1. Description of Business, Basis of Presentation, and Changes in Significant Accounting Policies

Ally Financial Inc. (together with its consolidated subsidiaries unless the context otherwise requires, Ally, the Company, we, us, or our) is a financial-services company with the nation's largest all-digital bank and an industry-leading automotive financing and insurance business, driven by a mission to "Do It Right" and be a relentless ally for customers and communities. The Company serves customers through a full range of online banking services (including deposits, mortgage, and credit card products) and securities brokerage and investment advisory services. The Company also includes a corporate finance business that offers capital for equity sponsors and middle-market companies. Ally is a Delaware corporation and is registered as a BHC under the BHC Act and an FHC under the GLB Act.

Our accounting and reporting policies conform to U.S. GAAP. Additionally, where applicable, the policies conform to the accounting and reporting guidelines prescribed by bank regulatory authorities. Certain reclassifications may have been made to the prior periods' financial statements and notes to conform to the current period's presentation, which did not have a material impact on our Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and that affect income and expenses during the reporting period and related disclosures. In developing the estimates and assumptions, management uses all available evidence; however, actual results could differ because of uncertainties associated with estimating the amounts, timing, and likelihood of possible outcomes. Our most significant estimates pertain to the allowance for loan losses, valuations of automotive lease assets and residuals, fair value of financial instruments, and the determination of the provision for income taxes.

The Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements at September 30, 2024, and for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, and 2023, are unaudited but reflect all adjustments that are, in management's opinion, necessary for the fair presentation of the results for the interim periods presented. All such adjustments are of a normal recurring nature. These unaudited Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements should be read in conjunction with the audited Consolidated Financial Statements (and the related Notes) included in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2023, as filed on February 20, 2024, with the SEC.

Significant Accounting Policies

Allowance for Loan Losses

The allowance for loan losses (the allowance) is deducted from, or added to, the loan's amortized cost basis to present the net amount expected to be collected from our loan portfolios. We estimate the allowance using relevant available information, which includes both internal and external sources, relating to past events, current conditions, and reasonable and supportable forecasts. Additions and reductions to the allowance are charged to current period earnings through the provision for credit losses and amounts determined to be uncollectible are charged directly against the allowance, net of amounts recovered on previously charged-off accounts. Expected recoveries do not exceed the total of amounts previously charged-off and amounts expected to be charged-off.

Expected credit losses are estimated over the contractual term of the loans, adjusted for expected prepayments when appropriate. The contractual term excludes expected extensions or renewals, unless the extension or renewal option is included in the original or modified contract at the reporting date and we are not able to unconditionally cancel the option. Expected loan modifications are also not included in the contractual term, unless we have a reasonable expectation at period end that the loan modification will be executed with a borrower.

For the purpose of calculating portfolio-level reserves, we have grouped our loans into four portfolio segments: consumer automotive, consumer mortgage, consumer other, and commercial. The allowance is measured on a collective basis using statistical models when loans have similar risk characteristics. These statistical models are designed to correlate certain macroeconomic variables to expected future credit losses. The macroeconomic data used in the models are based on forecasted factors over a reasonable and supportable forecast period. These forecasted variables are derived from both internal and external sources. Beyond this forecasted period, we revert each variable to a historical average on a straight-line basis. The historical average is calculated predominantly using historical data beginning in January 2008 through the most recent period of available data.

During the second quarter of 2024, we updated our reasonable and supportable forecast period from 12 months to 24 months, and our reversion period from 24 months to 12 months. This refinement to our estimation process represents a change in accounting estimate, with prospective application beginning in the period of change. The impact of this refinement to our estimation process was offset by an adjustment in the qualitative portion of our allowance. The use of a longer-duration reasonable and supportable macroeconomic forecast period to produce the modeled portion of our allowance for loan losses is expected to further improve model performance.

Equity-Method Investments and Proportional Amortization Investments

Our equity-method investments primarily include equity investments related to the CRA, which do not have a readily determinable fair value. The majority of these investments are accounted for using the equity method of accounting and are included in equity-method investments within other assets on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Our proportional amortization investments include tax equity investments related to the CRA, for which the primary return to us is the income tax credits and other income tax benefits we receive. We have elected to apply the proportional amortization method to qualifying tax equity investments within our LIHTC, NMTC, and HTC programs. Under the proportional amortization method, the costs of qualifying tax equity investments are amortized in proportion to the allocation of income tax credits and other income tax benefits in each period to the total.

income tax benefits expected to be obtained over the life of the investment, and the investment amortization and income tax credits are presented on a net basis as a component of income tax expense. Our proportional amortization investments are included within other assets on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. Our obligations related to unfunded commitments for our proportional amortization investments are included in accrued expenses and other liabilities on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. Income tax credits and other income tax benefits received are recorded in income tax expense of the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Comprehensive Income (Loss) and in net income and as a component of operating activities within deferred income taxes, other assets, and other liabilities of the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows.

This update to our accounting policy resulted from our adoption of ASU 2023-02 on January 1, 2024, as further described within the section below titled Recently Adopted Accounting Standards.

Income Taxes

In calculating the provision for interim income taxes, in accordance with ASC 740, Income Taxes, we apply an estimated annual effective tax rate to year-to-date ordinary income. At the end of each interim period, we estimate the effective tax rate expected to be applicable for the full fiscal year. This method differs from that described in Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K, which describes our annual significant income tax accounting policy and related methodology.

Refer to Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K regarding additional significant accounting policies.

Fair Value Measurement of Equity Securities Subject to Contractual Sale Restrictions (ASU 2022-03)

In June 2022, the FASB issued ASU 2022-03, Fair Value Measurement (Topic 820): Fair Value Measurement of Equity Securities Subject to Contractual Sale Restrictions. The purpose of this guidance is to clarify that a contractual restriction on the ability to sell an equity security is not considered part of the unit of account of the equity security, and therefore should not be considered when measuring the equity security's fair value. Additionally, an entity cannot separately recognize and measure a contractual-sale restriction. This guidance also adds specific disclosures related to equity securities that are subject to contractual-sale restrictions, including (1) the fair value of equity securities subject to contractual sale restrictions reflected in the balance sheet, (2) the nature and remaining duration of the restrictions, and (3) the circumstances that could cause a lapse in the restrictions. We adopted the amendments on January 1, 2024, using the prospective approach. The impact of these amendments was not material.

Accounting for Investments in Tax Credit Structures Using the Proportional Amortization Method (ASU 2023-02)

In March 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-02, Investments—Equity Method and Joint Ventures (Topic 323): Accounting for Investments in Tax Credit Structures Using the Proportional Amortization Method. The purpose of this guidance is to expand the use of the proportional amortization method to certain tax equity investments made primarily for the purpose of receiving income tax credits and other income tax benefits. In order to qualify for the proportional amortization method, the following five conditions must be met: (1) it is probable that the income tax credits allocable to the tax equity investor will be available, (2) the tax equity investor does not have the ability to exercise significant influence over the operating and financial policies of the underlying project, (3) substantially all of the projected benefits are from income tax credits and other income tax benefits, (4) the tax equity investor's projected yield is based solely on the cash flows from the income tax credits and other income tax benefits is positive, and (5) the tax equity investor is a limited liability investor in the limited liability entity for both legal and tax purposes, and the tax equity investor's liability is limited to its capital investment. Selecting the proportional amortization method is an accounting policy election that must be applied on a tax-credit-program-by-tax-credit-program basis rather than at the entity level or to individual investments. Additionally, in order to apply the proportional amortization method to qualifying investments, an entity must use the flow-through method when accounting for the receipt of the investment tax credits. This guidance also adds disclosure requirements related to tax credit programs where the proportional amortization method has been elected. We adopted the amendments on January 1, 2024, using the modified retrospective approach. The adoption of the amendments resulted in a reduction to our opening retained earnings of approximately $2 million, net of income taxes.

Recently Issued Accounting Standards and Disclosure Rules

Improvements to Reportable Segment Disclosures (ASU 2023-07)

In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07, Segment Reporting (Topic 280): Improvements to Reportable Segment Disclosures. The purpose of this guidance is to improve reportable segment disclosure, primarily through enhanced disclosures about significant segment expenses. This ASU requires that an entity disclose, on an interim and annual basis, significant segment expenses that are regularly provided to the CODM and are included within the reported measure of segment profit or loss. This ASU also requires an entity to disclose, on an interim and annual basis, other segment items by reportable segment, including a qualitative description of the composition of those items. This "other" category is defined as the difference between segment profit or loss and segment revenue less significant segment expenses. Entities are also required to disclose the title and position of the individual, or the name of the group or committee, identified as the CODM. The amendments are effective on January 1, 2024, for annual reporting, and January 1, 2025, for interim reporting, with early adoption permitted. The amendments must be applied using a retrospective approach. Management does not expect the impact of these amendments to be material.

Improvements to Income Tax Disclosures (ASU 2023-09)

In December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09, Income Taxes (Topic 740): Improvements to Income Tax Disclosures. The purpose of this guidance is to enhance the rate reconciliation and income taxes paid disclosures. This ASU requires that an entity disclose, on an annual basis, specific categories in the rate reconciliation and provide additional information for reconciling items that meet a quantitative threshold. For the state and local income tax category of the rate reconciliation, entities must disclose a qualitative description of the states and local jurisdictions that make up the majority (greater than 50 percent) of the category. For the income taxes paid disclosures, entities will be required to disclose, on an annual basis, the amount of income taxes paid (net of refunds received) disaggregated by federal, state, and foreign taxes. The amendments are effective on January 1, 2025, with early adoption permitted. The amendments must be applied using either a prospective or retrospective approach. Management does not expect the impact of these amendments to be material.

The Enhancement and Standardization of Climate-Related Disclosures for Investors (SEC Release No. 33-11275)

In March 2024, the SEC adopted the final rule under SEC Release No. 33-11275, The Enhancement and Standardization of Climate-Related Disclosures for Investors. This final rule requires registrants to disclose certain climate-related information in registration statements and annual reports for the fiscal year beginning January 1, 2025. On April 4, 2024, the SEC ordered that the final rule is stayed pending the completion of judicial review in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit. Management is still assessing the final rule and monitoring legal developments to determine its impact on us.

2. Held-for-sale Operations

On December 31, 2023, we committed to sell Ally Lending, a component of our Corporate and Other segment. We closed the sale of Ally Lending on March 1, 2024. For all periods presented, the operating results for our held-for-sale operations are presented within continuing operations in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Comprehensive Income (Loss). Additionally, the assets and liabilities of our held-for-sale operations are presented separately on the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet as of December 31, 2023.

In connection with the classification of the operations as held-for-sale, the disposal group was measured at lower-of-cost or fair value. First, the finance receivables and loans were classified as held-for-sale and measured at the lower-of-cost or fair value, which resulted in a benefit of $16 million to our provision for credit losses during the year ended December 31, 2023. Next, the remaining assets and liabilities of the disposal group were measured at the lower-of-cost or fair value. The fair value was determined based on the sales agreement with the third-party purchaser, which is a Level 2 fair value input. The carrying value exceeded the fair value of the assets and liabilities of the disposal group, which resulted in a goodwill impairment charge of $149 million during the year ended December 31, 2023. In total, we recognized a net pretax loss of $133 million for the year ended December 31, 2023, in connection with classification of the operations as held-for-sale. During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, we recognized an additional pretax loss of $8 million in connection with the sale of Ally Lending, and do not expect to recognize any significant incremental losses related to this transaction.

The assets and liabilities of operations held-for-sale are summarized below.

($ in millions)	December 31, 2023

The disposal group was sold on March 1, 2024. Refer to Note 21 for descriptions of valuation methodologies used to measure material assets at fair value and details of the valuation models, key inputs to these models, and significant assumptions used.

- (a) We consider the applicable valuation allowance, allowance for loan losses, or cumulative adjustments to be the most relevant indicator of the impact on earnings caused by the fair value measurement. Accordingly, the table above excludes total gains and losses included in earnings for these items.
- (b) Includes a $149 million impairment of goodwill at Ally Lending. At the time of impairment, the fair value of goodwill at Ally Lending was classified as Level 2 under the fair value hierarchy.

3. Revenue from Contracts with Customers

Our primary revenue sources, which include financing revenue and other interest income, are addressed by other U.S. GAAP topics and are not in the scope of ASC Topic 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers. As part of our Insurance operations, we recognize revenue from insurance contracts, which are addressed by other U.S. GAAP topics and are not included in the scope of this standard. Certain noninsurance contracts within our Insurance operations, including VSCs, GAP contracts, and VMCs, are included in the scope of this standard. All revenue associated with noninsurance contracts is recognized over the contract term on a basis proportionate to the anticipated cost emergence. Further, commissions and sales expense incurred to obtain these contracts are amortized over the terms of the related policies and service contracts on the same basis as premiums and service revenue are earned, and all advertising costs are recognized as expense when incurred.

The following tables present a disaggregated view of our revenue from contracts with customers. For further information regarding our revenue recognition policies and details about the nature of our respective revenue streams, refer to Note 1 and Note 3 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

These basis adjustments would be allocated to the amortized cost of specific securities within the pool if the hedge was redesignated. Refer to Note 19 for additional information.
- (b) Certain available-for-sale securities are included in fair value hedging relationships. Refer to Note 19 for additional information.
- (c) Certain entities related to our insurance operations are required to deposit securities with state regulatory authorities. These deposited securities totaled $13 million and $12 million at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively.
- (d) Investment securities with a fair value of $4.0 billion and $4.7 billion were pledged as collateral at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. This primarily included $3.1 billion and $3.3 billion pledged to secure advances from the FHLB at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. This also included securities pledged for other purposes as required by contractual obligations or law, under which agreements we granted the counterparty the right to sell or pledge $901 million and $1.4 billion of the underlying available-for-sale securities at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively.
- (e) Totals do not include accrued interest receivable, which was $72 million and $76 million at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. Accrued interest receivable is included in other assets on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet.
- (f) There was no allowance for credit losses recorded at both September 30, 2024, or December 31, 2023, as management determined that there were no expected credit losses in our portfolio of available-for-sale and held-to-maturity securities.
- (g) Totals do not include accrued interest receivable, which was $12 million and $13 million at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. Accrued interest receivable is included in other assets on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet.

In the fourth quarter of 2023, non-agency mortgage-backed residential securities with a fair value of $3.6 billion were transferred from available-for-sale to held-to-maturity. At the time of the transfer, $911 million of unrealized losses were retained in accumulated other comprehensive loss on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. The transfer of these securities to held-to-maturity reduces our exposure to fluctuations in accumulated other comprehensive loss on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet that can result from unrealized losses on available-for-sale securities due to changes in market interest rates. The unrealized loss at the time of transfer is amortized over the remaining life of the security, offsetting the amortization of the security's premium or discount, and resulting in no impact to the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Comprehensive Income (Loss). Refer to Note 16 for additional information.

(a) Yield is calculated using the effective yield of each security at the end of the period, weighted based on the market value by security for the securities within each maturity distribution range. The effective yield considers the contractual coupon and amortized cost inclusive of hedge basis adjustments for dedesignated hedges, and excludes expected capital gains and losses. Yield does not consider hedging effects for securities in active hedges.

(b) Fair value includes basis adjustments for securities in closed portfolios with active hedges under the portfolio layer method. This includes a $100 million asset and a $46 million asset for agency mortgage-backed residential securities at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively, and a $57 million asset and a $29 million asset for agency mortgage-backed commercial securities at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023. These basis adjustments would be allocated to the amortized cost of specific securities within the pool if the hedge was dedesignated. Refer to Note 19 for additional information.

(c) Yield is calculated using the effective yield of each security at the end of the period, weighted based on amortized cost by security for the securities within each maturity distribution range. The effective yield considers the contractual coupon and amortized cost and excludes capital gains, capital losses, and the premium or discount on securities transferred from available-for-sale to held-to-maturity.

The balances of cash equivalents were $426 million and $36 million at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively, and were composed primarily of money-market funds.

The following table summarizes available-for-sale securities in an unrealized loss position, which we evaluated to determine if a credit loss exists requiring the recognition of an allowance for credit losses. For additional information on our methodology, refer to Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K. As of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, we did not have the intent to sell the available-for-sale securities in an unrealized loss position and we do not believe it is more likely than not that we will be required to sell these securities before recovery of their amortized cost basis. We have not recorded any interest income reversals on our available-for-sale securities during the nine months ended September 30, 2024, or 2023.

During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, and 2023, management determined that there were no expected credit losses for securities in an unrealized loss position. This analysis considered a variety of factors including, but not limited to, performance indicators of the issuer, default rates, industry analyst reports, credit ratings, and other relevant information, which indicated that contractual cash flows are expected to occur. As a result of this evaluation, management determined that no credit reserves were required at September 30, 2024, or December 31, 2023.

Credit Quality Indicators

We evaluate the credit quality of our consumer loan portfolio based on the aging status of the loan and by payment activity. Loan delinquency reporting is generally based upon borrower payment activity, relative to the contractual terms of the loan.

The following tables present the amortized cost basis of our consumer finance receivables and loans by credit quality indicator based on delinquency status and origination year.

(a) Certain consumer automotive loans are included in fair value hedging relationships. The amortized cost excludes a liability of $66 million related to basis adjustments for loans in closed portfolios with active hedges under the portfolio layer method at December 31, 2023. These basis adjustments would be allocated to the amortized cost of specific loans within the pool if the hedge was redesignated. Refer to Note 19 for additional information.

(b) Excludes Personal Lending finance receivables and loans, which were transferred to loans held-for-sale, and were included in assets of operations held-for-sale on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet at December 31, 2023. We closed the sale of Ally Lending on March 1, 2024. Refer to Note 2 for additional information.

We evaluate the credit quality of our commercial loan portfolio using regulatory risk ratings, which are based on relevant information about the borrower's financial condition, including current financial information, historical payment experience, credit documentation, and current economic trends, among other factors. We use the following definitions for risk ratings below Pass.

- Special mention — Loans that have a potential weakness that deserves management's close attention. If left uncorrected, these potential weaknesses may result in deterioration of the repayment prospects for the loan or the institution's credit position at some future date.
- Substandard — Loans that are inadequately protected by the current net worth and paying capacity of the obligor or of the collateral pledged, if any. These loans have a well-defined weakness or weakness that jeopardize the liquidation of the debt. They are characterized by the distinct possibility that the institution will sustain some loss if the deficiencies are not corrected.

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

- Doubtful — Loans that have all the weaknesses inherent in those classified as substandard, with the additional characteristic that the weaknesses make collection or liquidation in full, based on the basis of currently existing facts, conditions, and values, highly questionable and improbable.
- Loss — Loans that are considered uncollectible and of such little value that their continuance as bankable assets is not warranted. This classification does not mean that the asset has absolutely no recovery or salvage value, but rather that it is not practical or desirable to defer writing off this basically worthless asset even though partial recovery may be effected in the future.

The regulatory risk classification utilized is influenced by internal credit risk ratings, which are based on a variety of factors. A borrower's internal credit risk rating is updated at least annually, and more frequently when a borrower's credit profile changes, including when we become aware of potential credit deterioration. The following tables present the amortized cost basis of our commercial finance receivables and loans by credit quality indicator based on risk rating and origination year.

Loan Modifications

The following tables present the amortized cost basis of loans that were modified subsequent to origination during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, and 2023, respectively, for each portfolio segment, by modification type. For additional information on loan modification types in scope of this disclosure, refer to Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K. The below tables exclude consumer mortgage finance receivables and loans currently enrolled in a trial modification program. Trial modifications generally represent a three-month period during which the borrower makes monthly payments under the anticipated modified payment terms. If the borrower successfully completes the trial loan modification program, the contractual terms of the loan are updated and the modification is considered permanent. As of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, there were $3 million and $5 million of consumer mortgage finance receivables and loans in a trial modification program, respectively.

9. Leasing

Ally as the Lessee

We have operating leases for certain of our corporate facilities, which have remaining lease terms of 3 months to 6 years. Most of the property leases have fixed payment terms with annual fixed-escalation clauses and include options to extend or terminate the lease. We do not include these term extensions or termination provisions in our estimates of the lease term if we do not consider it reasonably certain that the options will be exercised.

We also have operating leases for a fleet of vehicles that is used by our sales force for business purposes, with noncancelable lease terms of 67 days. Thereafter, the leases are month-to-month, up to a maximum of 48 months from inception.

During the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, we paid $9 million and $26 million, respectively, in cash for amounts included in the measurement of lease liabilities at September 30, 2024, compared to $7 million and $23 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023, in cash amounts included in the measurement of lease liabilities at September 30, 2023. These amounts are included in net cash provided by operating activities in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows. During the nine months ended September 30, 2024 and September 30, 2023, we obtained $19 million and $10 million, respectively, of ROU assets in exchange for new lease liabilities. As of September 30, 2024, the weighted-average remaining lease term of our operating lease portfolio was 4 years, and the weighted-average discount rate was 3.16%, compared to 4 years and 2.85% as of December 31, 2023.

Ally as the Lessor

Investment in Operating Leases

We purchase consumer operating lease contracts and the associated vehicles from automotive dealerships or manufacturers after those contracts are executed. The amount we pay for an operating lease contract is based on the negotiated price for the vehicle less vehicle trade-in, down payment from the consumer, tax credits, and available automotive manufacturer incentives. Under the operating lease, the consumer is obligated to make payments in amounts equal to the amount by which the negotiated purchase price of the vehicle (less any trade-in value, down payment, tax credits, or available manufacturer incentives) exceeds the contract residual value (including residual support) of the vehicle at lease termination, plus operating lease rental charges. The customer can terminate the lease at any point after commencement, subject to additional charges and fees. The consumer, dealership, or automotive manufacturer may have the option to purchase the vehicle at the end of the lease term, which generally range from 24 to 60 months, at the residual value of the vehicle, however it is not reasonably certain this option will be exercised and accordingly our consumer leases are classified as operating leases. In addition to the charges described above, the consumer is generally responsible for certain charges related to excess mileage or excessive wear and tear on the vehicle. These charges are deemed variable lease payments and, as these payments are not based on a rate or index, they are recognized as net depreciation expense on operating lease assets in our Condensed Consolidated Statement of Comprehensive Income (Loss) as incurred.

