditures are reported net of contributions received from collaboration partners. Our spending takes place throughout the development process, including (i)Â early-stage projects in both discovery and preclinical phases; (ii)Â middle-stage projects in clinical programs up to Phase 3; (iii) late-stage projects in Phase 3 programs, including where a new drug application is currently pending approval; (iv)Â post-approval studies for marketed products; and (v)Â indirect expenses, such as costs of internal administration, infrastructure and personnel. Our R&D activities for generic products in each of our segments include both (i)Â direct expenses relating to product formulation, analytical method development, stability testing, management of bioequivalence and other clinical studies and regulatory filings; and (ii)Â indirect expenses, such as costs of internal administration, infrastructure and personnel. In the third quarter of 2024, our R&D expenses related primarily to innovative product candidates and marketed products in immunology and immuno-oncology, neuroscience (such as neuropsychiatry, including post-approval commitments) and selected other areas, as well as generic products and biosimilars. R&D expenses, net in the third quarter of 2024 were $240Â million, a decrease of 5% compared to $253Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Our lower R&D expenses, net in the third quarter of 2024 were largely driven by reimbursements from our strategic partnerships (see note 2 to our consolidated financial statements), reflecting a decrease related to our late-stage innovative pipeline, partially offset by an increase in R&D expenses relating to immunology projects. As we continue to execute on our Pivot to Growth strategy, we see higher R&D spend in some of our late-stage innovative pipeline assets. R&D expenses as a percentage of revenues were 5.5% in the third quarter of 2024, compared to 6.6% in the third quarter of 2023. Innovative Medicines Pipeline Below is a description of key products in our innovative medicines pipeline as of NovemberÂ 1, 2024: Â Â Â Phase 2 Â Phase 3 Neuroscience Â Â OlanzapineÂ LAI (TEV-â€˜749) Schizophrenia (September 2022) Immunology Â DuvakitugÂ (anti-TL1A)Â (1) (TEV-â€™574) InflammatoryÂ BowelÂ Disease Â ICS/SABA(3) (TEV-â€™248) Respiratory (February 2023) Â Emrusolmin(2) (TEV-â€˜286) Multiple System Atropy Â Â (1) In collaboration with Sanofi. (2) In collaboration with Modag. (3) In collaboration with Launch Therapeutics. Â 69 Table of Contents Biosimilar Products Pipeline We have additional biosimilar products in development internally and with our partners that are in various stages of clinical trials and regulatory review worldwide, including Phase 3 clinical trials for biosimilars to XgevaÂ® (denosumab) and XolairÂ® (omalizumab), biosimilars to EyleaÂ® (afilbercept), SimponiÂ®, Simponi AriaÂ® (golimumab) and EntyvioÂ® (vedolizymab), which are in collaboration with Alvotech for the U.S. market, as well as our proposed biosimilar to ProliaÂ® (denosumab), which was submitted for regulatory review in the U.S. and Europe. Selling and Marketing (S&M) Expenses S&M expenses in the third quarter of 2024 were $626Â million, an increase of 9% compared to the third quarter of 2023. This increase was mainly a result of the factors discussed above under â€œâ€”United States segmentâ€”S&M Expenses,â€ â€œâ€”Europe segmentâ€” S&M Expensesâ€ and â€œâ€”International Markets Segmentâ€”S&M Expenses.â€ S&M expenses as a percentage of revenues were 14.5% in the third quarter of 2024, compared to 15.0% in the third quarter of 2023. General and Administrative (G&A) Expenses G&A expenses in the third quarter of 2024 were $298Â million, an increase of 11% compared to the third quarter of 2023. G&A expenses as a percentage of revenues were 6.9% in the third quarter of 2024 compared to 7.0% in the third quarter of 2023. Intangible Asset Impairments We recorded expenses of $28Â million for identifiable intangible asset impairments in the third quarter of 2024, compared to expenses of $47Â million in the third quarter of 2023. See note 5 to our consolidated financial statements. Goodwill Impairment We recorded a goodwill impairment charge of $600Â million related to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit in the third quarter of 2024. No goodwill impairment charge was recorded in the third quarter of 2023. See note 6 to our consolidated financial statements. Other Asset Impairments, Restructuring and Other Items We recorded income of $23Â million for other asset impairments, restructuring and other items in the third quarter of 2024, compared to expenses of $57Â million in the third quarter of 2023. See note 12 to our consolidated financial statements. Legal Settlements and Loss Contingencies We recorded expenses of $450Â million in legal settlements and loss contingencies in the third quarter of 2024, compared to expenses of $314Â million in the third quarter of 2023. See note 9 to our consolidated financial statements. Other Income (Loss) Other income in the third quarter of 2024 was $21Â million, compared to $9Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Other income in the third quarter of 2024 included a capital gain from the sale of a business in our International Markets segment. Operating Income (Loss) Operating loss was $51Â million in the third quarter of 2024, compared to an operating income of $344Â million in the third quarter of 2023. This decrease was mainly due to a goodwill impairment charge and higher legal settlements and loss contingencies, partially offset by higher gross profit in the third quarter of 2024. Operating loss as a percentage of revenues was 1.2% in the third quarter of 2024, compared to an operating income as a percentage of revenues of 8.9% in the third quarter of 2023. Â 70 Table of Contents Financial Expenses, Net In the third quarter of 2024, financial expenses, net were $272Â million, mainly comprised of net-interest expenses of $225Â million and a negative exchange rate impact driven mainly from currencies which we were unable to hedge. In the third quarter of 2023, financial expenses, net were $280Â million, mainly comprised of net-interest expenses of $247Â million and a negative exchange rate impact driven mainly from currencies which we were unable to hedge. Reconciliation Table to Consolidated Income (Loss) Before Income Taxes The following table presents a reconciliation of our segment profits to our consolidated operating income (loss) and to consolidated income (loss) before income taxes for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â ThreeÂ monthsÂ endedSeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â United States profit Â Â $ 748 Â Â Â $ 571 Â Europe profit Â Â Â 373 Â Â Â Â 338 Â International Markets profit Â Â Â 109 Â Â Â Â 117 Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Total reportable segments profit Â Â Â 1,230 Â Â Â Â 1,025 Â Profit (loss) of other activities Â Â Â (16)Â Â Â Â (5)Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Total segments profit Â Â Â 1,214 Â Â Â Â 1,020 Â Amounts not allocated to segments: Â Â Â Â Amortization Â Â Â 146 Â Â Â Â 145 Â Other assets impairments, restructuring and other items* Â Â Â (23)Â Â Â Â 57 Â Goodwill impairment Â Â Â 600 Â Â Â Â â€"â€‚ Â Intangible assets impairments Â Â Â 28 Â Â Â Â 47 Â Legal settlements and loss contingencies Â Â Â 450 Â Â Â Â 314 Â Other unallocated amounts Â Â Â 64 Â Â Â Â 112 Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Consolidated operating income (loss) * Â Â Â (51)Â Â Â Â 344 Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Financial expenses, net Â Â Â 272 Â Â Â Â 280 Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Consolidated income (loss) before income taxes * Â Â $ (324)Â Â Â $ 64 Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â * The data presented for the prior period have been revised to reflect a revision in the presentation of these items in the consolidated financial statements. For additional information see note 1c to our consolidated financial statements. Income Taxes In the third quarter of 2024, we recognized a tax expense of $69Â million, on a pre-tax loss of $324Â million. In the third quarter of 2023, we recognized a tax benefit of $12Â million, on a pre-tax income of $64Â million. See note 11 to our consolidated financial statements. Net Income (Loss) Attributable to Teva Net loss was $437Â million in the third quarter of 2024, compared to a net income of $69Â million in the third quarter of 2023. This decrease was mainly due to changes in operating (income) loss discussed above. Â 71 Table of Contents Diluted Shares Outstanding and Earnings (Loss) per Share The weighted average diluted shares outstanding used for the fully diluted share calculations for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 was 1,133Â million shares and 1,135Â million shares, respectively. Diluted loss per share was $0.39 in the third quarter of 2024, compared to diluted earnings per share of $0.06 in the third quarter of 2023. See note 13 to our consolidated financial statements. Share Count for Market Capitalization We calculate share amounts using the outstanding number of shares (i.e., excluding treasury shares) plus shares that would be outstanding upon the exercise of options and vesting of RSUs and PSUs, and the conversion of our convertible senior debentures, in each case, at period end. As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, the fully diluted share count for purposes of calculating our market capitalization was approximately 1,167Â million shares and 1,157Â million shares, respectively. Impact of Currency Fluctuations on Results of Operations In the third quarter of 2024, approximately 45% of our revenues were denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar. Because our results are reported in U.S. dollars, we are subject to significant foreign currency risks. Accordingly, changes in the rate of exchange between the U.S. dollar and local currencies in the markets in which we operate (primarily the euro, British pound, Russian ruble, Canadian dollar, Swiss franc, Japanese yen and the new Israeli shekel) impact our results. During the third quarter of 2024, the following main currencies relevant to our operations decreased in value against the U.S. dollar (each compared on a quarterly average basis): Argentinian peso by 67%, Turkish lira by 20%, Brazilian real by 12%, Ukraine hryvna by 10% and Mexican peso by 10%. The following main currencies relevant to our operations increased in value against the U.S. dollar: Polish zloty by 6%, Russian ruble by 6%, Swedish krona by 4% and the euro by 1%. As a result, exchange rate movements during the third quarter of 2024, including hedging effects, negatively impacted overall revenues by $88Â million and operating income by $57Â million, compared to the third quarter of 2023. In the third quarter of 2024, a negative hedging impact of $9Â million was recognized under revenues, and a positive hedging impact of $1Â million was recognized under cost of sales. In the third quarter of 2023, a positive hedging impact of $22Â million was recognized under revenues and a negative hedging impact of $7Â million was recognized under cost of sales. Hedging transactions against future projected revenues and expenses are recognized on the balance sheet at their fair value on a quarterly basis, while the foreign exchange impact on the underlying revenues and expenses may occur in subsequent quarters. See note 8d to our consolidated financial statements. Commencing in the third quarter of 2018, the cumulative inflation in Argentina exceeded 100% or more over a three-year period. Although this triggered highly inflationary accounting treatment, it did not have a material impact on our results of operations. Commencing in the second quarter of 2022, the cumulative inflation in Turkey exceeded 100% or more over a three-year period. Although this triggered highly inflationary accounting treatment, it did not have a material impact on our results of operations. Comparison of Nine Months Ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 to Nine Months Ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Unless specified otherwise, the factors used to explain quarterly changes on a year-over-year basis are also relevant for the comparison of the results for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023. Where there are different factors affecting the nine months comparison, we have described them below. Â 72 Table of Contents Segment Information United States Segment The following table presents revenues, expenses and profit for our United States segment for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â NineÂ monthsÂ endedÂ SeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S.Â $Â inÂ millionsÂ /Â %Â ofÂ SegmentÂ Revenues) Â Revenues Â Â $ 6,060 Â Â Â Â 100 %Â Â $ 5,465 Â Â Â Â 100 %Â Gross profit Â Â Â 3,291 Â Â Â Â 54.3 %Â Â Â 2,866 Â Â Â Â 52.4 %Â R&D expenses Â Â Â 475 Â Â Â Â 7.8 %Â Â Â 460 Â Â Â Â 8.4 %Â S&M expenses Â Â Â 789 Â Â Â Â 13.0 %Â Â Â 700 Â Â Â Â 12.8 %Â G&A expenses Â Â Â 300 Â Â Â Â 5.0 %Â Â Â 289 Â Â Â Â 5.3 %Â Other loss (income) Â Â Â (1)Â Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â (3)Â Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Segment profit* Â Â $ 1,727 Â Â Â Â 28.5 %Â Â $ 1,421 Â Â Â Â 26.0 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â * Segment profit does not include amortization and certain other items. Revenues from our Europe segment in the first nine months of 2024 were $3,749Â million, an increase of 7% or $257Â million, compared to the first nine months of 2023. In local currency terms, revenues increased by 6% compared to the first nine months of 2023. Revenues by Major Products and Activities The following table presents revenues for our Europe segment by major products and activities for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â NineÂ monthsÂ endedÂ SeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â Percentage Change 2024-2023 Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â (U.S.Â $Â inÂ millions) Â Â Â Â Â Generic products Â Â $ 2,947 Â Â Â $ 2,727 Â Â Â Â 8 %Â AJOVY Â Â Â 158 Â Â Â Â 115 Â Â Â Â 37 %Â COPAXONE Â Â Â 163 Â Â Â Â 174 Â Â Â Â (6 %)Â Respiratory products Â Â Â 183 Â Â Â Â 195 Â Â Â Â (6 %)Â Other* Â Â Â 299 Â Â Â Â 282 Â Â Â Â 6 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Total Â Â $ 3,749 Â Â Â $ 3,493 Â Â Â Â 7 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â * Other revenues in the first nine months of 2024 include the sale of certain product rights. Europe Gross Profit Gross profit from our Europe segment in the first nine months of 2024 was $2,113Â million, an increase of 9% compared to $1,943Â million in the first nine months of 2023. Gross profit margin for our Europe segment in the first nine months of 2024 increased to 56.3% compared to 55.6% in the first nine months of 2023. This increase was mainly due to price increases of generic products as a result of market conditions such as inflationary pressures in certain markets. Europe R&D Expenses R&D expenses relating to our Europe segment in the first nine months of 2024 were $173Â million, an increase of 3% compared to $168Â million in the first nine months of 2023. Â 75 Table of Contents International Markets Segment The following table presents revenues, expenses and profit for our International Markets segment for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â Nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S.Â $Â inÂ millionsÂ /Â %Â ofÂ SegmentÂ Revenues) Â Revenues Â Â $ 1,802 Â Â Â Â 100 %Â Â $ 1,750 Â Â Â Â 100 %Â Gross profit Â Â Â 889 Â Â Â Â 49.3 %Â Â Â 861 Â Â Â Â 49.2 %Â R&D expenses Â Â Â 85 Â Â Â Â 4.7 %Â Â Â 81 Â Â Â Â 4.6 %Â S&M expenses Â Â Â 397 Â Â Â Â 22.0 %Â Â Â 353 Â Â Â Â 20.2 %Â G&A expenses Â Â Â 109 Â Â Â Â 6.0 %Â Â Â 105 Â Â Â Â 6.0 %Â Other loss (income) Â Â Â (1)Â Â Â Â Â§ Â Â Â (34)Â Â Â Â (2.0 %)Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Segment profit* Â Â $ 299 Â Â Â Â 16.6 %Â Â $ 356 Â Â Â Â 20.4 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â * Segment profit does not include amortization and certain other items. Â§ Represents an amount less than 0.5%. International Markets Revenues Our International Markets segment includes all countries in which we operate other than the United States and the countries included in our Europe segment. As part of a recent shift in executive management responsibilities, commencing JanuaryÂ 1, 2024, Canada is reported under our International Markets segment and is no longer included as part of our United States segment. Prior period amounts were recast to reflect this change. See note 15 to our consolidated financial statements. Revenues from our International Markets segment in the first nine months of 2024 were $1,802Â million, an increase of $53Â million, or 3%, compared to the first nine months of 2023. In local currency terms, revenues increased by 19%, compared to the first nine months of 2023. In the first nine months of 2024, revenues were negatively impacted by exchange rate fluctuations of $281Â million including hedging effects, compared to the first nine months of 2023. Revenues in the first nine months of 2024 included a negligible hedging impact compared to a positive hedging impact of $12Â million in the first nine months of 2023, which are included in â€œOtherâ€ in the table below. See note 8d to our consolidated financial statements. Revenues by Major Products and Activities The following table presents revenues for our International Markets segment by major products and activities for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â NineÂ monthsÂ endedÂ SeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â PercentageChange2024-2023 Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Â Â Â Â Generic products Â Â $ 1,440 Â Â Â $ 1,425 Â Â Â Â 1 %Â AJOVY Â Â Â 63 Â Â Â Â 45 Â Â Â Â 39 %Â COPAXONE Â Â Â 38 Â Â Â Â 50 Â Â Â Â (23 %)Â Other* Â Â Â 261 Â Â Â Â 229 Â Â Â Â 14 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Total Â Â $ 1,802 Â Â Â $ 1,750 Â Â Â Â 3 %Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â * Other revenues in the first nine months of 2024 include the sale of certain product rights. Â 76 Table of Contents International Markets Gross Profit Gross profit from our International Markets segment in the first nine months of 2024 was $889Â million, compared to $861Â million in the first nine months of 2023. Gross profit margin for our International Markets segment in the first nine months of 2024 was 49.3%, compared to 49.2% in the first nine months of 2023. International Markets R&D Expenses R&D expenses relating to our International Markets segment in the first nine months of 2024 were $85Â million, an increase of 5% compared to $81Â million in the first nine months of 2023. International Markets S&M Expenses S&M expenses relating to our International Markets segment in the first nine months of 2024 were $397Â million, an increase of 12% compared to $353Â million in the first nine months of 2023. International Markets G&A Expenses G&A expenses relating to our International Markets segment in the first nine months of 2024 were $109Â million an increase of 3% compared to $105Â million in the first nine months of 2023. International Markets Other Income Other income in the first nine months of 2024 was $1Â million, compared to $34Â million in the first nine months of 2023. Other income in the first nine months of 2023 included a capital gain from the sale of assets. International Markets Profit Profit from our International Markets segment in the first nine months of 2024 was $299Â million, a decrease of 16%, compared to $356Â million in the first nine months of 2023. Other Activities We have other sources of revenues, primarily the sale of APIs to third parties, certain contract manufacturing services and an out-licensing platform offering a portfolio of products to other pharmaceutical companies through our affiliate Medis. Our other activities are not included in our United States, Europe or International Markets segments described above. On JanuaryÂ 31, 2024, we announced that we intend to divest our API business (including its R&D, manufacturing and commercial activities) through a sale, which divestment is expected to be completed in the first half of 2025. The intention to divest is in alignment with our Pivot to Growth strategy. However, there can be no assurance regarding the ultimate timing or structure of a potential divestiture or that a divestiture will be agreed or completed at all. Our revenues from other activities in the first nine months of 2024 were $703Â million, an increase of 3% in both U.S. dollars and in local currency terms, compared to the first nine months of 2023. API sales to third parties in the first nine months of 2024 were $409Â million, an increase of 4% in both U.S. dollars and local currency terms, compared to the first nine months of 2023, following a reallocation of an immaterial business within our other activities, in line with our intention to divest our API business. Teva Consolidated Results The data presented with respect to other asset impairments, restructuring and other items, operating income (loss), income taxes, net income (loss) attributable to Teva and earnings (loss) per share for the prior period have been revised to reflect a revision in relation to a contingent consideration and related expenses in the consolidated financial statements. For additional information, see note 1c to our consolidated financial statements. Revenues Revenues in the first nine months of 2024 were $12,315Â million, an increase of 8% compared to the first nine months of 2023. In local currency terms, revenues increased by 10%, compared to the first nine months of 2023. Â 77 Table of