PART I

Item 1. Business.

Overview

We are reimagining real estate to make it easier to unlock life's next chapter, home a reality for more and more people. As the most visited real estate website in the United States, Zillow and its affiliates help people find and get the home they want by connecting them with digital solutions, dedicated partners offer customers an on-demand experience for and agents, and easier buying, selling, buying, financing and renting or financing with transparency and ease, experiences. Hundreds of millions of people visit our mobile applications and websites every month to begin their journey.

At the core of Zillow is our living database of approximately 140.160 million U.S. homes and our differentiated content, most notably the Zestimate, our patented proprietary automated valuation model through which we provide home value estimates. With the launch of the Zestimate feature in 2006, we introduced important transparency to residential real estate in order to empower consumers to make better decisions. During 2022, 2023, our Zestimate feature had a median error rate of 2.7% 2.3% for homes listed for sale and 7.6% 7.4% for off-market homes. We believe our data and content has helped the Zillow brand become synonymous with residential real estate, estate with Zillow being searched more than the term "real estate" in the United States.

Our vision of a "housing super app" is to help customers across all their real estate needs serving as one ecosystem of connected solutions for all the tasks and services related to moving. We are focused on increasing continually improving our customer transactions funnel, capturing customer demand and revenue per customer transaction, which measures revenue attributable connecting that demand to each unique home purchase or sale transaction in which the homebuyer or seller uses Zillow Home Loans, Zillow Closing Services and/or involves a Premier Agent with whom the buyer or seller connected through Zillow Group. We estimate Zillow participated in approximately 360,000 customer transactions with both buyers and sellers in 2021, which is the first time we reported this metric. We anticipate providing this metric for 2022 in a future quarter, our partner network. We believe focusing on these growth metrics this focus allows us to build closer relationships with our customers to help them find and move into the places they call home, which is at the core of our mission. We also believe that the path to improving realizing our growth metrics and "housing super app" vision involves executing on product initiatives within five key across six growth pillars:

- Touring – Make it easier for high-intent customers to take in-person tours and connect with our partner agents
- Financing – Prepare customers to be transaction-ready with financing early in their home buying journey
- Expanding seller services – Continue Invest in tech-enabled solutions and services to innovate on novel solutions to help make selling homes easier for sellers and seller listing agents
- Enhancing our partner network – Work with Help the best agents in real estate to better serve more customers and grow their businesses
- Rentals – Build a comprehensive rental marketplace for customers and property managers
- Integrating our services – Bring our engagement, products and services together to drive more transactions and more revenue per customer transaction

Prior We continue to January 1, 2023, operate in a challenging macro housing environment where rising mortgage rates and low housing supply have led to affordability challenges for many potential buyers. Many potential sellers have postponed or forgone opportunities to sell, choosing instead to hold onto their existing lower-rate mortgages, limiting for-sale housing supply as a result. However, while this shortfall of for-sale inventory has limited sales volume, prices have continued to rise as competition for the relatively few available for-sale homes remains firm. These macroeconomic factors and their impact on the residential real estate market have affected our business was organized into three segments, and influenced the Internet, Media & Technology ("IMT") segment, the Mortgages segment and the Homes segment. These segments reflect the way resources we evaluated business performance and managed use to direct our operations. The IMT segment includes the financial results for the Premier Agent and rentals marketplaces (including StreetEasy rentals product offerings) as well as Other IMT, which includes our new construction marketplace and revenue from the sale of other advertising and business technology solutions for real estate professionals, including display, StreetEasy for-sale product offerings and ShowingTime+, which houses ShowingTime, Bridge Interactive, dotloop and interactive floor plans. The Mortgages segment primarily includes financial results for mortgage originations through Zillow Home Loans and advertising sold to mortgage lenders and other mortgage professionals. The Homes segment includes the financial results from title and escrow services performed by Zillow Closing Services and certain indirect costs of the Homes segment which do not qualify as discontinued operations. Beginning in 2023, our chief operating decision maker began to manage our business, make operating decisions, and evaluate operating performance on the basis of the company as a whole. Accordingly, this change resulted in revisions to the nature and substance of information regularly provided to and used by the chief operating decision maker. This serves to align our reported results with our ongoing growth strategy and our intent to provide integrated customer solutions for all tasks and services related to facilitating real estate transactions. As a result, beginning in the first quarter of 2023, we plan to report our financial results as a single reportable segment.

In the fourth quarter of 2021, the Board of Directors of Zillow Group made the determination to wind down Zillow Offers, our iBuying business which purchased and sold homes directly in markets across the United States. The wind down was completed in the third quarter of 2022, and which resulted in approximately a 25% reduction of Zillow Group's workforce. The

For additional information, see Part II, Item 8 in Note 3 in our Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Beginning in 2023, our chief executive officer, who acts as the chief operating decision maker, began to manage our business, make operating decisions, and evaluate operating performance on the basis of the company as a whole, instead of on a segment basis as he did prior to 2023. Accordingly, this change led to revisions to the nature and substance of information regularly provided to and used by the chief operating decision maker, and served to align our reported results with our ongoing growth strategy and our intent to provide integrated customer solutions for all tasks and services related to facilitating real estate transactions. As a result, beginning in the first quarter of 2023, we began to report our financial results as a single reportable segment.

In the fourth quarter of 2023, we closed the acquisition of Follow Up Boss, a customer relationship management system that gives real estate professionals a central hub to organize and engage customers, close deals, and build their teams. Follow Up Boss has been a key integration partner of ours for several years, and the product is widely utilized by the broader real estate industry and many of our Premier Agent partners. For additional information, see Note 7 in our Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Total Addressable Market

We participate in large addressable markets of buying, selling, renting and financing residential real estate in the U.S. Our Total Addressable Market ("TAM") includes Zillow's estimate of total industry transaction fees derived from residential real estate transactions. In recent years, we have invested in software services, including the acquisition of Follow Up Boss and the expansion of offerings through our ShowingTime+ suite of services, to further enhance our ability to facilitate real estate transactions with both buyers and sellers. In addition, we provide important adjacent services, including such as mortgages through Zillow Home Loans and title and escrow services through Zillow Closing Services. Loans. Our TAM also includes our complementary rentals marketplace which includes rentals advertising and property management software spend.

Our TAM has been affected in recent years by macroeconomic conditions that have proved unfavorable to the residential real estate industry. These macroeconomic conditions have driven low housing inventory, fewer new for-sale listings, increases and volatility in mortgage interest rates, as well as home price fluctuations. These factors have negatively impacted the number of real estate transactions and demand for adjacent services. Despite these macroeconomic headwinds, we believe we are well positioned to address existing and future demand for real estate transactions. Portions of our business have historically been affected by seasonal fluctuations in the residential real estate market, advertising spend and other factors. We generally expect Residential and Rentals revenue to peak in the three months ended June 30th or September 30th, consistent with the average number of visits and unique users which have historically peaked during the same period. Within Mortgages revenue, we believe that seasonality would result in higher purchase origination volumes in the spring and summer high seasons, and our Connect and Custom Quote mortgage marketing products have displayed similar seasonal fluctuations. In more recent years, our seasonality in revenue has been masked by macroeconomic factors. These factors include customers' responses to macroeconomic housing market factors, such as interest rate and home price increases and volatility and tight housing inventory levels, and the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Competition

Our business depends on our ability to successfully attract, retain and provide customers with products and services that make real estate transactions faster, easier and less stressful.

The residential real estate landscape is highly fragmented and competitive from the beginning of the search process through the closing of a transaction, typically with single point service providers and new entrants joining at a rapid pace. providers. Approximately 5.74.8 million existing and new homes were sold in the U.S. in 20222023²² ¹⁹, with over 202,000201,000 real estate brokerages²³ ²⁰ and over 68,00070,000 mortgage lenders²⁴ ²¹ providing their services across more than 500 different MLSs that span the country²⁵ ²². Zillow Home Loans currently makes up less than 0.05%0.09% of the mortgages originated in the U.S.

We compete for customers with companies that provide technology, products and services for real estate focused customers. Factors that may influence customer decisions include the quality of the experience, value and utility of the services offered, the breadth, depth and accuracy of information available, and brand awareness and reputation. For example, our Premier Agent business competes for customers based on price, visibility, perceived and actual value and quality of service. For customers shopping for a mortgage, Zillow Home Loans competes with other mortgage originators based on a combination of interest rates, origination fees, product selection, brand awareness and trust and the level of service we provide.

In addition, our business depends on our ability to attract and retain leading industry partners to advertise and provide services to our customer base. We compete for real estate partners based on the perceived transaction readiness of customers, return on investment, price and product offerings and the effectiveness and relevance of our products and services. Based on these and other factors, real estate partners could select other companies to work with to provide relevant and timely real estate, rental, new construction and mortgage information and services to real estate professionals, local brokerage sites and major internet portals, general search engines, e-commerce and social media sites, services. We also compete for a share of our partners' overall marketing budgets with traditional media as well as word-of-mouth referrals and leads from yard signs and other marketing.

Intellectual Property

We regard our intellectual property as a key differentiator that is critical to our success and we rely on a combination of intellectual property laws, trade-secret protection, and contractual agreements to protect our proprietary technology and data.

Our Zestimate feature, which we consider to be a significant competitive advantage with respect to customer engagement, leverages patented, proprietary, automated valuation models to provide real-time home value estimates. As of December 31, 2022December 31, 2023, we have 102138 patents of varying lengths issued and 152203 patent applications pending in the U.S. and internationally. These patents cover a variety of proprietary techniques relevant to our products and services, including determining a current value for real estate property and the collection, storage and display of home attribute values and creating interactive floor plans.

In addition, awareness and loyalty to our brand enables us to effectively attract and retain our customers. customers and employees. To support our brand, we have registered, or applied for the registration of, trademarks, service marks and copyrights in the U.S. and several other jurisdictions, including "Zillow," "Zestimate," and the Z in a house logo. We are also the registered holder of a variety of domestic and international domain names. We have licensed in the past, and we may license in the future, certain of our proprietary rights to third parties.

To further protect our proprietary rights, we enter into confidentiality and proprietary rights agreements with our employees, consultants, contractors and business partners. Our employees and contractors are also subject to invention

Risks Related to Our Business and Industry

Our Business and Operating Results Have and May Continue to Be Impacted by the Health of the United States Residential Real Estate Industry and May Be Negatively Affected by Downturns or Significant Changes in This Industry and General Economic Conditions.

The success of our business depends, directly and indirectly, on the health of the United States residential real estate market. The health of the United States residential real estate market is affected, in part, by general economic conditions beyond our control. Recent market factors, including low housing inventory, fewer new for-sale listings, volatility in mortgage interest rates and home price fluctuations, inflationary conditions and high rental occupancy rates rate fluctuations have impacted demand for our products and services by consumers and advertisers, which in turn has negatively impacted our financial performance. The extent to which these and additional economic factors, such as those described below, impact our results and financial position will depend on future developments, which are uncertain and difficult to predict:

- downturns fluctuations in the United States residential real estate market – both seasonal and cyclical – which may be due to one or more factors, whether included in this list or not;
- changes in federal monetary policy or inflationary conditions;
- changes in international, national, regional, or local economic, demographic, or real estate market conditions;
- slow economic growth or recessionary conditions;
- increased levels of unemployment or a decrease in labor availability, and/or slowly growing or declining wages;
- declines in the value of residential real estate and/or the pace of home appreciation, or the lack thereof;

- illiquidity in residential real estate;

- overall conditions in the housing market, including macroeconomic shifts in demand, and increases in costs for homeowners such as property taxes, homeowners association fees and availability and affordability of insurance;
- low levels of customer confidence in the economy and/or the United States residential real estate industry;
- low home and/or rental inventory levels or lack of affordably priced homes and rentals;
- changes in interest rates, mortgage rates or down payment requirements and/or restrictions on mortgage financing availability;
- changes to how real estate commissions; commissions are negotiated or paid, or changes to other industry standards and practices;
- federal, state, or local legislative or regulatory changes that would negatively impact rental properties or the residential real estate industry, such as the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 (the "Tax Act"), which limited deductions of certain mortgage interest expenses and property taxes;
- volatility and general declines in the stock market; and/or
- natural and man-made disasters and other catastrophic events, such as pandemics, hurricanes, earthquakes, wildfires, terrorist attacks and other events that disrupt local, regional, or national real estate markets.

Residential real estate may be impacted by industry changes, including as the result of certain or future class action lawsuits or government investigations.

The residential real estate industry faces significant pressure from private lawsuits and investigations by the Department of Justice (the "DOJ") with regards to antitrust issues, including with respect to lawsuits and investigations in which we are not a named party.

In April 2019, the National Association of Realtors ("NAR") and certain brokerages and franchisors (including Realogy Holdings Corp., HomeServices of America, Inc. RE/MAX and Keller Williams Realty, Inc.) were named as defendants in a class action complaint alleging a conspiracy to violate federal antitrust laws by, among other things, requiring residential property sellers in Missouri to pay inflated commission fees to buyer brokers (the "NAR Class Action"). On October 31, 2023, a jury found NAR and various of its co-defendants liable and awarded plaintiffs nearly $1.8 billion in damages (an award that is subject to trebling), and additional equitable relief that may require changes to existing business models may be forthcoming. Class action suits raising similar claims are already pending in other jurisdictions and the outcome of the NAR Class Action and other pending litigation may result in additional actions being filed.

While the final outcomes of any pending or future lawsuits cannot be predicted with any certainty, court decisions, privately negotiated settlements, and concerns about the future outcomes of such lawsuits could result in outcomes that impact the industry as a whole. For example, such lawsuits could lead to changes in how real estate commissions are negotiated, calculated, or paid, which may in turn meaningfully impact how home buyers and sellers engage with real estate professionals in the course of buying and selling a home.

Beyond the NAR Class Action and various similar private actions already pending, beginning in 2018, the DOJ commenced an investigation into NAR for violations of the federal antitrust laws. The DOJ and NAR appeared to reach a resolution in November 2020, resulting in the filing of a Complaint and Proposed Consent Judgment pursuant to which NAR agreed to adopt certain rule changes, such as increased disclosure of commission offers. The DOJ has since sought to continue its investigation of NAR, and the question of whether the earlier settlement forecloses further investigation is currently being litigated. It is uncertain what effect, if any, the resumption of the DOJ's investigation could have on the larger real estate industry, including any further settlement that may result therefrom. Beyond monetary damages, the various class action suits seek to change real estate industry practices and, along with the DOJ investigation, have prompted state and local real estate boards or multiple listing services to discuss and consider changes to long-established rules and regulations.

Although changes arising from these lawsuits and investigations are uncertain and challenging to predict, they could result in outcomes that materially impact our business, financial condition, and results of operations. For example, if agent commissions are meaningfully impacted, it could reduce the marketing budgets of real estate partners or reduce the number of real estate partners participating in the industry, which could adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

If Real Estate, Rental and Mortgage Professionals, Home Builders, Property Managers or Other Real Estate Partners Reduce or End Their Advertising Spending With Us or if We Are Unable to Effectively Manage Advertising and Product Inventory or Pricing, Our Business Could Be Harmed.

Our business depends in part on revenue generated through sales of advertising and other products and services to real estate agents and brokerages, rental professionals, mortgage professionals, home builders, property managers, and other real estate partners in categories relevant to real estate (collectively, "real estate partners"). Our ability to attract and retain real estate partners, and ultimately to generate advertising revenue, depends on a number of factors, including how successfully we can:

- increase the number of customers who use one or more of our products and services to effectuate transactions and the frequency of their use, provide them with tools to promote engagement between real estate market participants, and enhance their user experience so we can retain them;
- offer an attractive return on investment to our real estate partners for their advertising spending with us;
- continue to develop our advertising products and services to increase adoption by and engagement with our real estate partners;
- keep pace with and anticipate changes in technology to provide industry-leading products and services to real estate partners and customers; and
- compete effectively for advertising dollars with other options.

Premier Agent Residential revenue accounted for 66% 75% of total revenue for the year ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023. This level of revenue concentration suggests that even modest decreases in individual spending across the real estate partner population, caused by actual or perceived decreases to return on investment, preference for a competitive product or service, or other factors, could have a significant negative impact on our ability to use proceeds generated from our Premier Agent business Residential products and services to invest in our other businesses, products and services, which we view as a key competitive advantage. Any such decreases in spending could also adversely affect our results of operations. We do not have long-term contracts with many of our real estate partners. Our real estate partners could choose to modify or discontinue their relationships with us with little or no advance notice. For example, our auction-based account interface for Premier Agent partners allows agent partners to independently control the duration of their advertising commitments for varying terms.

We may not succeed in retaining existing real estate partners' spending or capturing a greater share of such spending if we are unable to convince real estate partners of the effectiveness or superiority of our products as compared to alternatives. In addition, we continually evaluate and utilize various pricing and value delivery strategies in order to better align our revenue opportunities with the growth in usage of our mobile and web platforms and customer transactions. For example, we offer a pay for performance pricing model called "Flex" for Premier Agent advertising services Agents in certain markets. With the Flex model, Premier Agents are provided with validated leads at no initial cost and pay a performance advertising fee only when a real estate transaction is closed with one of the leads. With this pricing model, the transaction price represents variable consideration, as the amount to which we expect to be entitled varies based on the number of validated leads that convert into real estate transactions and the value of those transactions. To estimate variable consideration and revenue associated with the Flex model, we use a number of assumptions, including estimating the conversion rate of a lead to a real estate transaction, estimating the velocity of conversions and estimating the fee amounts likely to be received. We use similar performance advertising based models for our rentals pay per lease and StreetEasy Experts products.

Our estimates of variable consideration are primarily developed based on historical data and our future expectations based on current market trends. Our estimation methodology may be inaccurate and some or all of the revenue we recognize when our performance obligations are satisfied may be reversed. Realization of performance advertising performance-based revenue is also dependent on accurate reporting and remittance by our partners.

Future changes to our pricing or lead delivery methodologies for advertising services or product offerings may cause real estate partners to reduce or end their advertising spending with us or negatively impact our ability to manage revenue opportunities. If real estate partners reduce or end their advertising spending with us, or if we are unable to effectively manage inventory and pricing, our advertising revenue and business, results of operations and financial condition could be harmed. In addition, we use revenue generated from our real estate partners, in part, to fund our operations and investments in our five growth pillars: touring, financing, seller solutions, enhancing our partner network, and integrating our services. pillars. Significant decreases in revenue generated from our real estate partners may negatively impact our ability to fund operations and invest in our growth.

We May Not Be Able to Maintain or Establish Relationships With Real Estate Brokerages, Real Estate Listing Aggregators, Multiple Listing Services, Property Management Companies, Home Builders and Other Third-Party Listing Providers, Which Could Limit the Information We Have to Power Our Products and Services.

Our ability to attract customers to our mobile applications, websites and other tools depends to some degree on providing timely access to comprehensive and accurate real estate listings and information. To provide these listings and this information, we maintain relationships with real estate brokerages, real estate listing aggregators, multiple listing services ("MLSs"), property management companies, home builders, other third-party listing providers and homeowners and their real estate agents to include listing data in our services, services (collectively, "real estate listing providers"). Many of our agreements with real estate listing providers may be terminated with limited notice or cause. Many of our competitors and other real estate websites have similar access to MLSs and listing data and may be able to source certain real estate information faster or more efficiently than we can. Another industry participant or group could create a new listings data service, which could impact the relative quality or quantity of information of our listing providers. The loss of existing relationships with MLSs and other real estate listing providers, whether due to termination of agreements, loss of MLS memberships, or otherwise, changes to our rights to use or timely access listing data or an inability to continue to add new listing providers or changes to the way real estate information is shared, may negatively impact our listing data quality. This could markedly decrease the quantity and quality of the for sale and rental listing data and other real estate information that we provide, reduce customer confidence in our products and services and cause customers to go elsewhere for real estate listings and information, which could severely harm our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We May Not Be Able to Maintain or Establish Relationships With Other Data Providers, Which Could Limit the Information We Are Able to Provide to Our Customers and Impair Our Ability to Attract or Retain Customers.

We In addition to the information that we receive from real estate listing providers, we obtain certain real estate data, such as transaction history, property descriptions, tax-assessed value and property taxes paid, under licenses from other third-party data providers, providers, including state and local governments. We use this data to enable the development, maintenance and improvement of our marketplace and information services, including Zestimates, Rent Zestimates and our living database of homes. We have invested significant time and resources to develop proprietary algorithms, valuation models, software and practices to use and improve on this specific data. We may be unable to access certain of this data from vendors or government agencies if changes in local laws or regulations or other prohibitions on data sharing are implemented or because the quality and quantity of data available to these third parties changes, changes, or because we violate (or are perceived to have violated) the agreements under which we obtain such data. We may also be unable to renew our licenses with these data providers or enter into new data license agreements, or we may be able to do so only on terms that are less favorable to us, which could harm our ability to continue to develop, maintain and improve these information services and could harm our business, results of operations and financial condition.

If We Fail to Comply With the Rules and Compliance Requirements of MLSs, Our Access to and Use of Listings Data May Be Restricted or Terminated.

Our subsidiaries that access and use listings data through MLS memberships (the "MLS Members") must comply with each MLS's rules, and compliance requirements and data license agreements to maintain their access to listings data and remain a member in good standing. Each MLS that the MLS Members belong to has adopted its own rules, policies, and agreement terms governing, among other things, how MLS data may be used and how listings data must be displayed on our websites and mobile applications. The MLS Members are also subject to compliance operations requirements and, as a result, must respond to and resolve complaints lodged by or notices of non-compliance from the MLS or other MLS participants on required timelines. The MLS rules and compliance requirements may not contemplate multi-jurisdictional licensed brokerage entities. MLS rules vary among markets and are in some cases inconsistent between MLSs, such that we are required to customize our websites, mobile applications, or services to accommodate differences between MLS rules, rules and compliance requirements. Handling complaints received by the MLS Members across markets may create heightened operational or financial risks with short response and resolution deadlines. Complying with the rules and compliance requirements of each MLS requires significant investment, including personnel, technology and development resources, and the exercise of considerable judgment. Rules and compliance requirements of MLSs may be changed across markets, including potential for targeted changes or interpretations in response to our operations. If any of the MLS Members are deemed to be noncompliant with an MLS's rules or to have provided improper responses to or resolution of complaints, they may face disciplinary sanctions by that MLS, which could include monetary fines, restricting, suspending or terminating our access to that MLS's data, or other disciplinary measures. The loss or degradation of this listings data could materially and adversely affect traffic to our mobile applications and websites, which could severely harm our business, results of operations and financial condition.

If Our Data Integrity Suffers Real or Perceived Harm, Customers and Real Estate Partners May Decrease Use or Cease Using Our Products and Services, and We May Be Subject to Legal Liability.

Because homes represent significant investments, and many customer decisions regarding homes are data-driven, our ability to attract and retain customers and real estate partners to our products and services is dependent upon our ability to publish, and reputation for publishing, accurate and complete residential real estate information, including the output of proprietary models, through our mobile applications and websites. As discussed above, a significant amount of the data we publish on our mobile applications and websites is derived from third parties, and we have limited ability to control the quality of the information we receive from them. We also publish a significant amount of customer-generated content, and our tools and processes designed to ensure the accuracy, quality and legality of such content may not always be effective. Data we generate independently are subject to error, unauthorized modification by way of third-party viruses and other factors. As the volume of data we publish increases, and potential threats to data quality become more complex, the risk of harm to our data integrity also increases. If our data integrity suffers real or perceived harm, we may be subject to legal liability, reputational damage and customers and real estate partners may decrease their use or cease using our products and services, which would harm our results of operations and financial condition.

If We Do Not Innovate or Provide High-Quality Products and Services That Deliver Efficient and Integrated Transaction Experiences to Our Customers and Real Estate Partners, Our Business Could Be Harmed.

Our success depends on our continued innovation to provide new, and improve upon existing, products and services that make real estate transactions faster, easier and less stressful for our customers and provide value to real estate, rental and mortgage professionals, home buyers and sellers and our other real estate partners. As a result, we must continually invest significant resources in research and development to improve the attractiveness, competitiveness, and comprehensiveness of our products and services, enable smoother and more efficient real estate transactions, adapt to changes in technology and support new devices and operating systems. If we are unable to provide products and services that our customers want to use, on the devices they prefer, then those customers may become dissatisfied and use competitors' mobile applications, websites, products and services. If our customers begin to access more real estate information and services through other media and we fail to innovate, our business may be negatively impacted. If we are unable to continue offering high-quality, innovative products and services, we may be unable to attract additional customers and real estate partners or retain our current customers and real estate partners, which could harm our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We Face Competition for Customers Users in the Real Estate Category, Which Could Impair Our Ability to Attract Users of Our Mobile Applications, Websites and Other Products and Services, Which Could Harm Our Business, Results of Operations and Financial Condition.

Our business model depends on our ability to continue to attract customers users to our mobile applications, websites, real estate services and other services and enhance their engagement with our products and services in a cost-effective manner. In addition, our ability to be successful depends, in part, on attracting customers users who have historically shopped for or bought, sold, rented, or financed their homes through more traditional channels. New entrants continue to join the real estate space at a rapid pace and the tools and services for buying, selling, renting, or financing homes are significantly less developed than in other industries, such as books, music, travel and other customer consumer products. Our existing and potential competitors include companies that operate, or could develop, national and local real estate, rental, new construction, mortgage, and title and escrow businesses. Such competitors range from companies offering traditional offline advertising media, like newspapers, to new mobile- or web-only innovative technology companies and from real estate investors, like institutional investors and iBuyers, to mortgage lenders and title and settlement service providers. These companies could devote greater financial, technical and other resources than we have available to real estate services, sales, advertising or research and development, have a more accelerated time frame for deployment or leverage their existing customer bases and proprietary technologies to provide products and services that customers users might view as superior to our offerings. Any of our future or existing competitors may introduce different services or solutions that attract customers users or provide services or solutions similar to our own but with better branding or marketing resources. Any of our current or future competitors could merge with each other or a separate entity, which may enable them to compete with us even more vigorously and acquire more a greater share of customer transactions and engagement. In addition, search engines are always evolving and changes to their models or algorithms may negatively impact our placement or require greater investment of resources to optimize our placement and attract customers. If the use of online products and services for shopping, renting, buying, selling, or financing residential real estate does not continue to develop and grow or we are not able to continue to attract customers users to our mobile applications, websites, real estate services and other services, our business, results of operations and financial condition could be harmed.

We May Not Be Able to Compete Successfully Against Our Existing or Future Competitors in Attracting Customers for Our Products and Services or Real Estate Partners, Which Could Harm Our Business, Results of Operations and Financial Condition.

We face intense competition in each of our lines of business. We compete with a variety of real estate transaction service providers to attract customers engaging in real estate transactions and we also compete with traditional and online or mobile media sources to attract real estate partners. Please see "Competition" under Part 1, Item 1 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for a general discussion of the competitive conditions in each of our businesses.

Competitors for our real estate transaction services include rental listing service providers, real estate brokers, real estate investors, mortgage lenders, mortgage brokers, financial institutions, and title and settlement service providers. Many of these competitors may have considerable competitive advantages, including longer operating histories, more extensive financial resources, stronger brand equity, more industry experience and greater knowledge and expertise. As a result, these competitors may have an advantage in attracting customers, recruiting highly skilled personnel, and growing or maintaining their businesses. They may also provide customers with real estate transaction services and experiences superior to or more cost-effective than ours.

