Exhibits 46 Â Â Â SIGNATURES 47 Â i Â Â CAUTIONARY NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS Â This Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q (the â€œReportâ€), including, without limitation, statements under the heading â€œManagementâ€™s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations,â€ includes forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the â€œSecurities Actâ€), and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the â€œExchange Actâ€). These forward-looking statements can be identified by the use of forward-looking terminology, including the words â€œbelieves,â€ â€œestimates,â€ â€œanticipates,â€ â€œexpects,â€ â€œintends,â€ â€œplans,â€ â€œmay,â€ â€œwill,â€ â€œpotential,â€ â€œprojects,â€ â€œpredicts,â€ â€œcontinues,â€ or â€œshould,â€ or, in each case, their negative or other variations or comparable terminology. There can be no assurance that actual results will not materially differ from expectations. Such statements include, but are not limited to, any statements relating to our ability to consummate any acquisition or other business combination and any other statements that are not statements of current or historical facts. These statements are based on managementâ€™s current expectations, but actual results may differ materially due to various factors, including, but not limited to: Â â—our goals and strategies, including our ability to maintain our automobile transaction and related services business and our online ride-hailing platform services business in China; Â â—our managementâ€™s ability to properly develop and achieve any future business growth and any improvements in our financial condition and results of operations; Â â—the regulations and the impact by public health epidemics in China on the industries we operate in and our business, results of operations and financial condition; Â â—the growth or lack of growth in China of disposable household income and the availability and cost of credit available to finance car purchases; Â â—the growth or lack of growth of Chinaâ€™s online ride-hailing, automobile financing and leasing industries; Â â—changes in online ride-hailing, transportation networks, and other fundamental changes in transportation pattern in China; Â â—our expectations regarding demand for and market acceptance of our products and services; Â â—our expectations regarding our customer base; Â â—our ability to maintain positive relationships with our business partners; Â â—competition in the online ride-hailing, automobile financing and leasing industries in China; Â â—macro-economic and political conditions affecting the global economy generally and the market in China specifically; and Â â—relevant Chinese government policies and regulations relating to the industries in which we operate. Â You should read this Report and the documents that we refer to in this Report with the understanding that our actual future results may be materially different from and worse than what we expect. Other sections of this Report and our other reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the â€œSECâ€) include additional factors which could adversely impact our business and financial performance. Moreover, we operate in an evolving environment. New risk factors and uncertainties emerge from time to time and it is not possible for our management to predict all risk factors and uncertainties, nor can we assess the impact of all factors on our business or the extent to which any factor, or combination of factors, may cause actual results to differ materially from those contained in any forward-looking statements. We qualify all of our forward-looking statements by these cautionary statements. Â You should not rely upon forward-looking statements as predictions of future events. We undertake no obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise. Â This Report also contains statistical data and estimates that we obtained from industry publications and reports generated by third-parties. Although we have not independently verified the data, we believe that the publications and reports are reliable. The market data contained in this Report involves a number of assumptions, estimates and limitations. The ride-hailing and automobile financing markets in China may not grow at the rates projected by market data, or at all. The failure of these markets to grow at the projected rates may have a material adverse effect on our business and the market price of our common stock. If any one or more of the assumptions underlying the market data turns out to be incorrect, actual results may differ from the projections based on these assumptions. In addition, projections, assumptions and estimates of our future performance and the future performance of the industries in which we operate are necessarily subject to a high degree of uncertainty and risk due to a variety of factors, including those described herein or our other reports filed with the SEC. You should not place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements. Â ii Â Â PART I â€“ FINANCIAL INFORMATION Â Item 1. Â Hunan Ruixi holds a business license for automobile sales and financial leasing and has beenÂ engaged in automobile financial leasing services and automobile sales since March 2019 and JanuaryÂ 2019, respectively. The Company also has been engaged in operating leasing services through Hunan Ruixi, Jiekai and its equity investee company, Jinkailong since March 2019. Jinkailong used to facilitate automobile sales and financing transactions for its clients, who are primarily ride-hailing drivers and provides them operating lease and relevant after-transaction services. Â As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, Senmiao Consulting has made a cumulative capital contribution of RMB40.30Â million (approximately $5.55Â million) to XXTX. As of June 30, 2024, XXTX hadÂ sevenÂ wholly owned subsidiaries andÂ twoÂ of them have operations. Â The following diagram illustrates the Companyâ€™s corporate structure as of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements: Â Â Former Voting Agreements with Jinkailongâ€™s Other Shareholders Â Hunan Ruixi entered into two voting agreements signed in August 2018 and February 2020, respectively, as amended (the â€œVoting Agreementsâ€), with Jinkailong and other Jinkailongâ€™s shareholders holding an aggregate ofÂ 65% equity interests. Pursuant to the Voting Agreements, all other Jinkailongâ€™s shareholders will vote in concert with Hunan Ruixi on all fundamental corporate transactions in the event of a disagreement for periods ofÂ 20Â yearsÂ andÂ 18Â years, respectively, ending on AugustÂ 25, 2038.Â 5 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â On March 31, 2022, Hunan Ruixi entered into an Agreement for the Termination of the Agreement for Concerted Action by Shareholders of Jinkailong (the â€œTermination Agreementâ€), pursuant to which the Voting Agreements mentioned above was terminated as of the date of the Termination Agreement. The termination will not impair the past and future legitimate rights and interests of all parties in Jinkailong. Starting from April 1, 2022, the parties no longer maintain a concerted action relationship with respect to the decision required to take concerted action at its shareholders meetings as stipulated in the Voting Agreements. Each party shall independently express opinions and exercise various rights such as voting rights and perform relevant obligations in accordance with the provisions of laws, regulations, normative documents and the Jinkailongâ€™s articles of association. Â As a result of the Termination Agreement, the Company no longer has a controlling financial interest in Jinkailong and has determined that Jinkailong was deconsolidated from the Companyâ€™s Unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements effective as of March 31, 2022. However, as Hunan Ruixi still holdsÂ 35% equity interests in Jinkailong, Jinkailong is the equity investee company of the Company since then. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the paid-in capital of Jinkailong is zero. Â As of June 30, 2024, the Company has outstanding balance due from Jinkailong amounted to $3,088,018, net of allowance for credit losses, of which, $2,922,894 is to be repaid over a period from July 2025 toÂ DecemberÂ 2026, classified as due from a related party, net, non-current. As of March 31, 2024, the Company has outstanding balance due from Jinkailong amounted to $3,245,907, net of allowance for credit losses, of which, $2,747,313 is to be repaid over a period from April 2025 to December 2026, classified as due from a related party, net, non-current. (refer to Note 17). Â As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, allowance for credit losses due from Jinkailong amounted to $3,252,513 and $3,099,701, respectively. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company recorded provision for credit losses against the balance due from Jinkailong of $173,441 and $127,073, respectively. Â 2.Â GOING CONCERN Â In assessing the Companyâ€™s liquidity, the Company monitors and analyzes its cash on-hand and its operating and capital expenditure commitments. The Companyâ€™s liquidity needs are to meet its working capital requirements, operating expenses and capital expenditure obligations. Debt financing from financial institutions and equity financings have been utilized to finance the working capital requirements of the Company. Â The Companyâ€™s business is capital intensive. The Companyâ€™s management has considered whether there is substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern due to (1) the net loss of approximately $0.8Â million for the three months ended June 30, 2024; (2) accumulated deficit of approximately $42.1Â million as of June 30, 2024; (3) the working capital deficit of approximately $3.3Â million as of June 30, 2024; and (4) one purchase commitment of approximately $0.9Â million forÂ 100Â automobiles. As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, the Company has entered into one purchase contract with an automobile dealer to purchase a total of 100 automobiles in the amount of approximately $1.5Â million, of which approximately $0.6Â million has been remitted as purchase prepayments. The remaining purchase commitment of approximately $0.9Â million shall be remitted in installment to be completed before March 31, 2025. Â Management has determined there is substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. If the Company is unable to generate significant revenue, the Company may be required to curtail or cease its operations. Management is trying to alleviate the going concern risk through the following sources: Â â—Equity financing to support its working capital; Â â—Other available sources of financing (including debt) from PRC banks and other financial institutions; and Â â—Financial support and credit guarantee commitments from the Companyâ€™s related parties. Â 6 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â There is no assurance that the Company will be successful in implementing the foregoing plans or that additional financing will be available to the Company on commercially reasonable terms, or at all. There are a number of factors that could potentially arise that could undermine the Companyâ€™s plans, such as (i) changes in the demand for the Companyâ€™s services, (ii) PRC government policies, (iii) economic conditions in China and worldwide, (iv) competitive pricing in the automobile transaction and related service and ride-hailing industries, (v) changes in the Companyâ€™s relationships with key business partners, (vi) the ability of financial institutions in China to provide continued financial support to the Companyâ€™s customers, and (vii) the perception of PRC-based companies in the U.S. capital markets. The Companyâ€™s inability to secure needed financing when required could require material changes to the Companyâ€™s business plans and could have a material adverse effect on the Companyâ€™s ability to continue as a going concern and results of operations. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and liquidation of liabilities in the normal course of business. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of such uncertainties. Â 3. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES Â (a) Basis of presentation Â The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, including the unaudited condensed consolidated balance sheets as of June 30, 2024, the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss, the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of changes in equity, and the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of cash flows for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, as well as other information disclosed in the accompanying notes, have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (â€œU.S. GAAPâ€), and pursuant to the rules and regulations of the SEC and pursuant to Regulation S-X. The interim unaudited condensed financial statements and accompanying notes should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements and the notes thereto, included in the Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2024, which was filed with the SEC on June 27, 2024. Â The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and the accompanying notes have been prepared on the same basis as the annual consolidated financial statements and, in the opinion of management, reflect all adjustments, which include only normal recurring adjustments, necessary for a fair statement of the results of operations for the periods presented. The consolidated results of operations for any interim period are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the full year or for any other future years or interim periods. Â (b) Foreign currency translation Â Transactions denominated in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rates prevailing on the dates of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency using the applicable exchange rates on the date of the balance sheet. The resulting exchange differences are recorded in the statement of operations. Â The reporting currency of the Company and its subsidiaries is U.S. dollars (â€œUS$â€) and the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been expressed in US$. However, the Company maintains the books and records in its functional currency, Chinese Renminbi (â€œRMBâ€), being the functional currency of the economic environment in which its operations are conducted. Â In general, for consolidation purposes, assets and liabilities of the Company and its subsidiaries whose functional currency is not the US$, are translated into US$, using the exchange rate on the balance sheet date. Revenues and expenses are translated at average rates prevailing during the period. The gains and losses resulting from translation of financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries are recorded as a separate component of accumulated other comprehensive loss within the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of changes in stockholdersâ€™ equity. Â Translation of amounts from RMB into US$ has been made at the following exchange rates for the respective periods: Â Â Â June 30,Â Â MarchÂ 31,Â Â Â 2024Â Â 2024Â Balance sheet items, except for equity accounts â€“ RMB: US$1:Â Â 7.2672Â Â Â 7.2203Â Â Â Â Â For the three months ended June 30,Â Â Â 2024Â Â 2023Â Items in the statements of operations and comprehensive loss, and cash flows â€“ RMB: US$1:Â Â 7.2410Â Â Â 7.0130Â Â 7 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â (c) Use of estimates Â In presenting the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements in accordance with U.S. GAAP, management makes estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported and related disclosures. Estimates, by their nature, are based on judgment and available information. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates. On an ongoing basis, management reviews these estimates and assumptions using the currently available information. Changes in facts and circumstances may cause the Company to revise its estimates. The Company bases its estimates on past experience and on various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities. Estimates are used when accounting for items and matters including, but not limited to, revenue recognition, residual values of property and equipment, lease liabilities, right-of-use assets, determinations of the useful lives and valuation of long-lived assets, estimates of allowances for credit losses for receivables and due from related parties, estimates of impairment of long-lived assets, valuation of deferred tax assets and valuation of derivative liabilities. Â (d) Fair values of financial instruments Â Accounting Standards Codification (â€œASCâ€) Topic 825, Financial Instruments (â€œTopic 825â€) requires disclosure of fair value information of financial instruments, whether or not recognized in the balance sheets, for which it is practicable to estimate that value. In cases where quoted market prices are not available, fair values are based on estimates using present value or other valuation techniques. Those techniques are significantly affected by the assumptions used, including the discount rate and estimates of future cash flows. Topic 825 excludes certain financial instruments and all nonfinancial assets and liabilities from its disclosure requirements. Accordingly, the aggregate fair value amounts do not represent the underlying value of the Company. The three levels of valuation hierarchy are defined as follows: Â Level 1 Inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or liabilities in active markets. Â Level 2 Inputs to the valuation methodology include quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets, and inputs that are observable for the assets or liability, either directly or indirectly, for substantially the full term of the financial instruments. Â Level 3 Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value. Â The following table sets forth by level within the fair value hierarchy our financial assets and liabilities that were accounted for at fair value on a recurring basis as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024: Â Â Â Carrying Â ValueÂ as ofÂ Â FairÂ ValueÂ MeasurementÂ as ofÂ Â Â June 30,Â Â June 30, 2024Â Â Â 2024Â Â LevelÂ 1Â Â LevelÂ 2Â Â LevelÂ 3Â Â Â (Unaudited)Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Derivative liabilitiesÂ $297,120Â Â $â€”Â Â $â€”Â Â $297,120Â Â Â Â Â Carrying Â ValueÂ as ofÂ Â FairÂ ValueÂ MeasurementÂ as ofÂ Â Â Â March 31,Â Â March 31, 2024Â Â Â 2024Â Â LevelÂ 1Â Â LevelÂ 2Â Â LevelÂ 3Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Derivative liabilitiesÂ $288,833Â Â $â€”Â Â $â€”Â Â $288,833Â Â 8 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â The following is a reconciliation of the beginning and ending balance of the assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis for three months ended June 30, 2024 and for the year ended March 31, 2024: Â Â Â 2019 Registered Direct OfferingÂ Â August 2020 Underwritten PublicÂ Â February 2021 Registered DirectÂ Â May 2021 Registered Direct OfferingÂ Â November 2021 Private PlacementÂ Â Â Â Â Â SeriesÂ A WarrantsÂ Â Placement WarrantsÂ Â Offering WarrantsÂ Â Offering WarrantsÂ Â Investors WarrantsÂ Â Placement WarrantsÂ Â Investors WarrantsÂ Â Placement WarrantsÂ Â TotalÂ BALANCE as of MarchÂ 31, 2023Â $1Â Â $5Â Â $8,450Â Â $11,491Â Â $161,961Â Â $12,147Â Â $284,762Â Â $22,965Â Â $501,782Â Change in fair value of derivative liabilitiesÂ Â â€”Â Â Â â€”Â Â Â (5,231)Â Â (7,158)Â Â (81,325)Â Â (6,099)Â Â (105,242)Â Â (7,888)Â Â (212,943) Warrant forfeited due to expirationÂ Â (1)Â Â (5)Â Â â€”Â Â Â â€”Â Â Â â€”Â Â Â â€”Â Â Â â€”Â Â Â â€”Â Â Â (6) BALANCE as of MarchÂ 31, 2024Â Â â€”Â Â Â â€”Â Â Â 3,219Â Â Â 4,333Â Â Â 80,636Â Â Â 6,048Â Â Â 179,520Â Â Â 15,077Â Â Â 288,833Â Change in fair value of derivative liabilitiesÂ Â â€”Â Â Â â€”Â Â Â (425)Â Â (451)Â Â (1,336)Â Â (101)Â Â 9,630Â Â Â 970Â Â Â 8,287Â BALANCE as of June 30, 2024 (unaudited)Â $â€”Â Â $â€”Â Â $2,794Â Â $3,882Â Â $79,300Â Â $5,947Â Â $189,150Â Â $16,047Â Â $297,120Â Â The Companyâ€™s Series A and Series B warrants, the June 2019 Placement Agent Warrants, the Underwritersâ€™ Warrants, the ROFR Warrants, the May 2021 Investors Warrants, the May 2021 Placement Agent Warrants, and the November 2021 Investors Warrants and November 2021 Placement Agent Warrants (all discussed below) are not traded in an active securities market; therefore, the Company estimates the fair value to those warrants using the Black-Scholes valuation model on June 20, 2019 (the grant date), August 4, 2020 (the grant date), February 10, 2021 (the grant date), May 13, 2021 (the grant date), November 10, 2021 (the grant date), as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024. Â 10 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, financial instruments of the Company comprised primarily current assets and current liabilities including cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, accounts receivable, finance lease receivables, prepayments, other receivables and other assets, due from related parties, accounts payable, advance from customers, lease liabilities, accrued expenses and other liabilities, due to related parties, and operating and financing lease liabilities, which approximate their fair values because of the short-term nature of these instruments, and current liabilities of borrowings from a financial institution, which approximate their fair values because of the stated loan interest rate to the rate charged by similar financial institutions. Â The non-current portion of finance lease receivables, operating and financing lease liabilities and borrowings from a financial institution were recorded at the gross amount adjusted for the interest using the effective interest rate method. The Company believes that the effective interest rates underlying these instruments approximate their fair values because the Company used its incremental borrowing rate to recognize the present value of these instruments as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024. Â Other than as listed above, the Company did not identify any assets or liabilities that are required to be presented on the balance sheet at fair value.Â Â (e) Segment reporting Â Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker (the â€œCODMâ€), which is comprised of certain members of the Companyâ€™s management team. During the years ended March 31, 2019 and 2021, the Company acquired Hunan Ruixi and XXTX, respectively. The Company evaluated how the CODM manages the businesses of the Company to maximize efficiency in allocating resources and assessing performance. Consequently, the Company presents two operating and reportable segments of automobile transaction and related services and online ride-hailing platform services as set forth in Notes 1 and 20. Â (f) Cash and cash equivalents Â Cash and cash equivalents primarily consist of bank deposits with original maturities of three months or less, which are unrestricted as to withdrawal and use. Cash and cash equivalents also consist of funds received from automobile purchasers as payments for automobiles, funds received from automobile lessees as payments for rentals, which were held at the third-party platformsâ€™ fund accounts and which are unrestricted and immediately available for withdrawal and use. Â (g) Restricted cash Â Restricted cash consists of fund held in the bank accounts of Corenel was frozen by a court order with a prior business partner whom Corenel had cooperation with. The restricted cash of Corenel was $2,588Â as of June 30, 2024. Â (h) Accounts receivable, net Â Accounts receivable are recorded at the invoiced amount less an allowance for any uncollectible accounts and do not bear interest, and are due on demand. The carrying value of accounts receivable is reduced by an allowance that reflects the Companyâ€™s best estimate of the amounts that will not be collected. An allowance for credit losses is recorded in the period when a loss is probable based on an assessment of specific evidence indicating collection is unlikely, historical bad debt rates, accounts aging, financial conditions of the customer and industry trends. Starting from April 1, 2023, the Company adopted ASU No.2016-13 â€œFinancial Instruments â€“ Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instrumentsâ€ (â€œASC Topic 326â€). Management also periodically evaluates individual customerâ€™s financial condition, credit history, and the current economic conditions to make adjustments in the allowance when it is considered necessary. Account balances are charged off against the allowance after all means of collection have been exhausted and the potential for recovery is considered remote. The Companyâ€™s management continues to evaluate the reasonableness of the valuation allowance policy and update it if necessary. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company record allowance for credit losses of $1,535Â and $1,545 against accounts receivable, respectively. Â (i) Finance lease receivables Â Finance lease receivables, which result from sales-type leases, are measured at discounted present value of (i) future minimum lease payments, (ii) any residual value not subject to a bargain purchase option as finance lease receivables on its balance sheet and (iii) accrued interest on the balance of the finance lease receivables based on the interest rate inherent in the applicable lease over the term of the lease. Management also periodically evaluates individual customerâ€™s financial condition, credit history and the current economic conditions to make adjustments in the allowance for credit losses when necessary. Finance lease receivables is charged off against the allowance for credit losses after all means of collection have been exhausted and the potential for recovery is considered remote. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company determinedÂ noÂ allowance for credit losses was necessary for finance lease receivables.Â 11 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, finance lease receivables consisted of the following: Â Â Â June 30,Â Â MarchÂ 31,Â Â Â 2024Â Â 2024Â Â (Unaudited)Â Â Â Â Minimum lease payments receivableÂ $439,504Â Â $354,617Â Less: Unearned interestÂ (157,956)Â (117,927) Financing lease receivablesÂ $281,548Â Â $236,690Â Finance lease receivables, currentÂ $179,356Â Â $144,166Â Finance lease receivables, non-currentÂ $102,192Â Â $92,524Â Â Future scheduled minimum lease payments for investments in sales-type leases as of June 30, 2024 are as follows: Â Â Â Minimum Â future payments Â receivableÂ Twelve months ending June 30, 2025Â $274,982Â Twelve months ending June 30, 2026Â Â 151,487Â Twelve months ending June 30, 2027Â Â 13,035Â TotalÂ $439,504Â Â (j) Property and equipment, net Â Property and equipment primarily consist of automobiles, leasehold improvements, computers and other equipment, which are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization less any provision required for impairment in value. Depreciation and amortization is computed using the straight-line method with no residual value based on the estimated useful life.Â The useful life of property and equipment is summarized as follows: Â Categories Â Useful life Leasehold improvements Â Shorter of the remaining lease terms or estimated useful lives Computer equipment Â 2Â -Â 5Â years Office equipment, fixture and furniture Â 3Â -Â 5Â years Automobiles Â 3Â -Â 5Â years Â The Company reviews property and equipment for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. An asset is considered impaired if its carrying amount exceeds the future net undiscounted cash flows that the asset is expected to generate. If such asset is considered to be impaired, the impairment recognized is the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset, if any, exceeds its fair value determined using a discounted cash flow model. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company did not recognize impairment for property and equipment. Â Costs of repairs and maintenance are expensed as incurred and asset improvements are capitalized. The cost and related accumulated depreciation and amortization of assets disposed of or retired are removed from the accounts, and any resulting gain or loss is reflected in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss. Â (k) Loss per share Â Basic loss per share is computed by dividing net loss attributable to stockholders by the weighted average number of outstanding shares of common stock, adjusted for outstanding shares of common stock that are subject to repurchase. Â For the calculation of diluted loss per share, net loss attributable to stockholders for basic loss per share is adjusted by the effect of dilutive securities, including share-based awards, under the treasury stock method and convertible securities under the if-converted method. Potentially dilutive securities, of which the amounts are insignificant, have been excluded from the computation of diluted net loss per share if their inclusion is anti-dilutive.Â 12 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â As of June 30, 2024, the Companyâ€™s dilutive securities from the outstanding series A convertible preferred stock are convertible intoÂ 495,706Â shares of common stock. This amount is not included in the computation of dilutive loss per share because their impact is anti-dilutive. Â Â (l) Derivative liabilities Â A contract is designated as an asset or a liability and is carried at fair value on the Companyâ€™s balance sheet, with any changes in fair value recorded in the Companyâ€™s results of operations. The Company then determines which options, warrants and embedded features require liability accounting and records the fair value as a derivative liability. The changes in the values of these instruments are shown in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss as â€œchange in fair value of derivative liabilitiesâ€. Â Â (m) Revenue recognition Â The Company recognized its revenue under Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (ASC 606). ASC 606 establishes principles for reporting information about the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from the entityâ€™s contracts to provide goods or services to customers. The core principle requires an entity to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration that it expects to be entitled to receive in exchange for those goods or services recognized as performance obligations are satisfied. It also requires the Company to identify contractual performance obligations and determine whether revenue should be recognized at a point in time or over time, based on when control of goods and services transfers to a customer. Â To achieve that core principle, the Company applies the five steps defined under ASC 606: (i) identify the contract(s) with a customer, (ii) identify the performance obligations in the contract, (iii) determine the transaction price, (iv) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract, and (v) recognize revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation. Â The Company accounts for a contract with a customer when the contract is entered into by the parties, the rights of the parties, including payment terms, are identified, the contract has commercial substance and consideration to collect is substantially probable. Â Disaggregated information of revenues by business lines are as follows: Â Â Â For the Three Months EndedÂ Â Â June 30,Â Â Â 2024Â Â 2023Â Â Â (Unaudited)Â Â (Unaudited)Â Automobile Transaction and Related ServicesÂ Â Â Â Â Â - Operating lease revenues from automobile rentalsÂ $756,315Â Â $1,056,394Â - Monthly services commissionsÂ Â 26,254Â Â Â 50,590Â - Financing revenuesÂ Â 22,176Â Â Â 13,600Â -Â Service fees from NEVs leasingÂ Â 22,094Â Â Â 20,271Â - Service fees from automobile purchase servicesÂ Â 21,738Â Â Â 12,232Â - Revenues from sales of automobilesÂ Â â€”Â Â Â 5,044Â - Other service feesÂ Â 30,432Â Â Â 30,977Â Total revenues from Automobile Transaction and Related ServicesÂ Â 879,009Â Â