Contents Exchange rate movements during the first nine months of 2024, including hedging effects, negatively impacted revenues by $249Â million, compared to the first nine months of 2023. See note 8d to our consolidated financial statements. Gross Profit Gross profit in the first nine months of 2024 was $5,943Â million, an increase of 14% compared to the first nine months of 2023. Gross profit margin was 48.3% in the first nine months of 2024, compared to 45.9% in the first nine months of 2023. Research and Development (R&D) Expenses R&D expenses in the first nine months of 2024 were $751Â million, an increase of 3% compared to the first nine months of 2023, as we continue to execute on our Pivot to Growth strategy, mainly related to investments in our innovative pipeline. R&D expenses as a percentage of revenues were 6.1% in the first nine months of 2024, compared to 6.4% in the first nine months of 2023. Selling and Marketing (S&M) Expenses S&M expenses in the first nine months of 2024 were $1,891Â million, an increase of 10% compared to the first nine months of 2023. S&M expenses as a percentage of revenues were 15.4% in the first nine months of 2024, compared to 15.2% in the first nine months of 2023. General and Administrative (G&A) Expenses G&A expenses in the first nine months of 2024 were $859Â million, a decrease of 1% compared to the first nine months of 2023. G&A expenses as a percentage of revenues were 7.0% in the first nine months of 2024, compared to 7.6% in the first nine months of 2023. Intangible Asset Impairments We recorded expenses of $169Â million for identifiable intangible asset impairments, in the first nine months of 2024, compared to expenses of $289Â million in the first nine months of 2023. See note 5 to our consolidated financial statements. Goodwill Impairment We recorded goodwill impairment charges of $1,000Â million related to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit in the first nine months of 2024, compared to a goodwill impairment charge of $700Â million related to our International Markets reporting unit in the first nine months of 2023. See note 6 to our consolidated financial statements. Other Asset Impairments, Restructuring and Other Items We recorded expenses of $931Â million for other asset impairments, restructuring and other items in the first nine months of 2024, compared to expenses of $276Â million in the first nine months of 2023. See note 12 to our consolidated financial statements. Legal Settlements and Loss Contingencies We recorded expenses of $638Â million in legal settlements and loss contingencies in the first nine months of 2024, compared to expenses of $1,009Â million in the first nine months of 2023. See note 9 to our consolidated financial statements. Other Income (Loss) Other income in the first nine months of 2024 was $22Â million, compared to $43Â million in the first nine months of 2023. Other income in the first nine months of 2023 included a capital gain from the sale of assets in our International Markets segment. Â 78 Table of Contents Operating Income (Loss) Operating loss was $274Â million in the first nine months of 2024, compared to an operating loss of $323Â million in the first nine months of 2023. The lower operating loss in the first nine months of 2024 was mainly due to higher gross profit and lower legal settlements and loss contingencies, partially offset by higher other asset impairments, restructuring and other items as well as higher goodwill impairment charges in the first nine months of 2024. Operating loss as a percentage of revenues was 2.2% in the first nine months of 2024, compared to an operating loss as a percentage of revenues of 2.8% in the first nine months of 2023. Financial Expenses, Net In the first nine months of 2024, financial expenses, net were $763Â million, mainly comprised of net-interest expenses of $691Â million and a negative exchange rate impact driven mainly from currencies which we were unable to hedge. In the first nine months of 2023, financial expenses, net were $808Â million, mainly comprised of net-interest expenses of $723Â million and a negative exchange rate impact driven mainly from currencies which we were unable to hedge. Reconciliation Table to Consolidated Income (Loss) Before Income Taxes The following table presents a reconciliation of our segment profits to our consolidated operating income (loss) and to consolidated income (loss) before income taxes for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â Â Nine months endedSeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â United States profit Â Â $ 1,727 Â Â Â $ 1,421 Â Europe profit Â Â Â 1,137 Â Â Â Â 1,017 Â International Markets profit Â Â Â 299 Â Â Â Â 356 Â Total reportable segments profit Â Â Â 3,163 Â Â Â Â 2,794 Â Profit of other activities Â Â Â (1)Â Â Â Â 22 Â Total segments profit Â Â Â 3,162 Â Â Â Â 2,816 Â Amounts not allocated to segments: Â Â Â Â Amortization Â Â Â 444 Â Â Â Â 471 Â Other assets impairments, restructuring and other items (1) Â Â Â 931 Â Â Â Â 276 Â Goodwill impairment Â Â Â 1,000 Â Â Â Â 700 Â Intangible assets impairments Â Â Â 169 Â Â Â Â 289 Â Legal settlements and loss contingencies Â Â Â 638 Â Â Â Â 1,009 Â Other unallocated amounts Â Â Â 254 Â Â Â Â 394 Â Â Â Â â€"â€, Â Â Â Â â€"â€, Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Consolidated operating income

See note 1C to our consolidated financial statements for additional information. Income Taxes In the first nine months 2024, we recognized a tax expense of $648Â million, on pre-tax loss of $1,037Â million. In the first nine months of 2023, we recognized a tax benefit of $48Â million, on pre-tax loss of $1,131Â million. See note 11 to our consolidated financial statements. Â 79 Table of Contents Net Income (Loss) Attributable to non-controlling interests Net loss attributable to non-controlling interests was $262Â million in the first nine months of 2024, compared to a net loss attributable to non-controlling interests of $60Â million in the first nine months of 2023. The higher net loss in the first nine months of 2024 was mainly due to higher impairments of tangible assets largely related to the classification of our business venture in Japan as held for sale. See note 12 to our consolidated financial statements. Net Income (Loss) Attributable to Teva Net loss was $1,422Â million in the first nine months of 2024, compared to a net loss of $1,022Â million in the first nine months of 2023. Diluted Shares Outstanding and Earnings (Loss) per Share The weighted average diluted shares outstanding used for the fully diluted share calculations for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 was 1,130Â million shares and 1,119Â million shares, respectively. Diluted loss per share was $1.26 for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, compared to diluted loss per share of $0.91 for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. See note 13 to our consolidated financial statements. Impact of Currency Fluctuations on Results of Operations In the first nine months of 2024, approximately 47% of our revenues were denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar. Because our results are reported in U.S. dollars, we are subject to significant foreign currency risks and, accordingly, changes in the exchange rate between the U.S. dollar and local currencies in markets in which we operate (primarily the euro, British pound, Canadian dollar, Swiss franc, Russian ruble, Japanese yen and new Israeli shekel) impact our results. During the first nine months of 2024, the following main currencies relevant to our operations decreased in value against the U.S. dollar: Argentinian peso by 72%, Turkish lira by 31%, Chilean peso by 12%, Japanese yen by 9% and Russian ruble by 8% (all compared on a nine-month average basis). The following main currencies relevant to our operations increased in value against the U.S. dollar: Polish zloty by 7%, British pound by 3%, Swiss franc by 2% and Swedish krona by 1%. As a result, exchange rate movements during the first nine months of 2024, including hedging effects, negatively impacted overall revenues by $249Â million and our operating income by $124Â million, in comparison to the first nine months of 2023. In the first nine months of 2024, a positive hedging impact of $1Â million was recognized under revenues, and a negative hedging impact of $5Â million was recognized under cost of sales. In the first nine months of 2023, a positive hedging impact of $20Â million was recognized under revenues and a negative hedging impact of $8 was recognized under cost of sales. Hedging transactions against future projected revenues and expenses are recognized on the balance sheet at their fair value on a quarterly basis, while the foreign exchange impact on the underlying revenues and expenses may occur in subsequent quarters. See note 8d to our consolidated financial statements. 2024 Aggregated Contractual Obligations There have not been any material changes in our assessment of material contractual obligations and commitments as set forth in Item 7 of our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Liquidity and Capital Resources Total balance sheet assets were $41,758Â million as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, compared to $43,479Â million as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Our working capital balance, which includes accounts receivables net of SR&A, inventories, prepaid expenses and other current assets, accounts payables, employee-related obligations, accrued expenses and other current liabilities, was negative $2,009Â million as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, compared to negative $1,374Â million as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. This decrease was mainly due to a classification of the working capital balance related to our business venture in Japan as held for sale (see note 2 to our consolidated financial statements), an increase in provisions for legal settlements and loss contingencies, and a negative impact from several tax items, primarily the agreement with the Israeli Tax Authorities entered into in June 2024 (see note 11 to our consolidated financial statements), partially offset by a decrease in accounts payables. Â 80 Table of Contents Employee-related obligations, as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 were $619Â million, compared to $611Â million as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. The increase in the first nine months of 2024 was mainly due to an accrual for performance incentive payments to employees for 2024, partially offset by performance incentive payments to employees for 2023. Cash investment in property, plant and equipment and intangible assets in the third quarter of 2024 was $148Â million compared to $149Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Depreciation in the third quarter of 2024 was $113Â million, compared to $138Â million in the third quarter of 2023. Cash and cash equivalents as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 were $3,319Â million compared to $3,226Â million as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Our cash on hand that is not used for ongoing operations is generally invested in bank deposits as well as liquid securities that bear fixed and floating rates. Tevaâ€™s principal sources of short-term liquidity are its cash on hand, existing cash investments, liquid securities and available credit facilities, primarily our $1.8Â billion unsecured syndicated sustainability-linked revolving credit facility, entered into in April 2022, as amended in February 2023 and on MayÂ 3, 2024 (â€œRCFâ€). See note 7 to our consolidated financial statements. Debt Balance and Movements As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, our debt was $18,980Â million, compared to $19,833Â million as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. This decrease was mainly due to repayment at maturity of $956Â million of our 6% senior notes, partially offset by $88Â million of exchange rate fluctuations. In April 2024, we repaid $956Â million of our 6% senior notes at maturity. In October 2024, we repaid at maturity $685Â million of our 1.13% senior notes due in 2024. As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, our debt was effectively denominated in the following currencies: 58% in U.S. dollars, 40% in euros and 2% in Swiss francs. The portion of total debt classified as short-term as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 was 14% compared to 8% as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Our financial leverage, which is the ratio between our debt and the sum of our debt and equity, was 75% as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, compared to 71% as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Our average debt maturity was approximately 5.5 years as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, compared to 6.0 years as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Total Equity Total equity was $6,383Â million as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, compared to $8,126Â million as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023. This decrease was mainly due to a net loss of $1,684Â million, and a negative impact from exchange rate fluctuations of $94Â million. Exchange rate fluctuations affected our balance sheet, as approximately 94% of our net assets as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 (including both monetary and non-monetary assets) were in currencies other than the U.S. dollar. When compared to DecemberÂ 31, 2023, changes in currency rates as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 had a negative impact of $94Â million on our equity. The following main currencies increased in value against the U.S. dollar: British pound by 5%, Polish zloty by 3% and the euro by 1%. The following main currencies decreased in value against the U.S. dollar: Mexican peso by 16%, Russian ruble by 6%, Chilean peso by 2%, Canadian dollar by 2% and Japanese yen by 1%. All comparisons are on a year-to-date basis. Cash Flow We continually seek to improve the efficiency of our working capital management. Periodically, as part of our cash and commercial relationship management activities, we make decisions in our commercial and supply chain activities which may drive an acceleration of receivable payments from customers, or deceleration of payments to third parties. This has the effect of increasing or decreasing cash from operations during any given period. In connection with strategic continual improvement, we obtained more favorable payment terms from many of our vendors which are expected to continue in future periods. In addition, in periods in which receivable payments from customers are delayed, we have and expect we may in the future extend the time to pay certain vendors, so as to balance our liquidity position. Such decisions may have a material impact on our annual operating cash flow measurement, as well as on our quarterly results. Â 81 Table of Contents Cash flow generated from operating activities during the third quarter of 2024 was $693Â million, compared to $5Â million of cash flow generated from operating activities in the third quarter of 2023. The higher cash flow generated from operating activities in the third quarter of 2024 resulted mainly from higher profit in our United States segment, as well as from changes in working capital items, including a positive impact from accounts receivables, net of SR&A, and from accounts payables and inventory levels, partially offset by higher legal payments during the third quarter of 2024. During the third quarter of 2024, we generated free cash flow of $922Â million, which we define as comprising $693Â million in cash flow generated from operating activities, $339Â million in beneficial interest collected in exchange for securitized accounts receivables (under our EU securitization program) and $38Â million in divestitures of businesses and other assets, partially offset by $148Â million in cash used for capital investment. During the third quarter of 2023, we generated free cash flow of $229Â million, which we define as comprising $5Â million in cash flow generated from operating activities, $362Â million in beneficial interest collected in exchange for securitized accounts receivables (under our EU securitization program) and $10Â million in proceeds from divestitures of businesses and other assets, partially offset by $149Â million in cash used for capital investment. The increase in the third quarter of 2024, resulted mainly from higher cash flow generated from operating activities. Dividends We have not paid dividends on our ordinary shares or ADSs since December 2017. Commitments In addition to financing obligations under short-term debt and long-term senior notes and loans, debentures and convertible debentures, our major contractual obligations and commercial commitments include leases, royalty payments, contingent payments pursuant to acquisition agreements, collaboration agreements, development funding agreements and participation in joint ventures associated with R&D activities. For further information on our agreements with mAbxience, Launch Therapeutics and Abingworth, Biolojic Design, Royalty Pharma, Sanofi, Modag, Alvotech, Takeda and MedinCell, see note 2 to our consolidated financial statements. We are committed to paying royalties to owners of know-how, partners in alliances and certain other arrangements, and to parties that financed R&D at a wide range of rates as a percentage of sales of certain products, as defined in the agreements. In some cases, the royalty period is not defined; in other cases, royalties will be paid over various periods not exceeding 20 years. In connection with certain development, supply and marketing, and research and collaboration or services agreements, we are required to indemnify, in unspecified amounts, the parties to such agreements against third-party claims relating to (i)Â infringement or violation of intellectual property or other rights of such third party; or (ii)Â damages to users of the related products. Except as described in our financial statements, we are not aware of any material pending action that may result in the counterparties to these agreements claiming such indemnification. Non-GAAP Net Income and Non-GAAP EPS Data We present non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP earnings per share (â€œEPSâ€) as management believes that such data provide useful information to investors because they are used by management and our Board of Directors, in conjunction with other performance metrics, to evaluate our operational performance, to prepare and evaluate our work plans and annual budgets and ultimately to evaluate the performance of management, including annual compensation. While other qualitative factors and judgment also affect annual compensation, the principal quantitative element in the determination of such compensation are performance targets tied to the work plan, which are based on these non-GAAP measures. Non-GAAP financial measures have no standardized meaning and accordingly have limitations in their usefulness to investors. Investors are cautioned that, unlike financial measures prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP, non-GAAP measures may not be comparable with the calculation of similar measures for other companies. These non-GAAP financial measures are presented solely to permit investors to more fully understand how management assesses our performance. The limitations of using non-GAAP financial measures as performance measures are that they provide a view of our results of operations without including all events during a period and may not provide a comparable view of our performance to other companies in the pharmaceutical industry. Investors should consider non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP EPS in addition to, and not as replacements for, or superior to, measures of financial performance prepared in accordance with GAAP. Â 82 Table of Contents In preparing our non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP EPS data, we exclude items that either have a non-recurring impact on our financial performance or which, in the judgment of our management, are items that, either as a result of their nature or size, could, were they not excluded, potentially cause investors to extrapolate future performance from an improper base that is not reflective of our underlying business performance. Certain of these items are also excluded because of the difficulty in predicting their timing and scope. The items excluded from our non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP EPS include: Â Â â€¢ Â amortization of purchased intangible assets; Â Â â€¢ Â legal settlements and material litigation fees and/or loss contingencies, due to the difficulty in predicting their timing and scope; Â Â â€¢ Â impairments of long-lived assets, including intangibles, property, plant and equipment and goodwill; Â Â â€¢ Â restructuring expenses, including severance, retention costs, contract cancellation costs and certain accelerated depreciation expenses primarily related to the rationalization of our plants or to certain other strategic activities, such as the realignment of R&D focus or other similar activities; Â Â â€¢ Â acquisition- or divestment- related items, including changes in contingent consideration, integration costs, banker and other professional fees and inventory step-up; Â Â â€¢ Â expenses related to our equity compensation; Â Â â€¢ Â significant one-time financing costs, amortization of issuance costs and terminated derivative instruments, and marketable securities investment valuation gains/losses; Â Â â€¢ Â unusual tax items; Â Â â€¢ Â other awards or settlement amounts, either paid