We compete against mobile applications and websites dedicated to providing real estate, rental, new construction and mortgage information and services to real estate professionals and customers, major internet portals, general search engines, e-commerce and social media sites as well as other technology and media companies. We also compete for a share of our real estate partners' overall marketing budgets with traditional media such as television, magazines, newspapers and home/apartment guide publications, particularly with respect to advertising dollars spent at the local level by real estate professionals to advertise their qualifications and listings. Large companies with significant brand recognition have large numbers of direct sales personnel and substantial proprietary advertising inventory and mobile application and website traffic, which may provide a competitive advantage. To compete successfully for real estate transaction partners against future and existing competitors, we must continue to invest resources in developing our advertising platform and proving the effectiveness and relevance of our advertising products and services. Pressure from competitors seeking to acquire a greater share of our real estate partners' overall marketing budget could adversely affect our pricing and margins, lower our revenue and increase our research and development and marketing expenses.

If we are unable to compete successfully against our existing or future competitors, we could lose or fail to gain customer transaction share and our business, results of operations or financial condition would be harmed.

We Compete in a Dynamic Industry, and We May Invest Significant Resources to Pursue Strategies, and Develop New Products and Services and Expand Existing Products Into New Markets That Do Not Prove Effective.

The industry for residential real estate transaction services, technology, information marketplaces and advertising is dynamic, and the expectations and behaviors of customers and professionals shift constantly and rapidly. We continue to learn a great deal about the behaviors and objectives of residential real estate market participants as the industry evolves and invest significant resources to develop, test and launch products and services to address the needs of the market and improve the home buying, selling, financing, building and renting experience. Changes or additions to our products and services, including expansion of existing products and services into new markets, may not attract or engage our customers, may reduce confidence in our products and services, may negatively impact the quality of our brands, may upset our partners or other industry participants, may expose us to increased market or legal and regulatory risks, may subject us to new laws and regulations, and may result in reduced investor confidence or otherwise harm our business. For example, if MLSs or other real estate market participants engage in exclusionary conduct that limits our ability to effectively compete, it may negatively impact our business. On December 22, 2023, Zillow Group, Inc., and ShowingTime.com, LLC filed suit in the United States District Court of Arizona against Arizona Regional Multiple Listing Service, Inc., Multiple Listing Service, Inc., and MLS Aligned, LLC under federal antitrust laws to prevent the defendants from unlawfully attempting to monopolize the market for real estate showing management services in the geographic regions they control and from unlawfully conspiring to exclude or severely limit ShowingTime in those markets.

Further, if we do not realize the benefits we expect from the strategic relationships or we enter into or acquisitions we complete, our business could be harmed. Customers may prefer other service providers because they offer different or superior services or those services are easier to use, faster or more cost effective than our services. We may not successfully anticipate or keep pace with industry changes, and we may invest considerable financial, personnel and other resources to pursue strategies that do not ultimately prove effective such that our results of operations and financial condition may be harmed.

If Zillow Home Loans is Unable to Obtain and Maintain Sufficient Financing to Fund Its Origination of Mortgages or is Unable to Resell Mortgages on the Secondary Market, Our Mortgages Business and the Mortgages Segment Financial Results May Suffer.

Zillow Home Loans funds substantially all of its lending operations using warehouse and loan repurchase facilities, intending to sell all loans and corresponding servicing rights to third-party financial institutions, government-sponsored entities or mortgage servicing rights purchasers after a holding period. A substantial portion of the amounts available under these warehouse and loan repurchase facilities are not committed, meaning the applicable lender is not obligated to, but may in its discretion, advance loan funds beyond the committed amounts up to the maximum borrowing capacity. Zillow Home Loans' borrowings are then generally repaid with the proceeds it receives from mortgage sales. To maintain and grow its business, Zillow Home Loans depends, in part, on having sufficient borrowing capacity under its current facilities or obtaining additional borrowing capacity under new facilities. If Zillow Home Loans is not able to negotiate with its lenders to advance loan funds beyond the committed amounts under its warehouse and repurchase facilities or to otherwise obtain and maintain debt financing with sufficient capacity or flexibility on acceptable terms, and does not have sufficient available cash on hand, then Zillow Home Loans may be unable to maintain or increase the volume of mortgage loans that it originates, may be limited in the type or quantity of loans it can fund, may lose customers to other mortgage lenders and its business may suffer. If Zillow Home Loans is unable to form or retain relationships with third-party financial institutions to purchase its loans or is unable to comply with any covenant in its agreements with these institutions, or is unable to do so on acceptable terms, it may be unable to sell its loans on the secondary market on favorable terms or at all. If Zillow Home Loans is unable to sell its loans or is required to repurchase the loans from third parties, it may be required to hold the loans for investment or sell them at a discount.

Zillow Home Loans Product Offerings May Not Meet Customers' Financing Needs, Which Could Cause Them to Use Other Lenders.

Zillow Home Loans currently offers a number of mortgage products to customers including conventional conforming and non-conforming programs and government loan guarantee programs. Such offerings are subject to change based on various factors such as availability, business needs and customer demand. If these programs do not meet the financing needs of our customers, and we do not adapt to market changes and customer preferences, customers may opt to obtain financing from other lenders who offer different or more competitive rates or loan products. Similarly, if any of the government sponsored entities or government loan guarantee programs amend the terms of an existing loan program, cease offering the program, limit our ability to use the program or revoke the authority of Zillow Home Loans to offer such programs, we may have to make changes to or discontinue the mortgage products that we offer, which may negatively affect our business.

Zillow Home Loans May Not Be Able to Continue to Grow its Mortgage Loan Origination Business, Which Could Negatively Affect Our Mortgages Segment, Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

The Zillow Home Loans mortgage loan origination business consists of providing purchase money loans to homebuyers and refinancing existing loans. The origination of purchase money mortgage loans by Zillow Home Loans is influenced by customers purchasing homes using other Zillow products and services who elect to finance their home through Zillow Home Loans and traditional business clients in the home buying process such as realtors and builders. Changes to the other products and services that Zillow or its real estate partners provide, such as with the prior wind down of Zillow Offers operations, may negatively impact demand for Zillow Home Loans. In addition, our ability to secure relationships with traditional business clients may influence our ability to grow our loan origination business. Our production and customer direct lending operations are also subject to overall market factors that can impact our ability to grow our loan production volume. For example, higher interest rates, increased competition from new and existing market participants, reductions in the overall level of refinancing activity or slow growth in the level of new home purchase activity can impact our ability to continue to grow our loan production volumes, and we may be forced to accept lower margins in our respective businesses in order to continue to compete and keep our volume of activity consistent with past or projected levels. If we are unable to continue to grow our loan origination business, this could adversely affect our business.

Zillow Home Loans Is Dependent on United States Government-Sponsored Entities and Government Agencies, and Any Actions by These Entities or Changes in These Entities or Their Operations Could Adversely Affect Our Mortgage Business, Liquidity, Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

The ability of Zillow Home Loans to generate revenue through loan sales depends, in part, on its participation in programs administered by government agencies such as the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development's Federal Housing Administration, the United States Department of Veterans Affairs, the United States Department of Agriculture, or government-sponsored entities ("GSEs") such as the Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae") or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("Freddie Mac"). Presently, some of the loans Zillow Home Loans originates are sold on a direct basis to a GSE, while others are sold "whole loan" to individual investors on the secondary market. If any of these government agencies or GSEs limit Zillow Home Loans' ability to participate in any of these programs, or if the operation of any of these government agencies or GSEs or the programs they administer are eliminated or changed, our Mortgages segment, liquidity, financial condition, and results of operations may be adversely affected.

A number of legislative proposals have been introduced in recent years that would wind down or phase out the GSEs, including proposals to end the conservatorship and privatize Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. It is not possible to predict the scope and nature of the actions that the United States government, including the current administration, will ultimately take with respect to the GSEs. Any changes in laws and regulations affecting the relationship between Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and their regulators or the United States federal government, and any changes in leadership at any of these entities could adversely affect our Mortgages segment and prospects. Any discontinuation of, or significant reduction in, the operation of Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac or any significant adverse change in their capital structure, financial condition, activity levels in the primary or secondary mortgage markets or underwriting criteria could materially and adversely affect our Mortgages segment, liquidity, financial condition, and results of operations. A discontinuation or reduction in the operations of the GSEs could also affect "whole loan" sales on the secondary market, as there is a potential that this could cause a sharp decline in investor appetite.

Zillow Home Loans Operates in a Highly Regulated Industry, and Federal, State, and Local Laws and Regulations, Including Many That Are Continually Changing, Could Materially and Adversely Affect Our Business, Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

Zillow Home Loans is required to comply with a wide array of federal, state and local laws and regulations that regulate, among other things, the manner in which it conducts its loan origination business. These regulations directly impact the Zillow Home Loans business and require constant compliance, monitoring and internal and external audits.

Zillow Home Loans' failure to operate effectively and in compliance with these laws, regulations and rules could subject us to lawsuits or governmental actions and damage our reputation, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. For example, Zillow Home Loans' failure to comply with these laws, regulations and rules may result in increased costs of doing business, changes to the way we operate our business, reduced payments by borrowers, modification of the original terms of loans, permanent forgiveness of debt, delays in the foreclosure process, forfeiture or refunds on fees collected on loan originations, increased servicing advances, litigation, reputational damage, enforcement actions, and repurchase and indemnification obligations.

In addition, Zillow Homes Loans must ensure that our lending operations serve consumers in accordance with a variety of federal and state fair lending laws and regulations, including without limitation the Fair Housing Act, the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act, and the prohibition against engaging in Unfair, Deceptive, or Abusive Acts or Practices pursuant to the Dodd-Frank Act. Our inability to conduct our lending operations in compliance with fair lending laws and regulations may expose Zillow Home Loans to regulatory action, litigation, and reputational damage, among other things.

Our Mortgages Segment is Impacted by Interest Rates. Changes in Prevailing Interest Rates May Have an Adverse Effect on the Financial Results for Our Mortgages Segment.

The financial performance of our Mortgages segment is directly affected by changes in prevailing interest rates and home prices, which in turn, impact the affordability of a home. The financial performance of our Mortgages segment may be adversely affected or be subject to substantial volatility because of changes in prevailing interest rates, which may be impacted by a number of factors. For example, in 2022, due to inflationary pressures, there was an increased degree of uncertainty and unpredictability concerning current interest rates, future interest rates and potential negative interest rates, which had an adverse effect on the results of operations for our Mortgages segment.

Consumer demand for certain mortgage products and loan types are frequently driven by changes in market conditions, interest rates, lender fees, and other transaction costs. If interest rates continue to rise, our business could be adversely affected if we are unable to increase our share of purchase mortgages or if affordability challenges contract the total addressable market. In either case, our mortgage origination business and the financial results for our Mortgages segment could be harmed.

Zillow Home Loans uses derivatives and other instruments to reduce exposure to adverse changes in interest rates. Hedging interest rate risk is a complex process, requiring sophisticated models and constant monitoring. Zillow Home Loans' hedging activity may fail to provide adequate coverage for interest rate exposure due to market volatility, hedging instruments that do not directly correlate with the interest rate risk exposure being hedged or counterparty defaults on obligations. Certain of our hedges related to newly originated mortgages may be subject to margin calls, which, if made, could adversely impact our liquidity. There may be periods during which Zillow Home Loans elects not to hedge some or all of its interest rate risk.

Natural Disasters, Geopolitical Events and Catastrophic Events May Disrupt Real Estate Markets, Damage or Destroy Our Properties, or Otherwise Harm Our Business.

The occurrence of a significant natural disaster or other catastrophic event such as a pandemic, health crisis, earthquake, hurricane, windstorm, fire, flood, power loss, telecommunications failure, cyber-attack, geopolitical instability, war, civil unrest, terrorist attack or other similar event, may damage or destroy our properties, disrupt our operations, impair local and regional real estate markets or economies and negatively impact our business, results of operations and financial condition. For example, the COVID-19 pandemic, including the reactions of governments, markets, and the general public to the COVID-19 pandemic, caused adverse consequences for our business and results of operations.

Zillow provides products and services to customers throughout the United States and to a lesser extent, in Canada. In addition, through Zillow Home Loans we are licensed to originate originates loans in 48 49 states and the District of Columbia. The occurrence of a natural disaster or other catastrophic event in any of these localities could have a significant negative impact on those real estate markets and the success of our business in the affected regions.

Although the majority of our workforce has shifted to a distributed work environment, we maintain large employee populations, including those supporting our licensed operations, in Seattle, Washington; New York, New York; Atlanta, Georgia; San Francisco, California; Irvine, California California; Denver, Colorado; Mexico City, Mexico and Denver, Colorado. Belgrade, Serbia. An earthquake or other natural disaster or catastrophic event in any of these cities could disrupt our engineering, sales, operations and/or mortgage origination teams and equipment critical to the operation of our business. Similarly, a significant natural disaster or other catastrophic event in any major United States city could negatively impact a large number of our real estate partners and customers and cause a decrease in our revenue or traffic.

Business continuity and disaster recovery planning is important, and if we are unable to develop adequate plans to ensure that our business functions continue to operate during and after a disaster or catastrophic event, and successfully execute on those plans in the event of a disaster, catastrophic event, or other emergency, our business and reputation may be harmed.

If Our Data Integrity Suffers Real or Perceived Harm, Customers and Real Estate Partners May Decrease Use or Cease Using Our Products and Services, and We May Be Subject to Legal Liability.

Because homes represent significant investments, and many customer decisions regarding homes are data-driven, our ability to attract and retain customers and real estate partners to our products and services is dependent upon our ability to publish, and reputation for publishing, accurate and complete residential real estate information, including the output of proprietary models, through our mobile applications and websites. As discussed above, a significant amount of the data we publish on our mobile applications and websites is derived from third parties, and we have limited ability to control the quality of the information we receive from them. We also publish a significant amount of customer-generated content, and our tools and processes designed to ensure the accuracy, quality and legality of such content may not always be effective. Data we generate independently are subject to error, unauthorized modification by way of third-party viruses and other factors. As the volume of data we publish increases, and potential threats to data quality become more complex, the risk of harm to our data integrity also increases. If our data integrity suffers real or perceived harm, we may be subject to legal liability, reputational damage and customers and real estate partners may decrease their use or cease using our products and services, which would harm our results of operations and financial condition.

Our Dedication to Making Decisions Based Primarily on the Best Interests of Customers May Cause Us to Forgo Short-Term Gains.

Our guiding principle is to build our business by making decisions based primarily on the best interests of our customers, which we believe has been essential to our success in increasing our customer growth rate and engagement and has served the long-term interests of our company and our shareholders. In the past, we have forgone, and we will in the future forgo, certain expansion or short-term revenue opportunities that we do not believe are in the best interests of customers, even if such decisions negatively impact our short-term results of operations. In addition, our philosophy of putting customers first may negatively impact our relationships with our existing or prospective real estate partners. This could result in a loss of real estate partners, which could harm our revenue and results of operations. For example, in November 2021, we announced plans to wind down Zillow Offers operations, in part, because it served too narrow a portion of our customers, instead opting to develop and offer other products and services primarily focused within our five six growth pillars. In addition, we require our Premier Agent partners to maintain a minimum customer experience score and if they fail to do so after a probation period, we have canceled advertising from those partners on our platforms. Our customer focus may also negatively impact our relationships with real estate brokerages, MLSs, and other industry participants on whom we rely for listings information. Zillow Home Loans and Zillow Closing Services as well as some of our business-to-business products, for example, may be perceived as impinging upon the business models of real estate agents, brokerages and lenders, which may cause them to terminate or decrease the scope of their relationships with us. Such risks could have a materially negative impact on our results of operations. Our principle of making decisions based primarily on the best interests of customers may not result in the long-term benefits that we expect, in which case our user traffic and engagement, business and results of operations could be harmed.

We Are Subject to Disputes and Current or Proposed Rules and Regulations Regarding the Accuracy or Display of Our Zestimates and Rent Zestimates.

We provide our customers with Zestimate and Rent Zestimate home and rental valuations. Zestimates are our estimated current market values of a home based on our proprietary automated valuation models that apply advanced algorithms to analyze our data; they are not appraisals. A Rent Zestimate is our estimated current monthly rental price of a home, using similar automated valuation models that we have designed to address the unique attributes of rental homes. We are, from time to time, involved in disputes with property owners and others who disagree with the accuracy or display of a Zestimate or Rent Zestimate, and such disputes may result in costly litigation in the future. Further, revisions to our automated valuation models, or the algorithms that underlie them, poor data quality, or other factors may cause certain Zestimates or Rent Zestimates to vary from expectations for those Zestimates or Rent Zestimates. Any such dispute or variation in Zestimates or Rent Zestimates could result in distraction from our business or potentially harm our reputation and financial condition. Among other things, we are also subject to proposed legislation that may impose liability or disclosure of our proprietary algorithms, which could impact our competitive advantage and potentially harm our financial position or business results. This legislation could also result in an increased occurrence of enforcement actions or legal disputes as discussed above.

We Rely on the Performance of Highly Skilled Personnel, and if We Are Unable to Attract, Retain and Motivate Well-Qualified Employees, Our Business Could Be Harmed.

We believe our success has depended, and continues to depend, on the efforts and talents of our management and our highly skilled team of employees, including our software engineers, operations personnel, data scientists, shared services staff, loan officers, statisticians, marketing professionals and advertising sales staff. Our future success depends on our continuing ability to attract, develop, motivate and retain highly qualified and skilled employees. The loss of any of our senior management or key employees could materially adversely affect our ability to build on the efforts they have undertaken and to execute our business plan, and we may not be able to find adequate replacements. The market for highly skilled personnel is very competitive. We cannot ensure that we will be able to retain the services of any members of our senior management or other key employees. Furthermore, we have in the past and may in the future take measures in order to slow attrition. For example, to support retention of employees, in August 2022, we issued certain equity grants and repriced certain outstanding unvested stock options. If we do not succeed in attracting well-qualified employees, retaining and motivating existing employees in a cost-effective manner, or engaging in succession planning, our business could be harmed.

We Have and May Continue to Make Acquisitions and Investments, Which Could Result in Operating Difficulties, Dilution and Other Harmful Consequences.

We continue to evaluate a wide array of potential strategic opportunities, including acquisitions and investments. For example, we acquired ShowingTime.com, Inc. in September 2021, and we acquired VRX Media Group LLC in December 2022. 2022, Aryeo, Inc. in June 2023, Spruce Holdings, Inc. in September 2023, and Enchant, LLC, d/b/a Follow Up Boss, in December 2023. Any transactions that we enter into could be material to our financial condition and results of operation. The transactions we pursue may not result in the intended benefits to our business, and we may not successfully evaluate or utilize the acquired products, technology, or personnel, or accurately forecast the financial impact of an acquisition transaction. The process of closing a transaction and integrating an acquired company, business or technology could create unforeseen operating difficulties and expenditures. Potential risks include: diversion of management time and focus from operating our business to acquisition closing and integration challenges; customer and industry acceptance of products and services offered by the acquired company; implementation or remediation of controls, procedures and policies at the acquired company; compliance with differing laws and regulations applicable to international jurisdictions, if applicable; coordination of product, engineering and sales and marketing functions; retention of employees from the acquired company; liability for activities of the acquired company before the acquisition; litigation or other claims arising in connection with the acquired company; and impairment charges associated with goodwill and other acquired intangible assets. For example, during March 2020, we have recognized a non-cash impairment charge of $72 million charges related to our Trulia trade names and trademarks certain acquired intangible asset. assets in the past.

Our failure to address these risks or problems encountered in connection with our past or future acquisitions and investments could cause us to fail to realize the anticipated benefits of such acquisitions or investments, incur unanticipated liabilities, and harm our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our Fraud Detection Processes and Information Security Systems May Not Successfully Detect All Fraudulent Activity by Third Parties Aimed at Our Employees or Customers, Which Could Adversely Affect Our Reputation and Business Results.

Third-party actors have attempted in the past, and may attempt in the future, to conduct fraudulent activity by engaging with our customers by, for example, posting fake real estate and rental listings on our sites and attempting to solicit personal information or money from customers, and by engaging with our employees by, for example, making fake requests for transfer of funds or sensitive information. We make a large number of wire transfers in connection with loan and real estate closings and process sensitive personal data in connection with these transactions. We also enable certain rental transactions through our Zillow Rental Manager products, which may be separately subject to a risk of fraudulent activity. Though we have sophisticated fraud detection processes and have taken other measures to identify fraudulent activity on our mobile applications, websites and internal systems, we may not be able to detect and prevent all such activity. Similarly, the third parties we use to effectuate these transactions may fail to maintain adequate controls or systems to detect and prevent fraudulent activity. Persistent or pervasive fraudulent activity may cause customers and real estate partners to lose trust in us and decrease or terminate their usage of our products and services, or could result in financial loss, thereby harming our business and results of operations.

We Are Subject to Multiple Risks Related to the Credit Card and Debit Card Payments We Accept.

We accept payments through credit and debit card transactions. For credit and debit card payments, we pay interchange and other fees, which may increase over time. An increase in those fees may require us to increase the prices we charge and increase our operating expenses, either of which could harm our business, financial condition and results of operations.

We depend on processing vendors to complete credit and debit card transactions, both for payments owed to Zillow Group directly and for payments to other third parties, such as payments made between two third-party platform users such as renters and landlords in our rental payments product. If we or our processing vendors fail to maintain adequate systems for the authorization and processing of credit card transactions, it could cause one or more of the major credit card companies to disallow our continued use of their payment products. If these systems fail to work properly and, as a result, we do not charge our customers' credit cards on a timely basis or at all, our business, revenue, results of operations and financial condition could be harmed. In addition, if we add, eliminate or change any of our processing vendors, we may experience processing disruptions and increased operating expenses, either of which could harm our business, financial condition, or results of operations.

The payment methods that we offer also subject us to potential fraud and theft by criminals, who are becoming increasingly sophisticated, seeking to obtain unauthorized access to or exploit weaknesses that may exist in the payment systems. If we fail to comply with applicable rules or requirements for the payment methods we accept, or if payment-related data are compromised due to a breach of data, we may be liable for significant costs incurred by payment card issuing banks and other third parties or subject to fines and higher transaction fees, or our ability to accept or facilitate certain types of payments may be impaired. In addition, our customers could lose confidence in certain payment types, which may result in a shift to other payment types or potential changes to our payment systems that may result in higher costs. If we fail to adequately control fraudulent credit card transactions, we may face civil liability, diminished public perception of our security measures, and significantly higher credit card-related costs, each of which could harm our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We are also subject to payment card association operating rules, certification requirements and rules governing electronic funds transfers, which could change or be reinterpreted to make it more difficult for us to comply. We are required to comply with payment card industry security standards. Failing to comply with those standards may violate payment card association operating rules, federal and state laws and regulations, and the terms of our contracts with payment processors. Any failure to comply fully also may subject us to fines, penalties, damages and civil liability, reputational risk and may result in the loss or impairment of our ability to accept credit and debit card payments. Further, there is no guarantee that such compliance will prevent illegal or improper use of our payment systems or the theft, loss, or misuse of data pertaining to credit and debit cards, card holders and transactions.

If we are unable to maintain our chargeback rate or refund rates at acceptable levels, our processing vendors may increase our transaction fees or terminate their relationships with us. Any increases in our credit and debit card fees could harm our results of operations, particularly if we elect not to raise our rates for our service to offset the increase. The termination of our ability to process payments on any major credit or debit card could significantly impair our ability to operate our business.

Some of Our Potential Losses May Not Be Covered by Insurance. We May Not Be Able to Obtain or Maintain Adequate Insurance Coverage.

We maintain insurance to cover costs and losses from certain risk exposures in the ordinary course of our operations, but our insurance may not cover 100% of the costs and losses from all events. We are responsible for certain retentions and deductibles that vary by policy, and we may suffer losses that exceed our insurance coverage by a material amount. We may also incur costs or suffer losses arising from events against which we have no insurance coverage. In addition, large scale insurance market trends or the occurrence of adverse events in our business may raise our cost of procuring insurance or limit the amount or type of insurance we are able to secure. We may not be able to maintain our current coverage, or obtain new coverage in the future, on commercially reasonable terms or at all.

Environmentally Hazardous Conditions May Adversely Affect Us. Our Business Subjects Us and Our Customers to Environmental Regulation, Which Creates Uncertainty Regarding Future Liabilities.

Under various federal, state and local environmental laws, a current or previous owner or operator of real property may be liable for the cost of removing or remediating hazardous or toxic substances on such property. Such laws often impose liability whether or not the owner or operator knew of, or was responsible for, the presence of such hazardous or toxic substances. Even if more than one person may have been responsible for the contamination, each person covered by applicable environmental laws may be held responsible for all of the clean-up costs incurred. In addition, third parties may sue the owner or operator of a site for damages based on personal injury, natural resources or property damage or other costs, including investigation and clean-up costs, resulting from the environmental contamination. The presence of hazardous or toxic substances on one of our properties, including homes previously held in our inventory in connection with Zillow Offers operations, or the failure to properly remediate a contaminated property, could give rise to a lien in favor of the government for costs it may incur to address the contamination. A property owner who violates environmental laws may be subject to sanctions which may be enforced by governmental agencies or, in certain circumstances, private parties. The cost of defending against environmental claims, of compliance with environmental regulatory requirements or of remediating any contaminated property could materially and adversely affect us.

Compliance with new or more stringent environmental and climate-related laws or regulations or stricter interpretation of existing laws may require material expenditures by us. We cannot assure you that future laws, ordinances or regulations will not impose any material environmental or other liability to us. In addition, we may be required to comply with various local, state and federal fire, health, life-safety and similar regulations. Failure to comply with applicable laws and regulations could result in fines and/or damages, suspension of personnel, civil liability or other sanctions.

If Our Security Measures or Technology Systems, or Those of Third Parties Upon Which We Rely, Are Compromised, We May Be Subject to Legal Claims and Suffer Significant Losses, and Customers May Curtail Use of Our Products and Services and Our Real Estate Partners May Reduce or Eliminate Their Advertising on Our Mobile Applications and Websites.

Our products and services involve the transmission, processing, and/or storage of users' information, some of which may be private or include personally identifiable information such as social security numbers, financial account information, and credit card information. For example, our dotloop real estate transaction management software stores sensitive personal and financial information, our Mortech mortgage product and pricing software for mortgage professionals processes social security numbers, our rental applications product allows customers to obtain credit and background checks containing sensitive personal and financial information, and both Zillow Home Loans, and Zillow Closing Services, our mortgage origination business, and our real estate closings business, respectively, receive, handle and transmit highly sensitive personal and financial information about their its customers. Cyber-attacks, malicious internet-based activity, online and offline fraud, administrative or technical failures and other similar activities threaten the confidentiality, integrity and availability of our information technology systems, including those of the third parties upon which we rely, and our sensitive data, including customer, employee and real estate partner data as well as intellectual property and other confidential business information, which could result in potential significant liability and litigation. Such threats are prevalent and continue to rise, are increasingly difficult to detect and come from a variety of sources, including traditional computer "hackers", threat actors, "hacktivists", organized criminal threat actors, personnel (such as through theft or misuse), sophisticated nation states and nation-state-supported actors.

