Forward-Looking Statements

This discussion of financial results includes forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, (the "1933 Act") and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, (the "1934 Act"). Those sections of the 1933 Act and 1934 Act provide a "safe harbor" for forward-looking statements to encourage companies to provide prospective information about their financial performance so long as they provide meaningful, cautionary statements identifying important factors that could cause actual results to differ significantly from projected results. Our forward-looking statements include descriptions of plans or objectives of management for future operations, products or services, and forecasts of revenues, earnings or other measures of economic performance. Forward-looking statements can be identified by the fact that they do not relate strictly to historical or current facts. They often include the words "believe," "expect," "intend," "estimate" or words of similar meaning, or future or conditional verbs preceded by "will," "would," "should," "could" or "may." Forward-looking statements are based on management's current expectations regarding economic, legislative, and regulatory issues that may affect our earnings in future periods. Factors that could cause future results to vary materially from current management expectations include, but are not limited to, general economic conditions and the economic uncertainty in the United States and abroad, including economic or other disruptions to financial markets caused by the Trump administration's approach to tariffs and trade, acts of terrorism, war, impacts from inflation, supply chain disruptions, changes in interest rates (including the actions taken by the Federal Reserve to control inflation), California's unemployment rate, deposit flows, real estate values, and expected future cash flows on loans and securities; the impact of adverse developments at other banks, including bank failures, that impact general sentiment regarding the stability and liquidity of banks; costs or effects of acquisitions; competition; changes in accounting principles, policies or guidelines; changes in legislation or regulation; natural disasters (such as wildfires and earthquakes in our area); adverse weather conditions; interruptions of utility service in our markets for sustained periods; and other economic, competitive, governmental, regulatory and technological factors (including external fraud and cybersecurity threats) affecting our operations, pricing, products and services; and successful integration of acquisitions. These and other important factors detailed in various securities law filings made periodically by Bancorp, copies of which are available from us at no charge. Forward-looking statements speak only as of the date they are made. Bancorp undertakes no obligation to release publicly the result of any revisions to these forward-looking statements that may be made to reflect events or circumstances that occur after the date of this press release or to reflect the occurrence of unanticipated events.

Third Quarter 2025 Overview

Highlights

- Tax-equivalent net interest margin increased to 3.08% from 2.93%, driven by the repositioning of securities in Q2 (13bp impact, as anticipated) and higher average interest-earning assets, strongly impacted by deposit growth
- Net income and diluted EPS for Q3 was $7.5 million and $0.47, respectively
- 28% improvement in sequential quarter pre-tax pre-provision net income
- Originated $100.7 million in new loans ($69.0 million funded) including $85.3 million in commercial loans ($65.4 million funded) in Q3
- Non-accrual and classified loans to total loans at year-to-date low for 2025

Capital

- Strong capital allowed for the repurchase of $1.1 million in shares in Q3 at prices below tangible book value
- Bancorp total risk-based capital remained strong at 16.13%
- Bancorp TCE / TA of 9.7%, and 8.2% when adjusted for HTM securities¹

Key Operating Trends

- Tax-equivalent yield on interest-earning assets increased 17 basis points in Q3 over Q2 to 4.27% resulting from higher average balances on cash at the Fed and higher yields on both loans and investment securities
- Total cost of deposits increased 1bp at 1.29% (interest-bearing 2.24%) for Q3
- Spot rate at 9/30/25 of 1.25% (interest-bearing 2.18%) declined from 6/30/25 of 1.29% (interest-bearing 2.24%)
- Book value per share was $27.57 and tangible book value per share¹ was $22.92

Deposits and Liquidity

- Total deposits increased $137.5 million, primarily due to inflows from existing relationships combined with new relationships
- Non-interest bearing deposits remained a strong 43.1% of total deposits
- Immediately available net funding of $2.0 billion, representing 202% coverage of estimated uninsured deposits

Credit Quality

- No provision for credit losses in Q3 or the prior quarter
- Non-accrual loans decreased to 1.51% of total loans from 1.57% in the prior quarter
- Classified loans decreased to 2.36% of total loans in Q3 from 2.95% of total loans in Q2 largely due to upgrades of two commercial real estate loans totaling $9.1 million

Net Interest Margin Drivers

- Linked-quarter NIM increased 15 bps due primarily to higher interest earning assets and higher securities yields, largely due to the effects of the 2Q'25 AFS securities restructuring, contributing 13bps to annualized NIM
- Although loan yields rose, the average balance decrease resulted in a negative impact to the quarterly change in NIM
- The Bank began deposit rate cuts in August '24 and continues making strategic pricing adjustments into 3Q'25, however there was some significant deposit expansion within existing customers' interest-bearing accounts influencing the slight increase in cost of deposits this quarter
- 3Q'25 non-maturity interest-bearing deposit modeling assumptions use average betas of 45% for rising rates (no lag) and 34% for falling rates (no lag)
- Our cycle-to-date non-maturity interest-bearing deposit beta was 35% as of 3Q'25