or received; Â Â â€¢ Â other exceptional items that we believe are sufficiently large that their exclusion is important to facilitate an understanding of trends in our financial results, such as impacts due to significant costs for remediation of plants, or other unusual events; and Â Â â€¢ Â corresponding tax effects of the foregoing items. The following tables present our non-GAAP net income and non-GAAP EPS for the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, as well as reconciliations of each measure to their nearest GAAP equivalents: Â Â Â ThreeÂ monthsÂ endedSeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â Nine months endedSeptemberÂ 30, Â ($ in millions except per share amounts) Â 2024 Â Â â€ƒ2023â€ƒ Â Â 2024 Â Â â€ƒ2023â€ƒ Â Net income (Loss) attributable to Teva(1) Â ($) Â Â Â (437)Â Â Â 69 Â Â ($) Â Â Â (1,422)Â Â Â (1,022)Â Increase (decrease) for excluded items: Â Â Â Â Â Â Amortization of purchased intangible assets Â Â Â 146 Â Â Â 145 Â Â Â Â 444 Â Â Â 471 Â Legal settlements and loss contingencies(2) Â Â Â 450 Â Â Â 314 Â Â Â Â 638 Â Â Â 1,009 Â Goodwill impairment(3) Â Â Â 600 Â Â Â â€”â€‚Â Â Â Â 1,000 Â Â Â 700 Â Impairment of long-lived assets(4) Â Â Â (51)Â Â Â 48 Â Â Â Â Â 758 Â Â Â 310 Â Restructuring costs Â Â Â 21 Â Â Â 27 Â Â Â Â 52 Â Â Â 93 Â Equity compensation Â Â Â 29 Â Â Â 31 Â Â Â Â 89 Â Â Â â€ƒâ€ƒ93 Â Contingent consideration(1)(5) Â Â Â 34 Â Â Â â€ƒâ€ƒ27 Â Â Â Â 305 Â Â Â 140 Â Loss (Gain) on sale of business Â Â Â (20)Â Â Â (5)Â Â Â Â (21)Â Â Â (3)Â Accelerated depreciation Â Â Â 1 Â Â Â 25 Â Â Â Â 8 Â Â Â 74 Â Financial expenses Â Â Â 11 Â Â Â 14 Â Â Â Â 35 Â Â Â 53 Â Items attributable to non-controlling interests(4) Â Â Â 41 Â Â Â (1)Â Â Â Â (276)Â Â Â (91)Â Â 83 Table of Contents Other non-GAAP items(6) Â Â Â 56 Â Â Â 64 Â Â Â Â 162 Â Â Â 252 Â Corresponding tax effects and unusual tax items(7) Â Â Â (83)Â Â Â (80)Â Â Â Â 270 Â Â Â (315)Â Non-GAAP net income attributable to Teva Â ($) Â Â Â 798 Â Â Â 677 Â Â ($) Â Â Â 2,043 Â Â Â 1,762 Â Non-GAAP tax rate(8) Â Â Â 16.0 %Â Â Â 9.0 %Â Â Â Â 15.5 %Â Â Â 13.0 %Â GAAP diluted earnings (loss) per share attributable to Teva Â ($) Â Â Â (0.39)Â Â Â 0.06 Â Â ($) Â Â Â Â (1.26)Â Â Â (0.91)Â EPS difference(9) Â Â Â 1.08 Â Â Â 0.54 Â Â Â Â 3.04 Â Â Â 2.47 Â Non-GAAP diluted EPS attributable to Teva(9) Â ($) Â Â Â 0.69 Â Â Â 0.60 Â Â ($) Â Â Â Â 1.78 Â Â Â 1.56 Â Non-GAAP average number of shares (in millions)(9) Â Â Â 1,155 Â Â Â 1,135 Â Â Â Â 1,148 Â Â Â 1,131 Â Â (1) The data presented for the prior period have been revised to reflect a revision in the presentation of these items in the consolidated financial statements. (2) Adjustments for legal settlements and loss contingencies in the third quarter of 2024 were mainly related to a provision of $350Â million recorded in connection with a decision by the European Commission in its antitrust investigation into COPAXONEÂ®, and to an update to the estimated settlement provision of $121Â million for the opioid cases (mainly related to the settlement agreement with the city of Baltimore and the effect of the passage of time on the net present value of the discounted payments). Adjustments for legal settlements and loss contingencies in the third quarter of 2023 were mainly related to a provision of $270Â million in connection with the U.S. DOJ patient assistance program litigation. Adjustments for legal settlements and loss contingencies in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 were mainly related to a provision of $350Â million recorded in connection with a decision by the European Commission in its antitrust investigation into COPAXONEÂ®, and to an update to the estimated settlement provision of $239Â million for the opioid cases (mainly the effect of the passage of time on the net present value of the discounted payments and the settlement agreement with the city of Baltimore). Adjustments for legal settlements and loss contingencies in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 were mainly related to an update to the estimated provision of $370 million related to the DOJ patient assistance program litigation, an update to the estimated settlement provision of $248Â million related to the remaining opioid cases, the provision of $204Â million relating to the U.S. DOJ criminal antitrust charges on the marketing and pricing of certain Teva USA generic products, and the provision of $100Â million related to the settlement of the reverse-payment antitrust litigation over certain HIV medicines. See note 10 to our consolidated financial statements. (3) Goodwill impairment charges of $600Â million and $1,000Â million related to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit were recorded in the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, respectively. A goodwill impairment charge of $700Â million related to our International Markets reporting unit was recorded in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. (4) Adjustments for impairment of long-lived assets and items attributable to non-controlling interests, for the first nine months of 2024 primarily consisted of $561Â million and $275Â million, respectively, related to the classification of the business venture in Japan as held for sale. Adjustments for impairment of long-lived assets, for the first nine months of 2023 primarily consisted of $206 million related to impairments of identifiable product rights and $83 million related to impairments of IPR&D assets. (5) Adjustments for contingent consideration primarily related to a change in the estimated future royalty payments to Allergan in connection with lenalidomide capsules (the generic version of RevlimidÂ®), of $28Â million and $266Â million, respectively for the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, and of $23Â million and $111Â million, respectively for the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. (6) Other non-GAAP items include other exceptional items that we believe are sufficiently large that their exclusion is important to facilitate an understanding of trends in our financial results, primarily related to the rationalization of our plants, certain inventory write-offs, material litigation fees and other unusual events. (7) Adjustments for corresponding tax effects and unusual tax items for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, include a tax item in an amount of $495Â million related to the settlement agreement with the ITA to settle certain litigation with respect to taxes payable for the Companyâ€™s taxable years 2008 through 2020. (8) Non-GAAP tax rate is tax expenses (benefit) excluding the impact of non-GAAP tax adjustments presented above as a percentage of income (loss) before income taxes excluding the impact of non-GAAP adjustments presented above. GAAP tax rate for the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 was 21% and 62% respectively and for the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 was 19% and 4% respectively. Â (9) EPS difference and diluted non-GAAP EPS are calculated by dividing our non-GAAP net income attributable to Teva by our non-GAAP diluted weighted average number of shares. Â 84 Table of Contents Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements Except for securitization transactions, which are disclosed in note 10f to our consolidated financial statements included in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023, we do not have any material off-balance sheet arrangements. Critical Accounting Policies For a summary of our significant accounting policies, see note 1 to our consolidated financial statements and â€œCritical Accounting Policiesâ€ included in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Additionally, see note 6 to our consolidated financial statements on this Form 10-Q for disclosure regarding reporting units at risk identified during our annual goodwill impairment test. Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements See note 1 to our consolidated financial statements. Â ITEMâ€‰3. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK There has not been any material change in our assessment of market risk as set forth in Item 7A to our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Â ITEMâ€‰4. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES Disclosure Controls and Procedures Teva maintains â€œdisclosure controls and proceduresâ€ (as defined inÂ RulesÂ 13a-15(e)Â andÂ 15d-15(e)Â under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the â€œExchange Actâ€)) that are designed to provide reasonable assurance that information required to be disclosed in Tevaâ€™s reports filed or submitted under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the SECâ€™s rules and forms, and that such information is accumulated and communicated to Tevaâ€™s management, including our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer, as appropriate, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure. In designing and evaluating these disclosure controls and procedures, management recognizes that any controls and procedures, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable assurance of achieving the desired control objective. After evaluating the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer concluded that, due to a material weakness in internal control over financial reporting described below, as of such date, the Companyâ€™s disclosure controls and procedures were not effective. Previously Identified Material Weakness in Internal Control over Financial Reporting A material weakness is a deficiency, or a combination of deficiencies, in internal control over financial reporting, such that there is a reasonable possibility that a material misstatement of the companyâ€™s annual or interim financial statements will not be prevented or detected on a timely basis. As previously disclosed, in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023,Â during the preparation of our consolidated financial statements for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023, management identified a material weakness in our internal control over financial reporting, which continues to exist as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024. We did not design and maintain effective control over the contingent consideration liability and related expenses in connection with estimated future royalty payments. This material weakness resulted in the misstatement of our â€œOther asset impairments, restructuring and other items,â€ â€œNet incomeâ€ and â€œOther taxes and long-term liabilitiesâ€ and related financial disclosures, and led to the revision of the Companyâ€™s consolidated financial statements for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2022, and the interim financial information for the quarterly and year-to-date periods ended JuneÂ 30, 2022, SeptemberÂ 30, 2022, DecemberÂ 31, 2022, MarchÂ 31, 2023, JuneÂ 30, 2023 and SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. Additionally, this material weakness could result in a misstatement of the aforementioned account balances or disclosures that would result in a material misstatement to the annual or interim consolidated financial statements that would not be prevented or detected. Â 85 Table of Contents Remediation Plan Management has designed and implemented the following specific controls to address the material weakness and enhance our disclosure controls and procedures over the contingent consideration liability: (i)Â defined responsibilities over the end-to-end process; (ii)Â enhanced the formality and rigor of reconciliation procedures; and (iii)Â implemented additional monitoring controls through management reviews. In addition, management has conducted trainings for the related control owners. Although the new controls have been designed and implemented, they have not been operated for a sufficient period of time for management to conclude, through testing, that these controls are operating effectively. Accordingly, the material weakness described above is not remediated as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024. Changes in Internal Control over Financial Reporting During the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, there were no changes in internal control over financial reporting that materially affected or are reasonably likely to materially affect Tevaâ€™s internal control over financial reporting. Â 86 Table of Contents PART II â€” OTHER INFORMATION Â ITEMâ€‰1. LEGAL PROCEEDINGS We are subject to various litigation and other legal proceedings. For a discussion of these matters, see â€œCommitments and Contingenciesâ€ included in note 10 to our consolidated financial statements included in Part I, Item 1 of this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q. Â ITEMâ€‰1A. RISK FACTORS There are no material changes to the risk factors previously disclosed in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023. Â ITEMâ€‰2. UNREGISTERED SALES OF EQUITY SECURITIES AND USE OF PROCEEDS Unregistered Sales of Equity Securities There were no sales of unregistered equity securities during the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024. Basis of presentation The accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the same basis as the annual consolidated financial statements. In the opinion of management, the financial statements reflect all normal and recurring adjustments necessary to fairly state the financial position and results of operations of Teva. The information included in this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes included in the Companyâ€™s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023, as filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (â€œSECâ€). The year-end balance sheet data was derived from the audited consolidated financial statements as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023, but not all disclosures required by generally accepted accounting principles in the United States (â€œU.S. GAAPâ€) are included. In preparing the Companyâ€™s consolidated financial statements, management is required to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, equity and disclosure of contingent liabilities and assets at the dates of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reported years. Actual results could differ from those estimates. In preparing the Companyâ€™s consolidated financial statements, management also considered the economic implications of inflation expectations on its critical and significant accounting estimates. As applicable to these consolidated financial statements, the most significant estimates and assumptions relate to determining the valuation and recoverability of IPR&D assets, marketed product rights and goodwill, assessing sales reserves and allowances in the United States, uncertain tax positions, valuation allowances and contingencies. These estimates could be impacted by higher costs and the ability to pass on such higher costs to customers, which is highly uncertain. Government actions taken to address macroeconomic developments, as well as their economic impact on Tevaâ€™s third-party manufacturers and suppliers, customers and markets, could also impact such estimates and may change in future periods. In February 2022, Russia launched an invasion of Ukraine. As of the date of these consolidated financial statements, sustained conflict and disruption in the region is ongoing. Russia and Ukraine markets are included in Tevaâ€™s International Markets segment results. Teva has no manufacturing or R&D facilities in these markets. During the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the impact of this conflict on Tevaâ€™s results of operation and financial condition continues to be immaterial. In October 2023, Israel was attacked by a terrorist organization and entered a state of war on several fronts. As of the date of these consolidated financial statements, sustained conflict in the region is ongoing. Israel is included in Tevaâ€™s International Markets segment results. Tevaâ€™s global headquarters and several manufacturing and R&D facilities are located in Israel. Currently, such activities in Israel remain largely unaffected. Teva continues to maintain contingency plans with backup production locations for key products. During the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the impact of this war on Tevaâ€™s results of operations and financial condition is immaterial, but such impact may increase, which could be material, as a result of the continuation, escalation or expansion of such war. Tevaâ€™s results of operations for the three and nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 are not necessarily indicative of results that could be expected for the entire fiscal year. Certain amounts in the consolidated financial statements and associated notes may not add up due to rounding. All percentages have been calculated using unrounded amounts. Â Â b. Significant accounting policies Recently adopted accounting pronouncements None. Recently issued accounting pronouncements, not yet adopted In December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09 â€œIncome Taxes (Topic 740): Improvements to Income Tax Disclosuresâ€. This guidance is intended to enhance the transparency and decision-usefulness of income tax disclosures. The amendments in ASU 2023-09 address investor requests for enhanced income tax information primarily through changes to disclosure regarding rate reconciliation and income taxes paid both in the U.S. and in foreign jurisdictions. ASU 2023-09 is effective for fiscal years beginning after DecemberÂ 15, 2024 on a prospective basis, with the option to apply the standard retrospectively. Early adoption is permitted. The Company is currently evaluating this guidance to determine the impact it may have on its consolidated financial statements disclosures. Â Â In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07 â€œSegment Reporting: Improvements to Reportable Segment Disclosuresâ€. This guidance expands public entitiesâ€™ segment disclosures primarily by requiring disclosure of significant segment expenses that are regularly provided to the chief operating decision maker and included within each reported measure of segment profit or loss, an amount and description of its composition for other segment items, and interim disclosures of a reportable segmentâ€™s profit or loss and assets. The guidance is effective for fiscal years beginning after DecemberÂ 15, 2023, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after DecemberÂ 15, 2024, with early adoption permitted. The amendments are required to be applied retrospectively to all prior periods presented in an entityâ€™s financial statements. The Company does not expect the adoption of the ASU to have a material impact on its consolidated financial statements related disclosures. In October 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-06 â€œDisclosure Improvements: Codification Amendments in Response to the SECâ€™s Disclosure Update and Simplification Initiative,â€ which incorporates certain SEC disclosure requirements into the FASB Accounting Standards Codification (â€œCodificationâ€). The amendments in the ASU are expected to clarify or improve disclosure and presentation requirements of a variety of Codification topics, allow investors to more easily compare entities subject to the SECâ€™s existing disclosures with those entities that were not previously subject to the requirements, and align the requirements in the Codification with the SECâ€™s regulations. The effective date for each amendment will be the date on which the SECâ€™s removal of that related disclosure from Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K becomes effective, with early adoption prohibited. The amendments in this ASU should be applied prospectively. The Company does not expect ASU 2023-06 will have a material impact to its consolidated financial statements. Â Â c. Revision of Previously Reported Consolidated Financial Statements In connection with the preparation of the consolidated financial statements as of and for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023, the Company identified errors in a single contingent consideration liability and related expenses in connection with estimated future royalty payments, along with corresponding deferred tax adjustments, that aggregated into an understatement of the contingent consideration liability of approximately $132Â million, of which $98Â million related to 2022 and $34Â million related to 2023. These errors resulted from the exclusion of royalty payments that should have been included in the fair value re-measurement calculation of the contingent consideration liability as of and for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2022, and the quarterly and year-to-date periods ended JuneÂ 30, SeptemberÂ 30 and DecemberÂ 31, 2022, and MarchÂ 31, JuneÂ 30 and SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. These errors did not impact the Companyâ€™s actual royalty payments, as well as total cash flows from operating activities, financing activities and investing activities in the periods stated above. The Company evaluated the errors, individually and in the aggregate, considering both qualitative and quantitative factors, and concluded that these errors did not have a material impact on any of the prior periods stated above. However, the aggregate amount of the prior period errors in 2022, would have been material to the consolidated financial statements for fiscal year 2023. Therefore, the Company has revised the prior periods impacted for these errors. The tables below present the impact of the revision on the line items within the Companyâ€™s consolidated financial statements for the relevant periods: Â Â Â Â Three months ended Â Â Nine months ended