Â 1,189,108Â Online Ride-hailing Platform ServicesÂ Â 243,391Â Â Â 905,606Â Total Revenues from OperationsÂ $1,122,400Â Â $2,094,714Â Â Â Automobile transaction and related services Â Operating lease revenues from automobile rentals â€“The Company generates revenue from sub-leasing automobiles to some online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties and leasing its own automobiles. The Company recognizes revenue wherein an automobile is transferred to the lessees and the lessees has the ability to control the asset, is accounted for under ASC Topic 842. Rental transactions are satisfied over the rental period and is recognized over time. As the operating lease revenue are variable in nature which is based on online ride-hailing drivers or third-partiesâ€™ performance for a certain period, the Company recognized the revenue from operating lease by using the output method based on periodic settlement between the Company and the online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties when suchÂ revenue is probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur. Rental periods are short term in nature, generally are twelve months or less.Â 13 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â Monthly services commissions â€“ Commissions from the services generated from the management and related services provided to Partner Platforms and other companies, which are settled on a monthly basis. The Company recognizes revenues at a point in time when performance obligations are completed and the commission amount is confirmed by the Partner Platforms and other companies, based on their evaluations on the services provided by the Company. Â Financing revenues â€“ Interest income from the lease arising from the Companyâ€™s sales-type leases and bundled lease arrangements are recognized as financing revenues over the lease term based on the effective rate of interest in the lease.Â Â Service fees from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services - Services fees from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services are paid by some lessees who rent new energy electric vehicles from the Company or automobile purchasers for a series of the services provided to them throughout the purchase process such as credit assessment, installment of GPS devices, ride-hailing driver qualification and other administrative procedures. The amount of services fees for NEVs leasing is based on the product solutions while the fees for purchase is based on the sales price of the automobiles and relevant services provided. The Company recognizes revenue at a point in time when above mentioned services are completed, and corresponding an automobile is delivered to the lessee or purchaser. Accounts receivable related to the revenue from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services is collected upon the automobiles are delivered to lessees or purchaser. Â Sales of automobiles â€“ The Company generated revenue from sales of automobiles to the customers of Hunan Ruixi. The control over the automobile is transferred to the purchaser along with the delivery of automobiles. The amount of the revenue is based on the sale price agreed by Hunan Ruixi and the customers. The Company recognizes revenues when an automobile is delivered and control is transferred to the purchaser at a point in time. Accounts receivable related to the revenue are being collected within 12 months. Â Other service fees â€“ The Company generated other revenues such as miscellaneous service fees charged to its customers for some supporting services provided to online ride-hailing drivers. The Company recognizes revenues at a point in time when performance obligations are completed and the collectability is probable from the customers. Â Leases - Lessor Â The Company recognized revenue as lessor in accordance with ASC 842. The two primary accounting provisions the Company uses to classify transactions as sales-type or operating leases are: (i) a review of the lease term to determine if it is for the major part of the economic life of the underlying equipment (defined as greater thanÂ 75)%; and (ii) a review of the present value of the lease payments to determine if they are equal to or greater than substantially all of the fair market value of the equipment at the inception of the lease (defined as greater thanÂ 90%). Automobiles included in arrangements meeting these conditions are accounted for as sales-type leases. Interest income from the lease is recognized in financing revenues over the lease term. Automobile included in arrangements that do not meet these conditions are accounted for as operating leases and revenue is recognized over the term of the lease. Â The Company excludes from the measurement of its lease revenues any tax assessed by a governmental authority that is both imposed on and concurrent with a specific revenue-producing transaction and collected from a customer. Â The Company considers the economic life of most of the automobiles to beÂ threeÂ toÂ fiveÂ years, since this represents the most common long-term lease term for its automobiles and the automobiles will be used for online ride-hailing services. The Company believes three toÂ fiveÂ yearsÂ is representative of the period during which an automobile is expected to be economically usable, with normal service, for the purpose for which it is intended. Â The Companyâ€™s lease pricing interest rates, which are used in determining customer payments in a bundled lease arrangement, are developed based upon the local prevailing rates in the marketplace where its customer will be able to obtain an automobile loan under similar terms from the bank. The Company reassesses its pricing interest rates quarterly based on changes in the local prevailing rates in the marketplace. As of June 30, 2024, the Companyâ€™s pricing interest rate wasÂ 6.0% per annum.Â Â 14 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â Online ride-hailing platform services Â The Company generates revenue from providing services to online ride-hailing drivers (â€œDriversâ€) to assist them in providing transportation services to riders (â€œRidersâ€) looking for taxi/ride-hailing services. The Company earns commissions for each completed ride in an amount equal to the difference between an upfront quoted fare and the amount earned by a Driver based on actual time and distance for the ride charged to the Rider. As a result, the Company bears a single performance obligation in the transaction of connecting Drivers with Riders to facilitate the completion of a successful transportation service for Riders. The Company recognizes revenue upon completion of a ride as the single performance obligation is satisfied and the Company has the right to receive payment for the services rendered upon the completion of the ride. The Company evaluates the presentation of revenue on a gross or net basis based on whether it controls the service provided to the Rider and is the principal (i.e., â€œgrossâ€), or it arranges for other parties to provide the service to the Rider and is an agent (i.e., â€œnetâ€). Since the Company is not primarily responsible for ride-hailing services provided to Riders, it does not have discretion in establishing the price of the online ride-hailing service and inventory risk related to the services as the Company earns commissions for each completed order as the difference between an upfront quote fare and the amount earned by a driver based on actual time and distance for ride charged to the rider. Thus, the Company recognizes revenue at a net basis. Incentives paid to Drivers are similar to retrospective volume-based rebates and represent variable consideration that is typically settled weekly or monthly. The Company recorded it as a reduction to revenue by the amount of the incentives to be paid upon completion of the performance criteria. Â (n) Significant risks and uncertainties Â 1)Credit risk Â a.Assets that potentially subject the Company to significant concentration of credit risk primarily consist of cash and cash equivalents. The maximum exposure of these assets to credit risk is their carrying amounts as of the balance sheet dates. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, approximately $2,600Â and $21,000, respectively, were deposited with a bank in the United States which is insured by the U.S. government up to $250,000. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, approximately $709,000Â and $719,000, respectively, were deposited in financial institutions located in mainland China, which were insured by the government authority. Under the Deposit Insurance System in China, an enterpriseâ€™s deposits at one bank are insured for a maximum of approximately $69,000Â (RMB500,000). To limit exposure to credit risk relating to deposits, the Company primarily places cash deposits with large financial institutions in China which management believes are of high credit quality. Â The Companyâ€™s operations are carried out entirely in mainland China. Accordingly, the Companyâ€™s business, financial condition and results of operations may be influenced by the social, political, economic and legal environments in the PRC as well as by the general state of the PRC economy. In addition, the Companyâ€™s business may be influenced by changes in PRC government laws, rules and policies with respect to, among other matters, anti-inflationary measures, currency conversion and remittance of currency outside of China, rates and methods of taxation and other factors. Â b.In measuring the credit risk of accounts receivable due from the automobile purchasers (the â€œcustomersâ€), the Company mainly reflects the â€œprobability of defaultâ€ by the customer on its contractual obligations and considers the current financial position of the customer and the risk exposures to the customer and its likely future development. Â Historically, most of the automobile purchasers would pay the Company their previously defaulted amounts within one to three months. As a result, the Company would provide full provisions on accounts receivable if the customers default on repayments for over three months. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the CompanyÂ record allowance for credit losses of $1,535Â and $1,545Â against accounts receivable, respectively. Â 2)Foreign currency risk Â As ofÂ June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024 substantially all of the Companyâ€™s operating activities and major assets and liabilities, except for the cash deposit of approximately $2,600Â and $21,000, respectively, in U.S. dollars, are denominated in RMB, which are not freely convertible into foreign currencies. All foreign exchange transactions take place through either the Peopleâ€™s Bank of China (the â€œPBOCâ€) or other authorized financial institutions at exchange rates quoted by PBOC. Approval of foreign currency payments by the PBOC or other regulatory institutions requires a payment application together with invoices and signed contracts. The value of RMB is subject to change in central government policies and international economic and political developments affecting supply and demand in the China Foreign Exchange Trading System market. When there is a significant change in value of RMB, the gainsÂ and losses resulting from translation of financial statements of a foreign subsidiary will be significantly affected. RMB depreciated fromÂ 7.27Â RMB into US$1.00Â on June 30, 2024 toÂ 7.22Â RMB into US$1.00Â on March 31, 2024.Â Â 15 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â (o)Â Recent accounting pronouncements not yet adopted Â Â The Company considers the applicability and impact of all accounting standards updates (â€œASUsâ€). Management periodically reviews new accounting standards that are issued. Under the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012, as amended (the â€œJOBS Actâ€), the Company meets the definition of an emerging growth company and has elected the extended transition period for complying with new or revised accounting standards, which delays the adoption of these accounting standards until they would apply to private companies. Â In October 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-06, Disclosure Improvements â€“ codification amendments in response to SECâ€™s disclosure Update and Simplification initiative which amend the disclosure or presentation requirements of codification subtopicÂ 230-10 Statement of Cash Flowsâ€“Overall, 250-10 Accounting Changes and Error Correctionsâ€“ Overall, 260-10 Earnings Per Shareâ€“ Overall, 270-10 Interim Reportingâ€“ Overall, 440-10 Commitmentsâ€“Overall, 470-10 Debtâ€“Overall, 505-10 Equityâ€“Overall, 815-10 Derivatives and Hedgingâ€“Overall, 860-30 Transfers and Servicingâ€“Secured Borrowing and Collateral, 932-235 Extractive Activitiesâ€“ Oil and Gasâ€“Notes to Financial Statements, 946-20 Financial Servicesâ€“ Investment Companiesâ€“ Investment Company Activities, and 974-10 Real Estateâ€“Real Estate Investment Trustsâ€“Overall.Â The amendments represent changes to clarify or improve disclosure and presentation requirements of above subtopics. Many of the amendments allow users to more easily compare entities subject to the SECâ€™s existing disclosures with those entities that were not previously subject to the SECâ€™s requirements. Also, the amendments align the requirements in the Codification with the SECâ€™s regulations. For entities subject to existing SEC disclosure requirements or those that must provide financial statements to the SEC for securities purposes without contractual transfer restrictions, the effective date aligns with the date when the SEC removes the related disclosure from Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K. Early adoption is not allowed.Â For all other entities, the amendments will be effective two years later from the date of the SECâ€™s removal. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the update on the Companyâ€™s unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and related disclosures. Â In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07, which is an update to Topic 280, Segment Reporting: Improvements to reportable Segment Disclosures (â€œASU 2023-07â€), which enhances the disclosure required for reportable segments in annual and interim consolidated financial statements, including additional, more detailed information about a reportable segmentâ€™s expenses. ASU 2023-07 will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the pending adoption of AUS 2023-07 on its unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements. Â In December 2023,Â the FASB issued ASU 2023-09, which is an update to Topic 740, Income Taxes.Â The amendments in this update enhances the transparency and decision usefulness of income tax disclosures. ASU 2023-09 will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted for annual financial statements that have not yet been issued or made available for issuance. The amendments in this Update should be applied on a prospective basis. Retrospective application is permitted. EQUITY Â Warrants Â Warrants in Offerings Â The Company adopted the provisions of ASC 815 on determining what types of instruments or embedded features in an instrument held by a reporting entity can be considered indexed to its own stock for the purpose of evaluating the first criteria of the scope exception in ASC 815. Warrants issued in connection with the direct equity offering with exercise prices denominated in US dollars are no longer considered indexed to the Companyâ€™s stock, as their exercise prices are not in the Companyâ€™s functional currency (RMB), and therefore no longer qualify for the scope exception and must be accounted for as a derivative. These warrants are classified as liabilities under the caption â€œDerivative liabilitiesâ€ in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of balance sheets and recorded at estimated fair value at each reporting date, computed using the Black-Scholes valuation model. Changes in the liability from period to period are recorded in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss under the caption â€œChange in fair value of derivative liabilities.â€ Â Â August 2020 Underwritersâ€™ Warrants Â As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there wereÂ 31,808Â underwritersâ€™ warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a gain of $425Â and $5,681Â recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $2,794Â and $3,219, respectively.Â As theÂ 1-for-10Â reverse stock split on the Companyâ€™s common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise price of the August 2020 Underwritersâ€™ Warrants was adjusted to $6.25. Â February 2021 Registered Direct Offering Warrants Â As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there wereÂ 53,262Â February 2021 registered direct offering warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a gain of $451Â and $7,784Â recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $3,882Â and $4,333, respectively. As theÂ 1-for-10Â reverse stock split on the Companyâ€™s common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise prices of the Placement Agent Warrants and the ROFR Warrants of the February 2021 Registered Direct Offering were adjusted to $13.80Â and $17.25, respectively. Â May 2021 Registered Direct Offering Warrants Â As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there wereÂ 594,682Â May 2021 registered direct offering warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a gain of $1,437Â and $110,333Â recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $85,247Â and $86,684, respectively.Â As theÂ 1-for-10Â reverse stock split on the Companyâ€™s common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise price of the May 2021 Registered Direct Offering warrants was adjusted to $10.50. Â November 2021 Private Placement Warrants Â Â As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there wereÂ 5,365,911Â November 2021 Private Placement Warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a loss of $10,600Â and a gain of $180,369Â recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. On November 18, 2022, a holder of November 2021 private placement warrants exercised the warrants on a â€œcashlessâ€ basis. Upon exercise of above-mentioned warrants, the Company reduced the fair value of the warrants and increased the additional paid in capital by $1,533.Â As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $205,197Â and $194,597, respectively.Â As theÂ 1-for-10Â reverse stock split on the Companyâ€™s common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise price of the November 2021 Investors Warrants was adjusted to $1.13.Â 21 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â

