BUSINESS OVERVIEWIron Mountain Incorporated, a Delaware corporation ("IMI"), was founded in an underground facility near Hudson, New York in 1951 where it stored business records. Today, we are a global leader in information management services, and we are trusted by more than 240,000 customers in 61 countries, including approximately 95% of the Fortune 1000, to help unlock value and intelligence from their assets through services that transcend the physical and digital worlds. Our broad range of solutions address their information management, digital transformation, information security, data center and asset lifecycle management (â€œALMâ€) needs. Our longstanding commitment to safety, security, sustainability and innovation in support of our customers underpins everything we do. We currently serve customers across an array of market verticals â€” commercial, legal, financial, healthcare, technology, insurance, life sciences, energy, business services, entertainment and government organizations. We are listed on the New York Stock Exchange (the "NYSE") and are a constituent of the Standard & Poorâ€™s 500 Index, the Morgan Stanley Capital International ("MSCI") REIT index and the FTSE EPRA Nareit Global Real Estate Index. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we were number 604 on the Fortune 1000. We have been organized and have operated as a REIT beginning with our taxable year ended December 31, 2014.BUSINESS STRATEGYOVERVIEWOur company has been a market leader in the physical ecosystem supporting information storage and retrieval, as most businesses have relied on paper documents or computer tapes to store their valuable information. Over time, customers are increasing their digital information, with the new information storage ecosystem being a hybrid of physical and digital media. We have evolved our business to meet our customers' needs while remaining focused on driving growth supported by our four pillars outlined below.Continued revenue growth in physical storage through revenue management actions as well as volume growth achieved in faster growing markets and our consumer business, as well as complementary business growthâ€¢We are establishing and enhancing leadership positions in higher-growth markets such as central and eastern Europe, Latin America, Asia, the Middle East and Africa.â€¢We continue to identify, acquire, incubate and scale complementary businesses and products to support our long-term growth objectives and drive solid returns on invested capital. These opportunities include our Global Digital Solutions, ALM, Fine Arts and Consumer Storage (each as defined below) businesses.Utilizing our global scale as well as over 70 years of customer trust to deliver differentiated data center offeringsâ€¢We have made significant progress in scaling our Global Data Center Business through acquisitions and organic growth, with 29 operating data centers across 21 global markets, either directly or through unconsolidated joint ventures. â€¢As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we had leased approximately 96% of the existing 416 megawatt ("MW") capacity of our data centers. With a total potential capacity of 1,280 MW in land and buildings currently owned or operated by us, we are among the largest global data center operators.Establishing and maintaining a leadership position in critical digital infrastructure as well as developing and offering new products and services that allow our customers to achieve reliable and secure information management solutions in an increasingly hybrid physical and digital worldâ€¢We are positioned to take advantage of the secular growth trends of the changing nature of digital infrastructure. We continue to scale our Global Digital Solutions business to complement our existing offerings in records and information management, ALM, and our Global Data Center business in order to respond to our customersâ€™ growing interest and need to react to environmental, social and corporate governance considerations. This full suite of complementary businesses puts Iron Mountain in a unique position to cross sell our products and services to our customers.â€¢Our customers are faced with navigating a more complex regulatory environment, and one in which hybrid physical and digital solutions have become the norm. Our strategy is underpinned by our persistent focus on best-in-class customer experience, as we continue to seek innovative solutions to help our customers progress on their journey from physical storage to a digital ecosystem.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K1Table of ContentsPart IContinued investment in our growth agenda, our business and customer-centric solutionsâ€¢We have established an investment strategy to fuel our growth. The investments we outlined in our plan for Project Matterhorn (as defined below) have been informed by our established leadership position in the physical storage business, our expanding services such as Global Digital Solutions and ALM and our significant progress in the Global Data Center Business.PROJECT MATTERHORNIn September 2022, we announced a global program designed to accelerate the growth of our business ("Project Matterhorn"). Project Matterhorn investments focus on transforming our operating model to a global operating model. Project Matterhorn focuses on the formation of a solution-based sales approach that is designed to allow us to optimize our shared services and best practices to better serve our customers' needs. We are investing to accelerate growth and to capture a greater share of the large, global addressable markets in which we operate. We have incurred approximately $378.5 million in Restructuring and other transformation costs from the inception of Project Matterhorn through DecemberÂ 31, 2024. We expect to incur approximately $150.0 million in costs related to Project Matterhorn during the year ending December 31, 2025, at which point the program is expected to be completed. Costs are comprised of (1) restructuring costs, which include (i) site consolidation and other related exit costs, (ii) employee severance costs and (iii) certain professional fees associated with these activities, and (2) other transformation costs, which include professional fees such as project management costs and costs for third party consultants who are assisting in the enablement of our growth initiatives. Total costs related to Project Matterhorn during the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023 were approximately $161.4 million and $175.2 million, respectively.BUSINESS SEGMENTSThe amount of revenues derived from our business segments and other relevant data, including financial information about geographic areas and product and service lines, for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, are set forth in NoteÂ 11 to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report.GLOBAL RIM BUSINESSThe Global Records and Information Management ("Global RIM") Business segment includes several distinct offerings. Our mission-critical storage offerings and related services generated approximately $6.1Â billion in annual revenue in 2024. Our business has a highly diverse customer base of more than 240,000 customers - with no single customer accounting for more than approximately 1% of revenue during the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 - and operates in 61 countries globally. This presents a significant cross-sell opportunity for our expanding solutions, including digital, data center and ALM.Recurring, Durable Revenue StreamA majority of our revenue is recurring in nature. In our Records Management business, our contracted storage rental fee agreements generally range from one to five years in length. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we stored more than 730 million cubic feet of physical volume and we have consistently experienced strong customer retention levels. In our Global Data Center Business, our lease durations vary by customer, with a weighted average lease expiration of 10.6 years as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024.Comprehensive InformationManagement SolutionAs an S&P 500 REIT with approximately 1,350 locations globally and with offerings spanning physical storage, digitization solutions and digital storage, we are positioned to provide a holistic offering to our customers. We are able to cater to our customersâ€™ physical and digital needs and to help guide their digital transformation journey.Significant Owner and Operatorof Real EstateWe operate approximately 98 million square feet of real estate worldwide. Our owned real estate footprint spans to over 24 million square feet.Limited Revenue CyclicalityHistorically, economic downturns have not significantly affected our storage rental business. Due to the durability of our total global physical volumes, the success of our revenue management initiatives and the growth of our Global Data Center Business, we believe we can continue to grow organic storage rental revenue over time.Shifting Revenue MixWe have identified a number of areas where we see opportunity for growth as we position ourselves to unlock greater value for our customers. These business lines, including Global Data Center, ALM and Global Digital Solutions, represent markets with strong, secular growth.4IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of Contents Part IIn addition, our Global Data Center Business has the following attributes:Large Data CenterPlatform with SignificantExpansion OpportunityAs of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we had 416 MW of leasable capacity with an additional 864 MW under construction or held for development.Differentiated Complianceand SecurityWe offer comprehensive compliance support as well as physical and cybersecurity. Our Security-in-Depth strategy integrates both technical and human security measures, with oversight provided by senior security leaders with military and public sector backgrounds. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, our data center portfolio has achieved numerous certifications and received third party assurance reports, making it one of the most comprehensive compliance programs in the industry. These certifications and reports on compliance include the global ISO 27001, ISO 22301, ISO 9001, SOC 2 and PCI-DSS standards, as well as HIPAA, NIST 800-53 and FISMA HIGH in the United States. The program also includes enterprise-wide certified ISO 14001 and 50001 environmental and energy management systems and complies with ISO 14064 for greenhouse gas emissions, supporting our commitment to sustainability.Efficient Accessand FlexibilityWe have the ability to provide customers with a range of deployment options from one cabinet to an entire building, leveraging our global portfolio of hyperscale-ready and underground data centers. We also provide access to numerous carriers, cloud providers and peering exchanges with migration support.100% Clean EnergyData CentersWe have matched 100% of the energy consumption in our data centers with clean energy annually since 2017. This approach enables our Green Power Pass offering, which allows customers to report the power they consume at any Iron Mountain Data Center as clean power in their public reporting, making Iron Mountain a key part of their decarbonization roadmaps and goals. Our data center business is a founding signatory to the UN Compact on 24/7 Carbon-Free Energy (â€œCFEâ€), which seeks hour-by-hour matching of site consumption with local CFE by 2040.COMPETITIONWe face competition from numerous storage and information management services providers globally, as well as storage and information management services that are managed and operated internally by organizations. Competition for records and information customers is driven by factors such as pricing, reputation and reliability, the quality and security of storage solutions and the scope and scale of technology. While the majority of our competitors operate in only one market or region, we believe we provide a differentiated global offering that competes effectively in these areas.We also compete with numerous data center developers, owners and operators, many of whom own properties comparable to ours in several of the same metropolitan areas where our facilities are located. We believe that competition for data center customers is based on availability of power, security measures, location, connectivity and rental rates, and we are confident in our ability to compete effectively in each of these areas. Additionally, we believe our strong brand, global footprint and excellent commercial relationships empower us to compete successfully and provide significant cross-selling opportunities with our existing customer base.In our ALM business, we compete with both hyperscalers and individual corporate clients who manage their own asset recycling, disposition and management, in addition to external competitors.HUMAN CAPITAL MANAGEMENTEMPLOYEESAs of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we employed approximately 11,150 employees in the United States and approximately 17,700 employees outside of the United States. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, approximately 375 employees were represented by unions in North America and approximately 1,375 employees were represented by unions in Latin America. All union employees are currently under renewed labor agreements or operating under an extension agreement.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K5Table of ContentsPart IBENEFIT PROGRAMSWe provide our employees with benefits that are designed to support their overall physical, financial, emotional and social well-being. These benefits vary by location but generally include health and welfare benefits, paid time off and programs to support financial security. Additionally, employees are able to access emotional well-being resources through global employee assistance programs. Certain unionized employees receive benefits through unions and are not eligible to participate in our benefit programs. In addition to base compensation and other usual benefits, a significant portion of full-time employees participate in some form of incentive-based compensation program that provides payments based on revenues, profits or attainment of specific objectives for the unit in which they work.Â COMPANY CULTUREWe are committed to making a meaningful impact on our customers, our people and our business by cultivating a culture that is firmly grounded in our values: Acting with Integrity, Owning Safety and Security, Building Customer Value, Taking Ownership and Promoting Inclusion and Teamwork. While we foster an environment of learning, collaboration, diversity and wellbeing, we know culture truly thrives in the everyday experience of working at Iron Mountain. Our culture encourages open communication and innovation while fostering trust, engagement and exceptional performance. We evaluate this through regular employee surveys and by leveraging data to gain a deeper understanding of our global workforce, and how they work. These insights collectively enable us to drive enhanced employee engagement, measure effectiveness and refine our approach for sustained success.Led by our President and CEO, William Meaney, our Inclusive Leadership Alliance (the "Alliance") includes members of the Executive Leadership Team and plays a pivotal role in advancing our culture and driving growth. The Alliance reviews and supports key initiatives, monitors progress toward enterprise goals, ensures accountability through measurable targets and communicates achievements to stakeholders.Our volunteer-based global employee resource groups play an essential role in supporting talent attraction, retention and development, and serving as valuable allies across our company. Each group is sponsored by one or more members of Iron Mountainâ€™s Executive Leadership Team.COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENTWe are committed to integrating responsible and sustainable practices throughout our organization to help our operations have a positive impact on the environment and the communities in which we operate. We aim to give back to the communities where we live and work and believe that this commitment helps in our efforts to attract and retain employees. We offer philanthropic support to our global community through our Living Legacy Initiative, which is our commitment to help preserve and make accessible cultural and historical information and artifacts. We encourage volunteerism in the communities in which we live and work through our Moving Mountains volunteer program, offering paid time off for employees to help community-based and civic-minded organizations.INSURANCEFor strategic risk transfer purposes, we maintain a comprehensive insurance program with insurers that we believe to be reputable and which have adequate capitalization in amounts that we believe to be appropriate. Property insurance is purchased on a comprehensive basis, including flood and earthquake (including excess coverage), subject to certain policy conditions, sublimits and deductibles. Property is insured based upon the replacement cost of real and personal property, including leasehold improvements, business income loss and extra expense. Other types of insurance that we carry, which are also subject to certain policy conditions, sublimits and deductibles, include medical, workersâ€™ compensation, general liability, umbrella, automobile, professional, cyber, warehouse legal liability and directorsâ€™ and officersâ€™ liability policies.GOVERNMENT REGULATIONWe are required to comply with numerous laws and regulations covering a wide variety of subject matters which may have a material effect on our capital expenditures, earnings and competitive position.6IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of Contents Part IFor example, some of our currently and formerly owned or leased properties were previously used by entities other than us for industrial or other purposes, or were affected by waste generated from nearby properties, that involved the use, storage, generation and/or disposal of hazardous substances and wastes, including petroleum products. In some instances, this prior use involved the operation of underground storage tanks or the presence of asbestos-containing materials. Where we are aware of environmental conditions that require remediation, we undertake appropriate activity, in accordance with all legal requirements. Although we have from time to time conducted limited environmental investigations and remedial activities at some of our former and current facilities, we have not undertaken environmental reviews of all of our properties. We therefore may be potentially liable for environmental costs and may be unable to sell, rent, mortgage or use contaminated real estate owned or leased by us. Under various federal, state and local environmental laws, we may be liable for environmental compliance and remediation costs to address contamination, if any, located at owned and leased properties as well as damages arising from such contamination, whether or not we know of, or were responsible for, the contamination, or the contamination occurred while we owned or leased the property. Environmental conditions for which we might be liable may also exist at properties that we may acquire in the future. In addition, future regulatory action and environmental laws may impose costs for environmental compliance that do not exist today.We transfer a portion of our risk of financial loss due to currently undetected environmental matters by purchasing an environmental impairment liability insurance policy, which covers all owned and leased locations. Coverage is provided for both liability and remediation costs.In addition, we are subject to numerous laws and regulations relating to data privacy and cybersecurity, which are complex, change frequently and have tended to become more stringent over time. We have an established global privacy compliance framework and devote substantial resources, and may in the future have to devote significant additional resources, to facilitate compliance with these laws and regulations, and to investigate, defend or remedy actual or alleged violations or breaches. Any failure by us to comply with, or remedy any violations or breaches of, these laws and regulations could negatively impact our operations, result in the imposition of fines and penalties, liability and litigation, significant costs and expenses and reputational harm.For more information about laws and regulations that could affect our business, see "Item 1A. Risk Factors" included in this Annual Report.SUSTAINABILITYAt Iron Mountain, we are using our influence and expertise to drive innovations that protect and elevate the effectiveness of our customersâ€™ endeavors, while also creating a meaningful, positive impact on individuals, the environment, and our overall performance. Iron Mountain is committed to sustainable growth, and this is highlighted through initiatives and targets within our company. We aim to minimize our environmental impact, foster a culture and processes that support the well-being of our global teams, and to be a catalyst for positive change within our communities.We transparently report on our sustainability efforts and the advancement of our objectives by using widely adopted reporting frameworks such as the Global Reporting Initiative, CDP and EcoVadis. In addition, we continue to further align our reporting with the recommendations of the Financial Stability Boardâ€™s Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures.Our work continues to receive recognition. In 2024, the Science Based Targets initiative ("SBTi") validated our targets, which are aligned with the Paris Climate Agreement aspiration of limiting the global temperature increase to 1.5 degrees Celsius. Our data center team was recognized with the Decarbonization of Electricity award from BroadGroup International for their work and thought leadership on carbon-free energy.As of December 31, 2024, we are a constituent of multiple indexes that focus on corporate sustainability standards, including several MSCI All Country World Indexes (ACWI), such as the ACWI Low Carbon Leaders, ACWI Climate Paris Aligned, ACWI ESG Leaders and ACWI Socially Responsible Index (SRI). We have also been a constituent of the FTSE4Good Index for more than ten years. RISK FACTORS.We face many risks. If any of the events or circumstances described below actually occur, we and our businesses, financial condition or results of operations could suffer, and the trading price of our debt or equity securities could decline. Our current and potential investors should consider the following risks and the information contained under the heading "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements" before deciding to invest in our securities.BUSINESS RISKSFailure to execute our strategic growth plan may adversely impact our financial condition and results of operations.As part of our strategic growth plan, including Project Matterhorn, we expect to invest in our existing businesses, including records and information management storage and services businesses in our higher-growth markets, data centers, digital solutions, ALM business and other complementary businesses, and in new businesses, business strategies, products, services, technologies and geographies. These initiatives may involve significant risks and uncertainties, including:â€¢our inability to maintain relationships with key customers and suppliers or to execute on our plan to incorporate the digitization of our customersâ€™ records and new digital information technologies into our offerings;â€¢failure to achieve satisfactory returns on new product offerings, acquired companies, joint ventures, growth initiatives or other investments, particularly in markets where we do not currently operate or have a substantial presence;â€¢our inability to identify suitable companies to acquire, invest in or partner with;â€¢our inability to complete acquisitions or investments on satisfactory terms;â€¢our inability to structure acquisitions or investments in a manner that complies with our debt covenants or is consistent with our leverage ratio goals;â€¢challenges in managing costs to offset the impact of inflationary pressure;â€¢increased demands on our management, operating systems, internal controls and financial and physical resources and, if necessary, our inability to successfully expand our infrastructure; â€¢incurring additional debt necessary to acquire suitable companies or make other growth investments if we are unable to pay the purchase price or make the investment out of working capital or the issuance of our common stock or other equity securities;â€¢our inability to manage the budgeting, forecasting and other process control issues presented by future growth, particularly with respect to new lines of business;â€¢insufficient revenues to offset expenses and liabilities associated with new investments; andâ€¢our inability to attract, develop and retain skilled employees to lead and support our strategic growth plan, particularly in new businesses, technologies, products or offerings outside our core competencies.Our new ventures are inherently risky and we can provide no assurance that such strategies and offerings will be successful in achieving the desired returns within a reasonable timeframe, if at all, and that they will not adversely affect our business, reputation, financial condition and operating results. If stored records and tapes become less active, our service revenue growth and profits from related services may decline.Our Records Management and Data Management service revenue growth is being negatively impacted by declining activity rates as stored records and tapes are becoming less active and more archival. The amount of information available to customers digitally or in their own information systems has been steadily increasing in recent years, and we believe this trend will continue. As a result, our customers are less likely than they have been in the past to retrieve records and rotate tapes, thereby reducing their activity levels. At the same time, many of our costs related to records and tape related services remain relatively fixed. In addition, our reputation for providing secure information storage is critical to our success, and actions to manage cost structure, such as outsourcing certain transportation, security or other functions, could negatively impact our reputation and adversely affect our business, and, if we are unable to appropriately align our cost structure with decreased levels of service activity, our operating results could be adversely affected. IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K9Table of ContentsPart IOur customers continue to evolve the way they store records, which could impact our storage revenue.We derive substantial revenues from rental fees for the storage of physical records and computer backup media and from storage related services. Volume in and demand for our traditional storage related services has evolved as our customers adopt alternative storage technologies or as retention requirements change, which may require significantly less space than traditional physical records and tape storage; however, volumes in our Global RIM Business segment were relatively steady in 2024 and we expect them to remain relatively consistent in the near term. We can provide no assurance that our customers will continue to store most or a portion of their records as paper documents or as tapes, or that the paper documents or tapes they do store with us will require our storage related services at the same levels as they have in the past. A significant shift by our customers to storage of data through non-paper or non-tape-based technologies, whether now existing or developed in the future, could adversely affect our businesses. In addition, the digitization of records may shift our revenue mix from the more predictable storage revenue to service revenue, which is inherently more volatile.We and our customers are subject to laws and governmental regulations relating to data privacy and cybersecurity, and our customersâ€™ demands in this area are increasing. This may cause us to incur significant expenses and non-compliance with such regulations and demands could harm our business.We and our customers are subject to numerous laws and regulations relating to data privacy and cybersecurity. These regulations are complex, change frequently and have tended to become more stringent over time. In addition, a growing number of regulatory bodies have adopted data breach notification requirements and increased enforcement of regulations regarding the use, access, accuracy and security of personal information. Finally, as a result of the continued emphasis on information security and instances in which personal information has been compromised, our customers are requesting that we take increasingly sophisticated measures to enhance security and comply with cybersecurity and data privacy regulations and that we assume higher liability under our contracts. We have an established global privacy compliance program and devote substantial resources, and may in the future have to devote significant additional resources, to facilitate compliance with global laws and regulations, our customersâ€™ data privacy, data residency and security demands, and to investigate, defend or remedy actual or alleged violations or breaches. Any failure by us to comply with, or remedy any violations or breaches of, laws and regulations or customer requirements could negatively impact our operations, result in the imposition of fines and penalties, contractual liability and litigation, significant costs and expenses and reputational harm.Expansion into Global Digital Solutions and ALM services means that our privacy and security risk profile is increasing. In particular, we are hosting increasing volumes of customer digital data, including sensitive and confidential data, and disposing of customer data-bearing devices. This may result in increased regulatory exposure, contractual liability and security expectations from customers. Finally, emerging AI regulations, increasing use of AI and generative AI tools and their integration into our businesses may require additional resources and create additional compliance and cybersecurity risks.Attacks on our internal IT systems could damage our reputation, cause us to lose revenues and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.Our reputation for providing secure information storage to customers is critical to the success of our business. Our reputation or brand, and specifically, the trust our customers place in us, could be negatively impacted in the event of perceived or actual failures by us to store information securely. Although we seek to prevent and detect attempts by unauthorized users to gain access to our IT systems, and incur significant costs to do so, our IT and network infrastructure has in the past been and may in the future be vulnerable to attacks by hackers, including state-sponsored organizations with significant financial and technological resources, breaches due to employee error, fraud or malice or other disruptions (including, but not limited to, computer viruses and other malware, denial of service and ransomware), which may involve a breach requiring us to notify regulators, clients or employees and enlist identity theft protection. Moreover, until we have migrated businesses we acquire onto our IT systems or ensured compliance with our information technology security standards, we have in the past and may in the future face additional risks because of the continued use of predecessor IT systems. We utilize remote work arrangements and outsource certain support services, including cloud storage systems and cloud computing services, to third parties, which has in the past and may in the future subject our IT and other sensitive information to additional risk. A successful breach of the security of our IT systems could lead to theft or misuse of our customersâ€™ proprietary or confidential information or our employeesâ€™ personal information and result in third party claims against us, regulatory penalties and reputational harm. Although we maintain insurance coverage for various cybersecurity risks, there is no guarantee that all costs or losses incurred will be fully insured. Damage to our reputation could make us less competitive, which could negatively impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.Failure to successfully integrate acquired businesses could negatively impact our balance sheet and results of operations.Strategic acquisitions are an important element of our growth strategy and the success of any acquisition we make depends in part on our ability to integrate the acquired business and realize anticipated synergies. The process of integrating acquired businesses, particularly in new markets or for new offerings, may involve difficulties and may require a disproportionate amount of our managementâ€™s attention and our financial and other resources.10IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of Contents Part IFor example, the success of our significant acquisitions depends, in large part, on our ability to realize the anticipated benefits, including cost savings or revenue acceleration from combining the acquired businesses with ours. To realize these anticipated benefits, we must be able to successfully integrate our business and the acquired businesses, and this integration is complex and time-consuming. We may encounter challenges in the integration process including the following:â€¢challenges and difficulties associated with managing our larger, more complex, company;â€¢conforming standards, controls, procedures and policies, business cultures and compensation and benefits structures between the two businesses;â€¢consolidating corporate and administrative infrastructures;â€¢coordinating geographically dispersed organizations;â€¢retaining critical acquired talent;â€¢potential unknown liabilities and unforeseen expenses or delays associated with an acquisition; andâ€¢our ability to deliver on our strategy going forward.Further, our acquisitions subject us to liabilities (including tax liabilities) that may exist at an acquired company, some of which may be unknown. Although we and our advisors conduct due diligence on the businesses we acquire, there can be no guarantee that we are aware of all liabilities of an acquired company. These liabilities, and any additional risks and uncertainties related to an acquired company not known to us or that we may deem immaterial or unlikely to occur at the time of the acquisition, could negatively impact our future business, financial condition and results of operations.We can give no assurance that we will ultimately be able to effectively integrate and manage the operations of any acquired business or realize anticipated synergies. The failure to successfully integrate the cultures, operating systems, procedures and information technologies of an acquired business could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.Our future growth depends in part upon our ability to continue to effectively manage and execute on revenue management.Our organic revenue growth has been positively impacted by our ability to effectively introduce, expand and monitor revenue management. If we are not able to continue and effectively manage pricing, our results of operations could be adversely affected and we may not be able to execute on our strategic growth plan.Our customer contracts may not always limit our liability and may sometimes contain terms that could subject us to significant liability or lead to disputes in contract interpretation.Our customer contracts typically contain standardized provisions limiting our liability regarding the services we perform and the loss or destruction of, or damage to, records, information or other items stored with us; however, some of our contracts with large customers and governmental entities and some of the contracts assumed in our acquisitions contain no such limits or contain non-standard limits. We can provide no assurance that our limitation of liability provisions will be enforceable in all instances or, if enforceable, that they would otherwise protect us from liability. In the past, we have had relatively few disputes with our customers regarding the terms of their customer contracts, and most disputes to date have not been material, but we can provide no assurance that we will not have material disputes in the future. Moreover, as we expand our operations into new businesses, including Global Digital Solutions, ALM, and the storage of valuable items, and respond to customer demands for higher limitation of liability, our exposure to contracts with higher or no limitations of liability and disputes with customers over contract interpretation may increase. Although we maintain a comprehensive insurance program, we can provide no assurance that we will be able to maintain insurance policies on acceptable terms or with high enough coverage amounts to cover losses to us in connection with customer contract disputes.