Â Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Â Â Â U.S $ in millions (except per share amounts) Â Â Â Â (Unaudited) Â Â Â Â As previously reported Â Â Adjustment Â Â AsÂ revised Â Â AsÂ previously reported Â Â Adjustment Â Â AsÂ revised Â Other asset impairments, restructuring and other items Â Â $ 46 Â Â Â Â 11 Â Â Â Â 57 Â Â $ 241 Â Â Â Â 34 Â Â Â Â 276 Â Operating income (loss) Â Â Â 355 Â Â Â (11)Â Â Â 344 Â Â Â (289)Â Â Â Â (34)Â Â Â Â (323)Â Income (loss) before income taxes Â Â Â 75 Â Â Â (11)Â Â Â 64 Â Â Â Â (1,097)Â Â Â (34)Â Â Â (1,131)Â Income taxes (benefit) Â Â Â (12)Â Â Â Â§Â Â Â (12)Â Â Â (48)Â Â Â Â§Â Â Â (48)Â Net income (loss) Â Â Â 88 Â Â Â (11)Â Â Â 77 Â Â Â (1,048)Â Â Â (34)Â Â Â (1,082)Â Net income (loss) attributable to Teva Â Â Â 80 Â Â Â (11)Â Â Â 69 Â Â Â (988)Â Â Â (34)Â Â Â (1,022)Â Earnings (loss) per share attributable to ordinary shareholders: Â Â Â Â Â Â Basic and diluted loss per share Â Â $ 0.07 Â Â Â (0.01)Â Â Â 0.06 Â Â $ (0.88)Â Â Â (0.04)Â Â Â (0.91)Â Â Â§ Represents an amount less than $0.5Â million. have, to access markets it does not operate in and to otherwise share development costs or business risks. The Companyâ€™s most significant agreements of this nature are summarized below. mAbxience In April 2024, Teva announced it entered into a strategic licensing agreement with mAbxience for a biosimilar candidate currently in development for the treatment of multiple oncology indications. Under the terms of the licensing agreement, mAbxience will develop and produce the biosimilar product and Teva will lead the regulatory processes and commercialization in multiple global markets, including Europe and the U.S. In September 2024, Teva and mAbxience entered into an amendment to the licensing agreement whereby, similar to the initial licensing agreement, mAbxience will lead the development and production of an anti-PD-1 oncology biosimilar candidate and Teva will manage regulatory approvals and oversee commercialization in the designated markets. Under the initial agreement, in the second quarter of 2024, Teva paid mAbxience upfront and milestone payments in a total amount of $20Â million, which were recorded as R&D expenses. Pursuant to the amendment of the licensing agreement, in the third quarter of 2024 Teva recognized upfront and milestone payments in a total amount of $15Â million as R&D expenses, of which $5Â million were paid in October 2024, and the remaining is due by the end of 2024. mAbxience may be eligible for additional future development, regulatory and commercial milestone payments, in an aggregate amount of up to $320Â million. Launch Therapeutics and Abingworth On MarchÂ 28, 2024, Teva and Launch Therapeutics, Inc. (â€œLaunch Therapeuticsâ€) entered into a clinical collaboration agreement to further accelerate the clinical research program of Tevaâ€™s ICS-SABA (TEV-â€˜248). As part of this clinical collaboration agreement Teva also entered into a development funding agreement with funds affiliated with Abingworth LLP (â€œAbingworthâ€). Under the clinical collaboration agreement, Launch Therapeutics, a clinical development company backed by Abingworth and Carlyle, the global investment firm, will have the lead role in the operational execution and management of the planned clinical trials. Teva will retain primary responsibility for manufacturing, regulatory interactions in the U.S., and commercialization. ICS-SABA (TEV-â€™248) is currently in Phase 3 for the treatment of asthma symptoms addressing both immediate symptoms and long-term inflammation. Under the development funding agreement, Abingworth will provide Teva up to $150Â million to fund ongoing development costs for ICS-SABA (TEV-â€˜248). In exchange and subject to regulatory approval, Teva will pay Abingworth a milestone payment in the amount actually funded by Abingworth up to $150Â million, as well as success payments based on ICS-SABA (TEV-â€˜248) sales. During the third quarter of 2024, Teva recorded $20Â millionÂ as reimbursement for R&D expensesÂ incurred in connection with this agreement. Biolojic Design On NovemberÂ 26, 2023, Teva entered into a license agreement with Biolojic Design Ltd. (â€œBiolojicâ€), pursuant to which Teva received exclusive rights to develop, manufacture and globally commercialize a BD9 multibody for the potential treatment of Atopic Dermatitis and Asthma. In exchange, Teva paid an upfront payment in an amount of $10Â million in January 2024, which was recorded as an R&D expense in the fourth quarter of 2023. Biolojic may be eligible to receive additional development and commercial milestone payments of up to approximately $500Â million, over the next several years, based on the achievement of certain pre-clinical, clinical and regulatory milestones, with the majority of the payments based on future salesÂ achievements. Royalty Pharma On NovemberÂ 9, 2023, Teva entered into a funding agreement with Royalty Pharma plc. (â€œRoyalty Pharmaâ€) to further accelerate the clinical research program for Tevaâ€™s olanzapine LAI (TEV-â€™749). Under the terms of the funding agreement, Royalty Pharma will provide Teva up to $100Â million to fund ongoing development costs for olanzapine LAI (TEV-â€˜749), with an option to increase the total funding amount to $125Â million, which expired in the second quarter of 2024. In exchange and subject to regulatory approval, Teva will pay Royalty Pharma a milestone payment in the amount actually funded by Royalty Pharma, paid over 5 years, in addition to royalties upon commercialization. Teva will continue to lead the development and commercialization of the product globally. During the fourth quarter of 2023, and the first, second and third quarters of 2024, Teva recorded $35Â million, $27Â million, $19Â million and $18Â million respectively, as reimbursement for R&D expenses incurred in connection with this agreement, which collectively amounted to the total funding Royalty Pharma was to provide Teva ofÂ $100Â million. Olanzapine LAI (TEV-â€™749) is currently in Phase 3 for the treatment of schizophrenia (see also MedinCell transaction below). Â Â Sanofi On OctoberÂ 3, 2023, Teva entered into an exclusive collaboration with Sanofi to co-develop and co- commercialize Tevaâ€™s duvakitug (anti-TL1A, TEV-â€™574) asset, a novel anti-TL1A therapy for the treatment of ulcerative colitis and Crohnâ€™s disease, two types of inflammatory bowel disease, which is currently in Phase 2b clinical trials. Under the terms of the collaboration agreement, in partial consideration of the licenses granted to Sanofi, Teva received an upfront payment of $500Â million in the fourth quarter of 2023, recognized as revenue. Additionally, Teva may receive up to $1Â billion in development and launch milestones. Each company will equally share the remaining development costs globally and net profits and losses in major markets, with other markets subject to a royalty arrangement, and Sanofi will lead the development of the Phase 3 program. Teva will lead commercialization of the product in Europe, Israel and specified other countries, and Sanofi will lead commercialization in North America, Japan, other parts of Asia and the rest of the world. MODAG In October 2021, Teva announced a license agreement with MODAG GmbH (â€œModagâ€) providing Teva with an exclusive global license to develop, manufacture and commercialize Modagâ€™s lead compound, emrusolmin (TEV-â€™286) and a related compound (TEV-â€™287). Emrusolmin (TEV-â€™286) was initially developed for the treatment of Multiple System Atrophy (â€œMSAâ€) and Parkinsonâ€™s disease, and has the potential to be applied to other treatments for neurodegenerative disorders, such as Alzheimerâ€™s disease. Teva has initiated a Phase 2 clinical trial. In the fourth quarter of 2021, Teva made an upfront payment of $10Â million to Modag, recorded as an R&D expense. Modag may be eligible for additional future development milestone payments, in an aggregate amount of up to $30Â million, as well as future commercial milestones and royalties. Alvotech In August 2020, Teva entered into an agreement with biopharmaceutical company Alvotech for the exclusive commercialization in the U.S. of five biosimilar product candidates. The initial pipeline for this collaboration contained biosimilar candidates addressing multiple therapeutic areas, including proposed biosimilars to HumiraÂ® (adalimumab) and StelaraÂ® (ustekinumab). Under the terms of the agreement, Alvotech is responsible for the development, registration and supply of the biosimilar product candidates and Teva will exclusively commercialize the products in the U.S. In July 2023, Alvotech and Teva amended their collaboration agreement, adding two new biosimilar candidates as well as line extensions of two current biosimilar candidates to their partnership. Teva made upfront and milestone payments in an aggregate amount of $78Â million in 2020, 2021 and 2023. Teva made additional milestone payments of $27Â million in the second quarter of 2024 and $19Â million in the third quarter of 2024. Additional development and commercial milestone payments of up to approximately $380Â million, in addition to royalty and milestone payments related to the amendment of the collaboration agreement entered into in July 2023, may be payable by Teva over the next few years. Teva and Alvotech will share revenue from the commercialization of these biosimilars. The amendment of the collaboration agreement entered into in July 2023 includes increased involvement by Teva regarding manufacturing and quality at Alvotechâ€™s manufacturing facility. Additionally, pursuant to the amendment, on September 29, 2023, Teva purchased $40 million of subordinated convertible bonds of Alvotech. On June 26, 2024, Alvotech announced its intention to exercise its redemption rights and redeemed the convertible bonds for $44 million, including accrued interest, which were paid to Teva in July 2024. On FebruaryÂ 24, 2024, Alvotech and Teva announced that the FDA approved SIMLANDIÂ® (adalimumab-ryvk) injection, as an interchangeable biosimilar to HumiraÂ®, for the treatment of adult rheumatoid arthritis, juvenile idiopathic arthritis, adult psoriatic arthritis, adult ankylosing spondylitis, Crohnâ€™s disease, adult ulcerative colitis, adult plaque psoriasis, adult hidradenitis suppurativa and adult uveitis. On AprilÂ 17, 2024, Alvotech and Teva amended their collaboration agreement to enable the purchase by Quallent of a private label adalimumab-ryvk injection from Alvotech for the U.S. market, with Alvotech sharing profits with Teva on the private label sales. On MayÂ 20, 2024, Alvotech and Teva announced that SIMLANDI is available in the United States. Â With respect to the proposed biosimilar to StelaraÂ®, on JuneÂ 12, 2023, Alvotech and Teva reached a settlement and license agreement with JohnsonÂ & Johnson, granting a licensed entry date in the U.S. no later than February 21, 2025. On AprilÂ 16, 2024, Alvotech and Teva announced that the FDA approved SELARSDITM (ustekinumab-aekn) injection for subcutaneous use, as a biosimilar to StelaraÂ®, for the treatment of moderate to severe plaque psoriasis and for active psoriatic arthritis in adults and pediatric patients six years and older, and on OctoberÂ 22, 2024, announced that the FDA approved SELARSDI in a new presentation, 130 mg/26 mL (5 mg/mL) solution in a single-dose vial for intravenous infusion, expanding its label to include treatment of adults with Crohnâ€™s disease and ulcerative colitis. Takeda In December 2016, Teva entered into a license agreement with a subsidiary of Takeda Pharmaceutical Company Ltd. (â€œTakedaâ€), for the research, development, manufacture and commercialization of ATTENUKINETM technology. Teva received a $30Â million upfront payment and a milestone payment of $20Â million in 2017. During the second quarter of 2022, Takeda initiated its Phase 2 study of modakafusp alfa (formerly TAK-573 or TEV â€™573) and as a result paid Teva a milestone payment of $25Â million, which was recognized as revenue in the second quarter of 2022. In April 2024, Takeda informed Teva of its intent to terminate the agreement with respect to such product candidate, which product rights will revert back to Teva in early 2025. Takeda continues to have rights under the license agreement with respect to other product candidates. MedinCell In November 2013, Teva entered into an agreement with MedinCell for the development and commercialization of multiple long-acting injectable (â€œLAIâ€) products. Teva leads the clinical development and regulatory process and is responsible for the commercialization of these products. The lead product is risperidone LAI (formerly known as TV-46000). On AprilÂ 28, 2023, the FDA approved UZEDYÂ® (risperidone) extended-release injectable suspension for the treatment of schizophrenia in adults, which was launched in the U.S. in May 2023. MedinCell may be eligible for future sales-based milestones of up to $105Â million with respect to UZEDY. Teva also pays MedinCell royalties on net sales. The second selected product candidate is olanzapine LAI (TEV-â€™749) for the treatment of schizophrenia. In the third quarter of 2022, Teva decided to progress development of the product to Phase 3 and, as a result, paid a $3Â million milestone payment to MedinCell, which was recognized as R&D expenses. On MayÂ 8, 2024, Teva and MedinCell announced positive phase 3 efficacy results from a trial evaluating olanzapine LAI as a once-monthly subcutaneous long-acting injectable in adults with schizophrenia. Additional safety and efficacy results are planned in the first half of 2025. MedinCell may become eligible for further development and commercial milestones of up to $108Â million, as well as royalties on sales of olanzapine LAI (TEV-â€™749). Assets and Liabilities Held for Sale: General Assets and liabilities held for sale as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and DecemberÂ 31, 2023, included certain businesses in Tevaâ€™s International Markets segment that are expected to be sold within the next year, mainly the business venture in Japan. In connection with the held for sale classification, in the first quarter of 2024, Teva recorded expenses of $577Â million due to an expected loss upon sale, including $369Â million of expected loss from reclassification of currency translation adjustments to the statements of income upon sale, in other assets impairments, restructuring and other items. In the second quarter of 2024, Teva recorded an additional expense of $67Â million related to the expected loss from reclassification of currency translation adjustments referred to above. In the third quarter of 2024, Teva recorded a favorable adjustment of $83Â million, primarily related to the change in expected loss from reclassification of currency translation adjustments referred to above. See note 12. Product rights and trade names represent a portfolio of pharmaceutical products in various therapeutic categories from various acquisitions with a weighted average life period of approximately 9 years. Amortization of intangible assets was $146Â million and $145Â million in the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. Amortization of intangible assets was $444Â million and $471Â million in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. IPR&D Tevaâ€™s IPR&D are assets that have not yet been approved in its major markets. IPR&D carries intrinsic risks that the asset might not succeed in advanced phases and may be impaired in future periods. Intangible assets impairments Impairments of long-lived intangible assets for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 were $28Â million and $47Â million, respectively. Impairments in the third quarter of 2024 consisted of: Identifiable product rights of $28Â million, mainly due to updated market assumptions regarding price and volume of products mainly in the U.S. Â Â Impairments in the third quarter of 2023 consisted of: Â Â (a) IPR&D assets of $29Â million, mainly due to generic pipeline products resulting from development progress and changes in other key valuation indications (e.g., market size, competition assumptions, legal landscape and launch date); and Â Â (b) Identifiable product rights of $18Â million mainly due to updated market assumptions regarding price and volume of products. Impairments of long-lived intangible assets for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 were $169Â million and $289Â million, respectively. Impairments in the first nine months of 2024 consisted of: Â Â (a) Identifiable product rights of $136Â million, mainly due to updated market assumptions regarding price and volume of products mainly in the U.S.; and Â Â (b) IPR&D assets of $33Â million, mainly due to generic pipeline products resulting from development progress and changes in other key valuation indications mainly in the U.S. (e.g., market size, competition assumptions, legal landscape and launch date). Impairments in the first nine months of 2023 consisted of: Â Â (a) Identifiable product rights of $206Â million due to: (i) $112Â million in Japan, mainly due to regulatory pricing reductions; and (ii) $94Â million related to updated market assumptions regarding price and volume of products; and Â Â (b) IPR&D assets of $83Â million, mainly due to generic pipeline products resulting from development progress and changes in other key valuation indications (e.g., market size, competition assumptions, legal landscape and launch date). The fair value measurement of the impaired intangible assets in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 is based on significant unobservable inputs in the market and thus represents a LevelÂ 3 measurement within the fair value hierarchy. The discount rate applied ranged from 8.5% to 10%. A probability of success factor of 90% was used in the fair value calculation to reflect inherent regulatory and commercial risk of IPR&D. Teva operates its business through three reporting segments: United States, Europe and International Markets. Each of these business segments is a reporting unit. Additional reporting units include Tevaâ€™s production and sale of APIs to third parties (â€œTeva APIâ€) and an out-licensing platform offering a portfolio of products to other pharmaceutical companies through its affiliate Medis. Tevaâ€™s API and Medis reporting units are included under â€œOtherâ€ in the table above. See note 15 for additional segment information. Teva determines the fair value of its reporting units using the income approach. The income approach is a forward-looking approach for estimating fair value. Within the income approach, the method used is the discounted cash flow method. Teva begins with a forecast of all the expected net cash flows associated with the reporting unit, which includes the application of a terminal value, and then applies a discount rate to arrive at a net present value amount. Cash flow projections are based on Tevaâ€™s estimates of revenue growth rates and operating margins, taking into consideration industry and market conditions. The discount rate used is based on the weighted average cost of capital (â€œWACCâ€), adjusted for the relevant risk associated with country-specific and business-specific characteristics. If any of these expectations were to vary materially from Tevaâ€™s assumptions, Teva may record an impairment of goodwill allocated to these reporting units in the future. First Quarter Developments As further discussed in note 15, as of JanuaryÂ 1, 2024, Canada is reported as part of Tevaâ€™s International Markets segment and not as part of Tevaâ€™s North America segment, which has been renamed as Tevaâ€™s United States segment. As a result, Teva aligned its segment reporting and its reporting units in accordance with this change, and reallocated its goodwill to the adjusted reporting units using a relative fair value allocation. In conjunction with the goodwill reallocation, Teva performed a goodwill impairment test for the balances in its adjusted United States and International Markets reporting units and concluded that the fair value of each reporting unit was in excess of its carrying value. During the first quarter of 2024, management evaluated whether there were any developments that occurred during the quarter to determine if it was more likely than not that the fair value of any of its reporting units was below its carrying amount as of MarchÂ 31, 2024. Management concluded that no triggering event had occurred and, therefore, no quantitative assessment was performed. Second Quarter Developments During the second quarter of 2024, Teva completed its long-range planning (â€œLRPâ€) process. The LRP is part of Tevaâ€™s internal financial planning and budgeting processes and is discussed and reviewed by Tevaâ€™s management and its board of directors. Â Â Additionally, Teva conducted a quantitative analysis of all reporting units as part of its annual goodwill impairment test with the assistance of an independent valuation expert. As disclosed in prior periods, the excess of the estimated fair value of Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit over its estimated carrying amount was negligible as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023 and MarchÂ 31, 2024. The updated quantitative analysis performed in the second quarter of 2024, which was based on the aforementioned LRP process and Tevaâ€™s Pivot to Growth strategy assumptions, resulted in a recognition of a goodwill impairment charge of $400Â million related to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit. Following the goodwill impairment charges recorded in relation to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit, the carrying values of this reporting unit equaled its fair value as of JuneÂ 30, 2024. Therefore, if business conditions or expectations were to change materially, it may be necessary to record further impairment