When we acquire a consumer operating lease, we assume ownership of the vehicle. We require that property damage, bodily injury, collision, and comprehensive insurance be obtained by the lessee on all consumer operating leases. Neither the consumer, dealer, nor automotive manufacturer is responsible for the value of the vehicle at the time of lease termination. When vehicles are not purchased by customers, the receiving dealer, or automotive manufacturer at scheduled lease termination, the vehicle is returned to us for remarketing. We generally bear the risk of loss to the extent the value of a leased vehicle upon remarketing is below the expected residual value. At termination, our actual sales proceeds from remarketing the vehicle may be higher or lower than the estimated residual value resulting in a gain or loss on remarketing, which is included in net depreciation expense on operating lease assets in our Condensed Consolidated Statement of Comprehensive Income (Loss). Excessive mileage or excessive wear and tear on the vehicle during the lease may impact the sales proceeds received upon remarketing. As of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, consumer operating leases with a carrying value, net of accumulated depreciation, of $1.3 billion and $12 million, respectively, were covered by residual value guarantees. The increase is primarily driven by a new automotive manufacturer relationship added during the nine months ended September 30, 2024. As of September 30, 2024, $2 million is under a residual value guarantee of 15% of the automotive manufacturer's suggested retail price and $1.3 billion is under a residual value guarantee of approximately 50% of the vehicles' contract residual value. As of December 31, 2023, $12 million was under a residual value guarantee of 15% of the automotive manufacturer's suggested retail price.

10. Securizations and Variable Interest Entities

We securitize, transfer, and service consumer automotive loans. We often securitize these loans (also referred to as financial assets) using SPEs. An SPE is a legal entity that is designed to fulfill a specified limited need of the sponsor. Our principal use of SPEs is to obtain liquidity by securitizing certain of our financial assets. SPEs are often VIEs and may or may not be included on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. Additionally, we opportunistically sell consumer automotive and credit card whole-loans to SPEs where we have a continuing involvement.

VIEs are legal entities that either have an insufficient amount of equity at risk for the entity to finance its activities without additional subordinated financial support or, as a group, the holders of the equity investment at risk lack the ability to control the entity's activities that most significantly impact economic performance through voting or similar rights, or do not have the obligation to absorb the expected losses or the right to receive expected residual returns of the entity.

The VIEs included on the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet represent SPEs where we are deemed to be the primary beneficiary, primarily due to our servicing activities and our beneficial interests in the VIE that could be potentially significant.

The nature, purpose, and activities of nonconsolidated SPEs are similar to those of our consolidated SPEs with the primary difference being the nature and extent of our continuing involvement. For nonconsolidated SPEs, the transferred financial assets are removed from our balance sheet provided the conditions for sale accounting are met. The financial assets obtained from the sale are primarily reported as cash or retained interests (if applicable). Liabilities incurred as part of these sales, are recorded at fair value at the time of sale and are reported as accrued expenses and other liabilities on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. Upon the sale of the loans, we recognize a gain or loss on sale for the difference between the assets recognized, the assets derecognized, and the liabilities recognized as part of the transaction. With respect to our ongoing right to service the assets we sell, the servicing fee we receive represents adequate compensation, and consequently, we do not recognize a servicing asset or liability.

We had pretax gains on sales of financial assets into nonconsolidated VIEs of $ million and $2 million during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively. We had no pretax gains or losses on sales of financial assets into nonconsolidated VIEs during the three months ended September 30, 2023, and a pretax gain of $1 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2023.

We provide long-term guarantee contracts to investors in certain nonconsolidated affordable housing entities and have extended a line of credit to provide liquidity. Since we do not have control over the entities or the power to make decisions, we do not consolidate the entities and our involvement is limited to the guarantee and the line of credit.

We are involved with various other nonconsolidated equity investments, including affordable housing entities and venture capital funds and loan funds. We do not consolidate these entities and our involvement is limited to our outstanding investment, additional capital committed to these funds plus any previously recognized low-income housing tax credits that are subject to recapture.

Refer to Note 1 and Note 11 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K for further description of our securitization activities and our involvement with VIEs.

The following table presents our involvement in consolidated and nonconsolidated VIEs in which we hold variable interests. We have excluded certain transactions with nonconsolidated entities from the balances presented in the table below, where our only continuing involvement relates to financial interests obtained through the ordinary course of business, primarily from lending and investing arrangements. For additional detail related to the assets and liabilities of consolidated variable interest entities, refer to the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet.

(b) Includes $8.5 billion and $9.3 billion of assets that were not encumbered by VIE beneficial interests held by third parties at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. Ally or consolidated affiliates hold the interests in these assets.

(c) Includes $109 million and $100 million of liabilities that were not obligations to third-party beneficial interest holders at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively.

(d) Includes activity where we sell loans through a pass-through program to a third party.

(e) Represents retained notes and certificated residual interests, of which $99 million and $78 million were classified as held-to-maturity securities at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively, and $4 million and $3 million were classified as other assets at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. These assets represent our compliance with the risk retention rules under the Dodd-Frank Act, requiring us to retain at least five percent of the credit risk of the assets underlying asset-backed securitizations.

(f) Maximum exposure to loss represents the current unpaid principal balance of outstanding loans based on our customary representation and warranty provisions. This measure is based on the unlikely event that all the loans have underwriting defects or other defects that trigger a representation and warranty provision and the collateral supporting the loans are worthless. This required disclosure is not an indication of our expected loss.

(g) Represents balances from Ally Credit Card.

(h) Amounts are classified as other assets except for $48 million and $44 million classified as equity securities at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively.

(i) Amounts are classified as accrued expenses and other liabilities.

(j) For certain nonconsolidated affordable housing entities, maximum exposure to loss represents the yield we guaranteed investors through long-term guarantee contracts. The amount disclosed is based on the unlikely event that the yield delivered to investors in the form of low-income tax housing credits is recaptured. For nonconsolidated equity investments, maximum exposure to loss represents our outstanding investment, additional committed capital, and low-income housing tax credits subject to recapture. The amount disclosed is based on the unlikely event that our committed capital is funded, our investments become worthless, and the tax credits previously delivered to us are recaptured. This required disclosure is not an indication of our expected loss.

(a) Refer to the section below titled Long-Term Debt for further details on assets restricted as collateral for payment of the related debt.

We periodically enter into term repurchase agreements—short-term borrowing agreements in which we sell securities to one or more investors while simultaneously committing to repurchase them at a specified future date, at the stated price plus accrued interest. As of September 30, 2024, the securities sold under agreements to repurchase consisted of $371 million of U.S. Treasury and federal agency securities. The repurchase agreements were set to mature within 30 days. Refer to Note 7 and Note 22 for further details.

Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

The primary risk associated with these repurchase agreements is that the counterparty will be unable to perform under the terms of the contract. As the borrower, we are exposed to the excess market value of the securities pledged over the amount borrowed. Daily mark-to-market collateral management is designed to limit this risk to the initial margin. However, should a counterparty declare bankruptcy or become insolvent, we may incur additional delays and costs. In some instances, we may place or receive cash collateral with counterparties under collateral arrangements associated with our repurchase agreements. At December 31, 2023, we received cash collateral of $6 million and non-cash collateral of $1 million related to repurchase agreements.

18. Regulatory Capital and Other Regulatory Matters

Ally is subject to enhanced prudential standards that have been established by the FRB under the Dodd-Frank Act, as amended by the EGRRCP Act and as applied to Category IV firms under the Tailoring Rules. Refer to the discussion below, however, about rules proposed by the U.S. banking agencies in 2023 that would significantly alter the Tailoring Rules. Currently, as a Category IV firm, Ally is (1) subject to supervisory stress testing on a two-year cycle, (2) required to submit an annual capital plan to the FRB, (3) exempted from company-run capital stress testing requirements, (4) required to maintain a buffer of unencumbered highly liquid assets to meet projected net stressed cash outflows over a 30-day planning horizon, (5) exempted from the requirements of the LCR and the net stable funding ratio (provided that our average wSTWF continues to remain under $50 billion), and (6) exempted from the requirements of the supplementary leverage ratio, the countercyclical capital buffer, and single-counterparty credit limits. Even so, we are subject to rules enabling the FRB to conduct supervisory stress testing on a more or less frequent basis based on our financial condition, size, complexity, risk profile, scope of operations, or activities or based on risks to the U.S. economy. Further, we are subject to rules requiring the resubmission of our capital plan if we determine that there has been or will be a material change in our risk profile, financial condition, or corporate structure since we last submitted the capital plan or if the FRB determines that (a) our capital plan is incomplete or our capital plan or internal capital adequacy process contains material weaknesses, (b) there has been, or will likely be, a material change in our risk profile (including a material change in our business strategy or any risk exposure), financial condition, or corporate structure, or (c) the BHC stress scenario(s) are not appropriate for our business model and portfolios, or changes in the financial markets or the macroeconomic outlook that could have a material impact on our risk profile and financial condition require the use of updated scenarios. While a resubmission is pending, without prior approval of the FRB, we would generally be prohibited from paying dividends, repurchasing our common stock, or making other capital distributions. In addition, to satisfy the FRB in its review of our capital plan, we may be required to further cease or limit these capital distributions or to issue capital instruments that could be dilutive to stockholders. The FRB also may prevent us from maintaining or expanding lending or other business activities.

Basel Capital Framework

The FRB and other U.S. banking agencies have adopted risk-based and leverage capital rules that establish minimum capital-to-asset ratios for BHCs, like Ally, and depository institutions, like Ally Bank.

The risk-based capital ratios are based on a banking organization's RWAs, which are generally determined under the standardized approach applicable to Ally and Ally Bank by (1) assigning on-balance-sheet exposures to broad risk-weight categories according to the counterparty or, if relevant, the guarantor or collateral (with higher risk weights assigned to categories of exposures perceived as representing greater risk), and (2) multiplying off-balance-sheet exposures by specified credit conversion factors to calculate credit equivalent amounts and assigning those credit equivalent amounts to the relevant risk-weight categories. The leverage ratio, in contrast, is based on an institution's average unweighted on-balance-sheet exposures.

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

Under U.S. Basel III, Ally and Ally Bank must maintain a minimum Common Equity Tier 1 risk-based capital ratio of 4.5%, a minimum Tier 1 risk-based capital ratio of 6%, and a minimum total risk-based capital ratio of 8%. On top of the minimum risk-based capital ratios, Ally and Ally Bank are subject to a capital conservation buffer requirement, which must be satisfied entirely with capital that qualifies as Common Equity Tier 1 capital. Failure to maintain more than the full amount of the capital conservation buffer requirement would result in automatic restrictions on the ability of Ally and Ally Bank to make capital distributions, including dividend payments and stock repurchases and redemptions, and to pay discretionary bonuses to executive officers. U.S. Basel III also subjects Ally and Ally Bank to a minimum Tier 1 leverage ratio of 4%. While the capital conservation buffer requirement for Ally Bank is fixed at 2.5% of RWAs, the capital conservation buffer requirement for a Category IV firm, like Ally, is equal to its stress capital buffer requirement. The stress capital buffer requirement for Ally, in turn, is the greater of 2.5% and the result of the following calculation: (1) the difference between Ally's starting and minimum projected Common Equity Tier 1 capital ratios under the severely adverse scenario in the supervisory stress test, plus (2) the sum of the dollar amount of Ally's planned common stock dividends for each of the fourth through seventh quarters of its nine-quarter capital planning horizon, as a percentage of RWAs. As of September 30, 2024, the stress capital buffer requirement for Ally was 2.5%. Ally received an updated preliminary stress capital buffer requirement from the FRB in June 2024, which was determined to be 2.6%. The updated 2.6% stress capital buffer requirement was finalized in August 2024, and became effective in October 2024.

Ally and Ally Bank are currently subject to the U.S. Basel III standardized approach for counterparty credit risk but not to the U.S. Basel III advanced approaches for credit risk or operational risk. Ally is also not currently subject to the U.S. market-risk capital rule, which applies only to banking organizations with significant trading assets and liabilities. Since Ally and Ally Bank are currently not subject to the advanced approaches risk-based capital rules, we elected to apply a one-time option to exclude most components of accumulated other comprehensive income and loss from regulatory capital. As of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, Ally had $3.4 billion and $3.8 billion, respectively, of accumulated other comprehensive loss, net of applicable income taxes, that was excluded from Common Equity Tier 1 capital. Refer to the discussion below about rules proposed by the U.S. banking agencies in 2023 that would require us to recognize all components of accumulated other comprehensive income and loss in regulatory capital, except gains and losses on cash-flow hedges where the hedged items are not recognized on our balance sheet at fair value. Refer also to Note 16 for additional details about our accumulated other comprehensive loss.

Failure to satisfy regulatory-capital requirements could result in significant sanctions—such as bars or other limits on capital distributions and discretionary bonuses to executive officers, limitations on acquisitions and new activities, restrictions on our acceptance of brokered deposits, a loss of our status as an FHC, or informal or formal enforcement and other supervisory actions—and could have a significant adverse effect on the Consolidated Financial Statements or the business, results of operations, financial condition, or prospects of Ally and Ally Bank.

The risk-based capital ratios and the Tier 1 leverage ratio play a central role in PCA, which is an enforcement framework used by the U.S. banking agencies to constrain the activities of depository institutions based on their levels of regulatory capital. Five categories have been established using thresholds for the Common Equity Tier 1 risk-based capital ratio, the Tier 1 risk-based capital ratio, the total risk-based capital ratio, and the Tier 1 leverage ratio: well capitalized, adequately capitalized, undercapitalized, significantly undercapitalized, and critically undercapitalized. FDICIA generally prohibits a depository institution from making any capital distribution, including any payment of a cash dividend or a management fee to its BHC, if the depository institution would become undercapitalized after the distribution. An undercapitalized institution is also subject to growth limitations and must submit and fulfill a capital restoration plan. Although BHCs are not subject to the PCA framework, the FRB is empowered to compel a BHC to take measures—such as the execution of financial or performance guarantees—when PCA is required in connection with one of its depository-institution subsidiaries. At both September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, Ally Bank met the capital ratios required to be well capitalized under the PCA framework.

Under FDICIA and the PCA framework, insured depository institutions such as Ally Bank must be well capitalized or, with a waiver from the FDIC, adequately capitalized in order to accept brokered deposits, and even adequately capitalized institutions are subject to some restrictions on the rates they may offer for brokered deposits. Our brokered deposits totaled $9.1 billion at September 30, 2024, which represented 6.0% of total deposit liabilities.

In October 2024, Ally's capital conservation buffer requirement increased to 2.6%, reflecting its updated stress capital buffer requirement.

On January 1, 2020, we adopted CECL. Refer to Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information about our allowance for loan losses accounting policy. Under a rule finalized by the FRB and other U.S. banking agencies in 2020, we delayed recognizing the estimated impact of CECL on regulatory capital until after a two-year deferral period, which for us extended through December 31, 2021. Beginning on January 1, 2022, we were required to phase in 25% of the previously deferred estimated capital impact of CECL, with an additional 25% to be phased in at the beginning of each subsequent year until fully phased in by the first quarter of 2025. The estimated impact of CECL on regulatory capital that we deferred and began phasing in on January 1, 2022, is generally calculated as the entire day-one impact at adoption plus 25% of the subsequent change in allowance during the two-year deferral period. As of September 30, 2024, the total deferred impact on Common Equity Tier 1 capital related to our adoption of CECL was $296 million.

In April 2023, in a statement accompanying the review of the FRB's supervision and regulation of SVB, FRB Vice Chair for Supervision Barr highlighted a plan to revisit the Tailoring Rules and develop stronger capital, liquidity, stress-testing, and other standards for Category IV firms like Ally. In July 2023, the U.S. banking agencies issued a proposed rule to customize and implement revisions to the global Basel III capital framework that were approved by the Basel Committee in December 2017 (commonly known as the Basel III endgame or as Basel IV). For regulatory capital, the proposed rule would eliminate the effect of the Tailoring Rules by requiring the recognition of most elements of accumulated other comprehensive income and loss and the application of deductions, limitations, and criteria for specified capital investments, minority interests, and TLAC holdings. For each of the risk-based capital ratios, a large banking organization, like Ally, would calculate and be bound by the lower of two alternatives: one version of the ratio based on an expanded risk-based approach prescribed in the proposed rule and one version of the ratio based on the standardized approach as modified by the proposed rule. All capital buffer requirements, including the stress capital buffer requirement, would apply regardless of whether the expanded risk-based approach or the standardized approach produces the lower ratio. Under the expanded risk-based approach, total RWAs would equal the sum of the RWAs for credit risk, equity risk, operational risk, market risk, and CVA risk as set forth in the proposed rule minus any amount of the banking organization's adjusted allowance for credit losses that is not included in Tier 2 capital and any amount of allocated transfer risk reserves. Under the standardized approach, total RWAs would be calculated using the existing rules with a revised methodology for determining RWAs for market risk, and a required application of the standardized approach for counterparty credit risk for derivative exposures. Category IV firms would be further required under the proposed rule to project their risk-based capital ratios under baseline conditions in their capital plans and related reports using the RWA-calculation approach that results in their binding risk-based capital ratios as of the start of the projection horizon. The proposed rule also would roll back additional elements of the Tailoring Rules by applying to Category IV firms the supplementary leverage ratio, the countercyclical capital buffer, and enhanced public disclosure and reporting requirements. Under the proposed rule, a three-year transition period from July 1, 2025, to June 30, 2028, would apply to the recognition of accumulated other comprehensive income and loss in regulatory capital and the use of the expanded risk-based approach. The phase-in of accumulated other comprehensive income and loss is expected to significantly affect our levels of regulatory capital. While we believe that this would be manageable, we also anticipate that our levels of regulatory capital would need to be gradually increased in advance of and during the proposed transition period. As for the proposed changes to RWAs, while we continue to evaluate the effects of individual provisions and the interplay among them as well as potential management actions in response, the impact is not currently expected to be significant in the aggregate if the proposed rule were adopted in its existing form. Since the proposed rule was issued, we have been engaged with research and advocacy groups to inform the rulemaking process and better understand the impacts of the proposed rule on banking organizations of various sizes and complexities—as well as the competitive environment more broadly—and likewise encourage the U.S. banking agencies to closely study these impacts and their wider implications.

In August 2023, the U.S. banking agencies issued a proposed rule to improve the resolvability of Category IV firms, like Ally. The proposed rule would require Category II, III, and IV firms, their large consolidated banks, and other institutions to issue and maintain minimum amounts of eligible long-term debt in an amount that is the greater of (i) 6 percent of total RWAs, (ii) 3.5 percent of average total consolidated assets, and (iii) 2.5 percent of total leverage exposure. CIDIIs, like Ally Bank, that are consolidated subsidiaries of covered entities, like Ally, would be required to issue eligible long-term debt internally to a company that consolidates the CIDI, which would in turn be required to purchase that long-term debt. Only long-term debt instruments that are most readily able to absorb losses in a resolution proceeding would qualify, and the operations of covered entities would be subject to clean-holding-company requirements such as prohibitions and limitations on their liabilities to unaffiliated entities. Under the proposed rule, a transition period would apply with 25, 50, and 100 percent of the long-term-debt requirements coming into effect by the end of the first, second, and third years, respectively, after finalization of the rule. We are still assessing the impact of this proposed rule but, due to the current structure and amount of debt instruments issued by Ally and Ally Bank, we expect it to significantly affect us.

Whether and when final rules related to these proposals may be adopted and take effect, as well as what changes to the proposed rules may be reflected in any final rules after public comments are considered, remain unclear. Also, beyond these proposed rules, more stringent and less tailored liquidity, stress-testing, and other standards for Category IV firms, like Ally, may be forthcoming, including those that may reinstate the LCR, require more rigorous liquidity stress testing, and return Ally to supervisory stress testing on an annual cycle.

In June 2024, the FDIC issued a final rule that requires each CIDI with $100 billion or more in total assets, like Ally Bank, to submit a full resolution plan with an identified strategy from the point of their failure to disposition of substantially all of the CIDI's assets and operations through wind-down, liquidation, divestiture, or other return to the private sector. Under the final rule, the CIDI must utilize as its identified strategy the formation or stabilization of a bridge depository institution that continues operations through the completion of the CIDI's resolution and exit unless the CIDI demonstrates why another strategy is more appropriate based upon its size, complexity, and risk profile. All CIDIIs are required to demonstrate capabilities to carry out the sale of the CIDI and its assets. Such capabilities include the capability to maintain continuity of critical services, the capability to produce valuations needed in assessing the resolution strategy that is least costly to the FDIC's deposit insurance fund, and the capability to establish a virtual due diligence data room promptly in the run-up to or upon failure of the CIDI to support the ability of the FDIC to market and execute a timely sale or disposition of the CIDI and its assets. Each CIDI's resolution plan will also be subject to additional requirements, including those related to the underlying failure scenario assumptions, resolution plan content, and FDIC reviews of the resolution plan under the final rule. CIDIIs not affiliated with U.S. global systemically important banking organizations are subject to a triennial submission cycle in which a full resolution plan is required to be submitted once every three years, with interim supplements due in non-submission years. The final rule became effective on October 1, 2024. Ally Bank will be required to submit its initial interim supplement on or before July 1, 2025 and a full resolution plan on or before July 1, 2026 under the final rule.