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K11Table of ContentsPart IAs a global company, we are subject to the unique risks of operating in many countries.As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we operated in 61 countries. The global nature of our business and our growth strategy, which includes continued acquisitions and investments in countries where we do not currently operate, is subject to numerous risks, including:â€¢fluctuations of currency exchange rates in the markets in which we operate;â€¢the impact of laws and regulations that apply to us in countries in which we operate or have made investments; in particular, we are subject to sanctions and anti-corruption laws, such as the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act and the United Kingdom Bribery Act, and, although we have implemented internal controls, policies and procedures and training to deter prohibited practices, our employees, partners, contractors or agents may violate or circumvent such policies and the law; â€¢costs and difficulties associated with managing global operations, including cross-border sales;â€¢the volatility of certain economies in which we operate;â€¢political uncertainties and changes in the global political climate or other global events, such as war or other military conflict, trade wars or global pandemics, which may create additional risk in relation to our global operations, which may become more pronounced as we consolidate operations across countries and need to move data across borders; â€¢the risk that business partners upon whom we depend for technical assistance or management and acquisition expertise in some markets will not perform as expected;â€¢difficulties attracting and retaining local management and key employees to operate our business in certain countries; andâ€¢cultural differences and differences in business practices and operating standards, as well as risks and challenges in expanding into countries where we have no prior operational experience.If we fail to meet our commitment to transition to more renewable and sustainable sources of energy, it may negatively impact our ability to attract and retain customers, employees and investors who focus on this commitment. Furthermore, changes to environmental laws and standards may increase the cost to operate some of our businesses. This could impact our results of operations, our competitiveness and the trading value of our stock.We have made a commitment to prioritize sustainable energy practices, reduce our carbon footprint and transition to more renewable and sustainable sources of energy, particularly in our Global Data Center Business. We have made progress towards reducing our carbon footprint, but if we are not successful in continuing this reduction or if our customers, employees and investors are not satisfied with our sustainability efforts, it may negatively impact our ability to attract and retain customers, employees and investors who focus on this commitment. This could negatively impact our results of operations and the trading of our stock.Furthermore, changes in environmental laws in any jurisdiction in which we operate could increase compliance costs or impose limitations on our operations. For example, our emergency generators at our data centers are subject to regulations and permit requirements governing air pollutants, and the heating, ventilation and air conditioning and fire suppression systems at some of our data centers and data management locations may include ozone-depleting substances that are subject to regulation. While environmental regulations do not normally impose material costs upon operations at our facilities, unexpected events, equipment malfunctions, human error and changes in law or regulations, among other factors, could result in unexpected costs, which could be material.Our use of joint ventures or other co-investment vehicles could expose us to additional risks and liabilities, including our lack of sole decision-making authority and our reliance on joint venture or other co-investment vehicle partners who may have economic and business interests that are inconsistent with our business interests.As part of our growth strategy, particularly in connection with our international and data center expansion, we currently, and may in the future, co-invest with third parties using joint ventures or other co-investment vehicles. These ventures can result in our holding non-controlling interests in, or not having sole control over managing the affairs of, a property or portfolio of properties, business, partnership, joint venture or other entity. In connection with our pursuit or entrance into any such venture, we may be subject to additional risks, including:â€¢our ability to sell our interests in the venture may be limited by the venture agreement;â€¢we may not have the right to exercise sole decision-making authority regarding the properties, business, partnership, venture or other entity;â€¢we may be liable for the venture's failure to comply with applicable law despite only having a non-controlling interest in the venture;â€¢if our partners become bankrupt or fail to fund their share of required capital contributions, we may choose or be required to contribute unplanned capital; â€¢our partners may have economic, tax or other interests or goals that are inconsistent with our interests or goals, which could affect our ability to negotiate satisfactory venture terms, to operate the property or business or to maintain our qualification for taxation as a REIT; andâ€¢disputes may arise between us and our partners that result in litigation or arbitration that would increase our expenses and divert the attention of our officers and directors.12IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of Contents Part IEach of these factors may result in returns on these investments being less than we expect or in losses, and our financial and operating results may be adversely affected. Significant costs or disruptions at our data centers could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.Our Global Data Center Business depends on providing customers with highly reliable facilities, power infrastructure and operations solutions, and we will need to retain and hire qualified personnel to manage our data centers. Service interruptions or significant equipment damage could result in difficulty maintaining service-level commitment obligations that we owe to certain of our customers. Service interruptions or equipment damage may occur at one or more of our data centers because of numerous factors, including: human error; equipment failure; physical, electronic and cybersecurity breaches; fire, hurricane, flood, earthquake and other natural disasters; water damage; fiber cuts; extreme temperatures; power loss or telecommunications failure; war, terrorism and any related conflicts or similar events worldwide; and sabotage and vandalism. We purchase significant amounts of electricity and water for cooling from suppliers that are subject to environmental laws, regulations and permit requirements. These environmental requirements are subject to material change, which could result in increases in our suppliersâ€™ compliance costs that may be passed through to us or otherwise constrain the availability of such resources. In addition, climate change may increase the likelihood that our data centers are affected by some of these factors.While these risks could impact our overall business, they could have a more significant impact on our Global Data Center Business, where we have service-level commitment obligations to certain of our customers. As a result, service interruptions or significant equipment damage at our data centers could result in difficulty maintaining service-level commitments to these customers and potential claims related to such failures. Because our data centers are critical to many of our customersâ€™ businesses, service interruptions or significant equipment damage at our data centers could also result in lost profits or other indirect or consequential damages to our customers, which could in turn result in contractual liability to our customers or impair our ability to obtain and retain customers, which would adversely affect both our ability to generate revenue and our results of operations.We also rely on third party telecommunications carriers to provide internet connectivity to our customers. These carriers may elect not to offer or to restrict their services within our data centers or may elect to discontinue such services. Furthermore, carriers may face business difficulties, which could affect their ability to provide telecommunications services or the quality of such services. If connectivity is interrupted or terminated, our financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected. Events such as these may also impact our reputation as a data center provider which could adversely affect our results of operations.Our Global Data Center Business is susceptible to regional and local costs of power, power shortages, planned or unplanned power outages and limitations on the availability of adequate power resources. We rely on third parties to provide power to our data centers. We are therefore subject to an inherent risk that such third parties may fail to deliver such power in adequate quantities or on a consistent basis. If the power delivered to our data centers is insufficient or interrupted, we would be required to provide power through the operation of our on-site generators, generally at a significantly higher operating cost. Additionally, global fluctuations in the price of power can increase the cost of energy, and we may be limited in our ability to, or may not always choose to, pass these increased costs on to our customers. We face additional risks in expanding our Global Data Center Business, including the significant amount of capital required.Expanding our Global Data Center Business requires significant capital. In addition, we may be required to commit significant operational and financial resources in connection with the organic growth of our Global Data Center Business substantially in advance of such newly developed data centers generating revenue.We are currently experiencing rising construction costs which reflect the increase in cost of labor and raw materials, as well as supply chain and logistical challenges. Unexpected disruptions to our supply chain, continued inflationary pressures or high interest rates, tariffs, delays in construction, limited financing availability, constrained supplies of new power, or changes in customer requirements could significantly affect the cost or timing of our planned expansion projects, have consequences under our project financing and partnership agreements, and interfere with our ability to meet commitments to customers who have contracted for space in new data centers under construction. All construction-related data center projects require us to carefully select, manage, and rely on the experience of one or more design firms, general contractors, and associated subcontractors during the design and construction process, and to obtain critical government permits and authorizations. Should a design firm, general contractor, significant subcontractor, or key supplier experience financial or operational problems during the design or construction process or fail to perform properly, or should we be unable to obtain, or experience delays in obtaining, all necessary zoning, land-use, building, occupancy and other governmental permits and authorizations, we could experience significant delays, increased costs to complete the project, penalties under customer preleases and other negative impacts to the expected return on our committed capital. There can be no assurance we will have sufficient customer demand to support the data centers we have acquired or built, or that we will not be adversely affected by the risks noted above under "Significant costs or disruptions at our data centers could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations", which could make it difficult for us to realize expected returns on our investments, if any.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K13Table of ContentsPart IOur ALM business may be subject to additional risks, including those related to its client and geographic concentration, government trade policies, and macroeconomic conditions. A significant portion of the revenue from our ALM business is derived from a limited number of clients and tied to cyclical projects involving the decommissioning and destruction of IT assets and the disposition of components of such assets to purchasers in concentrated geographies. Though we generally enter into long-term contracts with such clients, the volume of work we perform for specific clients may vary over the life of each contract due to various factors including changes in client behavior or macroeconomic conditions impacting the availability of new IT assets in the marketplace. There can be no assurance that we will be able to retain our current volumes, existing clients or that, if we were to lose one or more of our significant clients, we would be able to replace such clients with clients that generate a comparable amount of revenue. Further, many of the purchasers of the decommissioned IT asset components are geographically concentrated, particularly within mainland China. If governments enact trade policies or environmental regulations that restrict or increase the cost of exporting IT assets into China or other markets in which we sell decommissioned IT asset components or recyclable materials, or increase the enforcement of such policies, then the revenue from the sale of these assets may be negatively impacted. Additionally, uncertain macroeconomic conditions, particularly within mainland China, may reduce our purchasersâ€™ demand for the IT asset components that we sell, thereby reducing our revenues and earnings.Failure to comply with certain regulatory and contractual requirements under our United States Government contracts could adversely affect our revenues, operating results and financial position and reputation.Having the United States Government as a customer subjects us to certain regulatory and contractual requirements. Failure to comply with these requirements could subject us to investigations, price reductions, up to treble damages, and civil penalties. Noncompliance with certain regulatory and contractual requirements could also result in us being suspended or debarred from future United States Government contracting. We may also face private derivative securities claims because of adverse government actions. Any of these outcomes could have a material adverse effect on our revenues, operating results, financial position and reputation.We may be subject to certain costs and potential liabilities associated with the real estate required for our business.As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we operated approximately 1,350 facilities worldwide, including approximately 550 in the United States, and face special risks attributable to the real estate we own or lease, which could have a material adverse effect on our revenues, operating results and financial position. Such risks include:â€¢acquisition and occupancy costs that make it difficult to meet anticipated margins and difficulty locating suitable facilities due to a relatively small number of available buildings having the desired characteristics in some real estate markets; â€¢increases in rent expense and property taxes as a result of the increasing demand for industrial real estate;â€¢uninsured losses or damage to our facilities due to an inability to obtain full coverage on a cost-effective basis for some casualties, such as fires, hurricanes and earthquakes, or any coverage for certain losses, such as losses from riots or terrorist activities;â€¢inability to use our real estate holdings effectively and costs associated with vacating or consolidating facilities if the demand for physical storage were to diminish;â€¢liability under environmental laws for the costs of investigation and cleanup of contaminated real estate owned or leased by us, whether or not (i) we know of, or were responsible for, the contamination, or (ii) the contamination occurred while we owned or leased the property; andâ€¢costs of complying with fire protection and safety standards.Some of our current and formerly owned or leased properties were previously used by entities other than us for industrial or other purposes, or were affected by waste generated from nearby properties, that involved the use, storage, generation and/or disposal of hazardous substances and wastes, including petroleum products. In some instances, this prior use involved the operation of underground storage tanks or the presence of asbestos-containing materials. Where we are aware of environmental conditions that require remediation, we undertake appropriate activity, in accordance with all legal requirements. Although we have from time to time conducted limited environmental investigations and remedial activities at some of our former and current facilities, we have not undertaken an environmental review of all of our properties, including those we have acquired. We therefore may be potentially liable for environmental costs like those discussed above and may be unable to sell, rent, mortgage or use contaminated real estate owned or leased by us. Environmental conditions for which we might be liable may also exist at properties that we may acquire in the future. In addition, future regulatory action and environmental laws may impose costs for environmental compliance that do not exist today.14IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of Contents Part IUnexpected events, including those resulting from climate change or geopolitical events, could disrupt our operations and adversely affect our reputation and results of operations.Unexpected events, including fires or explosions at our facilities, war or other military conflict, terrorist activities, natural disasters such as earthquakes and wildfires, unplanned power outages, supply disruptions, failure of equipment or systems, and severe weather events, such as droughts, heat waves, hurricanes, and flooding, could adversely affect our reputation and results of operations through physical damage to our facilities, equipment and customers' inventory and through physical damage to, or disruption of, local infrastructure. During the past several years, we have seen an increase in the frequency and intensity of severe weather events and we expect this trend to continue due to climate change. Some of our key facilities worldwide are vulnerable to severe weather events, and global weather pattern changes may also pose long-term risks of physical impacts to our business. Our customers rely on us to securely store and timely retrieve their critical information, and, while we maintain disaster recovery and business continuity plans that would be implemented in these situations, these unexpected events could result in customer service disruption, physical damage to one or more key operating facilities and the information stored in those facilities, the closure of one or more key operating facilities or the disruption of information systems, each of which could negatively impact our reputation and results of operations. In addition, these unexpected events could negatively impact our reputation if such events result in adverse publicity, governmental investigations or litigation or if customers do not otherwise perceive our response to be adequate. Fluctuations in commodity prices may affect our operating revenues and results of operations.Our operating revenues and results of operations are impacted by significant changes in commodity prices. In particular, our secure shredding operations generate revenue from the sale of shredded paper for recycling. Additionally, our ALM business may be affected by the prices of scrap metals. Significant declines in the cost of paper or scrap metals may negatively impact our revenues and results of operations, and increases in other commodity prices, including steel, may negatively impact our results of operations.Failure to manage and adequately implement our new IT systems could negatively affect our business.We rely on IT infrastructure, including hardware, networks, software, people and processes, to provide information to support assessments and conclusions about our operating performance. We are in the process of upgrading a number of our IT systems, including consolidating our existing finance operations platforms, and we face risks relating to these transitions. For example, we may incur greater costs than we anticipate training our personnel on the new systems, we may experience service disruptions or errors in accurately capturing data or retaining our records, and we may be delayed in meeting our various reporting obligations. There can be no assurance that we will manage our IT systems and implement these new systems as planned or that we will do so without disruptions to our operations, which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.RISKS RELATED TO OUR INDEBTEDNESSOur indebtedness could adversely affect our financial health and prevent us from fulfilling our obligations under our various debt instruments.As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, our total long-term debt was approximately $13,836.4 million, stockholders' deficit was approximately $503.1 million and we had cash and cash equivalents of approximately $155.7 million. Our indebtedness could have important consequences to our current and potential investors. These risks include:â€¢inability to satisfy our obligations with respect to our various debt instruments;â€¢inability to make borrowings to fund future working capital, capital expenditures and strategic growth opportunities, including acquisitions, further organic development of, and investment into, our Global Data Center, ALM and Global Digital Solutions businesses and other service offerings, and other general corporate requirements, including possible required repurchases, redemptions or prepayments of our various indebtedness;â€¢limits on our distributions to stockholders; in this regard if these limits prevented us from satisfying our REIT distribution requirements, we could fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT or, if these limits do not jeopardize our qualification for taxation as a REIT but do nevertheless prevent us from distributing 100% of our REIT taxable income, we will be subject to federal corporate income tax, and potentially a nondeductible excise tax, on the retained amounts;â€¢limits on future borrowings under our existing or future credit arrangements, which could affect our ability to pay our indebtedness or to fund our other liquidity needs;â€¢inability to generate sufficient funds to cover required interest payments;â€¢restrictions on our ability to refinance our indebtedness on commercially reasonable terms;â€¢limits on our flexibility in planning for, or reacting to, changes in our business and the information management services industry; andâ€¢inability to adjust to adverse economic conditions that could place us at a disadvantage to our competitors with less debt and who, therefore, may be able to take advantage of opportunities that our indebtedness prevents us from pursuing.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K15Table of ContentsPart ICertain of our indebtedness, including indebtedness under our Credit Agreement (as defined below), is paid at floating interest rates, and as a result, our interest expense or the cost of our debt may increase due to rising interest rates or changes to benchmark rates.Restrictive debt covenants may limit our ability to pursue our growth strategy.Our Credit Agreement and our indentures contain covenants restricting or limiting our ability to, among other things:â€¢incur additional indebtedness;â€¢pay dividends or make other restricted payments;â€¢make asset dispositions;â€¢create or permit liens;â€¢sell, transfer or exchange assets;â€¢guarantee certain indebtedness;â€¢make acquisitions and other investments; andâ€¢enter into partnerships, joint ventures and co-investment vehicles.These restrictions and our long-term commitment to maintain our leverage ratio may adversely affect our ability to pursue acquisitions and other growth strategies, including our strategic growth plan.We may not have the ability to raise the funds necessary to finance the repurchase of outstanding senior notes upon a change of control event as required by our indentures.Upon the occurrence of a "change of control", as defined in our indentures, we will be required to offer to repurchase all of our outstanding senior notes. However, it is possible that we will not have sufficient funds at the time of a change of control to make the required repurchase of any outstanding notes or that restrictions in our Credit Agreement will not allow such repurchases. Failure to make the required repurchases could result in cross defaults or payment acceleration events under our other debt instruments. Certain important corporate events, however, such as leveraged recapitalizations that would increase the level of our indebtedness, would not constitute a "change of control" under our indentures.IMI is a holding company, and, therefore, its ability to make payments on its various debt obligations depends in large part on the operations of its subsidiaries.IMI is a holding company; substantially all of its assets consist of the equity in its subsidiaries, and substantially all of its operations are conducted by its direct and indirect consolidated subsidiaries. As a result, its ability to make payments on its debt obligations will be dependent upon the receipt of sufficient funds from its subsidiaries, whose ability to distribute funds may be limited by local capital requirements, joint venture and co-investment vehicle structures and other applicable restrictions. However, our various debt obligations are guaranteed, on a joint and several and full and unconditional basis, by IMIâ€™s U.S. subsidiaries that represent the substantial majority of its U.S. operations.RISKS RELATED TO OUR TAXATION AS A REITIf we fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT, we will be subject to tax at corporate income tax rates and will not be able to deduct distributions to stockholders when computing our taxable income.We have elected to be taxed as a REIT for federal income tax purposes beginning with our 2014 taxable year. We believe that our organization and method of operation comply with the rules and regulations promulgated under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), such that we will continue to qualify for taxation as a REIT. However, we can provide no assurance that we will remain qualified for taxation as a REIT. We also have invested in subsidiaries that have elected or that we expect will elect to be taxed as REITs and therefore must independently satisfy all REIT qualification requirements. We may in the future invest in other such subsidiary REITs. If such a subsidiary REIT were to fail to qualify as a REIT, it may cause us to fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT. If we fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT, including as a result of a cascading failure of any subsidiary REIT to remain qualified as a REIT, we will be subject to federal income taxation at corporate income tax rates unless certain relief provisions apply.Qualification for taxation as a REIT involves the application of highly technical and complex provisions of the Code to our operations, as well as various factual determinations concerning matters and circumstances not entirely within our control. There are limited judicial or administrative interpretations of applicable REIT provisions of the Code.If, in any taxable year, we fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT and are not entitled to relief under the Code:â€¢we will not be allowed a deduction for distributions to stockholders in computing our taxable income;â€¢we will be subject to federal and state income tax on our taxable income at regular corporate income tax rates; andâ€¢we would not be eligible to elect REIT status again until the fifth taxable year that begins after the first year for which we failed to qualify for taxation as a REIT.16IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of Contents Part IAny such corporate tax liability could be substantial and would reduce the amount of cash available for other purposes. If we fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT, we may need to borrow additional funds or liquidate some investments to pay any additional tax liability. Accordingly, funds available for investment and distributions to stockholders could be reduced.As a REIT, failure to make required distributions would subject us to federal corporate income tax.We expect to continue paying regular quarterly distributions; however, the amount, timing and form of our regular quarterly distributions will be determined, and will be subject to adjustment, by our board of directors. To remain qualified for taxation as a REIT, we are generally required to distribute at least 90% of our REIT taxable income (determined without regard to the dividends paid deduction and excluding net capital gain) each year, or in limited circumstances, the following year, to our stockholders. Generally, we expect to distribute all or substantially all of our REIT taxable income. If our cash available for distribution falls short of our estimates, we may be unable to maintain distributions that approximate our REIT taxable income and may fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT. In addition, our cash flows from operations may be insufficient to fund required distributions as a result of nondeductible expenditures or as a result of differences in timing between the actual receipt of income and the payment of expenses and the recognition of income and expenses for federal income tax purposes.To the extent that we satisfy the 90% distribution requirement but distribute less than 100% of our REIT taxable income, we will be subject to federal corporate income tax on our undistributed taxable income. In addition, we will be subject to a 4% nondeductible excise tax on our undistributed taxable income if the actual amount that we distribute to our stockholders for a calendar year is less than the minimum amount specified under the Code.We may be required to borrow funds, sell assets or raise equity to satisfy our REIT distribution requirements, to comply with asset ownership tests or to fund capital expenditures, future growth and expansion initiatives.In order to satisfy our REIT distribution requirements and maintain our qualification and taxation as a REIT, or to fund capital expenditures, future growth and expansion initiatives, we may need to borrow funds, sell assets or raise equity, even if our financial condition or the then-prevailing market conditions are not favorable for these borrowings, sales or offerings. Furthermore, the REIT distribution requirements and our commitment to investors on dividend growth may result in increasing our financing needs to fund capital expenditures, future growth and expansion initiatives, which would increase our indebtedness. An increase in our outstanding debt could lead to a downgrade of our credit ratings, which could negatively impact our ability to access credit markets. Further, certain of our current debt instruments limit the amount of indebtedness we and our subsidiaries may incur. Additional financing, therefore, may be unavailable, more expensive or restricted by the terms of our outstanding indebtedness. For a discussion of risks related to our substantial level of indebtedness, see "Risks Related to Our Indebtedness".Complying with REIT requirements may limit our flexibility, cause us to forgo otherwise attractive opportunities that we would otherwise pursue to execute our strategic growth plan, or otherwise reduce our income and amounts available for distribution to our stockholders.To remain qualified for taxation as a REIT, we must satisfy tests concerning, among other things, the sources of our income, the nature and diversification of our assets and the amounts we distribute to our stockholders. Thus, compliance with these tests may require us to refrain from certain activities and may hinder our ability to make certain attractive investments, including the purchase of non-REIT qualifying operations or assets, the expansion of non-real estate activities, and investments in the businesses to be conducted by our taxable REIT subsidiaries ("TRSs"), and, to that extent, limit our opportunities and our flexibility to change our business strategy and execute on our strategic growth plan. This may restrict our ability to acquire certain businesses, enter into joint ventures or co-investment vehicles, or acquire minority interests of companies. Furthermore, acquisition opportunities in domestic and international markets may be adversely affected if we need or require the target company to comply with some REIT requirements prior to closing.We conduct a significant portion of our business activities, including our information management services businesses and several of our international operations, through domestic and foreign TRSs. Under the Code, no more than 20% of the value of the assets of a REIT may be represented by securities of one or more TRSs. Similar rules apply to other nonqualifying assets. These limitations may affect our ability to make additional investments in non-REIT qualifying operations or assets or in international operations through TRSs.If we fail to comply with specified asset ownership tests applicable to REITs as measured at the end of any calendar quarter, we generally must correct such failure within 30 days after the end of the applicable calendar quarter or qualify for statutory relief provisions to avoid losing our qualification for taxation as a REIT. As a result, we may be required to liquidate assets or to forgo our pursuit of otherwise attractive investments or executing on portions of our strategic growth plan. These actions may reduce our income and amounts available for distribution to our stockholders.