Some actors now engage and are expected to continue to engage in cyber-attacks, including without limitation nation-state actors for geopolitical reasons and in conjunction with military conflicts and defense activities. During times of war and other major conflicts, we and the third parties upon which we rely may be vulnerable to a heightened risk of these attacks, including retaliatory cyber-attacks, that could materially disrupt our systems and operations, supply chain and ability to produce, sell and distribute our services.

We and the third parties upon which we rely may be subject to a variety of evolving threats, including but not limited to social-engineering attacks (including through deep fakes, which may be increasingly more difficult to identify as fake, and phishing attacks), malicious code (such as viruses and worms), malware (including as a result of advanced persistent threat intrusions), denial-of-service attacks (such as credential stuffing), credential harvesting, stuffing attacks, personnel misconduct or error, ransomware attacks, supply-chain attacks, software bugs, server malfunctions, software or hardware failures, loss of data or other information technology assets, adware, telecommunications failures, earthquakes, fires, or floods, attacks enhanced or facilitated by AI, and other similar threats. In particular, severe ransomware attacks are becoming increasingly prevalent and can lead to significant interruptions in our operations, impact our ability to provide our products or services, loss of sensitive data and income, reputational harm and diversion of funds. Extortion payments may alleviate the negative impact of a ransomware attack, but we may be unwilling or unable to make such payments due to, for example, applicable laws or regulations prohibiting such payments.

Remote work has become more common and has increased risks to our information technology systems and data, as more of our employees utilize network connections, computers and devices outside our premises or network, including working at home, while in transit and in public locations. Additionally, future or past business transactions (such as acquisitions or integrations) could expose us to additional cybersecurity risks and vulnerabilities, as our systems could be negatively affected by vulnerabilities present in acquired or integrated entities' systems and technologies. Outside parties may attempt to fraudulently induce employees, officers, directors, customers or real estate partners to disclose sensitive information in order to gain access to our information or our customers' or real estate partners' information, and our information technology and infrastructure may be vulnerable to attacks by hackers or breached due to user error, malfeasance or other disruptions. If we experience compromises to our security that result in the loss or unauthorized disclosure of confidential information, our customers and real estate partners may lose trust in us, customers may decrease the use of our mobile applications or websites or stop using our mobile applications, websites, or services in their entirety, real estate partners may decrease or stop advertising on our mobile applications or websites, and we may be subject to legal claims and liability, government investigation and additional state and federal legal requirements. If we experience compromises to our security that result in the loss of availability of our data, our mobile applications, websites, or services may be unable to function at a level necessary to meet our customers' needs.

Our reliance on vendors could introduce new cybersecurity risks and vulnerabilities, including supply-chain attacks, and other threats to our business operations. We engage a variety of vendors to process and store sensitive data, including certain customer information, some of which may be private or include personally identifiable information. We also depend on vendors to host many of the systems and infrastructure used to provide our products and services. Our ability to monitor these vendors' information security practices is limited and these vendors may not have adequate information security measures in place. If our vendors experience a security incident or other interruption, we could experience adverse consequences, including harm to our business, results of operations and financial condition. Further, a security breach at our vendor could be perceived by customers or our real estate partners as a breach of our systems and could result in damage to our reputation and expose us to other losses. While we may be entitled to damages if our vendors fail to satisfy their privacy or security-related obligations to us, any award may be insufficient to cover our damages, or we may be unable to recover such award. In addition, supply-chain attacks have increased in frequency and severity, and we cannot guarantee that third parties' infrastructure in our supply chain or our third-party partners' supply chains have not been compromised.

Any of the previously identified or similar threats could cause a security incident or other interruption that could result in unauthorized, unlawful or accidental acquisition, modification, destruction, loss, alteration, encryption, disclosure of or access to our sensitive data of our information technology systems, or those of the third parties upon whom we rely. A security incident or other interruption could disrupt our ability (and that of third parties upon whom we rely) to provide our services.

While we have implemented security measures designed to protect against security incidents, there can be no assurance that these measures will be effective. Because the techniques used to obtain unauthorized access, disable or degrade service, or sabotage systems change frequently, often are not recognized until launched against a target, and may originate from less regulated and remote areas around the world, we may be unable to proactively address all these techniques or to implement adequate preventative measures. We may be unable in the future take steps to detect and remediate vulnerabilities, in our information technology systems but we may not be able to detect and remediate all vulnerabilities because such the threats and techniques change frequently and are often sophisticated in nature. Therefore, such vulnerabilities could be exploited but may not be detected until after a security incident has occurred. Unremediated high risk or critical vulnerabilities pose material risks to our business. Further, we may experience delays in developing and deploying remedial measures designed to address any such identified vulnerabilities.

Applicable data privacy and security obligations may require us to notify relevant stakeholders of security incidents. Such disclosures are costly and the disclosure or the failure to comply with such requirements could lead to adverse consequences.

If we (or a third party upon whom we rely) experience a security incident or are perceived to have experienced a security incident, we may experience adverse consequences. These consequences may include: government enforcement actions (for example, investigations, fines, penalties, audits and inspections); additional reporting requirements and/or oversight; restrictions on processing sensitive data (including personal data); litigation (including class action claims); indemnification obligations; negative publicity; reputational harm; monetary fund diversions; interruptions in our operations including (including availability of data); financial loss and other similar harms. Any or all of these consequences could negatively impact our ability to attract new customers and increase engagement by existing customers, prevent or cause existing customers to curtail or stop use of using our products or services or close their accounts, or cause existing real estate partners to cancel their contracts, thereby harming our business, results of operations and financial condition.

In addition to experiencing a security incident, third parties may gather, collect, or infer sensitive information about us from public sources, data brokers, or other means that reveals competitively sensitive details about our organization and could be used to undermine our competitive advantage or market position. Additionally, sensitive information of the Company or our customers could be leaked, disclosed, or revealed as a result of or in connection with our employee's, personnel's, or vendor's use of generative AI technologies.

Our contracts may not contain limitations of liability, and even where they do, there can be no assurance that limitations of liability in our contracts are sufficient to protect us from liabilities, damages or claims related to our data privacy and information security obligations. We cannot be sure that our insurance coverage will be adequate or sufficient to protect us from or to mitigate liabilities arising out of our privacy and security practices, that such coverage will continue to be available on commercially reasonable terms or at all or that such coverage will pay future claims.

Any Significant Disruption in Service on Our Mobile Applications or Websites or in Our Network Could Damage Our Reputation and Brands, and Result in a Loss of Customers of Our Products and Services and of Our Real Estate Partners, Which Could Harm Our Business, Results of Operations and Financial Condition.

Our brand, reputation and ability to attract customers and real estate partners and deliver quality products and services depend on the reliable performance of our network infrastructure and content delivery processes. Our mobile applications and websites are exposed to attempts to overload our servers with denial-of-service attacks or similar disruptions from unauthorized use of our computer systems. We have experienced minor interruptions in these systems in the past, including server failures that temporarily slowed the performance of our mobile applications and websites, and we may experience interruptions in the future. Interruptions in these systems, whether due to system failures, computer viruses, software errors or physical or electronic break-ins, could affect the security or availability of our products and services on our mobile applications and websites and prevent or inhibit the ability of customers to access or effect transactions using our services. Since our customers may rely on our products and services, including our real estate transaction services and customer relationship management tools, for important aspects of their personal lives and businesses, problems with the reliability, availability or security of our systems could damage our customers' businesses, harm our reputation, delay or inhibit a customer from completing a real estate transaction, result in a loss of customers of our products and services and of real estate partners and result in additional costs, any of which could harm our business, results of operations and financial condition.

To deliver mobile and web Zillow Group brand content while ensuring scalability and redundancy, as well as internal support for our enterprise, we utilize both third-party web services for cloud computing and storage and shared data centers in Seattle, Washington, Ashburn, Virginia, and Santa Clara, California.

various locations across the United States.

We do not own or control the operation of certain of these facilities. Our systems and operations are vulnerable to damage or interruption from fire, flood, power loss, telecommunications failure, terrorist attacks, acts of war, electronic and physical break-ins, computer viruses, earthquakes and similar events. The occurrence of any of the foregoing events could result in damage to our systems and hardware or could cause them to fail completely, and our insurance may not cover such events or may be insufficient to compensate us for losses that may occur.

A failure of our systems at one site could result in reduced functionality for our customers, and a total failure of our systems could cause our mobile applications or websites to be inaccessible or for us to be unable to carry out day-to-day operations. Problems faced by our third-party web-hosting providers with the telecommunications network providers with which they contract or with the systems by which they allocate capacity among their customers, including us, could adversely affect the experience of our customers. Our third-party web-hosting providers could decide to close their facilities without adequate notice. Any financial difficulties, such as bankruptcy reorganization, faced by our third-party web-hosting providers or any of the service providers with whom they contract may have negative effects on our business, the nature and extent of which are difficult to predict. If our third-party web-hosting providers are unable to keep up with our growing needs for capacity, our customers, real estate partners and business could be harmed. In addition, if distribution channels for our mobile applications experience disruptions, such disruptions could adversely affect the ability of users and potential users to access or update our mobile applications, which could harm our business.

We may not carry business interruption insurance sufficient to compensate us for the potentially significant losses, including the potential harm to the future growth of our business, which may result from interruptions in our service as a result of system failures. Any errors, defects, disruptions or other performance problems with our services could harm our reputation, business, results of operations and financial condition.

We Rely Upon Certain Third-Party Services to Support Critical Functions of Our Business and Any Disruption of or Interference with our Use of those Third-Party Services Could Adversely Impact Our Operations and Our Business.

A limited number of third-party services support essential functions of our business, including Amazon Web Services ("AWS") and certain other cloud communications platform-as-a-service ("CPaaS"), Infrastructure-as-a-Service ("IaaS") and Software-as-a-Service ("SaaS Services") technologies hosted by third parties (together with CPaaS and IaaS, "Cloud Services"). AWS provides us with a distributed computing infrastructure platform for business operations, which is commonly referred to as a "cloud" computing service. Certain of our computer systems utilize data processing, storage capabilities and other services provided by AWS, and we currently run the vast majority of computing to power our mobile applications, websites, and other technology products and services on AWS, as our preferred cloud provider. In addition, we use Cloud Services to support important functions of our business, including enterprise resource planning, accounting, including revenue recognition, real estate transaction services, customer communications, and customer relationship management. We store a significant amount of information about our customers, real estate partners, employees, and business on AWS and in the Cloud Services, and we rely on these third-party service providers to provide services on a timely and effective basis. Their failure to perform as expected or as required by contract could result in significant disruptions and costs to our operations. In light of our reliance on AWS and Cloud Services, coupled with the complexity of obtaining replacement services, any disruption of, or interference with, or change in terms that impacts our use of or the cost to use these third-party services could adversely impact our operations and business.

We Have and May Continue to be Subject to Outstanding Claims Related to Zillow Offers and Zillow Closing Services Following the Wind Down of Our Zillow Offers their Respective Operations.

Although we concluded the wind down of our Zillow Offers operations in 2022, we We have and may in the future be subject to, claims, suits, government investigations, enforcement actions and proceedings arising from or related to Zillow Offers or Zillow Closing Services, including actions with respect to the purchase, renovation and resale of properties; Zillow Offers operations; Zillow Closing Services operations; and the subsequent wind down of operations. For example, on March 10, 2022, May 5, 2022 and July 20, 2022 shareholder derivative suits were filed operations, including those matters described in Part II, Item 8 in Note 16 under the U.S. District Court for the Western District of

Washington and on July 25, 2022, a shareholder derivative suit was filed in the Superior Court of the State of Washington, King County, against us and certain of our executive officers and directors seeking unspecified damages on behalf of us and certain other relief, such as reform to corporate governance practices. The plaintiffs (including us as a nominal defendant) allege, among other things, that the defendants breached their fiduciary duties by failing to maintain an effective system of internal controls, which purportedly caused the losses we incurred when we decided to wind down Zillow Offers operations. Plaintiffs also allege, among other things, violations of Section 14(a) and Section 20(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, insider trading and waste of corporate assets. On June 1, 2022 and September 14, 2022, the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington issued orders consolidating the three federal derivative suits and staying the consolidated action until further order of the court. On September 15, 2022, the Superior Court of the State of Washington entered a temporary stay in the state derivative suit, which stay was lifted on January 23, 2023. This and other similar subsection titled "Legal Proceedings" claims, suits, government investigations, and proceedings are inherently uncertain, and their results cannot be predicted with certainty. Regardless of the outcome, any such legal proceedings can have an adverse impact on us because of legal costs, diversion of management and other personnel, and other factors. In addition, it is possible that a resolution of one or more such proceedings could result in reputational harm, liability, fines, penalties, or sanctions, as well as judgments, consent decrees, or orders, which could in the future materially and adversely affect our business, operating results and financial condition.

Risks Related to Our Mortgages Business

If Zillow Home Loans is Unable to Obtain and Maintain Sufficient Financing to Fund Its Origination of Mortgages or is Unable to Resell Mortgages on the Secondary Market, Our Mortgages Business and Financial Results May Suffer.

Zillow Home Loans funds substantially all of its lending operations using warehouse and loan repurchase facilities, intending to sell substantially all loans and corresponding servicing rights to third-party financial institutions, government-sponsored entities or mortgage servicing rights purchasers after a holding period. A substantial portion of the amounts available under these warehouse and loan repurchase facilities are not committed, meaning the applicable lender is not obligated to, but may in its discretion, advance loan funds beyond the committed amounts up to the maximum borrowing capacity. Zillow Home Loans' borrowings are then generally repaid with the proceeds it receives from mortgage sales. To maintain and grow its business, Zillow Home Loans depends, in part, on having sufficient borrowing capacity under its current facilities or obtaining additional borrowing capacity under new facilities. If Zillow Home Loans is not able to negotiate with its lenders to advance loan funds beyond the committed amounts under its warehouse and repurchase facilities or to otherwise obtain and maintain debt financing with sufficient capacity or flexibility on acceptable terms, and does not have sufficient available cash on hand, then Zillow Home Loans may be unable to maintain or increase the volume of mortgage loans that it originates, may be limited in the type or quantity of loans it can fund, may lose customers to other mortgage lenders and its business may suffer. If Zillow Home Loans is unable to form or retain relationships with third-party financial institutions to purchase its loans or is unable to comply with any covenant in its agreements with these institutions, or is unable to do so on acceptable terms, it may be unable to sell its loans on the secondary market on favorable terms or at all. If Zillow Home Loans is unable to sell its loans or is required to repurchase the loans from third parties, it may be required to hold the loans for investment or sell them at a discount.

Zillow Home Loans Product Offerings May Not Meet Customers' Financing Needs, Which Could Cause Them to Use Other Lenders.

Zillow Home Loans currently offers a number of mortgage products to customers including conventional conforming and non-conforming programs and government loan guarantee programs. Such offerings are subject to change based on various factors such as availability, business needs and customer demand. If these programs do not meet the financing needs of our customers, and we do not adapt to market changes and customer preferences, customers may opt to obtain financing from other lenders who offer different or more competitive rates or loan products. Similarly, if any of the government sponsored entities or government loan guarantee programs amend the terms of an existing loan program, cease offering the program, limit our ability to use the program or revoke the authority of Zillow Home Loans to offer such programs, we may have to make changes to or discontinue the mortgage products that we offer, which may negatively affect our business.

Zillow Home Loans May Not Be Able to Continue to Grow its Mortgage Loan Origination Business, Which Could Negatively Affect Our Mortgages Business, Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

The Zillow Home Loans mortgage loan origination business consists of providing purchase money loans to homebuyers and refinancing existing loans. The volume of originations of purchase money mortgage loans by Zillow Home Loans and future growth is impacted by, among other things, awareness of Zillow Home Loans and use of other Zillow products and services during the home buying and selling process. Changes to the other products and services that Zillow or its real estate partners provide may negatively impact demand for Zillow Home Loans. In addition, our ability to secure relationships with traditional business clients may influence our ability to grow our loan origination business. Our production and consumer direct lending operations are also subject to overall market factors that can impact our ability to grow our loan production volume. For example, volatile interest rates, affordability challenges, increased competition from new and existing market participants, reductions in the overall level of refinancing activity or slow growth in the level of new home purchase activity can impact our ability to continue to grow our loan production volumes, and we may be forced to accept lower margins in our respective businesses in order to continue to compete and keep our volume of activity consistent with past or projected levels. If we are unable to continue to grow our loan origination business, this could adversely affect our business.

Zillow Home Loans Is Dependent on United States Government-Sponsored Entities and Government Agencies, and Any Actions by These Entities or Changes in These Entities or Their Operations Could Adversely Affect Our Mortgage Business, Liquidity, Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

The ability of Zillow Home Loans to generate revenue through loan sales depends, in part, on its participation in programs administered by government agencies such as the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development's

Federal Housing Administration, the United States Department of Veterans Affairs, the United States Department of Agriculture, or government-sponsored entities ("GSEs") such as the Federal National Mortgage Association ("Fannie Mae") or the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation ("Freddie Mac"). Presently, some of the loans Zillow Home Loans originates are sold on a direct basis to a GSE, while others are sold "whole loan" to individual investors on the secondary market. If any of these government agencies or GSEs limit Zillow Home Loans' ability to participate in any of these programs, or if the operation of any of these government agencies or GSEs or the programs they administer are eliminated or changed, our mortgages business, liquidity, financial condition, and results of operations may be adversely affected.

A number of legislative proposals have been introduced in recent years that would wind down or phase out the GSEs, including proposals to end the conservatorship and privatize Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. It is not possible to predict the scope and nature of the actions that the United States government, including the current administration, will ultimately take with respect to the GSEs. Any changes in laws and regulations affecting the relationship between Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and their regulators or the United States federal government, and any changes in leadership at any of these entities could adversely affect our mortgages business and prospects. Any discontinuation of, or significant reduction in, the operation of Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac or any significant adverse change in their capital structure, financial condition, activity levels in the primary or secondary mortgage markets or underwriting criteria could materially and adversely affect our mortgages business, liquidity, financial condition, and results of operations. A discontinuation or reduction in the operations of the GSEs could also affect "whole loan" sales on the secondary market, as there is a potential that this could cause a sharp decline in investor appetite.

Zillow Home Loans Operates in a Highly Regulated Industry, and Federal, State, and Local Laws and Regulations, Including Many That Are Continually Changing, Could Materially and Adversely Affect Our Business, Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

Zillow Home Loans is required to comply with a wide array of federal, state and local laws and regulations that regulate, among other things, the manner in which it conducts its loan origination business. These regulations directly impact the Zillow Home Loans business and require constant compliance, monitoring and internal and external audits.

Zillow Home Loans' failure to operate effectively and in compliance with these laws, regulations and rules could subject us to lawsuits or governmental actions and damage our reputation, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. For example, Zillow Home Loans' failure to comply with these laws, regulations and rules may result in increased costs of doing business, changes to the way we operate our business, reduced payments by borrowers, modification of the original terms of loans, permanent forgiveness of debt, delays in the foreclosure process, forfeiture or refunds on fees collected on loan originations, increased servicing advances, litigation, reputational damage, enforcement actions, and repurchase and indemnification obligations.

In addition, Zillow Home Loans must ensure that our lending operations serve consumers in accordance with a variety of federal and state fair lending laws and regulations, including without limitation the Fair Housing Act, the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act, and the prohibition against engaging in Unfair, Deceptive, or Abusive Acts or Practices pursuant to the Dodd-Frank Act, Federal Trade Commission Act, and state corollaries. Our inability to conduct our lending operations in compliance with fair lending laws and regulations may expose Zillow Home Loans to regulatory action, litigation, and reputational damage, among other things.

Our Mortgages Business is Impacted by Interest Rates. Changes in Prevailing Interest Rates May Have an Adverse Effect on Our Financial Results.

Our financial performance is directly affected by changes in prevailing interest rates and home prices, which in turn, impact the affordability of a home. Our financial performance may be adversely affected or be subject to substantial volatility because of changes in prevailing interest rates, which may be impacted by a number of factors. For example, in recent years, due to inflationary pressures, there was an increased degree of uncertainty and unpredictability concerning current interest rates, future interest rates and potential negative interest rates, which had an adverse effect on the results of operations.

Consumer demand for certain mortgage products and loan types are frequently driven by changes in market conditions, interest rates, lender fees, and other transaction costs. If interest rates continue to rise or remain elevated, our business could be adversely affected if we are unable to increase our share of purchase mortgages or if affordability challenges contract the total addressable market. In either case, our mortgage origination business and our financial results could be harmed.

Zillow Home Loans uses derivatives and other instruments to reduce exposure to adverse changes in interest rates. Hedging interest rate risk is a complex process, requiring sophisticated models and constant monitoring. Zillow Home Loans' hedging activity may fail to provide adequate coverage for interest rate exposure due to market volatility, hedging instruments that do not directly correlate with the interest rate risk exposure being hedged or counterparty defaults on obligations. Certain of our hedges related to newly originated mortgages may be subject to margin calls, which, if made, could adversely impact our liquidity. There may be periods during which Zillow Home Loans elects not to hedge some or all of its interest rate risk.

Risks Related to Our Intellectual Property

We May Be Unable to Adequately Protect Our Intellectual Property, Which Could Harm the Value of Our Brands and Our Business.

We regard our intellectual property as critical to our success, and we rely on trademark, copyright and patent law, trade secret protection and contracts to protect our proprietary rights. If we are not successful in protecting our intellectual property, the value of our brands and our business, results of operations and financial condition could be harmed.

While we believe that our issued patents and pending patent applications help to protect our business, we cannot ensure that our operations do not, or will not, infringe valid, enforceable patents of third parties or that competitors will not devise new methods of competing with us that are not covered by our patents or patent applications. We cannot ensure that our patent applications will be approved, that any patents issued will adequately protect our intellectual property, that such patents will not be challenged by third parties or found to be invalid or unenforceable, or that our patents will be effective in preventing third parties from utilizing a "copycat" business model to offer the same products or services. The Aspects of the technology underlying our Zestimate home valuation model, for example, which we consider to be a trade secret affording us a key competitive advantage with respect to customer engagement, is currently protected by patents, the loss of which could benefit comparable services provided by our competitors and result in decreased user traffic and engagement with our mobile applications and websites, thereby harming our results of operations and financial condition. In addition to our patented technology, our Zestimate home valuation model uses a significant amount of proprietary, trade secret methodology. Any accidental disclosure, or disclosure in response to litigation or regulatory inquiries that do not include confidential information protection could harm our competitive advantage.

Effective trademark, service mark, copyright and trade secret protection may not be available in every country in which our products and services may be provided. The laws of certain countries do not protect proprietary rights to the same extent as the laws of the United States and, therefore, in certain jurisdictions, we may be unable to protect intellectual property and our proprietary technology adequately against unauthorized third-party copying or use, which could harm our competitive position. We have licensed in the past, and expect to license in the future, certain of our proprietary rights, such as trademarks or copyrighted material, to third parties. These licensees may take actions that might diminish the value of our proprietary rights or harm our reputation, even if we have agreements prohibiting such activity. Though certain of these third parties are obligated to indemnify us for breaches of our intellectual property rights, they may be unable to meet these obligations. In addition, we rely on intellectual property and technology developed or licensed by third parties, and we may not be able to obtain licenses and technologies from these third parties on reasonable terms or at all. Any of these events could harm our business, results of operations or financial condition.

In addition, we may actively pursue entities that infringe our intellectual property, including through legal action. Taking such action may be costly, and we cannot ensure that such actions will be successful. Any increase in the unauthorized use of our intellectual property could make it more expensive for us to do business and harm our results of operations or financial condition. Similarly, we may not be able to adequately protect innovations resulting from generative artificial intelligence ("AI") due to existing copyright and patent laws.

Intellectual Property Disputes Are Costly to Defend and Could Harm Our Business, Results of Operations, Financial Condition and Reputation.

From time to time, we face allegations that we have infringed the trademarks, copyrights, patents and other intellectual property rights of third parties. We are currently subject to intellectual property infringement claims, including actions brought by International Business Machines Corporation. These claims allege, among other things, that aspects of our technology infringe upon the plaintiffs' intellectual property. If we are not successful in defending ourselves against these claims, we may be required to pay damages and may be subject to injunctions, each of which could harm our business, results of operations, financial condition and reputation. As we grow our business and expand our operations, we expect that we will continue to be subject to intellectual property claims and allegations. Patent and other intellectual property disputes or litigation may be protracted and expensive, and the results are difficult to predict and may require us to stop offering certain products, services or features, purchase licenses that may be expensive to procure, or modify our products or services. In addition, patent or other intellectual property disputes or litigation may result in significant settlement costs. Any of these events could harm our business, results of operations, financial condition and reputation.

In addition, we use open source software in our services and will continue to use open source software in the future. From time to time, we may be subject to claims brought against companies that incorporate open source software into their products or services, claiming ownership of, or demanding release of, the source code, the open source software and/or derivative works that were developed using such software, or otherwise seeking to enforce the terms of the applicable open source license. These claims could also result in litigation, and we may be required to purchase a costly license or remove open source software, devote additional research and development resources to changing our products or services, make generally available the source code for our proprietary technology, or waive certain of our intellectual property rights, any of which would have a negative effect on our business and results of operations.

Even if these matters do not result in litigation or are resolved in our favor or without significant cash settlements, the time and resources necessary to resolve them could harm our business, results of operations, financial condition and reputation.

We May Be Unable to Continue to Use the Domain Names That We Use in Our Business, or Prevent Third Parties From Acquiring and Using Domain Names That Infringe on, Are Similar to, or Otherwise Decrease the Value of Our Brand or Our Trademarks or Service Marks.

We have registered domain names for our websites that we use in our business. If we lose the ability to use a domain name, we may incur significant expenses to market our products and services under a new domain name, which could harm our business. In addition, our competitors could attempt to capitalize on our brand recognition by using domain names similar to ours. Domain names similar to ours have been registered in the United States and elsewhere. We may be unable to prevent third parties from acquiring and using domain names that infringe on, are similar to, or otherwise decrease the value of our brand or our trademarks or service marks. Protecting and enforcing our rights in our domain names and determining the rights of others may require litigation, which could result in substantial costs and diversion of management's attention.

Proprietary Rights Agreements With Employees and Others May Not Adequately Prevent Disclosure of Trade Secrets and Other Proprietary Information.

In order to protect our technologies and strategic business and operations information, we rely in part on proprietary rights agreements and other assignment provisions with our employees, independent contractors, vendors, licensees, and other third parties. These agreements may not be enough to fully mitigate the possibility of inadvertent disclosure of confidential information, including trade secrets, and may not provide an adequate remedy in the event of unauthorized disclosure of confidential information. The loss of trade secret protection could make it easier for third parties to compete with our products by copying functionality. Others may independently discover our trade secrets and proprietary information, and in such cases, we could not assert any trade secret rights against such parties. Further, if our employees, contractors or other third parties with whom we do business use intellectual property owned by others in their work for us, disputes may arise as to the rights in related or resulting know-how and inventions. Any changes in, or unfavorable interpretations of, intellectual property laws may compromise our ability to enforce our trade secret and intellectual property rights. Costly and time-consuming litigation could be necessary to enforce and determine the scope of our proprietary rights, and failure to obtain or maintain protection of our trade secrets or other proprietary information could harm our business, results of operations, reputation and competitive position.

We May Not Be Able to Halt the Operations of Websites That Aggregate or Misappropriate Our Data.