Capital Planning and Stress Tests

Under the Tailoring Rules, we are generally subject to supervisory stress testing on a two-year cycle and exempted from mandated company-run capital stress testing requirements. We are also required to submit an annual capital plan to the FRB. Our annual capital plan must include an assessment of our expected uses and sources of capital and a description of all planned capital actions over a nine-quarter planning horizon, including any issuance of a debt or equity capital instrument, any dividend or other capital distribution, and any similar action that the FRB determines could have an impact on our capital. The plan must also include a detailed description of our process for assessing capital adequacy, including a discussion of how we, under expected and stressful conditions, will maintain capital commensurate with our risks and above the minimum regulatory capital ratios, will serve as a source of strength to Ally Bank, and will maintain sufficient capital to continue our operations by maintaining ready access to funding, meeting our obligations to creditors and other counterparties, and continuing to serve as a credit intermediary.

The Tailoring Rules align capital planning, supervisory stress testing, and stress capital buffer requirements for large banking organizations, like Ally. As a Category IV firm, Ally is expected to have the ability to elect to participate in the supervisory stress test—and receive a correspondingly updated stress capital buffer requirement—in a year in which Ally would not generally be subject to the supervisory stress test. Refer to the section titled Basel Capital Framework above for further discussion about our stress capital buffer requirements. During a year in which Ally does not undergo a supervisory stress test, we would receive an updated stress capital buffer requirement only to reflect our updated planned common-stock dividends. Ally did not elect to participate in the 2023 supervisory stress test, but was subject to the 2024 supervisory stress test.

We received an updated preliminary stress capital buffer requirement based on our 2022 capital plan submission from the FRB in June 2022, which was determined to be 2.5% and reflected a decline of 100 basis points relative to our prior requirement. The updated 2.5% stress capital buffer requirement was finalized in August 2022 and became effective in October 2022. We submitted our 2023 capital plan to the FRB in April 2023, and received an updated preliminary stress capital buffer requirement in June 2023 that remained unchanged at 2.5%. The 2.5% stress capital buffer requirement was finalized in July 2023 and became effective in October 2023. We submitted our 2024 capital plan to the FRB in April 2024. Ally received an updated preliminary stress capital buffer requirement from the FRB in June 2024, which was determined to be 2.6%. The updated 2.6% stress capital buffer requirement was finalized in August 2024, and became effective in October 2024.

In February 2023, we accessed the unsecured debt capital markets and issued $500 million of additional subordinated notes, which qualify as Tier 2 capital for Ally under U.S. Basel III. In June 2024, we accessed the debt capital markets and issued $330 million of credit-linked notes based on a reference portfolio of $3.0 billion of consumer automotive loans. The proceeds from this issuance constitute prefunded credit protection for mezzanine tranches of the reference portfolio and are recognized as restricted cash and cash equivalents in other assets on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. This transaction is structured to enable us to apply the securitization framework under U.S. Basel III when determining RWA for our retained exposure.

Our ability to make capital distributions, including our ability to pay dividends or repurchase shares of our common stock, will continue to be subject to the FRB's review and our internal governance requirements, including approval by our Board. The amount and size of any future dividends and share repurchases also will be subject to various factors, including Ally's capital and liquidity positions, accounting and regulatory considerations (including any restrictions that may be imposed by the FRB and any changes to capital, liquidity, and other regulatory requirements that may be proposed or adopted by the U.S. banking agencies), the taxation of share repurchases, financial and operational performance, alternative uses of capital, common-stock price, and general market conditions, and may be extended, modified, or discontinued at any time.

Except for repurchases made of shares withheld to cover income taxes owed by participants in our share-based incentive plans, we did not make any common-stock repurchases in 2023 or the first nine months of 2024, and at this time, the Board has not authorized a stock-repurchase program for 2024.

19. Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities

We enter into derivative instruments, which may include interest rate swaps, foreign-currency forwards, equity options, and interest rate options, in connection with our risk-management activities. Our primary objective for using derivative financial instruments is to manage interest rate risk associated with our fixed-rate and variable-rate assets and liabilities, foreign exchange risks related to our net investments in foreign subsidiaries, as well as foreign-currency denominated assets and liabilities, and other market risks related to our investment portfolio.

Interest Rate Risk

We monitor our mix of fixed-rate and variable-rate assets and liabilities and may enter into interest rate swaps, forwards, and options to achieve a more desired mix of fixed-rate and variable-rate assets and liabilities. We execute these trades to modify our exposure to interest rate risk by converting certain fixed-rate instruments to a variable-rate and certain variable-rate instruments to a fixed-rate. We use a mix of both derivatives that qualify for hedge accounting treatment and economic hedges that do not qualify for hedge accounting treatment.

Derivatives qualifying for hedge accounting treatment can include receive-fixed swaps designated as fair value hedges of specific fixed-rate unsecured debt obligations, receive-fixed swaps designated as fair value hedges of specific fixed-rate FHLB advances, pay-fixed swaps designated as fair value hedges of securities within our available-for-sale portfolio, and pay-fixed swaps designated as fair value hedges of fixed-rate held-for-investment consumer automotive loan assets. Other derivatives qualifying for hedge accounting consist of interest rate floor contracts designated as cash flow hedges of the expected future cash flows in the form of interest receipts on a portion of our dealer floorplan commercial loans.

Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

We have the ability to execute economic hedges, which could consist of interest rate swaps, interest rate caps, forwards, and options to mitigate interest rate risk.

We also enter into interest rate lock commitments and forward commitments that are executed as part of our mortgage business that meet the accounting definition of a derivative.

Foreign Exchange Risk

We enter into derivative financial instrument contracts to mitigate the risk associated with variability in cash flows related to our various foreign-currency exposures.

We enter into foreign-currency forwards with external counterparties as net investment hedges of foreign exchange exposure on our investment in foreign subsidiaries. Our equity is impacted by the cumulative translation adjustments resulting from the translation of foreign subsidiary results; this impact is reflected in our accumulated other comprehensive income and loss. We also periodically enter into foreign-currency forwards to economically hedge any foreign-denominated debt, centralized lending, and foreign-denominated third-party loans. These foreign-currency forwards used as economic hedges are recorded at fair value with changes recorded as income or expense offsetting the gains and losses on the associated foreign-currency transactions.

Investment Risk

We enter into equity options to mitigate the risk associated with our exposure to the equity markets.

Credit Risk

We enter into various retail automotive-loan purchase agreements with certain counterparties. As part of those agreements, we may be required to pay the counterparty at agreed upon measurement dates and determinable amounts if actual credit performance of the acquired loans on the measurement date is better than what was estimated at the time of acquisition. Based upon these terms, these contracts meet the accounting definition of a derivative.

We enter into arrangements with certain counterparties through which we issue credit-linked notes covering a specified pool of loans. These notes contain an embedded derivative (referred to as a credit-linked note derivative), which provides us credit protection against the risk of loss when a specified credit event occurs on the reference pool.

Counterparty Credit Risk

Derivative financial instruments contain an element of credit risk if counterparties are unable to meet the terms of the agreements. Credit risk associated with derivative financial instruments is measured as the net replacement cost should the counterparties that owe us under the contract completely fail to perform under the terms of those contracts, with adjustments to reflect the exchange of collateral for margined transactions.

We manage our risk to financial counterparties through internal credit analysis, limits, and monitoring. Additionally, derivatives and repurchase agreements are entered into with approved counterparties using industry standard agreements.

We execute certain OTC derivatives, such as interest rate caps and floors, using bilateral agreements with financial counterparties. Bilateral agreements generally require both parties to post collateral in the event the fair values of the derivative financial instruments meet posting thresholds established under the agreements. If either party defaults on the obligation, the secured party may seize the collateral. Payments related to the exchange of collateral for OTC derivatives are recognized as collateral.

We also execute certain derivatives, such as interest rate swaps, with clearinghouses, which require us to post and receive collateral. For these clearinghouse derivatives, these payments are recognized as settlements rather than collateral.

Certain derivative instruments contain provisions that require us to either post additional collateral or immediately settle any outstanding liability balances upon the occurrence of a specified credit-risk-related event. No such specified credit-risk-related events occurred during the nine months ended September 30, 2024, or 2023.

We placed cash and noncash collateral with counterparties totaling $2 million and $519 million, respectively, supporting our derivative positions at September 30, 2024, compared to $6 million and $642 million of cash and noncash collateral, respectively, at December 31, 2023. These amounts include noncash collateral placed at clearinghouses and exclude cash and noncash collateral pledged under repurchase agreements. The receivables for cash collateral placed are included on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet in other assets. We granted our counterparties the right to sell or pledge the noncash collateral.

We received cash collateral from counterparties totaling $16 million and $31 million at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. These amounts exclude cash and noncash collateral pledged under repurchase agreements. The payables for cash collateral received are included on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet in accrued expenses and other liabilities.

Balance Sheet Presentation

The following table summarizes the amounts of derivative instruments reported on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. The amounts are presented on a gross basis, are segregated by derivatives that are designated and qualifying as hedging instruments or those that are not, and are further segregated by type of contract within those two categories.

Derivative contracts in a receivable and payable position exclude open trade equity on derivatives cleared through central clearing counterparties. Any associated margin exchanged with our central clearing counterparties are treated as settlements of the derivative exposure, rather than collateral. Such payments are recognized as settlements of the derivatives contracts in a receivable and payable position on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet.

Notional amounts are reference amounts from which contractual obligations are derived and are not recorded on the balance sheet. In our view, derivative notional is not an accurate measure of our derivative exposure when viewed in isolation from other factors, such as market rate fluctuations and counterparty credit risk.

(a) Represents the fair value hedging adjustment on qualifying hedges for which the hedging relationship was discontinued. This represents a subset of the amounts reported in the total hedging adjustment.

(b) These amounts include the amortized cost basis and unallocated basis adjustments of closed portfolios of available-for-sale securities used to designate hedging relationships in which the hedged item is the stated amount of assets in the closed portfolios anticipated to be outstanding for the designated hedge period. At September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, the amortized cost basis and unallocated basis adjustments of the closed portfolios used in these hedging relationships was $14.3 billion and $14.8 billion, respectively, of which $14.1 billion and $14.6 billion, respectively, represents the amortized cost basis and unallocated basis adjustments of closed portfolios designated in an active hedge relationship. At September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, the total cumulative basis adjustments associated with these hedging relationships was a $50 million asset and a $45 million liability, respectively, of which the portion related to discontinued hedging relationships was a $107 million liability and a $120 million liability, respectively. At September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, the notional amounts of the designated hedged items were $12.0 billion and $11.3 billion, respectively, with cumulative basis adjustments of a $157 million asset and a $75 million asset, respectively, which would be allocated across the entire remaining closed pool upon termination or maturity of the hedge relationship. Refer to Note 7 for a reconciliation of the amortized cost and fair value of available-for-sale securities.

(c) These amounts include the carrying value of closed portfolios of loan receivables used to designate hedging relationships in which the hedged item is the stated amount of assets in the closed portfolios anticipated to be outstanding for the designated hedge period. At September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, the carrying value of the closed portfolios used in these hedging relationships was $39.3 billion and $54.2 billion, respectively, of which $38.0 billion and $50.0 billion, respectively, represents the carrying value of closed portfolios designated in an active hedge relationship. At September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, the total cumulative basis adjustments associated with these hedging relationships was a $28 million asset and a $93 million liability, respectively, of which the portion related to discontinued hedging relationships was a $13 million liability and a $27 million liability, respectively. At September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, the notional amounts of the designated hedged items were $20.8 billion and $23.2 billion, respectively, with cumulative basis adjustments of a $41 million asset and a $66 million liability, respectively, which would be allocated across the entire remaining closed pool upon termination or maturity of the hedge relationship.

20. Income Taxes

We recognized total income tax benefit from continuing operations of $124 million and $147 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to income tax benefit of $68 million and income tax expense of $74 million for the same periods in 2023. The decreases in income tax expense for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, compared to the same periods in 2023, were primarily due to an increase in qualified clean vehicle tax credits partially offset by an adjustment to the valuation allowance related to foreign tax credit carryforwards during the three months ended September 30, 2023. The increase in qualified clean vehicle tax credits was primarily driven by a new automotive manufacturer relationship added during the nine months ended September 30, 2024, which increased our purchased battery-electric vehicle lease origination volume. The adjustment to the valuation allowance related to foreign tax credit carryforwards during the three months ended September 30, 2023, was a nonrecurring tax benefit, primarily driven by a tax planning strategy.

The income tax benefit for qualified clean vehicle tax credits, along with other tax credits, resulted in a significant variation in the customary relationship between pretax income and income tax expense for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024. We record qualified clean vehicle tax credits as part of our investment tax credit category. All our investment tax credits are accounted for using the flow-through method and are recognized as a reduction to current income tax expense.

As of each reporting date, we consider existing evidence, both positive and negative, that could impact our view with regard to future realization of deferred tax assets. We continue to believe it is more likely than not that the benefit for certain foreign tax credit carryforwards and state net operating loss carryforwards will not be realized. In recognition of this risk, we continue to provide a partial valuation allowance on the deferred tax assets relating to these carryforwards and it is reasonably possible that the valuation allowance may change in the next 12 months.

21. Fair Value

Fair Value Measurements

For purposes of this disclosure, fair value is defined as the exchange price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions. Fair value is based on the assumptions we believe market participants would use when pricing an asset or liability. Additionally, entities are required to consider all aspects of nonperformance risk, including the entity's own credit standing, when measuring the fair value of a liability.

U.S. GAAP specifies a three-level hierarchy that is used when measuring and disclosing fair value. The fair value hierarchy gives the highest priority to quoted prices available in active markets (i.e., observable inputs) and the lowest priority to data lacking transparency (i.e., unobservable inputs). An instrument's categorization within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of significant input to its valuation. The following is a description of the three hierarchy levels.

- Level 1 Inputs are quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date. Additionally, the entity must have the ability to access the active market, and the quoted prices cannot be adjusted by the entity.
- Level 2 Inputs are other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly. Level 2 inputs include quoted prices in active markets for similar assets or liabilities; quoted prices in inactive markets for identical or similar assets or liabilities; or inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means for substantially the full term of the assets or liabilities.
- Level 3 Unobservable inputs are supported by little or no market activity. The unobservable inputs represent management's best assumptions of how market participants would price the assets or liabilities. Generally, Level 3 assets and liabilities are valued using pricing models, discounted cash flow methodologies, or similar techniques that require significant judgment or estimation.

Judgment is used in estimating inputs to our internal valuation models used to estimate our Level 3 fair value measurements. Level 3 inputs such as interest rate movements, prepayment speeds, credit losses, and discount rates are inherently difficult to estimate. Changes to these inputs can have a significant effect on fair value measurements and amounts that could be realized.

Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

The following are descriptions of the valuation methodologies used to measure material assets and liabilities at fair value and details of the valuation models, key inputs to those models, and significant assumptions utilized.

- Equity securities — We hold various marketable equity securities measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognized in net income. Measurements based on observable market prices are classified as Level 1.
- Available-for-sale securities — We carry our available-for-sale securities at fair value based on external pricing sources. We classify our securities as Level 1 when fair value is determined using quoted prices available for the same instruments trading in active markets. We classify our securities as Level 2 when fair value is determined using prices for similar instruments trading in active markets. We perform pricing validation procedures for our available-for-sale securities.
- Derivative instruments — We enter into a variety of derivative financial instruments as part of our risk-management strategies. Certain of these derivatives are exchange traded, such as equity options. To determine the fair value of these instruments, we utilize the quoted market prices for those particular derivative contracts; therefore, we classified these contracts as Level 1.

We also execute OTC and centrally cleared derivative contracts, such as interest rate swaps, foreign-currency denominated forward contracts, caps, floors, and agency to-be-announced securities. We utilize third-party-developed valuation models that are widely accepted in the market to value these derivative contracts. The specific terms of the contract and market observable inputs (such as interest rate forward curves, interpolated volatility assumptions, or equity pricing) are used in the model. We classified these derivative contracts as Level 2 because all significant inputs into these models were market observable.

We also enter into interest rate lock commitments and forward commitments that are executed as part of our mortgage business, certain of which meet the accounting definition of a derivative and therefore are recorded as derivatives on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. Interest rate lock commitments are valued with unobservable inputs, so they are classified as Level 3. Certain forward commitments are Level 2 and others are Level 3 depending on the valuation model inputs.

We purchase automotive finance receivables and loans from third parties as part of forward flow arrangements and, from time-to-time, execute opportunistic ad-hoc bulk purchases. As part of those agreements, we may be required to pay the counterparty at agreed upon measurement dates and determinable amounts if actual credit performance of the acquired loans on the measurement date is better than what was estimated at the time of acquisition. Because these contracts meet the accounting definition of a derivative, we recognize a liability at fair value for these deferred purchase price payments. The fair value of these liabilities is determined using a discounted cash flow method. To estimate cash flows, we utilize various significant assumptions, including market observable inputs (for example, forward interest rates) and internally developed inputs (for example, prepayment speeds, delinquency levels, and expected credit losses). These liabilities are valued using internal loss models with unobservable inputs, and are classified as Level 3.

We are required to consider all aspects of nonperformance risk, including our own credit standing, when measuring fair value of derivative assets and liabilities. We reduce credit risk on the majority of our derivatives by entering into legally enforceable agreements that enable the posting and receiving of collateral associated with the fair value of our derivative positions on an ongoing basis. In the event that we do not enter into legally enforceable agreements that enable the posting and receiving of collateral, we will consider our credit risk in the valuation of derivative liabilities through a DVA and the credit risk of our counterparties in the valuation of derivative assets through a CVA, if warranted. When measuring these valuation adjustments, we generally use credit default swap spreads.

Nonrecurring Fair Value

We may be required to measure certain assets and liabilities at fair value from time to time. These periodic fair value measures typically result from the application of lower-of-cost or fair value accounting or certain impairment measures. These items would constitute nonrecurring fair value measures.

The following tables display assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a nonrecurring basis and still held at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. The amounts are generally as of the end of each period presented, which approximate the fair value measurements that occurred during each period. These tables exclude assets of operations held-for-sale, refer to Note 2 for additional information.

- (a) We consider the applicable valuation allowance, allowance for loan losses, or cumulative adjustments to be the most relevant indicator of the impact on earnings caused by the fair value measurement. Accordingly, the table above excludes total gains and losses included in earnings for these items. The carrying values are inclusive of the respective valuation reserve, loan loss allowance, or cumulative adjustment.
- (b) Represents collateral-dependent loans held for investment for which a nonrecurring measurement was made. The related allowance for loan losses represents the cumulative fair value adjustments for those specific receivables.
- (c) The allowance provided for repossessed and foreclosed assets represents any cumulative valuation adjustment recognized to adjust the assets to fair value.

Fair Value Option for Financial Assets

We elected the fair value option for an insignificant amount of conforming mortgage loans held-for-sale, non-conforming jumbo mortgage loans held-for-sale, and certain personal lending finance receivables. We elected the fair value option for conforming mortgage loans held-for-sale and certain non-conforming jumbo mortgage loans held-for-sale to mitigate earnings volatility by better matching the accounting for the assets with the related derivatives. We elected the fair value option for certain personal lending finance receivables to mitigate the complexities of recording these loans at amortized cost. Our intent in electing fair value measurement was to mitigate a divergence between accounting gains or losses and economic exposure for certain assets and liabilities.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The following table presents the carrying and estimated fair value of financial instruments, except for those recorded at fair value on a recurring basis presented in the previous section of this note titled Recurring Fair Value. This table excludes assets of operations held-for-sale, refer to Note 2 for additional information. When possible, we use quoted market prices to determine fair value. Where quoted market prices are not available, the fair value is internally derived based on appropriate valuation methodologies with respect to the amount and timing of future cash flows and estimated discount rates. However, considerable judgment is required in interpreting current market data to develop the market assumptions and inputs necessary to estimate fair value. As such, the actual amount received to sell an asset or the amount paid to settle a liability could differ from our estimates. Fair value information presented herein was based on information available at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023.

(a) Included in other assets on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet.

In addition to the financial instruments presented in the above table, we have various financial instruments for which the carrying value approximates the fair value due to their short-term nature and limited credit risk. These instruments include cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, cash collateral, accrued interest receivable, accrued interest payable, trade receivables and payables, and other short-term receivables and payables. Included in cash and cash equivalents are highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value due to interest rate, quoted price, or penalty on withdrawal. Classified as Level 1 under the fair value hierarchy, cash and cash equivalents generally expose us to limited credit risk and are so near maturity that they present insignificant risk of changes in value because of changes in interest rates.

22. Offsetting Assets and Liabilities

Our derivative contracts and repurchase/reverse repurchase transactions are generally supported by qualifying master netting and master repurchase agreements. These agreements are legally enforceable bilateral agreements that (i) create a single legal obligation for all individual transactions covered by the agreement to the nondefaulting entity upon an event of default of the counterparty, including bankruptcy, insolvency, or similar proceeding, and (ii) provide the nondefaulting entity the right to accelerate, terminate, and close-out on a net basis all transactions under the agreement and to liquidate or set off collateral promptly upon an event of default of the counterparty.

To further mitigate the risk of counterparty default related to derivative instruments, we maintain collateral agreements with certain counterparties. The agreements require both parties to maintain collateral in the event the fair values of the derivative financial instruments meet established thresholds. In the event that either party defaults on the obligation, the secured party may seize the collateral. Generally, our collateral arrangements are bilateral such that we and the counterparty post collateral for the obligation. Contractual terms provide for standard and customary exchange of collateral based on changes in the market value of the outstanding derivatives. A party posts additional collateral when their obligation rises or removes collateral when it falls, such that the net replacement cost of the nondefaulting party is covered in the event of counterparty default.