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K17Table of ContentsPart IAs a REIT, we are limited in our ability to fund distribution payments using cash generated through our TRSs.Our ability to receive distributions from our TRSs is limited by the rules with which we must comply to maintain our qualification for taxation as a REIT. In particular, at least 75% of our gross income for each taxable year as a REIT must be derived from real estate, which generally includes gross income from providing customers with secure storage space or colocation or wholesale data center space. Consequently, no more than 25% of our gross income may consist of dividend income from our TRSs and other nonqualifying types of income. Thus, our ability to receive distributions from our TRSs may be limited, which may impact our ability to fund distributions to our stockholders using cash flows from our TRSs. Specifically, if our TRSs become highly profitable, we might become limited in our ability to receive net income from our TRSs in an amount required to fund distributions to our stockholders commensurate with that profitability.In addition, a significant amount of our income and cash flows from our TRSs is generated from our international operations. In many cases, there are local withholding taxes and currency controls that may impact our ability or willingness to repatriate funds to the United States to help satisfy REIT distribution requirements.Our extensive use of TRSs, including for certain of our international operations, may cause us to fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT.Our operations include an extensive use of TRSs. The net income of our TRSs is not required to be distributed to us, and income that is not distributed to us generally is not subject to the REIT income distribution requirement. However, there may be limitations on our ability to accumulate earnings in our TRSs and the accumulation or reinvestment of significant earnings in our TRSs could result in adverse tax treatment. In particular, if the accumulation of cash in our TRSs causes (i) the fair market value of our securities in our TRSs to exceed 20% of the fair market value of our assets or (ii) the fair market value of our securities in our TRSs and other nonqualifying assets to exceed 25% of the fair market value of our assets, then we will fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT. Further, a substantial portion of our operations are conducted overseas, and a material change in foreign currency rates could also affect the value of our foreign holdings in our TRSs, negatively impacting our ability to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT.Even if we remain qualified for taxation as a REIT, some of our business activities are subject to corporate level income tax and foreign taxes, which will continue to reduce our cash flows, and we will have potential deferred and contingent tax liabilities.Even if we remain qualified for taxation as a REIT, we may be subject to some federal, state, local and foreign taxes, including taxes on any undistributed income, and state, local or foreign income, franchise, property and transfer taxes. In addition, we could in certain circumstances be required to pay an excise or penalty tax, which could be significant in amount, in order to utilize one or more relief provisions under the Code to maintain our qualification for taxation as a REIT.A portion of our business is conducted through TRSs because certain of our business activities could generate nonqualifying REIT income as currently structured and operated. The income of our domestic TRSs will continue to be subject to federal and state corporate income taxes. In addition, our international assets and operations will continue to be subject to taxation in the foreign jurisdictions where those assets are held or those operations are conducted. Any of these taxes would decrease our earnings and our available cash.We will also be subject to a federal corporate level income tax at the highest regular corporate income tax rate on gain recognized from a sale of a REIT asset where our basis in the asset is determined by reference to the basis of the asset in the hands of a C corporation (such as an asset that we hold in one of our qualified REIT subsidiaries ("QRSs") following the liquidation or other conversion of a former TRS). This tax is generally applicable to any disposition of such an asset during the five-year period after the date we first owned the asset as a REIT asset, to the extent of the built-in-gain based on the fair market value of such asset on the date we first held the asset as a REIT asset. In addition, any depreciation recapture income that we recognize because of accounting method changes that we make in connection with our acquisition activities will be fully subject to this tax.Complying with REIT requirements may limit our ability to hedge effectively and increase the cost of our hedging and may cause us to incur tax liabilities.The REIT provisions of the Code limit our ability to hedge assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses. Generally, income from hedging transactions that we enter into to manage risk of interest rate changes with respect to borrowings made or to be made by us to acquire or carry real estate assets and income from certain currency hedging transactions related to our non-United States operations, as well as income from qualifying counteracting hedges, do not constitute "gross income" for purposes of the REIT gross income tests. To the extent that we enter into other types of hedging transactions, the income from those transactions is likely to be treated as nonqualifying income for purposes of the REIT gross income tests. As a result of these rules, we may need to limit our use of advantageous hedging techniques or implement those hedges through our TRSs. This could increase the cost of our hedging activities because our TRSs would be subject to tax on income or gains resulting from hedges entered into by them and may expose us to greater risks associated with changes in interest rates or exchange rates than we would otherwise want to bear. In addition, hedging losses in any of our TRSs generally will not provide any tax benefit, except for being carried forward for possible use against future income or gain in the TRSs.18IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of Contents Part IDistributions payable by REITs generally do not qualify for preferential tax rates, which could reduce the demand for and market price of our common stock.Dividends payable by United States corporations to noncorporate stockholders, such as individuals, trusts and estates, are generally eligible for reduced United States federal income tax rates applicable to "qualified dividends". Distributions paid by REITs generally are not treated as "qualified dividends" under the Code, and the reduced rates applicable to such dividends do not generally apply. However, for tax years beginning before 2026, REIT dividends paid to noncorporate stockholders that meet specified holding period requirements are generally taxed at an effective tax rate lower than applicable ordinary income tax rates due to the availability of a deduction under the Code for specified forms of income from passthrough entities. More favorable rates will nevertheless continue to apply to regular corporate "qualified" dividends, which may cause some investors to perceive that an investment in a REIT is less attractive than an investment in a non-REIT entity that pays dividends, thereby reducing the demand and market price of our common stock.The ownership and transfer restrictions contained in our certificate of incorporation may not protect our qualification for taxation as a REIT, could have unintended antitakeover effects and may prevent our stockholders from receiving a takeover premium.In order for us to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT, no more than 50% of the value of outstanding shares of our capital stock may be owned, beneficially or constructively, by five or fewer individuals at any time during the last half of each taxable year. In addition, rents from "affiliated tenants" will not qualify as qualifying REIT income if we own 10% or more by vote or value of the customer, whether directly or after application of attribution rules under the Code. Subject to certain exceptions, our certificate of incorporation prohibits any stockholder from owning, beneficially or constructively, more than (i) 9.8% in value of the outstanding shares of all classes or series of our capital stock or (ii) 9.8% in value or number, whichever is more restrictive, of the outstanding shares of any class or series of our capital stock. We refer to these restrictions collectively as the "ownership limits" and we included them in our certificate of incorporation to facilitate our compliance with REIT tax rules. The constructive ownership rules under the Code are complex and may cause the outstanding stock owned by a group of related individuals or entities to be deemed to be constructively owned by one individual or entity. As a result, the acquisition of less than 9.8% of our outstanding common stock (or the outstanding shares of any class or series of our capital stock) by an individual or entity could cause that individual or entity or another individual or entity to own constructively in excess of the relevant ownership limits. Any attempt to own or transfer shares of our common stock or of any of our other capital stock in violation of these restrictions may result in the shares being automatically transferred to a charitable trust or may be void. Even though our certificate of incorporation contains the ownership limits, there can be no assurance that these provisions will be effective to prevent our qualification for taxation as a REIT from being jeopardized, including under the affiliated tenant rule. Furthermore, there can be no assurance that we will be able to monitor and enforce the ownership limits. If the restrictions in our certificate of incorporation are not effective and, as a result, we fail to satisfy the REIT tax rules described above, then, absent an applicable relief provision, we will fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT.In addition, the ownership and transfer restrictions could delay, defer or prevent a transaction or a change in control that might involve a premium price for our stock or otherwise be in the best interest of our stockholders. As a result, the overall effect of the ownership and transfer restrictions may be to render more difficult or discourage any attempt to acquire us, even if such acquisition may be favorable to the interests of our stockholders. Legislative or other actions affecting REITs could have a negative effect on us or our stockholders.At any time, the federal or state income tax laws governing REITs, the administrative interpretations of those laws, or local laws impacting our REIT structure for our international operations may be amended. Federal, state and local tax laws are constantly under review by persons involved in the legislative process, the United States Internal Revenue Service, the United States Department of the Treasury and state and local taxing authorities. Changes to the tax laws, regulations and administrative interpretations or local laws governing our international operations, which may have retroactive application, could adversely affect us. In addition, some of these changes could have a more significant impact on us as compared to other REITs due to the nature of our business and our substantial use of TRSs, particularly non-United States TRSs, or how we have structured our operations outside the United States to comply with REIT qualification requirements. We cannot predict with certainty whether, when, in what forms, or with what effective dates, the tax laws, regulations, administrative interpretations or local laws applicable to us may be changed or if such laws would impact our ability to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT or the costs of doing so. GENERAL RISK FACTORSOur cash distributions are not guaranteed and may fluctuate.As a REIT, we are generally required to distribute at least 90% of our REIT taxable income to our stockholders. Furthermore, we are committed to growing our dividends, and have stated this publicly.Our board of directors, in its sole discretion, will determine, on a quarterly basis, the amount of cash to be distributed to our stockholders based on a number of factors including, but not limited to, our results of operations, cash flow and capital requirements, economic conditions, tax considerations, borrowing capacity and other factors, including debt covenant restrictions that may impose limitations on cash payments, future acquisitions and divestitures, any stock repurchase program and general market demand for our space and related services. Consequently, our distribution levels may fluctuate and we may not be able to meet our public commitments with respect to dividend growth.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K19Table of ContentsPart IOur business could be adversely impacted if there are deficiencies in our disclosure controls and procedures or internal control over financial reporting.The design and effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting may not prevent all errors, misstatements or misrepresentations. While management will continue to review the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting, there can be no guarantee that our internal control over financial reporting will be effective in accomplishing all control objectives all of the time. Furthermore, our disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting with respect to entities that we do not control or manage may be substantially more limited than those we maintain with respect to the subsidiaries that we have controlled or managed over the course of time. Deficiencies, including any material weakness, in our internal control over financial reporting which may occur in the future could result in misstatements of our results of operations, restatements of our financial statements, a decline in our stock price, or otherwise materially adversely affect our business, reputation, results of operations, financial condition or liquidity.We face competition for customers.We compete with multiple businesses in all geographic areas where we operate; our current or potential customers may choose to use those competitors instead of us. In addition, if we are successful in winning record storage customers from competitors, the process of moving their stored records into our facilities is often costly and time consuming. We also compete, in some of our business lines, with our current and potential customersâ€™ internal storage and information management services capabilities and their cloud-based alternatives. These organizations may not begin or continue to use us for their future storage and information management service needs.The performance of our businesses relies on our ability to attract, develop, and retain talented personnel, while controlling our labor costs.We are highly dependent on skilled and qualified personnel to operate our businesses. Furthermore, our contracts with the United States Government require us to use personnel with security clearances, and we may not be successful or may experience delays in attracting, training or retaining qualified personnel with the requisite skills or security clearances. The failure to attract and retain qualified employees or to effectively control our labor costs could negatively affect our competitive position and operating results. Our ability to control labor costs and attract qualified personnel is subject to numerous external factors, including prevailing wages, labor shortages, the impact of legislation or regulations governing wages and hours, labor relations, immigration, healthcare and other benefits, other employment-related costs and the hiring practices of our competitors.ITEMÂ 1B. UNRESOLVED STAFF COMMENTS.None.ITEMÂ 1C. CYBERSECURITY.RISK MANAGEMENT AND STRATEGY We maintain a robust information security program that is designed to protect our information and the information of our customers. Our information security program is based on a recognized cybersecurity framework established by the National Institute of Standards and Technology ("NIST") and establishes controls to mitigate critical areas of cybersecurity risk. Our information security program has adopted all elements of the NIST cybersecurity framework, including the six functions of identify, protect, detect, respond, recover and govern, as well as each of the categories and control groups thereunder. This does not imply that we meet any particular technical standards, specifications, or requirements, but only that we use the NIST framework as a guide to ensure our information security program is designed to manage cybersecurity risks relevant to our business. Among other things, the cybersecurity controls in our information security program address information access rights, incident monitoring and response processes, information technology system configuration, network security, security architecture planning, mobile device security and compliance with information security policy requirements and protocols. These cybersecurity controls are designed to oversee, identify and mitigate risks from all cybersecurity threats, including those arising from our use of third-party service providers. Our cybersecurity controls are evaluated regularly by our internal information security team, and we engage a third party examiner to assess the maturity of our information security program against the NIST cybersecurity framework no less frequently than bi-annually. Additionally, our information security program is assessed periodically by a federal regulator in the United States as part of its routine audit of the Company. In addition to our internal assessments, we also assess our third-party service providers on a regular basis using a risk-based approach that assigns a risk calculation to each such service provider. The results of our assessments are tracked and evaluated to ensure these third parties comply with our cybersecurity standards. We require all employees to undertake data protection and cybersecurity training and compliance programs annually.20IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of Contents Part IOur reputation for providing secure information storage to customers is critical to the success of our business, and protecting against material cybersecurity risks is an integral part of maintaining that reputation. A successful cybersecurity breach could lead to theft or misuse of our or our customersâ€™ proprietary or confidential information or our employeesâ€™ personal information and result in third-party claims against us, regulatory penalties and reputational harm. As part of our information security program, we also actively monitor emerging cyberattack patterns to develop custom detection capabilities and mitigation techniques to protect against material risk of cybersecurity threats. Upon encountering a cybersecurity incident, our information security team responds using our detailed cybersecurity incident response plan ("CSIRP"), which is based on industry best practices, relevant legal requirements and our contractual commitments. Among other things, the CSIRP sets forth the specific criteria used to assess a cybersecurity incident, mitigate risks of adverse consequences associated with any such incident, protocols to escalate the management of the incident and the process to inform our executive management team and any impacted functions of our business. All cybersecurity incidents are assessed to determine whether disclosure is required pursuant to any contractual or regulatory requirements and any material cybersecurity incident is also reported to our board of directors (our "Board"). To date, our information security program has been successful in protecting against risks from cybersecurity threats, and we have not had any cybersecurity incidents that have materially affected or are reasonably likely to materially affect our business strategy, results of operations or financial condition. Additional information about cybersecurity risks we face is discussed in Item 1A of Part I, â€œRisk Factors,â€ under the heading â€œAttacks on our internal IT systems could damage our reputation, cause us to lose revenues, and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operationsâ€, which should be read in conjunction with the information above.GOVERNANCE Our Board reviews and discusses significant risks with executive management, including cybersecurity risk, that affect us. Although our executive management team and our Board work together on risk matters, our Board has the ultimate oversight authority over all enterprise risks, including cybersecurity risk. Our Board reserves the right to, and periodically does, consult with third-party advisors and experts to assist our Board in understanding and anticipating future cybersecurity threats and trends. The risk and safety committee of our Board (the "RSC") is specifically tasked with reviewing and monitoring cybersecurity and information security risk, as well as the risk management strategies, systems and policies, and processes implemented, established and reported on by our executive management team. The RSC is also primarily responsible for assisting our Board with oversight of our enterprise risk management program. Our executive management team, with oversight from our Board, is responsible for our enterprise risk management process and the day-to-day supervision and mitigation of enterprise risks, including cybersecurity risk. Our enterprise risk management program includes our executive management team receiving regular reports from our operations personnel. As part of our enterprise risk program, our executive management team has established an enterprise risk committee (the "ERC"), which is chaired by our Chief Risk Officer and is otherwise composed of each of our other executive vice presidents. The ERC oversees our risk and compliance activities to ensure that management has appropriate policies and management plans in place for managing risks of the business, including cybersecurity risk, as well as reviewing and prioritizing significant risks and allocating resources for risk mitigation.Our Chief Risk Officer provides reports at each meeting of the RSC on areas of potential risks to us, including cybersecurity risk, and our Chief Information Security Officer provides quarterly reports to the RSC on the key performance indicators of our information security program to facilitate the RSCâ€™s oversight of the program through objective measurements, including metrics regarding software patching, IT asset management, cyber incident management and cybersecurity training. Reports by our Chief Information Security Officer also include detailed information on the activities of our cyber incident response team to allow for analysis of trends and the identification of any control gaps that require remediation.We also maintain a business information security committee (the "ISC") with employee representation across geographies, business lines and business functions. The ISC includes a cross functional group of our employees with expertise and responsibilities in areas such as operations, digital product solutions, information technology, compliance, security, finance, privacy, internal audit and legal risk mitigation. The ISC is managed by our Chief Information Security Officer and meets regularly to receive updates on our cybersecurity posture, emerging risks and new cybersecurity capabilities. Members of the ISC act as points of contact during incident response activities to provide oversight and logistical support to the information security team.The information security team is made primarily of full-time employees; however, we routinely engage consultants to provide supplemental labor and additional expertise in specific areas on an as-needed basis. Our information security team is organized based on industry best practices in alignment with NIST recommendations. All of the leaders in our information security team have over 10 years of cybersecurity experience and most of our information security staff maintain cybersecurity program certifications such as CMU Cybersecurity Executive Certification, ISACA Certifications (CISSP & CISM) and other relevant vendor certifications. Our information security team also regularly undergoes continuing education to ensure our implementation of best-in-class techniques. IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K21Table of ContentsPart IITEMÂ 2. Project Matterhorn investments focus on transforming our operating model to a global operating model. Project Matterhorn focuses on the formation of a solution-based sales approach that is designed to allow us to optimize our shared services and best practices to better serve our customers' needs. We are investing to accelerate growth and to capture a greater share of the large, global addressable markets in which we operate. We have incurred approximately $378.5 million in Restructuring and other transformation costs from the inception of Project Matterhorn through DecemberÂ 31, 2024. We expect to incur approximately $150.0 million in costs related to Project Matterhorn during the year ending December 31, 2025, at which point the program is expected to be completed. Costs are comprised of (1) restructuring costs, which include (i) site consolidation and other related exit costs, (ii) employee severance costs and (iii) certain professional fees associated with these activities, and (2) other transformation costs, which include professional fees such as project management costs and costs for third party consultants who are assisting in the enablement of our growth initiatives. The following chart presents (in thousands) total Restructuring and other transformation costs related to Project Matterhorn from the inception of Project Matterhorn through DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023:From the Inception of ProjectMatterhorn throughDecemberÂ 31, 2024Â Â Â Â Â For the Year endedDecemberÂ 31, 2024Â Â Â Â Â For the Year endedDecemberÂ 31, 2023Â Â Â Â Â GENERALRESULTS OF OPERATIONS - KEY TRENDS â¢Our organic storage rental revenue growth is primarily driven by revenue management in our Global RIM Business segment, where we expect volume to be relatively stable in the near term, as well as by growth in our Global Data Center Business segment, primarily driven by lease commencements.â¢Our organic service revenue growth is primarily due to increases in our service activity. We expect organic service revenue growth in 2025 to benefit from our new and existing Global Digital Solutions offerings and ALM, as well as our traditional services.â¢We expect continued total revenue and Adjusted earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA") growth in 2025 as a result of our focus on new product and service offerings, innovation, customer solutions and market expansion in line with our Project Matterhorn objectives.Our revenues consist of storage rental revenues and service revenues and are reflected net of sales and value-added taxes. Storage rental revenues, which are considered a key driver of financial performance for the storage and information management services industry, consist primarily of recurring periodic rental charges related to the storage of materials or data (generally on a per unit basis) that are typically retained by customers for many years and of revenues associated with our data center operations. Service revenues include charges for related service activities, the most significant of which include: (1) the handling of records, including the addition of new records, temporary removal of records from storage, refiling of removed records, customer termination and permanent withdrawal fees, project revenues and courier operations, consisting primarily of the pickup and delivery of records upon customer request; (2) secure shredding of sensitive documents and the subsequent sale of shredded paper for recycling, the price of which can fluctuate from period to period; (3) the decommissioning, data erasure, processing and disposition, and recycling or sale of IT hardware and component assets; (4) digital solutions, including the scanning, imaging and document conversion services of active and inactive records, consulting services and the sale of software as a service; and (5) data center services, including set up, monitoring and support of our customers' assets which are protected in our data center facilities, and special project services, including data center fitout.Cost of sales (excluding depreciation and amortization) consists primarily of labor, including wages and benefits for field personnel, facility occupancy costs (including rent and utilities), data center pass-through power costs, transportation expenses (including vehicle leases and fuel), other product cost of sales and other equipment costs and supplies. Of these, labor and facility occupancy costs are the most significant. Selling, general and administrative expenses consist primarily of wages and benefits for management, administrative, IT, sales, account management and marketing personnel, as well as expenses related to communications, travel, professional fees, bad debts, training, office equipment and supplies. 28IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of ContentsPart IICost of sales (excluding depreciation and amortization) and Selling, general and administrative expenses for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 consists of the following:COST OF SALESSELLING, GENERAL AND ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSESTrends in facility occupancy costs are impacted by:â¢the total number of facilities we occupy;â¢the mix of properties we own versus properties we lease;â¢fluctuations in per square foot occupancy costs;â¢the levels of utilization of these properties; andâ¢data center power costs.Trends in total wages and benefits in dollars and as a percentage of total revenue are influenced by:â¢changes in headcount and compensation levels;â¢achievement of incentive compensation targets;â¢workforce productivity; andâ¢variability in costs associated with medical insurance and workersâ™ compensation.Our depreciation and amortization charges result primarily from depreciation related to storage systems, which include buildings, building and leasehold improvements, data center infrastructure, racking structures and computer systems hardware and software. Amortization relates primarily to customer and supplier relationship intangible assets, Contract Costs (as defined below in Critical Accounting Estimates) and data center lease-based intangible assets. Both depreciation and amortization are impacted by the timing of acquisitions.Our consolidated revenues and expenses are subject to the net effect of foreign currency translation related to our operations outside the United States. It is difficult to predict the future fluctuations of foreign currency exchange rates and how those fluctuations will impact our Consolidated Statements of Operations. As a result of the relative size of our international operations, these fluctuations may be material on individual balances. Our revenues and expenses from our international operations are generally denominated in the local currency of the country in which they are derived or incurred. Therefore, the impact of currency fluctuations on our operating income and operating margin is partially mitigated. In order to provide a framework for assessing how our underlying businesses performed excluding the effect of foreign currency fluctuations, we compare the percentage change in the results from one period to another period in this report using constant currency presentation. The constant currency growth rates are calculated by translating the 2023 results at the 2024 average exchange rates. Constant currency growth rates are a non-GAAP measure.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K29Table of ContentsPart IIThe following table is a comparison of underlying average exchange rates of the foreign currencies that had the most significant impact on our United States dollar-reported revenues and expenses:Â PERCENTAGE OF UNITED STATES DOLLAR-REPORTED REVENUE FOR THEYEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31,AVERAGE EXCHANGE RATESFOR THE YEAR ENDEDDECEMBER 31,PERCENTAGE(WEAKENING) / STRENGTHENING OFFOREIGN CURRENCYÂ 20242023202420232023Australian dollar2.6Â %2.6Â %$0.660Â $0.664Â (0.6)%British pound sterling6.9Â %7.2Â %$1.278Â $1.243Â 2.8Â %Canadian dollar4.9Â %5.1Â %$0.730Â $0.741Â (1.5)%Euro6.8Â %6.6Â %$1.082Â $1.081Â 0.1Â %The percentage of United States dollar-reported revenues for all other foreign currencies was 13.6% and 14.5% for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively.30IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of ContentsPart IINON-GAAP MEASURESADJUSTED EBITDAWe define Adjusted EBITDA as net income (loss) before interest expense, net, provision (benefit) for income taxes, depreciation and amortization (inclusive of our share of Adjusted EBITDA from our unconsolidated joint ventures), and excluding certain items we do not believe to be indicative of our core operating results, specifically:EXCLUDEDâ¢Acquisition and Integration Costs (as defined below)â¢Restructuring and other transformationâ¢Loss (gain) on disposal/write-down of property, plant and equipment, net (including real estate)â¢Other expense (income), netâ¢Stock-based compensation expenseâ¢Intangible impairmentsAdjusted EBITDA Margin is calculated by dividing Adjusted EBITDA by total revenues. We also show Adjusted EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA Margin for each of our reportable segments under "Results of Operations â“ Segment Analysis" below.Adjusted EBITDA excludes both interest expense, net and the provision (benefit) for income taxes. These expenses are associated with our capitalization and tax structures, which we do not consider when evaluating the operating profitability of our core operations. Adjusted EBITDA does not include depreciation and amortization expenses, in order to eliminate the impact of capital investments, which we evaluate by comparing capital expenditures to incremental revenue generated and as a percentage of total revenues. Adjusted EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA Margin should be considered in addition to, but not as a substitute for, other measures of financial performance reported in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP"), such as operating income, net income (loss) or cash flows from operating activities. We calculate our FFO measures, including FFO (Nareit), adjusting for our share of reconciling items from our unconsolidated joint ventures. FFO (Nareit) does not give effect to real estate depreciation because these amounts are computed, under GAAP, to allocate the cost of a property over its useful life. Because values for well-maintained real estate assets have historically increased or decreased based upon prevailing market conditions, we believe that FFO (Nareit) provides investors with a clearer view of our operating performance. Our most directly comparable GAAP measure to FFO (Nareit) is net income (loss).We modify FFO (Nareit), as is common among REITs seeking to provide financial measures that most meaningfully reflect their particular business ("FFO (Normalized)"). Our definition of FFO (Normalized) excludes certain items included in FFO (Nareit) that we believe are not indicative of our core operating results, specifically:EXCLUDEDâ¢Acquisition and Integration Costsâ¢Restructuring and other transformationâ¢Loss (gain) on disposal/write-down of property, plant and equipment, net (excluding real estate)â¢Other expense (income), netâ¢Stock-based compensation expenseâ¢Non-cash amortization related to derivative instrumentsâ¢Real estate financing lease depreciationâ¢Tax impact of reconciling items and discrete tax itemsâ¢Intangible impairmentsâ¢(Income) loss from discontinued operations, net of taxRECONCILIATION OF NET INCOME (LOSS) TO FFO (NAREIT) AND FFO (NORMALIZED) (IN THOUSANDS):YEAR ENDED DECEMBERÂ 31,20242023Net Income (Loss)$183,666Â $187,263Â Add/(Deduct):Real estate depreciation(1)367,362Â 322,045Â (Gain) loss on sale of real estate, net of tax(2)(6,698)(16,656)Data center lease-based intangible assets amortization(3)22,304Â 22,322Â Our share of FFO (Nareit) reconciling items from our unconsolidated joint ventures4,830Â 2,226Â FFO (Nareit)571,464Â 517,200Â Add/(Deduct):Acquisition and Integration Costs35,842Â 25,875Â Restructuring and other transformation161,359Â 175,215Â Loss (gain) on disposal/write-down of property, plant and equipment, net (excluding real estate)14,025Â 4,307Â Other expense (income), net, excluding our share of losses (gains) from our unconsolidated joint ventures39,159Â 98,891Â Stock-based compensation expense118,138Â 73,799Â Non-cash amortization related to derivative instruments16,705Â 21,097Â Real estate financing lease depreciation13,135Â 12,019Â Tax impact of reconciling items and discrete tax items(4)(37,248)(35,307)Our share of FFO (Normalized) reconciling items from our unconsolidated joint ventures(17)(374)FFO (Normalized)$932,562Â $892,722Â (1)Includes depreciation expense related to owned real estate assets (land improvements, buildings, building and leasehold improvements, data center infrastructure and racking structures), excluding depreciation related to real estate financing leases.(2)Tax expense associated with the gain on sale of real estate for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023 was approximately $1.1 million and $0.5 million, respectively.(3)Includes amortization expense for Data Center In-Place Leases and Data Center Tenant Relationships as defined in Note 2.m. to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report.