From time to time, third parties have misappropriated our data through website scraping, robots or other means, and aggregated this data on their websites with data from other companies. In addition, copycat websites have misappropriated data on our network and attempted to imitate our brand or the functionality of our websites. When we have become aware of such websites, we have employed technological or legal measures in an attempt to halt their operations. We may not be able, however, to detect all such websites in a timely manner and, even if we could, technological and legal measures may be insufficient to halt their operations. In some cases, particularly in the case of websites operating outside of the United States, our available remedies may not be adequate to protect us against the impact of the operation of such websites. In addition, if such activity creates confusion among customers or real estate partners, our brands and business could be harmed. This misappropriation of data may also harm our relationships with any third party data providers who originally licensed the data to us, including potentially breaching our agreements with these third parties depending on the terms of each license agreement. Regardless of whether we can successfully enforce our rights against the operators of these websites, any measures that we may take could require us to expend significant financial or other resources, which could harm our business, results of operations or financial condition.

Risks Related to Regulatory Compliance and Legal Matters

Failure to Comply with Federal, State and Local Laws, Rules and Regulations or to Obtain and Maintain Required Licenses or Authorizations, Could Materially and Adversely Affect our Business, Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

We provide products and services to customers and real estate partners in heavily regulated industries through a number of different channels across the United States and to some extent, in Canada. As a result, we are currently subject to a variety of, and may in the future become subject to additional or newly enacted, international, federal, state and local laws and regulations in various jurisdictions, which are subject to change at any time, including laws regarding the real estate, rental, mortgage and insurance industries, mobile and internet based businesses and other businesses that rely on advertising, as well as privacy, data security, and consumer protection laws, and employment laws. These laws are complex and can be costly to comply with, require significant management time and effort, and subject us to claims, government enforcement actions, civil and criminal liability or other remedies, including suspension of business operations. These laws may conflict with each other, and if we comply with the laws of one jurisdiction, it may require us to adjust our practices in other jurisdictions. Our distributed workforce may subject us to employment laws, including employment taxes, in many states and localities in the United States many provinces in Canada and other locations where employees perform work, certain foreign jurisdictions, and may increase the costs and expenses we incur to comply with or seek compliance with these laws. Presence of our employees located in Serbia requires us to conform to employment, tax and other applicable requirements in Serbia and may increase costs and expenses we incur to comply with or seek compliance with these requirements. In addition, our contingent workers engaged by the Company throughout the United States Canada and other current and future global locations may subject us to laws and taxes in those jurisdictions and may increase the costs and expenses we incur to imply comply with applicable laws and maintain adequate protection of our rights, including intellectual property rights.

In addition, by providing a medium through which users can post content and communicate with one another, we may also be subject to laws governing intellectual property ownership, obscenity, libel, discrimination/hate speech, tenant screening, and privacy, among other issues. The real estate agents, mortgage professionals, banks, property managers, rental agents and certain of our other customers and advertisers are subject to various state and federal laws and regulations, including, but not limited to those relating to real estate, rentals and mortgages, which may impact their use of our mobile applications and websites. We cannot ensure that these entities will comply with applicable laws and regulations, including any future changes to those laws and regulations, at all times. We endeavor to ensure that any content created displayed by Zillow Group is consistent with such laws and regulations by obtaining assurances of compliance from our advertisers and customers for their activities through, and the content they provide on, our mobile applications and websites.

In connection with the real estate transaction products and services that we provide, we maintain real estate brokerage, title and escrow, mortgage broker, insurance agent/producer and mortgage lender licenses in the markets in which we operate those regulated products and services. Certain of our mortgage marketing products are operated by our wholly owned subsidiary, Zillow Group Marketplace, Inc., a licensed mortgage broker, and we originate residential mortgages through Zillow Home Loans, a licensed mortgage lender. Zillow Group Marketplace, Inc. and Zillow Home Loans are subject to stringent state and federal laws and regulations and to the scrutiny of state and federal government agencies as a licensed mortgage broker and licensed mortgage lender, respectively. Mortgage products are regulated at the state level by licensing authorities and administrative agencies, and also by the CFPB and other federal agencies. These laws generally regulate the manner in which lending and lending-related activities are marketed or made available, including advertising and other consumer disclosures, payments for services and record keeping requirements; these laws include but are not limited to the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act, the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the Truth in Lending Act, the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, the Fair Housing Act, the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act and various federal, state and local laws. The CFPB and FTC also has have broad authority to enforce prohibitions on practices that it deems to be unfair, deceptive or abusive.

The growing regulatory focus, in particular by the CFPB, focus on artificial intelligence/automated underwriting, digital mortgage comparison shopping platforms, dark patterns, property valuation and marketing models, coupled with rapidly changing fair housing and fair lending enforcement priorities by the CFPB and other regulators may impact our ability to adapt our business and maintain compliance, which may affect our business operations, financial condition or results of operations. State laws may restrict the amount and nature of interest and fees that may be charged by a lender or mortgage broker, or otherwise regulate the manner in which lenders or mortgage brokers operate or advertise.

We hold real estate brokerage licenses through multiple entities in multiple states and may apply for additional real estate brokerage licenses as needed to support our business. To maintain these licenses, we must comply with the requirements governing licensed real estate activities and brokerage-related businesses in the markets where we operate. We may be subject to additional local, state and federal laws and regulations governing residential real estate transactions, including those administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development ("HUD"), and the states and municipalities in which we transact. Further, due to the geographic scope of our operations and the nature of the services we provide, certain of our other subsidiaries maintain title and escrow licenses in certain states in which we operate, including in connection with Zillow Closing Services, operate.

A number of our personnel are required to maintain individual real estate agent or broker licenses, title and escrow agent licenses, insurance agent/producer, mortgage broker, mortgage loan originator licenses and mortgage lender licenses. In addition, for certain company licenses that we hold, we are required to designate individual licensed brokers of record, qualified individuals and control persons. We cannot assure you that we, or our licensed personnel, are and will remain at all times, in full compliance with real estate, title and escrow, insurance and mortgage licensing and consumer protection laws and regulations and we may be subject to fines or penalties in the event of any non-compliance. If we, or our licensed personnel, apply for new licenses, we may become subject to additional licensing requirements, which we may not be in compliance with at all times. If in the future a state agency were to determine that we, or our licensed personnel, are required to obtain additional licenses in that state in order to operate our business, or if we or our licensed personnel lose or do not renew an existing license or are otherwise found to be in violation of a law or regulation, we or our licensed personnel may be subject to fines or legal penalties, lawsuits, enforcement actions, void contracts, or our business operations in that state may be suspended or prohibited. Compliance with these laws and regulations is complicated and costly and may inhibit our ability to innovate or grow.

Zillow Home Loans operates its Federal Housing Administration loan program under authority granted by HUD. In the event that HUD determines that Zillow Home Loans has failed or refused to comply with all relevant terms and conditions necessary to maintain its authority active and in good standing, then such authority could be suspended, revoked or materially altered, which would materially and adversely affect the ability of Zillow Home Loans to conduct its business.

If we are unable to comply with these laws or regulations in a cost-effective manner, we may modify impacted products and services, which could require a substantial investment and loss of revenue, or require that we cease providing the impacted product or service altogether. If we are found to have violated laws or regulations, we may be subject to significant fines, penalties, and other losses.

We Are Subject to Stringent and Evolving Laws, Regulations, Rules, Contractual Obligations, Policies and Other Obligations Related to Data Privacy and Security in the United States and Canada and May Be Subject to Similar Data Privacy and Security Obligations in Other Jurisdictions Where We Have Operations and/or Vendors. Our Actual or Perceived Failure to Comply With Such Obligations Could Lead to Regulatory Investigations or Actions; Litigation; Litigation (Including Class Claims) and Mass Arbitration Demands; Fines and Penalties; Disruptions of Our Business Operations; Reputational Harm; Loss of Revenue or Profits; Loss of Customers and Other Adverse Business Consequences.

In the ordinary course of business, we collect, receive, store, process, generate, use, transfer, disclose, make accessible, protect, secure, dispose of, transmit, and share (collectively, processing) personal data and other sensitive data, which may include proprietary and confidential business data, trade secrets, intellectual property, sensitive third-party data, business plans, transactions, social security numbers, financial account information, and credit card information.

Our data processing activities may subject us to numerous data privacy and security obligations, such as various laws, regulations, guidance, industry standards, external and internal privacy and security policies, contractual requirements, and other obligations relating to data privacy and security.

In the United States, federal, state, and local governments have enacted numerous data privacy and security laws, including data breach notification laws, personal data privacy laws, consumer protection laws (e.g., Section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act), and other similar laws (e.g., wiretapping laws). For example, the California Consumer Privacy Act of 2018, as amended by the California Privacy Rights Act of 2020 ("CCPA" CPRA), (collectively, "CCPA") applies to personal information of consumers, business representatives, and employees who are California residents, and requires businesses to provide specific disclosures in privacy notices and honor requests of California residents to exercise certain privacy rights, rights, such as those noted below. The CCPA provides for civil penalties of up to $7,500 per violation and allows private litigants affected by certain data breaches to recover significant statutory damages. In addition, the California Privacy Rights Act of 2020 ("CPRA"), which becomes operative January 1, 2023, will expand CPRA expanded the CCPA's requirements, including applying by adding a new right for individuals to correct their personal information of business representatives and employees and establishing a new regulatory agency to implement and enforce the law.

Other states, such as Virginia, Colorado, Connecticut and Utah, have also passed comprehensive privacy laws, and similar laws are being considered in several other states, as well as at the federal and local levels. These state laws and the CCPA provide individuals with certain rights concerning their personal information, including the right to access, correct, or delete certain personal information, and opt-out of certain data processing activities, such as targeted advertising, profiling, and automated decision-making. The exercise of these rights may impact our business and ability to provide our products and services. We also have operations outside of the United States, including in Canada, and Canada's Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act

Protection and Electronic Documents Act ("PIPEDA") imposes strict requirements for processing personal data and there are also various provincial and territorial privacy laws that govern the protection of personal data. These developments may further complicate compliance efforts and may increase legal risk and compliance costs for us and the third parties upon whom we rely.

Additionally, laws, regulations, and standards covering marketing and advertising activities conducted by telephone, email, mobile devices, and the internet, may be applicable to our business, such as the Telephone Consumer Protection Act, the Telemarketing Sales Rule, the Controlling the Assault of Non-Solicited Pornography and Marketing Act, and similar state consumer protection laws, laws, as well as requirements imposed by private parties such as telecommunications carriers. We also assist with the processing of customer credit card transactions and consumer credit report requests, originate mortgage loans, perform real estate closings and provide other product offerings, which results in us receiving or facilitating transmission of personally identifiable information. Processing of this type of information is increasingly subject to legislation and regulation in the United States, including under the Fair Credit Reporting Act and the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act. These laws and regulations are generally intended to protect the privacy and security of personal information, including credit card information that is collected, processed and transmitted. We could be adversely affected if government regulations require us to significantly change our business practices with respect to this type of information or if the third parties that we engage with to provide processing and screening services violate applicable laws and regulations. Further, restrictions implemented on the platforms through which our websites and applications are accessed, such as mobile operating systems, may impede the effectiveness of our marketing efforts and ability to measure the effectiveness of those efforts, reducing our ability to market our products and services and grow our customer base. A number of states have in place laws regulating the interception of electronic communications; if a court were to conclude that our monitoring of user activity violates such laws, our ability to understand our customers, and therefore the effectiveness of our product offerings and marketing efforts, could be reduced.

Our employees and personnel use generative AI technologies to perform their work, and the disclosure and use of personal information in generative AI technologies is subject to various privacy laws and other privacy obligations. Governments have passed and are likely to pass additional laws regulating generative AI. Our use of this technology could result in additional compliance costs, regulatory investigations and actions, copyright infringement claims, and consumer lawsuits. If we are unable to use generative AI, it could make our business less efficient and result in competitive disadvantages.

In addition to data privacy and security laws, we may be contractually subject to industry standards adopted by industry groups and may become subject to such obligations in the future. We may also be bound by other contractual obligations related to data privacy and security, and our efforts to comply with such obligations may not be successful. For example, we may be subject to the Payment Card Industry Data Security Standard ("PCI DSS") requirements. The PCI DSS requires companies to adopt certain measures to ensure the security of cardholder information, including using and maintaining firewalls, adopting proper password protections for certain devices and software, and restricting data access. Noncompliance with PCI-DSS can result in penalties ranging from $5,000 to $100,000 per month by credit card companies, litigation, damage to our reputation, and revenue losses. We may also rely on vendors to process payment card data; those vendors may be subject to PCI DSS, and our business may be negatively affected if our vendors are fined or suffer other consequences as a result of PCI DSS noncompliance.

We may publish privacy notices, marketing materials, and other statements, such as compliance with certain certifications or self-regulatory principles, regarding data privacy and security. If these policies, materials or statements are found to be deficient, lacking in transparency, deceptive, unfair, or misrepresentative of our practices, we may be subject to investigation, enforcement actions by regulators, or other adverse consequences.

Obligations related to data privacy and security (and consumers' data privacy expectations) are quickly changing, becoming increasingly stringent, and creating regulatory uncertainty. Additionally, these obligations may be subject to differing applications and interpretations, which may be inconsistent or conflict among jurisdictions. Preparing for and complying with these obligations requires us to devote significant resources and may necessitate changes to our services, information technologies, systems, and practices and to those of any third parties that process personal data on our behalf.

We may at times fail (or be perceived to have failed) in our efforts to comply with our data privacy and security obligations. Moreover, despite our efforts, our personnel or third parties on whom we rely may fail to comply with such obligations, which could negatively impact our business operations. If we or the third parties on which we rely fail, or are perceived to have failed, to address or comply with applicable data privacy and security obligations, we could face significant consequences, including but not limited to: government enforcement actions (e.g., investigations, fines, penalties, audits, inspections, and similar); litigation (including class-action claims); and mass arbitration demands; additional reporting requirements and/or oversight; bans on processing personal data; and orders to destroy or not use personal data. In particular, plaintiffs have become increasingly more active in bringing privacy-related claims against companies, including class claims and mass arbitration demands. Some of these claims allow for the recovery of statutory damages on a per violation basis, and, if viable, carry the potential for monumental statutory damages, depending on the volume of data and the number of violations. Any of these events could have a material adverse effect on our reputation, business, or financial condition, including but not limited to: loss of customers; inability to process personal data or to operate in certain jurisdictions; limited ability to develop or commercialize our products and services; expenditure of time and resources to defend any claim or inquiry; adverse publicity; or substantial changes to our business model or operations.

We are From Time to Time Involved In, or May in the Future be Subject to, Claims, Suits, Government Investigations, and Other Proceedings That May Result in Adverse Outcomes.

We are from time to time involved in, or may in the future be subject to, claims, suits, government investigations, enforcement actions and proceedings arising from our business, including actions with respect to intellectual property, privacy, consumer protection, information security, mortgage brokering, mortgage origination, real estate, real estate brokerage, environmental, data protection, antitrust, the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act of 1974 (RESPA), fair housing or fair lending, compliance with securities laws, or law enforcement matters, tax matters, labor and employment, and commercial claims, as well as actions involving content generated by our customers, shareholder derivative actions, purported class action lawsuits, and other matters, including those matters described in Part II, Item 8 in Note 18 16 under the subsection titled "Legal Proceedings" in our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in this Annual Report on Form 10-K. Such claims, suits, government investigations, and proceedings are inherently uncertain, and their results cannot be predicted with certainty. Regardless of the outcome, any such legal proceedings can have an adverse impact on us because of legal costs, diversion of management and other personnel, and other factors. In addition, it is possible that a resolution of one or more such proceedings could result in reputational harm, liability, fines, penalties, or sanctions, as well as judgments, consent decrees, or orders preventing us from offering certain features, functionalities, products, or services, or requiring a change in our business practices, products or technologies, which could in the future materially and adversely affect our business, operating results and financial condition.

In some instances, third parties may have an obligation to indemnify us for liabilities related to litigation or governmental investigations, and they may be unable to, or fail to, fulfill such obligations. If such third parties failed to indemnify us, we may be financially responsible, which could adversely affect our financial condition and cash flow.

Risks Related to Our Financial Position

We Incurred Significant Operating Losses in the Past and We May Not Be Able to Generate Sufficient Revenue to Be Profitable Over the Long Term.

We have incurred significant net operating losses in the past and, as of December 31, 2022 2023, we had an accumulated deficit of $1.6 billion $1.8 billion. It is possible that our growth rate may decline in the future as the result of a variety of factors, including the maturation of our business or if we are unable to successfully execute on our growth strategy. At the same time, we also expect certain of our costs to increase in future periods as we continue to expend substantial financial resources to develop and expand our business, including with respect to: which may include:

- expansion of Zillow Home Loans;
- product and services development;
- sales and marketing;
- technology infrastructure;
- strategic opportunities, including commercial relationships and acquisitions; and
- general and administrative expenses, including legal and accounting expenses related to being a public company.

These investments may not result in increased revenue or growth in our business. If we fail to continue to grow our revenue and overall business and to manage our expenses, we may incur significant losses in the future and not be able to achieve or maintain profitability.

A failure by Zillow Home Loans to operate at a profit could also place its Federal Housing Administration Title II lender authorization in jeopardy, adversely impact our relationship with Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, limit our ability to sell loans to third party financial institutions and may adversely impact our ability to utilize our loan repurchase facilities and warehouse lines of credit. Any such adverse impacts could threaten Zillow Home Loans' ability to continue operations.

Servicing Our Debt Requires a Significant Amount of Cash, and We May Not Have Sufficient Cash Flow From Our Business to Pay Our Substantial Debt, Settle Conversions of Our Convertible Senior Notes, or Repurchase Our Convertible Senior Notes Upon a Fundamental Change.

We utilize several forms of debt to provide capital for the continued growth and operation of our business, such as tranches of convertible senior notes and warehouse and repurchase facilities for Zillow Home Loans. Our indebtedness includes the $608 million aggregate principal amount under our Convertible Senior Notes due in 2024 (the "2024 Notes"), the $565 million $507 million aggregate principal amount under our Convertible Senior Notes due in 2025 (the "2025 Notes"), the $499 million aggregate principal amount under our Convertible Senior Notes due in 2026 (the "2026 Notes"), and mortgage debt credit facilities (aggregate maximum borrowing capacity of $250 million as of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023). Our ability to make payments on the principal of, to pay interest on, or to refinance our indebtedness depends on our future performance and, if applicable, the value of collateral, which is subject to economic, industry, competitive and other factors beyond our control. Our business may not continue to generate cash flow from operations in the future sufficient to service our debt and make necessary capital expenditures. If we are unable to generate such cash flow, we may be required to adopt one or more alternatives, such as selling assets, restructuring debt or obtaining additional equity capital on terms that may be onerous or highly dilutive. Our ability to extend or refinance our indebtedness will depend on the capital markets and our financial condition at such time. We may not be able to engage in any of these activities or engage in these activities on desirable terms, which could result in a default on our debt obligations, including our convertible senior notes, credit facilities, or otherwise.

Holders of our convertible senior notes have the right to require us to repurchase their notes upon the occurrence of a fundamental change at a repurchase price equal to 100% of the principal amount of the notes to be repurchased, plus accrued and unpaid interest. Holders of our convertible senior notes may elect to convert their notes at various times and pursuant to specific circumstances, as provided in the corresponding indenture. When such an election is made, we may opt to settle any such conversion by delivering solely shares of our Class C capital stock, solely cash payments, or a combination of Class C capital stock and cash payments after consideration of various factors, including the price of our Class C capital stock, market factors, liquidity, and the needs of our business. Upon conversion of our convertible senior notes, unless we elect to deliver solely shares of our Class C capital stock to settle such conversion (other than paying cash in lieu of delivering any fractional share) shares, we will be required to make cash payments in respect of the notes being converted. We may not have enough available cash or be able to obtain financing at the time we are required to make repurchases of the notes surrendered therefore or at the time the notes are being converted. Our failure to repurchase our convertible senior notes at a time when the repurchase is required by the indenture or to pay any cash payable on future conversions of the notes would constitute an event of default. If the repayment of any indebtedness were to be accelerated because of such event of default (whether under the notes or otherwise), we may not have sufficient funds to repay the indebtedness and repurchase the notes or make cash payments upon conversions thereof. An event of default under the indenture may lead to an acceleration of our convertible senior notes. Any such acceleration could result in our bankruptcy. In a bankruptcy, the holders of our convertible senior notes would have a claim to our assets that is senior to the claims of our equity holders.

In addition, our significant indebtedness, combined with our other financial obligations and contractual commitments, could have other important consequences. For example, it could:

- make us more vulnerable to adverse changes in general United States and worldwide economic, industry and competitive conditions and adverse changes in government regulation;
- limit our flexibility in planning for, or reacting to, changes in our business and our industry;
- place us at a disadvantage compared to our competitors who have less debt; and
- limit our ability to borrow additional amounts for working capital and other general corporate purposes, including to fund possible acquisitions of, or investments in, complementary businesses, products, services and technologies.

Any of these factors could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, if we incur additional indebtedness, the risks related to our business and our ability to service or repay our indebtedness would increase.

The Credit and Debt Facilities that Provide Capital for Zillow Home Loans Include Covenants and Other Provisions that May Restrict Our Operating Activities, and Have a Material Effect on Our Liquidity. They Also Incorporate Variable Interest Rates that May Subject Us to Interest Rate Risk, Which Could Cause Our Debt Service Obligations to Increase Significantly.

Zillow Home Loans has entered into warehouse financing agreements, including credit and repurchase agreements, to provide capital for the growth and operation of our mortgage origination businesses. The terms of these warehouse financing agreements and related financing documents require Zillow Home Loans to comply with a number of customary financial and other covenants, such as maintaining certain levels of liquidity, tangible net worth, leverage ratios, net income and adequate insurance coverage. These covenants may limit our operational flexibility and may restrict our ability to engage in transactions that we believe would otherwise be in the best interests of our shareholders. Additionally, undrawn amounts are generally not committed, meaning the applicable lender is may not be obligated to advance loan funds in excess of outstanding borrowings. Refer to Note 13 11 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information on our Zillow Home Loans warehouse financing facilities. Upon the occurrence of any event of default under these warehouse financing agreements, the lenders could elect to declare all borrowings outstanding, together with accrued and unpaid interest and fees, to be immediately due and payable, even in the absence of a payment default. A default under one of our warehouse financing agreements could result in a cross-default under other warehouse financing agreements and our lenders could elect to declare outstanding amounts due and payable or terminate their commitments. If we fail to repay the amounts due under our warehouse financing agreements, the lenders of such warehouse financing agreements may proceed against the collateral granted to secure the credit facilities. The majority of loans originated by Zillow Home Loans are pledged as collateral to secure such indebtedness. As a result, a default under applicable debt covenants could have an adverse effect on our financial condition or results of operations.

Certain of our debt agreements are subject to margin calls based on the lender's opinion of the value of the collateral securing such financing. A margin call would require the borrower to repay a portion of the outstanding borrowings. A large, unanticipated margin call could have a material effect on our liquidity.

At December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, $37 million $93 million of our borrowings under our warehouse financing agreements was at variable rates of interest, thereby exposing us to interest rate risk. If interest rates increase, our debt service obligations on the variable rate indebtedness would increase even if the amount borrowed remained the same, and our net loss would increase.

We May Need to Raise Additional Capital to Grow Our Business and We May Not Be Able to Raise Additional Capital on Terms Acceptable to Us, or At All.

Growing and operating our business, including through the development of new and enhanced products and services, may require significant cash outlays, liquidity reserves and capital expenditures. If cash on hand, cash generated from operations and cash equivalents and investment balances are not sufficient to meet our cash and liquidity needs or fund future growth and development, we may need to seek additional capital and we may not be able to raise the necessary cash on terms acceptable to us, or at all. Refer to Note 13 11 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information on our warehouse and loan repurchase facilities. In addition, in February 2021, we entered into an Equity Distribution Agreement pursuant to which we may offer and sell from time to time, through certain financial institutions, shares of our Class C capital stock having an aggregate gross sales price of up to $1 billion, and as of November 2022, our board of directors has in July 2023, the Board authorized the repurchase of up to a total of $1.8 billion an additional $750 million of our Class A common stock, Class C capital stock, outstanding convertible senior notes or a combination thereof or to bring our outstanding convertible senior notes. total authorized repurchases to $2.5 billion as of December 31, 2023. We may decide to raise additional capital or repurchase outstanding stock or debt through these arrangements at levels or under terms that prove to be unfavorable or at times and share prices that prove to be disadvantageous based on changes in market conditions. Such decisions may negatively impact our financial position and/or future ability to raise capital. Financing arrangements we maintain, pursue or assume may require us to grant certain rights, take certain actions, or agree to certain restrictions, that could negatively impact our business. If additional capital is not available to us on terms acceptable to us or at all, we may need to modify our business plans, which would harm our ability to grow our operations.

We Rely on Assumptions, Estimates, and Business Data to Calculate our Key Performance Indicators and Other Business Metrics, and Real or Perceived Inaccuracies in These Metrics May Harm our Reputation and Negatively Affect our Business.

Certain of our performance metrics are calculated using third party applications or internal company data that have not been independently verified. While these numbers are based on what we believe to be reasonable calculations for the applicable period of measurement, there are inherent challenges in measuring such information. For example, our measurement of visits and unique users may be affected by applications that automatically contact our servers to access our mobile applications and websites with no user action involved, and this activity can cause our system to count the user associated with such a device as a unique user or as a visit on the day such contact occurs. In addition, our measurement of customer transactions may be affected by the availability and quality of public records and other data used to estimate the number of customer transactions attributable to our products and services.

We regularly review and may adjust our processes for calculating our performance metrics to improve accuracy. Our measure of certain metrics may differ from estimates published by third parties or from similarly-titled metrics of our competitors due to differences in methodology. If real estate professionals, our real estate partners or investors do not perceive our visits, or unique users, or customer transactions to be an accurate representation of our user engagement and conversion to transactions, or if we discover material inaccuracies in our visits, or unique users, or customer transactions, our reputation may be harmed, and real estate professionals and advertisers may be less willing to allocate their resources to our products and services, which could negatively affect our business and operating results.

We Expect Our Results of Operations to Fluctuate on a Quarterly and Annual Basis.

Our revenue and results of operations could vary significantly from period to period and may fail to match expectations as a result of a variety of factors, some of which are outside our control. The other risk factors discussed in this "Risk Factors" section may contribute to the variability of our quarterly and annual results. In addition, our results may fluctuate as a result of seasonal variances of home sales, which historically peak in the spring and summer seasons, fluctuations in the quantity of homes available, our remnant advertising, and the size and seasonal variability of our real estate partners' marketing budgets. The seasonal variance and cyclical nature of home sales may contribute to the variability of our revenue and results of operations for our Mortgages segment, business, in particular, which seasonality may be masked by segment business growth. As a result of the potential variations in our revenue and results of operations, period-to-period comparisons may not be meaningful and the results of any one period should not be relied on as an indication of future performance. In addition, our results of operations may not meet the expectations of investors or public market analysts who follow us, which may adversely affect our stock price.

We Could Be Subject to Additional Tax Liabilities.

We are subject to income taxes in the United States (federal and state), Canada, and Serbia, certain foreign jurisdictions. Tax laws, regulations, and administrative practices in various jurisdictions may be subject to significant change, with or without notice, due to economic, political, and other conditions. New tax laws, regulations and administrative practices could be enacted or adopted at any time, and existing tax laws, regulations and administrative practices could be interpreted, modified or applied adversely to us, possibly with retroactive effect. These changes could require us to pay additional taxes, penalties, interest and other related costs, and also could increase our compliance, operating and other costs. For instance, the recently enacted Inflation Reduction Act imposes, among other rules, a 15% minimum tax on the book income of certain large corporations and a 1% excise tax on certain corporate stock repurchases.