In certain instances, as it relates to our derivative instruments, we have the option to report derivative assets and liabilities as well as assets and liabilities associated with cash collateral received or delivered that is governed by a master netting agreement on a net basis as long as certain qualifying criteria are met. Similarly, for our repurchase/reverse repurchase transactions, we have the option to report recognized assets and liabilities subject to a master netting agreement on a net basis if certain qualifying criteria are met. At September 30, 2024, these instruments are reported as gross assets and gross liabilities on the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. For additional information on derivative instruments and hedging activities, refer to Note 19.

The composition of offsetting derivative instruments, financial assets, and financial liabilities was as follows.

23. Segment Information

Operating segments are defined as components of an enterprise that engage in business activity from which revenues are earned and expenses incurred for which discrete financial information is available that is evaluated regularly by our CODM in deciding how to allocate resources and in assessing performance.

We report our results of operations on a business-line basis through four operating segments: Automotive Finance operations, Insurance operations, Mortgage Finance operations, and Corporate Finance operations, with the remaining activity reported in Corporate and Other. The operating segments are determined based on the products and services offered, and reflect the manner in which financial information is currently evaluated by management. The following is a description of each of our reportable operating segments.

Dealer Financial Services

Dealer Financial Services comprises the following two segments.

- Automotive Finance operations — One of the largest full-service automotive finance operations in the United States providing automotive financing services to consumers, automotive dealers and retailers, companies, and municipalities. Our automotive finance services include providing retail installment sales contracts, loans and operating leases, offering term loans to dealers, financing dealer floorplans and other lines of credit to dealers, warehouse lines to automotive retailers, fleet financing, providing financing to companies and municipalities for the purchase or lease of vehicles, and vehicle-remarketing services.
- Insurance operations — A complementary automotive-focused business offering both consumer finance protection and insurance products sold primarily through the automotive dealer channel, and commercial insurance products sold directly to dealers. As part of our focus on offering dealers a broad range of consumer financial and insurance products, we provide VSCs, VMCs, and GAP products. We also underwrite select commercial insurance coverages, which primarily insure dealers' vehicle inventory.

Mortgage Finance operations

Our held-for-investment portfolio includes our direct-to-consumer Ally Home mortgage offering and bulk purchases of high-quality jumbo and LMI mortgage loans originated by third parties. Through our direct-to-consumer channel, we offer a variety of competitively priced jumbo and conforming fixed- and adjustable-rate mortgage products through a third party. Through the bulk loan channel, we purchase loans from several qualified sellers, on a servicing-released basis, allowing us to directly oversee servicing activities and manage refinancing through our direct-to-consumer channel.

Corporate Finance operations

Our Corporate Finance operations provide senior secured asset-based and leveraged cash flow loans to mostly U.S.-based middle-market companies, with a focus on businesses owned by private equity sponsors. These loans are typically used for leveraged buyouts, refinancing and recapitalizations, mergers and acquisitions, growth, turnarounds, and debtor-in-possession financings. We also provide, through our Lender Finance business, nonbank wholesale-funded managers with partial funding for their direct-lending activities, which is principally leveraged loans. Additionally, we offer a commercial real estate product, currently focused on lending to skilled nursing facilities, senior housing, and medical office buildings.

Corporate and Other

Corporate and Other primarily consists of centralized corporate treasury activities, such as management of the cash and corporate investment securities and loan portfolios, short- and long-term debt, retail and brokered deposit liabilities, derivative instruments, original issue discount, and the residual impacts of our corporate FTP and treasury ALM activities. Corporate and Other also includes certain equity investments, which primarily consist of FHLB and FRB stock—as well as other equity investments through Ally Ventures, our strategic investment business—and the management of our legacy mortgage portfolio, which primarily consists of loans originated prior to January 1, 2009, and reclassifications and eliminations between the reportable operating segments. Financial results related to Ally Invest, our digital brokerage and advisory offering, Ally Lending, Ally Credit Card, and CRA loans and investments are also included within Corporate and Other. On December 31, 2023, we committed to sell Ally Lending. We closed the sale of Ally Lending on March 1, 2024. Refer to Note 2 for additional information.

We utilize an FTP methodology for the majority of our business operations. The FTP methodology assigns charge rates and credit rates to classes of assets and liabilities on a match funded basis, utilizing a benchmark rate curve plus an assumed credit spread. The assumed credit spread is calculated based on a composite investment grade unsecured yield curve or based on advance rates published by the FHLB for any asset that is eligible to be pledged as collateral to the FHLB. While the baseline FTP components at Ally assume 100% debt funding, the methodology also incorporates a credit on the allocated capital for each business line based on a historical average of benchmark rates. For business lines not subject to an FTP funding allocation, the FTP methodology applies a capital charge to the amount of excess equity that the business line holds, relative to its regulatory capital and other adjustments. The net residual impact of the FTP methodology is included within the results of Corporate and Other.

The information presented in our reportable operating segments is based in part on internal allocations and methodologies, including a COH methodology, which involves management judgment. COH methodology is used for measuring the profit and loss of our reportable operating segments. We have various enterprise functions, such as technology, marketing, finance, compliance, internal audit, and risk.

Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

Operating expenses from the enterprise functions are either directly allocated to the reportable operating segment, indirectly allocated to the reportable operating segment utilizing the COH methodology, or remain in Corporate and Other. COH methodology considers the reportable operating segment expense base and enterprise function expenses. The reportable operating segment expense base is used to determine the allocation mix. This mix is applied to the allocable expenses in Corporate and Other to determine the COH for the respective reportable operating segment. Allocable enterprise function costs are primarily technology and marketing expenses. Generally, costs that remain within Corporate and Other that are not allocated to our reportable operating segments include marketing sponsorships, treasury and other corporate activities, and charitable contributions.

Financial information for our reportable operating segments is summarized as follows.

24. Contingencies and Other Risks

As a financial-services company, we are regularly involved in pending or threatened legal proceedings and other matters and are or may be subject to potential liability in connection with them. These legal matters may be formal or informal and include litigation and arbitration with one or more identified claimants, certified or purported class actions with yet-to-be-identified claimants, and regulatory or other governmental information-gathering requests, examinations, investigations, and enforcement proceedings. Our legal matters exist in varying stages of adjudication, arbitration, negotiation, or investigation and span our business lines and operations. Claims may be based in law or equity—such as those arising under contracts or in tort and those involving banking, consumer-protection, securities, tax, employment, and other laws—and some can present novel legal theories and allege substantial or indeterminate damages.

Ally and its subsidiaries, including Ally Bank, also are or may be subject to potential liability under other contingent exposures, including indemnification, tax, self-insurance, and other miscellaneous contingencies.

We accrue for a legal matter or other contingent exposure when a loss becomes probable and the amount of loss can be reasonably estimated. Accruals are evaluated each quarter and may be adjusted, upward or downward, based on our best judgment after consultation with counsel. No assurance exists that our accruals will not need to be adjusted in the future. When a probable or reasonably possible loss on a legal matter or other contingent exposure could be material to our consolidated financial condition, results of operations, or cash flows, we provide disclosure in this note as prescribed by ASC Topic 450, Contingencies. Refer to Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information related to our policy for establishing accruals.

The course and outcome of legal matters are inherently unpredictable. This is especially so when a matter is still in its early stages, the damages sought are indeterminate or unsupported, significant facts are unclear or disputed, novel questions of law or other meaningful legal uncertainties exist, a request to certify a proceeding as a class action is outstanding or granted, multiple parties are named, or regulatory or other governmental entities are involved. Other contingent exposures and their ultimate resolution are similarly unpredictable for reasons that can vary based on the circumstances.

As a result, we often are unable to determine how or when threatened or pending legal matters and other contingent exposures will be resolved and what losses may be incrementally and ultimately incurred. Actual losses may be higher or lower than any amounts accrued or estimated for those matters and other exposures, possibly to a significant degree.

Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

Subject to the foregoing, based on our current knowledge and after consultation with counsel, we do not believe that the ultimate outcomes of currently threatened or pending legal matters and other contingent exposures are likely to be material to our consolidated financial condition after taking into account existing accruals. In light of the uncertainties inherent in these matters and other exposures, however, one or more of them could be material to our results of operations or cash flows during a particular reporting period, depending on factors such as the amount of the loss or liability and the level of our income for that period.

Cautionary Notice about Forward-Looking Statements and Other Terms

From time to time we have made, and in the future will make, forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. These statements can be identified by the fact that they do not relate strictly to historical or current facts. - Our Dealer Financial Services business is one of the largest full-service automotive finance operations in the country and offers a wide range of financial services and insurance products to automotive dealerships and their customers. Dealer Financial Services comprises our Automotive Finance and Insurance segments.

Our Automotive Finance operations include purchasing retail installment sales contracts and operating leases from dealers and automotive retailers, extending automotive loans directly to consumers, offering term loans to dealers, financing dealer floorplans and providing other lines of credit to dealers, supplying warehouse lines to automotive retailers, offering automotive-fleet financing, providing financing to companies and municipalities for the purchase or lease of vehicles, and supplying vehicle- remarketing services. Our success as an automotive finance provider is driven by the consistent and broad range of products and services we offer to dealers and automotive retailers. The automotive marketplace is dynamic and evolving, including substantial investments in electrification by automobile manufacturers and suppliers. We continue to identify and cultivate relationships with automotive retailers, including those with leading e-commerce platforms. We also operate an online direct-lending platform for consumers seeking direct financing. We believe these actions will enable us to respond to the growing trends for a more streamlined and digital automotive financing process to serve both dealers and consumers.

Additionally, we provide comprehensive automotive remarketing services, including the use of SmartAuction, our online auction platform, which efficiently supports dealer-to-dealer and other commercial wholesale vehicle transactions. SmartAuction provides diversified fee-based revenue and serves as a means of deepening relationships with our dealership customers. Beyond offering a full suite of solutions for our dealership customers, we also offer application pass-through programs for credit applications that do not meet our underwriting criteria, allowing dealers to provide expanded access to credit for consumers and improve sales at their dealership. Through our pass-through programs, we are able to monetize our declined applications by generating a combination of acquisition fee and servicing revenue for loans that are originated, sold to, and serviced on behalf of a third-party lender, or one-time acquisition fees for loans funded and serviced by a third party. Furthermore, our strong and expansive dealer relationships, comprehensive suite of products and services, full-spectrum financing, and depth of experience position us to evolve with future shifts in automobile technologies, including electrification. We have provided and continue to provide automobile financing for battery-electric and plug-in hybrid vehicles, including brands such as Jeep, Tesla, Ford, and BMW. This positions us to remain a leader in automotive financing as we believe the majority of these vehicles will be sold through dealerships and automotive retailers with whom we have an established relationship. Additionally, we partner and build relationships with automotive manufacturers who use a direct-to-consumer model. During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, $1.0 billion of our consumer automotive retail loan originations and purchases, and $1.8 billion of our operating lease originations and purchases, were for battery-electric and plug-in hybrid vehicles. As of September 30, 2024, $1.8 billion of our consumer automotive finance receivables and loans had battery-electric or plug-in hybrid vehicles as the underlying collateral, and $2.4 billion of our investment in operating leases, net of accumulated depreciation, were battery-electric or plug-in hybrid vehicles.

We have focused on developing dealer relationships beyond those relationships that primarily were developed through our previous role as a captive finance company for GM and Stellantis. We have established relationships with thousands of automotive dealers through our customer-centric approach and specialized incentive programs designed to drive loyalty amongst dealers to our products and services. Outside of GM and Stellantis, our other OEM-franchised dealers include brands such as Ford, Toyota, Hyundai, Kia, Nissan, Honda, and others, including automotive manufacturers who use a direct-to-consumer model. Our non-OEM-franchised dealers and automotive retailers include used-vehicle-only retailers with a national presence, as well as online-only automotive retailers, such as Carvana, CarMax, and EchoPark.

Our Insurance operations offer both consumer finance protection and insurance products sold primarily through the automotive dealer channel, and commercial insurance products sold directly to dealers. We serve approximately 2.5 million consumers nationwide across F&I and P&C products. During 2024, we added relationships with Nissan and Toyota to our vehicle inventory insurance program. In addition, we offer F&I products in Canada, where we serve more than 450 thousand consumers and are the preferred VSC and other protection plan provider for GM Canada and VSC provider for Subaru Canada. Our contract to serve as the preferred VSC and protection plan provider for GM Canada extends into the third quarter of 2027.

As part of our focus on offering dealers a broad range of consumer F&I products, we offer VSCs, VMCS, and GAP products. Ally Premier Protection is our flagship VSC offering, which provides coverage for new and used vehicles of virtually all makes and models. We also underwrite ClearGuard on the SmartAuction platform, which is a protection product designed to minimize the risk to dealers from arbitration claims for eligible vehicles sold at auction. Additionally, we underwrite selected commercial insurance coverages, which primarily insure dealers' wholesale vehicle inventory, and offer additional products to protect a dealer's business, including property and liability coverage that is underwritten by a third-party carrier with a portion of the insurance risk assumed through a quota share agreement. On a smaller scale, we also periodically assume other insurance risks through quota share arrangements and perform services as an underwriting carrier for an insurance program managed by a third party where we cede the majority of such business to external reinsurance markets.

Our dealer-centric business model, value-added products and services, full-spectrum financing, and business expertise proven over many credit cycles, make us a premier automotive finance and insurance company ready to support and strengthen our approximately 21,700 active dealer relationships as of September 30, 2024. A dealer is considered to have an active relationship with us if we provided automotive financing, remarketing, or insurance services during the three months ended September 30, 2024.

- Our Mortgage Finance operations consist of the management of held-for-investment and held-for-sale consumer mortgage loan portfolios. Our held-for-investment portfolio includes our direct-to-consumer Ally Home mortgage offering, and bulk purchases of high-quality jumbo and LMI mortgage loans originated by third parties.

Through our direct-to-consumer channel, we offer a variety of competitively priced jumbo and conforming fixed- and adjustable-rate mortgage products through a third party. Under our current arrangement, our direct-to-consumer conforming mortgages and certain direct-to-consumer non-conforming jumbo mortgages are originated as held-for-sale and sold. The remaining jumbo and LMI mortgages are originated as held-for-investment and subserviced by a third party. During 2024, we shifted to prioritize held-for-sale loan originations. Loans originated in the direct-to-consumer channel are sourced by existing Ally customer marketing, prospect marketing on third-party websites, and email or direct mail campaigns. Additionally, we have a strategic partnership with BMC, which delivers an enhanced end-to-end digital mortgage experience for our customers through our direct-to-consumer channel. Through this partnership, BMC conducts the sales, processing, underwriting, and closing for Ally's digital mortgage offerings in a highly innovative, scalable, and cost-efficient manner, while Ally retains control of all the marketing and advertising strategies and loan pricing. This partnership with BMC limits operational volatility as the mortgage industry continues to evolve in the current interest rate environment. During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, we originated $751 million of mortgage loans through our direct-to-consumer channel.

Through the bulk loan channel, we purchase loans from several qualified sellers, including direct originators and large aggregators who have the financial capacity to support strong representations and warranties, and the industry knowledge and experience to originate high-quality assets. Bulk purchases are made on a servicing-released basis, allowing us to directly oversee servicing activities and manage refinancing through our direct-to-consumer channel. During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, we purchased $15 million of mortgage loans that were originated by third parties. Our mortgage loan purchases are held-for-investment.

The combination of our direct-to-consumer strategy and bulk portfolio purchase program provides the capacity to expand revenue sources and further grow and diversify our finance receivable portfolio with an attractive asset class while also deepening relationships with existing Ally customers.

- Our Corporate Finance operations primarily offer senior-secured loans to private equity sponsor-owned U.S.-based middle-market companies and to well-established asset managers that mostly provide leveraged loans. The portfolio is composed of floating-rate leveraged asset-based and cash flow/enterprise value loans. Our Corporate Finance operations had $10.4 billion of assets at September 30, 2024, and generated $406 million of total net revenue during the nine months ended September 30, 2024, and continues to offer attractive returns and diversification benefits to our broader lending portfolio. Our Sponsor Finance business focuses on companies owned by private-equity sponsors with loans typically used for leveraged buyouts, refinancing and recapitalizations, mergers and acquisitions, growth, turnarounds, and debtor-in-possession financings. Additionally, our Lender Finance business provides asset managers with facilities to partially fund their direct-lending activities. We also provide a commercial real estate product, currently focused on lending to skilled nursing facilities, senior housing, and medical office buildings.
- Corporate and Other primarily consists of centralized corporate treasury activities such as management of the cash and corporate investment securities and loan portfolios, short- and long-term debt, retail and brokered deposit liabilities, derivative instruments, original issue discount, and the residual impacts of our corporate FTP and treasury ALM activities. Corporate and Other also includes activity related to certain equity investments, which primarily consist of FHLB and FRB stock, as well as other equity investments through Ally Ventures, our strategic investment business. Additionally, Corporate and Other includes the management of our legacy mortgage portfolio, which primarily consists of loans originated prior to January 1, 2009, CRA loans and investments, and reclassifications and eliminations between the reportable operating segments. Costs that are not allocated to our reportable operating segments as part of our COH methodology, which involves management judgment, are also included in Corporate and Other. These costs include marketing sponsorships, treasury and other corporate activities, and charitable contributions.

Corporate and Other includes the results of Ally Invest, our digital brokerage and advisory offering, which enables us to complement our competitive deposit products with low-cost investing. The digital advisory business aligns with our strategy to create a premier digital financial services company and provides additional sources of fee income through asset management and certain other fees, with minimal balance sheet utilization. This business also provides an additional source of low-cost deposits through arrangements with Ally Invest's clearing broker.

We closed the sale of Ally Lending on March 1, 2024. For further information, refer to Note 2 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements.

Financial information related to our credit card business, Ally Credit Card, is included within Corporate and Other. Ally Credit Card is our scalable, digital-first credit card platform and features leading-edge technology, and a proprietary, analytics-based underwriting model. We believe Ally Credit Card enhances our ability to grow and deepen both new and existing customer relationships. As of September 30, 2024, our credit card business had $2.2 billion of finance receivables and loans and approximately 1.3 million active cardholders.

Corporate and Other includes our CRA loans. On October 24, 2023, the U.S. banking agencies issued a final rule to modernize their regulations related to the CRA. The final rule amends their CRA regulations by introducing new tests to evaluate the CRA performance of banks, which most significantly impacts banks with over $2 billion in assets and imposes additional requirements on banks with over $10 billion in assets. Major changes to the CRA regulations include modifications related to the delineation of assessment areas, the overall evaluation framework including performance standards and metrics, the definition of community development activities, and data collection and reporting. Most provisions of the final rule will become effective on January 1, 2026, and the data reporting requirements will become effective on January 1, 2027. While we are still evaluating the final rule, it could impact Ally including our CRA program, business strategies, allocation of resources, and technology requirements.

We earned net income from continuing operations of $357 million and $808 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $296 million and $945 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increase for the three months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily driven by higher gains on investments and a decrease in income tax expense from continuing operations, partially offset by higher interest expense and higher provision for credit losses. The decrease for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily driven by higher interest expense and higher provision for credit losses, partially offset by higher total financing revenue and a decrease in income tax expense from continuing operations.

Net financing revenue and other interest income decreased $45 million and $269 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, as compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. Consumer automotive revenue increased as higher portfolio yields resulting from pricing actions taken in response to rising benchmark interest rates contributed to the increases in revenue. The increases were partially offset by lower average consumer assets resulting from the transfers of financial assets to nonconsolidated SPEs. Commercial automotive revenue increased due to higher average assets resulting from improvements in new vehicle supply. The increases were also impacted by higher yields from higher benchmark interest rates, as our commercial automotive loans are generally variable-rate. Additionally, revenue increased due to the impacts of a higher interest rate environment on the investment securities portfolio and higher interest associated with cash and cash equivalents. These increases were more than offset by higher interest expense for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, as compared to the same periods in 2023, in response to higher benchmark interest rates, which increased our cost of funds associated with our deposit liabilities. Additionally, the decrease in net financing revenue and other interest income was driven by the sale of Ally Lending, which closed on March 1, 2024.

Insurance premiums and service revenue earned was $359 million and $1.0 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $320 million and $936 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by growth of our P&C vehicle inventory insurance program due to higher dealer inventory levels and the addition of new relationships with Nissan and Toyota. The increases were also driven by higher other premium and service revenue written from non-automotive assumed reinsurance business.

Other gain on investments, net was $74 million and $96 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to other loss on investments, net of $41 million and other gain on investments, net of $59 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, compared to the same periods in 2023, were primarily attributable to the performance of the equity securities included in the portfolio in line with broader market performance.

Other income, net of losses increased $24 million and $60 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by increased servicing fees resulting from the growth in financial assets transferred to a nonconsolidated SPE for which we retain the ongoing right to service the assets and higher syndication income.

The provision for credit losses increased $137 million and $228 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases in provision for credit losses for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by higher net charge-offs in our consumer automotive portfolio and Credit Card, partially offset by the sale of Ally Lending. Refer to the Risk Management section of this MD&A for further discussion on our provision for credit losses.

Noninterest expense was $1.2 billion and $3.8 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $1.2 billion and $3.7 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increase for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily driven by insurance losses and loss adjustment expenses from our vehicle inventory insurance program attributable to growth in our P&C business, higher GAP losses driven by increased loss frequency and severity as vehicle values have declined from prior year, and growth in non-automotive assumed reinsurance business. The increase was also driven by increased expenses to support the growth of our consumer product suite and expand our digital capabilities and portfolio of products, and higher collection and repossession costs. Additionally, the increase was driven by an increase to our FDIC special assessment.

We recognized total income tax benefit from continuing operations of $124 million and $147 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to income tax benefit of $68 million and income tax expense of $74 million for the same periods in 2023. The decreases in income tax expense for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, compared to the same periods in 2023, were primarily due to an increase in qualified clean vehicle tax credits partially offset by an adjustment to the valuation allowance related to foreign tax credit carryforwards during the three months ended September 30, 2023. The increase in qualified clean vehicle tax credits was primarily driven by a new automotive manufacturer relationship added during the nine months ended September 30, 2024, which increased our purchased battery-electric vehicle lease origination volume. The adjustment to the valuation allowance related to foreign tax credit carryforwards during the three months ended September 30, 2023, was a nonrecurring tax benefit, primarily driven by a tax planning strategy.

The income tax benefit for qualified clean vehicle tax credits, along with other tax credits, resulted in a significant variation in the customary relationship between pretax income and income tax expense for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024. We record qualified clean vehicle tax credits as part of our investment tax credit category. All our investment tax credits are accounted for using the flow-through method and are recognized as a reduction to current income tax expense.

(a) Includes net remarketing gains of $24 million and $129 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $57 million and $174 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023.

Our Automotive Finance operations earned income from continuing operations before income tax expense of $175 million and $904 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $377 million and $1.3 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. For the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, the decreases were primarily due to higher interest expense and higher provision for credit losses, partially offset by higher total financing revenue and other interest income.

Consumer automotive loan financing revenue and other interest income increased $141 million and $561 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the same periods in 2023. Higher portfolio yields resulting from pricing actions taken in response to rising benchmark interest rates contributed to the increases in revenue. The increases were partially offset by lower average consumer assets resulting from the transfers of financial assets to nonconsolidated SPEs. Refer to Note 10 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information regarding assets sold to nonconsolidated SPEs.

Commercial loan financing revenue and other interest income increased $68 million and $280 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases were primarily due to higher asset balances resulting from improvements in new vehicle supply. The increases were also impacted by higher yields from higher benchmark interest rates, as our commercial automotive loans are generally variable-rate.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

Interest expense was $1.2 billion and $3.3 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $927 million and $2.5 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by a higher interest rate environment, resulting in higher funding costs.

Total net operating lease revenue decreased $58 million and $118 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the same periods in 2023. The decreases in net operating lease revenue were driven by lower asset balances, and lower remarketing gains. Additionally, the decreases in the net operating revenue were due to an increase in our battery-electric origination volume during both the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, as compared to the same periods in 2023. The qualified clean vehicle tax credits related to these originations are accounted for using the flow-through method and are recognized as a reduction to income tax expense. Additionally, the benefit of these tax credits is passed along to the lessee in the form of lower monthly payments, which reduces the net operating lease revenue for battery-electric operating leases. Refer to the Operating Lease Residual Risk Management section of this MD&A for further discussion.

Total other revenue increased $6 million and $36 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the same periods in 2023. The increases were primarily due to an increase in servicing fees resulting from the growth in financial assets transferred to a nonconsolidated SPE for which we retain the ongoing right to service the assets. Refer to Note 10 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information regarding assets sold to nonconsolidated SPEs.

The provision for credit losses increased $135 million and $284 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increase in provision for credit losses for the three months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily driven by higher net charge-offs in our consumer automotive portfolio compared to the same period in 2023, as well as an increase in reserves, which included additional reserves associated with the estimated impact of Hurricane Helene. The increase in provision for credit losses for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily driven by higher net charge-offs in our consumer automotive portfolio. Refer to the Risk Management section of this MD&A for further discussion on our provision for credit losses.

- (d) Excludes the effects of derivative financial instruments designated as hedges, which is included within Corporate and Other. Excluding these gains on sale, the yield was 4.33% and 4.55% for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to 4.69% and 4.85% for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

During the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, our portfolio yield for consumer automotive loans, excluding the impact of hedging activities, increased 87 and 96 basis points, respectively, as compared to the same periods in 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by higher portfolio yields resulting from pricing actions. We continued to opportunistically adjust pricing in response to elevated benchmark interest rates and competition in the industry. Our portfolio yield for consumer automotive loans, including the effects of derivative financial instruments designated as hedges, was 30 and 36 basis points higher than our portfolio yield for consumer automotive loans excluding the effects of derivative financial instruments designated as hedges for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively. This is attributable to the execution of hedging strategies that are used to mitigate interest rate risks. The effects of derivative financial instruments designated as hedges are included within Corporate and Other. Refer to Note 19 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further discussion.

Our portfolio yield for investment in operating leases, net, including gains on the sale of off-lease vehicles, decreased approximately 153 and 61 basis points to 5.47% and 6.54% for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, as compared to 7.00% and 7.15% for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. These declines were due to a decrease in remarketing performance driven by lower lease termination volume. Additionally, the decreases in the portfolio yield were due to an increase in our battery-electric origination volume during both the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, as compared to the same periods in 2023. The qualified clean vehicle tax credits related to these originations are accounted for using the flow-through method and are recognized as a reduction to income tax expense. Additionally, the benefit of these tax credits is passed along to the lessee in the form of lower monthly payments, which reduces the yield on battery-electric operating leases.

Retail loan originations with a term of 76 months or more represented 24% and 23%, of total retail loan originations for the three months and nine months ended, respectively, as of both September 30, 2024, and 2023. Substantially all the loans originated with a term of 76 months or more during both the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, and 2023, were considered to be prime and in credit tiers S, A, or B. Our underwriting processes are designed to consider various deal structure variables—such as payment-to-income, LTV, debt-to-income, and FICO® score—that compensate for longer loan terms and mitigate underwriting risk.

During the three months ended September 30, 2024, approximately 84% of our used retail loan originations were for vehicles with a model year of 2018 or newer. According to the Bureau of Transportation Statistics, the average age of light vehicles in operation in the United States during 2023 was approximately 13 years. Substantially all used retail loan originations with a term of 76 months or more during the three months ended September 30, 2024, were for vehicles with a model year of 2018 or newer.

Total consumer automotive loan and operating lease originations decreased $1.2 billion and $1.5 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the same periods in 2023. The decreases were primarily driven by our dynamic underwriting strategies, including strategic pricing and curtailment actions to optimize returns within our risk appetite.

We have included origination metrics by loan term and FICO® Score within this MD&A. In addition, we employ our own risk evaluation, including proprietary risk models, in evaluating credit risk, as described in the section titled Automotive Financing Volume—Acquisition and Underwriting within the MD&A in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

The following tables present the percentage of retail loan and operating lease originations and purchases, in dollars, by FICO® Score and product type. We define prime consumer automotive loans primarily as those loans with a FICO® Score at origination of 620 or greater.

(a) Unscored are primarily CSG contracts with business entities that have no FICO® Score.

Originations with a FICO® Score of less than 620 (considered nonprime) represented 8% of total consumer loan and operating lease originations for both the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, compared to 8% and 9% for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023, respectively. Consumer loans and operating leases with FICO® Scores of less than 540 represented 1% of total originations for both the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, as compared to 2% of total originations for both the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. Nonprime applications are subject to more stringent underwriting criteria (for example, maximum payment-to-income ratio, maximum debt-to-income ratio, and maximum amount financed), and our nonprime loan portfolio generally does not include any loans with a term of 76 months or more. The carrying value of our held-for-investment, nonprime consumer automotive loans before allowance for loan losses was $8.1 billion and $8.7 billion at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively, or approximately 9.7% and 10.3% of our total consumer automotive loans at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. For discussion of our credit-risk-management practices and performance, refer to the section below titled Risk Management.

During the first quarter of 2024, we amended our relationship with Carvana, a leading e-commerce platform for buying and selling used vehicles. Specifically, we maintained our committed facility at a maximum of $4.0 billion to support our continued efforts to optimize risk-adjusted returns. This commitment is effective for 364 days. As part of the agreement, we continue to purchase finance receivables on a periodic basis within prescribed eligibility requirements and risk appetite, consistent with purchase practices in prior years. All the finance receivables purchased through this channel are used vehicles, and are included in non-OEM-franchised dealers and automotive retailers in our consumer origination metrics. While different vintages and credit tiers exhibit varying performance, collectively to date, finance receivables purchased from Carvana have generally exhibited consistent delinquency and loss performance compared to loans with similar credit characteristics acquired through our indirect dealer channel. Consumer finance receivables and loans sourced from Carvana represented 8.4% and 8.2% of our total consumer automotive finance receivables and loans as of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. Loan purchases from Carvana were 8% and 7% of our total consumer automotive financing originations during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, as compared to 9% for both of the same periods in 2023.

For discussion of manufacturer marketing incentives, refer to the section titled Automotive Financing Volume—Manufacturer Marketing Incentives within the MD&A in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Commercial Wholesale Financing Volume

Total commercial wholesale finance receivables	$ 17,535	$ 14,507	$ 17,458	$ 13,727

Average commercial wholesale financing receivables outstanding increased $3.0 billion and $3.7 billion during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, as compared to the same periods in 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, as compared to the same periods in 2023, were primarily due to an increase in dealer new vehicle inventory levels, which is consistent with broader industry trends.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

Carvana's commercial line of credit totals $1.5 billion, with a scheduled maturity in the third quarter of 2025. The line of credit represents a commitment to fund Carvana's wholesale floorplan financing of used vehicles and is consistent in form and structure with our other wholesale floorplan financing arrangements. This includes the line of credit being fully collateralized to mitigate counterparty credit risk in the event of a default. At September 30, 2024, Carvana's gross wholesale floorplan assets outstanding balance was $76 million.

Other Commercial Automotive Financing

We also provide other forms of commercial financing for the automotive industry including automotive dealer term and revolving loans and automotive fleet financing. Automotive dealer term and revolving loans are loans that we make to dealers to finance other aspects of the dealership business, including acquisitions. These loans are usually secured by real estate or other dealership assets and are typically personally guaranteed by the individual owners of the dealership. Additionally, these loans generally include cross-collateral and cross-default provisions. Automotive fleet financing credit lines may be obtained by dealers, their affiliates, and other independent companies that are used to purchase vehicles, which they lease or rent to others. The average balances of other commercial automotive loans increased $325 million and $460 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the same periods in 2023, to an average of $6.3 billion and $6.4 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024.

- (a) Includes interest expense of $12 million and $33 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, and $8 million and $23 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023.
- (b) Includes net unrealized gains on equity securities of $56 million and $46 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, and net unrealized losses on equity securities of $47 million for the three months ended September 30, 2023, and gains of $42 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2023.
- (c) Management uses a combined ratio as a primary measure of underwriting profitability. Underwriting profitability is indicated by a combined ratio under 100% and is calculated as the sum of all incurred losses and expenses (excluding interest and income tax expense) divided by the total of premiums and service revenue earned and other income (excluding interest, dividends, and other investment activity).

Our Insurance operations earned income from continuing operations before income tax expense of $102 million and $130 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to a loss of $16 million for the three months ended September 30, 2023, and income of $84 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by higher net investment gains and increases in insurance premiums and service revenue earned, partially offset by increases in insurance losses and loss adjustment expenses.

Insurance premiums and service revenue earned was $359 million and $1.0 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $320 million and $936 million for the same periods in 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by growth of our P&C vehicle inventory insurance program due to higher dealer inventory levels and the addition of new relationships with Nissan and Toyota. The increases were also driven by higher other premium and service revenue written from non-automotive assumed reinsurance business.

Other gain on investments, net was $75 million and $104 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to other loss on investments, net of $31 million and other gain on investments, net of $66 million for the same periods in 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were driven by unrealized gains on equity securities, net of $56 million and $46 million, respectively, compared to unrealized losses on equity securities, net of $47 million and unrealized gains on equity securities, net of $42 million during the same periods in 2023, as a result of the performance of the equity securities included in the portfolio in line with broader market performance. Additionally, the increases were driven by realized capital gains of $19 million and $58 million during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $16 million and $24 million for the same periods in 2023.

Insurance losses and loss adjustment expenses totaled $135 million and $428 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $107 million and $329 million for the same periods in 2023. Loss and loss adjustment expenses for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, increased primarily due to growth in our P&C business, higher GAP losses driven by increased loss frequency and severity as vehicle values have declined from prior year, and growth in non-automotive assumed reinsurance business. During the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, weather-related loss and loss adjustment expenses from our vehicle inventory insurance program were $26 million and $121 million, respectively, compared to $22 million and $87 million during the same periods in 2023. We utilized our excess of loss reinsurance and ceded weather-related losses on our vehicle inventory insurance program for all quarters of 2024 as losses exceeded the retention limit, helping to mitigate the impact of weather losses, primarily due to severe hailstorms and Hurricane Helene. In April 2024, we renewed our annual excess of loss reinsurance agreement and continue to utilize this coverage for our vehicle inventory insurance to manage our risk of weather-related losses under which retention limits vary for each quarter.

Our combined ratio was 100.9% and 106.1% for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to 104.3% and 107.0% for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The decreases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by a lower loss ratio in our vehicle inventory insurance business as premium growth outpaced claims, and our acquisition and underwriting expenses remained stable for the three months ended September 30, 2024, and increased by approximately 1% for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, as compared to the same period in 2023. This was partially offset by higher GAP losses that outpaced premium growth driven by higher loss frequency and severity.

Premium and Service Revenue Written

The following table summarizes premium and service revenue written by product, net of premiums ceded to reinsurers, and premiums and service revenue assumed from third parties. VSC and GAP revenue are earned over the life of the service contract on a basis proportionate to the anticipated loss pattern. Refer to Note 3 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K for further discussion of this revenue stream.

(b) P&C insurance includes vehicle inventory insurance and dealer ancillary products including property and liability coverage underwritten by a third-party carrier earned on a straight-line basis.

(c) Primarily includes non-automotive assumed reinsurance and revenue associated with performing services as an underwriting carrier.

Insurance premiums and service revenue written was $384 million and $1.1 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $335 million and $941 million for the same periods in 2023. The increases were primarily due to higher written premiums from our P&C business from rising dealer inventory levels and growth in vehicle inventory insurance program relationships, increasing our market share. Additionally, the increases were driven by higher written premium for F&I driven by higher volume in Canada and growth in other premium and service revenue written from non-automotive assumed reinsurance business.

Cash and Investments

A significant aspect of our Insurance operations is the investment of proceeds from premiums and other revenue sources. We use these investments to satisfy our obligations related to future claims at the time these claims are settled. Our Insurance operations have an Investment Committee, which develops guidelines and strategies for these investments. The guidelines established by this committee reflect our risk appetite, liquidity requirements, regulatory requirements, and rating agency considerations, among other factors.

Our Mortgage Finance operations earned income from continuing operations before income tax expense of $27 million and $79 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $26 million and $68 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by lower noninterest expense, due to the benefits of the variable cost direct-to-consumer partnership model.

Net financing revenue and other interest income was $52 million and $157 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $53 million and $160 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The decreases in net financing revenue and other interest income for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by a decrease in asset balances. Premium amortization was $1 million and $2 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $1 million and $3 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. During the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, we purchased $7 million and $15 million of mortgage loans that were originated by third parties, respectively, compared to $7 million and $14 million during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. We originated $2 million and $49 million of mortgage loans held-for-investment during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $46 million and $102 million during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023.

Gain on sale of mortgage loans, net, was $6 million and $17 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $4 million and $13 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were attributable to higher volume of direct-to-consumer mortgage originations and the subsequent sale of these loans to counterparties. We originated $255 million and $702 million of loans held-for-sale during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $221 million and $629 million during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023.

Total noninterest expense was $31 million and $96 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $33 million and $108 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The decreases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by lower operating expenses due to the benefits of the variable cost direct-to-consumer partnership model.

During both the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, we had lower consumer mortgage held-for-investment financing volume, as compared to the same periods in 2023. The decreases were primarily driven by our shift to prioritize held-for-sale loan originations.

Our Corporate Finance operations earned income from continuing operations before income tax expense of $95 million and $283 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $84 million and $228 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily due to higher total net revenue. Additionally, the increase for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, was driven by a lower provision for credit losses.

Net financing revenue and other interest income was $101 million and $316 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $97 million and $292 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increase for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily due to higher interest income resulting from higher rates as all loans in the portfolio are variable rate, and an increased volume of loan payoffs resulting in accelerated deferred fees. This was partially offset by an increase in interest expense as benchmark interest rates continued to rise throughout 2023. The increase for the three months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily due to accelerated deferred fees.

Other revenue increased $13 million and $9 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily due to higher syndication income as compared to the same periods in 2023.

The provision for credit losses increased $6 million and decreased $22 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increase for the three months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily due to higher nonspecific reserve activity during the three months ended September 30, 2024, as compared to the release of reserves during the same period in 2023. The decrease for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily driven by lower specific reserve activity during the nine months ended September 30, 2024. The following table presents the scheduled remaining amortization of the original issue discount at September 30, 2024.

Year ended December 31, ($ in millions)	2024	2025	2026	2027	2028	2029 and thereafter (a)	Total
Original issue discount
Outstanding balance at year end	$ 763	$ 689	$ 606	$ 512	$ 405	—
Total amortization (b)	17	74	83	94	107	405	780

(a) The maximum annual scheduled amortization for any individual year is $143 million in 2030.

(b) The amortization is included as interest on long-term debt in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Comprehensive Income (Loss).

Corporate and Other incurred a loss from continuing operations before income tax expense of $166 million and $735 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $243 million and $681 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The decrease in loss for the three months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily driven by an increase in net financing revenue and other interest income and a decrease in noninterest expense. The increase in loss for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily driven by lower net financing revenue and other interest income, partially offset by lower total noninterest expense and lower provision for credit losses.

Total financing revenue and other interest income was $505 million and $1.6 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to $662 million and $1.9 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The decreases were primarily driven by lower income from our hedging activities as compared to the same periods in 2023 and lower average assets due to the sale of Ally Lending during the first quarter of 2024, partially offset by growth within Ally Credit Card portfolio.

Total interest expense decreased $182 million and $174 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. Interest expense in our Corporate and Other segment includes our external borrowing costs less the amount charged to our operating segments, which is based on our FTP methodology. The decreases in interest expense for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by lower residual funding costs.

Total other revenue increased $15 million and $14 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The increases for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, as compared to the same periods in 2023, were primarily driven by favorable performance from our equity securities and equity-method investments.

The provision for credit losses decreased $6 million and $36 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. For the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, the decreases in provision for credit losses were primarily driven by the sale of Ally Lending and lower portfolio loan growth as compared to the same periods in 2023 for Ally Credit Card, partially offset by higher net charge-offs within Ally Credit Card. Refer to the Risk Management section of this MD&A for further discussion on our provision for credit losses.

Noninterest expense decreased $31 million and $74 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, as compared to the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The decreases were primarily driven by lower compensation and benefits and lower operating expenses as a result of the sale of Ally Lending.

Total assets were $41.6 billion as of September 30, 2024, compared to $42.7 billion as of September 30, 2023. This decrease was primarily driven by the sale of Ally Lending. Additionally, as of September 30, 2024, the amortized cost of the legacy mortgage portfolio was $192 million, compared to $238 million at September 30, 2023.

Risk Management

Managing the risk/reward trade-off is a fundamental component of operating our businesses, and all employees are responsible for managing risk. We use multiple layers of defense to identify, monitor, and manage current and emerging risks.

- Business lines — Responsible for owning and managing all the risks that emanate from their risk-taking activities, including business units and support functions.
- Independent risk management — Operates independent of the business lines and is responsible for establishing and maintaining our risk-management framework and promulgating it enterprise-wide. Independent risk management also provides an objective, critical assessment of risks and—through oversight, effective challenge, and other means—evaluates whether Ally remains aligned with its risk appetite.
- Internal audit — Provides its own independent assessments regarding the quality of our loan portfolios as well as the effectiveness of our risk management, internal controls, and governance. Internal audit includes Audit Services and the Loan Review Group.

Our risk-management framework is overseen by the RC. The RC sets the risk appetite across our company while risk-oriented management committees, the executive leadership team, and our associates identify and monitor current and emerging risks and manage those risks within our risk appetite. Our primary types of risks include credit risk, insurance/underwriting risk, liquidity risk, market risk, business/strategic risk, reputation risk, operational risk, model risk, information technology/cybersecurity risk, compliance risk, and conduct risk. For more information on our risk management process, refer to the Risk Management MD&A section of our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

In addition to the primary risks that we manage, climate-related risk has been identified as an emerging risk. Climate-related risk refers to the risk of loss or change in business activities arising from climate change and represents a transverse risk that could impact other risks within Ally's risk-management framework, such as credit risk from negatively impacted borrowers, reputation risk from increased stakeholder concerns, and operational risk from physical climate risks. Refer to the section titled Climate-Related Risk within this section for more information.

Additionally, includes the current balance of conforming and certain non-conforming jumbo mortgages originated directly to the held-for-sale portfolio.
- (e) Includes $1.9 billion of assets of operations held-for-sale as of December 31, 2023. We closed the sale of Ally Lending on March 1, 2024. Refer to Note 2 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information.
- (f) Represents the current unpaid principal balance of outstanding loans based on our customary representation and warranty provisions.

The risks inherent in our loan and operating lease exposures are largely driven by changes in the overall economy (including GDP trends and inflationary pressures), used vehicle and housing prices, unemployment levels, real personal income, household savings, and their impact on our borrowers. The potential financial statement impact of these exposures varies depending on the accounting classification and future expected disposition strategy. We retain most of our consumer automotive and credit card loans as they complement our core business model, but we do sell loans from time to time on an opportunistic basis. We ultimately manage the associated risks based on the underlying economics of the exposure. Our operating lease residual risk may be more volatile than credit risk in stressed macroeconomic scenarios. While all operating leases are exposed to potential reductions in used vehicle values, only those where we take possession of the vehicle are affected by potential reductions in used vehicle values.