(4)Represents the tax impact of (i) the reconciling items above, which impact our reported net income (loss) before provision (benefit) for income taxes but has an insignificant impact on our reported provision (benefit) for income taxes and (ii) other discrete tax items. The preparation of these financial statements requires us to make estimates, judgments and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses, and related disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and for the period then ended. On an ongoing basis, we evaluate the estimates used. We base our estimates on historical experience, actuarial estimates, current conditions and various other assumptions that we believe to be reasonable under the circumstances. These estimates form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities and are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates. The following should be read in conjunction with Note 2 to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report, which provides a summary of our significant accounting policies. Our critical accounting estimates include the following, which are listed in no particular order: REVENUE RECOGNITION Revenue is recognized when or as control of promised goods or services is transferred to the customer, in an amount that reflects the consideration we expect to be entitled to in exchange for those goods or services. See Note 2.s. to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report for additional details on our revenue recognition policies. Revenue for all our lines of business, with the exception of storage revenues in our Global Data Center Business (which is subject to Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 842, Leases), is recognized in accordance with ASC 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers ("ASC 606"), the application of which requires that we make significant judgments related to performance obligations and the transfer of control to the customer.We have determined that the majority of our contracts contain series performance obligations which qualify to be recognized under a practical expedient available in ASC 606 known as the "right to invoice". This determination allows variable consideration in such contracts to be allocated to and recognized in the period to which the consideration relates, which is typically the period in which it is billed, rather than requiring estimation of variable consideration at the inception of the contract.Certain costs to fulfill or obtain customer contracts and certain initial direct costs of obtaining data center leases, including the costs associated with the initial movement of customer records into physical storage and certain commission expenses, are collectively referred to as "Contract Costs". Contract Costs are capitalized and amortized as a component of depreciation and amortization in our Consolidated Statements of Operations, generally over a three year term, which we have determined is consistent with the transfer of the underlying performance obligations to which the assets relate. Different determinations on term length would result in differences in the amount and timing of amortization expense recognized.ACCOUNTING FOR ACQUISITIONSPart of our growth strategy has been to acquire businesses. The purchase price of each acquisition is determined after due diligence of the target business, market research, strategic planning and the forecasting of expected future results and synergies. Estimated future results and expected synergies are subject to revisions as we integrate each acquisition and attempt to leverage resources. Accounting for acquisitions of a business has resulted in the capitalization of the cost in excess of the estimated fair value of the net assets acquired in each of these acquisitions as goodwill. We estimate the fair values of the assets acquired in each acquisition as of the date of acquisition and these estimates are subject to adjustment based on the final assessments of the fair value of intangible assets (primarily customer and supplier relationship and data center lease-based intangible assets), property, plant and equipment (primarily buildings, building and leasehold improvements, data center infrastructure and racking structures), operating leases, contingencies and income taxes (primarily deferred income taxes). See NoteÂ 3 to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report for a description of recent acquisitions. Determining the fair values of the net assets acquired requires managementâ€™s judgment and often involves the use of assumptions with respect to future cash inflows and outflows, discount rates and market data, among other items. As it relates to our data center acquisitions, the fair values of the net assets acquired requires managementâ€™s judgment and often involves the use of assumptions with respect to (i) certain economic costs (as described more fully in Note 2.m. to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report) avoided by acquiring a data center operation with active tenants that would have otherwise been incurred if the data center operation was purchased vacant, (ii) market rental rates and (iii) expectations of lease renewals and extensions. Due to the inherent uncertainty of future events, actual values of net assets acquired could be different from our estimated fair values and could have a material impact on our financial statements.34IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of ContentsPart IIOf the net assets acquired in our acquisitions, the fair value of owned buildings, including data center infrastructure and building improvements, customer and supplier relationship and data center lease-based intangible assets, racking structures and operating leases are generally the most common and most significant. For significant acquisitions or acquisitions involving new markets or new products, we generally use third parties to assist us in estimating the fair value of owned buildings, including data center infrastructure and building improvements, customer and supplier relationship and lease-based intangible assets and market rental rates for acquired operating leases. For acquisitions that are not significant or do not involve new markets or new products, we generally use third parties to assist us in estimating the fair value of owned buildings, including data center infrastructure and building improvements, and market rental rates for acquired operating leases. When not using third party appraisals of the fair value of acquired net assets, the fair value of acquired customer and supplier relationship intangible assets, above and below market in-place operating leases, and racking structures is determined internally. When estimating fair values internally, we use discounted cash flow models to determine the fair value of customer and supplier relationship intangible assets, which requires a significant amount of judgment by management, including estimating expected lives of the relationships, expected future cash flows and discount rates. The fair value of above and below market in-place operating leases is determined internally using a discounted cash flow model, utilizing the difference in cash flows between the contractual lease payments over the remaining lease term and estimated market rental rates on comparable assets at the time of the acquisition. The fair value of acquired racking structures is determined internally by taking current estimated replacement cost at the date of acquisition for the quantity of racking structures acquired, discounted to take into account the quality (e.g.Â age, material and type) of the racking structures. We determine the fair value of tangible data center assets using an estimated replacement cost at the date of acquisition, then discounting for age, economic and functional obsolescence.The fair value of the deferred purchase obligation associated with the ITRenew Transaction (as defined in NoteÂ 3 to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report) was determined utilizing a Monte-Carlo simulation model and takes into account our forecasted projections as it relates to the underlying performance of the business. The Monte-Carlo simulation model incorporates assumptions as to expected gross profits over the applicable achievement period, including adjustments for the volatility of timing and amount of the associated revenue and costs, as well as discount rates that account for the risk of the underlying arrangement and overall market risks.The fair value of the deferred purchase obligation associated with the Regency Transaction (as defined in NoteÂ 3 to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report) was determined utilizing a Monte-Carlo simulation model and takes into account our forecasted projections as it relates to the underlying performance of the business. The Monte-Carlo simulation model incorporates assumptions as to expected revenue over the achievement period, including adjustments for volatility and timing, as well as discount rates that account for the risk of the arrangement and overall market risks. Our estimates of fair value are based upon assumptions believed to be reasonable at that time but which are inherently uncertain and unpredictable. Assumptions may be incomplete or inaccurate, and unanticipated events and circumstances may occur, which may affect the accuracy of such assumptions. Total supplier relationship intangible assets acquired in our 2024 acquisitions was approximately $131.5 million.IMPAIRMENT OF TANGIBLE AND INTANGIBLE ASSETSÂ ASSETS SUBJECT TO DEPRECIATION OR AMORTIZATIONÂ We review long-lived assets, including finite-lived intangible assets, for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying amount of such assets may not be recoverable. Examples of events or circumstances that may be indicative of impairment include, but are not limited to:â€¢A significant decrease in the market price of an asset;â€¢A significant change in the extent or manner in which a long-lived asset is being used or in its physical condition;â€¢A significant adverse change in legal factors or in the business climate that could affect the value of the asset;â€¢An accumulation of costs significantly greater than the amount originally expected for the acquisition or construction of an asset;â€¢A current-period operating or cash flow loss combined with a history of operating or cash flow losses or a projection or forecast that demonstrates continuing losses associated with the use of a long-lived asset; andâ€¢A current expectation that, more likely than not, an asset will be sold or otherwise disposed of significantly before the end of its previously estimated useful life.If events indicate the carrying value of such assets may not be recoverable, recoverability of these assets is determined by comparing the sum of the forecasted undiscounted net cash flows of the operation to which the assets relate to their carrying amount. The operations are generally distinguished by the business segment and geographic region in which they operate. If it is determined that we are unable to recover the carrying amount of the assets, the long-lived assets are written down, on a pro rata basis, to fair value. Fair value is determined based on discounted cash flows or appraised values, depending upon the nature of the assets.We did not record impairment charges for any of our long-lived assets or finite-lived intangibles during the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K35Table of ContentsPart IIGOODWILL AND OTHER INDEFINITE-LIVED INTANGIBLE ASSETS NOT SUBJECT TO AMORTIZATIONGoodwill and intangible assets with indefinite lives are not amortized but are reviewed annually for impairment, or more frequently if impairment indicators arise. Other than goodwill, we currently have no intangible assets that have indefinite lives and which are not amortized. See Note 2.l. to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report for additional details on our goodwill and other indefinite-lived intangible assets policies.We have selected October 1 as our annual goodwill impairment review date. We have performed our annual goodwill impairment review as of October 1, 2024 and 2023. We concluded that as of October 1, 2024 and 2023, goodwill was not impaired.Our reporting units at which level we performed our goodwill impairment analysis as of October 1, 2024 were as follows:â€¢North American Records and Information Management reporting unit ("North America RIM")â€¢Europe Records and Information Management reporting unit ("Europe RIM")â€¢Latin America Records and Information Management reporting unit ("Latin America RIM")â€¢Asia, Australia and New Zealand Records and Information Management reporting unit ("APAC RIM")â€¢Media and Archive Services (formerly Entertainment Services)â€¢Global Data Centerâ€¢Fine Artsâ€¢ALMSee Note 2.l. to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report for a description of our reporting units.Based on our goodwill impairment analysis as of October 1, 2024, all of our reporting units had estimated fair values exceeding their carrying values by greater than 35%. The ALM reporting unit represented approximately $749.6 million, or 14.7%, of our consolidated goodwill balance at DecemberÂ 31, 2024, and its fair value is most sensitive to changes in our assumptions. The following is a summary of the ALM reporting unit including the goodwill balance (in thousands), the percentage by which the fair value of the reporting unit exceeded its carrying value and certain key assumptions used by us in determining the fair value of the reporting unit as of October 1, 2024:REPORTINGÂ UNITGOODWILLBALANCEÂ ATOCTOBER 1,2024PERCENTAGE BYWHICHÂ THEÂ FAIRÂ VALUEOF THE REPORTINGUNIT EXCEEDED THEREPORTING UNITCARRYINGÂ VALUEÂ ASÂ OFOCTOBER 1, 2024KEY ASSUMPTIONS IN THE FAIR VALUE OF REPORTING UNITMEASUREMENT AS OF OCTOBER 1, 2024DISCOUNTRATEAVERAGEÂ ANNUALADJUSTED EBITDAMARGIN USED INDISCOUNTEDCASH FLOWAVERAGEANNUAL CAPITALEXPENDITURESÂ ASPERCENTAGE OFREVENUE(1)TERMINALGROWTHRATE(2)ALM$748,00057.4%15.5%15.4%1.4%3.5%(1)For purposes of our goodwill impairment analysis, the term "capital expenditures" includes both growth investment and recurring capital expenditures.(2)Terminal growth rates are applied after year 10 of our discounted cash flow analysis.The fair values of our reporting units are generally determined using a combined approach based on the present value of future cash flows (the "Discounted Cash Flow Model") and market multiples (the "Market Approach"). There are inherent uncertainties and judgments involved when determining the fair value of the reporting units for purposes of our annual goodwill impairment testing. The following includes supplemental information to the table above for the ALM reporting unit where the estimated fair value exceeded its carrying value by approximately 57.4% as of October 1, 2024. The fair value of our ALM reporting unit was determined using a Discounted Cash Flow Model approach. We do not use a Market Approach when determining the fair value of our ALM reporting unit given a lack of directly comparable publicly traded guideline companies to ALM. The success of these businesses and the achievement of certain key assumptions developed by management and used in the Discounted Cash Flow Model are contingent upon various factors including, but not limited to, (i) achieving growth from existing customers, (ii) sales to new customers, (iii) increased market penetration and (iv) market pricing trends of IT hardware and component assets.ALMOur ALM business provides hyperscale and corporate IT infrastructure managers with services and solutions that enable the decommissioning, data erasure, processing and disposition, and recycling or sale of IT hardware and component assets. ALM services are enabled by: (i) secure logistics, chain of custody and complete asset traceability practices; (ii) environmentally-responsible asset processing and recycling; and (iii) data sanitization and asset refurbishment services that enable value recovery through asset remarketing. The assumptions we used in determining fair value reflect the ongoing and anticipated expansion of these services, the maintenance and further development of the supplier relationships required to expand this business and meet customer demand and decommissioning schedules of our supplier's IT hardware and component assets, as well as demand for such assets at that time. The assumptions used also reflect market pricing for IT hardware and component assets that is consistent with pricing we observed in the current year.36IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of ContentsPart IIKEY ASSUMPTIONSKey factors that could reasonably be expected to have a negative impact on the estimated fair value of these reporting units and potentially result in impairment charges include, but are not limited to: (i) a deterioration in general economic conditions, (ii) significant adverse changes in regulatory factors or in the business climate, (iii) adverse actions or assessment by regulators and (iv) changes in market trends due to the evolution of technology, all of which could result in adverse changes to the key assumptions used in valuing the reporting units. The inability to meet the assumptions used in the Discounted Cash Flow Model and Market Approach for each of the reporting units, or future adverse market conditions not currently known, could lead to a fair value that is less than the carrying value in any one of our reporting units. The Discounted Cash Flow Model incorporates significant assumptions including future revenue growth rates, operating margins, discount rates and capital expenditures. The Market Approach requires us to make assumptions related to EBITDA multiples. Changes in economic and operating conditions impacting these assumptions or changes in multiples could result in goodwill impairments in future periods. In conjunction with our annual goodwill impairment reviews, we reconcile the sum of the valuations of all of our reporting units to our market capitalization as of such dates.Although we believe we have sufficient historical and projected information available to us to test for goodwill impairment, it is possible that actual results could differ from the estimates used in our impairment tests. Of the key assumptions that impact the goodwill impairment test, the expected future cash flows and discount rate are among the most sensitive and are considered to be critical assumptions, as changes to these estimates could have an effect on the estimated fair value of each of our reporting units. We have assessed the sensitivity of these assumptions on each of our reporting units as of October 1, 2024. We noted that, based on the estimated fair value of all of our reporting units determined as of October 1, 2024:â€¢a hypothetical decrease of 10% in the expected annual future cash flows of these reporting units, with all other assumptions unchanged, would have decreased the estimated fair value of our reporting units as of OctoberÂ 1, 2024 by a range of approximately 9.9% to 12.5% but would not, however, have resulted in the carrying value of any of our reporting units exceeding their estimated fair value; andâ€¢a hypothetical increase of 100 basis points in the discount rate, with all other assumptions unchanged, would have decreased the estimated fair value of our reporting units as of OctoberÂ 1, 2024 by a range of approximately 3.8% to 14.0% but would not, however, have resulted in the carrying value of any of our reporting units exceeding their estimated fair value.At DecemberÂ 31, 2024, no factors were identified that would alter the conclusions of our October 1, 2024 goodwill impairment analysis. In making this assessment, we considered a number of factors including operating results, business plans, anticipated future cash flows, transactions and marketplace data. There are inherent uncertainties related to these factors and our judgment in applying them to the analysis of goodwill impairment.INCOME TAXESAccounting for income taxes requires the recognition of deferred tax assets and liabilities for the expected future tax consequences of temporary differences between the tax and financial reporting bases of assets and liabilities and for loss and credit carryforwards. We measure deferred tax assets and liabilities using enacted tax rates expected to be applied to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences and carryforwards are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on deferred tax assets and liabilities as a result of a change in tax rates is recognized in income in the period that the change is enacted. Valuation allowances are provided when recovery of deferred tax assets does not meet the more likely than not standard as defined in GAAP. Valuation allowances would be reversed as a reduction to the provision for income taxes if related deferred tax assets are deemed realizable based on changes in facts and circumstances relevant to the recoverability of the asset.At DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we have federal net operating loss carryforwards of $95.5 million and disallowed interest expense carryforwards of $152.2 million, both of which can be carried forward indefinitely, and of which $89.2 million and $68.7 million, respectively, are expected to be realized to reduce future federal taxable income. We have assets for foreign net operating losses of $146.6 million and foreign disallowed interest expense carryforwards of $17.7 million, with various expiration dates (and in some cases no expiration date), subject to valuation allowances of approximately 72.0% and 46.5%, respectively. If actual results differ unfavorably from certain of our estimates used, we may not be able to realize all or part of our net deferred income tax assets and additional valuation allowances may be required. Although we believe our estimates are reasonable, no assurance can be given that our estimates reflected in the tax provisions and accruals will equal our actual results. These differences could have a material impact on our income tax provision and operating results in the period in which such determination is made.The evaluation of an uncertain tax position is a two-step process. The first step is a recognition process whereby we determine whether it is more likely than not that a tax position will be sustained upon examination, including resolution of any related appeals or litigation processes, based on the technical merits of the position. The second step is a measurement process whereby a tax position that meets the more likely than not recognition threshold is calculated to determine the amount of benefit to recognize in the financial statements. The tax position is measured as the largest amount of benefit that is greater than 50% likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K37Table of ContentsPart IIWe are subject to income taxes in the United States and numerous foreign jurisdictions. We are subject to examination by various tax authorities in jurisdictions in which we have business operations or a taxable presence. We regularly assess the likelihood of additional assessments by tax authorities and provide for these matters as appropriate. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, we had approximately $25.9 million and $23.6 million, respectively, of reserves related to uncertain tax positions. The reversal of these reserves will be recorded as a reduction of our income tax provision if sustained. Although we believe our tax estimates are appropriate, the final determination of tax audits and any related litigation could result in changes in our estimates.We provide for foreign withholding taxes on the undistributed earnings of our foreign TRSs because it is not our intention to reinvest the undistributed earnings of our foreign TRSs indefinitely outside the United States. As a REIT, future repatriation of incremental undistributed earnings of our foreign subsidiaries will not be subject to federal or state income tax.38IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of ContentsPart IIRESULTS OF OPERATIONSThe following information summarizes our results of operations for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 compared to the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2023. In addition, there were gains and losses recorded in Other expense (income), net for which there was no tax impact.As a REIT, we are entitled to a deduction for dividends paid, resulting in a substantial reduction of federal income tax expense. As a REIT, substantially all of our income tax expense will be incurred based on the earnings generated by our foreign subsidiaries and our domestic TRSs.We are subject to income taxes in the United States and numerous foreign jurisdictions. We are subject to examination by various tax authorities in jurisdictions in which we have business operations or a taxable presence. We regularly assess the likelihood of additional assessments by tax authorities and provide for these matters as appropriate. The total net proceeds of approximately $1,188.0 million from the issuance, after deducting the initial purchasers' commissions, were used to repay a portion of the outstanding borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility.DEBT COVENANTSThe Credit Agreement, our bond indentures and other agreements governing our indebtedness contain certain restrictive financial and operating covenants, including covenants that restrict our ability to complete acquisitions, pay cash dividends, incur indebtedness, make investments, sell assets and take other specified corporate actions. The covenants do not contain a rating trigger. Therefore, a change in our debt rating would not trigger a default under the Credit Agreement, our bond indentures or other agreements governing our indebtedness. The Credit Agreement requires that we satisfy a net total lease adjusted leverage ratio and a fixed charge coverage ratio on a quarterly basis, and our bond indentures require that, among other things, we satisfy a leverage ratio (not lease adjusted) or a fixed charge coverage ratio (not lease adjusted), as a condition to taking actions such as paying dividends and incurring indebtedness.52IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of ContentsPart IIThe Credit Agreement uses EBITDAR-based calculations and the bond indentures use EBITDA based calculations as the primary measures of financial performance for purposes of calculating leverage and fixed charge coverage ratios. The EBITDAR- and EBITDA-based leverage calculations include our consolidated subsidiaries, other than those we have designated as "Unrestricted Subsidiaries" as defined in the Credit Agreement and bond indentures. Generally, the Credit Agreement and the bond indentures use a trailing four fiscal quarter basis for purposes of the relevant calculations and require certain adjustments and exclusions for purposes of those calculations, which make the calculation of financial performance under the Credit Agreement and bond indentures not directly comparable to Adjusted EBITDA as presented herein. These adjustments can be significant. For example, the calculation of financial performance under the Credit Agreement and certain of our bond indentures includes (subject to specified exceptions and caps) adjustments for non-cash charges and for expected benefits associated with (i) completed acquisitions, (ii) certain executed lease agreements associated with our data center business that have yet to commence and (iii) restructuring and other strategic initiatives. The calculation of financial performance under our other bond indentures includes, for example, adjustments for non-cash charges and for expected benefits associated with (i) completed acquisitions and (ii) events that are extraordinary, unusual or non-recurring.Our leverage and fixed charge coverage ratios under the Credit Agreement as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 are as follows:Â DECEMBER 31, 2024MAXIMUM/MINIMUM ALLOWABLENet total lease adjusted leverage ratio5.0Â Maximum allowable of 7.0Fixed charge coverage ratio2.4Â Minimum allowable of 1.5We are in compliance with our leverage and fixed charge coverage ratios under the Credit Agreement, our bond indentures and other agreements governing our indebtedness as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024. Noncompliance with these leverage and fixed charge coverage ratios would have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and liquidity._____Our ability to pay interest on or to refinance our indebtedness depends on our future performance, working capital levels and capital structure, which are subject to general economic, financial, competitive, legislative, regulatory and other factors which may be beyond our control. There can be no assurance that we will generate sufficient cash flow from our operations or that future financings will be available on acceptable terms or in amounts sufficient to enable us to service or refinance our indebtedness or to make necessary capital expenditures.DERIVATIVE INSTRUMENTSINTEREST RATE SWAP AGREEMENTSWe utilize interest rate swap agreements designated as cash flow hedges to limit our exposure to changes in interest rates on a portion of our floating rate indebtedness. Certain of our interest rate swap agreements have notional amounts that will increase with the underlying hedged transaction. Under our interest rate swap agreements, we receive variable rate interest payments associated with the notional amount of each interest rate swap, based upon the SOFR, in exchange for the payment of fixed interest rates as specified in the interest rate swap agreements. Our interest rate swap agreements are marked to market at the end of each reporting period, representing the fair values of the interest rate swap agreements, and any changes in fair value are recognized as a component of Accumulated other comprehensive items, net. Unrealized gains are recognized as assets, while unrealized losses are recognized as liabilities. In April 2023, in anticipation of the discontinuance of the London Inter-Bank Offered Rate ("LIBOR") reference rate on June 30, 2023, we terminated interest rate swap agreements with notional amounts totaling $350.0 million that were indexed to the one-month LIBOR benchmark rate. The terminated swap agreements had associated unrealized gains at the termination date of approximately $10.1 million. These gains were included in Accumulated other comprehensive items, net and have been reclassified into earnings as reductions to interest expense from the termination date through March 2024, the original maturity date of these interest rate swap agreements.As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, we have approximately $1,482.0 million and $520.0 million, respectively, in notional value outstanding on our interest rate swap agreements. The present value of the January 2025 Payment is included as a component of Accrued expenses and other current liabilities in our Consolidated Balance Sheet at December 31, 2024. The agreement for the Regency Transaction also includes a performance-based contingent consideration with a potential earnout range from zero to $200.0Â million based upon achievement of certain three-year cumulative revenue targets, which would be payable in 2027, if earned. The preliminary fair value estimate of this deferred purchase obligation as of the acquisition date was approximately $78.4Â million. The fair value of the deferred purchase obligation is included as a component of Other long-term liabilities in our Consolidated Balance Sheet at December 31, 2024. Subsequent increases or decreases in the fair value estimate of the deferred purchase obligation, as well as the accretion of the discount to present value, is included as a component of Other expense (income), net in our Consolidated Statements of Operations until the deferred purchase obligation is settled or paid. Subsequent to the acquisition, the results of Regency Technologies are included as a component of Corporate and Other.PRIOR YEAR ACQUISITION UPDATEOn July 1, 2024, we entered into an agreement with the minority shareholders of Web Werks India Private Limited to acquire the remaining approximately 36.61% interest in the Web Werks JV in two separate transactions. As a result of the agreement, during the third quarter of 2024, we recognized a charge of approximately $29.2 million, which is included as a component of Other expense (income), net in our Consolidated Statement of Operations for the year ended December 31, 2024. On July 5, 2024, we completed the acquisition of an approximately 8.55% interest in the Web Werks JV ("Tranche I") for approximately 3,000.0Â million Indian rupees (or approximately $35.0Â million based upon the exchange rate between the United States dollar and the Indian rupee on the closing date of Tranche I). Subsequent to the Tranche I payment, our ownership interest in the Web Werks JV is approximately 71.94%. In March 2025, we will be required to make an additional payment of approximately 9,600.0Â million Indian rupees (or approximately $112.2 million, based upon the exchange rate between the United States dollar and the Indian rupee as of December 31, 2024) to acquire the remaining approximately 28.06% interest in the Web Werks JV ("Tranche II"). As part of the Tranche II payment in March 2025, we may also make an incremental payment of approximately 1,000.0Â million Indian rupees (or approximately $11.7 million, based upon the exchange rate between the United States dollar and the Indian rupee as of December 31, 2024) (the "Incremental Payment") if certain infrastructure goals are achieved before December 31, 2024. We are currently assessing the achievement of these goals. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK.CREDIT RISKFinancial instruments that potentially subject us to credit risk consist principally of cash and cash equivalents (including money market funds and time deposits) and accounts receivable. We had no significant concentrations of liquid investments as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024. As per our risk management investment policy, we limit exposure to concentration of credit risk by limiting the amount invested in any one mutual fund to a maximum of 1% of the fund's total assets or in any one financial institution to a maximum of $75.0 million. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, our cash and cash equivalents balance was $155.7 million.INTEREST RATE RISKGiven the recurring nature of our revenues and the long-term nature of our asset base, we have the ability and the preference to use long-term, fixed interest rate debt to finance our business at attractive rates, thereby helping to preserve our long-term returns on invested capital. Occasionally, we may use interest rate swaps as a tool to maintain our targeted level of fixed rate debt.As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, approximately 14.4%, or $1,989.4 million, of our total long-term debt outstanding was subject to variable interest rates. If the weighted average variable interest rate on our variable rate debt had increased by 1%, our net income for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 would have been reduced by approximately $23.2Â million. See Note 6 to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report for a discussion on our interest rate swaps and NoteÂ 7 to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report for a discussion of our long-term indebtedness, including the fair values of such indebtedness as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024.CURRENCY RISK Our international investments may be subject to risks and uncertainties related to fluctuations in currency valuation. Our reporting currency is the United States dollar. However, our international revenues and expenses are generated in the currencies of the countries in which we operate, primarily the British pound sterling, Euro, Canadian dollar and Australian dollar. Declines in the value of the local currencies in which we are paid relative to the United States dollar will cause revenues in United States dollar terms to decrease and dollar-denominated liabilities to increase in local currency. The impact of currency fluctuations on our earnings is mitigated by the fact that most operating and other expenses are also incurred and paid in the local currency. We also have several intercompany obligations with and between certain of our subsidiaries of differing functional currencies, resulting in foreign transaction gains or losses based on period-end exchange rates.We have adopted and implemented a number of strategies to mitigate the risks associated with fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates. One strategy is to finance certain of our international subsidiaries with debt that is denominated in local currencies, thereby providing a natural hedge. In determining the amount of any such financing, we take into account local tax considerations, among other factors. Another strategy we utilize is for IMI or IMIM to borrow in foreign currencies to hedge our intercompany financing activities. In addition, on occasion, we enter into currency swaps to temporarily or permanently hedge an overseas investment, such as a major acquisition, to lock in certain transaction economics. IM UK has financed a portion of its capital needs through the issuance of the GBP Notes and through borrowings under the UK Bilateral Revolving Credit Facility, each of which are denominated in British pounds sterling. Our Australian business has financed a portion of its capital needs through direct borrowings in Australian dollars under the AUD Term Loan. This creates a tax efficient natural currency hedge. We have entered into cross-currency swap agreements to hedge the variability of exchange rate impacts between the United States dollar and certain of our functional foreign currencies, including the Euro and the Canadian dollar. These cross-currency swap agreements are designated as a hedge of net investment against certain of our Euro and Canadian dollar denominated subsidiaries and require an exchange of the notional amounts at maturity. These cross-currency swap agreements are marked to market at the end of each reporting period, representing the fair values of the cross-currency swap agreements, and any changes in fair value are recognized as a component of Accumulated other comprehensive items, net. Unrealized gains are recognized as assets, which are recorded as either a component of (i) Prepaid expenses and other or (ii) Other within Other assets, net, while unrecognized losses are recognized as liabilities, which are recorded as either a component of (i) Accrued expenses and other current liabilities or (ii) Other long-term liabilities in our Consolidated Balance Sheets. See Note 6 to Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in this Annual Report for a discussion on our cross-currency swap agreements.56IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of ContentsPart IIThe impact of devaluation or depreciating currency on an entity depends on the residual effect on the local economy and the ability of an entity to raise prices and/or reduce expenses. Due to our constantly changing currency exposure and the potential substantial volatility of currency exchange rates, we cannot predict the effect of exchange fluctuations on our business. The effect of a change in foreign currency exchange rates on our net investment in foreign subsidiaries is reflected in the "Accumulated Other Comprehensive Items, net" component of equity. A 10% depreciation in year-end 2024 functional currencies, relative to the United States dollar, would result in a reduction in our equity of $335.6Â million.ITEMÂ 8. DISCLOSURE CONTROLS AND PROCEDURESThe term "disclosure controls and procedures" is defined in RulesÂ 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) of the Exchange Act. These rules refer to the controls and other procedures of a company that are designed to ensure that information is recorded, processed, accumulated, summarized, communicated and reported to management, including its principal executive and principal financial officers, as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding what is required to be disclosed by a company in the reports that it files under the Exchange Act. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 (the "Evaluation Date"), we carried out an evaluation, under the supervision and with the participation of our management, including our chief executive officer and chief financial officer, of the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures. Based upon that evaluation, our chief executive officer and chief financial officer concluded that, as of the Evaluation Date, our disclosure controls and procedures are effective.MANAGEMENTâ€™S REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTINGOur management, with the participation of our principal executive officer and principal financial officer, is responsible for establishing and maintaining adequate internal control over financial reporting as defined in RulesÂ 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) of the Exchange Act. Our internal control system is designed to provide reasonable assurance to our management and board of directors regarding the preparation and fair presentation of published financial statements. Due to their inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risks that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with policies or procedures may deteriorate. Under the supervision and with the participation of our management, including our chief executive officer and chief financial officer, we conducted an evaluation of the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting based on the framework in Internal Controlâ€”Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission. Based on this evaluation, our management concluded that our internal control over financial reporting was effective as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024.The effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting has been audited by DeloitteÂ & ToucheÂ LLP, an independent registered public accounting firm, as stated in their report which is included in this Annual Report.58IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of ContentsPart IIREPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRMTo the shareholders and the Board of Directors of Iron Mountain IncorporatedOPINION ON INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTINGWe have audited the internal control over financial reporting of Iron Mountain Incorporated and subsidiaries (the "Company") as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, based on criteria established in Internal Control â€” Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects. Our audit included obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk, and performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.DEFINITION AND LIMITATIONS OF INTERNAL CONTROL OVER FINANCIAL REPORTINGA companyâ€™s internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A companyâ€™s internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the companyâ€™s assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.We have also audited, in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB), the Company's internal control over financial reporting as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, based on criteria established in Internal Control â€” Integrated Framework (2013) issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission and our report dated FebruaryÂ 14, 2025, expressed an unqualified opinion on the Company's internal control over financial reporting.BASIS FOR OPINIONThese financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the PCAOB and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.CRITICAL AUDIT MATTERThe critical audit matter communicated below is a matter arising from the current-period audit of the financial statements that was communicated or required to be communicated to the audit committee and that (1) relates to accounts or disclosures that are material to the financial statements and (2) involved our especially challenging, subjective, or complex judgments. The communication of critical audit matters does not alter in any way our opinion on the financial statements, taken as a whole, and we are not, by communicating the critical audit matter below, providing a separate opinion on the critical audit matter or on the accounts or disclosures to which it relates.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K65Table of ContentsPart IVGOODWILL - ASSET LIFECYCLE MANAGEMENT REPORTING UNIT - REFER TO NOTE 2.L. TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS CRITICAL AUDIT MATTER DESCRIPTIONThe Companyâ€™s evaluation of goodwill for impairment involves the comparison of the fair value of the reporting unit to its carrying value. The Company determined the fair value of the Asset Lifecycle Management reporting unit based on the present value of future cash flows (the "Discounted Cash Flow Model"). The determination of the fair value using the Discounted Cash Flow Model requires management to make significant assumptions related to future revenue growth rates, operating margins, and discount rates. Changes in economic and operating conditions impacting these assumptions could result in goodwill impairment in future periods. The goodwill balance allocated to the Asset Lifecycle Management reporting unit was $748.0 million as of October 1, 2024 (goodwill impairment testing date). The fair value of the Asset Lifecycle Management reporting unit exceeded its carrying value as of the measurement date and, therefore, no impairment was recognized.We identified the evaluation of goodwill for the Asset Lifecycle Management reporting unit for impairment as a critical audit matter because of the significant judgments made by management to estimate the fair value of the Asset Lifecycle Management reporting unit. Performing audit procedures to evaluate the reasonableness of managementâ€™s estimates and assumptions related to selection of the discount rate and forecasts of future revenue and operating margin of the