charges to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit in the future (see â€œThird Quarter Developmentsâ€ below). Tevaâ€™s United States, Europe, International Markets and Medis reporting units had fair values in excess of 10% over their book values as of JuneÂ 30, 2024. In the second quarter of 2023, Teva recorded a goodwill impairment charge of $700Â million related to its International Markets reporting unit, mainly due to an increase in the discount rate due to higher risk associated with country-specific characteristics of several countries. Third Quarter Developments During the third quarter of 2024, management evaluated whether there were any developments that occurred during the quarter to determine if it was more likely than not that the fair value of any of its reporting units was below its carrying amount as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024. As part of this evaluation, management noted a triggering event related to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit, which resulted from updated assumptions in connection with Tevaâ€™s intention to divest its API business through a sale. Teva performed a quantitative assessment in the third quarter of 2024, which resulted in the recording of a goodwill impairment charge of $600Â million related to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit. Following this goodwill impairment charge, the carrying value of Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit equaled its fair value as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024. Therefore, if business conditions or expectations, including related to Tevaâ€™s intention to divest its API business, were to change materially, it may be necessary to record further impairment charges to Tevaâ€™s API reporting unit in the future. With respect to the remaining reporting units, management concluded that it was not more likely than not that the fair value of any of the reporting units was below its carrying amounts as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and, therefore, no quantitative assessment was performed. Long-term debt was issued by several indirect wholly-owned subsidiaries of the Company and is fully and unconditionally guaranteed by the Company as to payment of all principal, interest, discount and additional amounts, if any. The long-term debt outlined in the above table is generally redeemable at any time at varying redemption prices plus accrued and unpaid interest. Â Tevaâ€™s debt as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 was effectively denominated in the following currencies: 58% in U.S. dollars, 40% in euro and 2% in Swiss franc. Tevaâ€™s principal sources of short-term liquidity are its cash on hand, existing cash investments, liquid securities and available credit facilities, primarily its $1.8Â billion unsecured syndicated sustainability-linked revolving credit facility entered into in April 2022, as amended on FebruaryÂ 6, 2023 and on MayÂ 3, 2024 (â€œRCFâ€). The RCF had an initial maturity date of April 2026 with two one-year extension options. In April 2024, an extension option was exercised and the RCF maturity date was extended to April 2027. The RCF contains certain covenants, including certain limitations on incurring liens and indebtedness and maintenance of certain financial ratios, including a maximum leverage ratio, which becomes more restrictive over time. On MayÂ 3, 2024, the terms of the RCF were amended to update the Companyâ€™s maximum permitted leverage ratio under the RCF for certain periods. Under the terms of the RCF, as amended, the Companyâ€™s leverage ratio shall not exceed (i) 4.00x in 2024, 2025 and in the first quarter of 2026, (ii) 3.75x in the second, third and fourth quarters of 2026 and (iii) 3.50x in the first quarter of 2027 and onwards. The RCF permits the Company to increase the maximum leverage ratio if it consummates or commences certain material transactions. Under the RCF, as amended, the applicable margin used to calculate the interest rate under the RCF is linked to one sustainability performance target, the number of new regulatory submissions in low and middle-income countries. Proceeds from borrowings under the RCF can be used for general corporate purposes, including repaying existing debt. As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, and as of the date of this Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, no amounts were outstanding under the RCF. Based on current and forecasted results, the Company expects that it will not exceed the financial covenant thresholds set forth in the RCF within one year from the date the financial statements are issued. Under specified circumstances, including non-compliance with any of the covenants described above and the unavailability of any waiver, amendment or other modification thereto, the Company will not be able to borrow under the RCF. Additionally, violations of the covenants, under the circumstances referred to above, would result in an event of default in all borrowings under the RCF and, when greater than a specified threshold amount as set forth in each series of senior notes and sustainability-linked senior notes is outstanding, could lead to an event of default under the Companyâ€™s senior notes and sustainability-linked senior notes due to cross-acceleration provisions. Teva expects that it will continue to have sufficient cash resources to support its debt service payments and all other financial obligations within one year from the date that the financial statements are issued. 2024 Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities NOTE 8 â€“ Derivative instruments and hedging activities: Â a. Foreign exchange risk management: In the first nine months of 2024, approximately 47% of Tevaâ€™s revenues were denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar. As a result, Teva is subject to significant foreign currency risks. The Company enters into forward exchange contracts and purchases and writes options in order to hedge the currency exposure on balance sheet items, revenues and expenses. In addition, the Company takes measures to reduce its exposure by using natural hedging. The Company also acts to offset risks in opposite directions among the subsidiaries within Teva. The currency hedged items are usually denominated in the following main currencies: euro, Swiss franc, Japanese yen, British pound, Russian ruble, Canadian dollar, Polish zloty, new Israeli shekel, Indian rupee and other currencies. Depending on market conditions, foreign currency risk is also managed through the use of foreign currency debt. The Company may choose to hedge against possible fluctuations in foreign subsidiaries net assets (â€œnet investment hedgeâ€) and has in the past entered into cross-currency swaps and forward-contracts in order to hedge such an exposure. Most of the counterparties to the derivatives are major banks and the Company is monitoring the associated inherent credit risks. The Company does not enter into derivative transactions for trading purposes. Â b. Interest risk management: The Company raises capital through various debt instruments, including senior notes, sustainability-linked senior notes, bank loans and convertible debentures that bear fixed or variable interest rates, as well as a syndicated sustainability-linked revolving credit facility and securitization programs that bear a variable interest rate. In some cases, the Company has swapped from a fixed to a variable interest rate (â€œfair value hedgeâ€) and from a fixed to a fixed interest rate with an exchange from a currency other than the functional currency (â€œcash flow hedgeâ€), thereby reducing overall interest expenses or hedging risks associated with interest rate fluctuations. As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, all outstanding senior notes, sustainability-linked senior notes and convertible debentures bear a fixed interest rate. Â c. Bifurcated embedded derivatives: Upon the issuance of its sustainability-linked senior notes, Teva recognized embedded derivatives related to interest rate adjustments and a potential one-time premium payment upon failure to achieve certain sustainability performance targets, such as access to medicines in low-to-middle-income countries and reduction of absolute greenhouse gas emissions, which were bifurcated and are accounted for separately as derivative financial instruments. As of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the fair value of these derivative instruments is negligible. d. Derivative instruments outstanding: The following table summarizes the notional amounts for hedged items, when transactions are designated as hedge accounting: Â Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, Â Â Â DecemberÂ 31, Â Â Â Â 2024 Â Â Â 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Cross-currency swap - cash flow hedge (1) Â Â Â $ â€”â€‰ Â Â Â $ 169 Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â The following table summarizes the classification and fair values of derivative instruments: Â Â Â Â Fair value Â Â Â Â Designated as hedging instruments Â Â Â Not designated as hedging instruments Â Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 Â Â Â DecemberÂ 31, 2023 Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 Â Â Â DecemberÂ 31, 2023 Â Reported under Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Asset derivatives: Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Other current assets: Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Option and forward contracts Â Â $ â€”â€‰ Â Â Â $ â€”â€‰ Â Â Â $ 32 Â Â Â $ 38 Â Other non-current assets: Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Cross-currency swap-cash flow hedge (1) Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â 8 Â Â Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Liability derivatives: Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Other current liabilities: Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Option and forward contracts Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â Â (33)Â Â Â Â (39)Â Â Â The table below provides information regarding the location and amount of pre-tax (gains) losses from derivatives designated in cash flow hedging relationships: Â Â Â Financial expenses, net Â Â Â Other comprehensive income (loss) Â Â Â Three months ended, Â Â Â Three months ended, Â Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Reported under Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Line items in which effects of hedges are recorded Â Â $ 272 Â Â Â $ 280 Â Â Â $ 180 Â Â Â $ (249)Â Cross-currency swaps - cash flow hedge (1) Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â (7)Â Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â Â 1 Â Â Â Financial expenses, net Â Â Â Other comprehensive income (loss) Â Â Â Nine months ended, Â Â Â Nine months ended, Â Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Reported under Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Line items in which effects of hedges are recorded Â Â $ 763 Â Â Â $ 808 Â Â Â $ (75)Â Â Â $ (156)Â Cross-currency swaps - cash flow hedge (1) Â Â Â (8)Â Â Â Â (22)Â Â Â Â 1 Â Â Â Â (4)Â The table below provides information regarding the location and amount of pre-tax (gains) losses from derivatives not designated as hedging instruments: Â Â Â Â Financial expenses, net Â Â Â Net revenues Â Â Â Â Three months ended, Â Â Â Three months ended, Â Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Reported under Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Line items in which effects of hedges are recorded Â Â $ 272 Â Â Â $ 280 Â Â Â $ (4,332)Â Â Â $ (3,850)Â Option and forward contracts (2) Â Â Â 4 Â Â Â Â 4 Â Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Option and forward contracts economic hedge (3) Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â Â 9 Â Â Â Â (22)Â Â Â Â Financial expenses, net Â Â Â Net revenues Â Â Â Â Nine months ended, Â Â Â Nine months ended, Â Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 Â Â Â SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 Â Reported under Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Line items in which effects of hedges are recorded Â Â $ 763 Â Â Â $ 808 Â Â Â $ (12,315)Â Â Â $ (11,389)Â Option and forward contracts (2) Â Â Â (33)Â Â Â Â (46)Â Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Option and forward contracts economic hedge (3) Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â Â â€”â€‰ Â Â Â Â (1)Â Â Â Â (20)Â Â (1) On MarchÂ 31, 2023, Teva entered into a cross-currency interest rate swap agreement, designated as cash flow hedge for accounting purposes with respect to an intercompany loan due October 2026, denominated in Japanese yen. The agreement was terminated in the first quarter of 2024 and resulted in cash proceeds of $16Â million. (2) Teva uses foreign exchange contracts (mainly option and forward contracts) to hedge balance sheet items from currency exposure. These foreign exchange contracts are not designated as hedging instruments for accounting purposes. In connection with these foreign exchange contracts, Teva recognizes gains or losses that offset the revaluation of the balance sheet items also recorded under financial expenses, net. (3) Teva entered into option and forward contracts designed to limit the exposure of foreign exchange fluctuations on projected revenues and expenses recorded in euro, Swiss franc, Japanese yen, British pound, Russian ruble, Canadian dollar, Polish zloty and some other currencies to protect its projected operating results for 2024. These derivative instruments do not meet the criteria for hedge accounting, however, they are accounted for as an economic hedge. These derivative instruments, which may include hedging transactions against future projected revenues and expenses, are recognized on the balance sheet at their fair value on a quarterly basis, while the foreign exchange impact on the underlying revenues and expenses may occur in subsequent quarters. In the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the negative impact from these derivatives recognized under revenues was $9Â million. In the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, the positive impact from these derivatives recognized under revenues was $1Â million. In the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023, the positive impact from these derivatives recognized under revenues was $22Â million. In the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023, the positive impact from these derivatives recognized under revenues was $20Â million. Changes in the fair value of the derivative instruments are recognized in the same line item in the statements of income as the underlying exposure being hedged. Cash flows associated with these derivatives are reflected as cash flows from operating activities in the consolidated statements of cash flows. Â e. Amortizations due to terminated derivative instruments: Forward-starting interest rate swaps and treasury lock agreements In 2015, Teva entered into forward-starting interest rate swaps and treasury lock agreements to protect the Company from interest rate fluctuations in connection with a future debt issuance the Company was planning. These forward-starting interest rate swaps and treasury lock agreements were terminated in July 2016 upon the debt issuance. Termination of these transactions resulted in a loss position of $493Â million, which was recorded as other comprehensive income (loss) and is amortized under financial expenses, net over the life of the debt. With respect to these forward-starting interest rate swaps and treasury lock agreements, losses of $7Â million were recognized under financial expenses, net, for each of the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, and losses of $21Â million and $25Â million were recognized under financial expenses, net for each of the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. Â Â f. Securitization: U.S. securitization program On NovemberÂ 7, 2022, Teva and a bankruptcy-remote special purpose vehicle (â€œSPVâ€) entered into an accounts receivable securitization facility

competition, and has defended them vigorously. In Tevaâ€™s experience to date, these cases have typically settled for a fraction of the high end of the damages sought, although there can be no assurance that such outcomes will continue. In June 2013, the U.S. Supreme Court held, in Federal Trade Commission (â€œFTCâ€) v. Actavis, Inc., that a rule of reason test should be applied in analyzing whether such settlements potentially violate the federal antitrust laws. The Supreme Court held that a trial court must analyze each agreement in its entirety in order to determine whether it violates the antitrust laws. This test has resulted in increased scrutiny of Tevaâ€™s patent settlements, additional action by the FTC and state and local authorities, and an increased risk of liability in Tevaâ€™s currently pending antitrust litigations. In December 2011, three groups of plaintiffs filed claims against Wyeth and Teva for alleged violations of the antitrust laws in connection with their November 2005 settlement of patent litigation involving extended-release venlafaxine (generic Effexor XRÂ®). The cases were filed by a purported class of direct purchasers, a purported class of indirect purchasers and certain chain pharmacies in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey. The plaintiffs claim that the settlement agreement between Wyeth and Teva unlawfully delayed generic entry. On SeptemberÂ 18, 2024, the district court lifted its stay of discovery and the case is now proceeding. On OctoberÂ 16, 2024, Teva and one group of plaintiffs (the â€œIndirect Purchaser Plaintiffsâ€ or â€œIPPsâ€) announced that they have reached an agreement in principle to resolve the IPPsâ€™ claims against Teva. The parties are in the process of documenting the proposed settlement, which will be subject to court approval. Annual sales of Effexor XRÂ® were approximately $2.6Â billion at the time of settlement and at the time Teva launched its generic version of Effexor XRÂ® in July 2010. Â In February 2012, two purported classes of direct-purchaser plaintiffs filed claims against GSK and Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey for alleged violations of the antitrust laws in connection with their February 2005 settlement of patent litigation involving lamotrigine (generic LamictalÂ®). The plaintiffs claimed that the settlement agreement unlawfully delayed generic entry and sought unspecified damages. During FebruaryÂ 2023, a number of direct purchasers who were denied class certification filed suit as individual plaintiffs, which action was transferred to the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey. Discovery of the newly added individual plaintiffs is ongoing. Annual sales of LamictalÂ® were approximately $950Â million at the time of the settlement and approximately $2.3Â billion at the time Teva launched its generic version of LamictalÂ® in July 2008. In April 2013, purported classes of direct purchasers of, and end payers for, NiaspanÂ® (extended release niacin) filed claims against Teva and Abbott for violating the antitrust laws by entering into a settlement agreement in April 2005 to resolve patent litigation over the product. A multidistrict litigation has been established in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. Throughout 2015 and in January 2016, several individual direct-purchaser opt-out plaintiffs filed complaints with allegations nearly identical to those of the direct purchasersâ€™ class. On AprilÂ 24, 2023, the U.S. District Courtâ€™s denial of the indirect purchasersâ€™ motion for class certification was affirmed by the Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, and on JuneÂ 5, 2023, the Court of Appeals denied the indirect purchasersâ€™ petition for re-hearing. In October 2016, the District Attorney for Orange County, California, filed a similar complaint in California state court, alleging violations of state law and seeking restitution and civil penalties. The California state court case is temporarily stayed. Annual sales of NiaspanÂ® were approximately $416Â million at the time of the settlement and approximately $1.1Â billion at the time Teva launched its generic version of NiaspanÂ® in September 2013. In August 2019, certain direct-purchaser plaintiffs filed claims in federal court in Philadelphia against Teva and its affiliates alleging that the September 2006 patent litigation settlement relating to AndroGelÂ® 1% (testosterone gel) between Watson, from which Teva later acquired certain assets and liabilities, and Solvay Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (â€œSolvayâ€) violated antitrust laws. In September 2023, the plaintiffs voluntarily dismissed certain claims, and in September 2024, certain defendants, including the remaining Teva affiliates, and the plaintiffs agreed to settle the remaining claims. The litigation has been stayed pending finalization of the settlements. Annual sales of AndroGelÂ® 1% were approximately $350Â million at the time of the earlier Watson/Solvay settlement and approximately $140Â million at the time Actavis launched its generic version of AndroGelÂ® 1% in November 2015. A provision for this matter was previously included in the financial statements. Between SeptemberÂ 1, 2020 and DecemberÂ 20, 2020, plaintiffs purporting to represent putative classes of direct and indirect purchasers and opt-out retailer purchasers of BystolicÂ® (nebivolol hydrochloride) filed complaints in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York against several generic manufacturers, including Teva, Actavis, and Watson, alleging, among other things, that the settlement agreements these generic manufacturers entered into with Forest