Significant judgment is required in evaluating and estimating the taxes imposed under such tax laws. Our effective tax rates could be affected by numerous factors, such as entry into new businesses and geographies, changes to our existing business and operations, acquisitions and investments and how they are financed, changes in our stock price, changes in our deferred tax assets and liabilities and their valuation, and changes in the relevant tax, accounting, and other laws, regulations, administrative practices, principles, and interpretations. We are required to take positions regarding the interpretation of complex statutory and regulatory tax rules and on valuation matters that are subject to uncertainty, and the Internal Revenue Service or other tax authorities may challenge the positions we take.

Our Ability to Use Our Net Operating Loss Carryforwards and Certain Other Tax Attributes May Be Limited.

We have incurred losses during our history. To the extent that we continue to generate losses, unused losses will carry forward to offset future taxable income, if any, until such unused losses expire, if at all. Under the Tax Act, as modified by the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act, United States federal net operating loss carryforwards generated in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2017, may be carried forward indefinitely, but the deductibility of such net operating loss carryforwards in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2020 is limited to 80% of taxable income.

In addition, under Sections 382 and 383 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), if a corporation undergoes an "ownership change", the corporation's ability to use its pre-change net operating loss carryforwards and other pre-change tax attributes, such as research and development credits, to offset its post-change taxable income or income tax liability may be limited. An "ownership change" occurs for these purposes if one or more shareholders (including certain groups of shareholders) that each owns at least 5% of the corporation's stock by value increase their aggregate ownership by more than 50 percentage points over their lowest ownership percentages within a rolling three-year period. Similar rules may apply under state tax laws. We have undergone ownership changes in the past, and we may experience ownership changes in the future because of shifts in our stock ownership, many of which are outside of our control. As a result, if we achieve profitability, our ability to use our net operating loss carryforwards and other tax attributes to offset future United States federal taxable income or income tax liabilities may be, or may become, subject to limitations, which could result in increased future tax liability to us.

Risks Related to Ownership of Our Common and Capital Stock and Debt Instruments

Our Class A Common Stock and Class C Capital Stock Prices May Be Volatile, and the Value of an Investment in Our Class A Common Stock and Class C Capital Stock May Decline.

An active, liquid and orderly market for our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock may not be sustained, which could depress the trading price of our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock. The trading price of our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock has at times experienced price volatility and may continue to be volatile. For example, during the last three fiscal years ending December 31, 2022, December 31, 2023, the closing price of our Class A common stock has ranged from

$23.51 $27.02 per share to $203.79 per share. During the same time period, the closing price of our Class C capital stock has ranged from $25.01 $26.97 per share to $199.90 per share. The market price of our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock could be subject to wide fluctuations in response to many of the risk factors discussed in this Annual Report on Form 10-K and others beyond our control, including:

- actual or anticipated fluctuations in our financial condition and results of operations;
- changes in projected operational and financial results;
- addition or loss of significant customers;
- actual or anticipated changes in our growth rate relative to that of our competitors;
- announcements by us or our competitors of significant acquisitions, strategic partnerships, joint ventures or capital-raising activities or commitments;
- announcements of technological innovations or new offerings by us or our competitors;
- additions or departures of key personnel;
- changes in laws or regulations applicable to our services;
- fluctuations in the valuation of companies perceived by investors to be comparable to us;
- the inclusion, exclusion, or deletion of our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock from any trading indices, such as the S&P 500 Index;
- issuance of new or updated research or reports by securities analysts;
- sales of our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock by us or our shareholders;
- repurchases of our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock by us or our shareholders;
- issuances of our Class C capital stock upon conversion of our 2024 Notes, 2025 Notes or 2026 Notes;
- stock price and volume fluctuations attributable to inconsistent trading volume levels of our shares; and
- general economic and market conditions.

Furthermore, the stock markets in recent years have experienced extreme price and volume fluctuations that have affected and continue to affect the market prices of the equity securities of many companies. These fluctuations often have been unrelated or disproportionate to the operating performance of those companies. These broad market and industry fluctuations, as well as general economic, political and market conditions such as recessions, changes to federal monetary policy, interest rates or international currency fluctuations, may negatively impact the market price of our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock. In the past, companies that have experienced volatility in the market price of their stock have been subject to securities class action litigation. We have in the past been and are currently the target of this type of litigation, and we may continue to be the target of this type of litigation in the future. Past, current, and future securities litigation against us could result in substantial costs and divert management's attention from other business concerns, which could harm our business, results of operations or financial condition.

The Structure of Our Capital Stock as Contained in Our Charter Documents Has the Effect of Concentrating Voting Control With Our Founders, and Limits Your Ability to Influence Corporate Matters.

Since Zillow Group's inception, our capital structure has included authorized Class A common stock and authorized Class B common stock. Our Class A common stock entitles its holder to one vote per share, and our Class B common stock entitles its holder to 10 votes per share. All shares of Class B common stock have been and are held or controlled by our founders, Richard Barton and Lloyd Frink. As of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, Mr. Barton's holdings and Mr. Frink's holdings represented approximately 31.6% 32.2% and 20.5% 20.9%, respectively, of the voting power of our outstanding capital stock.

For the foreseeable future, Mr. Barton and Mr. Frink will therefore have significant control over our management and affairs and will be able to control most matters requiring shareholder approval, including the election or removal (with or without cause) of directors and the approval of any significant corporate transaction, such as a merger or other sale of us or our assets. In addition, because our Class C capital stock carries no voting rights (except as required by applicable law or as expressly provided in our amended and restated articles of incorporation), the issuance of Class C capital stock (instead of Class

A common stock) could prolong the duration of Mr. Barton's and Mr. Frink's relative ownership of our voting power. This concentrated control could delay, defer or prevent a change of control, merger, consolidation, takeover, or other business combination involving us that you, as a shareholder, may otherwise support. This concentrated control could also discourage a potential investor from acquiring our Class A common stock or Class C capital stock due to the limited voting power of such stock relative to the Class B common stock and might harm the market price of our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock.

Future Sales of Our Stock in the Public Market Could Cause Our Stock Price to Decline.

We cannot predict the effect, if any, that market sales of shares or the availability of shares for sale will have on the prevailing trading price of our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock from time to time. There is currently no contractual restriction on our ability to issue additional shares, and all of our outstanding shares are generally freely tradable, except for shares held by our "affiliates" as defined in Rule 144 under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, which may be sold in compliance with the volume restrictions of Rule 144. Sales of a substantial number of shares of our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock could cause our stock price to decline. In addition, we may in the future issue shares of Class C capital stock for financings, acquisitions, equity incentives, including under our Equity Distribution Agreement or to settle our outstanding convertible notes. If we issue shares of Class C capital stock in the future, such issuances would have a dilutive effect on the economic interest of our Class A common stock.

We Cannot Guarantee that Our Securities Repurchase Program Will Enhance Shareholder Value, and Repurchases Could Affect the Price of Our Class A Common Stock, Class C Capital Stock and Convertible Senior Notes.

Prior to July 31, 2023, our board of directors authorized the repurchase of up to $1.8 billion of our Class A common stock, Class C capital stock, outstanding convertible senior notes or a combination thereof. On July 31, 2023, our board authorized an additional $750 million in such repurchases, increasing the authorization under the repurchase program to $2.5 billion. As of December 31, 2023, $770 million remained available under the securities repurchase program (collectively, the "Repurchase Authorizations").

There is no expiration date for the Repurchase Authorizations. The timing and actual number of shares or notes repurchased, if any, depend on a variety of factors including the timing of open trading windows, price, corporate and regulatory requirements, and other market conditions. The program may be suspended or discontinued at any time without prior notice. Repurchases pursuant to the Repurchase Authorizations could affect the price of our Class A common stock, Class C capital stock and outstanding convertible notes and increase volatility in such securities.

If Securities or Industry Analysts or Other Third Parties Do Not Publish Research or Publish Inaccurate or Unfavorable Research About Our Business, Our Class A Common Stock and Class C Capital Stock Price and Trading Volume Could Decline.

The trading market for our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock depends in part on the research and reports that securities or industry analysts or other third parties publish about our company. If few or no securities or industry analysts or other third parties cover our company, the market price of our publicly-traded stock could be negatively impacted. If securities or industry analysts or other third parties cover us and if one or more of such analysts downgrade our stock or publish inaccurate or unfavorable research about our business, our stock price would likely decline. If one or more of the analysts covering us fail to publish reports on us regularly, demand for our stock could decline, which could cause our stock price and trading volume to decline.

If We Issue Additional Equity Securities or Convertible Debt to Raise Capital or Elect to Settle Conversions of Our Convertible Senior Notes in Stock, It May Have a Dilutive Effect on Shareholders' Investment.

If we raise additional capital through further issuances of equity or convertible debt securities or elect to settle conversions of our convertible senior notes in shares of our Class C capital stock, our existing shareholders could suffer significant dilution in their percentage ownership of us. Moreover, any new equity securities we issue could have rights, preferences and privileges senior to those of holders of our common stock.

The Capped Call Transactions May Affect the Value of Our 2024 Notes, 2026 Notes and Our Class C Capital Stock.

In connection with the pricing of each of the 2024 Notes and 2026 Notes, we entered into capped call transactions with certain financial institutions (the "option counterparties"). The capped call transactions are expected generally to reduce the potential dilution in connection with the conversion of the 2024 Notes or 2026 Notes and/or offset any cash payments we are required to make in excess of the principal amount of converted notes, as the case may be. In connection with our Convertible Senior Notes due in 2021 ("2021 Notes") and 2023 ("2023 Notes"), the balance of which we redeemed in late 2020 and mid-2021, respectively, we exercised our right to keep the associated capped call confirmations open through the expiration of the 2021 Notes and 2023 Notes, which caused short term dilution. We may pursue similar options with the capped call confirmations associated with each of the 2024 Notes and 2026 Notes in the future.

The option counterparties or their respective affiliates may modify their hedge positions by entering into or unwinding various derivative transactions with respect to our Class C capital stock and/or purchasing or selling our Class C capital stock or other securities of ours in secondary market transactions prior to the maturity of each of the 2024 Notes and 2026 Notes (and are likely to do so during any observation period related to a conversion of 2024 Notes or 2026 Notes or in connection with any repurchase or redemption of 2024 Notes or 2026 Notes by us). This activity could cause or avoid an increase or a decrease in the market price of our Class C capital stock, the 2024 Notes or the 2026 Notes.

Anti-Takeover Provisions in Our Charter Documents and Under Washington Law Could Make an Acquisition of Us More Difficult, Limit Attempts by Shareholders to Replace or Remove Our Management and Affect the Market Price of Our Stock.

Provisions in our articles of incorporation and bylaws, as amended and restated, may have the effect of delaying or preventing a change of control or changes in our management. Our amended and restated articles of incorporation or amended and restated bylaws include provisions, some of which will become effective only after the date, which we refer to as the threshold date, on which the Class B common stock controlled by our founders represents less than 7% of the aggregate number of shares of our outstanding Class A common stock and Class B common stock, that:

- set forth the structure of our capital stock, which concentrates voting control of matters submitted to a vote of our shareholders with the holders of our Class B common stock, which is held or controlled by our founders;

- authorize our board of directors to issue, without further action by our shareholders, up to 30,000,000 shares of undesignated preferred stock, subject, prior to the threshold date, to the approval rights of the holders of our Class B common stock;
- establish that our board of directors will be divided into three classes, Class I, Class II and Class III, with each class serving three-year staggered terms;

- prohibit cumulative voting in the election of directors;
- provide that, after the threshold date, our directors may be removed only for cause;
- provide that, after the threshold date, vacancies on our board of directors may be filled only by the affirmative vote of a majority of directors then in office or by the sole remaining director;
- provide that only our board of directors may change the board's size;
- specify that special meetings of our shareholders can be called only by the chair of our board of directors, our board of directors, our chief executive officer, our president or, prior to the threshold date, holders of at least 25% of all the votes entitled to be cast on any issue proposed to be considered at any such special meeting;
- establish an advance notice procedure for shareholder proposals to be brought before a meeting of shareholders, including proposed nominations of persons for election to our board of directors;
- require the approval of our board of directors or the holders of at least two-thirds of all the votes entitled to be cast by shareholders generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single group, to amend or repeal our bylaws; and
- require the approval of not less than two-thirds of all the votes entitled to be cast on a proposed amendment, voting together as a single group, to amend certain provisions of our articles of incorporation.

Prior to the threshold date, our directors can be removed with or without cause by holders of our Class A common stock and Class B common stock, voting together as a single group, and vacancies on the board of directors may be filled by such shareholders, voting together as a single group. Given the structure of our capital stock, our founders, Richard Barton and Lloyd Frink, who hold or control our Class B common stock, will have the ability for the foreseeable future to control these shareholder actions. See the risk factor above titled "The Structure of Our Capital Stock as Contained in Our Charter Documents Has the Effect of Concentrating Voting Control With our Founders, and Limits Your Ability to Influence Corporate Matters."

The provisions described above, after the threshold date, may frustrate or prevent any attempts by our shareholders to replace or remove our current management by making it more difficult for shareholders to replace members of our board of directors, which board is responsible for appointing our management. In addition, because we are incorporated in the State of Washington, we are governed by the provisions of Chapter 23B.19 of the Washington Business Corporation Act, which prohibits certain business combinations between us and certain significant shareholders unless specified conditions are met.

These provisions may also have the effect of delaying or preventing a change of control of our company, even if this change of control would benefit our shareholders.

Item 1B. Unresolved Staff Comments.

Not applicable.

Item 1C. Cybersecurity.

Cyber-attacks, malicious internet-based activity, online and offline fraud, administrative or technical failures and other cybersecurity threats present risks to the confidentiality, integrity and availability of our information systems, including those of the third parties upon which we rely, and our data residing in those systems. We take seriously our responsibility to protect sensitive consumer, customer and employee information.

Given the data-driven nature of our business and the prevalent use of technology in operating our business, we face cybersecurity risks that could materially affect our business strategy, results of operations and financial condition. For further details on the exposures related to these risks, see the section titled "Risk Factors" within this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Risk Management, Strategy and Management Oversight

We have an enterprise risk management function at Zillow Group responsible for the oversight and assessment of ongoing and emerging risks to our business operations and the integrity of our data, including the impact of cybersecurity risks. Our enterprise risk management team maintains a steering committee that oversees and opines on our processes to identify, prioritize and assess key risks, including risks related to cybersecurity. The steering committee is composed of senior, cross-functional business leaders with visibility into our key risks. Such members have expertise in the areas of risk management, business strategy, information technology, cybersecurity, legal and compliance, finance, communications, and business products, among others. In partnership with risk owners, this steering committee monitors risk exposures and verifies that efficient and effective risk-management strategies or acceptance and notification criteria are in place. The steering committee meets at least quarterly and its activities are overseen by the Audit Committee of our Board of Directors ("Board").

We also maintain an information security function that oversees the protection of our information assets through a program informed by standards promoted by the National Institute of Standards and Technology cybersecurity framework and the Cyber Risk Institute's Cyber Profile. These frameworks guide our information security function in designing programs to assess cybersecurity risks and prevent cybersecurity incidents. The information security team is led by our Chief Information Security Officer ("CISO") who is responsible for leading enterprise-wide cybersecurity strategy, including assessing and managing risks from cybersecurity threats, and implementing technical security controls by maintaining policies, standards and processes. With more than 20 years of experience in the field of cybersecurity, our CISO has had extensive involvement with the information security function and the maintenance of a robust cybersecurity program. Our CISO has held data privacy and information security roles with increasing responsibility in the financial services, technology and casino industries and is a certified information systems security professional.

The information security team maintains incident response policies and procedures designed to help protect the integrity, availability and confidentiality of information and help prevent loss of service. Cybersecurity events and incidents may be reported or detected through a variety of means, including emails to centralized information security addresses, our online information technology ticketing system, automatic alerts and incident detection systems, direct discovery by our information security team, or reports from a third party.

Additionally, our incident response policies and procedures specify the process for initial investigation and containment procedures, remediation tactics, retention of documentation and internal and external communications. Our incident response policies and procedures also specify processes for analyzing the severity of an identified incident, which serve to dictate the escalation procedures to notify varying levels of our risk management team. In response to cybersecurity incidents, we may involve external advisors to assist with remediation efforts and communications and we may seek to mitigate associated liabilities through our insurance coverage. Such third parties may include external legal counsel, forensic investigators and public relation firms, among others. These vendors serve to support our existing processes and procedures and operate as an extension of our enterprise risk management and information security functions.

Our internal audit team conducts security controls testing and provides independent validation that such controls are operating effectively on systems in scope for various regulatory and compliance requirements. Our regulatory compliance team uses third-party external auditors to perform independent testing against all systems in scope for our regulatory and customer-driven compliance obligations. The audit cadence aligns with regulatory and customer-driven needs. The scope of our audits includes all systems that store, transmit or process data. We also perform periodic third-party risk assessments, vulnerability testing, system and cloud security assessments against our information technology systems.

We engage a variety of third-party service providers to process and store data, including certain customer information, some of which may include personally identifiable information. We also depend on third-party service providers to host many of the systems and infrastructure used to provide our products and services. A limited number of third-party services support essential functions of our business, including the use of cloud-based technology. We have a third-party service provider management program to manage cybersecurity risks associated with our use of these third-party service providers. The program includes the use of security questionnaires, review of statements of work and related information security addenda, procuring results of audits and compliance reviews and obtaining overviews of network infrastructure, among others. Based upon the extent and type of services utilized, reviews of certain third-party engagements are coordinated through members of the following management teams: procurement, legal, compliance, enterprise risk management and information security risk management, among others, as applicable. Depending on the nature of the services provided, the sensitivity of the data at issue and the identity of the third-party, our third-party service provider management process may involve different levels of assessment designed to help identify cybersecurity risks associated with a provider and impose contractual obligations related to cybersecurity on the provider.

Governance

Our Board considers risk assessment and development of risk mitigation strategies to be a responsibility of the entire Board in consultation with the appropriate Board committees. The Board regularly engages in risk oversight on a broad range of matters, including challenges associated with strategic acquisitions, cybersecurity, regulatory and other legal and compliance matters. For more focused risk oversight, our Board committees are tasked with specific risk management roles.

The Audit Committee oversees major enterprise risks and the steps management has taken to monitor and control such exposure, including risks to our information technology infrastructure and security. Members of our legal, compliance, enterprise risk management and information security management teams provide information and updates on any significant issues related to these topics at the periodic Audit Committee meetings, which are typically held at least quarterly. The Audit Committee is responsible for ensuring independent examination of management's programs to identify, assess, respond to and monitor risks, which include those performed by internal audit and third party consultants, among others.

Audit Committee member education is provided throughout the year through presentations to and discussions with the Audit Committee led by members of management, third-party consultants, our independent registered public accounting firm and legal counsel, on topics including information security, among others. Members of our Audit Committee have expertise in the technology industry as well as corporate risk management strategies.

In addition to historical financial information, the following discussion contains forward-looking statements that reflect our plans, estimates and beliefs. Our actual results may differ materially from those described in or implied by any forward-looking statements. In addition, Zillow Group provides a comprehensive suite of marketing software and technology solutions for the real estate industry, which include Motech, New Home Feed and including ShowingTime+, Spruce and Follow Up Boss.

Health of Housing Market

Our financial performance is impacted by changes in the health of the housing market, which houses ShowingTime, Bridge Interactive, dotloop is impacted, in turn, by general economic conditions. Current market factors have been driven by low housing inventory, fewer new for-sale listings, increases and interactive floor plans, volatility in mortgage interest rates, as well as home price fluctuations and inflationary conditions. These factors may have a negative impact on the number of transactions consumers complete using our products and services and on demand for our advertising services. According to industry data from the National Association of REALTORS®, total transaction value declined 17% during the year ended December 31, 2023 as compared to the year ended December 31, 2022. Despite the industry headwinds and total transaction value declines, we continue to invest in our growth pillars. We believe this continued investment has resulted in year over year total revenue results, described below, for the year ended December 31, 2023 as compared to the year ended December 31, 2022, that exceeded industry performance for the same period. The extent to which market factors impact our results and financial position will depend on future developments, which are uncertain and difficult to predict.

Acquisitions

On December 8, 2023, we acquired Enchant, LLC, d/b/a Follow Up Boss ("Follow Up Boss"), a customer relationship management system for real estate professionals, for $399 million in cash, net of cash acquired, and contingent consideration of up to $100 million in cash payable over a three-year period upon achievement of certain performance metrics. On September 11, 2023, we acquired substantially all of the assets and liabilities of Spruce Holdings, Inc. and certain affiliated entities (collectively referred to as "Spruce"), a tech-enabled title and escrow platform, in exchange for total consideration of $19 million, net of cash acquired. On July 31, 2023, we acquired Aryeo, Inc. ("Aryeo"), a software company that serves real estate photographers, in exchange for total consideration of $35 million, net of cash acquired. For additional information on acquisitions, see Note 7 in our Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Discontinued Operations

In the fourth quarter of 2021, the Board of Directors (the "Board") of Zillow Group made the determination to wind down the operations of Zillow Offers, our iBuying business which purchased and sold homes directly in certain markets across the United States. The wind down was completed in the third quarter of 2022 and resulted in approximately a 25% reduction of Zillow Group's workforce. The financial results of Zillow Offers have been presented in the accompanying consolidated financial statements as discontinued operations and, therefore, are excluded from the following discussion of the results of our continuing operations. In addition, the discussion of 2021 and 2020 financial condition, results of operations and year-to-year comparisons within the sections below have been revised to conform with this current period presentation. Given the wind down of Zillow Offers and corresponding shift in our strategic plans, financial performance for prior and current periods may not be indicative of future performance. For additional information regarding discontinued operations, see Note 3 in our Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

August 2022 Equity Award Actions

On August 3, 2022, upon the recommendation of the Compensation Committee of the Board, the Board approved adjustments to the exercise price of certain outstanding vested and unvested option awards for eligible employees. The exercise price of eligible option awards was reduced to $38.78, which was the closing market price of our Class C capital stock on August 8, 2022. No other changes were made to the terms and conditions of the eligible option awards. In addition, the Board approved a supplemental grant of restricted stock units to eligible employees that was granted on August 8, 2022 and vests quarterly over a two-year period beginning in August 2022. The repricing of eligible option awards and the issuance of supplemental restricted stock units (collectively the "August 2022 Equity Award Actions") has and is expected to continue to result in total incremental share-based compensation expense of approximately $189 million, $77 million of which was recognized during the year ended December 31, 2022. The remaining expense will be recognized over the remaining requisite service period, which is largely over through the next two years, third quarter of 2024. For additional information regarding the August 2022 Equity Award Actions, see Note 16.14 in our Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Change in Reportable Segments

Beginning in 2023, our chief executive officer, who acts as the chief operating decision maker, began to manage our business, make operating decisions, and evaluate operating performance on the basis of the company as a whole, instead of on a segment basis as he did prior to 2023. Accordingly, this change led to revisions in the nature and substance of information regularly provided to and used by the chief operating decision maker and served to align our reported results with our ongoing growth strategy and our intent to provide integrated customer solutions for all tasks and services related to facilitating real estate transactions. As a result, beginning in the first quarter of 2023, we began to report our financial results as a single reportable segment.

Financial Overview

For the years ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 and 2021, 2022, we generated revenue of $2.0 billion $1.9 billion and $2.1 billion $2.0 billion, respectively, representing a year-over-year decrease of 8% 1%. The decrease in total revenue was primarily attributable to the following:

- Mortgages segment Residential revenue decreased by $127 million to $119 million $70 million, or 5%, for the year ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 compared to $246 million the year ended December 31, 2022. The decrease in Residential revenue was primarily driven by a 5% decrease in the number of visits for the year ended December 31, 2021, driven primarily by a decrease in revenue generated by Zillow Home Loans, as total loan origination volumes decreased 62% primarily resulting from a decrease in demand for refinance mortgages attributable December 31, 2023 compared to the rising and volatile interest rate environment. The decrease in Mortgages segment revenue was also impacted by a decrease in revenue from Custom Quote and Connect advertising services.

Table of Contents

- Premier Agent revenue decreased by $105 million to $1.3 billion for the year ended December 31, 2022 compared to $1.4 billion for the year ended December 31, 2021. The This decrease in Premier Agent revenue was primarily due to macro housing market factors including interest rate and home price increases and volatility, as well as tight housing inventory levels. These factors resulted in a 10% decrease in Premier Agent revenue per visit.
- The decreases noted above were partially offset by a $48 million increase in Other IMT revenue to $274 million for the year ended December 31, 2022 compared to $226 million for the year ended December 31, 2021, primarily due to the addition of ShowingTime revenue beginning in the fourth quarter of 2021.

For the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, we generated total gross profit of $1.6 billion and $1.8 billion, respectively, representing a year-over-year decrease of 12%, due to the combined factors discussed below.

Health of Housing Market

Our financial performance is impacted by changes in the health of the housing market, which is impacted, in turn, by general economic conditions. Current market factors including low housing inventory, fewer new for-sale listings, increases and volatility in mortgage interest rates, as well as home price fluctuations, inflationary conditions fluctuations.

- Mortgages revenue decreased by $23 million to $96 million for the year ended December 31, 2023 compared to $119 million for the year ended December 31, 2022, primarily driven by a $28 million decrease in revenue from Custom Quote and changing rental Connect advertising services due to a 32% decrease in leads generated from marketing products sold to mortgage professionals. This decrease in leads was primarily driven by a decrease in demand for mortgages attributable to the higher interest rate environment as compared to the prior year period, as well as a shift in strategic priority as we focus on organic growth of our mortgage origination business.
- The decreases noted above were partially offset by an $83 million increase to Rentals revenue to $357 million for the year ended December 31, 2023 compared to $274 million for the year ended December 31, 2022. The increase in Rentals revenue was primarily due to a 21% increase in quarterly revenue per average monthly rentals unique visitor to $3.19 for the year ended December 31, 2023 as compared to $2.63 for the year ended December 31, 2022, primarily driven by lower occupancy rates may have a negative impact on the number of transactions that consumers complete using our products and services and on demand for our advertising services. The extent to which these factors impact our results and financial position will depend on future developments, which are uncertain and difficult to predict.

COVID-19 Impact

The effect and extent of the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on our business continues to be uncertain and difficult to predict. While we have seen recovery in our business and the businesses corresponding increase in advertising spend from multifamily property managers as well as growth in multifamily property listings. The increase in Rentals revenue was also driven by growth in average monthly rentals unique visitors which increased 8% to 28 million during the year ended December 31, 2023 from 26 million during the year ended December 31, 2022, primarily driven by the increase in active rental listings.

For the years ended December 31, 2023 and 2022, we generated total gross profit of our customers $1.5 billion and real estate partners from $1.6 billion, respectively, representing a year-over-year decrease of 4%, due to the initial economic effects of the pandemic, the duration and impact of the COVID-19 pandemic (including variants) may continue to affect our financial results. The extent to which COVID-19 (including any variants) continues to impact our results and financial position will depend on future developments, which are uncertain and difficult to predict. combined factors discussed above.