Asset Lifecycle Management reporting unit required a high degree of auditor judgment and an increased extent of effort, including the need to involve our fair value specialists.HOW THE CRITICAL AUDIT MATTER WAS ADDRESSED IN THE AUDITOur audit procedures related to testing the reasonableness of key assumptions within the Discounted Cash Flow Model of the Asset Lifecycle Management reporting unit. The key assumptions include future revenue growth rates, operating margins, and the selection of the discount rate. We performed the following procedures as part of the audit: â€¢We evaluated managementâ€™s ability to accurately forecast by comparing actual results to managementâ€™s historical forecasts. â€¢We evaluated the reasonableness of the revenue growth rates and operating margins presented within managementâ€™s Discounted Cash Flow Model by comparing it to (1) historical results, (2) internal communications to management and the Board of Directors, and (3) forecasted information included in Company press releases and industry reports in which Asset Lifecycle Management operates.â€¢With the assistance of our fair value specialists, we evaluated the discount rate, including testing the underlying source information and the mathematical accuracy of the calculation, and developing a range of independent estimates and comparing that to the discount rate selected by management.â€¢We tested the effectiveness of controls over the evaluation of goodwill for impairment, including those over the Discounted Cash Flow Model and discount rate./s/ DELOITTE & TOUCHE LLPBoston, MassachusettsFebruaryÂ 14, 2025We have served as the Companyâ€™s auditor since 2002.66IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIESA.Â PRINCIPLES OF CONSOLIDATIONThe accompanying financial statements reflect our financial position, results of operations, comprehensive income (loss), (deficit) equity and cash flows on a consolidated basis. The accompanying financial statements include the results of those entities over which we have a controlling financial interest or of which we are deemed to be the primary beneficiary. All intercompany transactions and account balances have been eliminated.B.Â USE OF ESTIMATESThe preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP") requires us to make estimates, judgments and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses, and the related disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and for the period then ended. On an ongoing basis, we evaluate the estimates used. We base our estimates on historical experience, actuarial estimates, current conditions and various other assumptions that we believe to be reasonable under the circumstances. These estimates form the basis for making judgments about the carrying values of assets and liabilities and are not readily apparent from other sources. Actual results may differ from these estimates.C.Â CHANGES IN PRESENTATIONCertain items previously reported under specific captions within the statement of cash flows and Note 10 have been reclassified to conform to the current year presentation.D.Â FOREIGN CURRENCYLocal currencies are the functional currencies for our operations outside the United States, with the exception of certain foreign holding companies, whose functional currency is the United States dollar. In those instances where the local currency is the functional currency, assets and liabilities are translated at period-end exchange rates, and revenues and expenses are translated at average exchange rates for the applicable period. Cash and cash equivalents are carried at cost, which approximates fair value.F.Â ALLOWANCE FOR DOUBTFUL ACCOUNTS AND CREDIT MEMO RESERVESWe maintain an allowance for doubtful accounts and a credit memo reserve for estimated losses resulting from the potential inability of our customers to make required payments and potential disputes regarding billing and service issues. We evaluate and monitor the collectability of accounts receivable based on a combination of factors, including historical loss experience, assessments of trends in our aged receivables and credit memo activity, the location of our businesses, the composition of our customer base, our product and service lines, potential future macroeconomic factors, including natural disasters, and reasonable and supportable forecasts for expected future collectability of our outstanding receivables. Continued adjustments will be made, as it becomes evident, should there be any material change to reasonable and supportable forecasts that may impact our likelihood of collection. Our highly diverse global customer base, with no single customer accounting for more than approximately 1% of revenue during the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, limits our exposure to concentration of credit risk. Additionally, we write off uncollectible balances as circumstances warrant, generally no later than one year past due.The rollforward of the allowance for doubtful accounts and credit memo reserves is as follows:YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31,BALANCE ATBEGINNING OFTHE YEARCREDIT MEMOSCHARGED TOREVENUEALLOWANCE FORBAD DEBTS CHARGEDTO EXPENSEDEDUCTIONSAND OTHER(1)BALANCE ATEND OFTHE YEAR2024$74,762Â $104,130Â $45,123Â $(137,303)$86,712Â 202354,143Â 92,881Â 32,692Â (104,954)74,762Â 202262,009Â 62,891Â 13,666Â (84,423)54,143Â (1)Primarily consists of the issuance of credit memos, the write-off of accounts receivable and the impact associated with currency translation adjustments.G. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)CAPITALIZED INTERESTWe capitalize interest expense during the active construction period of major capital projects. Capitalized interest is added to the cost of the underlying assets and is amortized over the useful lives of the assets. During the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, capitalized interest is as follows: YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31,202420232022Capitalized interest$63,333Â $44,845Â $14,078Â INTERNAL USE SOFTWAREWe develop various software applications for internal use. Computer software costs associated with internal use software are expensed as incurred until certain capitalization criteria are met. Third party consulting costs, as well as payroll and related costs for employees directly associated with, and devoting time to, the development of internal use computer software projects (to the extent time is spent directly on the project) are capitalized. Capitalization of costs, including costs incurred for upgrades and enhancements that provide additional functionality to our existing software, generally begins during the application development stage of the project, which occurs after it is probable that the project will be completed and used to perform the function intended. Capitalization ends when the asset is ready for its intended use. Capitalized internal use software costs are depreciated on a straight-line basis over the expected useful life of the software, commencing when the software is ready for its intended use. Computer software costs that are capitalized are periodically evaluated for impairment.During the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, capitalized costs associated with the development of internal use computer software projects are as follows:YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31,202420232022Capitalized costs associated with the development of internal use computer software projects$69,055Â $64,488Â $44,152Â ASSET RETIREMENT OBLIGATIONSEntities are required to record the fair value of a liability for an asset retirement obligation in the period in which it is incurred. Asset retirement obligations represent the costs to replace or remove tangible long-lived assets required by law, regulatory rule or contractual agreement. Our asset retirement obligations are primarily the result of requirements under our facility lease agreements which generally have "return to original condition" clauses which would require us to remove or restore items such as shred pits, vaults, demising walls and office build-outs, among others. The significant assumptions used in estimating our aggregate asset retirement obligations are the timing of removals, the probability of a requirement to perform, estimated cost and associated expected inflation rates that are consistent with historical rates and credit-adjusted risk-free rates that approximate our incremental borrowing rate. Our asset retirement obligations at DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023 were $43,844 and $36,602, respectively, and are included in Other Long-term Liabilities in our Consolidated Balance Sheets.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K75Table of ContentsPart IVIRON MOUNTAIN INCORPORATEDNOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)DECEMBERÂ 31, 2024(In thousands, except share and per share data)2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)J. LEASESWe lease facilities for certain warehouses, data centers and office spaces. We also have land leases, including those on which certain facilities are located. The majority of our leased facilities are classified as operating leases that, on average, have initial lease terms ofÂ fiveÂ toÂ 10 years, with one or more lease renewal options to extend the lease term. Our lease renewal option terms generally range fromÂ oneÂ toÂ five years. The exercise of the lease renewal option is at our sole discretion and may contain fixed rent, fair market value based rent or Consumer Price Index rent escalation clauses. We include option periods in the lease term when our failure to renew the lease would result in an economic disincentive, thereby making it reasonably certain that we will renew the lease. We recognize straight line rental expense over the life of the lease and any fair market value or Consumer Price Index rent escalations are recognized as variable lease expense in the period in which the obligation is incurred. In addition, we lease certain vehicles and equipment. Vehicle and equipment leases typically have lease terms ranging fromÂ oneÂ toÂ seven years. We account for all leases, both operating and financing, in accordance with Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 842, Leases ("ASC 842"). Our accounting policy provides that leases with an initial term of 12 months or less will not be included within the lease right-of-use assets and lease liabilities recognized on our Consolidated Balance Sheets. We recognize the lease payments for those leases with an initial term of 12 months or less in our Consolidated Statements of Operations on a straight-line basis over the lease term.The lease right-of-use assets and related lease liabilities are classified as either operating or financing. Lease right-of-use assets are calculated as the net present value of future payments plus any capitalized initial direct costs less any tenant improvements or lease incentives. Lease liabilities are calculated as the net present value of future payments. In calculating the present value of the lease payments, we utilize the rate stated in the lease (in the limited circumstances when such rate is explicitly stated) or, if no rate is explicitly stated, we utilize a rate that reflects our securitized incremental borrowing rate by geography for the lease term. We account for nonlease components (which include common area maintenance, taxes, and insurance) with the related lease component. Any variable nonlease components are not included within the lease right-of-use asset and lease liability on our Consolidated Balance Sheets, and instead, are reflected as an expense in the period incurred.Operating and financing lease right-of-use assets and lease liabilities as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023 are as follows:Â DECEMBER 31,DESCRIPTION20242023Assets:Operating lease right-of-use assets(1)$2,489,893Â $2,696,024Â Financing lease right-of-use assets, net of accumulated depreciation(2)(3)359,265Â 304,600Â Liabilities:CurrentOperating lease liabilities$315,400Â $291,795Â Financing lease liabilities(3)128,397Â 39,089Â Long-termOperating lease liabilities$2,334,826Â $2,562,394Â Financing lease liabilities(3)278,444Â 310,776Â (1)At December 31, 2024 and 2023, these assets are comprised of approximatelyÂ 99%Â real estate related assets (which include land, buildings, data center infrastructure and racking structures) andÂ 1%Â non-real estate related assets (which include warehouse equipment, vehicles, furniture and fixtures and computer hardware and software).(2)At DecemberÂ 31, 2024, these assets are comprised of approximatelyÂ 58%Â real estate related assets andÂ 42%Â non-real estate related assets. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)K. LONG-LIVED ASSETSWe review long-lived assets for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate the carrying amount of such assets may not be recoverable. Recoverability of these assets is determined by comparing the sum of the forecasted undiscounted net cash flows of the operation to which the assets relate to their carrying amount. The operations are generally distinguished by the business segment and geographic region in which they operate. If it is determined that we are unable to recover the carrying amount of the assets, the long-lived assets are written down, on a pro rata basis, to fair value. Fair value is determined based on discounted cash flows or appraised values, depending upon the nature of the assets. Long-lived assets, including finite-lived intangible assets, are amortized over their useful lives. Annually, or more frequently if events or circumstances warrant, we assess whether a change in the lives over which long-lived assets, including finite-lived intangible assets, are amortized is necessary.Loss (gain) on disposal/write-down of property, plant and equipment, net for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022 is as follows:YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31,202420232022Loss (gain) on disposal/write-down of property, plant and equipment, net$6,196Â $(12,825)$(93,268)Primarily consists of(1):â€¢Losses related to the disposal of assets associated with facility consolidations.â€¢Gains associated with sale and sale-leaseback transactions of approximately $19,500, of which approximately $18,500 relates to a sale-leaseback transaction of a facility in Singapore during the first quarter of 2023. CUSTOMER INDUCEMENTSPayments that are made to a customer in order to terminate the customerâ€™s storage of records with its current records management vendor ("Permanent Withdrawal Fees"), or direct payments to a customer for which no distinct benefit is received in return, are collectively referred to as "Customer Inducements". Customer Inducements are treated as a reduction of the transaction price over the associated contract terms, which range from one to 10 years, and are included in storage and service revenue in the accompanying Consolidated Statements of Operations. If the customer terminates its relationship with us, the unamortized carrying value of the Customer Inducement intangible asset is charged to revenue. However, in the event of such termination, we generally collect, and record as revenue, Permanent Withdrawal Fees that generally equal or exceed the amount of the unamortized Customer Inducement intangible asset. The value of Data Center In-Place Leases is determined based upon an estimate of the economic costs (such as lost revenues, tenant improvement costs, commissions, legal expenses and other costs to acquire new data center leases) avoided by acquiring a data center operation with active tenants. Data Center In-Place Leases are amortized over the weighted average remaining term of the acquired data center leases. The value of Data Center Tenant Relationships is determined based upon an estimate of the economic costs avoided upon lease renewal of the acquired tenants, based upon expectations of lease renewal. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)N. DEFERRED FINANCING COSTSDeferred financing costs are amortized over the life of the related debt. If debt is retired early, the related unamortized deferred financing costs are written off in the period the debt is retired and included as a component of Other expense (income), net. See NoteÂ 7.O. DERIVATIVE INSTRUMENTS AND HEDGING ACTIVITIESDerivative instruments are measured at fair value and are recorded as either assets or liabilities in our Consolidated Balance Sheets. Periodically, we acquire derivative instruments that are intended to hedge either cash flows or values that are subject to foreign exchange or other market price risk and not for trading purposes. We have formally documented our hedging relationships, including identification of the hedging instruments and the hedged items, as well as our risk management objectives and strategies for undertaking each hedge transaction concurrently with the execution of the derivative instrument. Given the recurring nature of our revenues and the long-term nature of our asset base, we have the ability and the preference to use long-term, fixed interest rate debt to finance our business, thereby preserving our long-term returns on invested capital. We may use interest rate swaps as a tool to maintain our targeted level of fixed rate debt. In addition, we may enter into cross-currency swaps to hedge the variability of exchange rates between the United States dollar and the currencies of our foreign subsidiaries, as well as interest rates. We may also use borrowings in foreign currencies, either obtained in the United States or by our foreign subsidiaries, to hedge foreign currency risk associated with our international investments. Gains and losses realized as a result of the maturing or termination of our interest rate swaps and cross-currency swaps are reflected as operating cash flows within our Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, none of our derivative instruments contained credit-risk related contingent features. See Note 6.P. FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTSEntities are permitted under GAAP to elect to measure certain financial instruments and certain other items at either fair value or cost. We have elected the cost measurement option in all circumstances where we had an option. Our financial assets or liabilities that are carried at fair value are required to be measured using inputs from the three levels of the fair value hierarchy. A financial asset or liabilityâ€™s classification within the hierarchy is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement. The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are as follows:LevelÂ 1â€”Inputs are unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that we have the ability to access at the measurement date.LevelÂ 2â€”Inputs include quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in markets that are not active, inputs other than quoted prices that are observable for the asset or liability (i.e.,Â interest rates, yield curves, etc.), and inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means (market corroborated inputs).LevelÂ 3â€”Unobservable inputs that reflect our assumptions about the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)The level 3 valuations of the deferred purchase obligations were determined utilizing Monte-Carlo models and take into account our forecasted projections as they relate to the underlying performance of the respective businesses. The Monte-Carlo simulation model applied in assessing the fair value of the deferred purchase obligation associated with the ITRenew Transaction incorporates assumptions as to expected gross profits over the achievement period, including adjustments for the volatility of timing and amount of the associated revenue and costs, as well as discount rates that account for the risk of the arrangement and overall market risks. The Monte-Carlo simulation model applied in assessing the fair value of the deferred purchase obligation associated with the Regency Transaction incorporates assumptions as to expected revenue over the achievement period, including adjustments for volatility and timing, as well as discount rates that account for the risk of the arrangement and overall market risks. Any material change to these assumptions may result in a significantly higher or lower fair value of the related deferred purchase obligation.There were no material items that were measured at fair value on a non-recurring basis for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023 other than (i) the reporting units as presented in our goodwill impairment analysis (as disclosed in Note 2.l.); (ii) assets acquired and liabilities assumed through our acquisitions (as disclosed in Note 3); (iii) the redemption value of recently acquired noncontrolling interests and previously held equity interests (both as disclosed in NoteÂ 3); (iv) contributions to our equity method investments; and (v) the fair value of our retained investment of our deconsolidated businesses (as described in Note 4), all of which are based on Level 3 inputs.The fair value of our long-term debt, which was determined based on Level 2 and Level 3 inputs, is disclosed in NoteÂ 7. Long-term debt is measured at cost in our Consolidated Balance Sheets as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023. Q. NONCONTROLLING INTERESTSUnaffiliated third parties own noncontrolling interests in certain of our consolidated subsidiaries. The classification of these ownership interests are evaluated under ASC 810, Consolidation and ASC 480, Distinguishing Liabilities from Equity. Ownership interests are classified as equity unless the underlying agreements contain provisions requiring classification as a liability or temporary equity. Noncontrolling interests are presented as a separate component of Iron Mountain's Stockholdersâ€™ (Deficit) Equity in the accompanying Consolidated Balance Sheets and Consolidated Statements of (Deficit) Equity. Certain agreements with our noncontrolling interest shareholders contain put options which allow the noncontrolling interest shareholders to require us to purchase their respective interests in such subsidiaries at certain times and at purchase prices as stipulated in the underlying agreements (generally at fair value). These ownership interests, otherwise known as redeemable noncontrolling interests, are classified as temporary equity in our Consolidated Balance Sheets and Consolidated Statements of (Deficit) Equity. Redeemable noncontrolling interests are reported as temporary equity at the greater of their redemption value or the noncontrolling interest holdersâ€™ proportionate share of the underlying subsidiaryâ€™s net carrying value. Increases or decreases in the redemption value are offset against Additional Paid-in Capital. Changes in ownership interests that do not result in a loss of control are accounted for as equity transactions. If control is lost, the subsidiaryâ€™s assets, liabilities and noncontrolling interests are derecognized, and any resulting gain or loss is recorded in earnings.The amount of consolidated net income attributable to noncontrolling interests, including redeemable noncontrolling interests, are presented in the accompanying Consolidated Statements of Operations and Consolidated Statements of Comprehensive Income (Loss).When ownership interests are determined to be mandatorily redeemable, they are classified as liabilities and included as a component of Accrued expenses and other current liabilities or Other long-term liabilities on our Consolidated Balance Sheets, depending on the timing of the obligation.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K85Table of ContentsPart IVIRON MOUNTAIN INCORPORATEDNOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)DECEMBERÂ 31, 2024(In thousands, except share and per share data)2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)S. REVENUESOur revenues consist of storage rental revenues and service revenues and are reflected net of sales and value-added taxes. Storage rental revenues, which are considered a key driver of financial performance for the storage and information management services industry, consist primarily of recurring periodic rental charges related to the storage of materials or data (generally on a per unit basis) that are typically retained by customers for many years and of revenues associated with our data center operations. Service revenues include charges for related service activities, the most significant of which include: (1) the handling of records, including the addition of new records, temporary removal of records from storage, refiling of removed records, customer termination and permanent withdrawal fees, project revenues and courier operations consisting primarily of the pickup and delivery of records upon customer request; (2) secure shredding of sensitive documents and the subsequent sale of shredded paper for recycling, the price of which can fluctuate from period to period; (3) the decommissioning, data erasure, processing and disposition, and recycling or sale of information technology ("IT") hardware and component assets; (4) digital solutions, including the scanning, imaging and document conversion services of active and inactive records, consulting services and the sale of software as a service; and (5) data center services, including set up, monitoring and support of our customers' assets which are protected in our data center facilities, and special project services, including data center fitout. We account for our revenue in accordance with ASC 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers ("ASC 606"), with the exception of our data center storage revenue, as described below. Customers are generally billed monthly based on contractually agreed-upon terms, and storage rental and service revenues are recognized in the month the respective storage rental or service is provided, in line with the transfer of control to the customer. When storage rental fees or services are billed in advance, amounts related to future storage rental or prepaid service contracts are accounted for as deferred revenue and recognized upon the transfer of control to the customer, generally ratably over the contract term. Customer contracts generally include promises to provide monthly recurring storage and related services that are essentially the same over time and have the same pattern of transfer of control to the customer; therefore, most performance obligations represent a promise to deliver a series of distinct services over time (as determined for purposes of ASC 606, a "series"). For those contracts that qualify as a series, we apply the "right to invoice" practical expedient as we have a right to consideration from the customer in an amount that corresponds directly with the value of the underlying performance obligation transferred to the customer to date. Additionally, each purchasing decision is fully in the control of the customer; therefore, consideration beyond the current reporting period is variable and allocated to the specific period to which the consideration relates, which is consistent with the practical expedient. Revenue from product sales, the significant majority of which are shred paper and IT asset sales, is recognized at the point in time at which control transfers to the customer, which is generally upon shipment.Our Global Data Center Business features storage rental provided to the customer at contractually specified rates over a fixed contractual period. The revenue related to the storage component of our Global Data Center Business is recognized on a straight-line basis over the contract term in accordance with ASC 842. The revenue related to the service component of our Global Data Center Business is recognized in the period the related services are provided.From time to time, we make payments to entities that are also customers under a revenue contract. These payments are primarily comprised of (i) Customer Inducements and (ii) payments to customers of our ALM business under revenue sharing arrangements for the remarketing of the customer's disposed IT assets. Customer Inducements do not represent payments for a distinct service, and, as such, are treated as a reduction of the transaction price over periods ranging from one to 10 years. Payments for disposed IT assets are for a distinct good and, as such, are expensed as cost of sales in the period when the asset is sold and the corresponding revenue is recognized.Certain costs to fulfill or obtain customer contracts and certain initial direct costs of obtaining data center leases, including the costs associated with the initial movement of customer records into physical storage and certain commission expenses, are collectively referred to as "Contract Costs". The following describes our significant Contract Costs:INTAKE COSTS (AND ASSOCIATED DEFERRED REVENUE)The costs of the initial intake of customer records into physical storage ("Intake Costs") are deferred and amortized as a component of depreciation and amortization in our Consolidated Statements of Operations generally over three years, consistent with the transfer of the performance obligation to the customer to which the asset relates. In instances where such Intake Costs are billed to the customer, the associated revenue is deferred and recognized over the same three-year period. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)DATA CENTER LESSOR CONSIDERATIONSOur Global Data Center Business features storage rental provided to customers at contractually specified rates over a fixed contractual period. Our data center revenue contracts are accounted for in accordance with ASC 842. ASC 842 provides a practical expedient which allows lessors to account for nonlease components with the related lease component if both the timing and pattern of transfer are the same for nonlease components and the lease component, and the lease component, if accounted for separately, would be classified as an operating lease. The single combined component is accounted for under ASC 842 if the lease component is the predominant component and is accounted for under ASC 606 if the nonlease components are the predominant components. We have elected to take this practical expedient. Our data center revenue contracts may contain Consumer Price Index rent escalation clauses. Consumer Price Index rent escalation clauses are considered variable lease payments and are recognized as income in the period earned.Storage rental revenue associated with our Global Data Center Business for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022 are as follows:YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31,202420232022Storage rental revenue$606,294Â $474,066Â $372,208Â The revenue related to the service component of our Global Data Center Business is recognized in the period the related services are provided.The future minimum lease payments we expect to receive under non-cancellable data center operating leases for which we are the lessor, excluding month to month leases, for the next five years and thereafter are as follows:YEARFUTURE MINIMUM LEASE PAYMENTS(1)2025$479,296Â 2026433,670Â 2027429,431Â 2028399,736Â 2029366,612Â Thereafter2,300,334Â (1)Future minimum lease payments we expect to receive exclude contingent and variable costs such as taxes, insurance and common area maintenance, which are included in our total storage revenue. Other than in specified circumstances, no equity-based award will vest before the first anniversary of the date of grant.On JanuaryÂ 20, 2015, our stockholders approved the adoption of the Iron Mountain Incorporated 2014 Stock and Cash Incentive Plan, as amended (the "2014 Plan"). However, RSUs granted to our non-employee directors vest immediately upon grant. All RSUs accrue dividend equivalents associated with the underlying stock as we declare dividends. Dividends will generally be paid to holders of RSUs in cash upon the vesting date of the associated RSU and will be forfeited if the RSU does not vest. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)All of our PUs will be settled in shares of our common stock and are subject to cliff vesting three years from the date of the original PU grant. As detailed above, PUs granted are subject to the Retirement Criteria. PUs are generally expensed over the three-year performance period, unless they are granted to a recipient who meets the Retirement Criteria, for which expense will be recognized as described above. PUs granted to recipients who meet the Retirement Criteria will continue to vest and be delivered in accordance with the original vesting schedule of the applicable PU award and remain subject to the same performance conditions.All PUs accrue dividend equivalents associated with the underlying stock as we declare dividends. Dividends will generally be paid to holders of PUs in cash upon the settlement date of the associated PU and will be forfeited if the PU does not vest.During the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, we issued 462,501, 641,412 and 435,675 PUs, respectively. We forecast the likelihood of achieving the predefined targets for our PUs in order to calculate the expected PUs to be earned. We record a compensation charge based on either the forecasted PUs to be earned (during the performance period) or the actual PUs earned (at the three-year anniversary of the grant date) over the vesting period for each of the awards. The fair value of PUs based on our performance against predefined targets is the excess of the market price of our common stock at the date of grant over the purchase price (which is typically zero). For PUs earned based on a market condition, we utilize a Monte Carlo simulation to estimate the fair value of these awards at the date of grant.The fair value of earned PUs that vested during the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022 is as follows:Â YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31,202420232022Fair value of earned PUs that vested$24,617Â $34,896Â $20,059Â A summary of PU activity for the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 is as follows:Â ORIGINALPU AWARDSPUADJUSTMENT(1)TOTAL PUAWARDSWEIGHTED-AVERAGEGRANT-DATEFAIR VALUENon-vested at December 31, 2023804,910Â (323,557)481,353Â $43.16Â Granted462,501Â â€”Â 462,501Â 92.01Â Prior year grant adjustments for performance(1)â€”Â 273,653Â 273,653Â 52.33Â Vested(574,225)â€”Â (574,225)42.87Â Forfeited(81,254)â€”Â (81,254)76.29Â Non-vested at December 31, 2024611,932Â (49,904)562,028Â $83.33Â (1)Represents an increase or decrease in the number of original PUs awarded based on either the final performance criteria or market condition achievement at the end of the performance period of such PUs.EMPLOYEE STOCK PURCHASE PLANWe offer an Employee Stock Purchase Plan ("ESPP") in which participation is available to substantially all United States and Canadian employees who meet certain service eligibility requirements. NEW ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTSRECENTLY ADOPTED ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTSIn November 2023, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") No. 2023-07, Improvements to Reportable Segments Disclosures ("ASU 2023-07") to provide more detail in the disclosures for reportable segments. The main provisions of ASU 2023-07 requires (i) enhanced disclosures about significant segment expenses, (ii) extension of certain annual disclosures to interim periods and (iii) certain qualitative information on the chief operating decision maker. We adopted ASU 2023-07 on January 1, 2024 on a retrospective basis. The required disclosures are included in Note 11.In March 2020, the FASB issued ASU No. 2020-04, Reference Rate Reform (Topic 848) ("ASU 2020-04"). ASU 2020-04 provides optional expedients and exceptions for applying GAAP to contracts, hedging relationships, and other transactions, for a limited period of time, to ease the potential burden of recognizing the effects of reference rate reform on financial reporting. The amendments in ASU 2020-04 apply to contracts, hedging relationships and other transactions that reference the London Inter-Bank Offered Rate ("LIBOR") or another reference rate expected to be discontinued due to the global transition away from LIBOR and certain other interbank offered rates. Under ASU 2020-04, an entity could elect to apply the amendments beginning March 12, 2020 through December 31, 2022. In December 2022, the FASB issued ASU No. 2022-06, Reference Rate Reform (Topic 848), Deferral of the Sunset Date of Topic 848 ("ASU 2022-06") to defer the sunset date of Topic 848 from December 31, 2022 to December 31, 2024, after which entities will no longer be permitted to apply the relief in Topic 848. We adopted the guidance in these updates on January 1, 2024, and there was no material impact on our consolidated financial statements.OTHER AS YET ADOPTED ACCOUNTING PRONOUNCEMENTSIn December 2023, the FASB issued ASU No. 2023-09, Income Taxes (Topic 740), Improvements to Income Tax Disclosures ("ASU 2023-09") to provide disaggregated income tax disclosures on the rate reconciliation and income taxes paid. Further, certain requirements related to uncertain tax positions and unrecognized deferred tax liabilities are eliminated. The amendments in this update should be applied on a prospective basis, with retrospective application permitted. ASU 2023-09 will be effective for us on January 1, 2025, with early adoption permitted. We do not expect ASU 2023-09 to have a material impact on our consolidated financial statements. ACQUISITIONSWe account for acquisitions using the acquisition method of accounting, and, accordingly, the assets and liabilities acquired are recorded at their estimated fair values and the results of operations for each acquisition have been included in our consolidated results from their respective acquisition dates. A. ACQUISITIONS COMPLETED DURING THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2024REGENCY TECHNOLOGIESOn January 3, 2024, in order to expand our ALM business, we acquired 100% of RSR Partners, LLC (doing business as Regency Technologies), an IT asset disposition services provider with operations throughout the United States, for an initial purchase price of approximately $200,000, subject to certain working capital adjustments at, and subsequent to, the closing, with $125,000 paid at closing, funded by borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility, and the remaining $75,000 (the "January 2025 Payment"), paid in January 2025 (the "Regency Transaction"). The present value of the January 2025 Payment is included as a component of Accrued expenses and other current liabilities in our Consolidated Balance Sheet at December 31, 2024. The agreement for the Regency Transaction also includes a performance-based contingent consideration with a potential earnout range from zero to $200,000 based upon achievement of certain three-year cumulative revenue targets, which would be payable in 2027, if earned. The preliminary fair value estimate of this deferred purchase obligation as of the acquisition date was approximately $78,400. See Note 2.p. for details on the methodology used to establish the fair value. The fair value of the deferred purchase obligation is included as a component of Other long-term liabilities in our Consolidated Balance Sheet at December 31, 2024. Subsequent increases or decreases in the fair value estimate of the deferred purchase obligation, as well as the accretion of the discount to present value, is included as a component of Other expense (income), net in our Consolidated Statements of Operations until the deferred purchase obligation is settled or paid. Subsequent to the acquisition, the results of Regency Technologies are included as a component of Corporate and Other (as defined in Note 11).B. ACQUISITIONS COMPLETED DURING THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2023WEB WERKSOn July 7, 2023, we made our final contractual investment in a joint venture with the shareholders of Web Werks India Private Limited (the "Web Werks JV") of approximately 3,750,000 Indian rupees (or approximately $45,300, based upon the exchange rate between the United States dollar and Indian rupee on the closing date of this investment). As a result of this transaction, our interest in the Web Werks JV increased to 63.39%, we assumed control of its board of directors and the financial results of the Web Werks JV are consolidated within our Global Data Center Business segment. We recognized noncontrolling interests of approximately $78,600 based upon the fair value attributable to these interests at the time of this transaction, of which approximately $18,100 of the noncontrolling interests were determined to be a current liability and included as a component of Accrued expenses and other current liabilities on our Consolidated Balance Sheet at December 31, 2023.96IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of ContentsPart IVIRON MOUNTAIN INCORPORATEDNOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)DECEMBERÂ 31, 2024(In thousands, except share and per share data)3. ACQUISITIONS (CONTINUED)On July 1, 2024, we entered into an agreement with the minority shareholders of Web Werks India Private Limited to acquire the remaining approximately 36.61% interest in the Web Werks JV in two separate transactions. As a result of the agreement, during the third quarter of 2024, we recognized a charge of approximately $29,200, which is included as a component of Other expense (income), net in our Consolidated Statement of Operations for the year ended December 31, 2024. On July 5, 2024, we completed the acquisition of an approximately 8.55% interest in the Web Werks JV ("Tranche I") for approximately 3,000,000 Indian rupees (or approximately $35,000, based upon the exchange rate between the United States dollar and the Indian rupee on the closing date of Tranche I). Subsequent to the Tranche I payment, our ownership interest in the Web Werks JV is approximately 71.94%. In March 2025, we will be required to make an additional payment of approximately 9,600,000 Indian rupees (or approximately $112,200, based upon the exchange rate between the United States dollar and the Indian rupee as of December 31, 2024) to acquire the remaining approximately 28.06% interest in the Web Werks JV ("Tranche II"). As part of the Tranche II payment in March 2025, we may also make an incremental payment of approximately 1,000,000 Indian rupees (or approximately $11,700, based upon the exchange rate between the United States dollar and the Indian rupee as of December 31, 2024) (the "Incremental Payment") if certain infrastructure goals are achieved before December 31, 2024. We are currently assessing the achievement of these goals. The liability associated with Tranche II and our current estimate of the Incremental Payment is included within Accrued expenses and other current liabilities in our Consolidated Balance Sheet at December 31, 2024.CLUTTERIn February 2022, the joint venture formed by MakeSpace Labs, Inc. and us (the "MakeSpace JV") entered into an agreement with Clutter, Inc. pursuant to which the equityholders of the MakeSpace JV contributed their ownership interests in the MakeSpace JV, and Clutter, Inc.â€™s shareholders contributed their ownership interests in Clutter, Inc., to create a newly formed venture (the "Clutter JV"). In exchange for our 49.99% interest in the MakeSpace JV, we received an approximately 27% interest in the Clutter JV (the "Clutter Transaction"). As a result of the Clutter Transaction, we recognized a gain related to our contributed interest in the MakeSpace JV of approximately $35,800, which was recorded to Other, net, a component of Other expense (income), net during the year ended December 31, 2022.On June 29, 2023, in order to further expand our on-demand consumer storage business, we acquired 100% of the outstanding shares of Clutter Intermediate, Inc. and control of all assets of the Clutter JV (collectively, "Clutter") for total consideration of $60,600 (the "Clutter Acquisition"). Our previously held approximately 27% interest in the Clutter JV was remeasured to fair value at the closing date of the Clutter Acquisition. As a result, we recognized a loss of approximately $38,000 to Other, net, a component of Other expense (income), net, during the second quarter of 2023. The financial results of the Clutter JV are now consolidated within our Global RIM Business segment. In October 2023, we sold 15% of the equity interests in Clutter to certain former stakeholders of the Clutter JV for a total consideration of $7,500, which represents the fair value attributable to these interests, which is included as a component of Redeemable Noncontrolling Interests on our Consolidated Balance Sheet at December 31, 2023.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K97Table of ContentsPart IVIRON MOUNTAIN INCORPORATEDNOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)DECEMBERÂ 31, 2024(In thousands, except share and per share data)3. At closing, we paid $748,846 and acquired $30,720 of cash on hand, for a net purchase price of $718,126 for the ITRenew Transaction. The acquisition agreement includes a deferred purchase obligation that provides us the option to purchase, and provides the shareholders of ITRenew the option to sell, the remaining approximately 20% interest in ITRenew as follows: (i) approximately 16% on or after the second anniversary of the ITRenew Transaction and (ii) approximately 4% on or after the third anniversary of the ITRenew Transaction (collectively, the "Remaining Interests"). The total payments for the Remaining Interests, based on the achievement of certain targeted performance metrics, will be no less than $200,000 and no more than $531,000. The accounting for business combinations requires estimates and judgments regarding expectations for future cash flows of the acquired business, and the allocations of those cash flows to identifiable tangible and intangible assets, in determining the assets acquired and liabilities assumed. The fair values assigned to tangible and intangible assets acquired and liabilities assumed, including contingent consideration, are based on managementâ€™s best estimates and assumptions, as well as other information compiled by management, including valuations that utilize customary valuation procedures and techniques.Â The estimates and assumptions underlying the initial valuations are subject to the collection of information necessary to complete the valuations within the measurement periods, which are up to one year from the respective acquisition dates.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K99Table of ContentsPart IVIRON MOUNTAIN INCORPORATEDNOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)DECEMBERÂ 31, 2024(In thousands, except share and per share data)3. ACQUISITIONS (CONTINUED)As the valuation of certain assets and liabilities for purposes of purchase price allocations are preliminary in nature, they are subject to adjustment as additional information is obtained about the facts and circumstances regarding these assets and liabilities that existed at the acquisition date.Â The preliminary purchase price allocations that are not finalized as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 relate to the final assessment of the fair values of property, plant and equipment and intangible assets associated with the acquisitions we closed during the year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024. Any adjustments to our estimates of purchase price allocation will be made in the periods in which the adjustments are determined and the cumulative effect of such adjustments will be calculated as if the adjustments had been completed as of the acquisition dates. Purchase price allocation adjustments recorded during the fourth quarter of 2024 and year ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024 were not material to our balance sheet or results from operations.4. DECONSOLIDATIONOn March 24, 2022, as a result of our loss of control, we deconsolidated the businesses included in our acquisition of OSG Records Management (Europe) Limited, excluding Ukraine (the "OSG Deconsolidation"). We recognized a loss of approximately $105,800 associated with the deconsolidation to Other expense (income), net in the first quarter of 2022 representing the difference between the net asset value prior to the deconsolidation and the subsequent remeasurement of the retained investment to a fair value of zero. We have concluded that the deconsolidation does not meet the criteria to be reported as discontinued operations in our consolidated financial statements, as it does not represent a strategic shift that will have a major effect on our operations and financial results.5. The Revolving Credit Facility and the Term Loan A are scheduled to mature on March 18, 2030, at which point all obligations become due. The Term Loan A, which was fully drawn as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, is to be paid in quarterly installments in an amount equal to approximately $2,700 per quarter. The Term Loan B due 2031 is scheduled to mature on January 31, 2031, at which point all obligations become due. The Term Loan B due 2031, which was fully drawn as of December 31, 2024, is to be paid in quarterly installments in an amount equal to approximately $4,700 per quarter.IMI and certain subsidiaries of IMI that represent the substantial majority of our operations in the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom guarantee all obligations under the Credit Agreement. The interest rate on borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility varies depending on our choice of interest rate benchmark and currency options, plus an applicable margin, which varies based on our consolidated leverage ratio. The Term Loan A bears interest at the SOFR plus 1.75%. The Term Loan B due 2026 bore interest at the synthetic LIBOR rate plus 1.75% until its extinguishment in August 2024. Additionally, the Credit Agreement requires the payment of a commitment fee on the unused portion of the Revolving Credit Facility, which fee ranges from 0.2% to 0.3% based on our consolidated leverage ratio. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we had $121,000, $216,016 and $1,850,698 outstanding under the Revolving Credit Facility, Term Loan A and the Term Loan B due 2031, respectively. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we had various outstanding letters of credit totaling $7,766 under the Revolving Credit Facility. The remaining amount available for borrowing under the Revolving Credit Facility as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, which is based on IMIâ€™s leverage ratio, the last 12 months' earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization and rent expense ("EBITDAR"), other adjustments as defined in the Credit Agreement and current external debt, was $2,621,234 (which amount represents the maximum availability as of such date). Available borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility are subject to compliance with our indenture covenants as discussed below. The weighted average interest rate in effect under the Revolving Credit Facility as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 was 6.3%. The interest rates in effect under the Term Loan A as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023 were 6.1% and 7.2%, respectively. The interest rate in effect under the Term Loan B due 2026 as of DecemberÂ 31, 2023 was 5.2%. ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE SECURITIZATION PROGRAM We participate in an accounts receivable securitization program (the "Accounts Receivable Securitization Program") involving several of our wholly-owned subsidiaries and certain financial institutions. Under the Accounts Receivable Securitization Program, certain of our subsidiaries sell substantially all of their United States accounts receivable balances to our wholly-owned special purpose entities, Iron Mountain Receivables QRS, LLC and Iron Mountain Receivables TRS, LLC (the "Accounts Receivable Securitization Special Purpose Subsidiaries"). The Accounts Receivable Securitization Special Purpose Subsidiaries use the accounts receivable balances to collateralize loans obtained from certain financial institutions. The Accounts Receivable Securitization Special Purpose Subsidiaries are consolidated subsidiaries of IMI. The Accounts Receivable Securitization Program is accounted for as a collateralized financing activity, rather than a sale of assets, and therefore: (i) accounts receivable balances pledged as collateral are presented as assets and borrowings are presented as liabilities on our Consolidated Balance Sheets, (ii) our Consolidated Statements of Operations reflect the associated charges for bad debt expense related to pledged accounts receivable (a component of selling, general and administrative expenses) and reductions to revenue due to billing and service related credit memos issued to customers and related reserves, as well as interest expense associated with the collateralized borrowings and (iii) receipts from customers related to the underlying accounts receivable are reflected as operating cash flows and borrowings and repayments under the collateralized loans are reflected as financing cash flows within our Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows. Iron Mountain Information Management, LLC retains the responsibility of servicing the accounts receivable balances pledged as collateral for the Accounts Receivable Securitization Program and IMI provides a performance guaranty. The maximum availability allowed is limited by eligible accounts receivable, as defined under the terms of the Accounts Receivable Securitization Program.Â The Accounts Receivable Securitization Program is secured by a substantial majority of our net receivables in the United States.On June 14, 2024, we amended the Accounts Receivable Securitization Program to (i) increase the maximum borrowing capacity from $360,000 to $400,000 and (ii) extend the maturity date from July 1, 2025 to July 1, 2027, at which point all obligations become due. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, the amount outstanding under the Accounts Receivable Securitization Program was $400,000 and $358,500, respectively. The interest rate in effect under the Accounts Receivable Securitization Program was 5.6% and 6.4% as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively. CASH POOLINGCertain of our subsidiaries participate in cash pooling arrangements (the "Cash Pools") to help manage global liquidity requirements. We utilize the following Cash Pools: (i) two Cash Pools with ING Bank NV (doing business as Bank Mendes Gans), one of which we use to manage global liquidity requirements for our qualified REIT subsidiaries ("QRSs") and the other for our taxable REIT subsidiaries ("TRSs"), (ii) two Cash Pools with JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("JPM"), one of which we use to manage liquidity requirements for our QRSs in the Asia Pacific region and the other for our TRSs in the Asia Pacific region and (iii) two Cash Pools with JPM, one of which we use to manage liquidity requirements for our QRSs in the Europe, Middle East, and Africa regions and the other for our TRSs in the Europe, Middle East, and Africa regions. Under each of the Cash Pools, cash deposited by participating subsidiaries with certain financial institutions is pledged as security against the debit balances of other participating subsidiaries with legal rights of offset provided to the financial institutions. Therefore, such amounts are presented in our Consolidated Balance Sheets on a net basis. Each subsidiary receives interest on the cash balances held on deposit or pays interest on its debit balances based on an applicable rate as defined in the Cash Pools.The net cash position balances as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023 are reflected as Cash and cash equivalents in our Consolidated Balance Sheets. LETTERS OF CREDITAs of DecemberÂ 31, 2024, we had outstanding letters of credit totaling $64,147, of which $7,766 reduce our borrowing capacity under the Revolving Credit Facility (as described above). The letters of credit expire at various dates between March 2025 and May 2027.I. DEBT COVENANTSThe Credit Agreement, our bond indentures and other agreements governing our indebtedness contain certain restrictive financial and operating covenants, including covenants that restrict our ability to complete acquisitions, pay cash dividends, incur indebtedness, make investments, sell assets and take other specified corporate actions. The covenants do not contain a rating trigger. Therefore, a change in our debt rating would not trigger a default under the Credit Agreement, our bond indentures or other agreements governing our indebtedness. The Credit Agreement requires that we satisfy a net total lease adjusted leverage ratio and a fixed charge coverage ratio on a quarterly basis, and our bond indentures require that, among other things, we satisfy a leverage ratio (not lease adjusted) or a fixed charge coverage ratio (not lease adjusted), as a condition to taking actions such as paying dividends and incurring indebtedness. The Credit Agreement uses EBITDAR-based calculations and the bond indentures use earnings before income, taxes, depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA") based calculations as the primary measures of financial performance for purposes of calculating leverage and fixed charge coverage ratios. The EBITDAR- and EBITDA-based leverage calculations include our consolidated subsidiaries, other than those we have designated as "Unrestricted Subsidiaries" as defined in the Credit Agreement and bond indentures. Generally, the Credit Agreement and the bond indentures use a trailing four fiscal quarter basis for purposes of the relevant calculations and require certain adjustments and exclusions for purposes of those calculations, which make the calculation of financial performance under the Credit Agreement and bond indentures not directly comparable to Adjusted EBITDA as presented herein. We are in compliance with our leverage and fixed charge coverage ratios under the Credit Agreement, our bond indentures and other agreements governing our indebtedness as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024. Noncompliance with these leverage and fixed charge coverage ratios would have a material adverse effect on our financial condition and liquidity.J. SELF-INSURED LIABILITIESWe are self-insured up to certain limits for costs associated with workersâ€™ compensation claims, vehicle accidents, property and general business liabilities and benefits paid under employee healthcare and short-term disability programs. At DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, there were approximately $45,200 and $42,500, respectively, of self-insurance accruals reflected in Accrued expenses on our Consolidated Balance Sheets. The measurement of these costs requires the consideration of historical cost experience and judgments about the present and expected levels of cost per claim. We account for these costs primarily through actuarial methods, which develop estimates of the undiscounted liability for claims incurred, including those claims incurred but not reported. These methods provide estimates of future claim costs based on claims incurred as of the balance sheet date.C. LITIGATIONâ€”GENERALWe are involved in litigation from time to time in the ordinary course of business, including litigation arising from damage to customer assets in our facilities caused by fires and other natural disasters. A portion of the defense and/or settlement costs associated with such litigation is covered by various commercial liability insurance policies purchased by us and, in limited cases, indemnification from third parties. Our policy is to establish reserves for loss contingencies when the losses are both probable and reasonably estimable. We record legal costs associated with loss contingencies as expenses in the period in which they are incurred. While the outcome of litigation is inherently uncertain, we do not believe any current litigation will have a material adverse effect on our consolidated financial condition, results of operations or cash flows. We have estimated a reasonably possible range for all loss contingencies and believe it is reasonably possible that we could incur aggregate losses in addition to amounts currently accrued for all matters up to an additional $11,000 over the next several years. As a REIT, we are generally permitted to deduct from our federal taxable income the dividends we pay to our stockholders. The income represented by such dividends is not subject to federal taxation at the entity level but is taxed, if at all, at the stockholder level. The income of our domestic TRSs, which hold our domestic operations that may not be REIT-compliant as currently operated and structured, is subject, as applicable, to federal and state corporate income tax. In addition, we and our subsidiaries continue to be subject to foreign income taxes in other jurisdictions in which we have business operations or a taxable presence, regardless of whether assets are held or operations are conducted through subsidiaries disregarded for federal income tax purposes or TRSs. We will also be subject to a separate corporate income tax on any gains recognized on the sale or disposition of any asset previously owned by a C corporation during a five-year period after the date we first owned the asset as a REIT asset that are attributable to "built-in gains" with respect to that asset on that date. We will also be subject to a built-in gains tax on our depreciation recapture recognized into income as a result of accounting method changes in connection with our acquisition activities. If we fail to remain qualified for taxation as a REIT, we will be subject to federal income tax at regular corporate income tax rates. Even if we remain qualified for taxation as a REIT, we may be subject to some federal, state, local and foreign taxes on our income and property in addition to taxes owed with respect to our TRS operations. In particular, while state income tax regimes often parallel the federal income tax regime for REITs, many states do not completely follow federal rules and some do not follow them at all.IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-K113Table of ContentsPart IVIRON MOUNTAIN INCORPORATEDNOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)DECEMBERÂ 31, 2024(In thousands, except share and per share data)10. As a REIT, substantially all of our income tax expense will be incurred based on the earnings generated by our foreign subsidiaries and our domestic TRSs. We provide for foreign withholding taxes on the undistributed earnings of our foreign TRSs because it is not our intention to reinvest the undistributed earnings of our foreign TRSs indefinitely outside the United States. As a REIT, future repatriation of incremental undistributed earnings of our foreign subsidiaries will not be subject to federal or state income tax.The OECD has issued proposals that change long-standing tax principles, including a global minimum tax rate of 15% ("Pillar Two"). While the United States has not enacted legislation to effectuate Pillar Two, Iron Mountain operates in many foreign jurisdictions that have enacted legislation to implement Pillar Two. Pillar Two is applicable for Iron Mountain beginning in 2024. Since we do not have material operations in jurisdictions with tax rates lower than the Pillar Two minimum, we are not expecting a material impact on our effective tax rate, corporate tax liabilities or cash tax liabilities. We continue to monitor United States and global legislative actions as well as administrative guidance related to Pillar Two for potential impacts.The evaluation of an uncertain tax position is a two-step process. The first step is a recognition process whereby we determine whether it is more likely than not that a tax position will be sustained upon examination, including resolution of any related appeals or litigation processes, based on the technical merits of the position. The second step is a measurement process whereby a tax position that meets the more likely than not recognition threshold is calculated to determine the amount of benefit to recognize in the financial statements. The tax position is measured as the largest amount of benefit that is greater than 50% likely of being realized upon ultimate settlement.We have elected to recognize interest and penalties associated with uncertain tax positions as a component of the provision (benefit) for income taxes in the accompanying Consolidated Statements of Operations. We recorded decreases of $375 and $2,557 and an increase of $90 for gross interest and penalties for the years ended DecemberÂ 31, 2024, 2023 and 2022, respectively. We had $3,558 and $4,183 accrued for the payment of interest and penalties as of DecemberÂ 31, 2024 and 2023, respectively.A summary of tax years that remain subject to examination by major tax jurisdictions is as follows:TAX YEARSTAX JURISDICTIONSee BelowUnited Statesâ€”Federal and State2021 to presentUnited Kingdom2016 to presentCanada116IRON MOUNTAIN 2024 FORM 10-KTable of ContentsPart IVIRON MOUNTAIN INCORPORATEDNOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (CONTINUED)DECEMBERÂ 31, 2024(In thousands, except share and per share data)10. The 2024, 2023 and 2022 tax years and net operating loss carryforwards utilized in these years remain subject to examination for United States federal tax purposes. The normal statute of limitations for state purposes is between three to five years. However, certain of our state statute of limitations remain open for periods longer than this when audits are in progress.We are subject to income taxes in the United States and numerous foreign jurisdictions. We are subject to examination by various tax authorities in jurisdictions in which we have business operations or a taxable presence. We regularly assess the likelihood of additional assessments by tax authorities and provide for these matters as appropriate. As of DecemberÂ 31, 2023, we had $23,570 of reserves related to uncertain tax positions, of which $20,488 and $3,082 is included in other long-term liabilities and deferred income taxes, respectively, in the accompanying Consolidated Balance Sheet. This instrument and the Customizing Information are collectively referred to as the â€œRestricted Stock Unit Agreement.â€WITNESSETH THAT:WHEREAS, the Company has instituted the Plan; andWHEREAS, the Compensation Committee (the â€œCommitteeâ€) has authorized the grant of restricted stock units (â€œRSUsâ€) with respect to shares of common stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company (â€œCommon Stockâ€) upon the terms and conditions set forth below and pursuant to the Plan, a copy of which is incorporated herein; andWHEREAS, the Participant acknowledges that the Participant has carefully read this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement and agrees, as provided in Section 18(a) below, that the terms and conditions of the Restricted Stock Unit Agreement reflect the entire understanding between the Participant and the Company regarding this restricted stock unit award (and the Participant has not relied upon any statement or promise other than the terms and conditions of the Restricted Stock Unit Agreement with respect to this restricted stock unit award);NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and the mutual covenants and agreements herein contained and for other good and valuable consideration the receipt and adequacy of which are hereby acknowledged, the Company and the Participant agree as follows. For purposes of this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement, to the extent the Participant is not employed by the Company, â€œEmployerâ€ shall mean the subsidiary of the Company that employs or has otherwise engaged the Participant to perform services on its behalf.1.Grant. Subject to the terms of the Plan and this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement, the Company hereby grants to the Participant that number of RSUs equal to the corresponding number of shares of Common Stock (the â€œUnderlying Sharesâ€) shown in the Customizing Information under â€œRestricted Stock Units Granted.â€2.Vesting.(a)In General. If the Participant remains in an employment, contractual or other service relationship with the Company or a subsidiary of the Company (â€œRelationshipâ€) as 1Version 6 â€“ Restricted Stock Unit Agreement 2/4/2025of a â€œVesting Date,â€ as specified in the Customizing Information, and the Participant as of such date is not in violation of any confidentiality, inventions, non-solicitation and/or non-competition agreement with the Company (to the extent such agreement is permitted under applicable law), all or a portion, as applicable (the â€œIncremental Amount,â€ as specified in the Customizing Information), of the RSUs shall vest on such date. For the avoidance of doubt, except as otherwise provided pursuant to the terms of the Plan and Sections 2(b), 2(c) or 2(d) of this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement, if the Participantâ€™s Relationship is terminated for any reason, whether voluntarily or involuntarily, no RSUs granted pursuant to this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement shall vest under any circumstances on and after the date of such termination.