the Global Intangible Low-Taxed Income (GILTI), a new inclusion rule affecting non-routine income earned by foreign subsidiaries. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Companyâ€™s foreign subsidiaries in China were operating at loss and as such, did not record a liability for GILTI tax. Â Â The Companyâ€™s net operating loss for U.S. income taxes from U.S for both the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023 amounted to approximately $0.4Â million. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Companyâ€™s net operating loss carryforward for U.S. income taxes was approximately $7.9Â million and $7.6Â million, respectively. The net operating loss carryforward will not expire and is available to reduce future yearsâ€™ taxable income but limited toÂ 80% of income until utilized. Management believes that the utilization of the benefit from this loss appears uncertain due to the Companyâ€™s operating history. Accordingly, the Company has recorded aÂ 100% valuation allowance on the deferred tax asset to reduce the deferred tax assets to zero on the consolidated balance sheets. Management reviews the valuation allowance periodically and makes changes accordingly. Â PRC Â Senmiao Consulting, Sichuan Senmiao Ronglian Technology Co., Ltd. Â The Company had reached cooperation with Jinkailong, the Companyâ€™s equity investee company, that the drivers who leased automobile from Jinkailong completed their online ride-hailing requests and orders through the Companyâ€™s ride-hailing platform, and the company will pay Jinkailong a certain promotion service fee. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the company incurred promotion fee of $0Â and $11,623 payable to Jinkailong. Â During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, Corenel leased automobiles to Jinkailong and generated revenue of $5,243Â and $13,748, while Jiekai leased automobiles from Jinkailong and had a rental cost of $1,627Â and $210,179Â respectively.Â Â 18. LEASES Â Lessor Â The Companyâ€™s operating leases for automobile rentals have rental periods that are typically short term, generally is twelve months or less. Revenue recognition section of Note 3 (m), the Company discloses that revenue earned from automobile rentals, wherein an identified asset is transferred to the customer and the customer has the ability to control that asset, is accounted for under Topic 842 upon adoption for the three months ended June 30, 2024. Â Lessee Â As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company has engaged in offices and showroom leases which were classified as operating leases. Â The Company leased automobiles under operating lease agreements with a term shorter than twelve months which it elected not to recognize lease assets and lease liabilities under ASC 842. Instead, the Company recognized the lease payments in profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term and variable lease payments in the period in which the obligation for those payments is incurred. In addition, the Company had automobiles leases which were classified as finance lease. Â The Companyâ€™s lease agreements do not contain any material residual value guarantees or material restrictive covenants. Â The Company recognized lease expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term for operating lease. Meanwhile, the Company recognized the finance leases ROU assets and interest on an amortized cost basis. The amortization of finance ROU assets is recognized on a straight-line basis as amortization expense, while the lease liability is increased to reflect interest on the liability and decreased to reflect the lease payments made during the period. Interest expense on the lease liability is determined each period during the lease term as the amount that results in a constant periodic interest rate of the automobile loans on the remaining balance of the liability. Â The ROU assets and lease liabilities are determined based on the present value of the future minimum rental payments of the lease as of the adoption date, using effective interest rate ofÂ 6.0%, which is determined using an incremental borrowing rate with similar term in the PRC. As of June 30, 2024, the weighted-average remaining operating and finance lease term of its existing leases is approximatelyÂ 1.31Â andÂ 1.28Â years, respectively.Â 26 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â Operating and finance lease expenses consist of the following: Â Â Â Â Â For the Three Months EndedÂ Â Â ClassificationÂ June 30, 2024Â Â June 30, 2023Â Â Â Â Â (Unaudited)Â Â (Unaudited)Â Operating lease costÂ Â Â Â Â Â Â Automobile lease costsÂ Cost of revenuesÂ $224,713Â Â $515,874Â Lease expensesÂ Selling, general and administrativeÂ Â 28,783Â Â Â 65,286Â Finance lease costÂ Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Amortization of leased assetÂ Cost of revenueÂ Â 59,061Â Â Â 61,668Â Amortization of leased assetÂ General and administrativeÂ Â â€”Â Â Â 282Â Interest on lease liabilitiesÂ Interest expenses on finance leasesÂ Â 5,088Â Â Â 8,722Â Total lease expensesÂ Â Â $317,645Â Â $651,832Â Â Operating lease costs for automobiles totaled $224,713Â and $515,874Â for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. Â 19. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES Â Contingencies Â In measuring the credit risk of guarantee services to automobile purchasers, the Company primarily reflects the â€œprobability of defaultâ€ by the automobile purchasers on its contractual obligations and considers the current financial position of the automobile purchasers and its likely future development. Â The Company manages the credit risk of automobile purchasers by performing preliminary credit checks of each automobile purchaser and ongoing monitoring every month. By using the current credit loss model, management is of the opinion that the Company is bearing the credit risk to repay the principal and interests to the financial institutions if automobile purchasersâ€™ default on their payments for more than three months. Management also periodically re-evaluates probability of default of automobile purchasers to make adjustments in the allowance, when necessary, as the Company is the guarantor of the loans.Â 27 Â Â SENMIAO TECHNOLOGY LIMITED NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Â Purchase commitments Â On September 23, 2022, the Company entered into a purchase contract with an automobile dealer to purchase a total ofÂ 100Â automobiles for the amount of approximately $1.5Â million. As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, the Company has remitted approximately $0.6Â million as purchase prepayments, and expects to fulfill the purchase commitment before March 31, 2025.Â Â Contingent liabilities for automobile purchasers Â Historically, most of the automobile purchasers would pay the Company their previous defaulted amounts within one to three months. In December 2019, a novel strain of coronavirus, or COVID-19, surfaced and it has spread rapidly to many parts of China and other parts of the world, including the United States. The epidemic has resulted in quarantines, travel restrictions, and the temporary closure of stores and facilities in China and elsewhere. Because substantially all of the Companyâ€™s operations are conducted in China, the COVID-19 outbreak has materially and adversely affected the Companyâ€™s business operations, financial condition and operating results for 2021 and 2022, including but not limited to decrease in revenues, slower collection of accounts receivable and additional allowance for credit losses. Some of the Companyâ€™s customers exited the ride-hailing business and rendered their automobiles to the Company for sublease or sale to generate income or proceeds to cover payments owed to financial institutions and the Company. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company recognized an estimated provision loss of approximatelyÂ $0Â and $510Â respectively, for drivers who exited the ride-hailing business were not able to make the monthly payments from operations. As of June 30, 2024, there was no contingent liabilities Hunan Ruixi had for the automobile purchasers. Â Contingent liability of Jinkailong Â Despite that the Company holdsÂ 35% of equity interest of Jinkailong through Hunan Ruixi, and has not make any consideration towards to the investment, the Company will be subjected to the maximum amount of RMB3.5Â million (approximately $482,000) of which is equivalent toÂ 35% of liabilities in case Jinkailong is liquidated in accordance with PRCâ€™s company registry compliance. Â 20. SEGMENT INFORMATION Â The Company presents segment information after elimination of inter-company transactions. In general, revenue, cost of revenue and operating expenses are directly attributable, or are allocated, to each segment. The Company allocates costs and expenses that are not directly attributable to a specific segment, such as those that support infrastructure across different segments, to different segments mainly on the basis of usage, revenue or headcount, depending on the nature of the relevant costs and expenses. The Company does not allocate assets to its segments as the CODM does not evaluate the performance of segments using asset information. Â By assessing the qualitative and quantitative criteria established by Accounting Standards Codification (â€œASCâ€) 280, â€œSegment Reportingâ€, the Company considers itself to be operating inÂ twoÂ reportable segments which comprise of automobile transaction and related services and online ride-hailing platform. The segments are organized based on type of service offered. Â As of June 30, 2024, the Companyâ€™s total assets were comprised of $8,151,643Â for automobile transaction and related services, $442,975Â for online ride-hailing platform services and $612,804Â for unallocated. Â As of March 31, 2024, the Companyâ€™s total assets were comprised of $8,637,552Â for automobile transaction and related services, $575,887Â for online ride-hailing platform services and $648,045Â unallocated. Â As substantially all of the Companyâ€™s long-lived assets are located in the PRC and substantially all of the Companyâ€™s revenue is derived from within the PRC, no geographical information is presented. Â 22. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS Â On August 8, 2024, Sichuan Senmiao, XXTX, a third party named Jiangsu Yuelaiyuexing Technology Co., Ltd. (â€œYuelaiâ€), and certain other parties thereto, entered into an acquisition agreement with debt assumption takeover (â€œAcquisition Agreementâ€). Pursuant to the Acquisition Agreement, Yuelai shall acquire all of the equity interests the XXTX at a total purchase price of zero, while taking over certain liabilities of XXTX as defined in the Acquisition Agreement. The copy of the Acquisition Agreement is filed herewith as Exhibit 10.1 and incorporated herein by reference. Â 29 Â Â Item 2. Managementâ€™s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations Â The following discussion and analysis of our results of operations and financial condition should be read together with our unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and the notes thereto, which are included elsewhere in this Report and our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended March 31, 2024 (the â€œAnnual Reportâ€) filed with the SEC. Our unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (â€œU.S. GAAPâ€). Â Overview Â We are a provider of automobile transaction and related services, connecting consumers, who are mostly existing and prospective ride-hailing drivers affiliated with different operators of online ride-hailing platforms in the Peopleâ€™s Republic of China (â€œPRCâ€ or â€œChinaâ€). We provide automobile transaction and related services through our wholly owned subsidiary, Chengdu Corenel Technology Limited, a PRC limited liability company (â€œCorenelâ€), and our majority owned subsidiaries, Chengdu Jiekai Technology Ltd. (â€œJiekaiâ€), and Hunan Ruixi Financial Leasing Co., Ltd. (â€œHunan Ruixiâ€), a PRC limited liability company. Since October 2020, we also operate an online ride-hailing platform through Hunan Xixingtianxia Technology Co., Ltd. (â€œXXTXâ€), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Sichuan Senmiao Zecheng Business Consulting Co., Ltd., our wholly-owned subsidiary (â€œSenmiao Consultingâ€). Our platform enables qualified ride-hailing drivers to provide application-based transportation services mainly in Chengdu, Changsha and other 20 cities in China. Substantially all of our operations are conducted in China. Â Our Automobile Transactions and Related Services Â Our Automobile Transaction and Related Services are mainly comprised of (i) automobile operating lease where we provide car rental services to individual customers to meet their personal needs with lease term no more than twelve months (the â€œAuto Operating Leasingâ€); (ii) monthly services where we provide management and related services to Partner Platforms and other companies and earn commission from them (the â€œAuto Commissionsâ€); (iii) automobile financing where we provide our customers with auto finance solutions through financing leases (the â€œAuto Financingâ€); (iv) service fees from new energy vehicles (â€œNEVsâ€) leasing, automobile purchase services where we charge NEVs lessees or automobile purchasers for a series of the services provided to them throughout the leasing or purchase process based on the chosen product solutions, such as ride-hailing driver training, assisting with a series of administrative procedures and other consulting services (the â€œNEVs and Purchase Servicesâ€); and (v) automobile sales (the â€œAuto Salesâ€) and other supporting services provided to online ride-hailing drivers, including auto management and guarantee services (the â€œAuto Management and Guarantee Servicesâ€). We started our facilitation and supporting services in November 2018, the sale of automobiles in January 2019, and financial and operating leasing in March 2019, respectively. Â Since November 22, 2018, the acquisition date of Hunan Ruixi, and as of June 30, 2024, we have facilitated financing for an aggregate of 312 automobiles with a total value of approximately $5.3 million, sold an aggregate of 1,516 automobiles with a total value of approximately $14.5 million and delivered 1,892 automobiles under operating leases and 178 automobiles under financing leases to customers, the vast majority of whom are online ride-hailing drivers. Â The table below provides a breakdown of the number of vehicles sold or delivered under different leasing arrangements or managed/guaranteed by us and corresponding revenue generated for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â For the Three Months EndedÂ Â Â June 30,Â Â Â 2024Â Â 2023Â Â Â Number ofÂ Â Â Â Â Number ofÂ Â Â Â Â Â Â VehiclesÂ Â Revenue*Â Â VehiclesÂ Â Revenue*Â Â Auto Operating LeasingÂ Â >640Â Â $756,000Â Â Â >1,000Â Â $1,056,000Â Auto CommissionsÂ Â â€”Â Â $26,000Â Â Â â€”Â Â $51,000Â Auto FinancingÂ Â 50Â Â $22,000Â Â Â 44Â Â $14,000Â Other ServicesÂ Â >600Â Â $75,000Â Â Â >530Â Â $68,000Â Â During the three months ended June 30, 2024, our Auto Operating Leasing, Auto Commissions, Auto Financing and other services income accounted for approximately 86.0%, 3.0%, 2.5%, and 8.5% of our total revenue from our automobile transactions and related services, respectively, while our Auto Operating Leasing, Auto Commissions, Auto Financing, Auto Sales, and other services income accounted for approximately 88.8%, 4.3%, 1.1%, 0.4% and 5.4% for the three months ended June 30, 2023, respectively. Â 30 Â Â Our Ride-Hailing Platform Services Â As part of our goal to provide an all-round solution for online ride-hailing drivers as well as to increase our competitive power in an increasingly competitive online ride-hailing industry and to take advantage of the market potential, in October 2020, we began operating our own online ride-hailing platform in Chengdu. The platform (called Xixingtianxia) was owned and operated by XXTX, of which Senmiao Consulting acquired the 100% equity interest pursuant to a series of investment and supplementary agreements. As of the filing date of this Report, Senmiao Consulting has made accumulated capital contribution of RMB40.3 million (approximately $5.55 million) to XXTX. Â XXTX operates Xixingtianxia and holds a national online reservation taxi operating license. The platform is presently servicing online ride-hailing drivers in 22 cities in China, including Chengdu, Changsha and so on, providing the drivers in these cities with a platform to view and take customer orders for rides. We currently collaborate with Gaode Map, a well-known aggregation platform in China on our ride-hailing platform services. Under our collaboration, when a rider uses the platform to search for taxi/ride-hailing services on the aggregation platform, the platform provides such rider a number of online ride-hailing platforms for selection, including ours and if our platform is selected by the rider, the order will then be distributed to registered drivers on our platform for viewing and acceptance. The rider may also simultaneously select multiple online ride-hailing platforms in which case, the aggregation platform will distribute the requests to different online ride-hailing platforms which they cooperate with, based on the number of available drivers using the platform in a certain area and these driversâ€™ historical performance, among other things. XXTX generates revenue from providing services to online ride-hailing drivers to assist them in providing transportation services to the riders looking for taxi/ride-hailing services. XXTX earns commissions for each completed order as the difference between an upfront quoted fare and the amount earned by a driver based on actual time and distance for the ride charged to the rider. XXTX settles its commissions with the aggregation platforms on a weekly basis. Since December 2023, in order to improve the efficiency of XXTXâ€™s daily operation and profitability, XXTX has engaged Anhui Lianma Technology Co., Ltd. (â€œAnhui Lianmaâ€), a third-party to co-operate the online ride-hailing platform by outsourcing certain daily operation work to Anhui Lianma in most of cities it operates platform in XXTX and Anhui Lianma will jointly share the operational profits, with the specific calculation method being defined in the cooperation agreement. Â Meanwhile, in order to strengthen our market position in certain cities, during the three months ended June 30, 2024, our subsidiaries, Hunan Ruixi and Jiekai, cooperated with other online ride-hailing platforms (â€œPartner Platformsâ€), such as Hunan DiDi Technology Co., Ltd., Chengdu Anma Zhixing Technology Co., Ltd., Sichuan Peitu Kuaixing Technology Co., Ltd. and Chongqing Yiqizhao Technology Co., Ltd. Chengdu Branch, whereby the online ride-hailing requests and orders shall be completed on Partner Platforms utilizing the network of cars and drivers of us while Hunan Ruixi and Jiekai earned rental income from drivers and earned commissions from Partner Platforms. Â Â During the three months ended June 30, 2024, approximately 0.4 million rides with gross fare of approximately $1.3 million were completed through Xixingtianxia and the platform had an average of approximately 2,300 ride-hailing drivers completed rides and earned income through Xixingtianxia (the â€œActive Driversâ€) each month. During the three months ended June 30, 2024, we earned online ride-hailing platform service fees of approximately $0.2 million, after netting off approximately $24,000 incentives paid to Active Drivers. Â During the three months ended June 30, 2023, approximately 1.7 million rides with gross fare of approximately $5.3 million were completed through Xixingtianxia and the platform had an average of over 6,200 Active Drivers each month. During the three months ended June 30, 2023, we earned online ride-hailing platform service fees of approximately $0.9 million, netting off approximately $0.1 million incentives paid to Active Drivers. Â 31 Â Â Key Factors and Risks Affecting Results of Operations Â Ability to Increase Our Automobile Lessee and Active Driver Base Â Our revenue growth has been largely driven by the expansion of our automobile lessee base and the corresponding revenue generated from operating and financial leasing, as well as the number of completed online ride-hailing orders on our platform, which largely depends on the number of Active Drivers who complete ride-hailing transactions on our platform. We acquire customers for our Automobile Transaction and Related Services, as well as for our Online Ride-hailing Platform Services, through the network of third-party sales teams, referral from online ride-hailing platforms and our own efforts including online advertising and billboard advertising. We also send out fliers and participate in trade shows to advertise our services. We plan to maintain the number of our Active Drivers by marketing our platform to our existing and prospective automobile lessees in the cities we now operate in. We expect the expansion of our Active Driver base to promote the growth of our automobile rental business because we offer automobile rental solutions/incentives specifically targeted at drivers using our platform and the Partner Platforms. An effective cross-selling strategies between our automobile leasing business and Online Ride-hailing Platform Services business is important to our expansion and revenue growth. We also plan to strengthen our marketing efforts through the collaboration with certain automobile dealers and through our own team by employing more experienced staff, sharing market resources with our equity investee company, and improving the quality and variety of our services. As of June 30, 2024, we had 5 employees in our own sales department. Â Management of Automobile Rentals Â Due to the fierce competition of online ride-hailing industry in those cities we operate in, we have witnessed a high turn-over rate on the short-term car rentals during the three months ended June 30, 2024. To meet the demand in Chengdu and Changsha, we have purchased and leased automobiles from third parties for our operating lease. The daily management and timely maintenance of leased automobiles will have a significant effect on the growth of our income from leasing automobiles in the next twelve months. The effective management of our automobiles through our proprietary system and experienced auto-management team could provide in-time delivery and qualified automobiles to potential lessees, either for personal use or providing online ride-hailing services. As of June 30, 2024, for parking and management of automobiles for operating lease, we had one parking lot, an exhibition hall and 3 employees in Changsha, and we also share the parking lot with our equity investee company, Jinkailong in Chengdu. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the average utilization of the automobiles for operating lease was approximately 90.4% and 79.8%, respectively. Â Our Service Offerings and Pricing Â The growth of our revenue depends on our ability to improve existing solutions and services provided, continue identifying evolving business needs, refine our collaborations with business partners and provide value-added services to our customers. The attraction of new automobile leases depends on our leasing solutions with attractive rental price and flexible leasing terms. We have also adopted a series of pricing formulas to adopt the market changes, considering the historical and future expenditure, remaining available leasing months and market price to determine our rental price for varied rental solutions. Furthermore, our product designs affect the type of automobile leases we attract, which in turn affect our financial performance. The attraction of new Active Drivers depends on the comprehensive income they could earn from our own or cooperated platform, which is mainly affected by the number of orders distributed to them through our platform and the amount of the incentives paid to them from platforms. Our revenue growth also depends on our abilities to effectively price our services, which enables us to attract more customers and improve our profit margin. Â Ability to Retain Key Business Cooperators Â Historically, we have set up a series of strategy and business relationships with certain affiliates of some famous and leading companies of NEVs manufacturers, online ride-hailing platforms, local NEVs leasing companies, and travel service providers to develop our Automobile Transaction and Related Services and Online Ride-hailing Platform Services. We earned commission or services fee from them, purchased and leased automobiles for our business at a favorable price. The close relationships have provided us with the necessary capacity to support the development of our online ride-hailing platform and leasing business. To retain these valuable cooperators and continuously explore opportunities to collaborate with them in more areas is important to us to have considerable resources to support the exploration and expansion of our business into new cities. Â 32 Â Â Ability to Collect Receivables on a Timely Basis Â For receivables from Auto Operating Leasing, we usually settle the rental income with each online ride-hailing driver monthly based on the product solutions they chose. In accordance with the development of the operating lease business, our Partner Platforms, such as Gaode, agree to temporarily â€œlock-upâ€ the fares of the rides which Active Drivers earn from the platform to ensure the timely collection of its rental receivables from those Active Drivers. As of June 30, 2024, we had accounts receivable of operating lease of approximately $12,000 in total. Besides, during the three months ended June 30, 2024, we settled our commissions with the Partner Platforms for our online ride-hailing platform services and automobile rental income on a monthly basis. As of June 30, 2024, we had accounts receivable of online ride-hailing service fees of approximately $8,000 in total. We used to advance the purchase price of automobiles and all service expenses when we provide related services to the purchasers. We collect the receivables due from automobile purchasers from their monthly installment payments during the relevant affiliation periods. As of June 30, 2024, we had accounts receivable of approximately $2,000 and advanced payments of approximately $3,000 due from the historical automobile purchasers. Â The efficiency of collection of the monthly and weekly payments has a material impact on our daily operation. Our risk and asset management department has set up a series of procedures to monitor the collection from drivers. Our business department has also set up a stable and close relationship with cooperated platform to ensure the timely collection of commissions. The accounts receivable and advance payments may increase our liquidity risk. We have used the majority of the proceeds from our equity offerings and plan to seek equity and/or debt financings to pay for the expenditure related to the automobile purchase. To pay for the expenditure in advance will enhance the stability of our daily operation and lower the liquidity risk, and attract more customers. Â Ability to Manage Defaults and Potential Guarantee Liability Effectively Â We manage the credit risk arising from the default of automobile purchasers and lessees by performing credit checks on each automobile purchaser or lessee based on the credit reports from Peopleâ€™s Bank of China and third-party credit rating companies, and personal information including residence, ethnicity group, driving history and involvement in legal proceeding. Our risk department continuously monitors the payment by each purchaser and sends them payment reminders. We also keep monitoring the daily gross fare earned by the online ride-hailing drivers, who are our majority customers and run their business through our online ride-hailing platform during the three months ended June 30, 2024. We do this so that we can evaluate their financial conditions and provide them with assistance including the transfer of automobile to a new driver if they are no longer interested in providing ride-hailing services or are unable to earn enough income to make monthly lease/loan payments. Â Further, the automobiles subject to our financing leases are not collateralized by us. As of June 30, 2024, the total value of non-collateralized automobiles was approximately $255,000. We believe our risk exposure of financing leasing is immaterial as we have experienced limited default cases and we are able to re-lease those automobiles to drivers under financing leases. Â 33 Â Â Ability to Cut down the Loss from Ride-Hailing Platform Services Â The growth of our online ride-hailing platform depends in part on our ability to cost-effectively attract and retain online ride-hailing drivers who satisfy our screening criteria and procedures, and to increase their utilization of our platform. However, to attract and retain qualified drivers, we have, among other things, offered incentives for drivers, which would adversely affecting the liquidity and financial performance. Our Ride-Hailing Platform Services has suffered accumulated loss during the past years. Due to the fierce competition of online ride-hailing industry in Chengdu and Changsha, and in order to improve the efficiency of the daily operation and profitability of our platform, we have engaged Anhui Lianma to co-operate the online ride-hailing platform by outsourcing certain daily operation work to it in most of cities our platform operates in Since December 2023. We also reduced the incentives paid to the drivers and had witnessed both the number of Active Drivers on our platform and the total number of the completed orders decreased accordingly. However, both the revenue and the operation loss of the Ride-Hailing Platform Services decreased. Â If we could not maintain the scale of the online ride-hailing drivers who use our platform which may cause we could not generate sufficient revenue and we may have a larger cash outflow in our daily operations in the next twelve months. Our cash flow situation may worsen if the economy in China does not improve as expected. Â Meanwhile, pursuant to the cooperation agreement signed with Didi Chuxing Technology Co., Ltd. (â€œDidiâ€) for our Automobile Transaction and Related Services, we may be penalized by Didi, or our partnership with Didi may be terminated as we now operate a business competitive with Didi. However, the service fees we earned from Didi for automobile transaction and related services currently represent less than 0.1% of our total revenue. Therefore, we believe that the risk of termination of cooperation with Didi on automobile transaction and related services will not have a material influence on our business or results of operations. Â Ability to Compete Effectively Â Our business and results of operations depend on our ability to compete effectively. Overall, our competitive position may be affected by, among other things, our service quality and our ability to price our solutions and services competitively. We will set up and continuously optimize our own business system to improve our service quality and user experience. Our competitors may have more resources than we do, including financial, technological, marketing and others and may be able to devote greater resources to the development and promotion of their services. We will need to continue to introduce new or enhance existing solutions and services to continue to attract automobile dealers, financial institutions, car buyers, lessees, ride-hailing drivers and other industry participants. Whether and how quickly we can do so will have a significant impact on the growth of our business. Â Market Opportunity and Government Regulations in China Â The demand for our services depends on overall market conditions of the online ride-hailing industry in China. The continuous growth of the urban population places increasing pressure on the urban transportation and the improvement of living standards has increased the market demand for quality travel in China. Traditional taxi service is limited, and the emerging online platforms have created good opportunities for the development of the online ride-hailing service market. The market value is expected to increase from RMB354.7 billion in 2024 to RMB751.3 billion in 2028, owing to rising consumer demand for economical mobility options and an amplified penetration of shared mobility services, especially in lower-tier cities. According to the 53th Statistical report on Internet Development in China published in March 2024 by the China Internet Network Information Center (the â€œCNNICâ€), the number of online ride-hailing service users had reached 528 million by the end of December 2023, and took approximately 48.3% of the total number of Chinese internet users. In addition, in recent years, aggregation platforms have gained rising significance in the shared mobility industry. According to Frost & Sullivan, the portion of ride hailing orders fulfilled through aggregation platforms increased from 3.5% in 2018 to 30.0% in 2023, and is expected to further increase to 49.0% by 2028. The online ride-hailing industry is also facing increasing competition in China and is attracting more capital investment. For example, Dida Inc., Chenqi Technology Limited and CaoCao Inc. have filed their prospectuses to the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited in March 2024 and April 2024, respectively. Â 34 Â Â However, the participants in the online ride-hailing industry are facing increasingly fierce competitions. According to the Ministry of Transportation (the â€œMOTâ€) of the Peopleâ€™s Republic of China, as of June 30, 2024, approximately 354 online ride-hailing platforms have obtained booking taxi operating licenses and the total volume of online ride-hailing orders was approximately 971 million in June 2024 in China, representing an increase of approximately 11% and 27% as compared with the ones as of June 30, 2023, respectively. Meanwhile, approximately 3.01 million online booking taxi transportation certificates and approximately 7.13 million online booking taxi driverâ€™s licenses were issued nationwide in China, representing an increase of approximately 24% and 23% as compared with the ones as of June 30, 2023, respectively. Since 2023, the municipal transportation bureaus in a series of cities in China have released operational dynamics and risk warnings for the online ride-hailing industry, stating that the online ride-hailing market has become saturated. They remind enterprises and practitioners who intend to engage in online ride-hailing services should have a detailed understanding of relevant regulations, conduct market research, fully consider changes in operating income due to factors such as supply and demand, market conditions, fluctuations or continuous declines, objectively evaluate the actual income level of industry practitioners, and make rational and prudent career choices. Â The online ride-hailing industry may also be affected by, among other factors, the general economic conditions in China. The interest rates and unemployment rates may affect the demand of ride-hailing services and automobile purchasersâ€™ willingness to seek credit from financial institutions. Adverse economic conditions could also reduce the average income of individual and intensify the competition between platforms. The platforms may spend more incentives and increase promotion activities to attract more riders and maintain sufficient online ride-hailing drivers to provide transportation services to riders. Should any of those negative situations occur, the volume and value of the automobile transactions we service will decline, and our revenue and financial condition will be negatively impacted. Â In order to manage the rapidly growing ride-hailing service market and control relevant risks, on July 27, 2016, seven ministries and commissions in China, including the MOT, jointly promulgated the â€œInterim Measures for the Administration of Online Taxi Booking Business Operations and Servicesâ€ (â€œInterim Measuresâ€) and amended it on December 28, 2019 and November 30, 2022, which legalizes online ride-hailing services such as XXTX and requires the online ride-hailing services to meet the requirements set out by the measures and obtain taxi-booking service licenses and take full responsibility of the ride services to ensure the safety of riders. Â On November 5, 2016, the Municipal Communications Commission of Chengdu City and a number of municipal departments jointly issued the â€œImplementation Rules for the Administration of Online Booking Taxi Management Services for Chengduâ€, which was abolished and replaced by the updated version issued on July 26, 2021. On August 10, 2017, the Transportation Commission of Chengdu further issued the guidelines on compliance requirements for online ride-hailing businesses, including Working Process for the Online Appointment of Taxi Drivers Qualification Examination and Issuance and Online Appointment Taxi Transportation Certificate Issuance Process. On November 28, 2016, Guangzhou Municipal Peopleâ€™s Government promulgated Interim Measures for the Management of Online Ride Hailing Operation and Service in Guangzhou, as amended on November 14, 2019. According to these regulations and guidelines, three licenses /certificates are required for operating the online ride-hailing business in Chengdu and Guangzhou: (1) the ride-hailing service platform such as XXTX should obtain the online booking taxi operating license; (2) the automobiles used for online ride-hailing should obtain the online booking taxi transportation certificate (â€œautomobile certificateâ€); (3) the drivers should obtain the online booking taxi driverâ€™s license (â€œdriverâ€™s licenseâ€). Besides, all the new cars used for online ride-hailing in Chengdu should be NEVs since July 2021. Â On July 23, 2018, the General Office of Changsha Municipal Peopleâ€™s Government issued the â€œDetailed Rules for the Administration of Online Booking Taxi Management Services for Changsha.â€ On June 12, 2019, the Municipal Communications Commission of Changsha City further issued â€œTransfer and Registration Procedures of Changsha Online Booking of Taxi.â€ According to the regulations and guidelines, to operate a ride-hailing business in Changsha requires similar licenses in Chengdu, except those automobiles used for online ride-hailing services are required to meet certain standards, including that the sales price (including taxes) is over RMB120,000 (approximately $17,000). In practice, Hunan Ruixi is also required to employ a safety administrator for every 50 automobiles used for online ride-hailing services and submit daily operation information of these automobiles such as traffic violation to the Transport Management Office of the Municipal Communications Commission of Changsha City every month. On November 28, 2016, Guangzhou Municipal Peopleâ€™s Government also promulgated Interim Measures for the Management of Online Ride Hailing Operation and Service in Guangzhou, as amended on November 14, 2019. Â 35 Â Â In addition to the national online reservation taxi operating license, XXTX and its subsidiaries also obtained the online reservation taxi operating license in 29 cities, including Chengdu, Changsha, Tianjin, six cities in Jiangsu Province, five cities in Sichuan Province, three cities in Guizhou Province, and 12 cities in other 10 provinces from June 2020 to October 2023, to operate the online ride-hailing platform services. Â However, approximately 32% of our ride-hailing drivers have not obtained the driverâ€™s license for online ride-hailing services as of June 30, 2024 while all of the cars used for online ride-hailing services which we provided management services have the automobile certificate. Without requisite automobile certificate or driverâ€™s license, these drivers may be suspended from providing ride-hailing services, confiscated their illegal income and subject to fines of up to 10 times of their illegal income. Starting in December 2019, Didi began to enforce such limitation on drivers in Chengdu who have a driverâ€™s license but operate automobiles without the automobile certificate. Meanwhile, during the three months ended June 30, 2024, Gaode conducted several rounds of compliance checks in Chengdu and other cities. Gaode reduced the number of orders dispatched to XXTX platform as it found certain drivers who provide their online ride-hailing services through our platform without obtaining the driverâ€™s licenses during the check. Accordingly, we have strengthened the driversâ€™ qualification check, and the decrease in the number of drivers without licenses further resulted to the decrease in the number of orders completed through XXTX platform. Thus, our revenue from online ride-hailing platform services decreased during the three months ended June 30, 2024 as compared with last year. Â Furthermore, according to the Interim Measures, no enterprise or individual is allowed to provide information for conducting online ride-hailing services to unqualified vehicles and drivers. Pursuant to the Interim Measures, XXTX and its subsidiaries may be fined between RMB5,000 to RMB30,000 ($688 to $4,128) for violations of the Interim Measures, including providing online ride-hailing platform services to unqualified drivers or vehicles. During the three months ended June 30, 2024, we have been fined by approximately $3,000 by Traffic Management Bureaus in Changsha. If we are deemed in serious violation of the Interim Measures, our Online Ride-hailing Platform Services may be suspended and the relevant licenses may be revoked by certain government authorities. Â We are in the process of assisting the drivers to obtain the required certificate and license both for our Automobile Transaction and Related Services and our Online Ride-hailing Platform Services. However, there is no guarantee that all of the drivers who run their online ride-hailing business through our platform would be able to obtain all the certificates and licenses. Our business and results of operations shall be materially and adversely affected if our affiliated drivers are suspended from providing ride-hailing services or imposed substantial fines or if we are found to be in serious violation of the Interim Measures due to the driversâ€™ failure to obtain requite licenses and/or automobile certificates in connection with providing services through our platform. Â The Chinese government has exercised and continued to exercise substantial control over virtually every sector of the Chinese economy through regulation and state ownership. For example, the Chinese cybersecurity regulator announced on July 2, 2021 that it had begun an investigation of Didi and two days later ordered that the companyâ€™s app be removed from smartphone app stores. We believe that our current operations are in compliance with the laws and regulations of the Chinese cybersecurity regulator. However, the Companyâ€™s operations could be adversely affected, directly or indirectly, by existing or future laws and regulations relating to its business or industry. Â Revenue for the three months ended June 30, 2024 decreased by $972,314, or approximately 46%, as compared with the three months ended June 30, 2023. The decrease was mainly due to the decrease of $662,215 of revenues from online ride-hailing platform services resulted from the decrease in orders caused by the market competition, and the decrease of $300,079 of operating lease revenues from automobile rentals resulted from the decrease number of the automobiles for operating lease. Â As we focus on our automobile rental business currently, we expect revenue from our automobile rental to continuously account for a majority of our revenues. We plan to provide a series of product solutions to sustain and further increase the number of our automobiles for operating leases. Â The following table sets forth the breakdown of revenues by revenue source for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â ForÂ theÂ ThreeÂ MonthsÂ EndedÂ Â Â June 30,Â Â Â 2024Â Â 2023Â Â Â (unaudited)Â Â (unaudited)Â Revenue from automobile transactions and related servicesÂ $879,009Â Â $1,189,108Â - Operating lease revenues from automobile rentalsÂ Â 756,315Â Â Â 1,056,394Â - Monthly services commissionsÂ Â 26,254Â Â Â 50,590Â - Financing revenuesÂ Â 22,176Â Â Â 13,600Â - Service fees from NEVs leasingÂ Â 22,094Â Â Â 20,271Â - Service fees from automobile purchase servicesÂ Â 21,738Â Â Â 12,232Â -Â Revenues from sales of automobilesÂ Â â€”Â Â Â 5,044Â - Other service feesÂ Â 30,432Â Â Â 30,977Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Revenue from online ride-hailing platform servicesÂ Â 243,391Â Â Â 905,606Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Â Total RevenueÂ $1,122,400Â Â $2,094,714Â Â 37 Â Â Revenue from Automobile Transactions and Related Services Â Revenue from our automobile transaction and related services mainly includes operating lease revenues from automobile rentals, monthly services commissions, financing revenues, service fees from NEVs leasing, service fees from automobile purchase services, and other services fees, which accounted for approximately 86.0%, 3.0%, 2.5%, 2.5%, 2.5%, and 3.5%, respectively, of the total revenue from automobile transaction and related services during the three months ended June 30, 2024. Meanwhile, operating lease revenues from automobile rentals, monthly services commissions, financing revenues, service fees from automobile purchase services, sales revenue of automobiles and other services fees, which accounted for approximately 88.8%, 4.3%, 1.1%, 1.7%, 1.0%, 0.4% and 2.7%, respectively, of the total revenue from automobile transaction and related services during the three months ended June 30, 2023. Â Operating lease revenues from automobile rentals Â We generate revenues from leasing our own automobiles, sub-leasing automobiles leased from third-parties or rendered by online ride-hailing drivers with their authorization for a lease term of no more than twelve months. The decrease of rental income of $300,079 or approximately 28.4% during the three months ended June 30, 2024 was mainly due to the decrease in the number of the automobiles leased for operating lease. We leased approximately 640 automobiles with an average monthly rental income of approximately $413 per automobile, resulting in a rental income of $756,315, including rental income of $5,243 from Jinkailong, for the three months ended June 30, 2024. While we leased over 1,000 automobiles with an average monthly rental income of approximately $491 per automobile, resulting in a rental income of $1,056,394, including rental income of $13,748 from Jinkailong, for the three months ended June 30, 2023. Â Monthly services commissions Â We generated revenues of $26,254 and $50,590 from the monthly management and related services provided to our Partner Platforms and other companies during the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. The decrease of $24,336 or approximately 48.1% was due to decrease in the number of the automobiles and drivers we served, who ran their business through the Partner Platforms. Â Financing revenues Â We started our financial leasing business in March 2019 and began to generate interest income from providing financial leasing services to ride-hailing drivers in April 2019. We also charge the customers of our automobile financing facilitation services interest on their monthly payments which cover purchase price of automobile and our services fees and facilitation fees for terms of 36 or 48 months. We recognized a total interest income of $22,176 from an average monthly number of 38 automobiles and $13,600 from an average monthly number of 41 automobiles during the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. The increase was due to the monthly payment we charged to customers for financial leasing increased during the three months ended June 30, 2024. Â Service fees from NEVs leasing Â We generated revenues of $22,094 and $20,271 from leasing NEVs by charging leases service fees during the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. The amount of services fees for NEVs leasing is based on its product solutions. Â Service fees from automobile purchase services Â We generate revenues from providing a series of automobile purchase services throughout the automobile purchase transaction process, including sales-type lease. We had revenue from 16 automobiles purchase transaction during the three months ended June 30, 2024 while we had revenue from 5 automobile purchase services during the three months ended June 30, 2023. As a result, the related service fees generated increased $9,506 from $12,232 during the three months ended June 30, 2023 to $21,738 during the three months ended June 30, 2024. Â Sales of automobiles Â We had no income from sales of automobiles during the three months ended June 30, 2024. Meanwhile, we sold one used automobile with income of $5,044 during the three months ended June 30, 2023. Â 38 Â Â Other Service fees Â We generate other revenues from other miscellaneous service fees charged to our customers. Other services fees mainly include the maintenance fees charged to our customers pursuant to certain new production solutions. Â Revenue from online ride-hailing platform services Â We generate revenue from providing services to online ride-hailing drivers to assist them in providing transportation service to the riders though our platform and earn commissions for each completed order equal to the difference between an upfront quoted fare and the amount earned by a driver based on actual time and distance for the ride charged to the rider since October 2020. During the three months ended June 30, 2024, approximately 0.4 million rides with gross fare of approximately $1.3 million were completed through our Xixingtianxia platform and we earned online ride-hailing platform service fees of $243,391, after netting off approximately $24,000 incentives paid to Active Drivers. Â During the three months ended June 30, 2023, approximately 1.7 million rides with gross fare of approximately $5.3 million were completed through our Xixingtianxia platform and we earned online ride-hailing platform service fees of $905,606, after netting off approximately $0.1 million incentives paid to Active Drivers. The decrease was mainly due to fewer completed orders as a result of increased competition and we have shrunk our investment in the Online Ride-hailing Platform Services. Â Cost of Revenues Â Cost of revenues represents (1) the amortization of ROUs, depreciation and rental cost of automobiles, daily maintenance and insurance expense of automobiles which related to our Auto Operating Leasing of $626,039; and (2) technical service charges, insurance and other expenses related to our Online Ride-Hailing Platform Services of $175,826. Cost of revenues decreased by $710,909 or approximately 47% during the three months ended June 30, 2024 as compared with the same period in 2023, mainly due to the decrease of $283,472 in costs of automobiles under operating leases due to the decrease in the number of the automobiles leased for operating lease in the three months ended June 30, 2024, decrease of $420,897 in direct expense and technical service fees of online ride-hailing platform services due to the decrease in the number of completed orders, and the decrease of $6,540 in costs of our Auto Sales. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the costs of automobiles under operating leases with amount of $1,627 and $210,179, respectively, was from a related party. Â Gross Profit Â We had gross profit of $320,535 and $581,940, respectively, during the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023. The decrease of $261,405 was mainly due to the decrease in profit from online ride-hailing platform services. The following table sets forth the breakdown of gross profit (loss) by major revenue source for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â ForÂ theÂ ThreeÂ MonthsÂ EndedÂ Â Â June 30,Â Â Â 2024Â Â 2023Â Â Â (unaudited)Â Â (unaudited)Â - Auto Operating LeasingÂ $130,276Â Â $146,883Â - Other Automobile transaction and related ServicesÂ Â 122,694Â Â Â 127,670Â - Auto SalesÂ Â â€”Â Â Â (1,496) - Online Ride-Hailing Platform ServicesÂ Â 67,565Â Â Â 308,883Â Total Gross ProfitÂ $320,535Â Â $581,940Â Â We had a gross profit of $67,565 in our online ride-hailing platform services during the three months ended June 30, 2024, which decreased by $241,318 from a gross profit of $308,883 in the three months ended June 30, 2023. The decrease was attributable to the decrease of gross fare of rides completed through our Xixingtianxia platform from approximately $5.3 million for the three months ended June 30, 2023 to approximately $1.3 million for the three months ended June 30, 2024, respectively. As the gross margin of the revenues from our Auto Business increased during the three months ended June 30, 2024, our overall gross profit margin of slightly increased to approximately 28.6% from approximately 27.8% during the three months ended June 30, 2023. Â 39 Â Â Selling, General and Administrative Expenses Â Selling, general and administrative expenses primarily consist of salary and employee benefits, office rental expense, travel expenses, and other costs. Selling, general and administrative expenses decreased from $1,243,289 for the three months ended June 30, 2023 to $940,268 for the three months ended June 30, 2024, representing a decrease of $303,021, or approximately 24.4%. The decrease was attributable to our continuous control on costs and streamline expenses during the three months ended June 30, 2024. The decrease mainly consists of (1) a decrease of $184,677 in salary and employee benefits as the average monthly number of our employees decreased from 116 to 67; and (2) a decrease of $117,963 in entertainment, advertising and promotion as we cut down market promotion expenditure in accordance with the market change in the three months ended June 30, 2024. Â Provision for credit losses Â We re-evaluated the possibility of collection of unsettled balances from customers/suppliers of our automobile transactions and related services, and provided provision for credit losses of $173,441 and $127,073 against receivables from Jinkailong for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, respectively. Â Other income, net Â For the three months ended June 30, 2024, we had other income, net of $47,656, which primarily consist of the (1) penalty income of approximately $32,000 from the customers; (2) income of approximately $3,000 from the disposal of our own vehicles used for operating leases; and (3) the miscellaneous income of approximately $13,000. For the three months ended June 30, 2023, we had other income, net of $72,149, which primarily consist of the (1) income of approximately $23,000 from the disposal of our right-of-use assets and our own vehicles used for operating leases; (2) penalty income of approximately $23,000 from the customers; and (3) the miscellaneous income of approximately $26,000. Â Interest Expense and Interest Expense on Finance Leases Â Interest expense for the three months ended June 30, 2024 was resulted from the borrowings of XXTX from a financial institution for its working capital turnover. Â Interest expense on finance leases for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023 was $5,088 and $8,722, respectively, representing the interest expense accrued under financing leases for the leased automobiles Corenel leased from a third-party company, and the leased automobiles rendered to us for sublease or sale by the online ride-hailing drivers who exited the ride-hailing business. Â Change in Fair Value of Derivative Liabilities Â Warrants issued in our registered direct offerings that took place in September 2019, February 2021 and May 2021, and the August 2020 underwritten public offering, and the November 2021 private placement were classified as liabilities under the caption â€œDerivative Liabilitiesâ€ in the consolidated balance sheet and recorded at estimated fair value at each reporting date, computed using the Black-Scholes valuation model. The change in fair value of derivative liabilities for the three months ended June 30, 2024 was a loss of $8,287 in total. The following table sets forth the breakdown of the gain (loss) in fair value of derivative liabilities for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023: Â Â Â ForÂ theÂ ThreeÂ MonthsÂ EndedÂ Â Â June 30,Â Â Â 2024Â Â 2023Â Â Â (unaudited)Â Â (unaudited)Â - June 2019 registered direct offeringÂ $â€”Â Â $6Â - August 2020 underwritten public offeringÂ Â 425Â Â Â 5,681Â - February 2021 registered direct offeringÂ Â 451Â Â Â 7,784Â - May 2021 registered direct offeringÂ Â 1,437Â Â Â 110,333Â - November 2021 private placementÂ Â (10,600)Â Â 180,369Â Total Change in Fair Value of Derivative LiabilitiesÂ $(8,287)Â $304,173Â Â 40 Â Â Income Tax Benefit Â Generally, our subsidiaries are subject to enterprise income tax on their taxable income in China at a rate of 25%. The enterprise income tax is calculated based on the entityâ€™s global income as determined under PRC tax laws and accounting standards. For three months ended June 30, 2024, we had deferred tax benefit of $1,935 resulted from deferred tax, while all the subsidiaries in China suffered losses for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023. Â Net loss Â As a result of the foregoing, net loss for the three months ended June 30, 2024 was $762,818, representing an increase of $341,471 from net loss of $421,347 for the three months ended June 30, 2023. Â Liquidity and Going Concern Â We have financed our operations primarily through proceeds from our equity offerings, stockholder loans, commercial debt and cash flow from operations. Â We had cash and cash equivalents of $748,869 as of June 30, 2024 as compared to $792,299 as of March 31, 2024. We primarily hold our excess unrestricted cash in short-term interest-bearing bank accounts at financial institutions. Â Our business is capital intensive. We have considered whether there is substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern due to (1) the net loss of approximately $0.8 million for the three months ended June 30, 2024; (2) accumulated deficit of approximately $42.1 million as of June 30, 2024; (3) the working capital deficit of approximately $3.3 million as of June 30, 2024; and (4) a purchase commitment of approximately $0.9 million for 100 automobiles. As of the filing date of this Report, we have entered into a purchase contract with an automobile dealer to purchase a total of 100 automobiles in the amount of approximately $1.5 million, of which, approximately $0.6 million has been remitted as purchase prepayments. The remaining purchase commitment of approximately $0.9 million shall be remitted in installment to be completed before March 31, 2025. Â We do not believe that the proceeds from our public offerings and our anticipated cash flows would be sufficient to meet our anticipated working capital requirements and capital expenditures in the ordinary course of business for the next 12 months from the filing date of this Report. We have determined there is substantial doubt about our ability to continue as a going concern. If we are unable to generate significant revenue, we may be required to cease or curtail our operations. We are trying to alleviate the going concern risk through the following sources: Â Â â— equity financing to support our working capital; Â Â â— other available sources of financing (including debt) from PRC banks and other financial institutions; and Â Â â— financial support and credit guarantee commitments from our related parties. Â Based on the above considerations, we are of the opinion that we will probably not have sufficient funds to meet our working capital requirements and debt obligations as they become due one year from the filing date of this Report, if we are unable to obtain additional financing. However, there is no assurance that we will be successful in implementing the foregoing plans or that additional capitals will be available to us on commercially reasonable terms, or at all. There are a number of factors that could potentially arise that could undermine our plans, such as (i) changes in the demand for our services, (ii) PRC government policies, (iii) economic conditions in China and worldwide, (iv) competitive pricing in the automobile transaction and related service and ride-hailing industries, (v) changes in our relationships with key business partners, (vi) that financial institutions in China may not able to provide continued financial support to our customers, and (vii) the perception of PRC-based companies in the U.S. capital markets. Our inability to secure needed financing when required could require material changes to our business plans and could have a material adverse effect on our viability and results of operations. Â Â Â ForÂ theÂ ThreeÂ MonthsÂ EndedÂ Â Â JuneÂ 30,Â Â Â 2024Â Â 2023Â Â Â (unaudited)Â Â (unaudited)Â Net Cash Provided by Operating ActivitiesÂ $16,762Â Â $204,866Â Net Cash Provided by (Used in) Investing ActivitiesÂ Â 7,250Â Â Â (330,066) Net Cash Used in Financing ActivitiesÂ Â (53,707)Â Â (247,322) Effect of Exchange Rate Changes on Cash, Cash Equivalents and Restricted CashÂ Â (13,484)Â Â (63,773) Cash, Cash Equivalents and Restricted Cash at Beginning of the PeriodÂ Â 794,636Â Â Â 1,610,090Â Cash, Cash Equivalents and Restricted Cash at End of the PeriodÂ $751,457Â Â $1,173,795Â Â 41 Â Â Cash Flow in Operating Activities Â For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, net cash provided by operating activities was $16,762 and $204,866, respectively. Â The decrease $188,104 in net cash provided by operating activities for the three months ended June 30, 2024 as compared with the three months ended June 30, 2023 was primarily attributable to (1) decrease of $240,859 in the change of accrued expenses and other liabilities (both third parties and due to a related party); (2) increase of $341,471 in net loss; and (3) decrease of $89,937 in the change of accounts payable; partially offset by (4) increase of $312,460 in change of fair value of derivative liabilities (from a gain to a loss); (5) increase of $179,503 in the change of prepayments, other receivables and other assets (both third parties and related party). Â Cash Flow in Investing Activities Â For the three months ended June 30, 2024, we had net cash provided by investing activities of $7,250. The majority of net cash provided by in investing activities was the proceeds from sales of the used-automobiles of $8,433, which was partially offset the purchase furniture for office purpose of $1,183. Â For the three months ended June 30, 2023, we had net cash used in investing activities of $330,066. The majority of net cash used in investing activities was for purchase of automobiles for operating lease purpose of $379,658, which was partially offset by the proceeds from sales of the used-automobiles and rendered automobiles of $49,592. Â Cash Flow in Financing Activities Â For the three months ended June 30, 2024, we had net cash used in financing activities of $53,707, which primarily consisted of: (1) repayments to related parties and affiliates of $43,264; (2) principal payments made for finance lease liabilities of $8,985; (3) repayments of current borrowings from a financial institution of $35,512; partially offset by (4) borrowings from a related party of $20,244; and (5) repayment from a related party of $13,810. Â For the three months ended June 30, 2023, we had net cash used in financing activities of $247,322, which primarily consisted of: (1) repayments to related parties and affiliates of $160,850, (2) principal payments made for finance lease liabilities of $80,667, and (3) repayments of borrowings from a financial institution of $5,805. Â Off-Balance Sheet ArrangementsÂ Â As of the filing date of this Report, we have the following off-balance sheet arrangements that are likely to have a future effect on our financial condition, revenues or expenses, results of operations and liquidity: Â â—Purchase Commitments Â On September 23, 2022, we entered into a purchase contract with an automobile dealer to purchase a total of 100 automobiles for the amount of approximately $1.5 million, of which approximately $0.6 million has been remitted as purchase prepayments, and we expect to fulfill the purchase commitment before March 31, 2025. Â â—Contingent Liabilities Â As Hunan Ruixi holds 35% of equity interest of Jinkailong and has not made any consideration towards to the investment, Hunan Ruixi will subject to the maximum amount of RMB3.5 million (approximately $482,000) of which is equivalent to 35% of liabilities in case Jinkailong is liquidated in accordance with PRCâ€™s company registry compliance. Â 42 Â Â Inflation Â We do not believe our business and operations have been materially affected by inflation. Â Critical Accounting Estimates Â Our unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes have been prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP. The preparation of these consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes requires us to make estimates and judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses, and related disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities. We base our estimates on historical experience and on various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances, the results of which form the basis of making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities that are not readily apparent from other sources. We have identified certain accounting estimates that are significant to the preparation of our financial statements. These estimates are important for an understanding of our financial condition and results of operation. Certain accounting estimates are particularly sensitive because of their significance to financial statements and because of the possibility that future events affecting the estimate may differ significantly from managementâ€™s current judgments. We believe the following critical accounting estimates involve the most significant estimates and judgments used in the preparation of our financial statements. Â In presenting the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements in accordance with U.S. GAAP, management make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported and related disclosures. Estimates, by their nature, are based on judgement and available information. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates. On an ongoing basis, management reviews these estimates and assumptions using the currently available information. Changes in facts and circumstances may cause us to revise our estimates. we base our estimates on past experience and on various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities. Estimates are used when accounting for items and matters including, but not limited to the critical accounting estimates as follows. Â When reading our unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, you should consider our selection of critical accounting policies, the judgment and other uncertainties affecting the application of such policies and the sensitivity of reported results to changes in conditions and assumptions. Our critical accounting policies and practices include the following: (i) fair values of financial instruments, including derivative liabilities; (ii) accounts receivable, net; (iii) property and equipment, net; (iv) intangible assets, net; (v) revenue recognition; and (vi) leases - lessee. See Note 3â€”Summary of Significant Accounting Policies to our consolidated financial statements in the Annual Report for the disclosure of these accounting policies. We believe the following accounting estimates involve the most significant judgments used in the preparation of our financial statements. Â (a)Derivative liabilities Â A contract is designated as an asset or a liability and is carried at fair value on a companyâ€™s balance sheet, with any changes in fair value recorded in a companyâ€™s results of operations. We then determine which options, warrants and embedded features require liability accounting and records the fair value as a derivative liability by using Black-Scholes model. The changes in the values of these instruments are shown in the accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss as â€œchange in fair value of derivative liabilitiesâ€. Â (b)Allowance for credit losses Â Â In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU No. 2016-13, â€œFinancial Instruments â€” Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instrumentsâ€ (â€œASC Topic 326â€), which requires us to measure and recognize expected credit losses for financial assets held and not accounted for at fair value through net income. We adopted this guidance effective April 1, 2023. ASC Topic 326 introduces an approach based on expected losses to estimate the allowance for credit losses, which replaces the previous incurred loss impairment model. The adoption of this guidance did not have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements. Accounts receivable are recognized and carried at original invoiced amount less an estimated allowance for credit losses. We estimate the allowance for credit losses based on an analysis of the aging of accounts receivable, assessment of collectability, including any known or anticipated economic conditions, customer-specific circumstances, recent payment history and other relevant factors. Â The balance of other receivables is unsecured and is reviewed periodically to determine whether their carrying value has become impaired. We consider the balances to be impaired if the collectability of the balances becomes doubtful. We use the individual specific valuation method to estimate the allowance for uncollectible balances. The allowance is also based on managementâ€™s best estimate of specific losses on individual exposures, as well as a provision on historical trends of collections and utilizations. Actual amounts received or utilized may differ from managementâ€™s estimate of credit worthiness and the economic environment. Â 43 Â Â As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the allowance for credit losses represented approximately 7.1% and 4.3% of gross accounts receivable balances, respectively. The provision is recorded against accounts receivable balances, with a corresponding charge recorded in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss. Delinquent account balances are written-off against the allowance for credit losses after management has determined that the likelihood of collection is not probable. Allowance for credit losses balances amounted to $1,535 and $1,545 as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, respectively for accounts receivable. Allowance for credit losses balances amounted to $20,342 and $20,474 as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, respectively for deposits and other receivables. Â (c)Leases - Lessee Â Finance and operating lease ROU assets and lease liabilities are recognized at the commencement date based on the present value of lease payments over the lease term. Since the implicit rate for our leases is not readily determinable, we use our incremental borrowing rate based on the information available at the commencement date in determining the present value of lease payments. The incremental borrowing rate is the rate of interest that we would have to pay to borrow, on a collateralized basis, an amount equal to the lease payments, in a similar economic environment and over a similar term. Â Lease terms used to calculate the present value of lease payments generally do not include any options to extend, renew, or terminate the lease, as we do not have reasonable certainty at lease inception that these options will be exercised. We generally consider the economic life of its operating lease ROU assets to be comparable to the useful life of similar owned assets. We have elected the short-term lease exception; therefore, operating lease ROU assets and liabilities do not include leases with a lease term of twelve months or less. The leases generally do not provide a residual guarantee. The finance or operating lease ROU asset also excludes lease incentives. Lease expense is recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term for operating lease. Meanwhile, we recognize the finance leases ROU assets and interest on an amortized cost basis. The amortization of finance ROU assets is recognized on a straight-line basis as amortization expense, while the lease liability is increased to reflect interest on the liability and decreased to reflect the lease payments made during the period. Interest expense on the lease liability is determined each period during the lease term as the amount that results in a constant periodic interest rate of the automobile loans on the remaining balance of the liability. Â We review the impairment of our ROU assets consistent with the approach applied for our other long-lived assets. We review the recoverability of its long-lived assets when events or changes in circumstances occur, indicating that the carrying value of the asset may not be recoverable. The assessment of possible impairment is based on its ability to recover the carrying value of the asset from the expected undiscounted future pre-tax cash flows of the related operations. We have elected to include the carrying amount of operating lease liabilities in any tested asset group and include the associated operating lease payments in the undiscounted future pre-tax cash flows. Â (d)Impairment of long-lived assets Â Long-lived assets, including property and equipment and intangible assets with finite lives are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances (such as a significant adverse change to market conditions that will impact the future use of the assets) indicate that the carrying value of an asset may not be recoverable. We assess the recoverability of the assets based on the undiscounted future cash flows the assets are expected to generate and recognize an impairment loss when estimated undiscounted future cash flows expected to result from the use of the asset plus net proceeds expected from disposition of the asset, if any, are less than the carrying value of the asset. If an impairment is identified, we would reduce the carrying amount of the asset to its estimated fair value based on a discounted cash flows approach or, when available and appropriate, to comparable market values. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, we did not recognize impairment for property and equipment and intangible assets. Â (e)Valuation of deferred tax assets Â Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance when, in the opinion of management, it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. Current income taxes are provided for in accordance with the laws of the relevant taxing authorities. Â 44 Â Â ItemÂ 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures about Market Risk. Â Not applicable. Â ItemÂ 4. Controls and Procedures. Â Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures Â Based on an evaluation of our disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended), as of June 30, 2024, our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer have concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures were not effective due to the following material weaknesses in our internal control over financial reporting: Â â—We did not have sufficient personnel with appropriate levels of accounting knowledge and experience to address complex U.S. GAAP accounting issues and to prepare and review financial statements and related disclosures under U.S. GAAP. Specifically, our control did not operate effectively to ensure the appropriate and timely analysis of and accounting for unusual and non-routine transactions and certain financial statement accounts; Â â—We are lacking adequate policies and procedures in internal audit function to ensure that our policies and procedures have been carried out as planned; and Â â—We had deficiencies in our IT general controls, regarding to the Logical Access Security, Change Management, IT Operations and Cybersecurity of our financial system and key application system, etc. Â We are improving our IT environment and daily management to ensure network and information security. In addition, we plan to address the weaknesses identified above by implementing the following measures: Â (i)Continuously seeking and hiring additional accounting staff with comprehensive knowledge of U.S. GAAP and SEC reporting requirements; Â (ii)Ameliorating our internal audit to assist with assessment of Sarbanes-Oxley compliance requirements and improvement of internal controls related to financial reporting; and Â (iii)improving our IT environment and daily management. Â Changes in Internal Control over Financial Reporting Â There has been no change in our internal control over financial reporting that occurred during the quarter ended June 30, 2024 that has materially affected, or is reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting. Â 2 Â Â 1.2 Interpretation Â The terms of this Agreement and their titles are set for the sake of convenience and reading and do not influence the interpretation and meaning of this Agreement. The subject under this Agreement includes not only company but also unincorporated organization, and vice versa. Â Article 2 Declarations and Commitments of Various Parties Â Â 2.1 Declarations and commitments of various parties Â 2.1.1 Various parties under this Agreement hereby declare: Â (1) They have the full power and authorization to sign this Agreement and other project documents under which they serve as a party, and to perform the obligations under such documents; Â (2) The signature and performance of this Agreement or other project documents under which they serve as a party will not violate any agreement under which they serve as a party or that binds on them; Â (3) The parties abide by all key laws, rules, regulations, decrees, orders and all their interpretations by the government that has the right of jurisdiction over them and their business, finance or operation or their properties; Â (4) Their representatives signing this Agreement are affirmed by the valid power of attorney or valid certificate of legal representative to have been granted the full right to sign this Agreement and other project documents under which they serve as a party; Â (5) All data provided by either party to other parties with regard to assets, business, finance and other business aspects according to this Agreement are true, accurate and complete in all major aspects. Â 2.1.2 The Transferor and the target company hereby make the following special commitment: Â (1) They have disclosed truthfully and completely the capital list of the target company and its affiliates (see Appendix 1), unsettled lawsuits and uncompleted traffic accidents, and (see Appendix 2) as of [June] [24], [2024] (hereinafter referred to as â€œthe base dateâ€); Â (2) The target company and its affiliates have lawfully acquired the licenses, qualifications and permits required by businesses (see Appendix 3 for the qualifications and permits). The businesses shall be carried out by always and continuously following their articles of association and all applicable laws. Â (3) The salary, social insurance, housing accumulation fund, etc. that the target company and its affiliates shall pay the employees prior to the date of delivery shall be borne by the Transferor. Should the target company and its affiliates be requested to pay the employee salary, social insurance, housing accumulation fund, etc. generated prior to the date of delivery after the date of delivery, the Transferor shall make treatment immediately in order to avoid any influence on the target company. Otherwise, the Transferor shall pay the target company liquidated damages, which shall be 20% of the requested amount. Â 3 Â Â (4) As of the signing date of this Agreement, the registered capital of the target company is RMB 50,800,000, and the paid-in capital contribution is RMB 31,338,186.76; the registered capital and paid-in capital of Chengdu Xixingtianxia is RMB 30 million and RMB 15,350,000. There are no distribution defects, such as false contributions, withdrawal of contributions, etc. in the above-mentioned paid-in contributions. Â (5) If the target company and its affiliates have any undisclosed debts and defective capital contribution, etc. prior to the date of delivery, which leads to any loss to the target company and its affiliates after the date of delivery, the Purchaser and the target company shall have the right to recover the loss arising therefrom from the Transferor. Â 2.1.3 The Purchaserâ€™s declarations and commitments Â (1) The Purchaser hereby commits that the source of the purchase capital paid under this Agreement is legal and free from the possibility where the capital above is confiscated by the responsible government authority or claimed by any third party. Â (2) The Purchaser hereby commits that it, on the basis of the due diligence carried out for the target company and its affiliates, recognizes the financial and taxation treatment mode of the target company and its affiliates. The financial and taxation issues shall be treated and borne by the Purchaser at its sole discretion and are not related to the Transferor. Â 2.2 Restatement Â The parties hereto restate that each statement that they make according to 2.1 of this Agreement on the base date, signature date of this Agreement and date of change registration upon the completion of transaction is true in all aspects. Â Article 3 Purchase Â 3.1 The transfer object under this Agreement is 100% equities of the Company and relevant rights and interests of the target company and its affiliates (hereinafter referred to as â€œthe target equitiesâ€) (â€œthis transactionâ€). Â 3.2 The parties hereto confirm one real estate is registered under the name of Chengdu Xixingtianxia (No. of real estate property certificate: [C. (2002) X.D.Q.B.D.C.Q. No. ; location: Room 2, 2/F, Unit 3, Building 3, No. 174, Xinduwai South Street, Xindu District] (hereinafter referred to as â€œthe excluded real estate propertyâ€). [Hu Xiang, ID Card No. ] is the actual property owner of the excluded real estate property and Chengdu Xixingtianxia holds the excluded real estate property for and on behalf of Hu Xiang. The original of the real estate property certificate shall be kept by Hu Xiang. Chengdu Xixingtianxia does not enjoy any right against the excluded real estate property. Therefore, this transaction does not include excluded real estate property. Â 3.3 The parties hereto agree the target companyâ€™s creditorâ€™s rights and debts as of the base date are treated according to the following mode: Â (1) â€œSalary of Xixingtianxia employeesâ€ is RMB [735,238.55] (including compensation for employees, subject to the actual amount), â€œfees prior to rebate â€“ outsourcingâ€ are RMB [228,786.56], both of which amount to RMB [964,025.11], and shall be, together with employeesâ€™ salary, social insurance, housing accumulation fund, compensation, etc. after the base date, shall be borne by the Transferor. The Transferor hereby commits to pay off the account payable above prior to [October] [15], [2024]. Â 4 Â Â (2) The target companyâ€™s other debts except for the items above (hereinafter referred to as â€œthe to-be-repaid debtsâ€) shall be borne by the Purchaser. If some to-be-repaid debts (such as bank loan) become mature earlier than expected by this transaction, the Purchaser shall still be responsible for repayment. If the Purchaser fails to repay and treat the to-be-repaid debts in time, causing any loss to a third party, the Purchaser shall bear the responsibilities arising therefrom. In case where the Transferor or the Guarantor suffers any loss by the case above (including but not limited to the case where the Transferor and the Guarantor is requested to bear the debts above at any time), the Purchaser shall make compensation. Â Except for the liabilities disclosed in the capital list on the base date, all parties agree that the assets and liabilities of the target company and its affiliates are subject to the financial data disclosed by the target company and its affiliates on June 30, 2024. If there is any undisclosed debt that had existed but was not disclosed before June 30, 2024, the Transferor shall bear its own responsibility. All parties agree that if the financial data disclosed on June 30, 2024 involves creditorâ€™s rights and debts relationship other than this transaction, the target company and its affiliates shall handle, adjust and dispose of all kinds of assets and liabilities as of June 30, 2024 according to the scheme agreed by all parties hereto before [August] [31], [2024], so as to ensure that the target company and its affiliates have no other liabilities externally. Such plans shall be separately agreed upon in writing by both parties. Â 3.4 The parties hereto confirm the purchase under this Agreement is debt assumption takeover. The Purchaser agrees to provide the target company with capital according to the following provisions to repay the principal of bank loan in Appendix 1 Capital List of the target company as of the base date (subject to the actual amount). The down payment above shall be used to repay the bank loan borrowed by the target company from WeBank Co., Ltd.; the Transferor shall not use it for any other purposes; otherwise, the Purchaser shall have the right to terminate this agreement unilaterally, and this transaction is seen as having failed by the Transferorâ€™s cause and the Transferor shall assume the corresponding violation liabilities arising therefrom; Â (2) If the Purchaser pays off the bank loan above in lump sum, the Purchaser shall, within 3 working days after finishing Party Câ€™s equity change, pay the total balance of the bank loan to the target company for repaying the entire bank loan (about RMB 1.18 million, subject to the actual amount); Â (3) a\If the Transferee makes repayment by installment, the Transferee shall, within 3 working days after Party Câ€™s equity changes, pay the rest principal and interests in the loan contract of RMB 1 million loan principal to the target company for repaying the bank loan (total: RMB 667,000, including a down payment of RMB 500,000, subject to the actual amount); b\The loan contract whose loan principal is RMB 800,000 (the rest principal is about RMB 550,000, subject to the actual amount). Chengdu Xixingtianxia shall repay the loan continuously by installment on a monthly basis and shall pay off the rest principal in lump sum prior to December 31, 2024, to discharge the joint liabilities of Zhao Wei (ID: ). The Purchaser and Party E shall be jointly and severally liable for such payment responsibilities of the Purchaser. Â 3.5 The purchase consideration of the target equities held by the Transferor as purchased by the Purchaser from the Transferor is RMB [0]. Â 5 Â Â 3.6 The Transferor agrees to submit the application of equity change registration within [5] working days after the target company receives the down payment of RMB 500,000 from the Purchaser. At the same time, if the legal representative, director, supervisor and manager of the target company and its all branches and subsidiaries and the branch companyâ€™s director is acted by â€œZhao Weiâ€, â€œYang Binâ€, â€œBai Dengyangâ€, â€œZou Moâ€ and â€œXu Kanâ€, they shall be changed into the personnel designated by the Purchaser under the Purchaserâ€™s active assistance. The change fees shall be borne by the target company or the Purchaser. â€œThe date of deliveryâ€ is the date when the target companyâ€™s equity is changed. Â Identity information of the legal representative designated by the Purchaser: Name: Wu Huiwen ID card No.:  Â Identity information of the director designated by the Purchaser: Name: Wu Huiwen ID card No.:  Â Identity information of the supervisor designated by the Purchaser:Â Name: Zhang Huaying ID card No.:410185199203136028 Â Identity information of the manager designated by the Purchaser: Name: Wu Huiwen ID card No.:  Â Identity information of the branch director designated by the Purchaser: Name: Wu Huiwen ID card No.:  Â 3.7 The target companyâ€™s all rights and obligations generated after the date of delivery shall be borne by the Purchaser. Â Article 4 Transition Period Â 4.1 Arrangement from the base date to the date of delivery: If the Transferor or its legal representative lends (deals with intercourse fund) capital to the target company after the base date for paying the liabilities and expenses that shall be borne by the Purchaser, the target company or the Purchaser shall refund such funds to such lender before the date of delivery as per 3.3 of this Agreement. Â 4.2 The Transferor hereby commits to the Purchaser that, from the date of signature of this Agreement to the date of delivery (hereinafter referred to as â€œthe transition periodâ€), the Transferor, without the Purchaserâ€™s prior written consent, shall not engage any of the following behaviors: Â (1) Do not dispose of the target companyâ€™s any existing property or document by any means or by allowing the target company to do so, unless otherwise specified in this Agreement; Â (2) Renegotiate on the equity transfer under this Agreement with any other third party; Â (3) Allow the target company to repay any debt that the Transferor shall repay with any of the existing property or provide guarantee of any form for any other third partyâ€™s debts; Â (4) Purchase, dispose of or agree to purchase or dispose of any income, asset, business or set any encumbrance against such income, asset and business, or bear or generate or agree to bear or generate any debt, obligation or fee (no matter whether they have or may probably occur); Â (5) Make any shareholderâ€™s decision, except for the decision made for the purpose of this Agreement and according to the provisions of this Agreement; Â (6) Modify or agree to terminate any major contract; Â (7) Enter into any long-term, onerous, unusual or important agreement, arrangement or obligation; Â (8) If the total amount of expenditure or expenditure agreed or the total amount of expenditure made or agreed exceeds RMB [100,000], both partiesâ€™ approval shall be obtained first; Â Â 6 Â Â (9) Any responsibility or claim is exempted, cancelled or combined; Â (10) Agreement based on which any intellectual property right is cancelled or invalid is granted, modified and agreed or any agreement about the rights above is signed; Â (11) Make any other behavior that does harm to the legitimate rights and interests of the Purchaser after receiving the equities of the target company under this Agreement. Â Article 5 Obligations after Delivery Â 5.1 The Transferor hereby commits that it will, within 3 months after the date of delivery, coordinate with the Purchaser to finish the changes of the persons in charge (except for the personnel in 3.6), and staff responsible for taxation and finance (hereinafter referred to as â€œthe Transferorâ€™s designated responsible personâ€) of the target companyâ€™s all branches. If the person in charge of the Purchaserâ€™s branch needs changing, the Purchaser shall deal with it at its sole discretion and in such case, the Transferor agrees to help with introduction and offer coordination. Â 5.2 The Transferor hereby commits that it will, within [30] days after the date of delivery, transfer the target companyâ€™s business system and data, financial system and data, business license, official seal/special seal for finance/special seal for contract, etc. to the Purchaser. Â 5.3 The Purchaser hereby commits that it will, within 3 months after the date of delivery, replace the person for exchanging with the government organs as reserved by the target company previously, safety officers, employees, and report to the government organs on a timely basis. Â 5.4 The Purchaser hereby commits that it will, prior to [December] [31], [2024], urge Zhao Wei to fully discharge its guarantee responsibilities for the target companyâ€™s bank loan. Otherwise, the Purchaser shall pay Zhao Wei liquidated damages, which are 20% of the total principal and interests of the bank loan that has not been repaid. If Zhao Wei repays the loan for the bank on behalf of the target company by shouldering guarantee responsibilities, the Purchaser shall, besides paying Zhao Wei the fund that Zhao pays in advance in full amount, pay Zhao liquidated damages which are 20% of the amount repaid this time. Party E hereby undertakes to bear joint guarantee responsibilities for this article with the Purchaser. Â 5.5 The Purchaser and Chengdu Xixingtianxia hereby commit that they shall coordinate with the Transferor to dispose the excluded real estate property unconditionally, as long as the Transferor proposes such requirements, including but not limited to sign relevant transfer agreements, handling the formalities for the ownership transfer of real estates, etc. If Chengdu Xixingtianxia collects any fee due to the arrangement above, it shall pay the fee in full amount to the Transferor upon receiving it. Where Chengdu Xixingtianxia does not coordinate with the Transferor to perform the obligations above or if the real estate property cannot be disposed by the Purchaserâ€™s reason, the Transferorâ€™s loss arising therefrom shall be compensated by Chengdu Xixingtianxia. Chengdu Xixingtianxia shall not dispose of the real estate property at will. Otherwise, it shall pay liquidated damages which are 30% of the present assessed value of the property. The Purchaser agrees to bear joint liabilities for Chengdu Xixingâ€™s obligations above. Â Article 6 Taxes and Dues Â 6.1 Relevant taxes and dues that need paying for this transaction under this Agreement shall be borne by the parties herein respectively according to laws. Â 7 Â Â Article 7 Confidentiality Â 7.1 Confidentiality Â 7.1.1 Within the term of this Agreement, the parties shall: Â (1) Bear the obligations of holding the confidential information in strict confidence, and do not use the confidential information for any purpose other than the performance of this Agreement; Â (2) The confidentiality term binds on any legal person and natural person subject to this Agreement, including the partiesâ€™ employees, directors, shareholders, consultants, agents or other representatives. If such legal person or natural person violates the confidentiality term, the responsible party shall bear violation responsibilities for other parties. Â 7.1.2 The provisions in 7.1.1 cease to apply to the information set forth below: Â (1) Information that the receiving party has known prior to the disclosure by other parties according to the written records; Â (2) Information that has been made or becomes public not by the receiving partyâ€™s breach of this Agreement; Â (3) Information disclosed by the receiving party according to the requirements of the Chinese laws or at the request of any securities regulatory organ or stock exchange or based on the market requirements; in such case, the receiving party shall provide relevant parties with the confidential information to be disclosed within a reasonable scope; Â (4) Information developed by the receiving party independently without referring to any confidential information. Â 7.1.3 The parties shall urge the directors, senior clerks and other employees of their respective affiliates to abide by the confidentiality obligations listed in Article 7 herein. Â 7.1.4 The parties shall be responsible for damages suffered by any party by breach of any provision in Article. Â 7.2 For the purpose of confidentiality information, the rights and obligations in Article 7 and this Agreement shall remain valid continuously even after this Agreement is cancelled for 5 years. Â Article 8 Force Majeure Â 8.1 Force majeure Â 8.1.1 If the parties hereto cannot perform their obligations herein as per the provisions of this Agreement by force majeure events, the affected parties can suspend performing their obligations within the term of delay caused by the force majeure, and the term shall be postponed automatically, which shall be equal to the term of suspension. In such case, the affected parties shall not be subjected to any punishment. The party claiming the influence of force majeure shall notify the rest parties in writing on a timely basis, and provide the proper and reasonable proof certifying its suffering of force majeure event (the proof shall, where properly, be verified or notarized). The party claiming the influence above shall also make all reasonable efforts to avoid the influence of force majeure. Â 8.1.2 In case of any force majeure events, the parties hereto shall try to bring forth a proper solution via amicable consultation immediately, and make all reasonable efforts to minimize the consequences caused by the force majeure events. Â Article 9 Violation Liabilities Â 9.1 If this transaction fails by the Purchaserâ€™s reason, the down payment that the Purchaser has paid to the target company will not be refunded any longer. If this transaction fails by the Transferorâ€™s cause, the Transferor shall refund all the capitals having been paid by the Purchaser. Â 9.2 If any party under this Agreement violates any obligation, warranty or commitment under this Agreement, resulting in the failure in performing this Agreement or in performing this Agreement continuously, the default party shall be responsible for compensating other partiesâ€™ losses arising therefrom (including reasonable attorney fees). If all parties under this Agreement violate this Agreement, each default party shall bear their respective violation liabilities. Â 8 Â Â Article 10 Cancellation of This Agreement Â 10.1 This Agreement shall be cancelled in any of the following circumstances: Â (1) If the Purchaser fails to pay the down payment within the time specified, the Transferor can cancel this Agreement unilaterally. Â (2) Various parties have finished performing their respective rights and obligations under this Agreement as per the provisions; Â (3) All parties agree to terminate this Agreement after reaching consensus via amicable consultation. Â Article 11 Dispute Resolution Â 11.1 Any dispute arising out of this Agreement, including the existence, effectiveness or cancellation of this Agreement (â€œthe disputesâ€) shall be resolved first by all parties via amicable consultation. Any party can send a written notice on consultation and describing the nature of dispute to the rest parties at any time. If the dispute is not resolved in this manner within forty-five days after one party has given notice in accordance with this provision, either party may submit the dispute to the [Changsha Arbitration Commission] for arbitration. The arbitration shall take place in [Changsha] and shall be conducted in accordance with the effective arbitration rules of the association at that time. Â Article 12 Applicable Law Â 12.1 The conclusion, validity, effectiveness, interpretation and performance of this Agreement as well as all matters related to this Agreement shall be governed by the laws of China. Â 12.2 If any party is subjected to major adverse influence of economic benefits by the Chinese laws, regulations or rules promulgated after this Agreement takes effect or by the modification, interpretation or implementation mode of the existing Chinese laws, regulations or rules, the parties shall make negotiation as quickly as possible and endeavor to implement required adjustment to make various partiesâ€™ economic interests obtained from this Agreement are no lower than the economic benefits that they can obtain when the latest laws, regulations or rules are not promulgated, modified or interpreted or not implemented. Â 12.3 If the target company probably obtains interests that are greater than those specified in this Agreement by the Chinese laws, regulations or rules promulgated after this Agreement takes effect or by the modification, interpretation or implementation mode of the existing Chinese laws, regulations or rules, the parties shall make negotiation as quickly as possible and endeavor to implement required adjustment to make the target company obtain the interests above. Â 9 Â Â Article 13 Supplementary Provisions Â 13.1 Non-waiver Â Any partyâ€™s failure or delay in exercising any right, power or privilege under this Agreement or the appendix herewith shall not be seen as a waiver of such right, power or privilege. Any single or partial exercising of such right, power or privilege does not hinder the partyâ€™s further exercising of such right, power or privilege in the future. Â 13.2 Restraining force Â The parties hereto can revise or supplement any content under this Agreement after their respective representatives sign the corresponding written document. Â 13.3 Severability Â If any one or several terms listed in this Agreement becomes invalid, illegal or non-executable in any aspect according to any Chinese laws, the terms above do not affect the validity, legality and execution of the rest terms herein in any aspect. Â 13.4 Language Â This Agreement is signed in Chinese and is executed in quintuplicate with each party holding one. Â 13.5 Effectiveness and integrity of this Agreement Â This Agreement takes effect once signed and stamped by all parties. All parties herein can modify this Agreement by signing a supplementary agreement. After this Agreement takes effect, this Agreement constitutes the entire agreement on the subject matter among the parties herein upon delivery and shall supersede all the original oral or written agreements and MOUs concluded by and among the parties regarding the subject matter herein. Â 13.6 Official documents Â If the equity transfer agreement of the required format and version needs signing separately for this transaction at the request of the registration organ (hereinafter referred to as â€œthe official documentsâ€), all parties under this Agreement shall offer active coordination. In case of any discrepancy between the official documents and this Agreement, the latter shall prevail. Organization and Principal Activities [Abstract]