Laboratories, Inc., the innovator, to resolve patent litigation over BystolicÂ® violated the antitrust laws. The cases were coordinated, and the district court granted the defendantsâ€™ motion to dismiss all claims with prejudice. The plaintiffs appealed the district courtâ€™s grant of defendantsâ€™ motion to dismiss, and on MayÂ 13, 2024, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit affirmed the district courtâ€™s dismissal with prejudice and issued a mandate on JuneÂ 4, 2024, formally ending the appeal. The plaintiffsâ€™ period to file a petition for a writ of certiorari to the U.S. Supreme Court expired. Annual sales of BystolicÂ® in the United States were approximately $700Â million at the time of Watsonâ€™s 2013 settlement with Forest. In November 2020, the European Commission issued a final decision in its proceedings against both Cephalon and Teva, finding that the 2005 settlement agreement between the parties had the object and effect of hindering the entry of generic modafinil, and imposed fines totaling euro 60.5Â million on Teva and Cephalon. Teva and Cephalon filed an appeal against the decision in February 2021, and a judgment was issued on OctoberÂ 18, 2023 rejecting Tevaâ€™s grounds of appeal. A provision for this matter was included in the financial statements. Teva has provided the European Commission with a bank guarantee in the amount of the imposed fines. On JanuaryÂ 4, 2024, Teva appealed the October 2023 judgment to the European Court of Justice. In February 2021, the State of New Mexico filed a lawsuit against Teva and certain other defendants related to various medicines used to treat HIV (the â€œNew Mexico litigationâ€). Between September 2021 and April 2022, several private plaintiffs including retailers and health insurance providers filed similar claims in various courts, which were all removed and/or consolidated into the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California (the â€œCalifornia litigationâ€). As they relate to Teva, the lawsuits challenged settlement agreements Teva entered into with Gilead in 2013 and/or 2014 to resolve patent litigation relating to Tevaâ€™s generic versions of VireadÂ® and/or TruvadaÂ® and AtriplaÂ®, although plaintiffs in the California litigation abandoned any claim for damages relating to the VireadÂ® settlement. In May Â 2023, Teva and Gilead reached a settlement agreement with the retailer plaintiffs in the California litigation and Teva recognized a provision for this matter based on such settlement. On JuneÂ 30, 2023, the jury in the trial against the remaining plaintiffs in the California litigation issued a verdict in favor of Teva and Gilead, rejecting all of the remaining plaintiffsâ€™ claims. On FebruaryÂ 12, 2024, the court entered a judgment as to all claims against Teva in the California litigation and the plaintiffs have filed notices of appeal with the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, and the appeal is currently being briefed. In the New Mexico litigation, on JuneÂ 27, 2024, Teva and the State of New Mexico finalized their settlement agreement, and the New Mexico court entered a consent judgment resolving the New Mexico litigation. Teva recognized a provision for the settlement with New Mexico. Annual sales in the United States at the time of the settlement of VireadÂ®, TruvadaÂ® and AtriplaÂ® were approximately $582Â million, $2.4Â billion, and $2.9Â billion, respectively. Annual sales in the United States at the time Teva launched its generic version of VireadÂ® in 2017, TruvadaÂ® in 2020 and AtriplaÂ® in 2020 were approximately $728Â million, $2.1Â billion and $444Â million, respectively. In March 2021, the European Commission opened a formal antitrust investigation to assess whether Teva may have abused a dominant position by delaying the market entry and uptake of medicines that compete with COPAXONE. On OctoberÂ 10, 2022, the European Commission issued a Statement of Objections, which sets forth its preliminary allegations that Teva had engaged in anti-competitive practices. On October 31, 2024, the European Commission announced its final decision, alleging that Teva had abused a dominant position in certain European member states by (i) filing and withdrawing certain divisional patents, and (ii) raising concerns about competitorsâ€™ follow-on versions of COPAXONE. The decision, which Teva intends to appeal, also includes a fine of approximately $500 million (462.6 million euros). In accordance with Accounting Standards Codification 450 â€œAccounting for Contingencies,â€ Teva recognized a provision in its financial statements in the third quarter of 2024, based on managementâ€™s current best estimate of the outcome within a range of outcomes for the final resolution of this case. Teva intends to provide the European Commission a bank guarantee to cover at least a portion of the fine. On JuneÂ 29, 2021, Mylan Pharmaceuticals (â€œMylanâ€) filed claims against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of NewÂ Jersey. On MarchÂ 11, 2022 and MarchÂ 15, 2022, purported purchasers of COPAXONE filed claims against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey on behalf of themselves and similarly situated direct and indirect purchasers of COPAXONE. On AugustÂ 22, 2022, additional purported purchasers of COPAXONE sued Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of Vermont on behalf of themselves and similarly situated indirect purchasers of COPAXONE. The complaints variously assert claims for alleged violations of the Lanham Act, state and federal unfair competition and monopolization laws, tortious interference, trade libel, and a violation of the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (â€œRICO Actâ€). Additionally, plaintiffs claim Teva was involved in an unlawful scheme to delay and hinder generic competition concerning COPAXONE sales. Plaintiffs seek damages for lost profits and expenses, disgorgement, restitution, treble damages, attorneysâ€™ fees and costs, and injunctive relief. Teva moved to dismiss all of the complaints, and on JanuaryÂ 22, 2024, Tevaâ€™s motion to dismiss the complaint in the District of Vermont was granted as to certain state law claims but was otherwise denied. Decisions on Tevaâ€™s remaining motions to dismiss are pending. On JulyÂ 15, 2021, the U.K. Competition and Markets Authority (â€œCMAâ€) issued a decision imposing fines for breaches of U.K. competition law by Allergan, Actavis UK, Auden Mckenzie and a number of other companies in connection with the supply of 10mg and 20mg hydrocortisone tablets in the U.K. The decision combines the CMAâ€™s three prior investigations into the supply of hydrocortisone tablets in the U.K., as well as the CMAâ€™s subsequent investigation relating to an alleged anticompetitive agreement with Waymade. On JanuaryÂ 9, 2017, Teva completed the sale of Actavis UK to Accord Healthcare Limited, in connection with which Teva agreed to indemnify Accord Healthcare for potential fines imposed by the CMA and/or damages awarded by a court against Actavis UK in relation to two of the three statements of objection from the CMA (dated DecemberÂ 16, 2016 and MarchÂ 3, 2017), and resulting from conduct prior to the closing date of the sale. In addition, Teva agreed to indemnify Allergan against losses arising from this matter in the event of any such fines or damages. On OctoberÂ 6, 2021, Accord UK (previously Actavis UK) and Auden Mckenzie appealed to the U.K. Competition Appeal Tribunal (the â€œTribunalâ€) the CMAâ€™s decisions that the prices of hydrocortisone were unfair and excessive and that the agreements amounted to infringements of the U.K.â€™s Competition Act as so-called pay-for-delay arrangements. The hearing for the appeal concluded in the first quarter of 2023, with partial judgments handed down by the Tribunal on SeptemberÂ 18, 2023 (judgment on unfair pricing), MarchÂ 8, 2024 (judgments on pay-for-delay and due process) and AprilÂ 29, 2024 (judgment on fines). The CMA appealed to the U.K. Court of Appeals on an expedited basis against certain elements of the pay-for-delay and due process judgments that it had lost, and on SeptemberÂ 6, 2024, the U.K. Court of Appeal overturned the Tribunalâ€™s judgment on due process and, as a result, the Tribunal will now consider and issue a further judgment on fines. Accord UK and Auden Mckenzie have requested permission to appeal to the U.K. Supreme Court and have submitted to the Tribunal additional applications for permission to appeal certain other issues relating to unfair pricing and fines. A provision for the estimated exposure for Teva related to the fines and/or damages has been recorded in the financial statements. Â In November 2022, two complaints filed by plaintiffs purporting to represent retailer purchasers and a putative class of end-payor purchasers were filed in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey against Teva and its marketing partner, Natco Pharma Limited (â€œNatcoâ€), alleging violations of the antitrust laws in connection with their December 2015 settlement of patent litigation with Celgene Corporation (which was subsequently acquired by BMS) involving the drug RevlimidÂ® (lenalidomide). The complaints also name Celgene and BMS as defendants. On JanuaryÂ 24, 2023, the complaints were consolidated for pre-trial purposes only with an earlier-filed, already consolidated Insurer Opt-Out Action filed against BMS and Celgene. On FebruaryÂ 16, 2023, plaintiffs filed amended complaints adding additional plaintiffs. On MayÂ 16, 2023, Teva and Natco, along with Celgene, moved to dismiss the complaints against them. Additionally, on OctoberÂ 6, 2023, two individual payor plaintiffs brought claims similar to those described above in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California, which actions were transferred to the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey and consolidated with the pending consolidated actions. On JuneÂ 6, 2024, the court granted in full Celgeneâ€™s motion to dismiss the Insurer Opt-Out Action, but allowed plaintiffs leave to amend most of their claims. The Court had previously administratively terminated Tevaâ€™s, Natcoâ€™s, and Celgeneâ€™s motions to dismiss the retailer and end-payor complaints pending the decision on the Insurer Opt-Out Action. The plaintiffs filed amended complaints on AugustÂ 5, 2024, and the defendantsâ€™ filed motions to dismiss on OctoberÂ 7, 2024. Annual sales of RevlimidÂ® in the United States were approximately $3.5Â billion at the time of the settlement. On DecemberÂ 2, 2022, plaintiffs purporting to represent putative classes of indirect purchasers of EpiPenÂ® (epinephrine injection) and NUVIGILÂ® (armodafinil) filed a complaint in the U.S. District Court for the District of Kansas against Teva, Cephalon, and a former Teva executive. Teva owns the New Drug Application (â€œNDAâ€) for NUVIGIL and sold the brand product, for which generic entry occurred in 2016. Teva filed an ANDA to sell generic EpiPenÂ®, which Teva launched in 2018, following receipt of FDA approval. The complaint alleges, among other things, that the defendants violated federal antitrust laws, the RICO Act, and various state laws in connection with settlements resolving patent litigation relating to those products. Plaintiffs seek injunctive relief, compensatory and punitive damages, interest, attorneysâ€™ fees and costs. On SeptemberÂ 26, 2023, plaintiffs filed a brief in opposition to Tevaâ€™s motion to dismiss the amended complaint, in which plaintiffs limited their claims only to those relating to the alleged delay of generic NUVIGIL. On MarchÂ 26, 2024, the court issued its decision, which granted Tevaâ€™s motion in part, dismissing plaintiffsâ€™ RICO claims and certain state law claims, but denied Tevaâ€™s motion regarding plaintiffsâ€™ antitrust claims. On AprilÂ 26, 2024, Teva sought certification to seek an interlocutory appeal of the decision, which is still pending. Annual sales of NUVIGIL in the United States were approximately $300Â million at the time Teva entered into the first settlement with an ANDA filer in 2012. In May 2023, certain end-payor plaintiffs filed putative class action complaints in the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts against Teva and a number of its affiliates, alleging that Teva engaged in anticompetitive conduct to suppress generic competition to its branded QVARÂ® asthma inhalers in violation of state and federal antitrust laws and state consumer protection laws. Teva moved to dismiss these claims, and on MayÂ 7, 2024, the court granted Tevaâ€™s motion in part and denied its motion in part. The court dismissed plaintiffsâ€™ claim that Teva had engaged in â€œsham litigationâ€ and certain of plaintiffsâ€™ state antitrust and consumer protection claims, but permitted the case to proceed on the remainder of plaintiffsâ€™ allegations. Following this decision, two direct purchaser plaintiffs filed similar putative class action complaints in the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts. On JuneÂ 18, 2024, Teva answered in all cases and simultaneously moved for judgment on the pleadings pursuant to Rule 12(c), which remains pending. Subsequently, on JuneÂ 28, 2024, Teva stipulated to the dismissal of the two direct purchaser plaintiffsâ€™ claims, with prejudice. Government Investigations and Litigation Relating to Pricing and Marketing Teva is involved in government investigations and litigation arising from the marketing and promotion of its pharmaceutical products in the United States. In 2015 and 2016, Actavis and Teva USA each respectively received subpoenas from the U.S. Department of Justice (â€œDOJâ€) Antitrust Division seeking documents and other information relating to the marketing and pricing of certain Teva USA generic products and communications with competitors about such products. On AugustÂ 25, 2020, a federal grand jury in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania returned a three-count indictment charging Teva USA with criminal felony Sherman Act violations. The indictment alleged that Teva USA had participated in three separate conspiracies with other Â generic drug manufacturers to maintain and fix prices, allocate customers, and other alleged antitrust offenses concerning the sale of generic drugs. The indictment identified the following generic drugs: pravastatin, carbamazepine, clotrimazole, etodolac (IR and ER), fluocinonide (cream, e-cream, gel, and ointment), warfarin, nadolol, temozolomide, and tobramycin. On AugustÂ 21, 2023, Teva USA entered into a 3-year deferred prosecution agreement (â€œDPAâ€) with the DOJ. Under the terms of the DPA, Teva USA: (i)Â admitted to violating the antitrust laws by agreeing with competitors, in three instances between 2013 and 2015 involving three separate customers, not to bid on an opportunity to supply a customer with a particular generic product (in the first instance pravastatin, in the second clotrimazole, and in the third tobramycin); (ii) agreed to divest the pravastatin that it sells in the United States to a third-party buyer; (iii)Â agreed to donate $50Â million worth of clotrimazole and tobramycin, valued at wholesale acquisition cost (â€œWACâ€), to humanitarian organizations over five years; and (iv)Â agreed to pay a fine in the amount of $225Â million over 5 years, with $22.5Â million due each year from 2024 through 2027, and $135Â million due in 2028. Teva recognized a provision for the resolution of this case.â€ƒIn May 2018, Teva received a civil investigative demand from the DOJ Civil Division pursuant to the federal False Claims Act, seeking documents and information produced since JanuaryÂ 1, 2009 relevant to the Civil Divisionâ€™s investigation concerning allegations that generic pharmaceutical manufacturers, including Teva, engaged in market allocation and/or price-fixing agreements, paid illegal remuneration, and caused false claims to be submitted in violation of the False Claims Act. On OctoberÂ 10, 2024, Teva entered into a settlement agreement with the Civil Division to resolve these allegations. Teva will pay $25Â million under the terms of the settlement â€“ $10Â million in the fourth quarter of 2024, and $15Â million in 2025 â€“ which includes no admission of wrongdoing. Teva has recognized a provision for the resolution of this matter. In 2015 and 2016, Actavis and Teva USA each respectively received a subpoena from the Connecticut Attorney General seeking documents and other information relating to potential state antitrust law violations. On DecemberÂ 15, 2016, the civil action that was brought by the attorneys general of twenty states against Teva USA and several other companies asserting claims under federal antitrust law alleging price fixing of generic products in the United States was subsequently amended to include 49 states, as well as the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico as plaintiffs, and to add new allegations and state law claims against both Actavis and Teva. On MayÂ 10, 2019, most of these attorneys general filed another antitrust complaint against Actavis, Teva and other companies and individuals, which was subsequently amended on NovemberÂ 1, 2019, alleging that Teva was at the center of a conspiracy in the generic pharmaceutical industry and asserting that Teva and others fixed prices, rigged bids, and allocated customers and market share with respect to certain products. On JuneÂ 10, 2020, most of the same states, with the addition of the U.S. Virgin Islands, filed a third complaint in the U.S. District Court for the District of Connecticut naming, among other defendants, Actavis, in a similar complaint relating to dermatological generics products, and that complaint was later amended to, among other things, add California as a plaintiff. In the various complaints described above, which also include claims against certain former employees of Actavis and Teva USA, the states seek a finding that the defendantsâ€™ actions violated federal antitrust law and state antitrust and consumer protection laws, as well as injunctive relief, disgorgement, damages on behalf of various state and governmental entities and consumers, civil penalties and costs. All such complaints were transferred to the generic drug multidistrict litigation in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania (â€œPennsylvania MDLâ€). On MayÂ 7, 2021, the Pennsylvania MDL court chose the attorneys generalâ€™s third complaint filed on JuneÂ 10, 2020, as subsequently amended, to serve as a bellwether complaint in the Pennsylvania MDL, along with certain complaints filed by private plaintiffs. On JuneÂ 7, 2022, the Court dismissed the attorneys generalâ€™s claims for monetary relief under federal law, concluding that the federal statute under which the attorneys general brought suit authorizes injunctive relief only. However, the attorneys general have pending claims for monetary relief under state law. On FebruaryÂ 27, 2023, the Court largely denied defendantsâ€™ motions to dismiss the federal claims asserted by the attorneys general in their bellwether complaint. Another motion to dismiss related to the state law claims asserted by the attorneys general in their bellwether complaint remains pending. Teva has settled with the states of Mississippi (in June 2021), Louisiana (in March 2022), Georgia (in September 2022), Arkansas (in October 2022), Florida (in February 2023), Kentucky (in June 2023), South Dakota (in June 2024), and New Mexico (in June 2024). Teva paid each state an amount proportional to its share of the national population (approximately $1,000,000 for each 1% share of the national population), and the states have dismissed their claims against Actavis and Teva USA, as well as certain former employees of Actavis and Teva USA, pursuant to these settlements. These settlements, in addition to the status of ongoing negotiations with several other U.S. state attorneys general to settle on comparable terms, caused management to consider settlement of the claims filed by the remaining Â attorneys general to be probable, and management recorded an estimated provision in the third quarter of 2022. The States of Alabama (in March 2022) and Hawaii (in August 2023) and the territories of American Samoa (in July 2020) and Guam (in February 2023) have all voluntarily dismissed all of their claims in the litigation against Actavis and Teva USA. The dismissals by Alabama, Hawaii and Guam were with prejudice and the dismissal by American Samoa was without prejudice. Beginning on MarchÂ 2, 2016, and through July 2023, numerous complaints have been filed in the United States on behalf of putative classes of direct and indirect purchasers of several generic drug products, as well as several individual direct and indirect purchaser opt-out plaintiffs, including most recently an opt-out complaint filed by nine direct-action plaintiffs on AprilÂ 4, 2024. These complaints, which allege that the defendants engaged in conspiracies to fix prices and/or allocate market share of generic products have been brought against various manufacturer defendants, including Teva USA and Actavis. The plaintiffs generally seek injunctive relief and damages under federal antitrust law, and damages under various state laws. The Pennsylvania MDL court scheduled potential bellwether trials for the putative classes of direct and indirect purchasers of two drugs for August 2024. From 2019 to 2021, certain individual plaintiffs commenced civil actions in the Pennsylvania Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County against many of the defendants in the Pennsylvania MDL, including Teva and Actavis. One plaintiff, Aetna Inc., has filed a complaint, and the defendants have moved to place all of the cases filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Philadelphia County in deferred status, which motion remains pending. Certain counties in NewÂ York and Texas have also commenced civil actions against many of the defendants in the Pennsylvania MDL, including Teva and Actavis, and the complaints have been transferred to the Pennsylvania MDL. On JanuaryÂ 31, 2024, the attorney generalsâ€™ motion to remand their three lawsuits to the District of Connecticut, where they were originally filed, was granted, and on MarchÂ 18, 2024, the Third Circuit Court of Appeals denied defendantsâ€™ petition for writ of mandamus. In April 2024, all three of the attorneys generalâ€™s lawsuits have been transferred back to the U.S. District Court for the District of Connecticut, which has adopted a schedule for summary judgment in the attorneys generalâ€™s third complaint pursuant to which multiple groups of motions will be filed during 2024 and 2025. Fact discovery in the first and second complaints is ongoing. There is also one similar complaint brought in Canada, which is in its early stages and alleges that the defendants engaged in conspiracies to fix prices and/or allocate market share of generic drug products to the detriment of a class of private payors. In March 2017, Teva received a subpoena from the U.S. Attorneyâ€™s office in Boston, Massachusetts requesting documents related to Tevaâ€™s donations to patient assistance programs. In August 2020, the U.S. Attorneyâ€™s office in Boston, Massachusetts brought a civil action in the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts alleging causes of action under the federal False Claims Act and for unjust enrichment (the â€œDOJ PAP Complaintâ€). It was alleged that Tevaâ€™s donations to certain 501(c)(3) charities that provided financial assistance to multiple sclerosis patients violated the Anti-Kickback Statute, and the DOJ sought a maximum of over $1Â billion in damages, which would automatically be trebled in the event of an adverse verdict, and Teva would also be subject to mandatory statutory penalties for each false claim, the amount of which (potentially billions of U.S. dollars in additional penalties, at the high end) would be determined by the court within a statutory range. On OctoberÂ 10, 2024, Teva entered into a settlement agreement with the DOJ to resolve these claims. Teva will pay $425Â million over 6 years under the terms of the settlement â€“ $19Â million in the fourth quarter of 2024, $34Â million in 2025, $49Â million in each of 2026 and 2027, $99Â million in 2028, and $175Â million in 2029 â€“ which includes no admission of wrongdoing. Teva has recognized a provision for the resolution of this case. Additionally, on JanuaryÂ 8, 2021, Humana, Inc. (â€œHumanaâ€) filed an action against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of Florida based on the allegations raised in the DOJ PAP Complaint. In June 2023, Teva filed a joint motion to dismiss the amended complaint, together with co-defendant Advanced Care Scripts, Inc., on the grounds that Humana lacks standing to assert RICO claims and the claims are time-barred and/or insufficiently pled, and that motion remains pending. On NovemberÂ 17, 2022, United Healthcare also filed an action against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey based on the conduct alleged in the DOJ PAP Complaint, and on FebruaryÂ 29, 2024, United Healthcare filed an amended complaint. On AugustÂ 16, 2024, several MSP Recovery-related entities filed a putative class action against Teva and others in the U.S. District Court for the District of Kansas based on the alleged conduct in the DOJ PAP Complaint. Â In April 2021, a city and county in Washington filed claims against Teva in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington for alleged violations of the RICO Act, Washingtonâ€™s Consumer Protection Act, and unjust enrichment concerning Tevaâ€™s sale of COPAXONE. Plaintiffs purport to represent a nationwide class of health plans and a subclass of Washington-based health plans that purchased and/or reimbursed health plan members for COPAXONE. Plaintiffs allege that Teva engaged in several fraudulent schemes that resulted in plaintiffs and the putative class members purchasing and/or reimbursing plan members for additional prescriptions of COPAXONE and/or at inflated COPAXONE prices. Plaintiffs seek treble damages for the excess reimbursements and inflated costs, as well as injunctive relief. On NovemberÂ 17, 2021, Teva moved to dismiss the suit, on the grounds that plaintiffsâ€™ claims are barred by the applicable statutes of limitations and the direct purchaser rule, suffer from jurisdictional defects, and fail to plausibly allege fraud or other elements of their claims. On MarchÂ 9, 2023, the court held a hearing on the motion to dismiss, and a decision remains pending. On DecemberÂ 1, 2022, Teva received a civil subpoena from the U.S. Attorneyâ€™s office in Boston, Massachusetts requesting certain documents related to the sale and marketing of AUSTEDOÂ® and risperidone LAI. Teva is cooperating with the request for documents. In June 2024, Teva received a civil investigative demand from the Federal Trade Commission (â€œFTCâ€) seeking documents and information regarding an investigation related to patents listed in the Food and Drug Administrationâ€™s Approved Drug Products with Therapeutic Equivalence Evaluations publication (â€œOrange Bookâ€) in connection with certain inhaler products. Teva is cooperating with the request for documents and information. On OctoberÂ 1, 2024, Teva received a civil investigative demand from the U.S. Attorneyâ€™s office in Boston, Massachusetts and the Civil Division of the Department of Justice requesting certain documents and information related to the manufacturing practices at its former manufacturing facility in Irvine, California, which Teva closed in 2022. Teva is cooperating with the request for documents and information. Opioids Litigation Since May 2014, more than 3,500 complaints have been filed by various governmental agencies and private plaintiffs in U.S. state and federal courts with respect to opioid sales and distribution against various Teva affiliates and several other pharmaceutical companies, the vast majority of which have been resolved. Cases brought by third party payers, both as individual cases and as class actions, remain. The majority of the remaining cases are consolidated in the multidistrict litigation in the Northern District of Ohio (the â€œMDL Opioid Proceedingâ€). These cases assert claims under similar provisions of different state laws and generally allege that the defendants engaged in improper marketing and distribution of Tevaâ€™s branded opioids, including ACTIQÂ® and FENTORAÂ®, and also assert claims related to Tevaâ€™s generic opioid products. In addition, over 950 personal injury plaintiffs, including various putative class actions of individuals, have asserted personal injury and wrongful death claims in over 600 complaints, nearly all of which are consolidated in the MDL Opioid Proceeding.Â Furthermore, approximately 100 personal injury complaints allege that Anda (in addition to naming other distributors and manufacturers) failed to develop and implement systems sufficient to identify suspicious orders of opioid products and prevent their abuse and diversion. Plaintiffs seek a variety of remedies, including restitution, civil penalties, disgorgement of profits, treble damages,Â non-economic damages, attorneysâ€™ fees and injunctive relief. Certain plaintiffs seek damages for all costs associated with addressing the abuse of opioids and opioid addiction and certain plaintiffs specify multiple billions of dollars in the aggregate as alleged damages. In many of these cases, plaintiffs are seeking joint and several damages among all defendants. All but a handful of these cases are stayed in the MDL Opioid Proceedings. In June 2023, Teva finalized and fully resolved its nationwide settlement agreement with the states and litigating subdivisions. Under the financial terms of the nationwide settlement agreement with the states and subdivisions, Teva will pay up to $4.25Â billion (including the already settled cases), spread over 13 years. This total includes the supply of up to $1.2Â billion of Tevaâ€™s generic version of NarcanÂ® (naloxone hydrochloride nasal spray), valued at wholesale acquisition cost, over 10 years or cash at 20% of the wholesale acquisition cost ($240 million) in lieu of product. In September 2024, Teva reached and finalized an agreement with the City of Baltimore to settle its opioid-related claims for a total of $80Â million (of which $35Â million will be paid by the end of 2024 and the remainder will be paid by JulyÂ 1, 2025), averting a trial that was scheduled to begin on SeptemberÂ 16, 2024. Â With its settlement with the City of Baltimore, Teva has settled with 100% of the U.S. states and litigating political subdivisions and the Native American tribes (the â€œTribesâ€). Tevaâ€™s estimated cash payments between 2024 and 2028 for all opioids settlements are: $428Â million payable in 2024 (of which $392Â million was paid as of SeptemberÂ 30, 2024), $423Â million payable in 2025; $368Â million payable in 2026; $374Â million payable in 2027; and $390Â million payable in 2028. These payments are subject to change based on various factors including, but not limited to, timing of payments, most favored nations clauses associated with prior settlements, and the statesâ€™ elections to take Tevaâ€™s generic version of NarcanÂ® (naloxone hydrochloride nasal spray). The remaining payments, subject to adjustments, will be paid beyond 2028. Various Teva affiliates, along with several other pharmaceutical companies, were named as defendants in opioids cases initiated by approximately 500 U.S. hospitals and other healthcare providers asserting opioid-related claims, including public nuisance. Specifically, the lawsuits brought by the hospitals allege that they have incurred financial harm from increased operating costs for treating patients whose underlying illnesses are purportedly exacerbated or complicated by opioid addiction. In September 2024, Teva and the representatives for acute care hospitals finalized the terms of a proposed settlement agreement. Under the financial terms of the proposed national settlement agreement, Teva will pay up to $126Â million in cash, spread over 18 years, and supply up to $49Â million of Tevaâ€™s generic version of NarcanÂ® (naloxone hydrochloride nasal spray), valued at wholesale acquisition cost, over 7 years. The proposed settlement agreement is contingent upon Tevaâ€™s satisfaction, in its sole discretion, with the level of participation by acute care hospitals and health care systems in the proposed settlement agreement. In light of the nationwide settlement agreement between Teva and the Statesâ€™ Attorneys General and their subdivisions, Tevaâ€™s indemnification obligations arising from Tevaâ€™s acquisition of the Actavis Generics business for opioid-related claims, prior settlements reached with Louisiana, Texas, Rhode Island, Florida, San Francisco, West Virginia, New York, the Tribes, Nevada and the City of Baltimore, the agreement in principle with the hospitals discussed above, as well as an estimate for a number of items including, but not limited to, costs associated with administering injunctive terms, and most favored nations clauses associated with prior settlements, the Company has recorded a provision. The provision is a reasonable estimate of the ultimate costs for Tevaâ€™s opioids settlements, after discounting payments to their net present value. Opioid-related lawsuits brought against Teva by dozens of third-party payers, such as unions and welfare funds, remain pending. A reasonable upper end of a range of loss cannot be determined for the entirety of the remaining opioid-related cases. An adverse resolution of any of these lawsuits or investigations may involve large monetary penalties, damages, and/or other forms of monetary and non-monetary relief and could have a material and adverse effect on Tevaâ€™s reputation, business, results of operations and cash flows. In addition, Teva, certain of its subsidiaries and other defendants, are defending claims and putative class action lawsuits in Canada related to the manufacture, sale, marketing and distribution of opioid medications. The lawsuits include a claim by the Province of British Columbia on behalf of itself and a putative class of other federal and provincial governments, and claims of municipalities, First Nations, and persons who used opioids on behalf of themselves and putative classes. In November and December 2023, the British Columbia Supreme Court held a hearing regarding preliminary motions, including plaintiffsâ€™ certification motion, which remain pending. Shareholder Litigation On NovemberÂ 6, 2016 and DecemberÂ 27, 2016, two putative securities class actions were filed in the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California against Teva and certain of its current and former officers and directors. Those lawsuits subsequently were consolidated and transferred to the U.S. District Court for the District of Connecticut (the â€œOntario Teachers Securities Litigationâ€). On DecemberÂ 13, 2019, the lead plaintiff filed an amended complaint, purportedly on behalf of purchasers of Tevaâ€™s securities between FebruaryÂ 6, 2014 and MayÂ 10, 2019, asserting that Teva and certain of its current and former officers and directors violated federal securities and common laws in connection with Tevaâ€™s alleged failure to disclose pricing strategies for various drugs in its generic drug portfolio and by making allegedly false or misleading statements in certain offering materials. From July 2017Â to June 2019, other putative securities class actions were filed in other federal courts based on similar allegations and claims, and were transferred to the U.S. District Court for the District of Connecticut. Between August 2017 and January 2022, twenty-three complaints were filed against Teva and certain of its current and former officers and directors on behalf of plaintiffs in various forums across the country, but many of those plaintiffs â€œopted-outâ€ of the Ontario Teachers Securities Litigation. On JanuaryÂ 18, 2022, Teva entered into a settlement in the Ontario Teachers Securities Litigation for $420Â million, which received final approval from the court on JuneÂ 2, 2022. The vast majority of the total settlement amount was covered by the Companyâ€™s insurance carriers, with a small portion contributed by Teva. Additionally, as part of the settlement, Teva admitted no liability and denied all allegations of wrongdoing. On JanuaryÂ 22, 2021, the Court dismissed the â€œopt-outâ€ plaintiffsâ€™ claims arising from statements made prior to the five-year statute of repose, but denied Tevaâ€™s motion to dismiss their claims under Israeli laws. Teva has settled the majority of the â€œopt-outâ€ claims, and one opt-out case remains outstanding. Teva also reached a settlement with shareholders who filed class actions in Israel with similar allegations to those raised in the Ontario Teachers Securities Litigation, which was approved by the court in Israel in November 2023. Â On SeptemberÂ 23, 2020, a putative securities class action was filed in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania against Teva and certain of its former officers. On AugustÂ 10, 2021, the lead plaintiff filed a corrected amended class action complaint, purportedly on behalf of persons who purchased or otherwise acquired Teva securities between OctoberÂ 29, 2015 and AugustÂ 18, 2020. The corrected amended complaint alleges that Teva and certain of its current and former officers violated federal securities laws by allegedly making false and misleading statements regarding the commercial performance of COPAXONE, namely, by failing to disclose that Teva had allegedly caused the submission of false claims to Medicare through Tevaâ€™s donations to bona fide independent charities that provide financial assistance to patients, which allegedly impacted COPAXONEâ€™s commercial success and the sustainability of its revenues and resulted in the DOJ PAP Complaint filed by the DOJ. The corrected amended complaint seeks unspecified damages and legal fees. On AugustÂ 2, 2022, the court stayed all proceedings other than class certification proceedings pending the resolution of the DOJ PAP Complaint. On NovemberÂ 3, 2023, the court granted plaintiffâ€™s motion for class certification. On NovemberÂ 17, 2023, Teva filed a petition with the Third Circuit Court of Appeals for leave to appeal the class certification ruling, which was denied on MayÂ 16, 2024. On AugustÂ 30, 2024, the court lifted the stay. A motion to approve a securities class action was also filed in the Central District Court in Israel, which has been stayed pending the U.S. litigation, with similar allegations to those made in the above complaint filed in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania. Environmental Matters Teva or its subsidiaries are party to a number of environmental proceedings, or have received claims, including under the federal Superfund law or other federal, provincial or state and local laws, imposing liability for alleged noncompliance, or for the investigation and remediation of releases of hazardous substances and for natural resource damages. Many of these proceedings and claims seek to require the generators of hazardous wastes disposed of at a third party-owned site, or the party responsible for a release of hazardous substances that impacted a site, to investigate and clean the site or to pay or reimburse others for such activities, including for oversight by governmental authorities and any related damages to natural resources. Teva or its subsidiaries have received claims, or been made a party to these proceedings, along with others, as an alleged generator of wastes that were disposed of or treated at third-party waste disposal sites, or as a result of an alleged release from one of Tevaâ€™s facilities or former facilities. Although liability among the responsible parties, under certain circumstances, may be joint and several, these proceedings are frequently resolved so that the allocation of clean-up and other costs among the parties reflects the relative contributions of the parties to the site conditions and takes into account other pertinent factors. Tevaâ€™s potential liability varies greatly at each of the sites; for some sites the costs of the investigation, clean-up and natural resource damages have not yet been determined, and for others Tevaâ€™s allocable share of liability has not been determined. At other sites, Teva has taken an active role in identifying those costs, to the extent they are identifiable and estimable, which do not include reductions for potential recoveries of clean-up costs from insurers, indemnitors, former site owners or operators or other potentially responsible parties. In addition, enforcement proceedings relating to alleged violations of federal, state, commonwealth or local requirements at some of Tevaâ€™s facilities may result in the imposition of significant penalties (in amounts not expected to materially adversely affect Tevaâ€™s results of operations) and the recovery of certain costs and natural resource damages, and may require that corrective actions and enhanced compliance measures be implemented. ItemÂ 103 of Regulation S-K promulgated by the SEC requires disclosure of certain environmental matters when a governmental authority is a party to the proceedings and such proceedings involve potential monetary sanctions, unless the Company reasonably believes that the matter will result in no monetary sanctions, or in monetary sanctions, exclusive of interest and costs, of less than $300,000. The following matter is disclosed in accordance with that requirement. On JulyÂ 8, 2021, the National Green Tribunal Principal Bench, New Delhi, issued an order against Tevaâ€™s subsidiary in India, Teva API India Private Limited, finding non-compliance with environmental laws and assessed a penalty of $1.4Â million. The Company disputed certain of the findings and the amount of the penalty and filed an appeal before the Supreme Court of India. On AugustÂ 5, 2021, the Supreme Court of India admitted the appeal for hearing and granted an interim unconditional stay on the National Green Tribunalâ€™s order. The Company does not believe that the eventual outcome of such matter will have a material effect on its business. Â Other Matters On FebruaryÂ 1, 2018, former shareholders of Ception Therapeutics, Inc., a company that was acquired by and merged into Cephalon in 2010, prior to Cephalonâ€™s acquisition by Teva, filed breach of contract and other related claims against the Company, Teva USA and Cephalon in the Delaware Court of Chancery.Â Among other things, the plaintiffs alleged that Cephalon had breached the terms of the 2010 Ception-Cephalon merger agreement by failing to exercise commercially reasonable efforts to develop and commercialize CINQAIRÂ® (reslizumab) for the treatment of eosinophilic esophagitis (â€œEEâ€). The plaintiffs claimed damages of at least $200Â million, an amount they alleged was equivalent to the milestones payable to the former shareholders of Ception in the event Cephalon were to obtain regulatory approval for EE in the United States ($150 million) and Europe ($50 million). On DecemberÂ 28, 2018, following defendantsâ€™ motion to dismiss the complaint, the court granted the motion in part and dismissed all of plaintiffsâ€™ claims, except for their claim against Cephalon for breach of contract. In November 2021, plaintiffs moved to amend their complaint to, among other things, reassert claims against the Company and Teva USA. However, on JulyÂ 12, 2022, plaintiffs filed a new amended complaint that included claims against Teva USA but not the Company, in exchange for Teva USAâ€™s agreement to guarantee any judgment entered against Cephalon in the litigation. A bench trial for this matter was held in September 2022 and on AprilÂ 30, 2024, the court issued a memorandum opinion in favor of Cephalon and Teva USA, finding that they did not breach the merger agreement as plaintiffs had alleged. Plaintiffs have appealed that ruling to the Delaware Supreme Court, and the appeal remains pending. Gain Contingencies From time to time, Teva may directly or indirectly pursue claims against certain parties, including but not limited to patent infringement lawsuits against other pharmaceutical companies to protect its patent rights, as well as derivative actions brought on behalf of Teva. Teva recognizes gain contingencies from the defendants in such lawsuits when they are realized or when all related contingencies have been resolved. No gain has been recognized regarding the matters disclosed below, unless mentioned otherwise. In October 2017, Teva filed a lawsuit in the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts alleging that Eli LillyÂ & Co.