(b)Retirement Vesting. Notwithstanding Section 2(a), if the Participantâ€™s Relationship terminates on account of Retirement (as defined below) on or after the sixth (6th) month anniversary of the Grant Date, the RSUs shall continue to vest on the schedule shown in the Customizing Information, provided the Participant continues to comply with any confidentiality, inventions, non-solicitation and/or non-competition agreement with the Company (to the extent such agreement is permitted under applicable law). Notwithstanding any other provision in this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement, Retirement-eligible employees are entitled to Retirement treatment even if separated as a result of the death or disability of the Participant. (c)Death or Disability Vesting. Notwithstanding Section 2(a), if the Participantâ€™s Relationship terminates as a result of the Participantâ€™s disability (as determined by the Board on the basis of medical advice satisfactory to it) or death, the Participantâ€™s Vesting Date shall be the date of termination and the Participant shall be fully vested in the Participantâ€™s RSUs, provided the Participant is not as of the date of delivery, or was not as of the date of death, in violation of any confidentiality, inventions, non-solicitation and/or non-competition agreement with the Company (to the extent such agreement is permitted under applicable law).(d)Committee Discretion. In the event the Participantâ€™s Relationship is terminated for any reason (whether voluntary or involuntary), (i) the Participantâ€™s right to vest in the RSU will, except as provided in Section 9(c) of the Plan or otherwise explicitly in Sections 2(b) or 2(c) of this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement or as provided by the Committee, terminate as of the date of the termination of the Relationship (and will not be extended by any notice period, e.g., a period of â€œgarden leaveâ€ or similar period mandated under local law) and (ii) the Committee shall have the exclusive discretion to determine when the Relationship has terminated for purposes of this RSU (including when the Participant is no longer considered to be providing active service while on a leave of absence).(e)Retirement. â€œRetirementâ€ means termination of the Participantâ€™s Relationship after the Participant has attained age fifty-five (55), has five (5) Years of Credited Service and has a combined age and Years of Credited Service of at least sixty-five (65). â€œYears of Credited Serviceâ€ shall mean the Participantâ€™s years of total adjusted service with the Company, calculated from the Participantâ€™s initial hire date with the Company (or any predecessor business acquired by the Company) and without regard to any lapses in active employment while employed by the Company, such as approved leaves of absences.(f)EU Age Discrimination Rules. If the Participant is a local national of and employed in a country that is a member of the European Union, the grant of the RSUs and the terms and conditions governing the RSUs are intended to comply with the age discrimination provisions of the EU Equal Treatment Framework Directive, as implemented into local law (the â€œAge Discrimination Rulesâ€). To the extent that a court or tribunal of competent jurisdiction determines that any provision of this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement are invalid or unenforceable, in whole or in part, under the Age Discrimination Rules, the Company, in its sole discretion, shall have the power and authority to revise or strike such provision to the minimum extent necessary to make it valid and enforceable to the full extent permitted under local law.23.Dividend Equivalents. A Participant shall be credited with dividend equivalents equal to the dividends the Participant would have received if the Participant had been the actual record owner of the Underlying Shares on each dividend record date on or after the Grant Date and through the date the Participant receives a settlement pursuant to Section 4 below (the â€œDividend Equivalentâ€). If a dividend on the Stock is payable wholly or partially in Stock, the Dividend Equivalent representing that portion shall be in the form of additional RSUs, credited on a one-for-one basis. If a dividend on the Stock is payable wholly or partially in cash, the Dividend Equivalent representing that portion shall also be in the form of cash and a Participant shall be treated as being credited with any cash dividends, without earnings, until settlement pursuant to Section 4 below. If a dividend on Stock is payable wholly or partially in other than cash or Stock, the Committee may, in its discretion, provide for such Dividend Equivalents with respect to that portion as it deems appropriate under the circumstances. Dividend Equivalents shall be subject to the same terms and conditions as the RSUs originally awarded pursuant to this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement, and they shall vest (or, if applicable, be forfeited) as if they had been granted at the same time as the original RSU. Dividend Equivalents representing the cash portion of a dividend on Stock shall be settled in cash.4.Delivery of Underlying Shares or Cash Settlement.(a)With respect to any RSUs that become vested RSUs as of a Vesting Date pursuant to Section 2, the Company shall issue and deliver to the Participant as soon as practicable following the applicable Vesting Date (a) the number of Underlying Shares equal to the number of RSUs vesting on that date or an amount of cash equal to the Fair Market Value, as defined in the Plan, of such Underlying Shares as of that date (or such later delivery date, if applicable) and (b) the amount (and in the form) due with respect to the Dividend Equivalents applicable to such Underlying Shares. Whether Underlying Shares, or the cash value thereof, shall be issued or paid at settlement shall be determined based on the â€œForm of Settlementâ€ specified in the Customizing Information.(b)Any shares issued pursuant to this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement shall be issued, without issue or transfer tax, by (i) delivering a stock certificate or certificates for such shares out of theretofore authorized but unissued shares or treasury shares of its Stock as the Company may elect or (ii) issuance of shares of its Stock in book entry form; provided, however, that the time of such delivery may be postponed by the Company for such period as may be required for it with reasonable diligence to comply with any applicable requirements of law. Notwithstanding the preceding provisions of this Section 4, delivery of Underlying Shares shall be made, or the amount of cash equivalent thereto shall be paid, only if the required purchase price designated as the â€œPurchase Priceâ€ shown in the Customizing Information per underlying RSU is paid to the Company by means of payment acceptable to the Company in accordance with the terms of the Plan. If the Participant fails to pay for or accept delivery of all of the shares, the right to shares of Stock provided pursuant to this RSU may be terminated by the Company.5.Responsibility for Taxes. (a)The Participant acknowledges that, regardless of any action taken by the Company or the Employer, the ultimate liability for all income tax (including federal, state, local and non-US tax), social insurance, payroll tax, fringe benefits tax, payment on account or other tax-related items related to the Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan and legally applicable to the Participant or deemed by the Company in its discretion to be an appropriate charge to the Participant even if legally applicable to the Company or the Employer (â€œTax-Related Itemsâ€) is and remains the Participantâ€™s responsibility and may exceed the amount actually withheld, if any by the Company and/or the Employer. The Participant further acknowledges that the Company and/or the Employer (a) make no representations or undertakings regarding the treatment of any 3Tax-Related Items in connection with any aspect of the RSUs and Dividend Equivalents or the Underlying Shares, including, but not limited to, the grant, vesting or settlement of the RSUs, the subsequent sale of Underlying Shares acquired pursuant to such settlement and the receipt of any Dividend Equivalents; and (b) do not commit to and are under no obligation to structure the terms of the grant or any aspect of this RSUs to reduce or eliminate the Participantâ€™s liability for Tax-Related Items or to achieve any particular tax result. Further, if the Participant is subject to Tax-Related Items in more than one jurisdiction, the Participant acknowledges that the Company and/or the Employer (or former service recipient, as applicable) may be required to withhold or account for Tax-Related Items in more than one jurisdiction.(b)If the Participantâ€™s country of residence (and/or the country of employment, if different) requires withholding of Tax-Related Items, the Company may withhold any shares of Common Stock otherwise issuable upon vesting that have an aggregate Fair Market Value sufficient to pay the Tax-Related Items required to be withheld (or an equivalent cash amount, where the RSUs are settled in cash in the Companyâ€™s sole discretion). For purposes of the foregoing, no fractional shares of Stock will be withheld or issued pursuant to the grant of the RSUs. If the obligation for Tax-Related Items is satisfied by withholding shares of Stock or a portion of the cash proceeds (where the RSUs are settled in cash in the Companyâ€™s sole discretion), for tax purposes, the Participant shall be deemed to have been issued the full number of shares of Stock (or the gross amount of the cash payment), notwithstanding that a number of shares of Common Stock (or a portion of cash proceeds) are withheld solely for the purpose of satisfying any withholding obligations for the Tax-Related Items due as a result of any aspect of the Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan. In addition, where the RSUs are settled in shares of Common Stock, the Company may, on behalf of the Participant, sell a sufficient number of whole shares of Common Stock issued upon vesting of the RSUs having an aggregate Fair Market Value that would satisfy the withholding amount. Alternatively, the Company or the Employer may, in its discretion and subject to applicable law, withhold any amount necessary to pay the Tax-Related Items from the Participantâ€™s regular salary/wages or other amounts payable to the Participant, with no withholding of shares of Common Stock or cash proceeds payable upon vesting, or may require the Participant to submit payment equivalent to the minimum Tax-Related Items required to be withheld by means of certified check, cashierâ€™s check or wire transfer. In the event the withholding requirements for Tax-Related Items are not satisfied through one of the foregoing methods, no shares of Common Stock will be released to the Participant (or the Participantâ€™s estate) upon vesting of the RSUs (or no cash payment will be made where the RSUs are settled in cash in the Companyâ€™s sole discretion) unless and until satisfactory arrangements (as determined by the Company in its sole discretion) have been made by the Participant with respect to the payment of any such Tax-Related Items. By accepting the RSUs, the Participant expressly consents to the withholding methods for Tax-Related Items as provided hereunder and/or any other methods of withholding that the Company or the Employer may take and are permitted under the Plan to meet the withholding and/or other requirements as provided under applicable laws, rules and regulations. All Tax-Related Items related to the RSUs shall be the sole responsibility of the Participant.(c)The Company may withhold or account for Tax-Related Items by considering statutory withholding amounts or other withholding rates, including up to the maximum rate applicable in the Participantâ€™s jurisdiction(s). If the maximum rate is used, the Participant may receive a refund of any over-withheld amount in cash from the Company or the Employer and will have no entitlement to the equivalent amount in Common Stock or, if not refunded, the Participant may be able to seek a refund from the local tax authorities. Further, if the obligation for the Tax-Related Items is satisfied by withholding in Underlying Shares, for tax purposes, the Participant will be deemed to have been issued the full number of Underlying Shares subject to the vested RSUs, notwithstanding that a number of the Underlying Shares are held back solely for the purpose of paying the Tax-Related Items due as a result of any aspect of the Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan.46.Non-assignability of RSUs and Dividend Equivalents. RSUs and Dividend Equivalents shall not be assignable or transferable by the Participant except by will or by the applicable laws of descent and distribution or as permitted by the Committee in its discretion pursuant to the terms of the Plan. During the life of the Participant, delivery of shares of Stock or payment of cash as settlement of RSUs and Dividend Equivalents shall be made only to the Participant, to a conservator or guardian duly appointed for the Participant by reason of the Participantâ€™s incapacity or to the person appointed by the Participant in a durable power of attorney acceptable to the Companyâ€™s counsel.7.Compliance with Securities Act; Lock-Up Agreement. The Company shall not be obligated to sell or issue any Underlying Shares or other securities in settlement of RSUs and Dividend Equivalents hereunder unless the shares of Stock or other securities are at that time effectively registered or exempt from registration under the Securities Act and applicable federal, state, local, provincial or foreign securities, exchange control and other laws and in compliance with all applicable requirements of any stock exchange or national market system in which the Stock may be listed. In the event shares or other securities shall be issued that shall not be so registered, the Participant hereby represents, warrants and agrees that the Participant will receive such shares or other securities for investment and not with a view to their resale or distribution, and will execute an appropriate investment letter satisfactory to the Company and its counsel. The Participant further hereby agrees that as a condition to the settlement of RSUs and Dividend Equivalents, the Participant will execute an agreement in a form acceptable to the Company to the effect that the shares shall be subject to any underwriterâ€™s lock-up agreement in connection with a public offering of any securities of the Company that may from time to time apply to shares held by officers and employees of the Company, and such agreement or a successor agreement must be in full force and effect.8.Legends. The Participant hereby acknowledges that the stock certificate or certificates (or entries in the case of book entry form) evidencing shares of Stock or other securities issued pursuant to any settlement of an RSU or Dividend Equivalent hereunder may bear a legend (or provide a restriction) setting forth the restrictions on their transferability described in Section 7 hereof, if such restrictions are then in effect.9.Rights as Stockholder. The Participant shall have no rights as a stockholder with respect to any RSUs, Dividend Equivalents or Underlying Shares until the date of issuance of a stock certificate (or appropriate entry is made in the case of book entry form) for Underlying Shares and any Dividend Equivalents. Except as provided by Section 3, no adjustment shall be made for any rights for which the record date is prior to the date such stock certificate is issued (or appropriate entry is made in the case of book entry form), except to the extent the Committee so provides, pursuant to the terms of the Plan and upon such terms and conditions it may establish.10.Effect Upon Employment and Performance of Services. Nothing in this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement or the Plan shall be construed to impose any obligation upon the Company or any subsidiary to employ or utilize the services of the Participant or to retain the Participant in its employ or to engage or retain the services of the Participant.11.Time for Acceptance. Unless the Participant shall evidence acceptance of this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement by electronic or other means prescribed by the Committee within sixty (60) days after its delivery, the RSUs and Dividend Equivalents shall be null and void (unless waived by the Committee).12.Breach of Restrictive Covenants. In the event that the Participant breaches any confidentiality, inventions, non-solicitation and/or non-competition agreement with the Company and such agreement is permitted by applicable laws, and such agreement is permitted by 5applicable laws, (i) the Participant shall forfeit (and shall not vest in) all RSU awards to the extent that stock certificates (or appropriate entry in the case of book entry form), cash or other property, as applicable, have not yet been delivered with respect to any RSU and (ii) the Participant shall pay to the Company an amount equal to the excess of the Fair Market Value of the Underlying Shares as of the date of settlement (whether settled in cash or Stock) over the Purchase Price, if any, paid (or deemed paid) together with the value of any Dividend Equivalents; provided, however, that the Committee in its discretion may release the Participant from the requirement to make such payment, if the Committee determines that the Participantâ€™s breach of such agreement is not inimical to the best interests of the Company. In accordance with applicable law, the Company may deduct the amount of payment due under the preceding sentence from any compensation or other amount payable by the Company to the Participant. For purposes of this Section 12, the term â€œCompanyâ€ refers to the Company as defined in the last sentence of Section 1 of the Plan.13.Section 409A of the Internal Revenue Code. The RSUs and Dividend Equivalents granted hereunder are intended to avoid the potential adverse tax consequences to the Participant of Section 409A of the Code and the Committee may make such modifications to this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement as it deems necessary or advisable to avoid such adverse tax consequences. If and to the extent that the RSUs and Dividend Equivalents are subject to Section 409A, in addition to the provisions of Section 12(f) of the Plan, any payment upon termination of the Relationship shall be made only upon a â€œseparation from serviceâ€ under Section 409A, and the Participant may not directly or indirectly designate the calendar year of a payment.14.Electronic Delivery and Participation. The Company may, in its sole discretion, decide to deliver any documents related to current or future participation in the Plan by electronic means or to request the Participantâ€™s consent to participate in the Plan by electronic means. The Participant consents to receive such documents by electronic delivery and agrees to participate in the Plan through an on-line or electronic system established and maintained by the Company or a third party designated by the Company.15.Company Clawback Policy; Recoupment Requirements. This RSU shall be subject to any applicable clawback or recoupment policies, share trading policies, corporate governance standards and other policies that may be implemented by the Board from time to time, in accordance with applicable law. Notwithstanding anything in this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement to the contrary, the Participant acknowledges and agrees that this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement and the award described herein are (a) subject to the terms and conditions of the Companyâ€™s clawback or similar compensation recoupment policy as may be in effect from time to time, and (b) subject to deduction, recoupment or forfeiture to the extent required to comply with any recoupment requirement imposed under applicable laws, rules, regulations or stock exchange listing standards, any of which could in certain circumstances require repayment or forfeiture of the RSUs or other cash or property received with respect to the RSUs (including any value received from a disposition of the RSUs). In order to satisfy any recoupment obligations arising under the Companyâ€™s compensation clawback policy or otherwise under applicable laws, rules, regulations or stock exchange listing standards, among other things, the Participant expressly and explicitly authorizes the Company to issue instructions on the Participantâ€™s behalf to any brokerage firm or stock plan service provider engaged by the Company to hold any shares of Stock or other amounts acquired pursuant to the RSUs to re-convey, transfer or otherwise return such shares and/or other amounts to the Company upon the Companyâ€™s enforcement of the compensation clawback or similar policy or any other recoupment obligations.616.Nature of Award. By accepting this RSU, the Participant acknowledges, understands and agrees that:(a)the Plan is established voluntarily by the Company, is discretionary in nature and may be modified, amended, suspended or terminated by the Company at any time, to the extent permitted by the Plan and this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement;(b)the grant of this RSU is exceptional, voluntary and occasional and does not create any contractual or other right to receive future awards under the Plan or benefits in lieu of Plan awards, even if RSUs or other Plan awards have been granted in the past;(c)all decisions with respect to future RSU awards will be at the sole discretion of the Committee;(d)the Participant is voluntarily participating in the Plan;(e)the future value of the Underlying Shares is unknown and cannot be predicted with certainty;(f)if the Participant resides and/or works outside the United States, the following additional provisions shall apply: (i)this RSU, including any Dividend Equivalents, the Underlying Shares, and the income from and value of same are not intended to replace any pension rights or compensation;(ii)this RSU, including any Dividend Equivalents, the

Underlying Shares, and the income from and value of same, do not constitute compensation of any kind for services of any kind rendered to the Company and/or any subsidiary thereof and are outside the scope of the Participantâ€™s employment contract, if any;(iii)this RSU, including any Dividend Equivalents, any Underlying Shares, and the income from and value of same are not part of normal or expected compensation or salary, including, but not limited to, for purposes of calculating any severance, resignation, termination, redundancy, dismissal, end-of-service payments, bonuses, service awards, pension or retirement or welfare benefits or similar payments unless such other arrangement explicitly provides to the contrary;(iv)no claim or entitlement to compensation or damages shall arise from forfeiture of the RSU, including any Dividend Equivalents, resulting from the Participantâ€™s termination of the Relationship (for any reason and whether or not later found to be invalid or in breach of employment laws in the jurisdiction where the Participant is employed or the terms of the Participantâ€™s employment or service agreement, if any) or enforcement of any applicable clawback policy or recoupment requirements applicable to the RSUs or Underlying Shares or other benefits or payments relating to the RSUs.(v)the Company shall not be liable for any foreign exchange rate fluctuation between the Participantâ€™s local currency and the United States dollar that may affect the value of this RSU or any amounts due pursuant to the settlement of the RSU or the subsequent sale of any Underlying Shares acquired upon settlement.717.Country-Specific Provisions; Imposition of Other Requirements. (a)Notwithstanding any provision in this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement, this RSU shall be subject to any special terms and conditions set forth in any Appendix to this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement for the Participantâ€™s country of residence (and country of employment, if different). Moreover, if the Participant relocates to or otherwise becomes subject to the laws, rules and/or regulations of one of the countries included in the Appendix, the additional or different terms and conditions for such country will apply to the Participant, to the extent the Company determines that the application of such terms and conditions is necessary or advisable for legal or administrative reasons and provided the imposition of the term or condition will not result in any adverse accounting expense with respect to the RSUs (or the Company may establish alternative terms and conditions as may be necessary or advisable to accommodate the Participantâ€™s transfer). The Appendix constitutes part of this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement.(b)The Company reserves the right to impose other requirements on the Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan, on the RSUs and on any Underlying Shares to the extent the Company determines it is necessary or advisable for legal or administrative reasons and provided the imposition of the term or condition will not result in any adverse accounting expense to the Company, and to require the Participant to sign any additional agreements or undertakings that may be necessary to accomplish the foregoing.18.General Provisions.(a)Amendment; Waivers. This Restricted Stock Unit Agreement, including the Plan, contains the full and complete understanding and agreement of the parties hereto as to the subject matter hereof, and except as otherwise permitted by the express terms of the Plan and this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement and applicable law, it may not be modified or amended nor may any provision hereof be waived without a further written agreement duly signed by each of the parties; provided, however, that a modification or amendment that does not materially diminish the rights of the Participant hereunder, as they may exist immediately before the effective date of the modification or amendment, shall be effective upon written notice of its provisions to the Participant, to the extent permitted by applicable law. The waiver by either of the parties hereto of any provision hereof in any instance shall not operate as a waiver of any other provision hereof or in any other instance. The Participant shall have the right to receive, upon request, a written confirmation from the Company of the Customizing Information.(b)Binding Effect. This Restricted Stock Unit Agreement shall inure to the benefit of and be binding upon the parties hereto and their respective heirs, executors, administrators, representatives, successors and assigns.(c)Fractional RSUs, Underlying Shares and Dividend Equivalents. All fractional Underlying Shares and Dividend Equivalents settled in Stock resulting from the application of the Vesting Schedule or the adjustment provisions contained in the Plan shall be rounded down to the nearest whole share. If cash in lieu of Underlying Shares is delivered at settlement, or Dividend Equivalents are settled in cash, the amount paid shall be rounded down to the nearest penny.(d)Governing Law and Venue. This Restricted Stock Unit Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, without regard to the principles of conflicts of law. Unless the Participant is subject to a mutual agreement to arbitrate with the Company, the Participant agrees to institute any legal action or legal proceeding relating to the Restricted Stock Unit Agreement or the Plan in Boston Municipal Court, Massachusetts, or in federal court in Boston, Massachusetts, United States of America, and no other courts, where this grant is made and/or to be performed. The 8Participant agrees to submit to the jurisdiction of and agrees that venue is proper in the aforesaid courts in any such action or proceeding and waives, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any objection that the laying of venue of any legal or equitable proceedings related to, concerning or arising from such dispute which is brought in any such court is improper or that such proceedings have been brought in an inconvenient forum. (e)Construction. This Restricted Stock Unit Agreement is to be construed in accordance with the terms of the Plan. In case of any conflict between the Plan and this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement, the Plan shall control. The titles of the sections of this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement and of the Plan are included for convenience only and shall not be construed as modifying or affecting their provisions. Capitalized terms not defined herein shall have the meanings given to them in the Plan. (f)Language. The Participant acknowledges that the Participant is sufficiently proficient in English or has consulted with an advisor who is sufficiently proficient in English, so as to understand the terms and conditions of the Restricted Stock Unit Agreement. The Company is located in the United States of America and grants RSUs under the Plan to employees of the Company and its subsidiaries in its sole discretion. In conjunction with the Companyâ€™s grant of the RSUs under the Plan and its ongoing administration of such awards, the Company is providing the following information about its data collection, processing and transfer practices (â€œPersonal Data Activitiesâ€). In accepting the grant of the RSUs, the Participant expressly and explicitly consents to the Personal Data Activities as described herein. (i)Data Collection, Processing and Usage. The Company collects, processes and uses the Participantâ€™s personal data, including the Participantâ€™s name, home address, email address, and telephone number, date of birth, social insurance/passport number or other identification number (e.g. resident registration number), salary, citizenship, job title, any shares of Common Stock or directorships held in the Company, and details of all RSUs or any other equity compensation awards granted, canceled, exercised, vested, or outstanding in the Participantâ€™s favor, which the Company receives from the Participant or the Employer (â€œPersonal Informationâ€). In granting the RSUs under the Plan, the Company will collect the Participantâ€™s Personal Information for purposes of allocating shares of Common Stock and implementing, administering and managing the Plan. The Companyâ€™s legal basis for the collection, processing and usage of the Participantâ€™s Personal Information is the Participantâ€™s consent.(ii)Stock Plan Administration Service Provider. The Company transfers the Participantâ€™s Personal Information to Fidelity Stock Plan Services LLC, an independent service provider based in the United States, which assists the Company with the implementation, administration and management of the Plan (the â€œStock Plan Administratorâ€). In the future, the Company may select a different Stock Plan Administrator and share the Participantâ€™s Personal Information with another company that serves in a similar manner. The Stock Plan Administrator will open an account for the Participant to receive and trade shares of Common Stock acquired under the Plan. The Participant will be asked to agree on separate terms and data processing practices with the Stock Plan Administrator, which is a condition to the Participantâ€™s ability to participate in the Plan. (iii)International Data Transfers. The Company and the Stock Plan Administrator are based in the United States. The Participant should note that the Participantâ€™s country of residence may have enacted data privacy laws that are different from the United 9States. The Companyâ€™s legal basis for the transfer of the Participantâ€™s Personal Information to the United States is the Participantâ€™s consent.(iv)Voluntariness and Consequences of Consent Denial or Withdrawal. The Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan and the Participantâ€™s grant of consent is purely voluntary. The Participant may deny or withdraw the Participantâ€™s consent at any time. If the Participant does not consent, or if the Participant later withdraws the Participantâ€™s consent, the Participant may be unable to participate in the Plan. This would not affect the Participantâ€™s existing employment or salary; instead, the Participant merely may forfeit the opportunities associated with the Plan.(v)Data Subject Rights. The Participant may have a number of rights under the data privacy laws in the Participantâ€™s country of residence. For example, the Participantâ€™s rights may include the right to (i) request access or copies of personal data the Company processes, (ii) request rectification of incorrect data, (iii) request deletion of data, (iv) place restrictions on processing, (v) lodge complaints with competent authorities in the Participantâ€™s country of residence, and/or (vi) request a list with the names and addresses of any potential recipients of the Participantâ€™s Personal Information. To receive clarification regarding the Participantâ€™s rights or to exercise the Participantâ€™s rights, the Participant should contact the Participantâ€™s local human resources department.(h)No Advice Regarding Grant. The Company is not providing any tax, legal or financial advice, nor is the Company making any recommendations regarding the Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan, or the Participantâ€™s acquisition of sale of Underlying Shares. The Participant is hereby advised to consult with the Participantâ€™s own personal tax, legal and financial advisors regarding participation in the Plan before taking any action related to the Plan. (i)Severability. The provisions of this Restricted Stock Unit Agreement are severable and if any one or more provisions are determined to be illegal or otherwise unenforceable, in whole or in part, the remaining provisions shall nevertheless be binding and enforceable. (j)Legal and Tax Compliance; Cooperation. If the Participant resides or is employed outside of the United States, the Participant agrees, as a condition of the grant of the RSUs, to repatriate all payments attributable to the Underlying Shares and/or cash acquired under the Plan (including, but not limited to, dividends and any proceeds derived from the sale of Shares acquired pursuant to the RSUs) if required by and in accordance with local foreign exchange rules and regulations in the Participant â€˜s country of residence (and country of employment, if different). In addition, the Participant also agrees to take any and all actions, and consent to any and all actions taken by the Company and its subsidiaries, as may be required to allow the Company and its subsidiaries to comply with local laws, rules and regulations in the Participantâ€™s country of residence (and country of employment, if different). Finally, the Participant agrees to take any and all actions as may be required to comply with the Participantâ€™s personal legal and tax obligations under local laws, rules and regulations in the Participant â€˜s country of residence (and country of employment, if different).(k)Private Offering. The grant of the RSUs is not intended to be a public offering of securities in the Participantâ€™s country of residence (and country of employment, if different). The Company has not submitted any registration statement, prospectus or other filing with the local securities authorities with respect to the grant of the RSUs (unless otherwise required under local law). No employee of the Company is permitted to advise the Participant on whether the Participant should acquire Underlying Shares under the Plan or provide the Participant with any legal, tax or financial advice with respect to the grant of the RSUs. Investment in shares of Common Stock involves a degree of risk. Before deciding to acquire 10Underlying Shares pursuant to the RSUs, the Participant should carefully consider all risk factors and tax considerations relevant to the acquisition of Shares under the Plan or the disposition of them. Further, the Participant should carefully review all of the materials related to the RSUs and the Plan, and the Participant should consult with the Participantâ€™s personal legal, tax and financial advisors for professional advice in relation to the Participantâ€™s personal circumstances.