Key Metrics

Management has identified visits, unique users and the volume of loans originated through Zillow Home Loans as relevant to investors' and others' assessment of our financial condition and results of operations. We no longer consider the number of homes sold as a key metric given the wind down of Zillow Offers operations.

Visits

The number of visits is an important metric because it is an indicator of consumers' level of engagement with our mobile applications, websites and other services. We believe highly engaged consumers are more likely to use our products and services, including Zillow Homes Loans, or be transaction-ready real estate market participants and therefore are more sought-after by our Premier Agent partners.

We define a visit as a group of interactions by users with the Zillow, Trulia and StreetEasy mobile applications and websites. A single visit can contain multiple page views and actions, and a single user can open multiple visits across domains, web browsers, desktop or mobile devices. Visits can occur on the same day, or over several days, weeks or months.

Zillow and StreetEasy measure visits with Google Analytics, and Trulia measures visits with Adobe Analytics. Visits to Trulia end after thirty minutes of user inactivity. Visits to Zillow and StreetEasy end either: (i) after thirty minutes of user inactivity or at midnight; or (ii) through a campaign change. A visit ends through a campaign change if a visitor arrives via one campaign or source (for example, via a search engine or referring link on a third-party website), leaves the mobile application or website, and then returns via another campaign or source.

The following table presents the number of visits to our mobile applications and websites for the periods presented (in millions, except percentages):

	Year Ended December 31,			2021 to 2022 % Change	2020 to 2021 % Change
	2022	2021	2020
Visits	10,470	10,207	9,627	3 %	6 %

	Year Ended December 31,		2022 to 2023 % Change
	2023	2022
Visits	9,977	10,470	(5)%

During the year ended December 31, 2023, visits to our mobile applications and websites decreased by 5% compared to the year ended December 31, 2022. This decrease was primarily driven by macro housing market factors including low housing inventory, fewer new for-sale listings, increases and volatility in mortgage interest rates as well as home price fluctuations.

Unique Users

Measuring unique users is important to us because much of our revenue depends in part on our ability to connect home buyers and sellers, renters and individuals with or looking for a mortgage to real estate, rental and mortgage professionals, products and services. Growth in consumer traffic to our mobile applications and websites increases the number of impressions, clicks, connections, leads and other events we can monetize to generate revenue. For example, our revenue depends in part, on users accessing our mobile applications and websites to engage in the sale, purchase, renting and financing of homes, including with Zillow Home Loans, and a significant portion of our Premier Agent Residential revenue, rentals Rentals revenue and display Other revenue depend on advertisements being served to users of our mobile applications and websites.

We count a unique user the first time an individual accesses one of our mobile applications using a mobile device during a calendar month and the first time an individual accesses one of our websites using a web browser during a calendar month. If an individual accesses our mobile applications using different mobile devices within a given month, the first instance of access by each such mobile device is counted as a separate unique user. If an individual accesses more than one of our mobile applications within a given month, the first access to each mobile application is counted as a separate unique user. If an individual accesses our websites using different web browsers within a given month, the first access by each such web browser is counted as a separate unique user. If an individual accesses more than one of our websites in a single month, the first access to each website is counted as a separate unique user since unique users are tracked separately for each domain. Zillow, StreetEasy and HotPads measure unique users with Google Analytics, and Trulia measures unique users with Adobe Analytics.

Due to third-party technological limitations, user software settings, or user behavior, Google Analytics may assign a unique cookie to different instances of access by the same individual to our mobile applications and websites. In such instances, Google Analytics would count different instances of access by the same individual as separate unique users. Accordingly, reliance on the number of unique users counted by Google Analytics may overstate the actual number of unique users who access our mobile applications and websites during the period.

------------------------------	-----	-----	------

During the year ended December 31, 2023, average monthly unique users to our mobile applications and websites decreased by 3% compared to the year ended December 31, 2022. This decrease was primarily driven by macro housing market factors including low housing inventory, fewer new for-sale listings, increases and volatility in mortgage interest rates as well as home price fluctuations.

Loan Origination Volume

Loan origination volume is an important metric as it is a measure of how successful we are at the origination and subsequent sale of mortgage loan products through our mortgage origination business, Zillow Home Loans, which directly impacts our Mortgages segment revenue. Loan origination volume represents the total value of mortgage loan originations closed through Zillow Home Loans during the period.

The following table presents loan origination volume by purpose and in total for Zillow Home Loans for the periods presented (in millions, except percentages):

Total revenue decreased $174 million $13 million, or 8% 1%, to $2.0 billion $1.9 billion:

- Residential revenue decreased $70 million, or 5%. This decrease was driven by a 5% decrease in the number of visits for the year ended December 31, 2023 compared to the year ended December 31, 2022. This decrease was primarily due to macro housing market factors including low housing inventory, fewer new for-sale listings, increases and volatility in mortgage interest rates as well as home price fluctuations. These factors also resulted in a 6% decrease in Premier Agent revenue during the year ended December 31, 2023 compared to the year ended December 31, 2022. We expect Residential revenue to increase in absolute dollars during the three months ending March 31, 2024, primarily due to the stabilization of macro housing market factors described above as well as incremental revenue attributable to the Follow Up Boss acquisition, product expansion and seasonality.
- Mortgages segment revenue decreased 52% to $119 million primarily due to $23 million, or 19%. This decrease was driven by a decline in mortgage originations revenue which drove 72% of the $28 million decrease in Mortgages segment revenue, and a decline in our Custom Quote and Connect advertising services revenue, which drove 28% of the decrease partially offset by an $8 million increase in Mortgages segment mortgage originations revenue. The decrease in mortgage originations our Custom Quote and Connect advertising revenue was primarily due to a 62% 32% decrease in loan origination volume leads generated from $4.1 billion marketing products sold to $1.5 billion, mortgage professionals. This decrease in leads was primarily resulting from driven by a decrease in demand for refinance mortgages attributable to the rising and volatile higher interest rate environment. environment as compared to the prior year period, as well as a shift in strategic priority as we focus on organic growth of our mortgage origination business. The decrease in Custom Quote and Connect advertising services revenue was partially offset by an $8 million increase in mortgage originations revenue, was also attributable primarily due to a 25% decrease 22% increase in gain on sale margin driven by industry margin compression. fewer interest rate increases in 2023 as compared to 2022, resulting in higher profitability on the sale of mortgage loans in the secondary market. Gain on sale margin represents the net gain on sale of mortgage loans divided by total loan origination volume for the period. Net gain on sale of mortgage loans includes all components related to the origination and sale of mortgage loans, including the net gain on sale of loans into the secondary market, loan origination fees, unrealized gains and losses associated with changes in fair value of interest rate lock commitments and mortgage loans held for sale, realized and unrealized gains or losses from derivative financial instruments and the provision for losses relating to representations and warranties.
- Rentals revenue increased $83 million, or 30%. The decrease increase in our Custom Quote and Connect advertising Rentals revenue was primarily due to a 37% decrease in leads generated from marketing products sold to mortgage professionals. This decrease was driven by a decrease in demand for mortgages attributable to the rising and volatile interest rate environment, as well as an 21% increase in leads consumed by Zillow Home Loans.
- IMT segment revenue decreased 2% to $1.8 billion, primarily due to a decrease of $105 million, or 8%, in Premier Agent revenue, partially offset by a $48 million, or 21%, increase in Other IMT revenue. The decrease in Premier Agent revenue was driven by macro housing market factors including interest rate and home price increases and volatility, as well as tight housing inventory levels. These factors resulted in a decrease in Premier Agent quarterly revenue per visit, which decreased by 10% average monthly rentals unique visitor to $0.123 $3.19 for the year ended December 31, 2022 from $0.137 December 31, 2023 as compared to $2.63 for the year ended December 31, 2021. December 31, 2022, primarily driven by lower occupancy rates and the corresponding increase in advertising spend from multifamily property managers as well as growth in multifamily property listings. We calculate Premier Agent quarterly revenue per visit average monthly rentals unique visitor by dividing total Rentals revenue for the revenue generated period by our Premier Agent programs the average monthly rentals unique visitors for the period and then dividing by the number of visits quarters in the period. Other IMT The increase in Rentals revenue was also driven by growth in average monthly rentals unique visitors which increased primarily as a result of 8% to 28 million during the addition of ShowingTime revenue beginning in the fourth quarter of 2021.

Beginning in the first quarter of 2023, we plan to report our financial results as a single reportable segment and plan to report revenue categories of Residential, Rentals, Mortgages and Other. The Residential revenue category will primarily include revenue for our Premier Agent and new construction marketplaces, as well as StreetEasy for-sale product offerings, Zillow Closing Services and ShowingTime+, which houses ShowingTime, Bridge Interactive, dotloop and interactive floor plans. Our Rentals and Mortgages revenue categories will remain consistent with our historical presentation, and our Other revenue category will primarily include revenue generated from display advertising.

 - Premier Agent revenue increased 33% to $1.4 billion December 31, 2023 from 26 million during the year ended December 31, 2022, primarily driven by an the increase in Premier Agent revenue per visit, active rental listings. Average monthly rentals unique visitors are measured with Comscore data, which increased by 26% to $0.137 for the year ended December 31, 2021 from $0.109 for the year ended December 31, 2020, driven primarily by continued strong demand across the residential real estate industry includes average monthly unique visitors on rental listings on Zillow, Trulia and growth in monetization of customer connections. The increase in visits increased the number of impressions HotPads mobile apps and leads we could monetize in our Premier Agent marketplace. Additionally, Premier Agent revenue for the year ended December 31, 2020 was negatively impacted by temporary discounts offered to our Premier Agent partners in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.
 - Other IMT increased 25% to $226 million, primarily due to a 126% increase in StreetEasy for-sale revenue due to growth in StreetEasy Experts, a 58% increase in display revenue due to increased discretionary marketing spend after lower spend in 2020 as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic, and as a result of the addition of ShowingTime revenue beginning in the fourth quarter of 2021, websites.
- Rentals revenue increased 19% to $264 million, primarily due to an increase in revenue generated by our rentals flat fee, pay per listing and rental applications products. The increase in rentals revenue was also impacted by COVID-19 related discounts offered during the first half of 2020.
- Mortgages segment revenue increased 41% to $246 million, primarily due to growth in mortgage originations revenue, which drove 57% of the increase in Mortgages segment revenue, and growth in our Custom Quote and Connect advertising services revenue, which accounted for 41% of the increase in Mortgages segment revenue. The increase in mortgage originations revenue was primarily driven by an increase in loan origination volume from $1.8 billion to $4.1 billion, or 131%, as we continued to grow our mortgage originations business. We believe low interest rates coupled with growth of our mortgage originations business, driven by purchase origination growth from Zillow Offers, supported strong refinance and home purchase activity during the year ended December 31, 2021. This was partially offset by a 36% decrease in gain on sale margin driven by industry margin compression. The increase in our Custom Quote and Connect advertising revenue was primarily due to a 20% increase in leads generated from marketing products sold to mortgage professionals.

To provide investors with additional information regarding our financial results, we have disclosed Adjusted EBITDA, in total and for each segment, each a non-GAAP financial measure, within this Annual Report on Form 10-K. We have provided a reconciliation below of Adjusted EBITDA in total to net loss, and Adjusted EBITDA by segment to income (loss) from continuing operations before income taxes for each segment, the most directly comparable U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") financial measures. measure.

We have included Adjusted EBITDA in total and for each segment in this Annual Report on Form 10-K as they are it is a key metrics metric used by our management and board of directors Board to measure operating performance and trends and to prepare and approve our annual budget. In particular, the exclusion of certain expenses in calculating Adjusted EBITDA facilitates operating performance comparisons on a period-to-period basis.

Our use of Adjusted EBITDA in total and for each segment has limitations as an analytical tool, and you should not consider these measures this measure in isolation or as a substitute for analysis of our results as reported under GAAP. Some of these limitations are:

- Adjusted EBITDA does not reflect changes in, or cash requirements for, our working capital needs;
- Adjusted EBITDA does not reflect the results of discontinued operations;
- Adjusted EBITDA does not consider the potentially dilutive impact of share-based compensation;
- Although depreciation and amortization are non-cash charges, the assets being depreciated and amortized may have to be replaced in the future, and Adjusted EBITDA does not reflect cash capital expenditure requirements for such replacements or for new capital expenditures or contractual commitments;
- Adjusted EBITDA does not reflect impairment and restructuring costs;
- Adjusted EBITDA does not reflect acquisition-related costs;
- Adjusted EBITDA does not reflect the gain (loss) on extinguishment of debt;
- Adjusted EBITDA does not reflect interest expense or other income. (expense), net;
- Adjusted EBITDA does not reflect income taxes; and
- Other companies, including companies in our own industry, may calculate Adjusted EBITDA differently from the way we do, limiting its usefulness as a comparative measure.

Because of these limitations, you should consider Adjusted EBITDA in total and for each segment alongside other financial performance measures, including various cash flow metrics, net loss income (loss) from continuing operations before income taxes for each segment and our other GAAP results.

Cost of Revenue

Cost of revenue consists of expenses related to operating our mobile applications and websites, including associated headcount-related expenses, such as salaries, benefits, bonuses and share-based compensation expense, as well as revenue-sharing costs related to our commercial business relationships, depreciation expense, and costs associated with hosting our mobile applications and websites. Cost of revenue increased $44 million $54 million, or 14% 15%, due primarily to an increase driven by increases of $72 million in our IMT segment, partially offset by decreases of $16 million in our Mortgages segment and $12 million in our Homes segment.

- The increase in cost of revenue in our IMT segment was primarily attributable to a $41 million increase $38 million in depreciation and amortization expense driven by due to an increase in capitalized website development costs, $10 million in ad serving costs, $7 million in software and development activities, hardware costs and $7 million in mortgage loan processing costs due to increased purchase loan origination volume. These increases were partially offset by a $16 million increase in headcount-related expenses, including share-based compensation expense, which was impacted by the August 2022 Equity Award Actions, and a $9 million increase in data acquisition costs.
- The decrease in cost of revenue in our Mortgages segment was primarily attributable to a $13 million $7 million decrease in lead acquisition costs due to a decrease in volume associated with the macro housing market environment and a $3 million decrease in headcount-related expenses, including share-based compensation expense, partially offset by a $2 million increase in depreciation and amortization expense.
- The decrease in cost of revenue in our Homes segment was primarily attributable to a $7 million decrease in depreciation and amortization expense, a $5 million decrease in data acquisition costs and a $2 million decrease in software and hardware costs, resulting from the wind down of Zillow Offers and the reduction in indirect costs related to the Homes segment. The decrease was partially offset by an increase of $3 million in headcount-related expenses, including share-based compensation expense, which was impacted by the August 2022 Equity Award Actions.

We expect cost of revenue to increase in absolute dollars for the three months ending March 31, 2023 due to increased headcount-related spend as we continue shift our strategic priorities to invest to support the focus on organic growth of our mortgage origination business.

General and Administrative

General and administrative expenses consist of headcount-related expenses, including salaries, benefits, bonuses and share-based compensation expense for executive, finance, accounting, legal, human resources, recruiting, corporate information technology costs and other administrative support. General and administrative expenses also include legal settlement costs and estimated legal liabilities, legal, accounting and other third-party professional service fees, rent expense, depreciation expense and bad debt expense.

General and administrative expenses increased $84 million, or 20%, due to increases of $117 million in our IMT segment and $13 million in our Mortgages segment, partially offset by a decrease of $46 million in our Homes segment.

- The increase in general and administrative expenses for our IMT segment was primarily attributable to a $94 million increase in headcount-related expenses, including share-based compensation expense, primarily driven by an $18 million increase in share-based compensation expense associated with the departures of certain personnel, as well as the impact of the August 2022 Equity Award Actions, a $9 million increase in professional services and a $6 million increase in software and hardware costs.
- Actions. The increase in general and administrative expenses for our Mortgages segment was primarily attributable to an $11 million increase in headcount-related expenses, including share-based compensation expense, primarily driven by the August 2022 Equity Award Actions.
- The decrease in general and administrative expenses for our Homes segment was primarily attributable to a $28 million decrease in headcount-related expenses, including share-based compensation expense, and $6 million decreases in both facilities costs and software and hardware costs, which were primarily driven by the wind down of Zillow Offers and the reduction in indirect costs related to the Homes segment.

General and administrative expenses increased $90 million, or 28%, due to increases of $14 million of $33 million additional rent expense recognized in connection with the partial termination of our IMT segment, $29 million Seattle lease. For additional information on leases, see Note 10 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in our Homes segment and $28 million in our Mortgages segment.

- Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K. The increase in general and administrative expenses for our IMT was also driven by increases of $4 million in third-party professional service fees, $3 million in software and Mortgages segments was primarily attributable to increases in hardware costs and $2 million in headcount-related expenses, including share-based compensation expense, of $40 million and $20 million for our IMT and Mortgages segments, respectively, as we continued to invest in human capital to grow our businesses.
- The increase in travel expenses. We expect general and administrative expenses to decrease in absolute dollars for the three months ending March 31, 2024 as a result of the absence of additional rent expense associated with the partial termination of our Homes segment Seattle lease that was primarily attributable to an increase recorded in headcount-related expenses, including share-based compensation expense, of $21 million the three months ended December 31, 2023, a $3 million increase in professional services and a $3 million increase in software and hardware costs, as discussed above.

Impairment and Restructuring Costs

Restructuring Impairment and restructuring costs were $19 million and $24 million and $10 million for the years ended December 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively. The year ended December 31, 2023 includes impairment costs of $16 million associated with changes in the use of certain office spaces in our lease portfolio and employee termination costs of $3 million. For additional information regarding impairment costs, see Note 10 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Impairment and restructuring costs for the year ended December 31, 2022 do not qualify as discontinued operations and 2021, respectively, were primarily attributable to employee termination costs associated with the wind down of Zillow Offers operations and additional cost actions to streamline our operations and prioritize investments. Restructuring costs within our IMT and Mortgages segments and certain indirect costs of the Homes segment which do not qualify as discontinued operations related to employee termination costs and totaled $12 million, $4 million, and $8 million, respectively, for the year ended December 31, 2022, and $9 million and $1 million for the Homes and Mortgages segments, respectively, for the year ended December 31, 2021. For additional information regarding the restructuring, these costs, see Note 3 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Impairment costs of $77 million for the year ended December 31, 2020 consist of a $72 million non-cash impairment related to the Trulia trade names and trademarks intangible asset, of which $69 million was recorded to the IMT segment and $3 million was recorded to the Mortgages segment. Refer to Note 10 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information on the impairment costs related to the Trulia trade names and trademarks intangible asset. Additionally, impairment costs include a $5 million non-cash impairment related to our October 2016 equity investment, the entirety of which was recorded to the IMT segment.

Acquisition-Related Costs

Acquisition-related costs consist of investment banking, legal, accounting and tax costs associated with effecting acquisitions. We did not record any material acquisition-related costs for the years ended December 31, 2022 or December 31, 2020. Acquisition-related costs were $9 million for the year ended December 31, 2021, primarily as a result of our September 2021 acquisition of ShowingTime.

Gain (Loss) on Extinguishment of Debt

We recorded a $17 million loss on extinguishment of debt during the year ended December 31, 2021 associated with conversions of the convertible senior notes maturing in 2023 ("2023 Notes"), 2024 ("2024 Notes") and 2026 ("2026 Notes"). For additional information on the loss on extinguishment of debt, see Note 13 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Other Income, net

Other income, net consists primarily of interest income earned on our cash, cash equivalents and investments, and fair value adjustments on an outstanding warrant.

Other income, net increased $36 million $108 million, for the year ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 as compared to the year ended December 31, 2021 December 31, 2022. The increase in other income, net was primarily driven by increases in returns on corporate investments due to rising the higher interest rates, partially offset by a $7 million fair value adjustment on an outstanding warrant recorded within our IMT segment.

Other income, net decreased $18 million, for the year ended December 31, 2021 rate environment as compared to the prior year ended December 31, 2020. The decrease was primarily due to a decrease of $16 million in corporate other income not directly attributable to our segments driven by lower cash and investment balances during the second half of the year ended December 31, 2021. There was also a decrease of $5 million of other income, net in our IMT segment related to the gain recognized on the sale of our October 2016 equity investment during the year ended December 31, 2020.

Interest Expense

Our corporate interest expense consists of interest and deferred issuance costs associated with our convertible senior notes. On January 1, 2022, we adopted guidance which simplifies the accounting for certain financial instruments with characteristics of liabilities and equity, including convertible instruments and contracts in an entity's own equity. Upon adoption, we de-recognized the remaining debt discounts on the convertible senior notes and no longer recognize amortization of debt discounts to interest expense. Refer to Note 13 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for stated interest rates and interest payment dates for each of our convertible senior notes.

For our Mortgages segment, interest expense includes interest on the warehouse line of credit and interest on the master repurchase agreements related to our Zillow Home Loans business. For additional details related to our credit facilities, see Note 13 to our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Interest expense decreased $93 million, or 73%, primarily due to a $91 million decrease in corporate interest expense not attributable to any of our segments. The decrease in corporate interest expense not attributable to any of our segments was primarily due to the adoption of guidance which simplifies the accounting for certain financial instruments with characteristics of liabilities and equity, which, as discussed above, eliminated the debt discounts on the convertible senior notes that were previously amortized to interest expense prior to adoption. Additionally, the settlement of conversions and redemptions of the 2023 Notes, 2024 Notes and 2026 Notes during the year ended December 31, 2021 decreased the outstanding principal balances of our convertible senior notes upon which interest was incurred.

Interest expense decreased $10 million, or 7%, due to a $13 million decrease in corporate interest expense not attributable to any of our segments, partially offset by a $3 million increase related to our Mortgages segment.

The decrease in corporate interest expense not attributable to any of our segments was primarily attributable to the settlement of the convertible senior notes due in 2020 (the "2020 Notes") and the 2021 Notes during the year ended December 31, 2020 and the settlement of 2023 Notes, 2024 Notes and 2026 Notes during the year ended December 31, 2021, which decreased the outstanding principal balances of our convertible senior notes upon which interest was incurred. The decrease in corporate interest expense was partially offset by the impact of additional interest for the May 2020 issuance of the convertible senior notes due in 2025 (the "2025 Notes").

The increase in Mortgages segment interest expense was due to increased borrowings on our repurchase agreements and warehouse line of credit period.

Income Taxes

We are primarily subject to income taxes in the United States (federal and state), Canada, and Serbia, as well as certain foreign jurisdictions. As of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 and December 31, 2021 December 31, 2022, we have provided a valuation allowance against our net deferred tax assets that we believe, based on the weight of available evidence, are not more likely than not to be realized. There is a reasonable possibility that within the next several years, sufficient positive evidence will become available to demonstrate that a significant portion of the valuation allowance against our U.S. net deferred tax assets will no longer be required. We have accumulated federal tax losses of approximately $1.8 $1.4 billion as of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, which are available to reduce future taxable income. We have accumulated state tax losses of approximately $63 million $56 million (tax effected) as of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023.

We recorded income tax expense of $4 million and $3 million for the year years ended December 31, 2022, December 31, 2023 and 2022, respectively, primarily driven by state taxes. We recorded an income tax benefit of $1 million for the year ended December 31, 2021 that was comprised of a $3 million income tax benefit from a decrease in the valuation allowance associated with our September 2021 acquisition of ShowingTime, partially offset by the recognition of $2 million of tax expense related to state and foreign income taxes. We recorded an income tax benefit of $8 million for the year ended December 31, 2020, primarily driven by a $10 million income tax benefit associated with the $72 million non-cash impairment we recorded during the year ended December 31, 2020. Refer to Note 10 12 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information on this non-cash impairment charge.

Quarterly Results of Operations

The following tables set forth our unaudited quarterly statements of operations data for each of the periods presented below. In the opinion of management, the data has been prepared on the same basis as the audited consolidated financial statements included in this Annual Report on Form 10-K, and reflects all necessary adjustments, consisting only of normal recurring adjustments, necessary for a fair presentation of the data. The results of historical periods are not necessarily indicative of the results of operations of any future period, particularly given continued uncertainty surrounding the health of the housing market, interest rate environment and the COVID-19 pandemic. You should read the data together with our consolidated financial statements and the related notes included elsewhere in this Annual Report on Form 10-K. Amounts are in millions, except per share data which are presented in thousands, unaudited, and we have presented the financial results of Zillow Offers as discontinued operations (see Note 3 in our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional details regarding discontinued operations).

Total revenue decreased in all quarters presented with the exception of the three months ended March 31, 2022, which remained flat with the preceding quarter. The sequential decreases in revenue throughout 2022 were attributable to the ongoing macro housing market factors, including interest rate and home price increases, as well as tight housing inventory levels. Total revenue increased sequentially in all quarters in 2021 with the exception of the three months ended December 31, 2021. The sequential decrease in revenue for the three months ended December 31, 2021 was attributable to a decrease in visits driven by seasonality related to the normal cycles of the residential real estate market coupled with tighter inventory due to a new COVID-19 variant. Total revenue increased in all other quarters throughout 2021 due primarily to increases in visits and unique users and persistent low interest rates throughout 2021.

Seasonality

Portions of our business are affected by seasonal fluctuations in the residential real estate market, advertising spending and other factors. We believe that customers' responses to macro housing market factors including interest rate and home price increases and volatility as well as tight housing inventory levels may mask seasonality in revenue. Although the impact of macroeconomic factors in 2022 and the COVID-19 pandemic impact during 2021 and 2022 may have masked seasonality during the last two years, we would generally expect Premier Agent and rentals revenue to peak in the three months ended June 30th or September 30th, consistent with the average number of visits and unique users which have historically peaked during the three months ended June 30th or September 30th, aligning with peak residential real estate activity in the spring and summer months. Because the number of visits and unique users impacts impression inventory, leads and connections to real estate professionals, clicks and other events we monetize, we believe this trend in the average number of visits and unique users has generally resulted in seasonal fluctuations in revenue in corresponding periods. Within the Mortgages segment, we believe that seasonality would result in higher purchase origination volumes in the spring and summer high seasons. Our Connect and Custom Quote mortgage marketing products display similar seasonal fluctuations. income taxes.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Our primary sources of liquidity and capital resources are cash flows from operations, debt financing and equity offerings. Our cash requirements consist principally of working capital, general corporate needs and mortgage loan originations. We generally reinvest continue to invest in the development and expansion of our operations using available cash flows from operations into operations. Ongoing investments include, but are not limited to, improvements in our business technology platforms, investments in new products and services, and continued investments in sales and marketing. We also use cash flows from operations to service our debt obligations.

Sources of Liquidity

As of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 and 2021, 2022, we had cash and cash equivalents, investments and restricted cash of $3.4 billion $2.8 billion and $2.8 billion $3.4 billion, respectively. Cash and cash equivalents balances consist of operating cash on deposit with financial institutions and money market funds. Investments consist of fixed income securities, which include U.S. government treasury securities, U.S. government agency securities, investment grade corporate securities, and commercial paper. Restricted cash primarily consists of amounts held in escrow related to funding indemnification holdbacks for certain of our acquisitions and amounts used to fund customer home purchases in our mortgage origination business. Amounts on deposit with third-party financial institutions exceed the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation insurance limits, as applicable. As of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, Zillow Group and its subsidiaries were in compliance with all debt covenants specified in the facilities described below.