ORGANIZATION AND PRINCIPAL ACTIVITIES

1. ORGANIZATION AND PRINCIPAL ACTIVITIES

Senmiao Technology Limited (the "Company") is a U.S. holding company incorporated in the State of Nevada on June 8, 2017. The Company operates its business in two segments:

(i) automobile transaction and related services focusing on the online ride-hailing industry in the People's Republic of China ("PRC" or "China") through the Company's wholly owned subsidiary, Chengdu Corenel Technology Co., Ltd., a PRC limited liability company ("Corenel"), and its majority owned subsidiaries, Chengdu Jiekai Yunli Technology Co., Ltd. ("Jiekai"), and Hunan Ruixi Financial Leasing Co., Ltd., a PRC limited liability company ("Hunan Ruixi"), and its equity investee company (an entity 35% owned by Hunan Ruixi), Sichuan Jinkailong Automobile Leasing Co., Ltd., a PRC limited liability company ("Jinkailong").

(ii) online ride-hailing platform services through its own platform (known as Xixingtianxia) as described further below, since October 2020, through Hunan Xixingtianxia Technology Co., Ltd., a PRC limited liability company ("XXTX"), which is a wholly owned subsidiary of Sichuan Senmiao Zecheng Business Consulting Co., Ltd. ("Senmiao Consulting"), a PRC limited liability company and wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company. The Company's ride hailing platform enables qualified ride-hailing drivers to provide transportation services in Chengdu, Changsha and other 20 cities in China as of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements.

Hunan Ruixi holds a business license for automobile sales and financial leasing and has been engaged in automobile financial leasing services and automobile sales since March 2019 and January 2019, respectively. The Company also has been engaged in operating leasing services through Hunan Ruixi, Jiekai and its equity investee company, Jinkailong since March 2019. Jinkailong used to facilitate automobile sales and financing transactions for its clients, who are primarily ride-hailing drivers and provides them operating lease and relevant after-transaction services.

As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, Senmiao Consulting has made a cumulative capital contribution of RMB40.30 million (approximately $5.55 million) to XXTX. As of June 30, 2024, XXTX had seven wholly owned subsidiaries and two of them have operations.

The following diagram illustrates the Company's corporate structure as of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements:

Former Voting Agreements with Jinkailong's Other Shareholders

Hunan Ruixi entered into two voting agreements signed in August 2018 and February 2020, respectively, as amended (the "Voting Agreements"), with Jinkailong and other Jinkailong's shareholders holding an aggregate of 65% equity interests. Pursuant to the Voting Agreements, all other Jinkailong's shareholders will vote in concert with Hunan Ruixi on all fundamental corporate transactions in the event of a disagreement for periods of 20 years and 18 years, respectively, ending on August 25, 2038.

On March 31, 2022, Hunan Ruixi entered into an Agreement for the Termination of the Agreement for Concerted Action by Shareholders of Jinkailong (the "Termination Agreement"), pursuant to which the Voting Agreements mentioned above was terminated as of the date of the Termination Agreement. The termination will not impair the past and future legitimate rights and interests of all parties in Jinkailong. Starting from April 1, 2022, the parties no longer maintain a concerted action relationship with respect to the decision required to take concerted action at its shareholders meetings as stipulated in the Voting Agreements. Each party shall independently express opinions and exercise various rights such as voting rights and perform relevant obligations in accordance with the provisions of laws, regulations, normative documents and the Jinkailong's articles of association.

As a result of the Termination Agreement, the Company no longer has a controlling financial interest in Jinkailong and has determined that Jinkailong was deconsolidated from the Company's Unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements effective as of March 31, 2022. However, as Hunan Ruixi still holds 35% equity interests in Jinkailong, Jinkailong is the equity investee company of the Company since then. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the paid-in capital of Jinkailong is zero.

As of June 30, 2024, the Company has outstanding balance due from Jinkailong amounted to $3,088,018, net of allowance for credit losses, of which, $2,922,894 is to be repaid over a period from July 2025 to December 2026, classified as due from a related party, net, non-current. As of March 31, 2024, the Company has outstanding balance due from Jinkailong amounted to $3,245,907, net of allowance for credit losses, of which, $2,747,313 is to be repaid over a period from April 2025 to December 2026, classified as due from a related party, net, non-current. (refer to Note 17).

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, allowance for credit losses due from Jinkailong amounted to $3,252,513 and $3,099,701, respectively. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company recorded provision for credit losses against the balance due from Jinkailong of $173,441 and $127,073, respectively.

Going Concern	3 Months Ended Jun. 30, 2024
Going Concern [Abstract]
GOING CONCERN

2. GOING CONCERN

In assessing the Company's liquidity, the Company monitors and analyzes its cash on-hand and its operating and capital expenditure commitments. The Company's liquidity needs are to meet its working capital requirements, operating expenses and capital expenditure obligations. Debt financing from financial institutions and equity financings have been utilized to finance the working capital requirements of the Company.

The Company's business is capital intensive. The Company's management has considered whether there is substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern due to (1) the net loss of approximately $0.8 million for the three months ended June 30, 2024; (2) accumulated deficit of approximately $42.1 million as of June 30, 2024; (3) the working capital deficit of approximately $3.3 million as of June 30, 2024; and (4) one purchase commitment of approximately $0.9 million for 100 automobiles. As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, the Company has entered into one purchase contract with an automobile dealer to purchase a total of 100 automobiles in the amount of approximately $1.5 million, of which approximately $0.6 million has been remitted as purchase prepayments. The remaining purchase commitment of approximately $0.9 million shall be remitted in installment to be completed before March 31, 2025.

Management has determined there is substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. If the Company is unable to generate significant revenue, the Company may be required to curtail or cease its operations. Management is trying to alleviate the going concern risk through the following sources:

- Equity financing to support its working capital;
- Other available sources of financing (including debt) from PRC banks and other financial institutions; and
- Financial support and credit guarantee commitments from the Company's related parties.

There is no assurance that the Company will be successful in implementing the foregoing plans or that additional financing will be available to the Company on commercially reasonable terms, or at all. There are a number of factors that could potentially arise that could undermine the Company's plans, such as (i) changes in the demand for the Company's services, (ii) PRC government policies, (iii) economic conditions in China and worldwide, (iv) competitive pricing in the automobile transaction and related service and ride-hailing industries, (v) changes in the Company's relationships with key business partners, (vi) the ability of financial institutions in China to provide continued financial support to the Company's customers, and (vii) the perception of PRC-based companies in the U.S. capital markets. The Company's inability to secure needed financing when required could require material changes to the Company's business plans and could have a material adverse effect on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and results of operations. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and liquidation of liabilities in the normal course of business. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of such uncertainties.

Summary of Significant Accounting Policies [Abstract]
SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

3. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

(a) Basis of presentation

The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, including the unaudited condensed consolidated balance sheets as of June 30, 2024, the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss, the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of changes in equity, and the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of cash flows for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, as well as other information disclosed in the accompanying notes, have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP"), and pursuant to the rules and regulations of the SEC and pursuant to Regulation S-X. The interim unaudited condensed financial statements and accompanying notes should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements and the notes thereto, included in the Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2024, which was filed with the SEC on June 27, 2024.

The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and the accompanying notes have been prepared on the same basis as the annual consolidated financial statements and, in the opinion of management, reflect all adjustments, which include only normal recurring adjustments, necessary for a fair statement of the results of operations for the periods presented. The consolidated results of operations for any interim period are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the full year or for any other future years or interim periods.

(b) Foreign currency translation

Transactions denominated in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rates prevailing on the dates of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency using the applicable exchange rates on the date of the balance sheet. The resulting exchange differences are recorded in the statement of operations.

The reporting currency of the Company and its subsidiaries is U.S. dollars ("US$") and the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been expressed in US$. However, the Company maintains the books and records in its functional currency, Chinese Renminbi ("RMB"), being the functional currency of the economic environment in which its operations are conducted.

In general, for consolidation purposes, assets and liabilities of the Company and its subsidiaries whose functional currency is not the US$, are translated into US$, using the exchange rate on the balance sheet date. Revenues and expenses are translated at average rates prevailing during the period. The gains and losses resulting from translation of financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries are recorded as a separate component of accumulated other comprehensive loss within the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of changes in stockholders' equity.

Translation of amounts from RMB into US$ has been made at the following exchange rates for the respective periods:

	June 30, 2024	March 31, 2024
Balance sheet items, except for equity accounts – RMB: US$1:	7.2672	7.2203

	For the three months ended June 30,
	2024	2023
Items in the statements of operations and comprehensive loss, and cash flows – RMB: US$1:	7.2410	7.0130

(c) Use of estimates

In presenting the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements in accordance with U.S. GAAP, management makes estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported and related disclosures. Estimates, by their nature, are based on judgment and available information. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates. On an ongoing basis, management reviews these estimates and assumptions using the currently available information. Changes in facts and circumstances may cause the Company to revise its estimates. The Company bases its estimates on past experience and on various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities. Estimates are used when accounting for items and matters including, but not limited to, revenue recognition, residual values of property and equipment, lease liabilities, right-of-use assets, determinations of the useful lives and valuation of long-lived assets, estimates of allowances for credit losses for receivables and due from related parties, estimates of impairment of long-lived assets, valuation of deferred tax assets and valuation of derivative liabilities.

(d) Fair values of financial instruments

Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 825, Financial Instruments ("Topic 825") requires disclosure of fair value information of financial instruments, whether or not recognized in the balance sheets, for which it is practicable to estimate that value. In cases where quoted market prices are not available, fair values are based on estimates using present value or other valuation techniques. Those techniques are significantly affected by the assumptions used, including the discount rate and estimates of future cash flows. Topic 825 excludes certain financial instruments and all nonfinancial assets and liabilities from its disclosure requirements. Accordingly, the aggregate fair value amounts do not represent the underlying value of the Company. The three levels of valuation hierarchy are defined as follows:

Level 1 Inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or liabilities in active markets.

Level 2 Inputs to the valuation methodology include quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets, and inputs that are observable for the assets or liability, either directly or indirectly, for substantially the full term of the financial instruments.

Level 3 Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value.

The following table sets forth by level within the fair value hierarchy our financial assets and liabilities that were accounted for at fair value on a recurring basis as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024:

	Carrying Value as of June 30, 2024 (Unaudited)	Fair Value Measurement as of June 30, 2024
		Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Derivative liabilities	$ 297,120	$ —	$ —	$ 297,120

		Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Derivative liabilities	$ 288,833	$ —	$ —	$ 288,833

The following is a reconciliation of the beginning and ending balance of the assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis for three months ended June 30, 2024 and for the year ended March 31, 2024:

* Giving retroactive effect to the 1-for-10 reverse stock split effected on April 6, 2022.

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, financial instruments of the Company comprised primarily current assets and current liabilities including cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, accounts receivable, finance lease receivables, prepayments, other receivables and other assets, due from related parties, accounts payable, advance from customers, lease liabilities, accrued expenses and other liabilities, due to related parties, and operating and financing lease liabilities, which approximate their fair values because of the short-term nature of these instruments, and current liabilities of borrowings from a financial institution, which approximate their fair values because of the stated loan interest rate to the rate charged by similar financial institutions.

The non-current portion of finance lease receivables, operating and financing lease liabilities and borrowings from a financial institution were recorded at the gross amount adjusted for the interest using the effective interest rate method. The Company believes that the effective interest rates underlying these instruments approximate their fair values because the Company used its incremental borrowing rate to recognize the present value of these instruments as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024.

Other than as listed above, the Company did not identify any assets or liabilities that are required to be presented on the balance sheet at fair value.

(e) Segment reporting

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker (the "CODM"), which is comprised of certain members of the Company's management team. During the years ended March 31, 2019 and 2021, the Company acquired Hunan Ruixi and XXTX, respectively. The Company evaluated how the CODM manages the businesses of the Company to maximize efficiency in allocating resources and assessing performance. Consequently, the Company presents two operating and reportable segments of automobile transaction and related services and online ride-hailing platform services as set forth in Notes 1 and 20.

(f) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents primarily consist of bank deposits with original maturities of three months or less, which are unrestricted as to withdrawal and use. Cash and cash equivalents also consist of funds received from automobile purchasers as payments for automobiles, funds received from automobile lessees as payments for rentals, which were held at the third-party platforms' fund accounts and which are unrestricted and immediately available for withdrawal and use.

(g) Restricted cash

Restricted cash consists of fund held in the bank accounts of Corenel was frozen by a court order with a prior business partner whom Corenel had cooperation with. The restricted cash of Corenel was $2,588 as of June 30, 2024.

(h) Accounts receivable, net

Accounts receivable are recorded at the invoiced amount less an allowance for any uncollectible accounts and do not bear interest, and are due on demand. The carrying value of accounts receivable is reduced by an allowance that reflects the Company's best estimate of the amounts that will not be collected. An allowance for credit losses is recorded in the period when a loss is probable based on an assessment of specific evidence indicating collection is unlikely, historical bad debt rates, accounts aging, financial conditions of the customer and industry trends. Starting from April 1, 2023, the Company adopted ASU No.2016-13 "Financial Instruments – Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments" ("ASC Topic 326"). Management also periodically evaluates individual customer's financial condition, credit history, and the current economic conditions to make adjustments in the allowance when it is considered necessary. Account balances are charged off against the allowance after all means of collection have been exhausted and the potential for recovery is considered remote. The Company's management continues to evaluate the reasonableness of the valuation allowance policy and update it if necessary. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company record allowance for credit losses of $1,535 and $1,545 against accounts receivable, respectively.

(i) Finance lease receivables

Finance lease receivables, which result from sales-type leases, are measured at discounted present value of (i) future minimum lease payments, (ii) any residual value not subject to a bargain purchase option as finance lease receivables on its balance sheet and (iii) accrued interest on the balance of the finance lease receivables based on the interest rate inherent in the applicable lease over the term of the lease. Management also periodically evaluates individual customer's financial condition, credit history and the current economic conditions to make adjustments in the allowance for credit losses when necessary. Finance lease receivables is charged off against the allowance for credit losses after all means of collection have been exhausted and the potential for recovery is considered remote. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company determined no allowance for credit losses was necessary for finance lease receivables.

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, finance lease receivables consisted of the following:

	June 30, 2024	March 31, 2024
	(Unaudited)
Minimum lease payments receivable	$ 439,504	$ 354,617
Less: Unearned interest	(157,956)	(117,927)
Financing lease receivables	$ 281,548	$ 236,690
Finance lease receivables, current	$ 179,356	$ 144,166
Finance lease receivables, non-current	$ 102,192	$ 92,524

Future scheduled minimum lease payments for investments in sales-type leases as of June 30, 2024 are as follows:

	Minimum future payments receivable
Twelve months ending June 30, 2025	$ 274,982
Twelve months ending June 30, 2026	151,487
Twelve months ending June 30, 2027	13,035
Total	$ 439,504

(j) Property and equipment, net

Property and equipment primarily consist of automobiles, leasehold improvements, computers and other equipment, which are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization less any provision required for impairment in value. Depreciation and amortization is computed using the straight-line method with no residual value based on the estimated useful life. The useful life of property and equipment is summarized as follows:

Categories	Useful life
Leasehold improvements	Shorter of the remaining lease terms or estimated useful lives
Computer equipment	2 - 5 years
Office equipment, fixture and furniture	3 - 5 years
Automobiles	3 - 5 years

The Company reviews property and equipment for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. An asset is considered impaired if its carrying amount exceeds the future net undiscounted cash flows that the asset is expected to generate. If such asset is considered to be impaired, the impairment recognized is the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset, if any, exceeds its fair value determined using a discounted cash flow model. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company did not recognize impairment for property and equipment.

Costs of repairs and maintenance are expensed as incurred and asset improvements are capitalized. The cost and related accumulated depreciation and amortization of assets disposed of or retired are removed from the accounts, and any resulting gain or loss is reflected in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss.

(k) Loss per share

Basic loss per share is computed by dividing net loss attributable to stockholders by the weighted average number of outstanding shares of common stock, adjusted for outstanding shares of common stock that are subject to repurchase.

For the calculation of diluted loss per share, net loss attributable to stockholders for basic loss per share is adjusted by the effect of dilutive securities, including share-based awards, under the treasury stock method and convertible securities under the if-converted method. Potentially dilutive securities, of which the amounts are insignificant, have been excluded from the computation of diluted net loss per share if their inclusion is anti-dilutive.

As of June 30, 2024, the Company's dilutive securities from the outstanding series A convertible preferred stock are convertible into 495,706 shares of common stock. This amount is not included in the computation of dilutive loss per share because their impact is anti-dilutive.

(l) Derivative liabilities

A contract is designated as an asset or a liability and is carried at fair value on the Company's balance sheet, with any changes in fair value recorded in the Company's results of operations. The Company then determines which options, warrants and embedded features require liability accounting and records the fair value as a derivative liability. The changes in the values of these instruments are shown in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss as "change in fair value of derivative liabilities".

(m) Revenue recognition

The Company recognized its revenue under Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (ASC 606). ASC 606 establishes principles for reporting information about the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from the entity's contracts to provide goods or services to customers. The core principle requires an entity to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration that it expects to be entitled to receive in exchange for those goods or services recognized as performance obligations are satisfied. It also requires the Company to identify contractual performance obligations and determine whether revenue should be recognized at a point in time or over time, based on when control of goods and services transfers to a customer.

To achieve that core principle, the Company applies the five steps defined under ASC 606: (i) identify the contract(s) with a customer, (ii) identify the performance obligations in the contract, (iii) determine the transaction price, (iv) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract, and (v) recognize revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation.

The Company accounts for a contract with a customer when the contract is entered into by the parties, the rights of the parties, including payment terms, are identified, the contract has commercial substance and consideration to collect is substantially probable.

Disaggregated information of revenues by business lines are as follows:

Automobile transaction and related services

Operating lease revenues from automobile rentals –The Company generates revenue from sub-leasing automobiles to some online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties and leasing its own automobiles. The Company recognizes revenue wherein an automobile is transferred to the lessees and the lessees has the ability to control the asset, is accounted for under ASC Topic 842. Rental transactions are satisfied over the rental period and is recognized over time. As the operating lease revenue are variable in nature which is based on online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties' performance for a certain period, the Company recognized the revenue from operating lease by using the output method based on periodic settlement between the Company and the online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties when such revenue is probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur. Rental periods are short term in nature, generally are twelve months or less.

Monthly services commissions – Commissions from the services generated from the management and related services provided to Partner Platforms and other companies, which are settled on a monthly basis. The Company recognizes revenues at a point in time when performance obligations are completed and the commission amount is confirmed by the Partner Platforms and other companies, based on their evaluations on the services provided by the Company.

Financing revenues – Interest income from the lease arising from the Company's sales-type leases and bundled lease arrangements are recognized as financing revenues over the lease term based on the effective rate of interest in the lease.

Service fees from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services - Services fees from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services are paid by some lessees who rent new energy electric vehicles from the Company or automobile purchasers for a series of the services provided to them throughout the purchase process such as credit assessment, installment of GPS devices, ride-hailing driver qualification and other administrative procedures. The amount of services fees for NEVs leasing is based on the product solutions while the fees for purchase is based on the sales price of the automobiles and relevant services provided. The Company recognizes revenue at a point in time when above mentioned services are completed, and corresponding an automobile is delivered to the lessee or purchaser. Accounts receivable related to the revenue from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services is collected upon the automobiles are delivered to lessees or purchaser.

Sales of automobiles – The Company generated revenue from sales of automobiles to the customers of Hunan Ruixi. The control over the automobile is transferred to the purchaser along with the delivery of automobiles. The amount of the revenue is based on the sale price agreed by Hunan Ruixi and the customers. The Company recognizes revenues when an automobile is delivered and control is transferred to the purchaser at a point in time. Accounts receivable related to the revenue are being collected within 12 months.

Other service fees – The Company generated other revenues such as miscellaneous service fees charged to its customers for some supporting services provided to online ride-hailing drivers. The Company recognizes revenues at a point in time when performance obligations are completed and the collectability is probable from the customers.

Leases - Lessor

The Company recognized revenue as lessor in accordance with ASC 842. The two primary accounting provisions the Company uses to classify transactions as sales-type or operating leases are: (i) a review of the lease term to determine if it is for the major part of the economic life of the underlying equipment (defined as greater than 75)%; and (ii) a review of the present value of the lease payments to determine if they are equal to or greater than substantially all of the fair market value of the equipment at the inception of the lease (defined as greater than 90%). Automobiles included in arrangements meeting these conditions are accounted for as sales-type leases. Interest income from the lease is recognized in financing revenues over the lease term. Automobile included in arrangements that do not meet these conditions are accounted for as operating leases and revenue is recognized over the term of the lease.

The Company excludes from the measurement of its lease revenues any tax assessed by a governmental authority that is both imposed on and concurrent with a specific revenue-producing transaction and collected from a customer.

The Company considers the economic life of most of the automobiles to be three to five years, since this represents the most common long-term lease term for its automobiles and the automobiles will be used for online ride-hailing services. The Company believes three to five years is representative of the period during which an automobile is expected to be economically usable, with normal service, for the purpose for which it is intended.

The Company's lease pricing interest rates, which are used in determining customer payments in a bundled lease arrangement, are developed based upon the local prevailing rates in the marketplace where its customer will be able to obtain an automobile loan under similar terms from the bank. The Company reassesses its pricing interest rates quarterly based on changes in the local prevailing rates in the marketplace. As of June 30, 2024, the Company's pricing interest rate was 6.0% per annum.

Online ride-hailing platform services

The Company generates revenue from providing services to online ride-hailing drivers ("Drivers") to assist them in providing transportation services to riders ("Riders") looking for taxi/ride-hailing services. The Company earns commissions for each completed ride in an amount equal to the difference between an upfront quoted fare and the amount earned by a Driver based on actual time and distance for the ride charged to the Rider. As a result, the Company bears a single performance obligation in the transaction of connecting Drivers with Riders to facilitate the completion of a successful transportation service for Riders. The Company recognizes revenue upon completion of a ride as the single performance obligation is satisfied and the Company has the right to receive payment for the services rendered upon the completion of the ride. The Company evaluates the presentation of revenue on a gross or net basis based on whether it controls the service provided to the Rider and is the principal (i.e., "gross"), or it arranges for other parties to provide the service to the Rider and is an agent (i.e., "net"). Since the Company is not primarily responsible for ride-hailing services provided to Riders, it does not have discretion in establishing the price of the online ride-hailing service and inventory risk related to the services as the Company earns commissions for each completed order as the difference between an upfront quote fare and the amount earned by a driver based on actual time and distance for ride charged to the rider. Thus, the Company recognizes revenue at a net basis. Incentives paid to Drivers are similar to retrospective volume-based rebates and represent variable consideration that is typically settled weekly or monthly. The Company recorded it as a reduction to revenue by the amount of the incentives to be paid upon completion of the performance criteria.

(n) Significant risks and uncertainties

1) Credit risk

a. Assets that potentially subject the Company to significant concentration of credit risk primarily consist of cash and cash equivalents. The maximum exposure of these assets to credit risk is their carrying amounts as of the balance sheet dates. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, approximately $2,600 and $21,000, respectively, were deposited with a bank in the United States which is insured by the U.S. government up to $250,000. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, approximately $709,000 and $719,000, respectively, were deposited in financial institutions located in mainland China, which were insured by the government authority. Under the Deposit Insurance System in China, an enterprise's deposits at one bank are insured for a maximum of approximately $69,000 (RMB500,000). To limit exposure to credit risk relating to deposits, the Company primarily places cash deposits with large financial institutions in China which management believes are of high credit quality.

The Company's operations are carried out entirely in mainland China. Accordingly, the Company's business, financial condition and results of operations may be influenced by the social, political, economic and legal environments in the PRC as well as by the general state of the PRC economy. In addition, the Company's business may be influenced by changes in PRC government laws, rules and policies with respect to, among other matters, anti-inflationary measures, currency conversion and remittance of currency outside of China, rates and methods of taxation and other factors.

b. In measuring the credit risk of accounts receivable due from the automobile purchasers (the "customers"), the Company mainly reflects the "probability of default" by the customer on its contractual obligations and considers the current financial position of the customer and the risk exposures to the customer and its likely future development.

Historically, most of the automobile purchasers would pay the Company their previously defaulted amounts within one to three months. As a result, the Company would provide full provisions on accounts receivable if the customers default on repayments for over three months. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company record allowance for credit losses of $1,535 and $1,545 against accounts receivable, respectively.

2) Foreign currency risk

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024 substantially all of the Company's operating activities and major assets and liabilities, except for the cash deposit of approximately $2,600 and $21,000, respectively, in U.S. dollars, are denominated in RMB, which are not freely convertible into foreign currencies. All foreign exchange transactions take place through either the People's Bank of China (the "PBOC") or other authorized financial institutions at exchange rates quoted by PBOC. Approval of foreign currency payments by the PBOC or other regulatory institutions requires a payment application together with invoices and signed contracts. The value of RMB is subject to change in central government policies and international economic and political developments affecting supply and demand in the China Foreign Exchange Trading System market. When there is a significant change in value of RMB, the gains and losses resulting from translation of financial statements of a foreign subsidiary will be significantly affected. RMB depreciated from 7.27 RMB into US$1.00 on June 30, 2024 to 7.22 RMB into US$1.00 on March 31, 2024.

(o) Recent accounting pronouncements not yet adopted

The Company considers the applicability and impact of all accounting standards updates ("ASUs"). Management periodically reviews new accounting standards that are issued. Under the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012, as amended (the "JOBS Act"), the Company meets the definition of an emerging growth company and has elected the extended transition period for complying with new or revised accounting standards, which delays the adoption of these accounting standards until they would apply to private companies.

In October 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-06, Disclosure Improvements — codification amendments in response to SEC's disclosure Update and Simplification initiative which amend the disclosure or presentation requirements of codification subtopic 230-10 Statement of Cash Flows—Overall, 250-10 Accounting Changes and Error Corrections— Overall, 260-10 Earnings Per Share— Overall, 270-10 Interim Reporting— Overall, 440-10 Commitments—Overall, 470-10 Debt—Overall, 505-10 Equity—Overall, 815-10 Derivatives and Hedging—Overall, 860-30 Transfers and Servicing—Secured Borrowing and Collateral, 932-235 Extractive Activities— Oil and Gas—Notes to Financial Statements, 946-20 Financial Services— Investment Companies — Investment Company Activities, and 974-10 Real Estate—Real Estate Investment Trusts—Overall. The amendments represent changes to clarify or improve disclosure and presentation requirements of above subtopics. Many of the amendments allow users to more easily compare entities subject to the SEC's existing disclosures with those entities that were not previously subject to the SEC's requirements. Also, the amendments align the requirements in the Codification with the SEC's regulations. For entities subject to existing SEC disclosure requirements or those that must provide financial statements to the SEC for securities purposes without contractual transfer restrictions, the effective date aligns with the date when the SEC removes the related disclosure from Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K. Early adoption is not allowed. For all other entities, the amendments will be effective two years later from the date of the SEC's removal. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the update on the Company's unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and related disclosures.

In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07, which is an update to Topic 280, Segment Reporting: Improvements to reportable Segment Disclosures ("ASU 2023-07"), which enhances the disclosure required for reportable segments in annual and interim consolidated financial statements, including additional, more detailed information about a reportable segment's expenses. ASU 2023-07 will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the pending adoption of AUS 2023-07 on its unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements.

In December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09, which is an update to Topic 740, Income Taxes. The amendments in this update enhances the transparency and decision usefulness of income tax disclosures. ASU 2023-09 will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted for annual financial statements that have not yet been issued or made available for issuance. The amendments in this Update should be applied on a prospective basis. Retrospective application is permitted. The Company is currently evaluating the impact the adoption of ASU 2023-07 will have on its annual and interim disclosures

Warrants

Warrants in Offerings

The Company adopted the provisions of ASC 815 on determining what types of instruments or embedded features in an instrument held by a reporting entity can be considered indexed to its own stock for the purpose of evaluating the first criteria of the scope exception in ASC 815. Warrants issued in connection with the direct equity offering with exercise prices denominated in US dollars are no longer considered indexed to the Company's stock, as their exercise prices are not in the Company's functional currency (RMB), and therefore no longer qualify for the scope exception and must be accounted for as a derivative. These warrants are classified as liabilities under the caption "Derivative liabilities" in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of balance sheets and recorded at estimated fair value at each reporting date, computed using the Black-Scholes valuation model. Changes in the liability from period to period are recorded in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss under the caption "Change in fair value of derivative liabilities."

August 2020 Underwriters' Warrants

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there were 31,808 underwriters' warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a gain of $425 and $5,681 recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $2,794 and $3,219, respectively. As the 1-for-10 reverse stock split on the Company's common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise price of the August 2020 Underwriters' Warrants was adjusted to $6.25.

February 2021 Registered Direct Offering Warrants

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there were 53,262 February 2021 registered direct offering warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a gain of $451 and $7,784 recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $3,882 and $4,333, respectively. As the 1-for-10 reverse stock split on the Company's common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise prices of the Placement Agent Warrants and the ROFR Warrants of the February 2021 Registered Direct Offering were adjusted to $13.80 and $17.25, respectively.

May 2021 Registered Direct Offering Warrants

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there were 594,682 May 2021 registered direct offering warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a gain of $1,437 and $110,333 recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $85,247 and $86,684, respectively. As the 1-for-10 reverse stock split on the Company's common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise price of the May 2021 Registered Direct Offering warrants was adjusted to $10.50.