Credit Risk

Credit risk is defined as the risk of loss arising from an obligor not meeting its contractual obligations to us. Credit risk includes consumer credit risk, commercial credit risk, and counterparty credit risk.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

Credit risk is a major source of potential economic loss to us. Credit risk is monitored by the executive leadership team and our associates, and is regularly reported to and reviewed with the RC. Management oversees credit decisioning, account servicing activities, and credit-risk-management processes, and manages credit risk exposures within our risk appetite. In addition, our Loan Review Group provides an independent assessment of the quality of our credit portfolios and credit-risk-management practices and reports its findings to the RC on a regular basis.

To mitigate risk, we have implemented specific policies and practices across business lines, utilizing both qualitative and quantitative analyses. This reflects our commitment to maintaining an independent and ongoing assessment of credit risk and credit quality. Our policies require an objective and timely assessment of the overall quality of the consumer and commercial loan and operating lease portfolios. This includes the identification of relevant trends that affect the collectability of the portfolios, microsegments of the portfolios that are potential problem areas, loans and operating leases with potential credit weaknesses, and the assessment of the adequacy of internal credit risk policies and procedures. Our consumer and commercial loan and operating lease portfolios are subject to periodic stress tests, which include economic scenarios whose severity mirrors those developed and distributed by the FRB to assess how the portfolios may perform in a severe economic downturn. In addition, we establish and maintain underwriting policies and limits across our portfolios and higher risk segments (for example, nonprime) based on our risk appetite.

Another important aspect to managing credit risk involves the need to carefully monitor and manage the performance and pricing of our loan products with the aim of generating appropriate risk-adjusted returns. When considering pricing, various granular risk-based factors are considered such as expected loss rates, loss volatility, anticipated operating costs, and targeted returns on equity. We carefully monitor credit losses and trends in credit losses relative to expected credit losses at contract inception. We closely monitor our loan performance and profitability in light of forecasted economic conditions and manage credit risk and expectations of losses in the portfolio.

We manage credit risk based on the risk profile of the borrower, the source of repayment, the underlying collateral, and current market and economic conditions. We monitor the credit risk profile of individual borrowers, various segmentations (for example, geographic region, product type, industry segment), as well as the aggregate portfolio. We perform quarterly analyses of the consumer automotive, consumer mortgage, consumer other, and commercial portfolios to assess the adequacy of the allowance for loan losses based on historical, current, and anticipated trends. Refer to Note 8 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information.

Additionally, we utilize numerous collection strategies to mitigate loss and provide ongoing support to customers in financial distress. We have enhanced our collection strategies to include customized messaging, digital communication, and proactive monitoring of vendor performance. We may offer several types of assistance to aid our customers based on their willingness and ability to repay their loan. As part of certain programs, we offer loan modifications to qualified borrowers, including payment extensions, interest rate concessions, and principal forgiveness.

Furthermore, we manage our credit exposure to financial counterparties based on the risk profile of the counterparty. Within our policies we have established standards and requirements for managing counterparty risk exposures in a safe and sound manner. Counterparty credit risk is derived from multiple exposure types including derivatives, securities trading, securities financing transactions, lending arrangements, and certain cash balances. For more information on derivative counterparty credit risk, refer to Note 19 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements.

We employ an internal team of economists to enhance our planning and forecasting capabilities. This team conducts industry and market research, monitors economic risks, and helps support various forms of scenario planning. This group closely monitors macroeconomic trends given the nature of our business and the potential impacts on our exposure to credit risk. The unemployment rate remained at 4.1% as of September 30, 2024. Sales of new light vehicles were at a similar pace to the third quarter of 2023, but fell sequentially to an average annual rate of 15.6 million during the third quarter of 2024. Sales of new light motor vehicles remain below the pre-pandemic annual pace of 17.0 million in 2019, which has limited incoming used vehicle supply and driven elevated used vehicle values. Additionally, used vehicle values may be impacted by availability, the price of new vehicles, or changes in customer preferences. However, macroeconomic risks remain elevated.

Consumer Credit Portfolio

During the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, the credit performance of the consumer loan portfolio reflected our underwriting strategy to originate a diversified portfolio of consumer automotive loan assets, including new, used, prime and nonprime finance receivables and loans, high-quality jumbo and LMI mortgage loans that are obtained through bulk loan purchases and direct-to-consumer mortgage originations, as well as revolving, unsecured loans through Ally Credit Card. The carrying value of our nonprime held-for-investment consumer automotive loans before allowance for loan losses represented approximately 9.7% and 10.3% of our total consumer automotive loans at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. For information on our consumer credit risk practices and policies regarding delinquencies, nonperforming status, and charge-offs, refer to Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

- (a) Loans are generally in nonaccrual status when principal or interest has been delinquent for 90 days or more, or when full collection is not expected. Refer to Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information on our accounting policy for finance receivables and loans on nonaccrual status.
- (b) Certain finance receivables and loans are included in fair value hedging relationships. Refer to Note 19 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information.

Total consumer finance receivables and loans decreased $1.9 billion at September 30, 2024, compared with December 31, 2023. The decrease consists of a $1.2 billion decrease in our consumer mortgage finance receivables and loans due to portfolio runoff outpacing originations and purchases, coupled with the $208 million transfer of consumer mortgage finance receivables and loans from held-for-investment to held-for-sale during the three months ended September 30, 2024. Additionally, our consumer automotive finance receivables and loans decreased $896 million primarily due to the deconsolidation of a securitization during the first quarter of 2024.

Total consumer nonperforming finance receivables and loans at September 30, 2024, increased $59 million to $1.3 billion from December 31, 2023. Refer to Note 8 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information. Nonperforming consumer finance receivables and loans as a percentage of total outstanding consumer finance receivables and loans was 1.3% and 1.2% at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively.

Consumer automotive loans 30 days or more past due decreased $151 million to $4.3 billion at September 30, 2024, compared with December 31, 2023, driven by seasonality.

We continue to monitor performance and make adjustments to our underwriting strategies in response to macroeconomic conditions and portfolio credit trends.

- (b) Excludes bulk loan purchases associated with our Mortgage Finance operations, and includes $255 million and $702 million of loans originated as held-for-sale for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, and $221 million and $629 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023.
- (c) Includes originations related to our Personal Lending portfolio during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. On March 1, 2024, we closed the sale of Ally Lending. We excluded Personal Lending originations during the nine months ended September 30, 2024. Refer to Note 2 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information.
- (d) Excludes credit card loans, which are revolving in nature.

Total consumer loan originations decreased $2.0 billion and $3.4 billion for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, as compared to the same periods in 2023. The decreases were primarily due to decreased originations within our consumer automotive loan portfolio as a result of our dynamic underwriting strategies, including strategic pricing and curtailment actions to optimize returns within our risk appetite. The decreases were also impacted by the absence of loan originations within the consumer other portfolio, as we closed the sale of Ally Lending during the first quarter of 2024.

The following table shows the percentage of consumer finance receivables and loans by state concentration based on amortized cost.

We monitor our consumer loan portfolio for concentration risk across the states in which we lend. The highest concentrations of consumer loans are in California and Texas, which represented an aggregate of 26.1% and 26.4% of our total outstanding consumer finance receivables and loans at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. Our consumer mortgage loan portfolio concentration within California, which is primarily composed of high-quality jumbo mortgage loans, generally aligns to the California share of jumbo mortgages nationally.

Total commercial finance receivables and loans	$ 34,406	$ 34,462	$ 156	$ 119	$ —	$ —

(a) Loans are generally in nonaccrual status when principal or interest has been delinquent for 90 days or more, or when full collection is not expected. Refer to Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information on our accounting policy for finance receivables and loans on nonaccrual status.

(b) Other commercial and industrial primarily includes senior secured commercial lending largely associated with our Corporate Finance operations.

Total commercial finance receivables and loans outstanding decreased $56 million from December 31, 2023, to $34.4 billion at September 30, 2024. Results were primarily driven by a $605 million decrease in our Corporate Finance segment. This was partially offset by a $509 million increase in our Automotive Finance segment, primarily within the commercial and industrial receivables class.

Total commercial nonperforming finance receivables and loans were $156 million at September 30, 2024, reflecting an increase of $37 million compared to December 31, 2023. Nonperforming commercial finance receivables and loans as a percentage of outstanding commercial finance receivables and loans was 0.5% and 0.3% at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively.

The following table includes total commercial net charge-offs from finance receivables and loans at amortized cost and related ratios.

(a) Net charge-off ratios are calculated as net charge-offs divided by average outstanding finance receivables and loans excluding loans measured at fair value and loans held-for-sale during the period for each loan category.

We had net recoveries from total commercial finance receivables and loans of $1 million and $5 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, as compared to net recoveries of $3 million and net charge-offs of $57 million for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023. The decrease for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily driven by charge-offs of specific exposures within our Corporate Finance and Automotive Finance operations during the nine months ended September 30, 2023, that did not reoccur in 2024.

Commercial Real Estate

The commercial real estate portfolio consists of finance receivables and loans issued primarily to automotive dealers. Commercial real estate finance receivables and loans was $6.3 billion and $6.1 billion at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively, which represented 4.6% and 4.3% of total outstanding finance receivables and loans at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. There was $4.6 billion of commercial real estate loans included in the Automotive Finance segment at both September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, and $1.6 billion and $1.3 billion of commercial real estate loans included in the Corporate Finance segment at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively.

Commercial Criticized Exposure

Finance receivables and loans classified as special mention, substandard, or doubtful are reported as criticized. These classifications are based on regulatory definitions and generally represent finance receivables and loans within our portfolio that have a higher default risk or have already defaulted. These finance receivables and loans require additional monitoring and review including specific actions to mitigate our potential loss.

Total criticized exposures increased $585 million from December 31, 2023, to $2.7 billion at September 30, 2024. The increase in total criticized exposures was primarily driven by an increase in Special Mention loans within the commercial and industrial portfolio class of our Automotive Finance and Corporate Finance operations. Total criticized exposures were 7.9% and 6.2% of total commercial finance receivables and loans at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively, representing strong overall credit performance.

The following table presents the percentage of total commercial criticized finance receivables and loans by industry concentration based on amortized cost.

Repossessed and Foreclosed Assets

We classify a repossessed or foreclosed asset as held-for-sale, which is included in other assets on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet, when physical possession of the collateral is taken. We dispose of the acquired collateral in a timely fashion in accordance with regulatory requirements. For more information on repossessed and foreclosed assets, refer to Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Repossessed consumer automotive loan assets in our Automotive Finance operations were $205 million and $230 million at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively, and foreclosed consumer mortgage assets were $1 million at both September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023. Repossessed commercial automotive loan assets in our Automotive Finance operations were $1 million and $5 million at September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively.

Allowance for Loan Losses

Our quantitatively determined allowance under CECL is impacted by certain forecasted economic factors as further described in Note 1 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K, and in Note 1 to these Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements. For example, our consumer automotive allowance for loan losses is most sensitive to state-level unemployment rates. Our process for determining the allowance for loan losses considers a borrower's willingness and ability to pay and considers other factors, including loan modification programs. In addition to our quantitative allowance for loan losses, we also incorporate qualitative adjustments that may relate to idiosyncratic risks, weather-related events, changes in current economic conditions that may not be reflected in quantitatively derived results, and other macroeconomic uncertainty. We also monitor model performance, using model error and related assessments, and we may incorporate qualitative reserves to adjust our quantitatively determined allowance if we observe deterioration in model performance. Additionally, we perform a sensitivity analysis of our allowance utilizing varying macroeconomic scenarios, as described further within Critical Accounting Estimates — Allowance for Credit Losses within the MD&A in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

During the second quarter of 2024, we updated our reasonable and supportable forecast period from 12 months to 24 months, and our reversion period from 24 months to 12 months. This refinement to our estimation process represents a change in accounting estimate, with prospective application beginning in the period of change. The impact of this refinement to our estimation process was offset by an adjustment in the qualitative portion of our allowance. The use of a longer-duration reasonable and supportable macroeconomic forecast period to produce the modeled portion of our allowance for loan losses is expected to further improve model performance.

Through September 30, 2024, forecasted economic variables incorporated into our quantitative allowance processes were updated to include the current macroeconomic environment and our future expectations reflecting slow GDP growth in the near term. This included (but was not limited to) the following: the unemployment rate peaking at approximately 4.3% in the fourth quarter of 2025, before reverting to the historical mean of approximately 5.9% by the third quarter of 2027, deceleration of GDP growth as measured on a quarter-over-quarter seasonally adjusted annualized rate basis through the fourth quarter of 2024, followed by increases in GDP growth through the fourth quarter of 2025 and reverting to the historical mean of approximately 2.0% by the third quarter of 2027, and increases in new light vehicle sales on a seasonally adjusted annualized rate basis of approximately 16 million units through the third quarter of 2026, before reverting to the historical mean of 15 million units by the third quarter of 2027. Additionally, we maintain a qualitative allowance framework to account for ongoing uncertainty and volatility in the macroeconomic environment (including the impact of inflationary pressures) that could adversely impact frequency of loss and LGD. Our overall allowance for loan losses increased $128 million from the prior quarter to $3.7 billion at September 30, 2024, representing 2.7% as a percentage of total finance receivables at September 30, 2024, as compared to our allowance for loan losses representing 2.6% of total finance receivables at December 31, 2023.

The following tables present an analysis of the activity in the allowance for loan losses on finance receivables and loans for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, and September 30, 2023, respectively.

The allowance for consumer loan losses as of September 30, 2024, decreased $108 million compared to September 30, 2023, reflecting a decrease of $167 million in the consumer other allowance, an increase of $62 million in the consumer automotive allowance, and a decrease of $3 million in the consumer mortgage allowance. The decrease in the allowance for consumer loan losses was primarily driven by the sale of Ally Lending within the consumer other portfolio, partially offset by a higher consumer auto allowance reflecting a more gradual pace of improvement in loss expectations and incremental reserves associated with the estimated impact of Hurricane Helene.

The allowance for commercial loan losses as of September 30, 2024, decreased $29 million compared to September 30, 2023. The decrease was primarily driven by the charge-off of specific reserves in our Corporate Finance operations, partially offset by portfolio growth in our Automotive Finance operations.

The decreases in provision for commercial credit losses during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, were primarily driven by lower specific reserve activity within our Corporate Finance operations during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, as compared to the same periods in 2023.

Market Risk

Our financing, investing, and insurance activities give rise to market risk, or the potential change in the value of our assets (including securities, assets held-for-sale, loans and operating leases) and liabilities (including deposits and debt) due to movements in market variables, such as interest rates, spreads, foreign-exchange rates, equity prices, off-lease vehicle prices, and other equity investments.

The impact of changes in benchmark interest rates on our balance sheet represents an exposure to market risk and can affect our expected earnings. We primarily use interest rate derivatives to manage our interest rate risk exposure.

During the three months ended September 30, 2024, the Federal Reserve lowered the federal funds target range to 4.75–5.00% in response to easing inflation trends and growing labor market pressures. High federal funds target rates led to pricing impacts across the balance sheet. Refer to the section below titled Net Financing Revenue Sensitivity Analysis for additional information on how future rate changes may impact net financing revenue.

The fair value of our spread-sensitive assets is also exposed to spread risk. Spread is the amount of additional return over the benchmark interest rates that an investor would demand for taking exposure to primarily credit and liquidity risk of an instrument. Generally, an increase in spreads would result in a decrease in fair value measurement.

We are also exposed to marginal foreign-currency risk primarily from Canadian denominated assets and liabilities. We enter into foreign currency hedges to mitigate foreign exchange risk.

We have exposure to changes in the value of equity securities with readily determinable fair values primarily related to our insurance operations. For such equity securities, we use equity derivatives to manage our exposure to equity price fluctuations.

As part of our CRA program, we make investments in CRA-eligible funds that do not qualify as proportional amortization investments. Many of these CRA funds feature private equity or venture capital structures and are accounted for using the equity method of accounting. We recognize our share of the investee's earnings based on the performance of the funds. We recognized a $2 million gain and a $9 million loss related to these investments during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, as compared to losses of $1 million and $18 million during the same periods in 2023. The results for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2023, include NMT and HTC investments, which were accounted for using the equity method of accounting prior to our adoption of ASU 2023-02 on January 1, 2024. The gain for the three months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily due to favorable performance across several small business investment company and venture capital funds. The loss for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, was primarily due to broader real estate market trends adversely impacting certain real estate funds within our CRA investment portfolio. There were no indications of impairment within our portfolio of CRA-eligible funds as of September 30, 2024. Refer to Note 1 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information on our accounting policy for equity-method investments and proportional amortization investments.

In addition, we are exposed to changes in the value of other nonmarketable equity investments without readily determinable fair market values, which may cause volatility in our earnings.

As of September 30, 2024, we had $3.4 billion of cumulative net unrealized losses on our investment securities. During the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, we recorded $589 million and $383 million of net unrealized gains on our available-for-sale securities, respectively. Unrealized gains and losses are recorded in other comprehensive income (loss) within our Condensed Consolidated Statement of Comprehensive Income (Loss), and are generally not realized unless we sell the securities prior to their stated maturity date. In the fourth quarter of 2023, non-agency mortgage-backed residential securities with a fair value of $3.6 billion were transferred from available-for-sale to held-to-maturity. At the time of the transfer, $911 million of unrealized losses were retained in accumulated other comprehensive loss on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. The unrealized loss at the time of transfer is amortized over the remaining life of the security, offsetting the amortization of the security's premium or discount, and resulting in no impact to the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Comprehensive Income (Loss). The transfer of these securities to held-to-maturity reduces our exposure to fluctuations in accumulated other comprehensive loss on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet that can result from unrealized losses on available-for-sale securities due to changes in market interest rates. As of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, we did not have the intent to sell the available-for-sale securities in an unrealized loss position and we do not believe it is more likely than not that we will be required to sell these securities before recovery of their amortized cost basis. For the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, management determined that there were no expected credit losses for available-for-sale or held-to-maturity securities in an unrealized loss position. Refer to Note 7 and Note 16 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information.

The composition of our balance sheet, including shorter-duration fixed-rate consumer automotive loans and variable-rate commercial loans, along with our primary funding source of retail deposits, partially mitigates market risk. Additionally, we maintain risk-management controls that measure and monitor market risk using a variety of analytical techniques including market value and sensitivity analysis. Refer to Note 19 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information. For information regarding our insured and uninsured deposit liabilities, refer to the section below titled Response to Banking Industry Failures.

Net Financing Revenue Sensitivity Analysis

Interest rate risk represents one of our most significant exposures to market risk. We actively monitor the level of exposure to movements in interest rates and take actions to mitigate adverse impacts these movements may have on future earnings. We use a sensitivity analysis of net financing revenue as our primary metric to measure and manage the interest rate risk of our financial instruments. In addition to net financing revenue sensitivities, EVE is used as a long-term interest rate risk measurement tool and a component of our interest rate risk management framework. EVE measures the present value of aggregate lifetime cash flows based on balance sheet and off-balance sheet positions at a specific point-in-time. We determine EVE sensitivities using a multitude of rate scenarios where the present value of future cash flows is recalculated using shocked interest rates. Interest rate risk metrics are reported at each regularly scheduled meeting of the ALCO and of the RC. Reporting includes exposure relative to risk limits, impacts to a range of rate scenarios, and sensitivity tests of key assumptions.

The execution of our current business strategy generally results in shorter-duration, fixed-rate consumer automotive loans comprising the majority of our assets and liquid, floating-rate retail deposits comprising the majority of our liabilities. This, in turn, results in a structurally liability sensitive balance sheet as our floating-rate retail deposits reprice faster than our fixed-rate consumer automotive loans when interest rates change. We prepare forward-looking baseline forecasts of pretax net financing revenue as well as anticipated future business growth, actions to alter our asset/liability positioning, and interest rates based on the implied forward curve. The analysis is highly dependent upon a variety of assumptions, one of the most significant being the repricing characteristics of retail deposits with both contractual and non-contractual maturities. We monitor industry and competitive repricing activity along with other business and market factors when developing deposit pricing assumptions.

Modeled simulations are then used to assess changes in pretax net financing revenue in multiple interest rate scenarios relative to the baseline forecast. The changes in net financing revenue relative to the baseline are defined as the sensitivity. Our simulations incorporate contractual cash flows and assumed repricing characteristics for assets, liabilities, and off-balance sheet exposures and incorporate the assumed effects of changing interest rates on the prepayment and attrition rates of certain assets and liabilities. Our simulations do not assume any specific future actions are taken to mitigate the impacts of changing interest rates.

These simulations measure the potential changes in our pretax net financing revenue over the following 12 months. We test a number of alternative rate scenarios, including immediate and gradual parallel shocks to the implied forward curve. We also evaluate nonparallel shocks to interest rates and stresses to certain term points on the yield curve in isolation to capture and monitor a variety of risks.

Simulation results are driven by underlying models and assumptions that are based on trend behavior and other historical information. The underlying models and assumptions, including retail deposit pricing, are regularly monitored and evaluated, and may be updated accordingly as observed trends materialize. For example, we updated our retail deposit pricing assumptions throughout the nine months ended September 30, 2024, which generally increased the liability sensitivity of our balance sheet as retail deposits are assumed to reprice faster in a rising rate scenario than in a decreasing rate scenario. As a result, if future trends or behaviors deviate from those reflected in the models, actual sensitivities may vary—perhaps significantly—from those that are modeled. Actual sensitivities may differ for other reasons as well, including unplanned changes in balance sheet composition, timing of asset and liability repricing, the yield curve, customer behavior, macroeconomic conditions, the competitive environment, and management strategies. Accordingly, we do not treat the sensitivities as forecasts of net financing revenue but instead use them as a tool in managing interest rate risk. We also assess Ally's sensitivity to interest rate risk through the performance of sensitivity testing of key assumptions including, but not limited to, prepayments and retail automotive and deposit repricing on a routine basis.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

In a stable rate scenario that assumes spot rates as of September 30, 2024, remain constant through the simulation, net financing revenue over the next 12 months is expected to increase by $82 million versus the baseline forecast, due to the shape of the implied forward curve.