We believe that cash from operations and cash and cash equivalents and investment balances will be sufficient to meet our ongoing operating activities, working capital, capital expenditures, strategic acquisitions and investments and other capital requirements for at least the next 12 months. We believe we will meet longer-term expected future cash requirements and obligations through a combination of cash flows from operations, debt financing and equity offerings, as applicable.

Capital Resources

We continue to invest in the development and expansion of our continuing operations. Ongoing investments include, but are not limited to, improvements in our technology platforms, infrastructure and continued investments in sales and marketing. To finance these investments and ongoing operations, and in the event that we require additional funding to support strategic business opportunities, we have issued convertible senior notes. Convertible Senior Notes

As of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, we have a total of $1.7 billion $1.6 billion aggregate principal amount of convertible senior notes outstanding. The convertible notes are senior unsecured obligations, and interest on the convertible notes is paid semi-annually. The following table summarizes our convertible senior notes as of the periods presented (in millions, except interest rates):

We may from time to time seek to redeem, retire or purchase outstanding debt through cash purchases and/or exchanges for cash, shares of stock or a combination of cash and stock, pursuant to the redemption terms of such debt securities, in open market purchases, privately negotiated transactions or otherwise. In particular, the 2024 Notes and 2026 Notes may be redeemed if the last reported sale price of our Class C capital stock exceeds $56.56 per share for a specified period of trading days. To the extent our Class C capital stock price rises above those levels, we may redeem the 2024 Notes and/or 2026 Notes, in which case, we would expect to settle any conversions in cash up to the principal amount and shares of Class C capital stock for any conversion obligation in excess of the principal amount. Such redemptions, repurchases or exchanges, if any, will depend on prevailing market conditions, our liquidity requirements, contractual restrictions and other factors. The amounts involved in any such transactions, individually or in the aggregate, may be material. During the year ended December 31, 2023, we repurchased a total of $58 million aggregate principal amount of the 2025 Notes through open market transactions for $57 million in cash, including accrued interest. There were no repurchases of convertible senior notes during the year ended December 31, 2022. Refer to Note 13.11 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information regarding our convertible senior notes, including conversion rates, conversion and redemption dates and the related capped call transactions.

On February 17, 2021 Share Repurchases

Prior to the year ended December 31, 2023, we entered into an equity distribution agreement with certain sales agents and/or principals (the "Managers"), pursuant the Board authorized the repurchase of up to which we may offer and sell from time to time, through the Managers, shares of $1.8 billion our Class A common stock, Class C capital stock, having an aggregate gross sales price outstanding convertible senior notes or a combination thereof. On July 31, 2023, the Board authorized the repurchase of up to $1 billion, in such an additional $750 million of Class A common stock, Class C capital stock, outstanding convertible senior notes or a combination thereof. This additional authorization (together with the previous authorizations, the "Repurchase Authorizations") increased our total cumulative Repurchase Authorizations to $2.5 billion. The Repurchase Authorizations do not have an expiration date. During the year ended December 31, 2023, we repurchased 2.2 million shares of Class A common stock and 7.3 million shares of Class C capital stock at an average price of $46.45 and $43.94 per share, amounts as we may specify by notice respectively, for an aggregate purchase price of $103 million and $321 million, respectively. As of December 31, 2023, after the effects of our cumulative share and convertible debt repurchases, $770 million remained available for future repurchases pursuant to the Managers, Repurchase Authorizations, which repurchases decrease our liquidity and capital resources when effected. For additional information on repurchases made in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in the equity distribution agreement. During the year ended December 31, 2022, we did not sell any shares under the equity distribution agreement. During the year ended December 31, 2021, we issued and sold 3 million shares of our Class C capital stock for total proceeds of $551 million and net proceeds of $545 million, after deducting $6 million of commissions and other offering expenses incurred. For additional information regarding the equity distribution agreement, Repurchase Authorizations, see Note 15.11 and Note 13 in our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

On November 1, 2022, the Board of Directors further expanded the Repurchase Authorizations to allow for the repurchase of a portion of our outstanding convertible senior notes. There were no repurchases of convertible senior notes during the year ended December 31, 2022. agreement. Homes

Prior to its wind down, Zillow Group's purchase of homes through the Zillow Offers program had a significant impact on our liquidity and capital resources as a cash and inventory intensive business. We previously used credit facilities, and beginning in the third quarter of 2021, asset-backed securitizations, to fund a portion of the purchase price of homes and certain related costs. On November 2, 2021, the Board of Directors of Zillow Group made the determination to wind down Zillow Offers operations and as of September 30, 2022, the wind down was complete. As a result of the wind down, during the first half of 2022, certain wholly owned subsidiaries of Zillow Group repaid all amounts drawn on the Zillow Offers credit facilities and all principal on the securitization term loans. We incurred prepayment penalties of $6 million associated with the pay-down of our credit facilities and $8 million in connection with the pay-down of the securitizations. Refer to Note 3 of our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K for additional information on the Zillow Offers wind down.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

Our consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with GAAP. The preparation of these consolidated financial statements requires us to make estimates, judgments and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenue and expenses and related disclosures. We evaluate our estimates, judgments and assumptions on an ongoing basis. Our estimates are based on historical experience and various other assumptions that we believe to be reasonable under the circumstances. Our actual results could differ from these estimates, and the health of the real estate housing market and the broader economy and the COVID-19 pandemic (including variants) have introduced significant additional uncertainty with respect to estimates, judgments and assumptions, which may materially impact our estimates.

We believe that the estimates, judgments and assumptions associated with accounting for certain revenue offerings, amortization period and recoverability of contract cost assets, website and software development costs, business combinations, including the initial and subsequent fair value measurements of assets (primarily intangible assets), liabilities and contingent consideration, recoverability of intangible assets with definite lives and other long-lived assets, recoverability of goodwill and share-based compensation have the greatest potential impact on our consolidated financial statements. Therefore, we consider these to be our critical accounting policies and estimates.

Accounting for Certain Revenue

Accrued Revenue. We accrue revenue for certain of our products, primarily our Premier Agent Flex, rentals pay per lease ("Zillow Lease Connect") and StreetEasy Experts offerings. With Premier Agent Flex, Premier Agents these pricing models, our customers are provided validated with leads at no initial cost and pay a performance advertising fee only when a real estate transaction is closed, generally within two years, or a lease is secured with one of the leads we have provided, generally within two years, six months. With this these pricing model, models, the transaction price represents variable consideration, as the amount to which we expect to be entitled varies based on the number of validated leads that convert into closed real estate transactions and the value of those transactions. The transaction prices for or secured leases generated through Zillow Lease Connect and real estate transactions executed through our StreetEasy Experts product also represent variable consideration. We estimate the amount of variable consideration for Zillow Lease Connect based on the expected number of qualified leases to be secured and the expected price per closed lease. We estimate the amount of variable consideration for StreetEasy Experts based on the number of validated leads that convert to real estate transactions and the value of those transactions. As of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, we had accrued $71 million $90 million in revenue associated with these products.

Although we do not believe that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will occur once the uncertainty related to the number of real estate transactions to be closed and qualified leases to be secured is resolved, judgment is required to determine the quantity and value of transactions and leases that are expected to be realized in a future period based on the number of leads delivered during the current period. Our estimated revenue is based on a number of assumptions, which include estimating the conversion rate of a lead to a real estate transaction or qualified lease, estimating the velocity of conversions and estimating the fee amounts likely to be received. Estimates are primarily developed based on historical data and our future expectations based on current market trends.

Mortgage Origination Revenue. Mortgage origination revenue generated by Zillow Home Loans reflects origination fees on purchase or refinance mortgages and the corresponding sale, or expected future sale, of a loan. When an interest rate lock commitment is made to a customer, we record the expected gain on sale of the mortgage, plus the estimated earnings from the expected sale of the associated servicing rights, adjusted for a pull-through percentage (which represents the probability that an interest rate lock commitment will ultimately result in a closed loan), as revenue. Judgment is required to determine the appropriate pull-through rate, which is estimated based on expected changes in market conditions, loan stage and historical borrower behavior. Revenue from loan origination fees is recognized at the time the related purchase or refinance transactions are completed, usually upon the close of escrow and when we fund the purchase or refinance mortgage loans.

Contract Cost Assets

We capitalize certain incremental costs of obtaining contracts with customers which we expect to recover. These costs relate to commissions paid to sales personnel, primarily for our Premier Agent program. Contract cost assets are amortized on a straight-line basis over a period that is consistent with the transfer to the customer of the products or services to which the asset relates, generally the estimated life of the customer relationship. Our determination of the estimated life of the customer relationship involves significant judgment. In determining the estimated life of our customer relationships, we consider quantitative and qualitative data, including, but not limited to, historical customer data, recent changes or expected changes in product or service offerings, and changes in how we monetize our products and services. The amortization period for capitalized contract costs related to our Premier Agent program are approximately three years.

We monitor our contract cost assets for impairment and recognize an impairment loss in the statement Table of operations to the extent the carrying amount of the asset recognized exceeds the amount of consideration we expect to receive in the future and that we have received but have not recognized in revenue less the costs that relate directly to providing those goods or services that have not yet been recognized as expenses. Contents

Website and Software Development Costs

The costs incurred in the preliminary stages of website and software development are expensed as incurred. Once an application has reached the development stage, internal and external costs, if direct and incremental and deemed by management to be significant, are capitalized in property and equipment and amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives. Maintenance and enhancement costs, including those costs in the post-implementation stages, are typically expensed as incurred, unless such costs relate to substantial upgrades and enhancements to the website or software that result in added functionality, in which case the costs are capitalized and amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives.

Capitalized development activities placed in service are amortized over the expected useful lives of those releases, currently estimated at one to five years. The estimated useful lives of website and software development activities are reviewed frequently and adjusted as appropriate to reflect upcoming development activities that may include significant upgrades and/or enhancements to the existing functionality.

We exercise judgment in determining the point at which various projects may be capitalized, in assessing the ongoing value of the capitalized costs and in determining the estimated useful lives over which the costs are amortized. To the extent that we change the manner in which we develop and test new features and functionalities related to our mobile applications and websites, assess the ongoing value of capitalized assets, or determine the estimated useful lives over which the costs are amortized, the amount of website and software development costs we capitalize and amortize could change in future periods.

Recoverability of Intangible Assets with Definite Lives and Other Long-Lived Assets

We evaluate intangible assets and other long-lived assets, including our lease right of use assets, for impairment whenever events or circumstances indicate that they may not be recoverable. Recoverability is measured by comparing the carrying amount of an asset group to future undiscounted net cash flows expected to be generated. We group assets for purposes of such review at the lowest level for which identifiable cash flows of the asset group are largely independent of the cash flows of the other groups of assets and liabilities.

Unforeseen events, changes in circumstances and market conditions and material differences in estimates of future cash flows could adversely affect the fair value of our assets and could result in an impairment charge. Fair value can be estimated utilizing a number of techniques including quoted market prices, prices for comparable assets or other valuation processes involving estimates of cash flows, multiples of earnings or revenues, and we may make various assumptions and estimates when performing our impairment assessments, particularly as it relates to cash flow projections. Cash flow estimates are by their nature subjective and include assumptions regarding factors such as recent and forecasted operating performance, revenue trends and operating margins. These estimates could also be adversely impacted by changes in federal, state, or local regulations, economic downturns or developments, pandemics such as COVID-19, or other market conditions affecting our industry.

Business Combinations

We recognize identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed at their acquisition date fair values. Goodwill as of the acquisition date is measured as the excess of consideration transferred over the net of the acquisition date fair values of the assets acquired and liabilities assumed. We use assumptions and estimates in determining the fair value of assets acquired and liabilities assumed. Particularly, to estimate the fair value of acquired intangible assets, we engage third-party valuation specialists, and generally use valuation models that include variations of the income approach, specifically the excess earnings method and relief-from-royalty method. Under these valuation approaches, we are required to make estimates and assumptions which may include revenue growth rates, estimated earnings, royalty rates, obsolescence factors, customer attrition and discount rates. Changes in any of the inputs may result in a significantly different fair value. We may refine our estimates during the measurement period, which is up to one year from the acquisition date. Upon the conclusion of the measurement period, any subsequent adjustments are recorded in our consolidated statements of operations.

The acquisition of Follow Up Boss includes the potential for the future payment of consideration that is contingent upon the achievement of certain performance metrics. The fair value of contingent consideration is recorded as a liability in our consolidated balance sheets and is estimated at the acquisition date using a Monte Carlo simulation and unobservable inputs. These inputs include the probabilities of the achievement of certain performance metrics and the related discount rates. We may refine our acquisition date estimates during the measurement period, which is up to one year from the acquisition date. Subsequent to the acquisition date, at each reporting period until the contingencies are resolved, the contingent consideration is remeasured at current fair value with changes recorded in our consolidated statements of operations. Changes in any of the inputs may result in a significant fair value adjustment.

Recoverability of Goodwill

Goodwill is measured as the excess of consideration transferred for an acquired business over the net of the acquisition date fair value of the assets acquired and liabilities assumed, and is not amortized. We assess the impairment of goodwill at the reporting unit level on an annual basis, in our fourth quarter, or whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that goodwill may be impaired. In our evaluation of goodwill, we first perform a qualitative assessment to determine whether the carrying value of each our reporting unit is greater than its fair value. If it is more likely than not that the carrying value of a the reporting unit is greater than its fair value, we perform a quantitative assessment and an impairment charge is recorded in our consolidated statements of operations for the excess of carrying value of the reporting unit over its fair value.

We exercise judgment in determining whether it is more likely than not that the carrying value of each our reporting unit is greater than its fair value. The following events and circumstances are considered when performing the qualitative assessment:

- Macroeconomic conditions, industry and market considerations, and entity-specific conditions, such as changes in cost factors and financial performance;
- The amount by which the fair values value of each the reporting unit exceeded their the carrying values value as of the date of the most recent quantitative assessment;
- Changes in interest rates since the most recent quantitative assessment;
- Changes in our business or strategy since our most recent quantitative assessment;
- The current reporting unit forecasts as compared to the forecasts included in the most recent quantitative qualitative assessment;
- Changes in our market capitalization and overall enterprise value.

The examples noted above are not all-inclusive, and we consider other relevant events and circumstances that affect the fair value of a the reporting unit in determining whether to perform a quantitative assessment.

Commencing Beginning in 2023, our chief operating decision maker, who is our chief executive officer, manages our business, makes operating decisions and evaluates operating performance on the first quarter basis of 2023, the company as a whole, instead of on a segment basis as he did prior to 2023. This aligns to our ongoing growth strategy and our intent to provide integrated customer solutions for all tasks and services related to facilitating real estate transactions. This resulted in revisions to the nature and substance of information regularly provided to and used by the chief operating decision maker. Accordingly, we have realigned our operating structure, will be realigned into one resulting in a single operating and reportable segment. This In line with this, the nature and substance of the information regularly provided to our segment manager similarly changed, and we determined that we have only one reporting unit. Because the segment change may result in impacted the identification structure of new our reporting units, which may require us we performed a qualitative goodwill impairment assessment immediately before and immediately after the change in reporting units. Based on those assessments, we determined it was more likely than not that the fair value of our current and legacy reporting units exceeded their respective carrying values. Therefore, we concluded that it was not necessary to perform a goodwill quantitative impairment test for each reporting unit immediately before and after the segment change. While we believe the assumptions used in our 2022 impairment analysis are reasonable and representative of expected results for our 2022 reporting unit structure, we may recognize a goodwill impairment charge immediately after the segment change as the reassigned carrying values of the reporting units may exceed their respective estimated fair values. test. At December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, our total goodwill balance was $2.4 billion $2.8 billion.

Share-Based Compensation

We measure compensation expense for all share-based awards at fair value on the date of grant and recognize compensation expense over the service period for awards expected to vest. We use the Black-Scholes-Merton option-pricing model to determine the fair value for option awards and recognize compensation expense on a straight-line basis over the option awards' vesting period.

Determining the fair value of option awards at the grant date requires judgment. If any of the assumptions used in the Black-Scholes-Merton model changes significantly, share-based compensation expense for future option awards may differ materially compared with the awards granted previously. In valuing our option awards, we make assumptions about risk-free interest rates, dividend yields, volatility, and weighted-average expected lives. If any of the assumptions changes significantly, share-based compensation expense for future option awards may differ materially compared with the awards granted previously. When determining the grant date fair value of share-based awards, management also considers whether an adjustment is required to the observable market price or volatility of our Class C capital stock used in the valuation as a result of material non-public information.

Risk-free interest rate. Risk-free interest rates are derived from U.S. Treasury securities as of the option award's grant date.

Expected dividend yields. Expected dividend yields are based on our historical dividend payments, which have been zero to date.

Volatility. The expected volatility for our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock is estimated using our historical volatility.

Expected term. The weighted-average expected life of the option awards is estimated based on our historical exercise data.

Table of Contents

We will continue to use judgment in evaluating the expected volatility and expected terms utilized for our share-based compensation expense calculations on a prospective basis. We will also continue to use judgment when determining whether an adjustment is required to the observable market price or volatility as a result of material non-public information. Actual results, and future changes in estimates, may differ substantially from management's current estimates. As we continue to accumulate additional data related to our Class C capital stock, we may have refinements to the estimates of our expected volatility and expected terms, which could materially impact our future share-based compensation expense. In future periods, we expect our share-based compensation expense to increase decrease as a result of our existing unrecognized share-based compensation that will be recognized as the awards continue to vest over their respective periods and we focus on mitigating dilution as we grant additional share-based awards to attract and retain employees. issue new awards.

Item 7A. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk.

We are exposed to market risks in the ordinary course of our business. These risks primarily consist of fluctuations in interest rates.

Interest Rate Risk

Under our current investment policy, we invest our excess cash in money market funds, U.S. government treasury securities, U.S. government agency securities, investment grade corporate securities and commercial paper. Our current investment policy seeks first to preserve capital, second to provide sufficient liquidity for our operating and capital needs and third to maximize yield without putting our principal at risk.

Our short-term investments are exposed to market risk due to the fluctuation of prevailing interest rates that may reduce the yield on our investments or their fair value. For our investment portfolio, we do not believe an immediate 10% increase in interest rates would have a material effect on the fair market value of our portfolio.

As of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, we had approximately $1.7 billion $1.6 billion aggregate principal amount of convertible senior notes outstanding with maturities ranging from September 2024 through September 2026. All outstanding convertible senior notes bear fixed rates of interest and, therefore, do not expose us to financial statement risk associated with changes in interest rates. The fair values of the convertible senior notes change primarily when the market price of our stock fluctuates or interest rates change.

We are also subject to market risk which may impact our mortgage loan origination volume and associated revenue and the net interest margin derived from borrowings under our warehouse line of credit and master repurchase agreements that provide capital for Zillow Home Loans. Market risk occurs in periods where changes in short-term interest rates result in mortgage loans being originated with terms that provide a smaller interest rate spread above the financing terms of our warehouse line of credit and master repurchase agreements, which can negatively impact our net income (loss), results of operations. This risk is primarily mitigated through expedited sale of our loans. As of December 31, 2022 and December 31, 2021 December 31, 2023, we had $37 million and $113 million, respectively, $93 million of outstanding borrowings on our warehouse line of credit and master repurchase agreements. Borrowings on the master repurchase agreements which bear interest either at a floating rate based on Secured Overnight Financing Rate ("SOFR") plus an applicable margin, as defined by the governing agreements, or Bloomberg Short-Term Bank Yield Index Rate ("BSBY") plus an applicable margin, as defined by the governing agreements. We manage the interest rate risk associated with our mortgage loan origination services through the use of forward sales of mortgage-backed securities. Assuming no change in the outstanding borrowings on the warehouse line of credit and master repurchase agreements, we estimate that a one percentage point increase in SOFR or BSBY, as applicable, would not have a material effect on our annual interest expense associated with the warehouse line of credit and master repurchase agreements as of December 31, 2022 and December 31, 2021 December 31, 2023.

For additional details related to our credit facilities and convertible senior notes, see Note 13 11 to our Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements in Part II, Item 8 of this Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Inflation Risk

The macroeconomic environment in the United States has experienced and continues to experience significant inflationary pressures, including the highest levels of inflation in nearly four decades. pressures. While it is difficult to accurately measure the impact of these inflationary pressures on our business, we believe these effects have been pervasive throughout our business beginning in 2022 and continuing during the year ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023. In response to ongoing inflationary pressures in the United States, the Federal Reserve has implemented a number of increases to the federal funds rate during 2022. These 2022 and 2023. Despite inflation stabilizing in the second half of 2023, these federal funds rate increases have impacted other market rates derived from this benchmark rate, including mortgage interest rates. The increase in persistently high mortgage interest rates across the industry relative to recent years has decreased impacted the number of transactions consumers complete using our products and services and the demand for mortgages overall our advertising services and mortgage origination offerings and, in turn, had an adverse impact on the results of operations for our Mortgages segment revenue during 2022, 2023.

If the inflation rate continues to increase, inflationary pressures persist, our costs, in particular labor, marketing and hosting costs, will continue to be subject to significant inflationary pressures may increase and we may not be able to fully offset such higher costs through price increases. In addition, uncertain or changing economic and market conditions, including inflation or deflation, may continue to affect demand for our products and services and the housing markets in which we operate. Our inability or failure to quickly respond to inflation could harm our business, results of operations and financial condition. We cannot predict the duration or magnitude of these inflationary pressures, or how they may change over time, but we expect to see continued impacts on the residential real estate industry, our customers and our company. Despite these near-term effects, we do not expect these inflationary pressures to have a material impact on our ability to execute our long-term business strategy.

Foreign Currency Exchange Risk

We do not believe that foreign currency exchange risk has had a material effect on our business, results of operations or financial condition. As we do not maintain a significant balance of foreign currency, we do not believe an immediate 10% increase or decrease in foreign currency exchange rates relative to the U.S. dollar would have a material effect on our business, results of operations or financial condition.

The wind down was completed in the third quarter of 2022, and we have presented the financial results of Zillow Offers as discontinued operations in our consolidated financial statements of operations for all periods presented, the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021. See Note 3 for additional information.

Certain Significant Risks and Uncertainties

We operate in a dynamic industry and, accordingly, can be affected by a variety of factors. For example, we believe that changes in any of the following areas could have a significant negative effect on us in terms of our future financial position, results of operations or cash flows: current and future health and stability of the economy financial conditions, and United States residential housing market; real estate industry, including changes in general economic and financial inflationary conditions, (including federal monetary policy, interest rates, inflation, home price fluctuations, housing inventory, availability and affordability, labor shortages and supply chain issues); issues; our ability to manage industry changes, including as a result of certain or future class action lawsuits or government investigations; our ability to manage advertising inventory and pricing and maintain relationships with our real estate partners; our compliance with multiple listing service rules and requirements to access and use listing data, and to maintain or establish relationships with listings and data providers; our investment of resources to pursue strategies and develop new products and services that may not prove effective or that are not attractive for customers and real estate partners or that do not allow us to compete successfully; our compliance with multiple listing service rules ability to operate and requirements to access grow Zillow Home Loans, our mortgage origination business and use listing data, and to maintain or establish relationships with listings and data providers; our affiliate lender, including the ability to obtain or maintain licenses and permits to support our current and future businesses; our ability to operate and grow our mortgage origination business, including the ability to obtain sufficient financing and resell originated mortgages on the secondary market; the duration and impact of natural disasters and other catastrophic events (including public health crises) on our ability to operate, demand for our products or services or general economic conditions; our ability to realize the benefits of our past or future strategic partnerships, acquisitions, joint ventures, capital-raising activities, investments or other corporate transactions or commitments; our ability to manage advertising inventory or pricing; effectivity of our technology and information security systems, or those of third parties on which we rely; changes in laws or government regulation affecting our business; outcomes of legal proceedings; our ability to attract and retain qualified employees and key personnel; a highly skilled workforce; protection of customers' Zillow's information and other privacy concerns; systems against security breaches or disruptions in operations; reliance on third-party services to support critical functions of our business; protection of our brand and intellectual property; and intellectual property infringement and other claims, changes in laws or government regulation affecting our business, among other things.

Note 2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements include Zillow Group, Inc. and its wholly-owned subsidiaries. All intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation. These consolidated financial statements have been prepared in conformity with United States generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"). We have presented the financial results of Zillow Offers as discontinued operations in our consolidated financial statements for all periods presented, presented as applicable. See Note 3 for additional information.

Certain reclassifications of prior period amounts have been made to conform to the current period presentation.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make certain estimates, judgments and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and the related disclosures at the date of the financial statements, as well as the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the periods presented. On an ongoing basis, we evaluate our estimates, including those related to the accounting for certain revenue offerings, restructuring costs, amortization period and recoverability of contract cost assets, website and software development costs, recoverability of long-lived assets and intangible assets, share-based compensation, income taxes, the presentation of discontinued and continuing operations, business combinations, including the initial and subsequent fair value measurements of assets (primarily intangible assets), liabilities and contingent consideration, and the recoverability of goodwill, among others. To the extent there are material differences between these estimates, judgments or assumptions and actual results, our financial statements will be affected. The health of the residential housing market interest rate environment and the COVID-19 pandemic (including variants) broader economy have introduced significant additional uncertainty with respect to estimates, judgments and assumptions, which may materially impact the estimates previously listed, among others.

Concentrations of Credit Risk

Financial instruments, which potentially subject us to concentrations of credit risk, consist primarily of cash and cash equivalents, investments, accounts receivable and mortgage loans held for sale. We place cash and cash equivalents and investments with major financial institutions, which management assesses to be of high credit quality, in order to limit exposure of our investments.

Credit risk with respect to accounts receivable is dispersed due to the large number of customers. There were no customers that comprised 10% or more of our total accounts receivable as of December 31, 2022 and 2021. December 31, 2023 or 2022. Further, our credit risk on accounts receivable is mitigated by the relatively short payment terms that we offer. Collateral is not required for accounts receivable. We maintain an allowance for doubtful accounts such that receivables are stated at net realizable value.

Similarly, our credit risk on mortgage loans held for sale is dispersed due to a large number of customers and is mitigated by the fact that we typically sell mortgages on the secondary market within a relatively short period of time after the loan is originated.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash includes demand deposits with banks or financial institutions. Cash equivalents include short-term, highly liquid investments that are both readily convertible to known amounts of cash, and so near their maturity that they present minimal risk of changes in value because of changes in interest rates. Our cash equivalents include only investments with original maturities of three months or less. We regularly maintain cash in excess of federally insured limits at financial institutions.

Short-term Investments

Our investments consist of fixed income securities, which include U.S. government treasury securities, investment grade corporate securities, U.S. government agency securities, investment grade corporate securities and commercial paper. The investments are available to support current operations and are classified as short-term investments measured at fair value. Our investment policy only allows for purchases of investment-grade securities and provides guidelines on concentrations to ensure minimum risk of loss. We evaluate whether unrealized losses on available-for-sale debt securities are the result of credit worthiness of the securities held or other non-credit related factors. If an unrealized loss is the result of credit quality factors, we recognize an allowance reflective of our current estimate of credit losses expected to be incurred over the life of the financial instrument on a specific identification basis upon initial recognition and at each reporting period. If a reduction in value is a result of other factors, we continue to classify the losses as a reduction of in comprehensive loss unless either we intend to sell the security or it is more likely than not we will be required to sell the security. We did not identify any unrealized loss positions in our available-for-sale securities that were the result of credit losses as of December 31, 2022, December 31, 2023 or 2021, 2022. Additionally, we have the ability to hold our investments to maturity and more likely than not will not be required to sell the securities before a recovery of the amortized cost basis has occurred.