November 2021 Private Placement Warrants

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there were 5,365,911 November 2021 Private Placement Warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a loss of $10,600 and a gain of $180,369 recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. On November 18, 2022, a holder of November 2021 private placement warrants exercised the warrants on a "cashless" basis. Upon exercise of above-mentioned warrants, the Company reduced the fair value of the warrants and increased the additional paid in capital by $1,533. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $205,197 and $194,597, respectively. As the 1-for-10 reverse stock split on the Company's common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise price of the November 2021 Investors Warrants was adjusted to $1.13.

Restricted Stock Units

On October 29, 2020, the Board approved the issuance of an aggregate of 127,273 restricted stock units ("RSUs") to directors, officers and certain employees as stock compensation for their services for the years ended March 31, 2022. Total RSUs granted to these directors, officers and employees were valued at an aggregate fair value of $140,000. These RSUs will vest in four equal quarterly installments on January 29, 2021, April 29, 2021, July 29, 2021 and October 29, 2021 or in full upon the occurrence of a change in control of the Company, provided that the director, officer or the employee remains in service through the applicable vesting date. The RSUs will be settled by the Company's issuance of shares of common stock in certificated or uncertificated form upon the earlier of (i) vesting date, (ii) a change in control and (ii) termination of the services of the director, officer or employee due to a "separation of service" within the meaning of Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, or the death or disability of such director, officer or employee. As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, all installment of RSUs with an aggregate of 12,727 was vested and 9,545 was settled by the Company. The Company expects to settle the remaining vested RSUs by issuance of shares of common stock before December 31, 2024 and account for the vested RSUs as an addition to both expenses and additional paid-in capital.

Equity Incentive Plan

At the 2018 Annual Meeting of Stockholders of the Company held on November 8, 2018, the Company's stockholders approved the Company's 2018 Equity Incentive Plan for employees, officers, directors and consultants of the Company and its affiliates. In March 2023 and April 2024, the Annual Meeting of Stockholders of Company for the years ended March 31, 2022 and 2023 further approved the amendments to the 2018 Equity Incentive Plan, to increase the number of shares of common stock reserved under the Plan to 1,500,000 shares and 1,800,000 shares, respectively. A committee consisting of at least two independent directors would be appointed by the Board or in the absence of such a committee, the board of directors, will be responsible for the general administration of the Equity Incentive Plan. All awards granted under the Equity Incentive Plan will be governed by separate award agreements between the Company and the participants. As of June 30, 2024, the Company has granted an aggregate of 30,379 RSUs (after reverse split), among which, 26,447 RSUs were issued under the Equity Incentive Plan, 3,182 RSUs were vested but have not been issued while 750 RSUs were forfeited due to two directors ceased to serve on the board of the Company since November 8, 2018. During the three months ended June 30, 2024, no new RSUs were granted.

1-for-10 shares reverse split on common stock

The Company considered the above transactions after giving a retroactive effect to a 1-for-10 reverse stock split of its common stock which became effective on April 6, 2022. The Company believed it is appropriate to reflect the above transactions on a retroactive basis similar to those after a stock split or dividend pursuant to ASC 260. All shares and per share amounts used herein and in the accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been retroactively stated to reflect the effect of the reverse stock split. Upon execution of the 1-for-10 reverse stock split, the Company recognized additional 8,402 shares of common stock due to round up issue.

Conversion Price Adjustment for November 2021 Preferred Shares

Pursuant to the Certificate of Designation for the series A convertible preferred stock signed by the Company and certain institutional investors in November 2021 Private Placement, the initial conversion price of the series A Convertible Preferred Shares was $0.68. If as of the applicable date the conversion price then in effect is greater than the greater of (1) $0.41 (the "Floor Price") (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, stock combinations, recapitalizations and similar events) and (2) 85% of the closing bid price on the applicable date (the "Adjustment Price"), the conversion price shall automatically lower to the Adjustment Price accordingly. As the 1-for-10 reverse stock split on the Company's Common Stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the conversion price and the Floor Price of the Preferred Shares mentioned above were proportionally adjusted. Further, on August 9, 2022, the Company and the investors agreed to reduce the conversion price of the series A Convertible Preferred Shares from $4.10 to $2.00 and to increase the number of the shares of common stock that are available to be issued upon conversion of the Preferred Shares from 1,092,683 to 2,240,000. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there were 991 shares of Series A convertible preferred stock outstanding, respectively, valued at $234,364 recorded as mezzanine equity. As of June 30, 2024, 4,009 shares of Series A convertible preferred stock were converted into 1,871,125 shares of the Company's common stock.

INCOME TAXES

15. INCOME TAXES

The United States of America

The Company is incorporated in the State of Nevada in the U.S., and is subject to U.S. federal corporate income taxes with tax rate of 21%. The State of Nevada does not impose any state corporate income tax.

On December 22, 2017, the U.S. government enacted comprehensive tax legislation commonly referred to as the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (the "Tax Act"). The Tax Act imposes a one-time transition tax on deemed repatriation of historical earnings of foreign subsidiaries, and future foreign earnings are subject to U.S. taxation. The Tax Act also established the Global Intangible Low-Taxed Income (GILTI), a new inclusion rule affecting non-routine income earned by foreign subsidiaries. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company's foreign subsidiaries in China were operating at loss and as such, did not record a liability for GILTI tax.

The Company's net operating loss for U.S. income taxes from U.S for both the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023 amounted to approximately $0.4 million. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company's net operating loss carryforward for U.S. income taxes was approximately $7.9 million and $7.6 million, respectively. The net operating loss carryforward will not expire and is available to reduce future years' taxable income but limited to 80% of income until utilized. Management believes that the utilization of the benefit from this loss appears uncertain due to the Company's operating history. Accordingly, the Company has recorded a 100% valuation allowance on the deferred tax asset to reduce the deferred tax assets to zero on the consolidated balance sheets. Management reviews the valuation allowance periodically and makes changes accordingly.

PRC

Senmiao Consulting, Sichuan Senmiao Ronglian Technology Co., Ltd. ("Sichuan Senmiao"), Hunan Ruixi, Sichuan Senmiao Yicheng Assets Management Co., Ltd. ("Yicheng"), Corenel, Jiekai and XXTX and its subsidiaries are subject to PRC Enterprise Income Tax ("EIT") on the taxable income in accordance with the relevant PRC income tax laws. The EIT rate for companies operating in the PRC is 25%.

As of both June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company's PRC entities associated with discontinued operations had net operating loss carryforwards of approximately $0.9 million. Despite the fact that the net operating loss carryforwards arose from the Company discontinued operation, the Company may still benefit from them as potential deduction against future taxable income. As of June 30, 2024, such net operating loss from discontinued operations will expire from 2025 through 2026, if not used. The Company reviews deferred tax assets for a valuation allowance based upon whether it is more likely than not that the deferred tax asset will not be fully realized. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, full valuation allowance is provided against the deferred tax assets related to the Company's discontinued operations based upon management's assessment as to their realization.

The tax effects of temporary differences from discontinued operations that give rise to the Company's deferred tax assets are as follows:

Uncertain tax positions

The Company evaluates each uncertain tax position (including the potential application of interest and penalties) based on the technical merits, and measure the unrecognized benefits associated with the tax positions. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company did not have any unrecognized uncertain tax positions and the Company does not believe that its unrecognized tax benefits will change over the next twelve months. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company did not incur any interest and penalties related to potential underpaid income tax expenses. According to PRC Tax Administration and Collection Law, the statute of limitations is three years if the underpayment of taxes is due to computational errors made by the taxpayer or withholding agent. The statute of limitations will be extended five years under special circumstances, which are not clearly defined (but an underpayment of tax liability exceeding RMB0.1 million is specifically listed as a special circumstance). In the case of a related party transaction, the statute of limitations is ten years. There is no statute of limitations in the case of tax evasion.

LEASES

18. LEASES

Lessor

The Company's operating leases for automobile rentals have rental periods that are typically short term, generally is twelve months or less. Revenue recognition section of Note 3 (m), the Company discloses that revenue earned from automobile rentals, wherein an identified asset is transferred to the customer and the customer has the ability to control that asset, is accounted for under Topic 842 upon adoption for the three months ended June 30, 2024.

Lessee

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company has engaged in offices and showroom leases which were classified as operating leases.

The Company leased automobiles under operating lease agreements with a term shorter than twelve months which it elected not to recognize lease assets and lease liabilities under ASC 842. Instead, the Company recognized the lease payments in profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term and variable lease payments in the period in which the obligation for those payments is incurred. In addition, the Company had automobiles leases which were classified as finance lease.

The Company's lease agreements do not contain any material residual value guarantees or material restrictive covenants.

The Company recognized lease expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term for operating lease. Meanwhile, the Company recognized the finance leases ROU assets and interest on an amortized cost basis. The amortization of finance ROU assets is recognized on a straight-line basis as amortization expense, while the lease liability is increased to reflect interest on the liability and decreased to reflect the lease payments made during the period. Interest expense on the lease liability is determined each period during the lease term as the amount that results in a constant periodic interest rate of the automobile loans on the remaining balance of the liability.

The ROU assets and lease liabilities are determined based on the present value of the future minimum rental payments of the lease as of the adoption date, using effective interest rate of 6.0%, which is determined using an incremental borrowing rate with similar term in the PRC. As of June 30, 2024, the weighted-average remaining operating and finance lease term of its existing leases is approximately 1.31 and 1.28 years, respectively.

Operating and finance lease expenses consist of the following:

Commitments and Contingencies [Abstract]

COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

19. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES

Contingencies

In measuring the credit risk of guarantee services to automobile purchasers, the Company primarily reflects the "probability of default" by the automobile purchasers on its contractual obligations and considers the current financial position of the automobile purchasers and its likely future development.

The Company manages the credit risk of automobile purchasers by performing preliminary credit checks of each automobile purchaser and ongoing monitoring every month. By using the current credit loss model, management is of the opinion that the Company is bearing the credit risk to repay the principal and interests to the financial institutions if automobile purchasers' default on their payments for more than three months. Management also periodically re-evaluates probability of default of automobile purchasers to make adjustments in the allowance, when necessary, as the Company is the guarantor of the loans.

Purchase commitments

On September 23, 2022, the Company entered into a purchase contract with an automobile dealer to purchase a total of 100 automobiles for the amount of approximately $1.5 million. As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, the Company has remitted approximately $0.6 million as purchase prepayments, and expects to fulfill the purchase commitment before March 31, 2025.

Contingent liabilities for automobile purchasers

Historically, most of the automobile purchasers would pay the Company their previous defaulted amounts within one to three months. In December 2019, a novel strain of coronavirus, or COVID-19, surfaced and it has spread rapidly to many parts of China and other parts of the world, including the United States. The epidemic has resulted in quarantines, travel restrictions, and the temporary closure of stores and facilities in China and elsewhere. Because substantially all of the Company's operations are conducted in China, the COVID-19 outbreak has materially and adversely affected the Company's business operations, financial condition and operating results for 2021 and 2022, including but not limited to decrease in revenues, slower collection of accounts receivable and additional allowance for credit losses. Some of the Company's customers exited the ride-hailing business and rendered their automobiles to the Company for sublease or sale to generate income or proceeds to cover payments owed to financial institutions and the Company. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company recognized an estimated provision loss of approximately $0 and $510 respectively, for drivers who exited the ride-hailing business were not able to make the monthly payments from operations. As of June 30, 2024, there was no contingent liabilities Hunan Ruixi had for the automobile purchasers.

Contingent liability of Jinkailong

Despite that the Company holds 35% of equity interest of Jinkailong through Hunan Ruixi, and has not make any consideration towards to the investment, the Company will be subjected to the maximum amount of RMB3.5 million (approximately $482,000) of which is equivalent to 35% of liabilities in case Jinkailong is liquidated in accordance with PRC's company registry compliance.

Segment Information [Abstract]

SEGMENT INFORMATION

20. SEGMENT INFORMATION

The Company presents segment information after elimination of inter-company transactions. In general, revenue, cost of revenue and operating expenses are directly attributable, or are allocated, to each segment. The Company allocates costs and expenses that are not directly attributable to a specific segment, such as those that support infrastructure across different segments, to different segments mainly on the basis of usage, revenue or headcount, depending on the nature of the relevant costs and expenses. The Company does not allocate assets to its segments as the CODM does not evaluate the performance of segments using asset information.

By assessing the qualitative and quantitative criteria established by Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 280, "Segment Reporting", the Company considers itself to be operating in two reportable segments which comprise of automobile transaction and related services and online ride-hailing platform. The segments are organized based on type of service offered.

The following tables present the summary of each segment's revenue, loss from operations, loss before income taxes and net loss which is considered as a segment operating performance measure, for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023:

(b) Foreign currency translation

Transactions denominated in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rates prevailing on the dates of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency using the applicable exchange rates on the date of the balance sheet. The resulting exchange differences are recorded in the statement of operations.

The reporting currency of the Company and its subsidiaries is U.S. dollars ("US$") and the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been expressed in US$. However, the Company maintains the books and records in its functional currency, Chinese Renminbi ("RMB"), being the functional currency of the economic environment in which its operations are conducted.

In general, for consolidation purposes, assets and liabilities of the Company and its subsidiaries whose functional currency is not the US$, are translated into US$, using the exchange rate on the balance sheet date. Revenues and expenses are translated at average rates prevailing during the period. The gains and losses resulting from translation of financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries are recorded as a separate component of accumulated other comprehensive loss within the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of changes in stockholders' equity.

Translation of amounts from RMB into US$ has been made at the following exchange rates for the respective periods:

	June 30, 2024	March 31, 2024
Balance sheet items, except for equity accounts – RMB: US$1:	7.2672	7.2203
	For the three months ended June 30,
	2024	2023
Items in the statements of operations and comprehensive loss, and cash flows – RMB: US$1:	7.2410	7.0130

Use of estimates

(c) Use of estimates

In presenting the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements in accordance with U.S. GAAP, management makes estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported and related disclosures. Estimates, by their nature, are based on judgment and available information. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates. On an ongoing basis, management reviews these estimates and assumptions using the currently available information. Changes in facts and circumstances may cause the Company to revise its estimates. The Company bases its estimates on past experience and on various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities. Estimates are used when accounting for items and matters including, but not limited to, revenue recognition, residual values of property and equipment, lease liabilities, right-of-use assets, determinations of the useful lives and valuation of long-lived assets, estimates of allowances for credit losses for receivables and due from related parties, estimates of impairment of long-lived assets, valuation of deferred tax assets and valuation of derivative liabilities.

Fair values of financial instruments

(d) Fair values of financial instruments

Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 825, Financial Instruments ("Topic 825") requires disclosure of fair value information of financial instruments, whether or not recognized in the balance sheets, for which it is practicable to estimate that value. In cases where quoted market prices are not available, fair values are based on estimates using present value or other valuation techniques. Those techniques are significantly affected by the assumptions used, including the discount rate and estimates of future cash flows. Topic 825 excludes certain financial instruments and all nonfinancial assets and liabilities from its disclosure requirements. Accordingly, the aggregate fair value amounts do not represent the underlying value of the Company. The three levels of valuation hierarchy are defined as follows:

Level 1 Inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or liabilities in active markets.

Level 2 Inputs to the valuation methodology include quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets, and inputs that are observable for the assets or liability, either directly or indirectly, for substantially the full term of the financial instruments.

Level 3 Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value.

The following table sets forth by level within the fair value hierarchy our financial assets and liabilities that were accounted for at fair value on a recurring basis as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024:

	Carrying Value as of June 30, 2024	Fair Value Measurement as of June 30, 2024

* Giving retroactive effect to the 1-for-10 reverse stock split effected on April 6, 2022.

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, financial instruments of the Company comprised primarily current assets and current liabilities including cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, accounts receivable, finance lease receivables, prepayments, other receivables and other assets, due from related parties, accounts payable, advance from customers, lease liabilities, accrued expenses and other liabilities, due to related parties, and operating and financing lease liabilities, which approximate their fair values because of the short-term nature of these instruments, and current liabilities of borrowings from a financial institution, which approximate their fair values because of the stated loan interest rate to the rate charged by similar financial institutions.

The non-current portion of finance lease receivables, operating and financing lease liabilities and borrowings from a financial institution were recorded at the gross amount adjusted for the interest using the effective interest rate method. The Company believes that the effective interest rates underlying these instruments approximate their fair values because the Company used its incremental borrowing rate to recognize the present value of these instruments as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024.

Other than as listed above, the Company did not identify any assets or liabilities that are required to be presented on the balance sheet at fair value.

Segment reporting

(e) Segment reporting

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker (the "CODM"), which is comprised of certain members of the Company's management team. During the years ended March 31, 2019 and 2021, the Company acquired Hunan Ruixi and XXTX, respectively. The Company evaluated how the CODM manages the businesses of the Company to maximize efficiency in allocating resources and assessing performance. Consequently, the Company presents two operating and reportable segments of automobile transaction and related services and online ride-hailing platform services as set forth in Notes 1 and 20.

Cash and cash equivalents

(f) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents primarily consist of bank deposits with original maturities of three months or less, which are unrestricted as to withdrawal and use. Cash and cash equivalents also consist of funds received from automobile purchasers as payments for automobiles, funds received from automobile lessees as payments for rentals, which were held at the third-party platforms' fund accounts and which are unrestricted and immediately available for withdrawal and use.

Restricted cash

(g) Restricted cash

Restricted cash consists of fund held in the bank accounts of Corenel was frozen by a court order with a prior business partner whom Corenel had cooperation with. The restricted cash of Corenel was $2,588 as of June 30, 2024.

Accounts receivable, net

(h) Accounts receivable, net

Accounts receivable are recorded at the invoiced amount less an allowance for any uncollectible accounts and do not bear interest, and are due on demand. The carrying value of accounts receivable is reduced by an allowance that reflects the Company's best estimate of the amounts that will not be collected. An allowance for credit losses is recorded in the period when a loss is probable based on an assessment of specific evidence indicating collection is unlikely, historical bad debt rates, accounts aging, financial conditions of the customer and industry trends. Starting from April 1, 2023, the Company adopted ASU No.2016-13 "Financial Instruments – Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments" ("ASC Topic 326"). Management also periodically evaluates individual customer's financial condition, credit history, and the current economic conditions to make adjustments in the allowance when it is considered necessary. Account balances are charged off against the allowance after all means of collection have been exhausted and the potential for recovery is considered remote. The Company's management continues to evaluate the reasonableness of the valuation allowance policy and update it if necessary. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company record allowance for credit losses of $1,535 and $1,545 against accounts receivable, respectively.

Finance lease receivables

(i) Finance lease receivables

Finance lease receivables, which result from sales-type leases, are measured at discounted present value of (i) future minimum lease payments, (ii) any residual value not subject to a bargain purchase option as finance lease receivables on its balance sheet and (iii) accrued interest on the balance of the finance lease receivables based on the interest rate inherent in the applicable lease over the term of the lease. Management also periodically evaluates individual customer's financial condition, credit history and the current economic conditions to make adjustments in the allowance for credit losses when necessary. Finance lease receivables is charged off against the allowance for credit losses after all means of collection have been exhausted and the potential for recovery is considered remote. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company determined no allowance for credit losses was necessary for finance lease receivables.

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, finance lease receivables consisted of the following:

	June 30, 2024 (Unaudited)	March 31, 2024
Minimum lease payments receivable	$ 439,504	$ 354,617
Less: Unearned interest	(157,956)	(117,927)
Financing lease receivables	$ 281,548	$ 236,690
Finance lease receivables, current	$ 179,356	$ 144,166
Finance lease receivables, non-current	$ 102,192	$ 92,524

Future scheduled minimum lease payments for investments in sales-type leases as of June 30, 2024 are as follows:

	Minimum future payments receivable
Twelve months ending June 30, 2025	$ 274,982
Twelve months ending June 30, 2026	151,487
Twelve months ending June 30, 2027	13,035
Total	$ 439,504

Property and equipment, net

(j) Property and equipment, net

Property and equipment primarily consist of automobiles, leasehold improvements, computers and other equipment, which are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and amortization less any provision required for impairment in value. Depreciation and amortization is computed using the straight-line method with no residual value based on the estimated useful life. The useful life of property and equipment is summarized as follows:

Categories	Useful life
Leasehold improvements	Shorter of the remaining lease terms or estimated useful lives
Computer equipment	2 - 5 years
Office equipment, fixture and furniture	3 - 5 years
Automobiles	3 - 5 years

The Company reviews property and equipment for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. An asset is considered impaired if its carrying amount exceeds the future net undiscounted cash flows that the asset is expected to generate. If such asset is considered to be impaired, the impairment recognized is the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset, if any, exceeds its fair value determined using a discounted cash flow model. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company did not recognize impairment for property and equipment.

Costs of repairs and maintenance are expensed as incurred and asset improvements are capitalized. The cost and related accumulated depreciation and amortization of assets disposed of or retired are removed from the accounts, and any resulting gain or loss is reflected in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss.

Loss per share

(k) Loss per share

Basic loss per share is computed by dividing net loss attributable to stockholders by the weighted average number of outstanding shares of common stock, adjusted for outstanding shares of common stock that are subject to repurchase.

For the calculation of diluted loss per share, net loss attributable to stockholders for basic loss per share is adjusted by the effect of dilutive securities, including share-based awards, under the treasury stock method and convertible securities under the if-converted method. Potentially dilutive securities, of which the amounts are insignificant, have been excluded from the computation of diluted net loss per share if their inclusion is anti-dilutive.

As of June 30, 2024, the Company's dilutive securities from the outstanding series A convertible preferred stock are convertible into 495,706 shares of common stock. This amount is not included in the computation of dilutive loss per share because their impact is anti-dilutive.

(l) Derivative liabilities

A contract is designated as an asset or a liability and is carried at fair value on the Company's balance sheet, with any changes in fair value recorded in the Company's results of operations. The Company then determines which options, warrants and embedded features require liability accounting and records the fair value as a derivative liability. The changes in the values of these instruments are shown in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss as "change in fair value of derivative liabilities".

Revenue recognition

(m) Revenue recognition

The Company recognized its revenue under Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (ASC 606). ASC 606 establishes principles for reporting information about the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from the entity's contracts to provide goods or services to customers. The core principle requires an entity to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration that it expects to be entitled to receive in exchange for those goods or services recognized as performance obligations are satisfied. It also requires the Company to identify contractual performance obligations and determine whether revenue should be recognized at a point in time or over time, based on when control of goods and services transfers to a customer.

To achieve that core principle, the Company applies the five steps defined under ASC 606: (i) identify the contract(s) with a customer, (ii) identify the performance obligations in the contract, (iii) determine the transaction price, (iv) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract, and (v) recognize revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation.

The Company accounts for a contract with a customer when the contract is entered into by the parties, the rights of the parties, including payment terms, are identified, the contract has commercial substance and consideration to collect is substantially probable.

Disaggregated information of revenues by business lines are as follows:

Total Revenues from Operations	$ 1,122,400	$ 2,094,714

Automobile transaction and related services

Operating lease revenues from automobile rentals –The Company generates revenue from sub-leasing automobiles to some online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties and leasing its own automobiles. The Company recognizes revenue wherein an automobile is transferred to the lessees and the lessees has the ability to control the asset, is accounted for under ASC Topic 842. Rental transactions are satisfied over the rental period and is recognized over time. As the operating lease revenue are variable in nature which is based on online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties' performance for a certain period, the Company recognized the revenue from operating lease by using the output method based on periodic settlement between the Company and the online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties when such revenue is probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur. Rental periods are short term in nature, generally are twelve months or less.

Monthly services commissions – Commissions from the services generated from the management and related services provided to Partner Platforms and other companies, which are settled on a monthly basis. The Company recognizes revenues at a point in time when performance obligations are completed and the commission amount is confirmed by the Partner Platforms and other companies, based on their evaluations on the services provided by the Company.

Financing revenues – Interest income from the lease arising from the Company's sales-type leases and bundled lease arrangements are recognized as financing revenues over the lease term based on the effective rate of interest in the lease.

Service fees from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services - Services fees from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services are paid by some lessees who rent new energy electric vehicles from the Company or automobile purchasers for a series of the services provided to them throughout the purchase process such as credit assessment, installment of GPS devices, ride-hailing driver qualification and other administrative procedures. The amount of services fees for NEVs leasing is based on the product solutions while the fees for purchase is based on the sales price of the automobiles and relevant services provided. The Company recognizes revenue at a point in time when above mentioned services are completed, and corresponding an automobile is delivered to the lessee or purchaser. Accounts receivable related to the revenue from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services is collected upon the automobiles are delivered to lessees or purchaser.

Sales of automobiles – The Company generated revenue from sales of automobiles to the customers of Hunan Ruixi. The control over the automobile is transferred to the purchaser along with the delivery of automobiles. The amount of the revenue is based on the sale price agreed by Hunan Ruixi and the customers. The Company recognizes revenues when an automobile is delivered and control is transferred to the purchaser at a point in time. Accounts receivable related to the revenue are being collected within 12 months.

Other service fees – The Company generated other revenues such as miscellaneous service fees charged to its customers for some supporting services provided to online ride-hailing drivers. The Company recognizes revenues at a point in time when performance obligations are completed and the collectability is probable from the customers.

Leases - Lessor

The Company recognized revenue as lessor in accordance with ASC 842. The two primary accounting provisions the Company uses to classify transactions as sales-type or operating leases are: (i) a review of the lease term to determine if it is for the major part of the economic life of the underlying equipment (defined as greater than 75)%; and (ii) a review of the present value of the lease payments to determine if they are equal to or greater than substantially all of the fair market value of the equipment at the inception of the lease (defined as greater than 90%). Automobiles included in arrangements meeting these conditions are accounted for as sales-type leases. Interest income from the lease is recognized in financing revenues over the lease term. Automobile included in arrangements that do not meet these conditions are accounted for as operating leases and revenue is recognized over the term of the lease.

The Company excludes from the measurement of its lease revenues any tax assessed by a governmental authority that is both imposed on and concurrent with a specific revenue-producing transaction and collected from a customer.

The Company considers the economic life of most of the automobiles to be three to five years, since this represents the most common long-term lease term for its automobiles and the automobiles will be used for online ride-hailing services. The Company believes three to five years is representative of the period during which an automobile is expected to be economically usable, with normal service, for the purpose for which it is intended.

The Company's lease pricing interest rates, which are used in determining customer payments in a bundled lease arrangement, are developed based upon the local prevailing rates in the marketplace where its customer will be able to obtain an automobile loan under similar terms from the bank. The Company reassesses its pricing interest rates quarterly based on changes in the local prevailing rates in the marketplace. As of June 30, 2024, the Company's pricing interest rate was 6.0% per annum.

Online ride-hailing platform services

The Company generates revenue from providing services to online ride-hailing drivers ("Drivers") to assist them in providing transportation services to riders ("Riders") looking for taxi/ride-hailing services. The Company earns commissions for each completed ride in an amount equal to the difference between an upfront quoted fare and the amount earned by a Driver based on actual time and distance for the ride charged to the Rider. As a result, the Company bears a single performance obligation in the transaction of connecting Drivers with Riders to facilitate the completion of a successful transportation service for Riders. The Company recognizes revenue upon completion of a ride as the single performance obligation is satisfied and the Company has the right to receive payment for the services rendered upon the completion of the ride. The Company evaluates the presentation of revenue on a gross or net basis based on whether it controls the service provided to the Rider and is the principal (i.e., "gross"), or it arranges for other parties to provide the service to the Rider and is an agent (i.e., "net"). Since the Company is not primarily responsible for ride-hailing services provided to Riders, it does not have discretion in establishing the price of the online ride-hailing service and inventory risk related to the services as the Company earns commissions for each completed order as the difference between an upfront quote fare and the amount earned by a driver based on actual time and distance for ride charged to the rider. Thus, the Company recognizes revenue at a net basis. Incentives paid to Drivers are similar to retrospective volume-based rebates and represent variable consideration that is typically settled weekly or monthly. The Company recorded it as a reduction to revenue by the amount of the incentives to be paid upon completion of the performance criteria.

Significant risks and uncertainties

(n) Significant risks and uncertainties

1) Credit risk

a. Assets that potentially subject the Company to significant concentration of credit risk primarily consist of cash and cash equivalents. The maximum exposure of these assets to credit risk is their carrying amounts as of the balance sheet dates. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, approximately $2,600 and $21,000, respectively, were deposited with a bank in the United States which is insured by the U.S. government up to $250,000. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, approximately $709,000 and $719,000, respectively, were deposited in financial institutions located in mainland China, which were insured by the government authority. Under the Deposit Insurance System in China, an enterprise's deposits at one bank are insured for a maximum of approximately $69,000 (RMB500,000). To limit exposure to credit risk relating to deposits, the Company primarily places cash deposits with large financial institutions in China which management believes are of high credit quality.
The Company's operations are carried out entirely in mainland China. Accordingly, the Company's business, financial condition and results of operations may be influenced by the social, political, economic and legal environments in the PRC as well as by the general state of the PRC economy. In addition, the Company's business may be influenced by changes in PRC government laws, rules and policies with respect to, among other matters, anti-inflationary measures, currency conversion and remittance of currency outside of China, rates and methods of taxation and other factors.

b. In measuring the credit risk of accounts receivable due from the automobile purchasers (the "customers"), the Company mainly reflects the "probability of default" by the customer on its contractual obligations and considers the current financial position of the customer and the risk exposures to the customer and its likely future development.
Historically, most of the automobile purchasers would pay the Company their previously defaulted amounts within one to three months. As a result, the Company would provide full provisions on accounts receivable if the customers default on repayments for over three months. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company record allowance for credit losses of $1,535 and $1,545 against accounts receivable, respectively.