The following table presents the pretax dollar impact to baseline forecasted net financing revenue over the next 12 months assuming various parallel shocks to the implied forward curve as of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023.

	September 30, 2024		December 31, 2023
	Gradual (a)	Instantaneous	Gradual (a)	Instantaneous
Change in interest rates	($ in millions)		($ in millions)
+200 basis points	$ 94	$ (151)	$ 150	$ 23
+100 basis points	47	(94)	88	3
-100 basis points	(54)	(152)	(96)	(107)

(a) Gradual changes in interest rates are recognized over 12 months.

Since December 31, 2023, the implied forward curve has steepened, driven by the front-end as expected declines in the federal funds rate increased. During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, our floating-rate commercial balances and cash balances increased while our fixed-rate asset balances decreased, primarily due to closing the sale of Ally Lending and the continued runoff of our investment securities and residential mortgage portfolios. Additionally, we saw a shift from CDs to liquid deposits. The impact of these changes is reflected in our baseline net financing revenue forecast. As of September 30, 2024, our balance sheet is modestly asset sensitive in the near term due to our floating-rate assets and pay-fixed hedge position. However, our balance sheet remains liability sensitive over the medium term, driven by the assumed repricing of our deposits and market-based funding outpacing the assumed repricing of our floating-rate assets and pay-fixed swaps, which will also begin to roll down.

Our interest rate risk position is influenced by the impact of hedging activity, which primarily consists of interest rate swaps designated as fair value hedges of certain fixed-rate assets and fixed-rate debt instruments. Additionally, we use interest rate floor contracts designated as cash flow hedges on certain floating-rate assets. The size, maturity, and mix of our hedging activities are adjusted as our balance sheet, ALM objectives, and the interest rate environment evolve over time. Our hedging strategies, however, are not designed to eliminate all interest rate risk, and we were adversely affected from high interest rates in 2023 and 2024.

Operating Lease Residual Risk Management

We are exposed to residual risk on vehicles in the consumer operating lease portfolio. This operating lease residual risk represents the possibility that the actual proceeds realized upon the sale of returned vehicles will be lower than the projection of these values used in establishing the pricing at lease inception. Our operating lease portfolio, net of accumulated depreciation was $8.3 billion and $9.2 billion as of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. The expected lease residual value of our operating lease portfolio at scheduled termination was $6.5 billion and $7.4 billion as of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, respectively. Certain of our operating leases are covered by residual guarantees with counterparties, which partially mitigates the residual value risk to the extent the counterparties are able to meet the terms of the contractual agreements. As of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, consumer operating leases with a carrying value, net of accumulated depreciation, of $1.3 billion and $12 million, respectively, were covered by residual value guarantees. Refer to Note 9 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further information. For information on our valuation of automotive operating lease residuals including periodic revisions through adjustments to depreciation expense based on current and forecasted market conditions, refer to the section titled Critical Accounting Estimates—Valuation of Automotive Operating Lease Assets and Residuals within the MD&A in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Operating Lease Vehicle Terminations and Remarketing

The following table summarizes the volume of operating lease terminations and average gain per vehicle, as well as our methods of vehicle sales at lease termination, stated as a percentage of total operating lease vehicle disposals.

	Three months ended September 30,		Nine months ended September 30,
	2024	2023	2024	2023
Off-lease vehicles terminated (in units)	31,033	29,484	104,560	83,519
Average gain per vehicle ($ per unit)	$ 771	$ 1,944	$ 1,231	$ 2,080
Method of vehicle sales
Sale to dealer, lessee, and other	52 %	78 %	55 %	79 %
Auction
Internet	36	17	35	16
Physical	12	5	10	5

We recognized an average gain per vehicle of $771 and $1,231 for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, compared to an average gain per vehicle of $1,944 and $2,080 for the same periods in 2023. The decreases in remarketing performance during the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, as compared to the same periods in 2023, were primarily due to lower auction prices, compounded by continued normalizing volume trends in the contractually priced buyout channels. The method of vehicle sales is largely dependent on the level of used vehicle values at lease termination compared to contractual residual values at lease inception. Off-lease vehicles sold to lessees and dealers decreased 33% and 30% for the three months and nine months ended September 30, 2024, respectively, as compared to the same periods in 2023.

Operating Lease Portfolio Mix

The following table presents the concentration of our outstanding operating leases exposures by OEM.

September 30,	2024	2023
Stellantis	66 %	78 %
GM	7	5
Other OEMs	27	17

The following table presents the mix of operating lease assets by vehicle type, based on volume of units outstanding.

September 30,	2024	2023
Sport utility vehicle	70 %	67 %
Truck	20	28
Car	10	5

As of September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, $2.4 billion and $1.0 billion of our investment in operating leases, net of accumulated depreciation, were battery-electric or plug-in hybrid vehicles, respectively. Substantially all of our investment in operating leases of battery-electric vehicles are covered by a residual value guarantee of approximately 50% of the vehicles' contract residual value. Refer to Note 9 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for more information regarding our investment in operating leases.

Climate-Related Risk

We have identified and defined climate-related risk as an emerging risk. Pursuant to our risk-management framework, emerging risks include those that are newly-identified or evolving and have the potential to significantly impact Ally, but their nature and magnitude may not yet be fully known or may be rapidly changing. Refer to the section titled Risk Factors in Part I, Item 1A of our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K for information on climate-related risks.

Climate-related risk is generally categorized into two major categories: (1) risk related to the transition to a lower-carbon economy (transition risk) and (2) risk related to the physical impacts of climate change. Transition risk considers how changes in policy, technology, and market preference could pose operational, financial, and reputational risk to companies. Physical risk from climate change can be acute or chronic. Acute physical risk refers to risks that are event-driven such as increased severity of extreme weather events, including tornadoes, hurricanes, or floods. Chronic physical risks refer to long-term shifts in climate patterns, such as sustained higher temperatures, that may, for example, cause sea levels to rise.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

As the impacts of climate change become more evident, we have recognized (1) the importance of understanding, preparing for and taking timely preventive action against potentially material climate-change impacts, (2) increasing investor demand for consistent and comparable climate-change risk data, (3) shifting federal policy focus as a result of rejoining the Paris Climate Agreement and an increase in regulatory discussion about potential requirements and oversight, and (4) that Ally's commitment to "Do It Right" extends to the conservation of environmental resources to promote a sustainable future for our customers, employees, stockholders, and the communities in which we live and operate. Ally is committed to developing a comprehensive enterprise sustainability strategy focusing on greater data collection, aggregation, and analysis, with the goal of aligning with the recommendations from the TCFD in assessing and reporting on our exposures to climate-related risks and opportunities consistent with the financial industry. For additional information, refer to the Risk Management MD&A section of our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K. Liquidity Management, Funding, and Regulatory Capital

Overview

The purpose of liquidity management is to enable us to meet loan and operating lease demand, debt maturities, deposit withdrawals, and other cash commitments under both normal operating conditions as well as periods of economic or financial stress. Our primary objective is to maintain cost-effective, stable and diverse sources of funding capable of sustaining the organization throughout all market cycles. Sources of funding include both retail and brokered deposits and secured and unsecured market-based funding across various maturity, interest rate, and investor profiles. Additional liquidity is available through a pool of unencumbered highly liquid securities, repurchase agreements, advances from the FHLB of Pittsburgh, and the FRB Discount Window.

We define liquidity risk as the risk that an institution's financial condition or overall safety and soundness is adversely affected by the actual or perceived inability to liquidate assets or obtain adequate funding or to easily unwind or offset specific exposures without significantly lowering market prices because of inadequate market depth or market disruptions. Liquidity risk can arise from a variety of institution-specific or market-related events that could have a negative impact on cash flows available to the organization. Effective management of liquidity risk positions an organization to meet cash flow obligations caused by unanticipated events. Managing liquidity needs and contingent funding exposures has proven essential to the solvency of financial institutions.

The ALCO, chaired by the Corporate Treasurer, is responsible for overseeing our funding and liquidity strategies. Corporate Treasury is responsible for managing our liquidity positions within limits approved by ALCO, the ERMC, and the RC. As part of managing liquidity risk, Corporate Treasury prepares monthly forecasts depicting anticipated funding needs and sources of funds, executes our funding strategies, and manages liquidity under normal as well as more severely stressed macroeconomic environments. Oversight and monitoring of liquidity risk are provided by Independent Risk Management.

The monthly liquidity forecasts demonstrate our ability to generate and obtain adequate amounts of cash to meet loan and operating lease demand, debt maturities, deposit withdrawals, and other cash commitments under normal operating conditions throughout the forecast horizon (currently through December 2026). Refer to Note 13 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for a summary of the scheduled maturity of long-term debt as of September 30, 2024. In recent years, we have become less reliant on market-based funding, reducing our exposure to disruptions in wholesale funding markets.

Funding Strategy

Liquidity and ongoing profitability are largely dependent on the timely and cost-effective access to retail deposits and funding in various segments of the capital markets. We focus on maintaining diversified funding sources across a broad base of depositors, lenders, and investors to meet liquidity needs throughout different economic cycles, including periods of financial distress. These funding sources include retail and brokered deposits, public and private asset-backed securitizations, unsecured debt, FHLB advances, and repurchase agreements. Our access to diversified funding sources enhances funding flexibility and results in a more cost-effective funding strategy over the long term. We evaluate funding markets on an ongoing basis to achieve an appropriate balance of unsecured and secured funding sources and maturity profiles.

We manage our funding to achieve a well-balanced portfolio across a spectrum of risk, maturity, and cost-of-funds characteristics. Optimizing funding at Ally Bank continues to be a key part of our long-term liquidity strategy. We optimize our funding sources at Ally Bank by prioritizing retail deposits, maintaining an active securitization program, managing the maturity profile of our brokered deposit portfolio, utilizing repurchase agreements, and continuing to access funds from the FHLB.

Assets are primarily originated by Ally Bank to reduce parent company exposures and funding requirements, and to utilize our growing consumer deposit-taking capabilities. This allows us to use bank funding for substantially all our automotive finance and other assets and to provide a sustainable long-term funding channel for the business, while also improving the cost of funds for the enterprise.

Liquidity Risk Management

Multiple metrics are used to measure liquidity risk, manage the liquidity position, identify related trends, and monitor these trends and metrics against established limits. These metrics include comprehensive stress tests that measure the sufficiency of the liquidity portfolio over stressed horizons ranging from overnight to 12 months, stability ratios that measure longer-term structural liquidity, and concentration ratios that enable prudent funding diversification. In addition, we have established internal management routines designed to review all aspects of liquidity and funding plans, evaluate the adequacy of liquidity buffers, review stress testing results, and assist management in the execution of its funding strategy and risk-management accountabilities.

Our liquidity stress testing is designed to allow us to operate our businesses and to meet our contractual and contingent obligations, including unsecured debt maturities, for at least 12 months, assuming our normal access to funding is disrupted by severe market-wide and enterprise-specific events. We maintain available liquidity in the form of cash, unencumbered highly liquid securities, available FHLB capacity, and available FRB Discount Window capacity. This available liquidity is held at various legal entities and is subject to regulatory restrictions and tax implications that may limit our ability to transfer funds across entities.

Total available liquidity	$ 67,911	$ 63,453

- (a) Excludes restricted cash and foreign currency cash balances.
- (b) Pledged assets are primarily composed of consumer mortgage finance receivables and loans, as well as real-estate-backed loans within our Automotive Finance and Corporate Finance businesses, and non-agency mortgage-backed securities.
- (c) Includes unencumbered U.S. federal government, U.S. agency, and highly liquid corporate debt securities.
- (d) Pledged assets are composed of consumer automotive finance receivables and loans. Refer to Note 13 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for information on assets pledged to the FRB.

Recent Funding and Liquidity Developments

Key funding highlights from January 1, 2024, to date were as follows:

- We raised $1.9 billion through the completion of two term securitization transactions backed by consumer automotive loans.
- We issued $10.5 billion of brokered CDs.
- We became eligible for the FRB Standing Repo Facility.
- We raised $330 million through the issuance of credit-linked notes. The related proceeds are held within a cash collateral account as restricted cash and cash equivalents recorded within other assets on the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet.
- During July 2024, we accessed the unsecured debt capital markets and raised $750 million through the issuance of senior notes, which provided additional liquidity at Ally Financial Inc.

Response to Banking Industry Failures

In March 2023, the FDIC was appointed as receiver for SVB and Signature after they experienced runs on deposits and other liquidity constraints. At the time, SVB and Signature were the 16th and 29th largest banks in the United States, respectively, as measured by total assets as of December 31, 2022. Also during March 2023, UBS Group AG announced the acquisition of Credit Suisse Group AG, with the support of the Swiss government.

Our liquidity position fundamentally differs from those of SVB and Signature before their failures. For example, approximately 93% of total deposits at Ally Bank, excluding affiliate and intercompany deposits, were FDIC-insured as of September 30, 2024, compared to 12% for SVB and 10% for Signature as of December 31, 2022. Additionally, our deposit portfolio is primarily composed of granular and diversified retail customer accounts, as opposed to SVB and Signature who had large uninsured commercial deposits. However, because of the market turbulence and uncertainty, in March 2023, we activated existing internal incident response procedures specifically designed to increase governance and monitoring of Ally Bank's depositor behavior, liquidity position, and risk exposure, including frequent ongoing dialogue with the Board and supervisory authorities.

Before and after the SVB and Signature failures, we also took specific funding actions. Even before these failures, in response to the unprecedented pace of monetary tightening in 2022 and the resultant macroeconomic uncertainty, we had increased cash and available liquidity. After the failures, we continued to do so by optimizing brokered CD issuances, borrowing from the FHLB, managing securities collateral pledged to the FHLB, maintaining competitive retail deposit pricing, managing new loan origination volumes, and increasing available FRB Discount Window capacity by pledging additional consumer automotive loan collateral. In March 2024, we also became eligible for the FRB Standing Repo Facility, which allows banks to borrow overnight cash from the FRB through a repurchase agreement using U.S. Treasury or agency mortgage-backed securities as collateral. We had $67.9 billion of total available liquidity as of September 30, 2024, which included $12.5 billion of available FHLB capacity and $26.7 billion of available FRB Discount Window capacity. Refer to the section above titled Liquidity Risk Management. FHLB funding provides us with a stable funding source and can be drawn upon on a same-day basis if sufficiently secured with available collateral.

In support of American businesses and households, the FRB created the BTFP in March 2023 to make additional funding available to eligible depository institutions in order to help assure that banks have the ability to meet the needs of all of their depositors. The FRB ceased making new loans as scheduled on March 11, 2024. We did not borrow from the BTFP through the duration of the eligibility period. As of September 30, 2024, we had $26.7 billion in total available funding capacity through the FRB Discount Window, with no debt outstanding during the nine months ended September 30, 2024.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

Following the failures of SVB and Signature, on May 1, 2023, First Republic Bank was closed by the California Department of Financial Protection and Innovation, which appointed the FDIC as receiver. The FDIC entered into a purchase and assumption agreement with JPMorgan Chase Bank to assume all the deposits and substantially all the assets of First Republic Bank. We continue to monitor and assess the impact of these failures on Category IV firms, like Ally.

In April 2023, in a statement accompanying the review of the FRB's supervision and regulation of SVB, FRB Vice Chair for Supervision Barr highlighted a plan to revisit the Tailoring Rules and develop stronger capital, liquidity, stress-testing, and other standards for Category IV firms like Ally. In July 2023, the U.S. banking agencies issued a proposed rule to customize and implement revisions to the global Basel III capital framework that were approved by the Basel Committee in December 2017 (commonly known as the Basel III endgame or as Basel IV). For regulatory capital, the proposed rule would eliminate the effect of the Tailoring Rules by requiring the recognition of most elements of accumulated other comprehensive income and loss and the application of deductions, limitations, and criteria for specified capital investments, minority interests, and TLAC holdings. For each of the risk-based capital ratios, a large banking organization, like Ally, would calculate and be bound by the lower of two alternatives: one version of the ratio based on an expanded risk-based approach prescribed in the proposed rule and one version of the ratio based on the standardized approach as modified by the proposed rule. All capital buffer requirements, including the stress capital buffer requirement, would apply regardless of whether the expanded risk-based approach or the standardized approach produces the lower ratio. Under the expanded risk-based approach, total RWAs would equal the sum of the RWAs for credit risk, equity risk, operational risk, market risk, and CVA risk as set forth in the proposed rule minus any amount of the banking organization's adjusted allowance for credit losses that is not included in Tier 2 capital and any amount of allocated transfer risk reserves. Under the standardized approach, total RWAs would be calculated using the existing rules with a revised methodology for determining RWAs for market risk, and a required application of the standardized approach for counterparty credit risk for derivative exposures. Category IV firms would be further required under the proposed rule to project their risk-based capital ratios under baseline conditions in their capital plans and related reports using the RWA-calculation approach that results in their binding risk-based capital ratios as of the start of the projection horizon. The proposed rule also would roll back additional elements of the Tailoring Rules by applying to Category IV firms the supplementary leverage ratio, the countercyclical capital buffer, and enhanced public disclosure and reporting requirements. Under the proposed rule, a three-year transition period from July 1, 2025, to June 30, 2028, would apply to the recognition of accumulated other comprehensive income and loss in regulatory capital and the use of the expanded risk-based approach. The phase-in of accumulated other comprehensive income and loss is expected to significantly affect our levels of regulatory capital. While we believe that this would be manageable, we also anticipate that our levels of regulatory capital would need to be gradually increased in advance of and during the proposed transition period. As for the proposed changes to RWAs, while we continue to evaluate the effects of individual provisions and the interplay among them as well as potential management actions in response, the impact is not currently expected to be significant in the aggregate if the proposed rule were adopted in its existing form. Since the proposed rule was issued, we have been engaged with research and advocacy groups to inform the rulemaking process and better understand the impacts of the proposed rule on banking organizations of various sizes and complexities—as well as the competitive environment more broadly—and likewise encourage the U.S. banking agencies to closely study these impacts and their wider implications.

In August 2023, the U.S. banking agencies issued a proposed rule to improve the resolvability of Category IV firms, like Ally. The proposed rule would require Category II, III, and IV firms, their large consolidated banks, and other institutions to issue and maintain minimum amounts of eligible long-term debt in an amount that is the greater of (i) 6 percent of total RWAs, (ii) 3.5 percent of average total consolidated assets, and (iii) 2.5 percent of total leverage exposure. CIDIIs, like Ally Bank, that are consolidated subsidiaries of covered entities, like Ally, would be required to issue eligible long-term debt internally to a company that consolidates the CIDI, which would in turn be required to purchase that long-term debt. Only long-term debt instruments that are most readily able to absorb losses in a resolution proceeding would qualify, and the operations of covered entities would be subject to clean-holding-company requirements such as prohibitions and limitations on their liabilities to unaffiliated entities. Under the proposed rule, a transition period would apply with 25, 50, and 100 percent of the long-term-debt requirements coming into effect by the end of the first, second, and third years, respectively, after finalization of the rule. We are still assessing the impact of this proposed rule but, due to the current structure and amount of debt instruments issued by Ally and Ally Bank, we expect it to significantly affect us.

Whether and when final rules related to these proposals may be adopted and take effect, as well as what changes to the proposed rules may be reflected in any final rules after public comments are considered, remain unclear. Also, beyond these proposed rules, more stringent and less tailored liquidity, stress-testing, and other standards for Category IV firms, like Ally, may be forthcoming, including those that may reinstate the LCR, require more rigorous liquidity stress testing, and return Ally to supervisory stress testing on an annual cycle.

In June 2024, the FDIC issued a final rule that requires each CIDI with $100 billion or more in total assets, like Ally Bank, to submit a full resolution plan with an identified strategy from the point of their failure to disposition of substantially all of the CIDI's assets and operations through wind-down, liquidation, divestiture, or other return to the private sector. Under the final rule, the CIDI must utilize as its identified strategy the formation or stabilization of a bridge depository institution that continues operations through the completion of the CIDI's resolution and exit unless the CIDI demonstrates why another strategy is more appropriate based upon its size, complexity, and risk profile. All CIDIIs are required to demonstrate capabilities to carry out the sale of the CIDI and its assets. Such capabilities include the capability to maintain continuity of critical services, the capability to produce valuations needed in assessing the resolution strategy that is least costly to the FDIC's deposit insurance fund, and the capability to establish a virtual due diligence data room promptly in the run-up to or upon failure of the CIDI to support the ability of the FDIC to market and execute a timely sale or disposition of the CIDI and its assets. Each CIDI's resolution plan will also be subject to additional requirements, including those related to the underlying failure scenario assumptions, resolution plan content, and FDIC reviews of the resolution plan under the final rule. CIDIIs not affiliated with U.S. global systemically important banking organizations are subject to a triennial submission cycle in which a full resolution plan is required to be submitted once every three years, with interim supplements due in non-submission years. The final rule became effective on October 1, 2024. Ally Bank will be required to submit its initial interim supplement on or before July 1, 2025 and a full resolution plan on or before July 1, 2026 under the final rule. Refer to Note 18 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information.

In August 2024, Moody's upgraded our outlook from Negative to Stable. Previously in August 2023, citing macroeconomic trends impacting the banking industry, such as increased costs of funding and rapid tightening in monetary policy, Moody's downgraded the credit ratings of a number of banks. Additionally, Moody's downgraded the outlook of a number of banks, including Ally, where the outlook was lowered from Stable to Negative. Refer to the section below titled Credit Ratings for additional information.