(l)Insider Trading/Market Abuse. Specified foreign property, including the RSUs, Underlying Shares, and other rights to receive shares of a non-Canadian company held by a Canadian resident generally must be reported annually on a Form T1135 (Foreign Income Verification Statement) if the total cost of the foreign property exceeds C$100,000 at any time during the year. Thus, the unvested portion of the RSUs must be reported â€“ generally at a nil cost â€“ if the C$100,000 cost threshold is exceeded because the Participant holds other specified foreign property. When Underlying Shares are acquired, their cost generally is the adjusted cost base (â€œACBâ€) of the Underlying Shares. Prior to its expiration and to the extent that the right to purchase shares of Stock has vested hereunder, this Option may be exercised in whole or in part from time to time by notice provided in a manner consistent with the requirements of Section 5(e) of the Plan, accompanied by payment in full of the Grant Price by means of payment acceptable to the Company in accordance with Section 5(f) of the Plan.As soon as practicable after its receipt of notice, the Company shall, without transfer or issue tax to the Participant (or other person entitled to exercise this Option), (i) deliver to the Participant (or other person entitled to exercise this Option), at the principal executive offices of the Company or such other place as shall be mutually acceptable, a stock certificate or certificates for such shares out of theretofore authorized but unissued shares or treasury shares of its Stock as the Company may elect or (ii) issue shares of its Stock in book entry form; provided, however, that the time of delivery or issuance may be postponed by the Company for such period as may be required for it with reasonable diligence to comply with any applicable requirements of law; and provided, further, that any shares delivered or issued shall remain subject to any applicable securities law or trading restrictions imposed pursuant to the terms of this Option Agreement and the Plan. If the Participant (or other person entitled to exercise this Option) fails to pay for and accept delivery of all of the shares specified in the notice upon tender of delivery thereof, his or her right to exercise this Option with respect to such shares not paid for may be terminated by the Company.5. Responsibility for Taxes. (a)The Participant acknowledges that, regardless of any action taken by the Company or the Employer, the ultimate liability for all income tax (including federal, state, local and non-US tax), social insurance, payroll tax, fringe benefits tax, payment on account or other tax-related items related to the Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan and legally applicable to the Participant or deemed by the Company in its discretion to be an appropriate charge to the Participant even if legally applicable to the Company or the Employer (â€œTax-Related Itemsâ€) is and remains the Participantâ€™s responsibility and may Â Â Â Â 3 exceed the amount actually withheld, if any by the Company and/or the Employer. The Participant further acknowledges that the Company and/or the Employer (a) make no representations or undertakings regarding the treatment of any Tax-Related Items in connection with any aspect of the Option or the Underlying Shares, including, but not limited to, the grant, vesting or exercise of the Option, and the subsequent sale of Underlying Shares acquired pursuant to such exercise; and (b) do not commit to and are under no obligation to structure the terms of the grant or any aspect of this Option to reduce or eliminate the Participantâ€™s liability for Tax-Related Items or to achieve any particular tax result. Further, if the Participant is subject to Tax-Related Items in more than one jurisdiction, the Participant acknowledges that the Company and/or the Employer (or former service recipient, as applicable) may be required to withhold or account for Tax-Related Items in more than one jurisdiction.(b)If the Participantâ€™s country of residence (and/or the country of employment, if different) requires withholding of Tax-Related Items, the Participant hereby agrees, as a condition to any exercise of this Option, to provide to the Company and/or the Employer, as applicable, an amount sufficient to satisfy withholding obligations for Tax-Related Items, if any, by (a) authorizing the Company and/or the Employer, as applicable, to withhold the Tax-Related Items from the Participantâ€™s cash compensation or (b) remitting the Tax-Related Items to the Company (or the Employer, as applicable) in cash; provided, however, that to the extent that the payment for Tax-Related Items is not provided by one or a combination of such methods, the Company or the Employer may, at its election withhold from the Stock that would otherwise be delivered upon exercise of this Option that number of shares having a Fair Market Value on the date of exercise sufficient to eliminate any deficiency in the Tax-Related items. By accepting the Option, the Participant expressly consents to the withholding methods for Tax-Related Items as provided hereunder and/or any other methods of withholding that the Company or the Employer may take and are permitted under the Plan to meet the withholding and/or other requirements as provided under applicable laws, rules and regulations. All Tax-Related Items related to the Option shall be the sole responsibility of the Participant.(c)The Company may withhold or account for Tax-Related Items by considering statutory withholding amounts or other withholding rates, including up to the maximum rate applicable in the Participantâ€™s jurisdiction(s). If the maximum rate is used, the Participant may receive a refund of any over-withheld amount in cash from the Company or the Employer and will have no entitlement to the equivalent amount in Stock or, if not refunded, the Participant may be able to seek a refund from the local tax authorities. Further, if the obligation for the Tax-Related Items is satisfied by withholding in Underlying Shares, for tax purposes, the Participant will be deemed to have been issued the full number of Underlying Shares subject to the exercised Option, notwithstanding that a number of the Underlying Shares are held back solely for the purpose of paying the Tax-Related Items due as a result of any aspect of the Participantâ€™s participation in the Plan.6. Non-assignability of Option. This Option shall not be assignable or transferable by the Participant except by will or by the laws of descent and distribution or as permitted by the Committee in its discretion pursuant to the terms of the Plan. During the life of the Participant, this Option shall be exercisable only by the Participant, by a conservator or guardian duly appointed for the Participant by reason of the Participantâ€™s incapacity or by the person appointed by the Participant in a durable power of attorney acceptable to the Companyâ€™s counsel.Â Â Â Â 4 7. Compliance with Securities Act; Lock-Up Agreement. The Company shall not be obligated to sell or issue any shares of Stock or other securities pursuant to the exercise of this Option unless the shares of Stock or other securities with respect to which this Option is being exercised are at that time effectively registered or exempt from registration under the Securities Act and applicable federal, state, local, provincial or foreign securities, exchange control and other laws and in compliance with all applicable requirements of any stock exchange or national market system on which the Stock may be listed. In the event shares or other securities shall be issued that shall not be so registered, the Participant hereby represents, warrants and agrees that the Participant will receive such shares or other securities for investment and not with a view to their resale or distribution, and will execute an appropriate investment letter satisfactory to the Company and its counsel. The Participant further hereby agrees that as a condition to the purchase of shares upon exercise of this Option, the Participant will execute an agreement in a form acceptable to the Company to the effect that the shares shall be subject to any underwriterâ€™s lock-up agreement in connection with a public offering of any securities of the Company that may from time to time apply to shares held by officers and employees of the Company, and such agreement or a successor agreement must be in full force and effect.8. Legends. The Participant hereby acknowledges that the stock certificate or certificates (or entries in the case of book entry form) evidencing shares of Stock or other securities issued pursuant to any exercise of this Option may bear a legend (or provide a restriction) setting forth the restrictions on their transferability described in Section 7 hereof, if such restrictions are then in effect.9. Rights as Stockholder. The Participant shall have no rights as a stockholder with respect to any shares covered by this Option until the date of issuance of a stock certificate (or appropriate entry is made in the case of book entry form) to the Participant for such shares. No adjustment shall be made for dividends or other rights for which the record date is prior to the date such stock certificate is issued (or appropriate entry is made in the case of book entry form).10. Effect Upon Employment and Performance of Services. Nothing in this Option or the Plan shall be construed to impose any obligation upon the Company or any subsidiary to employ or utilize the services of the Participant or to retain the Participant in its employ or to engage or retain the services of the Participant.11. Time for Acceptance. Unless the Participant shall evidence his or her acceptance of this Option by electronic or other means prescribed by the Committee within sixty (60) days after its delivery, the Option shall be null and void (unless waived by the Committee).12. Notice of Disqualifying Disposition. If the â€œGrant Typeâ€ shown in the Customizing Information indicates that the Option is an Incentive Stock Option, the Participant agrees to notify the Company promptly in the event that the Participant sells, transfers, exchanges or otherwise disposes of any shares of Stock issued upon exercise of the Option before the later of (a) the second anniversary of the date of grant of the Option and (b) the first anniversary of the date the shares were issued upon his or her exercise of the Option.Â Â Â Â 5 13. Breach of Restrictive Covenants. In the event that the Participant breaches any confidentiality, inventions, non-solicitation and/or non-competition agreement with the Company and such agreement is permitted by applicable laws, (i) the Participant shall forfeit (and shall not vest in) the Option and (ii) the Participant shall pay to the Company an amount equal to the excess of the Fair Market Value of the Stock as of the date of exercise over the price paid for such shares; provided, however, that the Committee in its discretion may release the Participant from the requirement to make such payment, if the Committee determines that the Participantâ€™s breach of such agreement is not inimical to the best interests of the Company. In accordance with applicable law, the Company may deduct the amount of payment due under the preceding sentence from any compensation or other amount payable by the Company to the Participant. For purposes of this Section 13, the term â€œCompanyâ€ refers to the Company as defined in the last sentence of Section 1 of the Plan.14. Electronic Delivery and Participation. The Company may, in its sole discretion, decide to deliver any documents related to current or future participation in the Plan by electronic means or request the Participantâ€™s consent to participate in the Plan by electronic means. The Participant consents to receive such documents by electronic delivery and agrees to participate in the Plan through an on-line or electronic system established and maintained by the Company or a third party designated by the Company.15. Company Clawback Policy; Recoupment Requirements. This Option shall be subject to any applicable clawback or recoupment policies, share trading policies, corporate governance standards and other policies that may be implemented by the Board from time to time, in accordance with applicable law. Notwithstanding anything in this Option Agreement to the contrary, the Participant acknowledges and agrees that this Option Agreement and the award described herein are (a) subject to the terms and conditions of the Companyâ€™s clawback or similar compensation recoupment policy as may be in effect from time to time, and (b) subject to deduction, recoupment or forfeiture to the extent required to comply with any recoupment requirement imposed under applicable laws, rules, regulations or stock exchange listing standards, any of which could in certain circumstances require repayment or forfeiture of the Option or other cash or property received with respect to the Option (including any value received from a disposition of the Option). In order to satisfy any recoupment obligations arising under the Companyâ€™s compensation clawback policy or otherwise under applicable laws, rules, regulations or stock exchange listing standards, among other things, the Participant expressly and explicitly authorizes the Company to issue instructions on the Participantâ€™s behalf to any brokerage firm or stock plan service provider engaged by the Company to hold any shares of Stock or other amounts acquired pursuant to the Option to re-convey, transfer or otherwise return such shares and/or other amounts to the Company upon the Companyâ€™s enforcement of the compensation clawback or similar policy or any other recoupment obligations.16. Nature of Award. By accepting this Option, the Participant acknowledges, understands and agrees that:Â Â Â Â 6 (a)Â Â Â Â the Plan is established voluntarily by the Company, is discretionary in nature and may be modified, amended, suspended or terminated by the Company at any time, to the extent permitted by the Plan and this Option Agreement;(b)Â Â Â Â the grant of this Option is exceptional, voluntary and occasional and does not create any contractual or other right to receive future awards under the Plan or benefits in lieu of Plan awards, even if Options or other Plan awards have been granted in the past;(c)Â Â Â Â all decisions with respect to future Option grants or Plan awards will be at the sole discretion of the Committee;(d)Â Â Â Â the Participant is voluntarily participating in the Plan;(e)Â Â Â Â the future value of shares of Stock underlying the Option is unknown and cannot be predicted with certainty;(f)Â Â Â Â if the underlying shares of Stock do not increase in value, the Option, as measured by the difference between the fair market value of the Stock and the Grant Price, will have no value;(g)Â Â Â Â if the Participant exercises the Option and acquires shares of Stock, the value of such shares may increase or decrease in value;(h)Â Â Â Â if the Participant resides and/or works outside the United States, the following additional provisions shall apply:(i)Â Â Â Â the Option and any shares of Stock acquired under the Plan, and the income from and value of same, are not intended to replace any pension or retirement rights or compensation;(ii)Â Â Â Â the Option and any shares of Stock acquired under the Plan, and the income from and value of same, do not constitute compensation of any kind for services of any kind rendered to the Company and/or any subsidiary thereof and are outside the scope of the Participantâ€™s employment contract, if any;(iii) the Option and any shares of Stock acquired under the Plan, and the income from and value of same, are not part of normal or expected compensation or salary, including, but not limited to, for purposes of calculating any severance, resignation, termination, redundancy, dismissal, end-of-service payments, bonuses, service awards, pension or retirement or welfare benefits or similar payments unless such other arrangement explicitly provides to the contrary;(iv)Â Â Â Â no claim or entitlement to compensation or damages shall arise from forfeiture of the Option resulting from a termination of the Relationship (for any reason and whether or not later found to be invalid or in breach of employment laws in the jurisdiction where the Participant is employed or the Â Â Â Â 7 terms of the Participantâ€™s employment or service agreement, if any) or enforcement of any applicable clawback policy or recoupment requirements applicable to the Option or the Underlying Shares or other benefits or payments related to the Option; and (v)Â Â Â Â the Company shall not be liable for any foreign exchange rate fluctuation between the Participantâ€™s local currency and the United States dollar that may affect the value of the Option or any amounts due pursuant to the exercise of the Option or the subsequent sale of any Underlying Shares acquired upon settlement.17. Schedule A may be amended from time to time independent of this Policy.â—Section 16 Reporting Officers are officers who have been designated by Iron Mountainâ€™s board of directors as subject to the reporting requirements of Section 16 of the Exchange Act.â—Securities refers to shares of Iron Mountain stock and options, warrants, puts and calls, and other derivative securities related to Iron Mountain stock.â—Senior Officers are (i) executive vice presidents, (ii) senior vice presidents reporting directly to the chief executive officer (if any) or (iii) other officers who have been designated as Section 16 Reporting Officers.â—Trading refers to the purchase or sale of Securities.2.Purpose and ScopeThis Policy provides Iron Mountainâ€™s Employees with guidelines for when trading in Securities is appropriate. This Policy applies to all Employees, and all Employees must comply with this Policy. This Policy also applies to Family Members of Employees and entities controlled by Employees. Each Employee is responsible for the transactions of such Employeeâ€™s Family Members and entities controlled by such Employee, and Employees should treat all such transactions for the purposes of this Policy and applicable securities laws as if the transactions were for their own account. Each Employee should therefore make such Employeeâ€™s Family Members and entities such Employee controls aware of the need to confer and coordinate with such Employee before they trade in Securities.13.Insider Trading LawsNo Employee may trade Securities at a time when such Employee possesses â€œmaterial nonpublic informationâ€ relating to Iron Mountain (commonly known as â€œinside informationâ€). This conduct is known as â€œinsider trading,â€ and it is prohibited by U.S. federal securities laws. No Employee may pass material nonpublic information on to someone who may trade Securities on the basis of that information. This is known as â€œtipping,â€ and is also prohibited by U.S. federal securities laws. These prohibitions apply to Securities and securities of other companies if you learn something in the course of your duties that may affect the value of such securities.When is information material and nonpublic? Information about a company is considered â€œmaterialâ€ if it is likely to influence a typical investorâ€™s decision to buy, sell or hold Securities. Material information can include information that something is likely to happen or information that something merely could happen. Either positive or negative information may be material. It is not possible to define all categories of material nonpublic information, but some examples include: â—financial results or projections of future earnings or losses or changes in previously disclosed projections;â—dividend increases or decreases;â—merger, acquisition or joint venture proposals or agreements;â—dispositions of assets or businesses;â—an increase or decline in business, or expansion or curtailment of operations;â—significant or material legal exposure due to actual, pending or threatened litigation;â—cybersecurity risks and incidents;â—unusual borrowings, changes in liquidity or new debt offerings;â—a purchase or sale by Iron Mountain of its stock, including a proposed public offering; â—changes in management or the board of directors; andâ—a change in Iron Mountainâ€™s auditors or a notification from Iron Mountainâ€™s auditors that Iron Mountain may no longer rely on any audit report.Information about a company is considered â€œnon-publicâ€ until (1) it has been effectively communicated to the marketplace via a filing with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, a publicly available call or webcast, a press release, or the like and (2) enough time has elapsed to permit the investment market to absorb and evaluate the information. 24.The Basic GuidelinesIf an Employee is aware of inside information, such Employee may not trade Securities or the stock of any other company involved in any transactions which are the subject of the inside information. If an Employee is aware of inside information, such Employee must not share the information with any of such Employeeâ€™s Family Members, friends or other persons, and such Employee must also not share the information with another Employee unless that Employee needs to know the information to effectively do his or her job. Iron Mountain may not selectively disclose material nonpublic information. Iron Mountain has established procedures for releasing material information in a manner that is designed to achieve broad public dissemination of the information immediately upon its release. Employees are not permitted to discuss inside information with anyone other than other Employees who need to know. Employees are required to exercise care to prevent the inadvertent disclosure of inside information to others (e.g., by discussing business plans in a public place or on a public web site). Only designated individuals may speak on behalf of Iron Mountain. It is very important that any communications with members of the financial press, investment analysts, or others in the financial community be made through an appropriately designated individual under carefully controlled circumstances. If an Employee receives any inquiries of this nature, unless such Employee is expressly authorized to the contrary, such Employee is required to decline comment and refer the inquirer to the investor relations team.IF WE DISCLOSE MATERIAL INFORMATION, EMPLOYEES MUST WAIT UNTIL 4:00 P.M. U.S. EASTERN TIME THE FIRST BUSINESS DAY AFTER THE DISCLOSURE BEFORE THEY TRADE SECURITIES TO ALLOW THE MARKET TO ABSORB THE INFORMATION.5.Certain Specific Trading RestrictionsTo protect Employees and Iron Mountain from allegations of insider trading, and to avoid even the appearance of an improper transaction, Iron Mountain has established specific restrictions on the ability of Employees to trade Securities.5.1. No Trading During Blackout Periods. Quarterly Blackout periods. Directors and Key Employees may not trade in Securities during quarterly â€œblackout periods,â€ which â—begin at 4:00 p.m. U.S. Eastern time on the 6th business day before the end of the last month of each fiscal quarter; and â—end the first trading day after the day of the public release of the quarterâ€™s earnings at o9:00 a.m. U.S. Eastern time, if the release was issued before opening of trading on the New York Stock Exchange, ando4:00 p.m. U.S. Eastern time, if the release was issued after opening of trading on the New York Stock Exchange.This Policy is based on the presumption that, during a blackout period, certain Employees may have access to the quarterâ€™s financial results, which are deemed material, nonpublic information until they are disseminated into the marketplace. Special Blackout Periods. From time to time, other types of inside information regarding Iron Mountain (such as mergers, acquisitions, dispositions, material litigation or material cyber security breaches) may 3not be publicly disclosed or pending. While such material nonpublic information is pending, Iron Mountain may impose special blackout periods during which certain Employees are prohibited from trading in Securities. Employees will be notified in writing if they become subject to a special blackout period. 5.2. No Trading or Establishing Rule 10b5-1 Plans without Pre-Approval. Directors and Key Employees are required to receive approval from the General Counselâ€™s office before buying or selling Securities (or otherwise making any transfer, gift, pledge or loan thereof) or establishing a 10b5-1 Plan. Pre-approval may be requested by submitting the Pre-Clearance Certification, attached as Schedule B, to the General Counselâ€™s office. The approval will be evidenced by a countersigned certification. If a director or Key Employee does not trade within seven calendar days of receiving the countersigned certification, such director or Key Employee must re-sign and re-submit the Pre-Clearance Certification. Pre-clearance is not required for purchases and sales of stock under an approved 10b5-1 Plan described in Section 5.3 below. 5.3. Trading via 10b5-1 PlansSenior Officers may only trade Securities via a 10b5-1 Plan that has been approved in advance by the General Counselâ€™s office. Directors and Key Employees who are not Senior Officers are not required to trade Securities via a 10b5-1 Plan, however, in the event that any director or Key Employee who is not a Senior Officer elects to establish a 10b5-1 Plan, such director or Key Employee is also required to receive approval from the General Counselâ€™s office before establishing a 10b5-1 Plan. Among other things, the General Counselâ€™s office requires that each 10b5-1 Plan entered into by a director or Key Employee (including any Senior Officer) include a representation from the individual adopting the 10b5-1 Plan that such individual (i) is not aware of any material nonpublic information about Iron Mountain or its Securities and (ii) is adopting the 10b5-1 Plan in good faith and not as part of a plan or scheme to evade the prohibitions of Rule 10b-5 under the Exchange Act. Additionally, any 10b5-1 Plan will be subject to a â€œcooling off periodâ€ as described below. â—Each 10b5-1 Plan adopted by a director or Senior Officer must provide that trading under the 10b5-1 Plan cannot begin until the later of (i) 90 days after the adoption of the 10b5-1 Plan or (ii) two business days following the disclosure of Iron Mountainâ€™s financial results in a 10-Q or 10-K for the fiscal quarter in which the 10b5-1 Plan is adopted (but, in either case, not to exceed 120 days following the adoption of the 10b5-1 Plan). â—Each 10b5-1 Plan adopted by an Employee other than a director or Senior Officer must provide that trading under such 10b5-1 Plan cannot begin until at least 30 days after the adoption of such 10b5-1 Plan. Any change to the amount, price, or timing of the purchase or sale of Securities within a 10b5-1 Plan constitutes termination of the 10b5-1 Plan and the adoption of a new 10b5-1 Plan, which triggers the â€œcooling-offâ€ period described above.5.4.Transactions Not Permitted During any TimeApplicable to All Employees. All Employees are prohibited at any time from engaging in the following transactions in Securities:â—No Short Sales: At no time may any Employee sell Securities short. Generally, a short sale is the sale of a security in the hopes of a price decline that will allow repurchase at a lower price. For purposes of this Policy, Iron Mountain views transactions in which an Employee does not own Securities at the time of the sale, as well as those in which an Employee owns Securities but 4plans to deliver Securities other than such Employeeâ€™s own Securities in connection with the sale, as short sales; â—No Options Trading: No Employee may engage in any transaction in publicly traded options on Securities, including puts or calls or other derivative securities, because such speculation can harm Iron Mountain by sending inappropriate or potentially misleading signals to the market. This prohibition applies to all types of publicly traded options (other than employee stock options granted by Iron Mountain);â—No Short-term Trading: If an Employee purchases or sells Securities, such Employee may not conduct an opposite way transaction in any Securities of the same class for at least six (6) months after the purchase or sale; â—No Standing or Limit Orders: No Employee may engage in any standing or limit orders in Securities, unless executed by a broker pursuant to an Employeeâ€™s 10b5-1 Plan(s) previously approved pursuant to this policy. Generally, a standing or a limit order is an order to buy or sell a set amount of stock at a specified price or better;â—No Hedging: No Employee may enter into hedging or monetization transactions or similar arrangements with respect to Securities; and â—No Trading on Margin and Pledging by Certain Employees. Directors and Employees with the title of senior vice president or above may not place Securities in margin accounts or otherwise pledge Securities. This restriction is in place because a margin sale or foreclosure sale may occur at a time when the pledgor is aware of material nonpublic information or otherwise is not permitted to trade in Securities and could otherwise disrupt the markets for Securities. 5.5. Prohibitions and Restrictions on 10b5-1 PlansApplicable to All 10b5-1 Plans. Subject to the exceptions described in Section 6, the following prohibitions and restrictions apply to any Employee who has adopted a 10b5-1 Plan:â—No Overlapping Plans: No Employee may have more than one 10b5-1 Plan for purchases or sales of Securities on the open market during the same period; provided, however, that a series of separate contracts with different broker-dealers or other agents acting on behalf of such Employee may be treated as a single 10b5-1 Plan if all such contracts, when taken together as a whole, satisfy all the applicable conditions of, remain subject to, Rule 10b5-1(c)(1) under the Exchange Act; andâ—Restrictions on Single-Trade Plans: No Employee may have more than one single-trade 10b5-1 Plan during any 12-month period. A single-trade 10b5-1 Plan is one that has the practical effect of requiring the purchase or sale of Securities as a single transaction.â—Entry Into and Modifications of 10b5-1 Plans: Subject to Section 5.3, no Employee may enter into, modify or terminate a 10b5-1 Plan during a blackout period. 5.6.Gifts Directors and Key Employees are required to obtain pre-approval from the General Counselâ€™s office prior to making any gifts of Securities. If any director or Key Employee seeks to transfer Securities to a trust formed for estate-planning purposes or a family limited partnership, charitable foundation or similar entity for which the transferring director or Key Employee controls the investment and voting decisions of the trust or entity, then all terms of this Policy which apply to the such director or Key Employee shall also apply to the trust or entity and the pre-approval of the General Counselâ€™s office will be subject to the 5applicable director or Key Employee confirming in writing that he/she will remain responsible for such compliance.6.Certain ExceptionsThere are some limited exceptions to the restrictions described in this Policy.10b5-1 Trading Plans:â—With respect to overlapping 10b5-1 Plans, an Employee may have two separate 10b5-1 Plans provided (i) there is no overlap in timing of trades between the two plans, and trading under the earlier-commencing plan concludes or expires before trading is authorized under the later-commencing plan, and (ii) the separate 10b5-1 Plans satisfy all other conditions applicable to 10b5-1 Plans.â—With respect to overlapping 10b5-1 Plans, an Employee may have separate 10b5-1 Plans for â€œsell-to-coverâ€ transactions in which an Employee instructs an agent to sell Securities in order to satisfy tax withholding obligations at the time an equity award vests. Any such additional 10b5-1 Plan must only authorize qualified â€œsell-to-coverâ€ transactions. â—With respect to single-trade 10b5-1 Plans, an Employee may have a single-trade 10b5-1 Plan for â€œsell-to-coverâ€ transactions. Restricted Stock Vesting / Option Exercises: This Policy does not apply to the vesting of restricted stock nor to a cash exercise of vested employee stock options granted by Iron Mountain because the purchase price for such stock options is fixed. However, this Policy applies to any sale of stock acquired through such exercises and any sale of stock to pay for the exercise price for stock options (commonly referred to as a â€œcashless exerciseâ€). Example 1: Employee #1 has 100 shares of restricted stock that vests today. The actual vesting of the restricted stock, with no sale of the stock, is not governed by this Policy.Example 2: Employee #1 now wants to sell the 100 shares of stock that vested. The sale of the stock is governed by this Policy.Example 3: Employee #2 wants to pay cash for the exercise price of 100 vested options, without selling the 100 shares of Iron Mountain stock the employee received after paying the exercise price. This transaction is not governed by this Policy. Example 4: Employee #3 wants to pay for the exercise price of 100 vested options by selling Iron Mountain stock the employee currently holds. The sale of the stock to pay for the exercise price is governed by this Policy. Â Â Â Â Open-End Mutual Fund: This Policy does not apply to any investment held in an open-end mutual fund or similar fund even though such funds may from time to time buy or sell Securities, as long as the employee who is investing in the fund does not control the investment decisions of the fund manager.Charitable / Non-Profit Institutions: This Policy does not apply to transactions engaged in by charitable or non-profit institutions not otherwise in possession of material nonpublic information merely because an Employee is associated with the institution; provided, however, that the Employee is not exercising control over the transaction or tipping the institution in connection with the transaction.Employee Stock Purchase Plan: This Policy does not apply to periodic contributions by Employees to Iron Mountainâ€™s employee stock purchase plan (â€œESPPâ€) which are used to purchase Securities pursuant to the Employeeâ€™s elections under the ESPP. However, no Employee covered by this Policy may change 6such Employeeâ€™s purchase instructions under the ESPP while in the possession of material nonpublic information or, for Key Employees, during a blackout period. This Policy does apply to the sale of any Securities acquired under the ESPP.Hardship Exceptions: In limited circumstances, the Companyâ€™s General Counsel may grant a hardship exception to an Employee who is otherwise subject to a blackout period and who has an unexpected and urgent need to sell Securities in order to generate cash. However, a transaction that may be necessary or seem justifiable for independent reasons including a need to raise money for a personal financial emergency is neither a general exception to this Policy nor a safeguard against prosecution for violation of insider trading laws. Hardship exemptions may be granted only by the General Counsel and must be requested at least three business days in advance of the proposed trade. Under no circumstances will a hardship exception be granted during an event-specific blackout period or to a director or Senior Officer.7.Reporting Requirements This Policy prohibits short-term trading as described in Section 5.4. U.S. federal securities laws impose additional restrictions on short-term trading. As such, directors and Section 16 Reporting Officers are subject to short-swing profit recovery provisions under U.S. federal securities laws, and directors and Section 16 Reporting Officers must report changes in their beneficial ownership of Securities with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. Iron Mountain will generally assist with the filings required under Section 16 of the Exchange Act on behalf of such directors and Section 16 Reporting Officers. Any director or Section 16 Reporting Officer who does not hold Securities through Iron Mountainâ€™s stock administrator, in addition to having the transaction pre-approved as required herein, must, no later than upon execution, report to the General Counselâ€™s office the details of every transaction involving Securities in which such person engages. 8.Post-Termination TransactionsThis Policy continues to apply to transactions in Securities even after termination of service. If an Employee possesses material, nonpublic information when such Employeeâ€™s service terminates, such Employee may not trade Securities until that information has become public or is no longer material. In addition, if such Employee is a director or a Section 16 Reporting Officer, the pre-approval procedures specified above continue for a period of up to six months so Iron Mountain can ensure compliance with Section 16 reporting obligations. For all other Employees, the pre-approval requirements cease to apply at the time of the termination of service. 9.Consequences of ViolationsInsider trading violations are vigorously prosecuted by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, the U.S. Department of Justice and state enforcement authorities. Punishment for insider trading violations is severe, and could include any combination of the following:â—a civil penalty of up to the greater of $1,000,000 and three times the profit gained or loss avoided;â—substantial criminal fines of up to $5,000,000 for individuals; andâ—imprisonment for up to 20 years. Noncompliance with applicable securities laws or this Policy constitutes grounds for disciplinary action, which may include termination of employment.10. Changes to the Policy7Iron Mountain can revise this Policy any time. If revised, Iron Mountain will make proper disclosure of the revised Policy. Employees may receive a copy of this Policy and any subsequent revisions hereto electronically; Iron Mountain assumes that each Employee has read and understands this Policy. If any Employee does not understand this Policy or any revised Policy, such Employee is directed to contact the General Counselâ€™s office.8Company Assistance This Policy is intended to serve as a general reminder for our Employees of their duties under U.S. federal and state laws concerning insider trading. Those laws are subject to change and depend on the facts and circumstances in a particular situation. Extreme caution is usually the best practice in this area. In all cases, the responsibility for determining whether you are in possession of material nonpublic information rests with you, and any action on the part of Iron Mountain, the General Counsel or any other Employee pursuant to this Policy (or otherwise) does not in any way constitute legal advice or insulate an individual from liability under applicable securities laws. If you have any questions about specific transactions or general questions about this Insider Trading Policy, please contact the General Counselâ€™s office at insidertradingcertification@ironmountain.com. Remember, however, the ultimate responsibility for adhering to the Insider Trading Policy and avoiding improper transactions rests with you.CertificationNew Employees will be required to certify their understanding of and intent to comply with this Policy.