2) Foreign currency risk

As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024 substantially all of the Company's operating activities and major assets and liabilities, except for the cash deposit of approximately $2,600 and $21,000, respectively, in U.S. dollars, are denominated in RMB, which are not freely convertible into foreign currencies. All foreign exchange transactions take place through either the People's Bank of China (the "PBOC") or other authorized financial institutions at exchange rates quoted by PBOC. Approval of foreign currency payments by the PBOC or other regulatory institutions requires a payment application together with invoices and signed contracts. The value of RMB is subject to change in central government policies and international economic and political developments affecting supply and demand in the China Foreign Exchange Trading System market. When there is a significant change in value of RMB, the gains and losses resulting from translation of financial statements of a foreign subsidiary will be significantly affected. RMB depreciated from 7.27 RMB into US$1.00 on June 30, 2024 to 7.22 RMB into US$1.00 on March 31, 2024.

Recent accounting pronouncements not yet adopted

(o) Recent accounting pronouncements not yet adopted

The Company considers the applicability and impact of all accounting standards updates ("ASUs"). Management periodically reviews new accounting standards that are issued. Under the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012, as amended (the "JOBS Act"), the Company meets the definition of an emerging growth company and has elected the extended transition period for complying with new or revised accounting standards, which delays the adoption of these accounting standards until they would apply to private companies.

In October 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-06, Disclosure Improvements — codification amendments in response to SEC's disclosure Update and Simplification initiative which amend the disclosure or presentation requirements of codification subtopic 230-10 Statement of Cash Flows—Overall, 250-10 Accounting Changes and Error Corrections— Overall, 260-10 Earnings Per Share— Overall, 270-10 Interim Reporting— Overall, 440-10 Commitments—Overall, 470-10 Debt—Overall, 505-10 Equity—Overall, 815-10 Derivatives and Hedging—Overall, 860-30 Transfers and Servicing—Secured Borrowing and Collateral, 932-235 Extractive Activities— Oil and Gas—Notes to Financial Statements, 946-20 Financial Services— Investment Companies — Investment Company Activities, and 974-10 Real Estate—Real Estate Investment Trusts—Overall. The amendments represent changes to clarify or improve disclosure and presentation requirements of above subtopics. Many of the amendments allow users to more easily compare entities subject to the SEC's existing disclosures with those entities that were not previously subject to the SEC's requirements. Also, the amendments align the requirements in the Codification with the SEC's regulations. For entities subject to existing SEC disclosure requirements or those that must provide financial statements to the SEC for securities purposes without contractual transfer restrictions, the effective date aligns with the date when the SEC removes the related disclosure from Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K. Early adoption is not allowed. For all other entities, the amendments will be effective two years later from the date of the SEC's removal. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the update on the Company's unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and related disclosures.

In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07, which is an update to Topic 280, Segment Reporting: Improvements to reportable Segment Disclosures ("ASU 2023-07"), which enhances the disclosure required for reportable segments in annual and interim consolidated financial statements, including additional, more detailed information about a reportable segment's expenses. ASU 2023-07 will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the pending adoption of AUS 2023-07 on its unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements.

In December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09, which is an update to Topic 740, Income Taxes. The amendments in this update enhances the transparency and decision usefulness of income tax disclosures. ASU 2023-09 will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted for annual financial statements that have not yet been issued or made available for issuance. The amendments in this Update should be applied on a prospective basis. Retrospective application is permitted. The Company is currently evaluating the impact the adoption of ASU 2023-07 will have on its annual and interim disclosures

Generally, only investments with original maturities of three months or less qualify under that definition. Original maturity means original maturity to the entity holding the investment. For example, both a three-month US Treasury bill and a three-year Treasury note purchased three months from maturity qualify as cash equivalents. However, a Treasury note purchased three-years ago does not become a cash equivalent when its remaining maturity is three months." } } }, "auth_ref": [] }, "aihs_UnallocatedMember": { "xbrltype": "domainItemType", "nsuri": "http://www.ihongsen.com/20240630", "localname": "UnallocatedMember", "presentation": [ "http://www.ihongsen.com/role/ScheduleofSegmentsRevenueLossfromOperationsLossBeforeIncomeTaxesandNetLossTable", "http://www.ihongsen.com/role/SegmentInformationDetails" ], "lang": { "en-us": { "role": { "terseLabel": "Unallocated [Member]", "documentation": "This member stands for unallocated.", "label": "Unallocated Member" } } }, "auth_ref": [] }, "aihs_UnderwriterWarrantMember": { "xbrltype": "domainItemType", "nsuri": "http://www.ihongsen.com/20240630", "localname": "UnderwriterWarrantMember", "presentation": [ "http://www.ihongsen.com/role/ScheduleofEstimatestheFairValuetothoseWarrantsUsingtheBlackScholesValuationModelTable" ], "lang": { "en-us": { "role": { "terseLabel": "Underwriters\u2019 Warrants [Member]", "documentation": "This represents underwriter warrant member.", "label": "Underwriter Warrant Member" } } }, "auth_ref": [] }, "aihs_UnderwritersSecuritiesWarrantsMember": { "xbrltype": "domainItemType", "nsuri": "http://www.ihongsen.com/20240630", "localname": "UnderwritersSecuritiesWarrantsMember", "presentation": [ "http://www.ihongsen.com/role/EquityDetails" ], "lang": { "en-us": { "role": { "terseLabel": "August 2020 Underwriters' Warrants [Member]", "documentation": "Represents the information pertaining to underwriters securities warrants.",

ORGANIZATION AND PRINCIPAL ACTIVITIES   Senmiao Technology Limited (the “Company”) is a U.S. holding company incorporated in the State of Nevada on June 8, 2017. The Company operates its business in two segments: (i) automobile transaction and related services focusing on the online ride-hailing industry in the People’s Republic of China (“PRC” or “China”) through the Company’s wholly owned subsidiary, Chengdu Corenel Technology Co., Ltd., a PRC limited liability company (“Corenel”), and its majority owned subsidiaries, Chengdu Jiekai Yunli Technology Co., Ltd. (“Jiekai”), and Hunan Ruixi Financial Leasing Co., Ltd., a PRC limited liability company (“Hunan Ruixi”), and its equity investee company (an entity 35% owned by Hunan Ruixi), Sichuan Jinkailong Automobile Leasing Co., Ltd., a PRC limited liability company (“Jinkailong”).   (ii) online ride-hailing platform services through its own platform (known as Xixingtianxia) as described further below, since October 2020, through Hunan Xixingtianxia Technology Co., Ltd., a PRC limited liability company (“XXTX”), which is a wholly owned subsidiary of Sichuan Senmiao Zecheng Business Consulting Co., Ltd. (“Senmiao Consulting”), a PRC limited liability company and wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company. The Company’s ride hailing platform enables qualified ride-hailing drivers to provide transportation services in Chengdu, Changsha and other 20 cities in China as of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements.   Hunan Ruixi holds a business license for automobile sales and financial leasing and has been engaged in automobile financial leasing services and automobile sales since March 2019 and January 2019, respectively. The Company also has been engaged in operating leasing services through Hunan Ruixi, Jiekai and its equity investee company, Jinkailong since March 2019. Jinkailong used to facilitate automobile sales and financing transactions for its clients, who are primarily ride-hailing drivers and provides them operating lease and relevant after-transaction services.   As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, Senmiao Consulting has made a cumulative capital contribution of RMB40.30 million (approximately $5.55 million) to XXTX. As of June 30, 2024, XXTX had seven wholly owned subsidiaries and two of them have operations.   The following diagram illustrates the Company’s corporate structure as of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements: Former Voting Agreements with Jinkailong’s Other Shareholders   Hunan Ruixi entered into two voting agreements signed in August 2018 and February 2020, respectively, as amended (the “Voting Agreements”), with Jinkailong and other Jinkailong’s shareholders holding an aggregate of 65% equity interests. Pursuant to the Voting Agreements, all other Jinkailong’s shareholders will vote in concert with Hunan Ruixi on all fundamental corporate transactions in the event of a disagreement for periods of 20 years and 18 years, respectively, ending on August 25, 2038. On March 31, 2022, Hunan Ruixi entered into an Agreement for the Termination of the Agreement for Concerted Action by Shareholders of Jinkailong (the “Termination Agreement”), pursuant to which the Voting Agreements mentioned above was terminated as of the date of the Termination Agreement. The termination will not impair the past and future legitimate rights and interests of all parties in Jinkailong. Starting from April 1, 2022, the parties no longer maintain a concerted action relationship with respect to the decision required to take concerted action at its shareholders meetings as stipulated in the Voting Agreements. Each party shall independently express opinions and exercise various rights such as voting rights and perform relevant obligations in accordance with the provisions of laws, regulations, normative documents and the Jinkailong’s articles of association.   As a result of the Termination Agreement, the Company no longer has a controlling financial interest in Jinkailong and has determined that Jinkailong was deconsolidated from the Company’s Unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements effective as of March 31, 2022. However, as Hunan Ruixi still holds 35% equity interests in Jinkailong, Jinkailong is the equity investee company of the Company since then. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the paid-in capital of Jinkailong is zero.   As of June 30, 2024, the Company has outstanding balance due from Jinkailong amounted to $3,088,018, net of allowance for credit losses, of which, $2,922,894 is to be repaid over a period from July 2025 to December 2026, classified as due from a related party, net, non-current. As of March 31, 2024, the Company has outstanding balance due from Jinkailong amounted to $3,245,907, net of allowance for credit losses, of which, $2,747,313 is to be repaid over a period from April 2025 to December 2026, classified as due from a related party, net, non-current. (refer to Note 17).   As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, allowance for credit losses due from Jinkailong amounted to $3,252,513 and $3,099,701, respectively. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company recorded provision for credit losses against the balance due from Jinkailong of $173,441 and $127,073, respectively. 2017-06-08 2 40300000 5550000 7 2 0.65 0.65 P20Y P18Y 0.35 3088018 2922894 3245907 2747313 3252513 3099701 173441 127073 2. GOING CONCERN   In assessing the Company’s liquidity, the Company monitors and analyzes its cash on-hand and its operating and capital expenditure commitments. The Company’s liquidity needs are to meet its working capital requirements, operating expenses and capital expenditure obligations. Debt financing from financial institutions and equity financings have been utilized to finance the working capital requirements of the Company.   The Company’s business is capital intensive. The Company’s management has considered whether there is substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern due to (1) the net loss of approximately $0.8 million for the three months ended June 30, 2024; (2) accumulated deficit of approximately $42.1 million as of June 30, 2024; (3) the working capital deficit of approximately $3.3 million as of June 30, 2024; and (4) one purchase commitment of approximately $0.9 million for 100 automobiles. As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, the Company has entered into one purchase contract with an automobile dealer to purchase a total of 100 automobiles in the amount of approximately $1.5 million, of which approximately $0.6 million has been remitted as purchase prepayments. The remaining purchase commitment of approximately $0.9 million shall be remitted in installment to be completed before March 31, 2025.   Management has determined there is substantial doubt about its ability to continue as a going concern. If the Company is unable to generate significant revenue, the Company may be required to curtail or cease its operations. Management is trying to alleviate the going concern risk through the following sources: <table cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0" style="font: 10pt Times New Roman, Times, Serif; margin-top: 0pt; margin-bottom: 0pt; width: 100%"><tr style="vertical-align: top; text-align: justify"> <td style="width: 0.25in"></td><td style="width: 0.25in; text-align: left">●</td><td style="text-align: justify">Equity financing to support its working capital;</td> </tr></table>   <table cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0" style="font: 10pt Times New Roman, Times, Serif; margin-top: 0pt; margin-bottom: 0pt; width: 100%"><tr style="vertical-align: top; text-align: justify"> <td style="width: 0.25in"></td><td style="width: 0.25in; text-align: left">●</td><td style="text-align: justify">Other available sources of financing (including debt) from PRC banks and other financial institutions; and</td> </tr></table>   <table cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0" style="font: 10pt Times New Roman, Times, Serif; margin-top: 0pt; margin-bottom: 0pt; width: 100%"><tr style="vertical-align: top; text-align: justify"> <td style="width: 0.25in"></td><td style="width: 0.25in; text-align: left">●</td><td style="text-align: justify">Financial support and credit guarantee commitments from the Company's related parties.</td> </tr></table> There is no assurance that the Company will be successful in implementing the foregoing plans or that additional financing will be available to the Company on commercially reasonable terms, or at all. There are a number of factors that could potentially arise that could undermine the Company's plans, such as (i) changes in the demand for the Company's services, (ii) PRC government policies, (iii) economic conditions in China and worldwide, (iv) competitive pricing in the automobile transaction and related service and ride-hailing industries, (v) changes in the Company's relationships with key business partners, (vi) the ability of financial institutions in China to provide continued financial support to the Company's customers, and (vii) the perception of PRC-based companies in the U.S. capital markets. The Company's inability to secure needed financing when required could require material changes to the Company's business plans and could have a material adverse effect on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern and results of operations. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis, which contemplates the realization of assets and liquidation of liabilities in the normal course of business. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of such uncertainties. 800000 42100000 3300000 900000 100 1500000 600000 900000 3. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES   (a) Basis of presentation   The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, including the unaudited condensed consolidated balance sheets as of June 30, 2024, the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss, the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of changes in equity, and the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of cash flows for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, as well as other information disclosed in the accompanying notes, have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP"), and pursuant to the rules and regulations of the SEC and pursuant to Regulation S-X. The interim unaudited condensed financial statements and accompanying notes should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements and the notes thereto, included in the Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2024, which was filed with the SEC on June 27, 2024. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and the accompanying notes have been prepared on the same basis as the annual consolidated financial statements and, in the opinion of management, reflect all adjustments, which include only normal recurring adjustments, necessary for a fair statement of the results of operations for the periods presented. The consolidated results of operations for any interim period are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the full year or for any other future years or interim periods.   (b) Foreign currency translation   Transactions denominated in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rates prevailing on the dates of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency using the applicable exchange rates on the date of the balance sheet. The resulting exchange differences are recorded in the statement of operations.   The reporting currency of the Company and its subsidiaries is U.S. dollars ("US$") and the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been expressed in US$. However, the Company maintains the books and records in its functional currency, Chinese Renminbi ("RMB"), being the functional currency of the economic environment in which its operations are conducted.   In general, for consolidation purposes, assets and liabilities of the Company and its subsidiaries whose functional currency is not the US$, are translated into US$, using the exchange rate on the balance sheet date. Revenues and expenses are translated at average rates prevailing during the period. The gains and losses resulting from translation of financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries are recorded as a separate component of accumulated other comprehensive loss within the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of changes in stockholders' equity.   Translation of amounts from RMB into US$ has been made at the following exchange rates for the respective periods: <table cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0" style="font: 10pt Times New Roman, Times, Serif; border-collapse: collapse; width: 100%"> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td> </td><td style="font-weight: bold"> </td> <td colspan="2" style="font-weight: bold; text-align: center">June 30,</td><td style="font-weight: bold"> </td><td style="font-weight: bold"> </td> <td colspan="2" style="font-weight: bold; text-align: center">March 31,</td><td style="font-weight: bold"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td> </td><td style="font-weight: bold; padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td colspan="2" style="border-bottom: Black 1.5pt solid; font-weight: bold; text-align: center">2024</td><td style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt; font-weight: bold"> </td><td style="font-weight: bold; padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td colspan="2" style="border-bottom: Black 1.5pt solid; font-weight: bold; text-align: center">2024</td><td style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt; font-weight: bold"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom; background-color: rgb(204,238,255)"> <td style="width: 76%; text-align: left">Balance sheet items, except for equity accounts – RMB: US$1:</td><td style="width: 1%"> </td> <td style="width: 1%; text-align: left"> </td><td style="width: 9%; text-align: right">7.2672</td><td style="width: 1%; text-align: left"> </td><td style="width: 1%"> </td> <td style="width: 1%; text-align: left"> </td><td style="width: 9%; text-align: right">7.2203</td><td style="width: 1%; text-align: left"> </td></tr> </table>   <table cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0" style="font: 10pt Times New Roman, Times, Serif; border-collapse: collapse; width: 100%"> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td> </td><td style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td colspan="6" style="border-bottom: Black 1.5pt solid; text-align: center"> For the three months ended

Estimates, by their nature, are based on judgment and available information. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates. On an ongoing basis, management reviews these estimates and assumptions using the currently available information. Changes in facts and circumstances may cause the Company to revise its estimates. The Company bases its estimates on past experience and on various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities. Estimates are used when accounting for items and matters including, but not limited to, revenue recognition, residual values of property and equipment, lease liabilities, right-of-use assets, determinations of the useful lives and valuation of long-lived assets, estimates of allowances for credit losses for receivables and due from related parties, estimates of impairment of long-lived assets, valuation of deferred tax assets and valuation of derivative liabilities.   (d) Fair values of financial instruments   Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 825, Financial Instruments ("Topic 825") requires disclosure of fair value information of financial instruments, whether or not recognized in the balance sheets, for which it is practicable to estimate that value. In cases where quoted market prices are not available, fair values are based on estimates using present value or other valuation techniques. Those techniques are significantly affected by the assumptions used, including the discount rate and estimates of future cash flows. Topic 825 excludes certain financial instruments and all nonfinancial assets and liabilities from its disclosure requirements. Accordingly, the aggregate fair value amounts do not represent the underlying value of the Company. The three levels of valuation hierarchy are defined as follows: Level 1 Inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or liabilities in active markets.   Level 2 Inputs to the valuation methodology include quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets, and inputs that are observable for the assets or liability, either directly or indirectly, for substantially the full term of the financial instruments.   Level 3 Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value.   <p style="font: 10pt

The non-current portion of finance lease receivables, operating and financing lease liabilities and borrowings from a financial institution were recorded at the gross amount adjusted for the interest using the effective interest rate method. The Company believes that the effective interest rates underlying these instruments approximate their fair values because the Company used its incremental borrowing rate to recognize the present value of these instruments as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024.   Other than as listed above, the Company did not identify any assets or liabilities that are required to be presented on the balance sheet at fair value.   (e) Segment reporting   Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker (the "CODM"), which is comprised of certain members of the Company's management team. During the years ended March 31, 2019 and 2021, the Company acquired Hunan Ruixi and XXTX, respectively. The Company evaluated how the CODM manages the businesses of the Company to maximize efficiency in allocating resources and assessing performance. Consequently, the Company presents two operating and reportable segments of automobile transaction and related services and online ride-hailing platform services as set forth in Notes 1 and 20.   (f) Cash and cash equivalents   Cash and cash equivalents primarily consist of bank deposits with original maturities of three months or less, which are unrestricted as to withdrawal and use. Cash and cash equivalents also consist of funds received from automobile purchasers as payments for automobiles, funds received from automobile lessees as payments for rentals, which were held at the third-party platforms' fund accounts and which are unrestricted and immediately available for withdrawal and use.   (g) Restricted cash   Restricted cash consists of fund held in the bank accounts of Corenel was frozen by a court order with a prior business partner whom Corenel had cooperation with. The restricted cash of Corenel was $2,588 as of June 30, 2024.   (h) Accounts receivable, net   Accounts receivable are recorded at the invoiced amount less an allowance for any uncollectible accounts and do not bear interest, and are due on demand. The carrying value of accounts receivable is reduced by an allowance that reflects the Company's best estimate of the amounts that will not be collected. An allowance for credit losses is recorded in the period when a loss is probable based on an assessment of specific evidence indicating collection is unlikely, historical bad debt rates, accounts aging, financial conditions of the customer and industry trends. Starting from April 1, 2023, the Company adopted ASU No.2016-13 "Financial Instruments – Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments" ("ASC Topic 326"). Management also periodically evaluates individual customer's financial condition, credit history, and the current economic conditions to make adjustments in the allowance when it is considered necessary. Account balances are charged off against the allowance after all means of collection have been exhausted and the potential for recovery is considered remote. The Company's management continues to evaluate the reasonableness of the valuation allowance policy and update it if necessary. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company record allowance for credit losses of $1,535 and $1,545 against accounts receivable, respectively.   (i) Finance lease receivables   Finance lease receivables, which result from sales-type leases, are measured at discounted present value of (i) future minimum lease payments, (ii) any residual value not subject to a bargain purchase option as finance lease receivables on its balance sheet and (iii) accrued interest on the balance of the finance lease receivables based on the interest rate inherent in the applicable lease over the term of the lease. An asset is considered impaired if its carrying amount exceeds the future net undiscounted cash flows that the asset is expected to generate. If such asset is considered to be impaired, the impairment recognized is the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset, if any, exceeds its fair value determined using a discounted cash flow model. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company did not recognize impairment for property and equipment.   Costs of repairs and maintenance are expensed as incurred and asset improvements are capitalized. The cost and related accumulated depreciation and amortization of assets disposed of or retired are removed from the accounts, and any resulting gain or loss is reflected in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss.   (k) Loss per share   Basic loss per share is computed by dividing net loss attributable to stockholders by the weighted average number of outstanding shares of common stock, adjusted for outstanding shares of common stock that are subject to repurchase.   For the calculation of diluted loss per share, net loss attributable to stockholders for basic loss per share is adjusted by the effect of dilutive securities, including share-based awards, under the treasury stock method and convertible securities under the if-converted method. Potentially dilutive securities, of which the amounts are insignificant, have been excluded from the computation of diluted net loss per share if their inclusion is anti-dilutive. As of June 30, 2024, the Company's dilutive securities from the outstanding series A convertible preferred stock are convertible into 495,706 shares of common stock. This amount is not included in the computation of dilutive loss per share because their impact is anti-dilutive.   (m) Revenue recognition   The Company recognized its revenue under Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (ASC 606). ASC 606 establishes principles for reporting information about the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from the entity's contracts to provide goods or services to customers. The core principle requires an entity to recognize revenue to depict the transfer of goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration that it expects to be entitled to receive in exchange for those goods or services recognized as performance obligations are satisfied. It also requires the Company to identify contractual performance obligations and determine whether revenue should be recognized at a point in time or over time, based on when control of goods and services transfers to a customer.   To achieve that core principle, the Company applies the five steps defined under ASC 606: (i) identify the contract(s) with a customer, (ii) identify the performance obligations in the contract, (iii) determine the transaction price, (iv) allocate the transaction price to the performance obligations in the contract, and (v) recognize revenue when (or as) the entity satisfies a performance obligation.   The Company accounts for a contract with a customer when the contract is entered into by the parties, the rights of the parties, including payment terms, are identified, the contract has commercial substance and consideration to collect is substantially probable.   Disaggregated information of revenues by business lines are as follows: <table cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0" style="font: 10pt Times New Roman, Times, Serif; border-collapse: collapse; width: 100%"> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td style="text-align: center"> </td><td style="font-weight: bold"> </td> <td colspan="6" style="font-weight: bold; text-align: center">For the Three Months Ended</td><td style="font-weight: bold"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td> </td><td style="font-weight: bold; padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td colspan="6" style="border-bottom: Black 1.5pt solid; font-weight: bold; text-align: center">June 30,</td><td style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt; font-weight: bold"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td> </td><td style="font-weight: bold; padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td colspan="2" style="border-bottom: Black 1.5pt solid; font-weight: bold; text-align: center">2024</td><td style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt; font-weight: bold"> </td><td style="font-weight: bold; padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td colspan="2" style="border-bottom: Black 1.5pt solid; font-weight: bold; text-align: center">2023</td><td style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt; font-weight: bold"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td> </td><td style="font-weight: bold; padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td colspan="2" style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt; font-weight: bold; text-align: center">(Unaudited)</td><td style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt; font-weight: bold"> </td><td style="font-weight: bold; padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td colspan="2" style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt; font-weight: bold; text-align: center">(Unaudited)</td><td style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt; font-weight: bold"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td style="font-weight: bold">Automobile Transaction and Related Services</td><td> </td> <td colspan="2" style="text-align: right"> </td><td> </td><td> </td> <td colspan="2" style="text-align: right"> </td><td> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom; background-color: rgb(204,238,255)"> <td style="width: 76%; text-align: left">- Operating lease revenues from automobile rentals</td><td style="width: 1%"> </td> <td style="width: 1%; text-align: left">$</td><td style="width: 9%; text-align: right">756,315</td><td style="width: 1%; text-align: left"> </td><td style="width: 1%; text-align: left">$</td><td style="width: 9%; text-align: right">1,056,394</td><td style="width: 1%; text-align: left"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom; "> <td style="text-align: left">- Monthly services commissions</td><td> </td> <td style="text-align: left"> </td><td style="text-align: right">26,254</td><td style="text-align: left"> </td><td> </td> <td style="text-align: left"> </td><td style="text-align: right">50,590</td><td style="text-align: left"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom; background-color: rgb(204,238,255)"> <td style="text-align: left">- Financing revenues</td><td> </td> <td style="text-align: left"> </td><td style="text-align: right">22,176</td><td style="text-align: left"> </td><td> </td> <td style="text-align: left"> </td><td style="text-align: right">13,600</td><td style="text-align: left"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom; "> <td style="text-align: left">- Service fees from NEVs leasing</td><td> </td> <td style="text-align: left"> </td><td style="text-align: right">22,094</td><td style="text-align: left"> </td><td> </td> <td style="text-align: left"> </td><td style="text-align: right">20,271</td><td style="text-align: left"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom; background-color: rgb(204,238,255)"> <td style="text-align: left">- Service fees from automobile purchase services</td><td> </td> <td style="text-align: left"> </td><td style="text-align: right">21,738</td><td style="text-align: left"> </td><td> </td> <td style="text-align: left"> </td><td style="text-align: right">12,232</td><td style="text-align: left"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom; "> <td style="text-align: left">- Revenues from sales of automobiles</td><td> </td>

The Company recognizes revenue wherein an automobile is transferred to the lessees and the lessees has the ability to control the asset, is accounted for under ASC Topic 842. Rental transactions are satisfied over the rental period and is recognized over time. As the operating lease revenue are variable in nature which is based on online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties' performance for a certain period, the Company recognized the revenue from operating lease by using the output method based on periodic settlement between the Company and the online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties when such revenue is probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur. Rental periods are short term in nature, generally are twelve months or less. Monthly services commissions – Commissions from the services generated from the management and related services provided to Partner Platforms and other companies, which are settled on a monthly basis. The Company recognizes revenues at a point in time when performance obligations are completed and the commission amount is confirmed by the Partner Platforms and other companies, based on their evaluations on the services provided by the Company.   Financing revenues – Interest income from the lease arising from the Company's sales-type leases and bundled lease arrangements are recognized as financing revenues over the lease term based on the effective rate of interest in the lease.   Service fees from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services - Services fees from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services are paid by some lessees who rent new energy electric vehicles from the Company or automobile purchasers for a series of the services provided to them throughout the purchase process such as credit assessment, installment of GPS devices, ride-hailing driver qualification and other administrative procedures. The amount of services fees for NEVs leasing is based on the product solutions while the fees for purchase is based on the sales price of the automobiles and relevant services provided. The Company recognizes revenue at a point in time when above mentioned services are completed, and corresponding an automobile is delivered to the lessee or purchaser. Accounts receivable related to the revenue from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services is collected upon the automobiles are delivered to lessees or purchaser.   Sales of automobiles – The Company generated revenue from sales of automobiles to the customers of Hunan Ruixi. The control over the automobile is transferred to the purchaser along with the delivery of automobiles. The amount of the revenue is based on the sale price agreed by Hunan Ruixi and the customers. The Company recognizes revenues when an automobile is delivered and control is transferred to the purchaser at a point in time. Accounts receivable related to the revenue are being collected within 12 months.   Other service fees – The Company generated other revenues such as miscellaneous service fees charged to its customers for some supporting services provided to online ride-hailing drivers. The Company recognizes revenues at a point in time when performance obligations are completed and the collectability is probable from the customers.   Leases - Lessor   The Company recognized revenue as lessor in accordance with ASC 842. The two primary accounting provisions the Company uses to classify transactions as sales-type or operating leases are: (i) a review of the lease term to determine if it is for the major part of the economic life of the underlying equipment (defined as greater than 75)%; and (ii) a review of the present value of the lease payments to determine if they are equal to or greater than substantially all of the fair market value of the equipment at the inception of the lease (defined as greater than 90%). Automobiles included in arrangements meeting these conditions are accounted for as sales-type leases. Interest income from the lease is recognized in financing revenues over the lease term. Automobile included in arrangements that do not meet these conditions are accounted for as operating leases and revenue is recognized over the term of the lease.   The Company excludes from the measurement of its lease revenues any tax assessed by a governmental authority that is both imposed on and concurrent with a specific revenue-producing transaction and collected from a customer.   The Company considers the economic life of most of the automobiles to be three to five years, since this represents the most common long-term lease term for its automobiles and the automobiles will be used for online ride-hailing services. The Company believes three to five years is representative of the period during which an automobile is expected to be economically usable, with normal service, for the purpose for which it is intended.   The Company's lease pricing interest rates, which are used in determining customer payments in a bundled lease arrangement, are developed based upon the local prevailing rates in the marketplace where its customer will be able to obtain an automobile loan under similar terms from the bank. The Company reassesses its pricing interest rates quarterly based on changes in the local prevailing rates in the marketplace. As of June 30, 2024, the Company's pricing interest rate was 6.0% per annum. Online ride-hailing platform services   The Company generates revenue from providing services to online ride-hailing drivers ("Drivers") to assist them in providing transportation services to riders ("Riders") looking for taxi/ride-hailing services. The Company earns commissions for each completed ride in an amount equal to the difference between an upfront quoted fare and the amount earned by a Driver based on actual time and distance for the ride charged to the Rider. As a result, the Company bears a single performance obligation in the transaction of connecting Drivers with Riders to facilitate the completion of a successful transportation service for Riders. The Company recognizes revenue upon completion of a ride as the single performance obligation is satisfied and the Company has the right to receive payment for the services rendered upon the completion of the ride. The Company evaluates the presentation of revenue on a gross or net basis based on whether it controls the service provided to the Rider and is the principal (i.e., "gross"), or it arranges for other parties to provide the service to the Rider and is an agent (i.e., "net"). Since the Company is not primarily responsible for ride-hailing services provided to Riders, it does not have discretion in establishing the price of the online ride-hailing service and inventory risk related to the services as the Company earns commissions for each completed order as the difference between an upfront quote fare and the amount earned by a driver based on actual time and distance for ride charged to the rider. Thus, the Company recognizes revenue at a net basis. Incentives paid to Drivers are similar to retrospective volume-based rebates and represent variable consideration that is typically settled weekly or monthly. The Company recorded it as a reduction to revenue by the amount of the incentives to be paid upon completion of the performance criteria. Under the Deposit Insurance System in China, an enterprise's deposits at one bank are insured for a maximum of approximately $69,000 (RMB500,000). To limit exposure to credit risk relating to deposits, the Company primarily places cash deposits with large financial institutions in China which management believes are of high credit quality.</td></tr></table>