On November 16, 2023, the FDIC finalized a rule that imposes a special assessment to recover the costs to the DIF resulting from the FDIC's use, in March 2023, of the systemic risk exception to the least-cost resolution test under the FDI Act in connection with the receiverships of SVB and Signature. The FDIC estimated in approving the rule that those assessed losses total approximately $16.3 billion. The rule provides that this loss estimate will be periodically adjusted, which will affect the amount of the special assessment. Under the rule, the assessment base is the estimated uninsured deposits that an IDI reported in its Consolidated Reports of Condition and Income ("Call Report") at December 31, 2022, excluding the first $5 billion in estimated uninsured deposits. The special assessments will be collected at an annual rate of approximately 13.4 basis points per year (3.36 basis points per quarter) over eight quarters in 2024 and 2025, with the first assessment period beginning January 1, 2024. Because the estimated loss pursuant to the systemic risk determination will be periodically adjusted, the FDIC retains the ability to cease collection early, extend the special assessment collection period, and impose a final shortfall special assessment on a one-time basis. Ally expects the special assessments to be tax deductible. The total of the assessments for Ally, based on Ally Bank's uninsured deposits as of December 31, 2022, was estimated at $38 million as of December 31, 2023. During the first quarter of 2024, the FDIC increased the estimated assessed losses to $20.4 billion. As a result, we increased our special assessment estimate by $10 million during the three months ended March 31, 2024, to a total of $48 million at March 31, 2024. During the second quarter of 2024, the FDIC decreased the estimated assessed losses to $19.2 billion. Additionally, the special assessment collection period was updated to include two additional quarters, resulting in a total collection period of ten quarters beginning in the second quarter of 2024. The special assessment will be collected at an annual rate of approximately 13.4 basis points per year (3.36 basis points per quarter) over the first eight quarters and approximately 9.4 basis points per year (2.34 basis points per quarter) over the last two quarters. In June 2024, the FDIC invoiced Ally Bank for the first installment of the FDIC special assessment and included the total expected amount to be invoiced over the ten quarter period of $45 million. As a result, our FDIC special assessment liability decreased $8 million during the second quarter of 2024, of which $3 million was recognized as a reduction to other operating expense, and $5 million was paid to the FDIC in June of 2024 for our first installment. As of June 30, 2024, our FDIC special assessment liability was $40 million. During the third quarter of 2024, the FDIC updated the annual rate to be applied over the last two quarters of the collection period from 9.4 basis points per year (2.34 basis points per quarter) to 7.6 basis points per year (1.90 basis points per quarter). Additionally, we paid our second installment to the FDIC in September of 2024. As of September 30, 2024, our FDIC special assessment liability was $35 million.

Deposits

Ally Bank is a digital direct bank with no branch network that obtains retail deposits directly from customers. We offer competitive rates and fees on a full spectrum of retail deposit products, including savings accounts, money-market demand accounts, CDs, interest-bearing spending accounts, trust accounts, and IRAs. Our primary funding source is retail deposits, which we believe, at scale, are the most efficient and stable source of funding for us when compared to other funding sources. Retail deposits constituted 83% of our total on-balance-sheet funding sources at September 30, 2024. Total deposits, which include brokered deposits obtained through third-party intermediaries, constituted 89% of total on-balance-sheet funding at September 30, 2024.

Total uninsured deposits as calculated per regulatory guidance includes affiliate and intercompany deposits, which we believe have different risk profiles than other uninsured deposits. The amounts presented below remove affiliate and intercompany deposits from total uninsured deposits. We believe that the presentation of uninsured deposits adjusted for the impact of the affiliate deposits provides enhanced clarity of uninsured deposits at risk.

(a) Other deposits include mortgage escrow deposits. Other deposits also include a deposit related to Ally Invest customer cash balances deposited at Ally Bank by a third party of $1.2 billion as of both September 30, 2024, and June 30, 2024, and $1.3 billion as of each of the periods ended March 31, 2024, December 31, 2023, and September 30, 2023.

During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, our total deposit base decreased $2.7 billion, and we added approximately 215,000 retail deposit customers, ending with approximately 3.3 million retail deposit customers as of September 30, 2024. Total retail deposits decreased $816 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2024, bringing the total retail deposits portfolio to $141.4 billion as of September 30, 2024. During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, we proactively implemented pricing actions to reduce rates paid on several of our key deposit product offerings which contributed to lower overall retail deposit balances. We maintain a relentless focus on customer experience and competitive rates. The decrease during the nine months ended September 30, 2024, was also driven by an outflow of deposit balances from existing customers related to tax payments. Brokered deposits decreased $1.9 billion during the nine months ended September 30, 2024. During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, our CD deposit liabilities decreased $5.3 billion while our savings, money market, and spending account deposit liabilities increased $2.5 billion. This trend was primarily due to customer migration to liquid savings as fixed-rate CD maturities occurred during the nine months ended September 30, 2024. Overall, strong customer acquisition and retention rates continue to deliver a favorable funding mix.

Following the failures of SVB and Signature, we briefly experienced elevated two-way deposit flows. Uninsured deposit outflows were more than offset by inflows from new and existing customers. Approximately 92% of retail deposits at Ally Bank, excluding affiliate and intercompany deposits, were FDIC-insured as of September 30, 2024. Our total available liquidity exceeded our uninsured retail deposit liabilities by $56.8 billion as of September 30, 2024.

We continue to advance our digital capabilities and deliver incremental value to our retail deposit customers beyond competitive rates and low fees. Notably, our digital tools (e.g. Savings & Spend Buckets) improve the digital banking experience across the entire customer journey, and additional account features like CoverDraft and early direct deposit further bolster our "Do It Right" commitment for our customers.

We continue to be recognized for the totality of experience and value we provide our customers. For the second consecutive year, Wall Street Journal's BuySide named Ally as the "Best Online Bank". Additionally, MONEY® Magazine named Ally to its "Best Online Bank" list for the seventh consecutive year, as well as the twelfth time in the past fourteen years. Most recently, Ally has been recognized on Fortune Recommends "Best Online Banks" list for 2024 in addition to being named "Best Bank" and "Best Bank for CDs" by Nerdwallet. Bankrate also named Ally as "Best Bank Overall", "Best Online Bank", "Best CD", and "Best Checking Account". Most recently, Fox Business included Ally on its list of Top 10 Banks for Customer Service. Securitizations and Secured Financings

In addition to building a larger deposit base in recent years, we maintain a presence in the securitization markets to finance our automotive loan portfolios. Securitizations and secured funding transactions, collectively referred to as securitization transactions due to their similarities, allow us to convert our automotive finance receivables into cash earlier than what would have occurred in the normal course of business. For additional details surrounding our securitization activities, refer to the section titled Liquidity Management, Funding, and Regulatory Capital in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

These securitization transactions may meet the criteria to be accounted for as off-balance-sheet securitization transactions if we do not hold a potentially significant economic interest or do not provide servicing or asset management functions for the financial assets held by the securitization entity. Our securitization transactions may not meet the required criteria to be accounted for as off-balance-sheet securitization transactions; therefore, they are accounted for as secured borrowings. For information regarding our off-balance sheet arrangements and securitization activities, refer to Note 1 and Note 10 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, we raised $1.9 billion through the completion of two term securitization transactions backed by consumer automotive loans. As a result of one of the sales, we deconsolidated $1.1 billion of consumer automotive loans from our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. In connection with this transaction, we reduced our allowance for loan losses by approximately $15 million through provision for credit losses, and recognized no additional gain or loss on the sale. The second transaction, accounted for as a secured borrowing, resulted in $777 million of funding.

During the nine months ended September 30, 2024, we raised $330 million through the issuance of credit-linked notes. The proceeds from this issuance constitute prefunded credit protection for mezzanine tranches of the reference portfolio and are recognized as restricted cash and cash equivalents in other assets on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. This transaction is structured to enable us to apply the securitization framework under U.S. Basel III when determining RWA for our retained exposure.

We have access to funding through advances with the FHLB. These advances are primarily secured by consumer and commercial mortgage finance receivables and loans and investment securities. As of September 30, 2024, we had pledged $27.0 billion of assets to the FHLB resulting in $18.7 billion in total funding capacity with $6.2 billion of debt outstanding.

At September 30, 2024, $66.9 billion of our total assets were restricted as collateral for the payment of debt obligations accounted for as secured borrowings. Refer to Note 13 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further discussion.

Unsecured Financings

We have long-term unsecured debt outstanding from retail term note programs. These programs are composed of callable fixed-rate instruments with fixed maturity dates. There were $860 million of retail term notes outstanding at September 30, 2024. Refer to Note 13 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information about our outstanding long-term unsecured debt.

Other Secured and Unsecured Short-term Borrowings

We have access to repurchase agreements. A repurchase agreement is a transaction in which the firm sells financial instruments to a buyer, typically in exchange for cash, and simultaneously enters into an agreement to repurchase the same or substantially the same financial instruments from the buyer at a stated price plus accrued interest at a future date. The securities sold in repurchase agreements include U.S. government and federal agency obligations. As of September 30, 2024, we had $371 million debt outstanding under repurchase agreements.

Additionally, we have access to the FRB Discount Window and can borrow funds to meet short-term liquidity demands. The FRB, however, is not a primary source of funding for day-to-day business. Instead, it is a liquidity source that can be accessed in stressed environments or periods of market disruption. As of September 30, 2024, we had assets pledged and restricted as collateral to the FRB totaling $33.9 billion, resulting in $26.7 billion in total funding capacity with no debt outstanding.

Guaranteed Securities

Certain senior notes (collectively, the Guaranteed Notes) issued by Ally Financial Inc. (referred to within this section as the Parent) are unconditionally guaranteed on a joint and several basis by IB Finance, a subsidiary of the Parent and the direct parent of Ally Bank, and Ally US LLC, a subsidiary of the Parent (together, the Guarantors, and the guarantee provided by each such Guarantor, the Note Guarantees). The Guarantors are primary obligors with respect to payment when due, whether at maturity, by acceleration or otherwise, of all payment obligations of the Parent in respect of the Guaranteed Notes pursuant to the terms of the applicable indenture. At both September 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023, the outstanding principal balance of the Guaranteed Notes was $2.0 billion, with the last scheduled maturity to take place in 2031.

The Note Guarantees rank equally in right of payment with the applicable Guarantor's existing and future unsubordinated unsecured indebtedness and are subordinate to any secured indebtedness of the applicable Guarantor to the extent of the value of the assets securing such indebtedness. The Note Guarantees are structurally subordinate to indebtedness and other liabilities (including trade payables and lease obligations, and in the case of Ally Bank, its deposits) of any non-guarantor subsidiaries of the applicable Guarantor to the extent of the value of the assets of such subsidiaries.

The Note Guarantees and all other obligations of the Guarantors will terminate and be of no further force or effect (i) upon a permissible sale, disposition, or other transfer (including through merger or consolidation) of a majority of the equity interests (including any sale, disposition or other transfer following which the applicable Guarantor is no longer a subsidiary of the Parent), of the applicable Guarantor, or (ii) upon the discharge of the Parent's obligations related to the Guaranteed Notes.

The following tables present summarized financial data for the Parent and the Guarantors on a combined basis. The Guarantors, both of which the Parent is deemed to possess control over, are fully consolidated after eliminating intercompany balances and transactions. Summarized financial data for nonguarantor subsidiaries is excluded.

Cash Flows

The following summarizes the activity reflected in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows. While this information may be helpful to highlight certain macro trends and business strategies, the cash flow analysis may not be as helpful when analyzing changes in our net earnings and net assets. We believe that in addition to the traditional cash flow analysis, the discussion related to liquidity, dividends, and ALM herein may provide more useful context in evaluating our liquidity position and related activity.

Net cash provided by operating activities was $3.9 billion and $4.7 billion for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, and 2023, respectively. The change was primarily due to non-cash activities, including a $462 million decrease in the net change in interest payable, a $210 million decrease in the net change in other assets, and a $182 million decrease in the net change in other liabilities. This was partially offset by a $79 million increase in net cash inflows related to loans held-for-sale activity. Refer to the Consolidated Results of Operations section of this MD&A for further discussion.

Net cash provided by investing activities was $3.5 billion for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, and net cash used in investing activities was $4.2 billion for the nine months ended September 30, 2023. The change was primarily due to a $5.7 billion increase in net cash inflows related to loans held-for-investment activity and a $2.0 billion increase in net cash inflows related to proceeds from the sale of Ally Lending.

Net cash used in financing activities was $5.5 billion for the nine months ended September 30, 2024, and net cash provided by financing activities was $2.4 billion for the same period in 2023. The change was primarily attributable to a decrease in net cash inflows of $3.3 billion from deposits, a decrease in proceeds from issuance of long-term debt of $2.0 billion, an increase in net cash outflows from the net change in short-term borrowings of $1.5 billion, and a $1.1 billion increase in net cash outflows from repayments of long-term debt.

Capital Planning and Stress Tests

Under the Tailoring Rules, we are generally subject to supervisory stress testing on a two-year cycle and exempted from mandated company-run capital stress testing requirements. We are also required to submit an annual capital plan to the FRB. Our annual capital plan must include an assessment of our expected uses and sources of capital and a description of all planned capital actions over a nine-quarter planning horizon, including any issuance of a debt or equity capital instrument, any dividend or other capital distribution, and any similar action that the FRB determines could have an impact on our capital. The plan must also include a detailed description of our process for assessing capital adequacy, including a discussion of how we, under expected and stressful conditions, will maintain capital commensurate with our risks and above the minimum regulatory capital ratios, will serve as a source of strength to Ally Bank, and will maintain sufficient capital to continue our operations by maintaining ready access to funding, meeting our obligations to creditors and other counterparties, and continuing to serve as a credit intermediary.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

The Tailoring Rules align capital planning, supervisory stress testing, and stress capital buffer requirements for large banking organizations, like Ally. As a Category IV firm, Ally is expected to have the ability to elect to participate in the supervisory stress test—and receive a correspondingly updated stress capital buffer requirement—in a year in which Ally would not generally be subject to the supervisory stress test. Refer to the section titled Basel Capital Framework in Note 18 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further discussion about our stress capital buffer requirements. During a year in which Ally does not undergo a supervisory stress test, we would receive an updated stress capital buffer requirement only to reflect our updated planned common-stock dividends. Ally did not elect to participate in the 2023 supervisory stress test, but was subject to the 2024 supervisory stress test.

We received an updated preliminary stress capital buffer requirement based on our 2022 capital plan submission from the FRB in June 2022, which was determined to be 2.5% and reflected a decline of 100 basis points relative to our prior requirement. The updated 2.5% stress capital buffer requirement was finalized in August 2022 and became effective in October 2022. We submitted our 2023 capital plan to the FRB in April 2023, and received an updated preliminary stress capital buffer requirement in June 2023 that remained unchanged at 2.5%. The 2.5% stress capital buffer requirement was finalized in July 2023 and became effective in October 2023. We submitted our 2024 capital plan to the FRB in April 2024. Ally received an updated preliminary stress capital buffer requirement from the FRB in June 2024, which was determined to be 2.6%. The updated 2.6% stress capital buffer requirement was finalized in August 2024, and became effective in October 2024.

In February 2023, we accessed the unsecured debt capital markets and issued $500 million of additional subordinated notes, which qualify as Tier 2 capital for Ally under U.S. Basel III. In June 2024, we accessed the debt capital markets and issued $330 million of credit-linked notes based on a reference portfolio of $3.0 billion of consumer automotive loans. The proceeds from this issuance constitute prefunded credit protection for mezzanine tranches of the reference portfolio and are recognized as restricted cash and cash equivalents in other assets on our Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. This transaction is structured to enable us to apply the securitization framework under U.S. Basel III when determining RWA for our retained exposure.

Our ability to make capital distributions, including our ability to pay dividends or repurchase shares of our common stock, will continue to be subject to the FRB's review and our internal governance requirements, including approval by our Board. The amount and size of any future dividends and share repurchases also will be subject to various factors, including Ally's capital and liquidity positions, accounting and regulatory considerations (including any restrictions that may be imposed by the FRB and any changes to capital, liquidity, and other regulatory requirements that may be proposed or adopted by the U.S. banking agencies), the taxation of share repurchases, financial and operational performance, alternative uses of capital, common-stock price, and general market conditions, and may be extended, modified, or discontinued at any time.

- (a) Tier 1 leverage ratio equals Tier 1 capital divided by adjusted quarterly average total assets, which both reflect adjustments for disallowed goodwill, certain intangible assets, and disallowed deferred tax assets.
- (b) We elected to delay recognizing the estimated impact of CECL on regulatory capital until after a two-year deferral period, which for us extended through December 31, 2021. Beginning on January 1, 2022, we phased in 25% of the previously deferred estimated capital impact of CECL, with an additional 25% to be phased in at the beginning of each subsequent year until fully phased in by the first quarter of 2025. Refer to Note 18 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further information.
- (c) Refer to Note 15 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional details about our non-cumulative perpetual preferred stock.
- (d) Contains deferred tax assets required to be deducted from capital under U.S. Basel III.
- (e) Comprises adjustments related to our accumulated other comprehensive income opt-out election, which allows us to exclude most elements of accumulated other comprehensive income from regulatory capital.
- (f) Risk-weighted assets are defined by regulation and are generally determined by allocating assets and specified off-balance sheet exposures to various risk categories.

Credit Ratings

The cost and availability of unsecured financing are influenced by credit ratings, which are intended to be an indicator of the creditworthiness of a particular company, security, or obligation. Lower ratings result in higher borrowing costs and reduced access to capital markets. This is particularly true for certain institutional investors whose investment guidelines require investment-grade ratings on term debt and the two highest rating categories for short-term debt (particularly money-market investors).

Management's Discussion and Analysis

Ally Financial Inc. • Form 10-Q

Nationally recognized statistical rating organizations rate substantially all our debt. The following table summarizes our current ratings and outlook by the respective nationally recognized rating agencies.

Rating agency	Short-term	Senior unsecured debt	Outlook
Fitch (a)	F3	BBB-	Stable
Moody's (b)	P-3	Baa3	Stable
S&P (c)	A-3	BBB-	Stable
DBRS (d)	R-2 (high)	BBB	Stable

- (a) Fitch affirmed our senior unsecured debt rating of BBB-, short-term rating of F3, and affirmed the outlook of Stable on March 8, 2024.
- (b) Moody's affirmed our senior unsecured rating of Baa3, affirmed our short-term rating of P-3, and changed our outlook to Stable from Negative on August 8, 2024.
- (c) Standard & Poor's affirmed our senior unsecured debt rating of BBB-, affirmed our short-term rating of A-3, and changed our outlook to Stable from Negative on March 25, 2021.
- (d) DBRS affirmed our senior unsecured debt rating of BBB, affirmed our short-term rating of R-2 (high), and affirmed our outlook of Stable on February 15, 2024.

As illustrated by the issuer ratings above, as of September 30, 2024, Ally holds an investment-grade rating from all the respective nationally recognized rating agencies.

Rating agencies indicate that they base their ratings on many quantitative and qualitative factors, which may include capital adequacy, liquidity, asset quality, business mix, level and quality of earnings, and the current operating, legislative, and regulatory environment. Rating agencies themselves could make or be required to make substantial changes to their ratings policies and practices—particularly in response to legislative and regulatory changes. Potential changes in rating methodology, as well as in the legislative and regulatory environment, and the timing of those changes could impact our ratings, which as noted above could increase our borrowing costs and reduce our access to capital.

A credit rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell, or hold securities, and the ratings are subject to revision or withdrawal at any time by the assigning rating agency. Each rating should be evaluated independently of any other rating.

Critical Accounting Estimates

We identified critical accounting estimates that, as a result of judgments, uncertainties, uniqueness, and complexities of the underlying accounting standards and operations involved could result in material changes to our financial condition, results of operations, or cash flows under different conditions or using different assumptions.

Our most critical accounting estimates are as follows:

- Allowance for loan losses
- Valuation of automotive lease assets and residuals
- Fair value of financial instruments
- Determination of provision for income taxes

During the second quarter of 2024, we updated our reasonable and supportable forecast period for our allowance for loan losses from 12 months to 24 months, and our reversion period from 24 months to 12 months. This refinement to our estimation process represents a change in accounting estimate, with prospective application beginning in the period of change. The impact of this refinement to our estimation process was offset by an adjustment in the qualitative portion of our allowance. The use of a longer-duration reasonable and supportable macroeconomic forecast period to produce the modeled portion of our allowance for loan losses is expected to further improve model performance. Refer to Note 1 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for additional information.

We did not substantively change any material aspect of our methodologies and processes used in developing any of the estimates described above from what was described in the Consolidated Financial Statements in our 2023 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Refer to Note 1 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further discussion regarding the methodology used in calculating the provision for income taxes for interim financial reporting.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures

We maintain disclosure controls and procedures, as defined in Rule 13a-15(e) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the Exchange Act), designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed in reports filed under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized, and reported within the specified time periods. Our disclosure controls and procedures are also designed to ensure that information required to be disclosed in the reports we file and submit under the Exchange Act is accumulated and communicated to management, including our Chief Executive Officer (Principal Executive Officer) and Chief Financial Officer (Principal Financial Officer), to allow for timely decisions regarding required disclosure. There are inherent limitations to the effectiveness of any system of internal control including the possibility of human error or the circumvention or overriding of controls through individual actions or collusion. A control system, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable, not absolute, assurance that the control system's objectives will be met.

As of the end of the period covered by this report, our Principal Executive Officer and Principal Financial Officer evaluated, with the participation of our management, the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rule 13a-15(e) under the Exchange Act) and concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures were effective.

Changes in Internal Control over Financial Reporting

In the normal course of business, we review our controls and procedures and make enhancements or modifications intended to support the quality of our financial reporting. There were no changes in our internal control over financial reporting (as defined in Rule 13a-15(f) of the Exchange Act) that occurred during the quarter ended September 30, 2024, that have materially affected, or were reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.