â€™s (â€œLillyâ€) marketing and sale of its galcanezumab product for the treatment of migraine infringes nine Teva patents, including three method of treatment patents and six composition of matter patents. Lilly then submitted inter partes review (â€œIPRâ€) petitions to the Patent Trial and Appeal Board (â€œPTABâ€), challenging the validity of the nine Teva patents. The PTAB issued decisions upholding the three method of treatment patents but finding the six composition of matter patents invalid, which decisions were affirmed by the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit on AugustÂ 16, 2021. A jury trial regarding the three method of treatment patents resulted in a verdict in Tevaâ€™s favor on NovemberÂ 9, 2022, in which the three method of treatment patents were determined to be valid and infringed by Lilly and Teva was awarded $176.5Â million in damages. On SeptemberÂ 26, 2023, the U.S. District Court for the District of Massachusetts issued a decision that reversed the juryâ€™s verdict and damages award, finding Tevaâ€™s method of treatment patents to be invalid. Teva filed its opening appeal brief on FebruaryÂ 2, 2024 and Lilly filed its responsive brief on AprilÂ 19, 2024. Teva filed its responsive brief on MayÂ 29, 2024, and Lillyâ€™s final brief was filed on JulyÂ 19, 2024. No date has been set for the appeal hearing. In March 2024, Teva filed a lawsuit in the U.S. District Court for the District of New Jersey alleging that Amarin Pharma, Inc., Amarin Pharmaceuticals Ireland Limited, and Amarin Corporation plc (collectively â€œAmarinâ€) engaged in a decade-long scheme to lock up the supply of icosapent ethyl to prevent and delay generic competition to its branded VascepaÂ® drug product.Â Tevaâ€™s lawsuit coincides with four other lawsuits brought by generic drug manufacturers and purchasers ofÂ branded VascepaÂ®Â alleging the same or similar conduct by Amarin.Â Tevaâ€™s requested relief includes compensatory damages for lost sales and lost profits from generic icosapent ethyl drug sales that Teva could have made absent Amarinâ€™s alleged interference. On MayÂ 24, 2024, Amarin filed a motion in the U.S. District Court for the District of Nevada, seeking to enforce the terms of an earlier Teva-Amarin agreement to settle patent litigation regarding VascepaÂ®, which Amarin asserts precludes Teva from filing the present antitrust action. Teva opposed this motion on JuneÂ 7, 2024, and Amarinâ€™s motion remains pending. As the lawsuit is still in its initial stages, it is not possible to predict its outcome and there is no guarantee that Teva will be granted its requested relief. In June 2024, Teva filed a lawsuit in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California alleging that Corcept Therapeutics, Inc. (â€œCorceptâ€), and Optime Care Inc. (â€œOptimeâ€) have engaged in a multifaceted, years-long scheme to stifle generic competition to Corceptâ€™s branded KorlymÂ® (mifepristone) drug product, which is indicated to treat endogenous Cushingâ€™s syndrome. Teva alleges that Corcept and Optime have suppressed competition by abusing the Â patent and judicial systems, entering a long-term, blanket exclusive-dealing agreement that has locked up a key pharmaceutical distribution channel, and making illicit payments to physicians as compensation for prescribing KorlymÂ®. Tevaâ€™s requested relief includes compensatory damages for lost sales and lost profits from generic mifepristone drug sales that Teva could have made absent Corcept and Optimeâ€™s alleged interference, as well as injunctive relief to remove the unlawful barriers to generic competition created by Corcept and Optime. As the lawsuit is still in its initial stages, it is not possible to predict its outcome and there is no guarantee that Teva will be granted its requested relief. Motions to approve derivative actions seeking monetary damages against certain past and present directors and officers have been filed in Israeli Courts alleging negligence and recklessness, as well as motions for document disclosure prior to initiating derivative actions. Motions were filed with respect to several U.S. and EU settlement agreements, opioids, allegations related to the DOJâ€™s complaint regarding the COPAXONE patient assistance program in the U.S., and with respect to the European Commissionâ€™s investigation relating to COPAXONE. In May 2024, Teva settled the derivative action related to the opioids litigation, and on SeptemberÂ 16, 2024, the settlement received final approval from the Tel Aviv District Court. In the third quarter of 2023, Teva recognized a tax benefit of $12Â million, on a pre-taxÂ incomeÂ of $64Â million. Tevaâ€™s tax rate for the third quarter of 2024 was mainly impacted by impairment charges with no corresponding tax effects, an adjustment to the Companyâ€™s corporate tax rate in Israel on losses related to non-qualified tax incentive activities in Israel, legal expenses with no corresponding tax effect related to the fine issued by the European Commission in connection with its antitrust investigation into COPAXONE, and recording of valuation allowance with respect to certain carry over credits outside of Israel. Tevaâ€™s tax rate for the third quarter for 2023 was mainly affected by deferred tax benefits resulting from intellectual property related integration plans, which have been adopted, among others, in an effort of addressing the global adoption of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Pillar Two minimum effective corporate tax. The pre-tax loss in the third quarter of 2023 was revised as discussed in note 1c. In the first nine months of 2024, Teva recognized a tax expense of $648Â million, on a pre-tax loss of $1,037Â million. In the first nine months of 2023, Teva recognized a tax benefit of $48Â million, on a pre-tax loss of $1,131Â million. Tevaâ€™s tax rate for the first nine months of 2024 was mainly impacted by a settlement agreement with the Israeli Tax Authorities (â€œITAâ€) as discussed below, impairment charges with no corresponding tax effects, deferred tax benefits resulting from intellectual property related integration plans, an adjustment to the Companyâ€™s corporate tax rate in Israel on losses related to non-qualified tax incentives activities in Israel, legal expenses with no corresponding tax effect related to the fine issued by the European Commission in connection with its antitrust investigation into COPAXONE, and recording of valuation allowance with respect to certain carry over credits outside of Israel. Tevaâ€™s tax rate for the first nine months of 2023 was mainly affected by deferred tax benefits from intellectual property related integration plans, impairments, legal settlements, and interest expense disallowances. The pre-tax loss in the first nine months of 2023 was revised as discussed in note 1c. The statutory Israeli corporate tax rate is 23% in 2024. Tevaâ€™s global tax rate differs from the Israeli statutory tax rate, mainly due to generation of profits in various jurisdictions in which tax rates are different than the Israeli tax rate, tax benefits, as well as infrequent or non-recurring items. Teva filed a claim seeking the refund of withholding taxes paid to the Indian tax authorities in 2012. A trial for this case is currently ongoing. A final and binding decision against Teva in this case may lead to a charge of $125Â million. On JuneÂ 23, 2024, Teva entered into an agreement with the ITA to settle certain litigation with respect to taxes payable for the Companyâ€™s taxable years 2008 through 2020 (the â€œAgreementâ€). Pursuant to the terms of the Agreement, the Company will pay a total amount of approximately $750Â million to the ITA spread over a six-year period beginning this year. The Company has the right to prepay, and amounts paid over time are subject to interest and increase for inflation. Such total amount includes: (i) $495Â million in corporate taxes with respect to the Companyâ€™s historical earnings that were previously considered by the Company to be exempt from taxes under the Encouragement for Capital Investment Law; and (ii)Â approximately $250Â million in corporate taxes, relating to additional disputed tax issues in the aforementioned taxable years. The Agreement resulted in an increase of $506Â million in the Companyâ€™s total income taxes in the second quarter of 2024, as certain elements had been recognized in previous periods. Additionally, under the terms of the Agreement, it was further agreed that in the future event the Company pays dividends on, or repurchases, its equity interests, the Company will pay an additional 5%-7% of the amount of such dividends or repurchases in corporate taxes, up to a maximum tax payment amount of approximately $500Â million. Any amounts due under this provision of the Agreement will be recorded in the future as incurred. Teva believes it has adequately provided for all of its uncertain tax positions, including items currently under dispute, however, adverse results could be material. The OECD introduced Base Erosion and Profit Shifting (â€œBEPSâ€) Pillar Two rules that impose a global minimum tax rate of 15% for large multinational corporations. On DecemberÂ 12, 2022, the EU Council announced that EU member states had reached an agreement to implement the minimum taxation component of 15% of the OECDâ€™s reform of international taxation. Other countries have also enacted or are expected to enact legislation to be effective as early as JanuaryÂ 1, 2024, with general implementation of a global minimum tax by JanuaryÂ 1, 2025. Teva has evaluated the potential impact on its 2024 consolidated financial statements and related disclosures and does not expect Pillar Two to have a material impact on its effective tax rate or consolidated financial statements in the foreseeable future. Impairments In the three months ended September 30, 2024, Teva recorded an income ofÂ $80Â million under impairments of tangible assets, compared to an expense of $1Â million in the three months ended September 30, 2023. The income for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 was mainly related to a favorable adjustment to the changes of the expected loss from reclassification of currency translation adjustments, partially offset by an additional impairment due to fair value update in connection with the classification of the business venture in Japan as held for sale. See note 2. Impairments of tangible assets for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 were $589Â million and $21Â million, respectively. The impairment for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 was mainly related to the classification of the business venture in Japan as held for sale (see note 2). The impairments for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 were mainly related to certain assets in the U.S. and Europe. Teva may record additional impairments in the future, to the extent it changes its plans on any given asset and/or the assumptions underlying such plans, as a result of its ongoing network consolidation activities and its â€œPivot to Growth Strategyâ€. Contingent consideration In the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, Teva recorded an expense of $34Â million for contingent consideration, compared to an expense of $27Â million in the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. The expenses in the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 were mainly due to the effect of the passage of time on the net present value of the discounted payments. The expenses in the three months ended September 30, 2023 were mainly related to a change in the estimated future royalty payments to Allergan in connection with lenalidomide capsules (the generic version of RevlimidÂ®) and a change in the estimated future royalty payments to Eagle in connection with expected future bendamustine sales. The expense in the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 was revised as discussed in note 1c. In the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, Teva recorded an expense of $305Â million for contingent consideration, compared to an expense of $140Â million in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. The expenses in the first nine months of 2024 and 2023 were mainly related to a change in the estimated future royalty payments to Allergan in connection with lenalidomide capsules (the generic version of RevlimidÂ®) and a change in the estimated future royalty payments to Eagle in connection with expected future bendamustine sales. The expense in the first nine months of 2023 was revised as discussed in note 1c. Restructuring In the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, Teva recorded $21Â million of restructuring expenses, compared to $27Â million in the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. Expenses for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 were primarily related to network consolidation activities. Â In the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, Teva recorded $52Â million of restructuring expenses, compared to $93Â million in the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023. The expenses for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023 were primarily related to network consolidation activities. In computing diluted loss per share for the three months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024, no account was taken of the potential dilution that could occur upon the exercise of options and non-vested RSUs and PSUs granted under employee stock compensation plans, and convertible senior debentures, since they had an anti-dilutive effect on loss per share. In computing diluted earnings per share for the three months ended September 30, 2023, basic earnings per share were adjusted to take into account the potential dilution that could occur upon the exercise of options and non-vested RSUs and PSUs granted under employee stock compensation plans. No account was taken of the potential dilution by the convertible senior debentures, since they had an anti-dilutive effect on earnings per share. In computing diluted loss per share for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2024 and 2023, no account was taken of the potential dilution that could occur upon the exercise of options and non-vested RSUs and PSUs granted under employee stock compensation plans, and convertible senior debentures, since they had an anti-dilutive effect on loss per share. (b) Europe segment, which includes the European Union, the United Kingdom and certain other European countries. (c) International Markets segment, which includes all countries other than the United States and countries included in the Europe segment. In addition to these three segments, Teva has other sources of revenues, primarily the sale of APIs to third parties, certain contract manufacturing services and an out-licensing platform offering a portfolio of products to other pharmaceutical companies through its affiliate Medis. Tevaâ€™s Chief Executive Officer (â€œCEOâ€), who is the chief operating decision maker (â€œCODMâ€), reviews financial information prepared on a consolidated basis, accompanied by disaggregated information about revenues and contributed profit by the three identified reportable segments, namely United States, Europe and International Markets, to make decisions about resources to be allocated to the segments and assess their performance. Segment profit is comprised of gross profit for the segment less R&D expenses, S&M expenses, G&A expenses and other income related to the segment. Segment profit does not include amortization and certain other items. Teva manages its assets on a company basis, not by segments, as many of its assets are shared or commingled. Tevaâ€™s CODM does not regularly review asset information by reportable segment and, therefore, Teva does not report asset information by reportable segment. Tevaâ€™s CEO may review its strategy and organizational structure from time to time. Based on such review, in May 2023 Teva launched its new Pivot to Growth strategy. Any additional changes in strategy may lead to a reevaluation of the Companyâ€™s segments and goodwill allocation to reporting units, as well as fair value attributable to its reporting units. See note 3 and note 6. In conjunction with a recent shift in executive management responsibilities and in alignment with Tevaâ€™s Pivot to Growth strategy, Teva decided that Canada is no longer included as part of Tevaâ€™s North America segment as of JanuaryÂ 1, 2024. From that date Canada is reported as part of the Companyâ€™s International Markets segment and Tevaâ€™s North America segment has been renamed the United States segment. Teva aligned its internal financial and segment reporting and its reporting units in accordance with this change effective JanuaryÂ 1, 2024. Prior period amounts have been recast to conform to the reporting structure for the current year. On JanuaryÂ 31, 2024, Teva announced that it intends to divest its API business (including its R&D, manufacturing and commercial activities) through a sale, which divestment is expected to be completed in the first half of 2025. The intention to divest is in alignment with Tevaâ€™s Pivot to Growth strategy. However, there can be no assurance regarding the ultimate timing or structure of a potential divestiture or that a divestiture will be agreed or completed at all. Â Â a. Â Teva determined the fair value of the liabilities for contingent consideration based on a probability-weighted discounted cash flow analysis. This fair value measurement is based on significant unobservable inputs in the market and thus represents a LevelÂ 3 measurement within the fair value hierarchy. The fair value of contingent consideration is based on several factors, such as cash flows projected from the success of unapproved product candidates; probability of success of product candidates, including risks associated with uncertainty regarding achievement and payment of milestone events; time and resources required to complete the development and approval of product candidates; life of the potential commercialized products and associated risks with obtaining regulatory approvals in the United States and Europe, and the risk adjusted discount rate for fair value measurement. The discount rate applied ranged from 8.5% to 11%. The weighted average discount rate, calculated based on the relative fair value of Tevaâ€™s contingent consideration liabilities, was 8.8%. Contingent consideration is evaluated quarterly, or more frequently, if circumstances dictate. Changes in the fair value of contingent consideration are recorded in the consolidated statements of income. Significant changes in unobservable inputs, mainly the probability of success and cash flows projected, could result in material changes to the contingent consideration liabilities. A change of the discount rate by 1% would have not resulted in material changes to the contingent consideration liabilities. The investment in convertible bond security is accounted for as available for sale with changes in fair value reflected in other comprehensive income. See Alvotech transaction under note 2. The following table summarizes the activity for the financial assets and liabilities where fair value measurements are estimated utilizing LevelÂ 3 inputs: Â Â Â Â Nine months endedÂ September 30, 2024 Â Â Â NineÂ months endedÂ September 30, 2023 Â Â Â Â (U.S. $ in millions) Â Fair value at the beginning of the period Â Â $ (477)Â Â Â Â (250)Â Investment in convertible bond Â Â Â â€"â€, Â Â Â Â 25 Â Conversion option Â Â Â â€"â€, Â Â Â Â 15 Â Redemption of convertible bond security Â Â Â (40)Â Â Â Â â€"â€, Â Bifurcated embedded derivatives Â Â Â§ Â Â Â Â§ Â Adjustments to provisions for contingent consideration: Â Â Â Â Allergan transaction* Â Â Â (267)Â Â Â Â (111)Â Eagle transaction Â Â Â (37)Â Â Â Â (35)Â Novetide transaction Â Â Â (1)Â Â Â Â 2 Â Settlement of contingent consideration: Â Â Â Â Allergan transaction Â Â Â 227 Â Â Â Â 132 Â Eagle transaction Â Â Â 41 Â Â Â Â 61 Â Novetide transaction Â Â Â 2 Â Â Â Â 2 Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Fair value at the end of the period Â Â $ (552)Â Â Â $ (159)Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â§ Represents an amount less than $0.5Â million. * The financial data presented in the tables above with respect to adjustments to provisions for contingent consideration related to Allergan for the nine months ended SeptemberÂ 30, 2023 have been revised as discussed in note 1c.  On SeptemberÂ 29, 2023, Teva purchased $40Â million of subordinated convertible bonds of Alvotech. On JuneÂ 26, 2024, Alvotech announced its intention to exercise its redemption rights and redeemed the convertible bonds, which were paid to Teva in July 2024 (see note 2).