The Company's operations are carried out entirely in mainland China. Accordingly, the Company's business, financial condition and results of operations may be influenced by the social, political, economic and legal environments in the PRC as well as by the general state of the PRC economy. All foreign exchange transactions take place through either the People's Bank of China (the "PBOC") or other authorized financial institutions at exchange rates quoted by PBOC. Approval of foreign currency payments by the PBOC or other regulatory institutions requires a payment application together with invoices and signed contracts. The value of RMB is subject to change in central government policies and international economic and political developments affecting supply and demand in the China Foreign Exchange Trading System market. When there is a significant change in value of RMB, the gains and losses resulting from translation of financial statements of a foreign subsidiary will be significantly affected. RMB depreciated from 7.27 RMB into US$1.00 on June 30, 2024 to 7.22 RMB into US$1.00 on March 31, 2024. (o) Recent accounting pronouncements not yet adopted   The Company considers the applicability and impact of all accounting standards updates ("ASUs"). Management periodically reviews new accounting standards that are issued. Under the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012, as amended (the "JOBS Act"), the Company meets the definition of an emerging growth company and has elected the extended transition period for complying with new or revised accounting standards, which delays the adoption of these accounting standards until they would apply to private companies.   In October 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-06, Disclosure Improvements — codification amendments in response to SEC's disclosure Update and Simplification initiative which amend the disclosure or presentation requirements of codification subtopic 230-10 Statement of Cash Flows—Overall, 250-10 Accounting Changes and Error Corrections— Overall, 260-10 Earnings Per Share— Overall, 270-10 Interim Reporting— Overall, 440-10 Commitments— Overall, 470-10 Debt—Overall, 505-10 Equity—Overall, 815-10 Derivatives and Hedging—Overall, 860-30 Transfers and Servicing—Secured Borrowing and Collateral, 932-235 Extractive Activities— Oil and Gas—Notes to Financial Statements, 946-20 Financial Services— Investment Companies— Investment Company Activities, and 974-10 Real Estate—Real Estate Investment Trusts—Overall. The amendments represent changes to clarify or improve disclosure and presentation requirements of above subtopics. Many of the amendments allow users to more easily compare entities subject to the SEC's existing disclosures with those entities that were not previously subject to the SEC's requirements. Also, the amendments align the requirements in the Codification with the SEC's regulations. For entities subject to existing SEC disclosure requirements or those that must provide financial statements to the SEC for securities purposes without contractual transfer restrictions, the effective date aligns with the date when the SEC removes the related disclosure from Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K. Early adoption is not allowed. For all other entities, the amendments will be effective two years later from the date of the SEC's removal. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the update on the Company's unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and related disclosures.   In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07, which is an update to Topic 280, Segment Reporting: Improvements to reportable Segment Disclosures ("ASU 2023-07"), which enhances the disclosure required for reportable segments in annual and interim consolidated financial statements, including additional, more detailed information about a reportable segment's expenses. ASU 2023-07 will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the pending adoption of AUS 2023-07 on its unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements.   In December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09, which is an update to Topic 740, Income Taxes. The amendments in this update enhances the transparency and decision usefulness of income tax disclosures. ASU 2023-09 will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted for annual financial statements that have not yet been issued or made available for issuance. The amendments in this Update should be applied on a prospective basis. Retrospective application is permitted. The Company is currently evaluating the impact the adoption of ASU 2023-07 will have on its annual and interim disclosures (a) Basis of presentation The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, including the unaudited condensed consolidated balance sheets as of June 30, 2024, the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss, the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of changes in equity, and the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of cash flows for the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, as well as other information disclosed in the accompanying notes, have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP"), and pursuant to the rules and regulations of the SEC and pursuant to Regulation S-X. The interim unaudited condensed financial statements and accompanying notes should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements and the notes thereto, included in the Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2024, which was filed with the SEC on June 27, 2024. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and the accompanying notes have been prepared on the same basis as the annual consolidated financial statements and, in the opinion of management, reflect all adjustments, which include only normal recurring adjustments, necessary for a fair statement of the results of operations for the periods presented. The consolidated results of operations for any interim period are not necessarily indicative of the results to be expected for the full year or for any other future years or interim periods. (b) Foreign currency translation Transactions denominated in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency at the exchange rates prevailing on the dates of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than the functional currency are translated into the functional currency using the applicable exchange rates on the date of the balance sheet. The resulting exchange differences are recorded in the statement of operations. The reporting currency of the Company and its subsidiaries is U.S. dollars ("US$") and the unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been expressed in US$. However, the Company maintains the books and records in its functional currency, Chinese Renminbi ("RMB"), being the functional currency of the economic environment in which its operations are conducted. In general, for consolidation purposes, assets and liabilities of the Company and its subsidiaries whose functional currency is not the US$, are translated into US$, using the exchange rate on the balance sheet date. Revenues and expenses are translated at average rates prevailing during the period. The gains and losses resulting from translation of financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries are recorded as a separate component of accumulated other comprehensive loss within the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of changes in stockholders' equity. Estimates, by their nature, are based on judgment and available information. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates. On an ongoing basis, management reviews these estimates and assumptions using the currently available information. Changes in facts and circumstances may cause the Company to revise its estimates. The Company bases its estimates on past experience and on various other assumptions that are believed to be reasonable, the results of which form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities. Estimates are used when accounting for items and matters including, but not limited to, revenue recognition, residual values of property and equipment, lease liabilities, right-of-use assets, determinations of the useful lives and valuation of long-lived assets, estimates of allowances for credit losses for receivables and due from related parties, estimates of impairment of long-lived assets, valuation of deferred tax assets and valuation of derivative liabilities. (d) Fair values of financial instruments Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) Topic 825, Financial Instruments (“Topic 825”) requires disclosure of fair value information of financial instruments, whether or not recognized in the balance sheets, for which it is practicable to estimate that value. In cases where quoted market prices are not available, fair values are based on estimates using present value or other valuation techniques. Those techniques are significantly affected by the assumptions used, including the discount rate and estimates of future cash flows. Topic 825 excludes certain financial instruments and all nonfinancial assets and liabilities from its disclosure requirements. Accordingly, the aggregate fair value amounts do not represent the underlying value of the Company. The three levels of valuation hierarchy are defined as follows: Level 1 Inputs to the valuation methodology are quoted prices (unadjusted) for identical assets or liabilities in active markets. Level 2 Inputs to the valuation methodology include quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets, and inputs that are observable for the assets or liability, either directly or indirectly, for substantially the full term of the financial instruments. Level 3 Inputs to the valuation methodology are unobservable and significant to the fair value. The following table sets forth by level within the fair value hierarchy our financial assets and liabilities that were accounted for at fair value on a recurring basis as of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024: <table cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0" style="font: 10pt Times New Roman, Times, Serif; border-collapse: collapse; width: 100%"> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td> </td><td style="font-weight: bold"> </td> <td colspan="2" style="font-weight: bold; text-align: center">Carrying

The Company evaluated how the CODM manages the businesses of the Company to maximize efficiency in allocating resources and assessing performance. Consequently, the Company presents two operating and reportable segments of automobile transaction and related services and online ride-hailing platform services as set forth in Notes 1 and 20. 2 (f) Cash and cash equivalents Cash and cash equivalents primarily consist of bank deposits with original maturities of three months or less, which are unrestricted as to withdrawal and use. Cash and cash equivalents also consist of funds received from automobile purchasers as payments for automobiles, funds received from automobile lessees as payments for rentals, which were held at the third-party platforms' fund accounts and which are unrestricted and immediately available for withdrawal and use. (g) Restricted cash Restricted cash consists of fund held in the bank accounts of Corenel was frozen by a court order with a prior business partner whom Corenel had cooperation with. The restricted cash of Corenel was $2,588 as of June 30, 2024. 2588 (h) Accounts receivable, net Accounts receivable are recorded at the invoiced amount less an allowance for any uncollectible accounts and do not bear interest, and are due on demand. The carrying value of accounts receivable is reduced by an allowance that reflects the Company's best estimate of the amounts that will not be collected. An allowance for credit losses is recorded in the period when a loss is probable based on an assessment of specific evidence indicating collection is unlikely, historical bad debt rates, accounts aging, financial conditions of the customer and industry trends. Starting from April 1, 2023, the Company adopted ASU No.2016-13 "Financial Instruments – Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments" ("ASC Topic 326"). Management also periodically evaluates individual customer's financial condition, credit history, and the current economic conditions to make adjustments in the allowance when it is considered necessary. Account balances are charged off against the allowance after all means of collection have been exhausted and the potential for recovery is considered remote. The Company's management continues to evaluate the reasonableness of the valuation allowance policy and update it if necessary. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company record allowance for credit losses of $1,535 and $1,545 against accounts receivable, respectively. 1535 1545 (i) Finance lease receivablesFinance lease receivables, which result from sales-type leases, are measured at discounted present value of (i) future minimum lease payments, (ii) any residual value not subject to a bargain purchase option as finance lease receivables on its balance sheet and (iii) accrued interest on the balance of the finance lease receivables based on the interest rate inherent in the applicable lease over the term of the lease. The Company recognizes revenue wherein an automobile is transferred to the lessees and the lessees has the ability to control the asset, is accounted for under ASC Topic 842. Rental transactions are satisfied over the rental period and is recognized over time. As the operating lease revenue are variable in nature which is based on online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties' performance for a certain period, the Company recognized the revenue from operating lease by using the output method based on periodic settlement between the Company and the online ride-hailing drivers or third-parties when such revenue is probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur. Rental periods are short term in nature, generally are twelve months or less. Monthly services commissions – Commissions from the services generated from the management and related services provided to Partner Platforms and other companies, which are settled on a monthly basis. The Company recognizes revenues at a point in time when performance obligations are completed and the commission amount is confirmed by the Partner Platforms and other companies, based on their evaluations on the services provided by the Company. Financing revenues – Interest income from the lease arising from the Company's sales-type leases and bundled lease arrangements are recognized as financing revenues over the lease term based on the effective rate of interest in the lease. Service fees from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services – Services fees from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services are paid by some lessees who rent new energy electric vehicles from the Company or automobile purchasers for a series of the services provided to them throughout the purchase process such as credit assessment, installment of GPS devices, ride-hailing driver qualification and other administrative procedures. The amount of services fees for NEVs leasing is based on the product solutions while the fees for purchase is based on the sales price of the automobiles and relevant services provided. The Company recognizes revenue at a point in time when above mentioned services are completed, and corresponding an automobile is delivered to the lessee or purchaser. Accounts receivable related to the revenue from NEVs leasing and automobile purchase services is collected upon the automobiles are delivered to lessees or purchaser. Sales of automobiles – The Company generated revenue from sales of automobiles to the customers of Hunan Ruixi. The control over the automobile is transferred to the purchaser along with the delivery of automobiles. The amount of the revenue is based on the sale price agreed by Hunan Ruixi and the customers. The Company recognizes revenues when an automobile is delivered and control is transferred to the purchaser at a point in time. Accounts receivable related to the revenue are being collected within 12 months. Other service fees – The Company generated other revenues such as miscellaneous service fees charged to its customers for some supporting services provided to online ride-hailing drivers. The Company recognizes revenues at a point in time when performance obligations are completed and the collectability is probable from the customers. Leases - Lessor The Company recognized revenue as lessor in accordance with ASC 842. The two primary accounting provisions the Company uses to classify transactions as sales-type or operating leases are: (i) a review of the lease term to determine if it is for the major part of the economic life of the underlying equipment (defined as greater than 75)%; and (ii) a review of the present value of the lease payments to determine if they are equal to or greater than substantially all of the fair market value of the equipment at the inception of the lease (defined as greater than 90%). Automobiles included in arrangements meeting these conditions are accounted for as sales-type leases. Interest income from the lease is recognized in financing revenues over the lease term. Automobile included in arrangements that do not meet these conditions are accounted for as operating leases and revenue is recognized over the term of the lease. The Company excludes from the measurement of its lease revenues any tax assessed by a governmental authority that is both imposed on and concurrent with a specific revenue-producing transaction and collected from a customer. The Company considers the economic life of most of the automobiles to be three to five years, since this represents the most common long-term lease term for its automobiles and the automobiles will be used for online ride-hailing services. The Company believes three to five years is representative of the period during which an automobile is expected to be economically usable, with normal service, for the purpose for which it is intended. The Company's lease pricing interest rates, which are used in determining customer payments in a bundled lease arrangement, are developed based upon the local prevailing rates in the marketplace where its customer will be able to obtain an automobile loan under similar terms from the bank. The Company reassesses its pricing interest rates quarterly based on changes in the local prevailing rates in the marketplace. As of June 30, 2024, the Company's pricing interest rate was 6.0% per annum. Online ride-hailing platform services The Company generates revenue from providing services to online ride-hailing drivers ("Drivers") to assist them in providing transportation services to riders ("Riders") looking for taxi/ride-hailing services. The Company earns commissions for each completed ride in an amount equal to the difference between an upfront quoted fare and the amount earned by a Driver based on actual time and distance for the ride charged to the Rider. As a result, the Company bears a single performance obligation in the transaction of connecting Drivers with Riders to facilitate the completion of a successful transportation service for Riders. The Company recognizes revenue upon completion of a ride as the single performance obligation is satisfied and the Company has the right to receive payment for the services rendered upon the completion of the ride. The Company evaluates the presentation of revenue on a gross or net basis based on whether it controls the service provided to the Rider and is the principal (i.e., "gross"), or it arranges for other parties to provide the service to the Rider and is an agent (i.e., "net"). Since the Company is not primarily responsible for ride-hailing services provided to Riders, it does not have discretion in establishing the price of the online ride-hailing service and inventory risk related to the services as the Company earns commissions for each completed order as the difference between an upfront quote fare and the amount earned by a driver based on actual time and distance for ride charged to the rider. Thus, the Company recognizes revenue at a net basis. Incentives paid to Drivers are similar to retrospective volume-based rebates and represent variable consideration that is typically settled weekly or monthly. The Company recorded it as a reduction to revenue by the amount of the incentives to be paid upon completion of the performance criteria. Management periodically reviews new accounting standards that are issued. Under the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012, as amended (the "JOBS Act"), the Company meets the definition of an emerging growth company and has elected the extended transition period for complying with new or revised accounting standards, which delays the adoption of these accounting standards until they would apply to private companies. In October 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-06, Disclosure Improvements — codification amendments in response to SEC's disclosure Update and Simplification initiative which amend the disclosure or presentation requirements of codification subtopic 230-10 Statement of Cash Flows—Overall, 250-10 Accounting Changes and Error Corrections— Overall, 260-10 Earnings Per Share— Overall, 270-10 Interim Reporting— Overall, 440-10 Commitments—Overall, 470-10 Debt—Overall, 505-10 Equity—Overall, 815-10 Derivatives and Hedging—Overall, 860-30 Transfers and Servicing—Secured Borrowing and Collateral, 932-235 Extractive Activities— Oil and Gas—Notes to Financial Statements, 946-20 Financial Services— Investment Companies— Investment Company Activities, and 974-10 Real Estate—Real Estate Investment Trusts—Overall. The amendments represent changes to clarify or improve disclosure and presentation requirements of above subtopics. Many of the amendments allow users to more easily compare entities subject to the SEC's existing disclosures with those entities that were not previously subject to the SEC's requirements. Also, the amendments align the requirements in the Codification with the SEC's regulations. For entities subject to existing SEC disclosure requirements or those that must provide financial statements to the SEC for securities purposes without contractual transfer restrictions, the effective date aligns with the date when the SEC removes the related disclosure from Regulation S-X or Regulation S-K. Early adoption is not allowed. For all other entities, the amendments will be effective two years later from the date of the SEC's removal. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the update on the Company's unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements and related disclosures. In November 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-07, which is an update to Topic 280, Segment Reporting: Improvements to reportable Segment Disclosures ("ASU 2023-07"), which enhances the disclosure required for reportable segments in annual and interim consolidated financial statements, including additional, more detailed information about a reportable segment's expenses. ASU 2023-07 will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2023, and interim periods within fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of the pending adoption of AUS 2023-07 on its unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements. In December 2023, the FASB issued ASU 2023-09, which is an update to Topic 740, Income Taxes. The amendments in this update enhances the transparency and decision usefulness of income tax disclosures. ASU 2023-09 will be effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2024. Early adoption is permitted for annual financial statements that have not yet been issued or made available for issuance. The amendments in this Update should be applied on a prospective basis. EQUITY   Warrants   Warrants in Offerings   The Company adopted the provisions of ASC 815 on determining what types of instruments or embedded features in an instrument held by a reporting entity can be considered indexed to its own stock for the purpose of evaluating the first criteria of the scope exception in ASC 815. Warrants issued in connection with the direct equity offering with exercise prices denominated in US dollars are no longer considered indexed to the Company's stock, as their exercise prices are not in the Company's functional currency (RMB), and therefore no longer qualify for the scope exception and must be accounted for as a derivative. These warrants are classified as liabilities under the caption "Derivative liabilities" in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of balance sheets and recorded at estimated fair value at each reporting date, computed using the Black-Scholes valuation model. Changes in the liability from period to period are recorded in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss under the caption "Change in fair value of derivative liabilities."   August 2020 Underwriters' Warrants   As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there were 31,808 underwriters' warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a gain of $425 and $5,681 recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $2,794 and $3,219, respectively. As the 1-for-10 reverse stock split on the Company's common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise price of the August 2020 Underwriters' Warrants was adjusted to $6.25.   February 2021 Registered Direct Offering Warrants   As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there were 53,262 February 2021 registered direct offering warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a gain of $451 and $7,784 recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $3,882 and $4,333, respectively. As the 1-for-10 reverse stock split on the Company's common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise prices of the Placement Agent Warrants and the ROFR Warrants of the February 2021 Registered Direct Offering were adjusted to $13.80 and $17.25, respectively.   May 2021 Registered Direct Offering Warrants   As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there were 594,682 May 2021 registered direct offering warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a gain of $1,437 and $110,333 recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the fair value of the derivative instrument totaled $85,247 and $86,684, respectively. As the 1-for-10 reverse stock split on the Company's common stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the exercise price of the May 2021 Registered Direct Offering warrants was adjusted to $10.50.   November 2021 Private Placement Warrants   As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there were 5,365,911 November 2021 Private Placement Warrants outstanding. During the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the change of fair value was a loss of $10,600 and a gain of $180,369 recognized in the unaudited condensed consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive loss based on the decrease in fair value of the liabilities, respectively. On November 18, 2022, a holder of November 2021 private placement warrants exercised the warrants on a "cashless" basis. Total RSUs granted to these directors, officers and employees were valued at an aggregate fair value of $140,000. These RSUs will vest in four equal quarterly installments on January 29, 2021, April 29, 2021, July 29, 2021 and October 29, 2021 or in full upon the occurrence of a change in control of the Company, provided that the director, officer or the employee remains in service through the applicable vesting date. The RSUs will be settled by the Company's issuance of shares of common stock in certificated or uncertificated form upon the earlier of (i) vesting date, (ii) a change in control and (ii) termination of the services of the director, officer or employee due to a "separation of service" within the meaning of Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, or the death or disability of such director, officer or employee. As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, all installment of RSUs with an aggregate of 12,727 was vested and 9,545 was settled by the Company. The Company expects to settle the remaining vested RSUs by issuance of shares of common stock before December 31, 2024 and account for the vested RSUs as an addition to both expenses and additional paid-in capital.   Equity Incentive Plan   At the 2018 Annual Meeting of Stockholders of the Company held on November 8, 2018, the Company's stockholders approved the Company's 2018 Equity Incentive Plan for employees, officers, directors and consultants of the Company and its affiliates. In March 2023 and April 2024, the Annual Meeting of Stockholders of Company for the years ended March 31, 2022 and 2023 further approved the amendments to the 2018 Equity Incentive Plan, to increase the number of shares of common stock reserved under the Plan to 1,500,000 shares and 1,800,000 shares, respectively. A committee consisting of at least two independent directors would be appointed by the Board or in the absence of such a committee, the board of directors, will be responsible for the general administration of the Equity Incentive Plan. All awards granted under the Equity Incentive Plan will be governed by separate award agreements between the Company and the participants. As of June 30, 2024, the Company has granted an aggregate of 30,379 RSUs (after reverse split), among which, 26,447 RSUs were issued under the Equity Incentive Plan, 3,182 RSUs were vested but have not been issued while 750 RSUs were forfeited due to two directors ceased to serve on the board of the Company since November 8, 2018. During the three months ended June 30, 2024, no new RSUs were granted.   1-for-10 shares reverse split on common stock   The Company considered the above transactions after giving a retroactive effect to a 1-for-10 reverse stock split of its common stock which became effective on April 6, 2022. The Company believed it is appropriate to reflect the above transactions on a retroactive basis similar to those after a stock split or dividend pursuant to ASC 260. All shares and per share amounts used herein and in the accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been retroactively stated to reflect the effect of the reverse stock split. Upon execution of the 1-for-10 reverse stock split, the Company recognized additional 8,402 shares of common stock due to round up issue.   Conversion Price Adjustment for November 2021 Preferred Shares   Pursuant to the Certificate of Designation for the series A convertible preferred stock signed by the Company and certain institutional investors in November 2021 Private Placement, the initial conversion price of the series A Convertible Preferred Shares was $0.68. If as of the applicable date the conversion price then in effect is greater than the greater of (1) $0.41 (the "Floor Price") (as adjusted for stock splits, stock dividends, stock combinations, recapitalizations and similar events) and (2) 85% of the closing bid price on the applicable date (the "Adjustment Price"), the conversion price shall automatically lower to the Adjustment Price accordingly. As the 1-for-10 reverse stock split on the Company's Common Stock became effective on April 6, 2022, the conversion price and the Floor Price of the Preferred Shares mentioned above were proportionally adjusted. Further, on August 9, 2022, the Company and the investors agreed to reduce the conversion price of the series A Convertible Preferred Shares from $4.10 to $2.00 and to increase the number of the shares of common stock that are available to be issued upon conversion of the Preferred Shares from 1,092,683 to 2,240,000. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, there were 991 shares of Series A convertible preferred stock outstanding, respectively, valued at $234,364 recorded as mezzanine equity. As of June 30, 2024, 4,009 shares of Series A convertible preferred stock were converted into 1,871,125 shares of the Company's common stock.  31808 31808 425 5681 2794 3219 1-for-10 6.25 53262 53262 451 7784 3882 4333 1-for-10 13.8 17.25 594682 594682 1437 110333 85247 86684 1-for-10 10.5 5365911 5365911 10600 180369 1533 205197 194597 1-for-10 1.13 <table cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0" style="border-collapse: collapse; 0"> The United States of America   The Company is incorporated in the State of Nevada in the U.S., and is subject to U.S. federal corporate income taxes with tax rate of 21%. The State of Nevada does not impose any state corporate income tax.   On December 22, 2017, the U.S. government enacted comprehensive tax legislation commonly referred to as the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (the "Tax Act"). The Tax Act imposes a one-time transition tax on deemed repatriation of historical earnings of foreign subsidiaries, and future foreign earnings are subject to U.S. taxation. The Tax Act also established the Global Intangible Low-Taxed Income (GILTI), a new inclusion rule affecting non-routine income earned by foreign subsidiaries. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company's foreign subsidiaries in China were operating at loss and as such, did not record a liability for GILTI tax.   The Company's net operating loss for U.S. income taxes from U.S for both the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023 amounted to approximately $0.4 million. As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company's net operating loss carryforward for U.S. income taxes was approximately $7.9 million and $7.6 million, respectively. The net operating loss carryforward will not expire and is available to reduce future years' taxable income but limited to 80% of income until utilized. Management believes that the utilization of the benefit from this loss appears uncertain due to the Company's operating history. Accordingly, the Company has recorded a 100% valuation allowance on the deferred tax asset to reduce the deferred tax assets to zero on the consolidated balance sheets. Management reviews the valuation allowance periodically and makes changes accordingly.    PRC   Senmiao Consulting, Sichuan Senmiao Ronglian Technology Co., Ltd. LEASES

 Lessor   The Company's operating leases for automobile rentals have rental periods that are typically short term, generally is twelve months or less. Revenue recognition section of Note 3 (m), the Company discloses that revenue earned from automobile rentals, wherein an identified asset is transferred to the customer and the customer has the ability to control that asset, is accounted for under Topic 842 upon adoption for the three months ended June 30, 2024.   Lessee   As of June 30, 2024 and March 31, 2024, the Company has engaged in offices and showroom leases which were classified as operating leases.   The Company leased automobiles under operating lease agreements with a term shorter than twelve months which it elected not to recognize lease assets and lease liabilities under ASC 842. Instead, the Company recognized the lease payments in profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term and variable lease payments in the period in which the obligation for those payments is incurred. In addition, the Company had automobiles leases which were classified as finance lease.   The Company's lease agreements do not contain any material residual value guarantees or material restrictive covenants.   The Company recognized lease expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term for operating lease. Meanwhile, the Company recognized the finance leases ROU assets and interest on an amortized cost basis. The amortization of finance ROU assets is recognized on a straight-line basis as amortization expense, while the lease liability is increased to reflect interest on the liability and decreased to reflect the lease payments made during the period. Interest expense on the lease liability is determined each period during the lease term as the amount that results in a constant periodic interest rate of the automobile loans on the remaining balance of the liability.   The ROU assets and lease liabilities are determined based on the present value of the future minimum rental payments of the lease as of the adoption date, using effective interest rate of 6.0%, which is determined using an incremental borrowing rate with similar term in the PRC. As of June 30, 2024, the weighted-average remaining operating and finance lease term of its existing leases is approximately 1.31 and 1.28 years, respectively. Operating and finance lease expenses consist of the following: <table cellpadding="0" cellspacing="0" style="font: 10pt Times New Roman, Times, Serif; border-collapse: collapse; width: 100%"> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td> </td><td style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td style="text-align: center"> </td><td style="font-weight: bold; padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td colspan="6" style="border-bottom: Black 1.5pt solid; font-weight: bold; text-align: center">For the Three Months Ended</td><td style="padding-bottom: 1.5pt; font-weight: bold"> </td></tr> <tr style="vertical-align: bottom"> <td> </td><td style="font-weight: bold; padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td style="border-bottom: Black 1.5pt solid; font-weight: bold; text-align: center">Classification</td><td style="font-weight: bold; padding-bottom: 1.5pt"> </td> <td colspan="2" style="border-bottom: Black 1.5pt solid; font-weight: bold; text-align: center">June 30,

COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES   Contingencies   In measuring the credit risk of guarantee services to automobile purchasers, the Company primarily reflects the "probability of default" by the automobile purchasers on its contractual obligations and considers the current financial position of the automobile purchasers and its likely future development.   The Company manages the credit risk of automobile purchasers by performing preliminary credit checks of each automobile purchaser and ongoing monitoring every month. By using the current credit loss model, management is of the opinion that the Company is bearing the credit risk to repay the principal and interests to the financial institutions if automobile purchasers' default on their payments for more than three months. Management also periodically re-evaluates probability of default of automobile purchasers to make adjustments in the allowance, when necessary, as the Company is the guarantor of the loans. Purchase commitments   On September 23, 2022, the Company entered into a purchase contract with an automobile dealer to purchase a total of 100 automobiles for the amount of approximately $1.5 million. As of the filing date of these unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements, the Company has remitted approximately $0.6 million as purchase prepayments, and expects to fulfill the purchase commitment before March 31, 2025.   Contingent liabilities for automobile purchasers   Historically, most of the automobile purchasers would pay the Company their previous defaulted amounts within one to three months. In December 2019, a novel strain of coronavirus, or COVID-19, surfaced and it has spread rapidly to many parts of China and other parts of the world, including the United States. The epidemic has resulted in quarantines, travel restrictions, and the temporary closure of stores and facilities in China and elsewhere. Because substantially all of the Company's operations are conducted in China, the COVID-19 outbreak has materially and adversely affected the Company's business operations, financial condition and operating results for 2021 and 2022, including but not limited to decrease in revenues, slower collection of accounts receivable and additional allowance for credit losses. Some of the Company's customers exited the ride-hailing business and rendered their automobiles to the Company for sublease or sale to generate income or proceeds to cover payments owed to financial institutions and the Company. For the three months ended June 30, 2024 and 2023, the Company recognized an estimated provision loss of approximately $0 and $510 respectively, for drivers who exited the ride-hailing business were not able to make the monthly payments from operations. As of June 30, 2024, there was no contingent liabilities Hunan Ruixi had for the automobile purchasers.   Contingent liability of Jinkailong   Despite that the Company holds 35% of equity interest of Jinkailong through Hunan Ruixi, and has not make any consideration towards to the investment, the Company will be subjected to the maximum amount of RMB3.5 million (approximately $482,000) of which is equivalent to 35% of liabilities in case Jinkailong is liquidated in accordance with PRC's company registry compliance. 100 1.5 0.6 0 510 0.35 3500000 482000 0.35 20.