Restricted Cash

Restricted cash primarily consists of amounts held in escrow related to funding indemnification holdbacks for certain of our acquisitions and amounts used to fund customer home purchases in our mortgage origination business.

Mortgage Loans Held for Sale

Mortgage loans held for sale include residential mortgages originated for sale in the secondary market in connection with Zillow Home Loans, our mortgage origination business. We have elected the fair value option for all mortgage loans held for sale as election of this option allows for a better offset of the changes in fair values of the loans and the derivative instruments used to economically hedge them without having to apply complex hedge accounting provisions. Mortgage loans held for sale are initially recorded at fair value based on either sale commitments or current market quotes and are adjusted for subsequent changes in fair value until the loans are sold. Net origination costs and fees associated with mortgage loans are recognized as incurred. We sell substantially all of the mortgages we originate and the related servicing rights to third-party purchasers. Interest income is earned from the date a mortgage loan is originated until the loan is sold and is classified within other income, net in the consolidated statements of operations.

Substantially all of the mortgage loans originated are sold within a short period of time in the secondary mortgage market on a servicing released, nonrecourse basis, which limits exposure to nonperformance by loan buyer counterparties. However, we remain liable for certain limited representations and warranties related to loan sales, such as non-compliance with defined loan origination or documentation standards, including misstatement in the loan documents, early payoff or default on early payments. Mortgage investors could seek to have us buy back loans or compensate them for losses incurred on mortgages we have sold based on claims that we breached our limited representations and warranties. We record a reserve for probable losses in connection with the sale of mortgage loans within accrued expenses and other long-term current liabilities in the consolidated balance sheet.

Loan Commitments and Related Derivatives

We are party to interest rate lock commitments ("IRLCs"), which are extended to borrowers who have applied for loan funding and meet defined credit and underwriting criteria in connection with our Zillow Home Loans mortgage origination business. IRLCs are accounted for as derivative instruments recorded at fair value with gains and losses recognized in revenue in the consolidated statements of operations. We manage our interest rate risk related to IRLCs and mortgage loans held for sale through the use of derivative instruments, generally forward contracts on mortgage-backed securities ("MBSs"), which are commitments to either purchase or sell a specified financial instrument at a specified future date for a specified price, and mandatory loan commitments, which are an obligation by an investor to buy loans at a specified price within a specified time period. We do not enter into or hold derivatives for trading or speculative purposes, and our derivatives are not designated as hedging instruments. Changes in the fair value of our derivative financial instruments are recognized in revenue in our consolidated statements of operations, and the fair values are reflected in other current assets or other current liabilities, as applicable. Refer to Note 4 to our consolidated financial statements for additional information regarding IRLCs and related derivatives.

There are no credit-risk-related contingent features within our derivative agreements, and counterparty risk is considered minimal. Gains and losses on IRLCs are substantially offset by corresponding gains or losses on forward contracts on MBSs and mandatory loan commitments. We are generally not exposed to variability in cash flows of derivative instruments for more than approximately 90 days.

Contract Balances

Accounts receivable represent our unconditional right to consideration. Accounts receivable are generally due within 30 days and are recorded net of the allowance for doubtful accounts. We have an allowance for doubtful accounts for our accounts receivable balances, which represents our estimate of expected credit losses over the contractual life of the accounts receivable. To evaluate the adequacy of our allowance for doubtful accounts each reporting period, we analyze the accounts receivable balances with similar risk characteristics on a collective basis, considering factors such as the aging of receivable balances, payment terms, historical loss experience, current information and future expectations. Changes to the allowance for doubtful accounts are adjusted through credit loss expense, which is included in general and administrative expenses in the consolidated statements of operations.

Contract assets represent our right to consideration in exchange for goods and services that we have transferred to the customer when that right is conditional on something other than the passage of time. Contract assets are primarily related to our Premier Agent Flex, Zillow Lease Connect and StreetEasy Experts offerings, whereby we estimate variable consideration based on the expected number of real estate transactions to be closed for Premier Agent Flex and StreetEasy Experts, and qualified leases to be secured for Zillow Lease Connect. We recognize revenue when we satisfy our performance obligations under the corresponding contracts. The current portion of contract assets are recorded within prepaid expenses and other current assets and the long-term portion of contract assets are recorded within other assets in our consolidated balance sheets.

Contract liabilities consist of deferred revenue, which relates to payments received in advance of performance under a revenue contract. Deferred revenue is primarily related to prepaid advertising fees received or billed in advance of satisfying our performance obligations and prepaid but unrecognized subscription revenue. Deferred revenue is recognized when or as we satisfy our obligations under contracts with customers.

Contract Cost Assets

We capitalize certain incremental costs of obtaining contracts with customers which we expect to recover. These costs relate to commissions paid to sales personnel, primarily for our Premier Agent program. As a practical expedient, we recognize the incremental costs of obtaining a contract as an expense when incurred if the amortization period of the asset that we otherwise would have recognized is one year or less. Capitalized commission costs are recorded as contract cost assets in our consolidated balance sheets. Contract cost assets are amortized to expense on a straight-line basis over a period that is consistent with the transfer to the customer of the products or services to which the asset relates, generally the estimated life of the customer relationship. Amortization expense related to contract cost assets is included in sales and marketing expenses in our consolidated statements of operations. In determining the estimated life of our customer relationships, we consider quantitative and qualitative data, including, but not limited to, historical customer data, recent changes or expected changes in product or service offerings and changes in how we monetize our products and services. The amortization period for capitalized contract costs related to our Premier Agent program is approximately three years.

We monitor our contract cost assets for impairment and recognize an impairment loss in the consolidated statements of operations to the extent the carrying amount of the asset recognized exceeds the amount of consideration that we expect to receive in the future and that we have received but have not recognized in revenue less the costs that relate directly to providing those goods or services that have not yet been recognized as expenses. Refer For the years ended December 31, 2023, 2022 and 2021, we did not record any material impairment losses to Note 7 of our consolidated financial statements for more information regarding contract cost assets.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment is recorded at cost and depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the related assets. The useful lives are as follows:

Computer equipment	2 to 3 years
Office equipment, furniture and fixtures	5 to 7 years
Leasehold improvements	Shorter of expected useful life or lease term

Maintenance and repair costs are charged to expense as incurred. Major improvements, which extend the useful life of the related asset, are capitalized. Upon disposal of a fixed asset, we record a gain or loss based on the difference between the proceeds received and the net book value of the disposed asset. We remove fully depreciated property and equipment from the cost and accumulated depreciation amounts disclosed.

Website and Software Development Costs

The costs incurred in the preliminary stages of website and software development are expensed as incurred. Once an application has reached the development stage, internal and external costs, if direct and incremental and deemed by management to be significant, are capitalized in property and equipment and amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives. Maintenance and enhancement costs, including those costs in the post-implementation stages, are typically expensed as incurred, unless such costs relate to substantial upgrades and enhancements to the website or software that result in added functionality, in which case the costs are capitalized and amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives. Amortization expense related to capitalized website and software development costs is included in cost of revenue in our consolidated statements of operations.

Capitalized development activities placed in service are amortized over the expected useful lives of those releases, currently estimated at one to five years. The estimated useful lives of website and software development activities are reviewed frequently and adjusted as appropriate to reflect upcoming development activities that may include significant upgrades and/or enhancements to the existing functionality. We remove fully amortized website and software development costs from the cost and accumulated amortization amounts disclosed.

Construction-in-progress primarily consists of website development costs that are capitalizable, but for which the associated applications have not been placed in service.

Leases

Our lease portfolio is primarily composed of operating leases for our office space. We determine whether a contract is or contains a lease at inception of the contract. Our operating leases are included in right of use assets and lease liabilities on our consolidated balance sheets. We do not have any material financing leases.

We have lease agreements that include both lease components (e.g., fixed rent) and non-lease components (e.g., common area maintenance). For such leases, we account for the lease and non-lease components as a single component. For leases with an initial term of 12 months or less, we recognize the associated lease payments in the consolidated statements of operations on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

Right of use assets represent our right to use an underlying asset during the lease term and lease liabilities represent our obligation to make lease payments. Right of use assets and lease liabilities are recognized at the lease commencement date based on the present value of the total lease payments contracted but not yet paid, including lease incentives not yet received, with the right of use assets further adjusted for any prepaid or accrued lease payments, lease incentives received and/or initial direct costs incurred. Certain lease arrangements also include variable payments for costs such as common-area maintenance, utilities, taxes or other operating costs, which are based on a percentage of actual expenses incurred or a fluctuating rate which is unknown at the inception of the contract. These variable lease payments are excluded from the measurement of the right of use assets and lease liabilities.

Our leases have remaining lease terms ranging from less than one year to ten nine years, most of which include one or more options to extend the lease term. The renewal options can generally extend the lease term for up to an additional five to ten years. When determining if a renewal option is reasonably certain of being exercised at lease commencement, we consider several factors, including but not limited to, contract-based, asset-based and entity-based factors. We reassess the term of existing leases if there is a significant event or change in circumstances within our control that affects whether we are reasonably certain to exercise an option to extend a lease. Examples of such events or changes include construction of significant leasehold improvements or other modifications or customizations to the underlying asset, relevant business decisions or subleases. As of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, we have concluded that our renewal options are not reasonably certain of being exercised, therefore, renewals renewal options are not included in the right of use assets and lease liabilities.

As our leases do not provide an implicit rate, we use our incremental borrowing rate based on the information available at the lease commencement date in determining the present value of the lease payments. We apply a portfolio approach for determining the incremental borrowing rate based on the applicable lease terms and the current economic environment.

We recognize lease expense for operating leases on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Variable lease payments are generally recognized when incurred. These expenses are included in general and administrative expenses in the consolidated statements of operations.

From time to time, we may enter into sublease agreements with third parties. Our subleases generally do not relieve us of our primary obligations under the corresponding head lease. As a result, we account for the head lease based on the original assessment at lease inception. We determine if the sublease arrangement is either a sales-type, direct financing, or operating lease at inception of the sublease. If the total remaining lease cost on the head lease for the term of the sublease is greater than the anticipated sublease income, the right of use asset is assessed for impairment. Our subleases are generally operating leases and we recognize sublease income on a straight-line basis over the sublease term. term as a reduction to our operating lease cost within general and administrative expenses in our consolidated statements of operations.

Recoverability of Goodwill

Goodwill is measured as the excess of consideration transferred for an acquired business over the net of the acquisition date fair values of the assets acquired and the liabilities assumed, and is not amortized. We assess the impairment of goodwill at the reporting unit level on an annual basis, in our fourth quarter, or whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that goodwill may be impaired. In our evaluation of goodwill, we initially perform a qualitative assessment to determine whether the existence of events or circumstances indicates that it is more likely than not that the carrying value of each reporting unit is greater than its fair value. If it is more likely than not that the carrying value of a reporting unit is greater than its fair value, we perform a quantitative assessment and an impairment charge is recorded in our statements of operations for if the excess of carrying value of the reporting unit over exceeds its fair value.

Beginning in 2023, our chief operating decision maker, who is our chief executive officer, manages our business, makes operating decisions and evaluates operating performance on the basis of the company as a whole, instead of on a segment basis as he did prior to 2023. This aligns to our ongoing growth strategy and our intent to provide integrated customer solutions for all tasks and services related to facilitating real estate transactions. This resulted in revisions to the nature and substance of information regularly provided to and used by the chief operating decision maker. Accordingly, we have realigned our operating structure, resulting in a single operating and reportable segment. In line with this, the nature and substance of the information regularly provided to our segment manager similarly changed, and we determined that we have only one reporting unit. Because the segment change impacted the structure of our reporting units, we performed a qualitative goodwill impairment assessment immediately before and immediately after the change in reporting units. Based on those assessments, we determined it was more likely than not that the fair value of our current and legacy reporting units exceeded their respective carrying values. Therefore, we concluded that it was not necessary to perform a quantitative impairment test. During the years ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, 2021 2022 and 2020, 2021, we did not record any impairments related to goodwill. Refer to Note 10 for additional information related to goodwill.

Intangible Assets

We purchase and license data content from multiple data providers. This data content consists of United States county data about home details and other information relating to the purchase price of homes, both current and historical, as well as imagery, mapping and parcel data that is displayed on our mobile applications and websites. In some instances, we retain perpetual rights to this information after our contract with a vendor ends; in other instances, the information and data are licensed only during the fixed term of the agreement. Additionally, certain data license agreements provide for uneven payment amounts throughout the contract term.

We capitalize payments made to third parties for data licenses that we expect to recover through generation of revenue and margins. For data license contracts that include uneven payment amounts, we capitalize the payments as they are made as an intangible asset and the total contract value is typically amortized on a straight-line basis over the term of the contract, which is equivalent to the estimated useful life of the asset. The amortization period for the capitalized purchased content is based on our best estimate of the useful life of the asset, which ranges from three to seven years.

Under certain other data agreements, the underlying data is obtained on a subscription basis with consistent monthly or quarterly recurring payment terms over the contractual period. Upon the expiration of such arrangements, we no longer have the right to access the related data, and therefore, the costs incurred under such contracts are not capitalized and are expensed as payments are made.

We also capitalize costs related to the license of certain internal-use software from third parties, including certain licenses of software in cloud computing arrangements. Additionally, we capitalize costs incurred during the application development stage related to the development of internal-use software and enterprise cloud computing services. We expense costs as incurred related to the planning and post-implementation phases of development. Capitalized internal-use software costs are amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of the asset, which is currently one to five years.

Intangibles-in-progress consist of purchased content and software that are capitalizable but have not been placed in service.

We also have intangible assets for developed technology, customer relationships, and trade names and trademarks which we recorded in connection with acquisitions. Purchased intangible assets with a determinable economic life are carried at cost less accumulated amortization. These intangible assets are amortized over the estimated useful life of the asset on a straight-line basis.

For each of the intangible assets described above, we have removed fully amortized assets from the cost and accumulated amortization amounts disclosed.

Recoverability of Intangible Assets with Definite Lives and Other Long-Lived Assets

We evaluate intangible assets and other long-lived assets, including our lease right of use assets, for impairment whenever events or circumstances indicate that they may not be recoverable. Recoverability is measured by comparing the carrying amount of an asset group to future undiscounted net cash flows expected to be generated. We group assets for purposes of such review at the lowest level for which identifiable cash flows of the asset group are largely independent of the cash flows of the other groups of assets and liabilities. If this comparison indicates impairment, the amount of impairment to be recognized is calculated as the difference between the carrying value and the fair value of the asset group.

Business Combinations

We recognize identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed at their acquisition date fair values. Goodwill as of the acquisition date is measured as the excess of consideration transferred over the net of the acquisition date fair values of the assets acquired and the liabilities assumed. While we use our best estimates and assumptions for the preliminary purchase price allocation process to value assets acquired and liabilities assumed at the acquisition date, our estimates are inherently uncertain and subject to refinement. As a result, during the measurement period, which may be up to one year from the acquisition date, we record adjustments to the assets acquired and liabilities assumed, with the corresponding offset to goodwill to the extent that we identify adjustments to the preliminary purchase price allocation. Upon the conclusion of the measurement period or final determination of the values of assets acquired or liabilities assumed, whichever comes first, any subsequent adjustments are recorded to our consolidated statements of operations. We recognize adjustments to provisional amounts that are identified during the measurement period in the reporting period in which the adjustment amounts are determined.

We record contingent consideration at its preliminary estimated fair value at the date of acquisition. The current portion of contingent consideration is recorded within accrued expenses and other current liabilities, and the long-term portion is recorded within other long-term liabilities in our consolidated balance sheets. The fair value of contingent consideration is remeasured each reporting period. Measurement period adjustments, if any, to the preliminary estimated fair value as of the acquisition date will be recorded to goodwill. Changes in fair value as a result of updated assumptions after the acquisition date will be recorded in general and administrative expenses in the consolidated statements of operations.

Revenue Recognition

We recognize revenue when or as we satisfy our performance obligations by transferring control of the promised products or services to our customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which we expect to be entitled in exchange for those products or services.

As a practical expedient, we do not adjust the promised amount of consideration for the effects of a significant financing component, as the period between our transfer of a promised product or service to a customer and when the customer pays for that product or service is generally one year or less, less, with the exception of certain of our pay for performance products, including Premier Agent Flex and StreetEasy Experts, whereby we may not receive payment for services provided for up to two years after control of the promised products or services is transferred to our customers. In these cases, however, because a substantial portion of the consideration is variable, we have concluded the contracts do not include a significant financing component.

We do not disclose the transaction price related to remaining performance obligations for (i) contracts with an original expected duration of one year or less or (ii) contracts for which we recognize revenue at the amount to which we have the right to invoice for performance completed to date. The remaining duration over which we satisfy our performance obligations is generally less than one year.

IMT Segment We disaggregate our revenue into the following categories: Residential, Rentals, Mortgages and Other, described below.

Premier Agent Revenue, Residential. Premier Agent Residential revenue is derived from includes revenue generated by our Premier Agent program, and new construction marketplaces, as well as revenue from the sale of advertising and business technology solutions for real estate professionals through StreetEasy for-sale product offerings, ShowingTime+, and upon acquisition on December 8, 2023, Follow Up Boss.

Our Premier Agent program offers a suite of marketing and business technology products and services to help real estate agents and brokers achieve their advertising goals while growing and managing their businesses and brands. All Premier Agents Agent partners receive access to a dashboard portal on our mobile application and website that provides individualized program performance analytics, our customer relationship management or CRM, tool that captures detailed information about each contact made with a Premier Agent partner through our mobile and web platforms and our account management tools. The marketing and business technology products and services promised to Premier Agents Agent partners are delivered over time, as the customer simultaneously receives and consumes the benefit of the performance obligations.

Premier Agent advertising products, which include the delivery of validated consumer customer connections, or leads, are primarily offered on a share of voice ("market-based pricing") and pay for performance basis. Payment For our market-based pricing products and services, payment is received prior to the delivery of connections. Connections are delivered when consumer contact information is provided to Premier Agents Agent partners. We do not promise any minimum or maximum number of connections to customers, but instead control when and how many connections to deliver based on a customer's share of voice. We determine the number of connections to deliver to Premier Agents Agent partners in each zip code using a market-based pricing method in consideration of the total amount spent by Premier Agents Agent partners to purchase connections in the zip code during the month. This results in the delivery of connections over time in proportion to each Premier Agent's Agent partners' share of voice. A Premier Agent's Agent partners' share of voice in a zip code is determined by their proportional monthly prepaid spend in that zip code as a percentage of the total monthly prepaid spend of all Premier Agents Agent partners in that zip code, and determines the proportion of consumer connections a Premier Agent partner receives. The number of connections delivered for a given spend level is dynamic - dynamic; as demand for advertising in a zip code increases or decreases, the number of connections delivered to a Premier Agent partner in that zip code decreases or increases accordingly.

We primarily recognize revenue related to the Premier Agent market-based pricing products and services based on the monthly prepaid spend recognized on a straight-line basis during the monthly billing period over which the products and services are provided. This methodology best depicts how we satisfy our performance obligations to customers, as we continuously transfer control of the performance obligations to the customer over time. Given a Premier Agent partner typically prepaids their monthly spend and the monthly spend is refunded on a pro-rata basis upon cancellation of the contract by a customer, we have determined that Premier Agent market-based pricing contracts are effectively daily contracts, and each performance obligation is satisfied over time as each day lapses. We have not allocated the transaction price to each performance obligation within our Premier Agent market-based pricing arrangements, as the amounts recognized would be the same irrespective of any allocation.

We also offer a Our pay for performance pricing model is called "Flex" for Premier Agent advertising services and is available in certain markets. Flex is available markets to select partners alongside our legacy market-based pricing model. partners. With the Flex model, Premier Agents Agent partners are provided with validated leads at no initial cost and pay a performance advertising fee only when a real estate transaction is closed with one of the leads, generally within two years. With this pricing model, the transaction price represents variable consideration, as the amount to which we expect to be entitled varies based on the number of validated leads that convert into real estate transactions and the value of those transactions. We estimate variable consideration and record revenue as performance obligations, or validated leads, are transferred. We do not believe that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will occur once the uncertainty related to the number of transactions closed is subsequently resolved. We record a corresponding contract asset for the our estimate of variable the consideration for Flex to which we will be entitled when the right to the consideration is conditional. When the right to consideration becomes unconditional, upon the close of a real estate transaction, we reclassify amounts to accounts receivable.

Rentals Revenue. Rentals revenue includes the sale of advertising and a suite of tools to rental professionals, landlords and other market participants under the Zillow and StreetEasy brands. Rentals revenue includes revenue generated by advertising sold to property managers, landlords and other rental professionals on a cost per lead, click, lease, listing or impression basis or for a fixed fee for certain advertising packages. Rentals revenue also includes revenue generated from our rental applications product, through which potential renters can submit applications to multiple properties for a flat service fee. We recognize revenue as leads, clicks and impressions are provided to rental professionals, or as rental listings are published on our mobile applications and websites, which is the amount for which we have the right to invoice. We recognize revenue related to our fixed fee rentals product on a straight-line basis over the contract term as the performance obligations, rental listings on our mobile applications and websites, are satisfied over time based on time elapsed. The number of leases generated through our rentals pay per lease product, Zillow Lease Connect, during the period is accounted for as variable consideration, and we estimate the amount of variable consideration based on the expected number of qualified leases secured during the period. We do not believe that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will occur once the uncertainty related to the number of leases secured is subsequently resolved. We record a corresponding contract asset for the estimate of variable consideration for Zillow Lease Connect when the right to the consideration is conditional. When the right to consideration becomes unconditional, we reclassify amounts to accounts receivable.

Rentals revenue also includes revenue generated from our rental applications product through which potential renters can submit applications to multiple rental properties over a 30-day period for a flat service fee. We recognize revenue for the rental applications product on a straight-line basis during the contractual period over which the customer has the right to access and submit the rental application.

Other Revenue. Other IMT revenue primarily includes revenue generated by our new construction marketplace and revenue from the sale of other advertising and business technology solutions for real estate professionals, including display, StreetEasy for-sale product offerings and ShowingTime+, which houses ShowingTime, Bridge Interactive, dotloop and interactive floor plans.

StreetEasy for-sale revenue primarily consists of our StreetEasy Experts and StreetEasy subscription offerings. StreetEasy Experts is our pay for performance pricing model available in the New York City market for which agents and brokers are provided with leads at no initial cost and pay a performance referral fee only when a real estate purchase transaction is closed with one of the leads. Under the StreetEasy Experts pricing model, the transaction price represents variable consideration, as the amount to which we expect to be entitled varies based on the number of leads that convert into real estate transactions and the value of those transactions. We estimate variable consideration based on the expected number of closed transactions during the period. We do not believe that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will occur once the uncertainty related to the number of transactions closed is subsequently resolved. We record a corresponding contract asset for the estimate of variable consideration for StreetEasy Experts when the right to the consideration is conditional. When the right to consideration becomes unconditional upon the close of a real estate transaction, we reclassify amounts to accounts receivable.

Our Revenue generated through StreetEasy subscription offerings includes the sale of advertising and a suite of tools to developers, property managers, agents and other market professionals. Revenue from StreetEasy subscription offerings is generated on a cost per property basis, based on the property size and product tier, and we recognize revenue on a straight-line basis over the contractual listing period which aligns to our satisfaction of performance obligations.

Revenue generated through ShowingTime+ includes ShowingTime revenue, which is primarily generated by Appointment Center, a software-as-a-service and call center solution allowing real estate agents, brokerages and multiple listing services to efficiently schedule real estate viewing appointments on behalf of their customers. Appointment Center revenue is primarily billed in advance on a monthly basis and recognized ratably over the contract period which aligns to our satisfaction of performance obligations. ShowingTime+ revenue also includes our dotloop real estate transaction management software-as-a-service solution. Dotloop revenue is primarily billed in advance on a monthly basis and revenue is recognized ratably over the contract period which aligns to our satisfaction of performance obligations.

DisplayRentals. Rentals revenue primarily consists includes the sale of graphical mobile advertising and web a suite of tools to rental professionals, landlords and other market participants under the Zillow and StreetEasy brands. Rentals revenue includes revenue generated by advertising sold to property managers, landlords and other rental professionals on a cost per thousand lead, lease, listing or impression basis or for a fixed fee for certain advertising packages. We recognize revenue as leads, clicks and impressions are provided to rental professionals, or cost per click basis to advertisers promoting their brands as rental listings are published on our mobile applications and websites. We recognize display revenue as clicks occur or as impressions are delivered to users interacting with our mobile applications or websites, which is the amount for which we have the right to invoice.

We recognize revenue related to our fixed fee rentals product on a straight-line basis over the contract term as the performance obligations, rental listings on our mobile applications and websites, are satisfied over time. The number of leases generated through our rentals pay per lease product, Zillow Lease Connect, during the period is accounted for as variable consideration, and we estimate the amount of variable consideration based on the expected number of qualified leases secured during the period. We do not believe that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will occur once the uncertainty related to the number of leases secured is subsequently resolved. We record a contract asset for the estimate of variable consideration for Zillow Lease Connect when the right to the consideration is conditional. When the right to consideration becomes unconditional upon the execution of a lease, we reclassify amounts to accounts receivable. Rentals revenue also includes revenue generated from our rental applications product, through which potential renters can submit applications to multiple properties for a flat service fee. We recognize revenue for the rental applications product on a straight-line basis during the contractual period over which the customer has the right to access and submit the rental application.

Mortgages Segment

Mortgages Revenue. Mortgages. Mortgages revenue primarily includes revenue generated by Zillow Home Loans, our affiliated mortgage lender, and marketing products sold to mortgage professionals on a cost per lead basis, including our Custom Quote and Connect services.

Mortgage origination revenue recorded within our Mortgages segment reflects origination fees on purchase or refinance mortgages and the corresponding sale, or expected future sale, of a loan. When an IRLC is made to a customer, we record the expected gain on sale of the mortgage, plus the estimated earnings from the expected sale of the associated servicing rights, adjusted for a pull-through percentage (which is defined as the likelihood that an interest rate lock commitment IRLC will be originated), as revenue. Revenue from loan origination fees is recognized at the time the related purchase or refinance transactions are completed, usually upon the close of escrow and when we fund the purchase or refinance mortgage loans. Once funded, mortgage loans held for sale are recorded at fair value based on either sale commitments or current market quotes and are adjusted for subsequent changes in fair value until the loan is sold. Origination costs associated with originating mortgage loans are recognized as incurred. We sell substantially all of the mortgages we originate and the related servicing rights to third-party purchasers.

Mortgage loans are sold with limited recourse provisions, which can result in repurchases of loans previously sold to investors or payments to reimburse investors for loan losses. Based on historical experience, discussions with our mortgage purchasers, analysis of the volume of mortgages we originated and current housing and credit market conditions, we estimate and record a loss reserve for mortgage loans held in our portfolio and mortgage loans held for sale, as well as known and projected mortgage loan repurchase requests. These have historically not been significant to our financial statements.

Zillow Group operates Custom Quote and Connect through its wholly owned subsidiary, Zillow Group Marketplace, Inc., a licensed mortgage broker. For our Connect and Custom Quote cost per lead marketing products, participating qualified mortgage professionals typically make a prepayment to gain access to consumers interested in connecting with mortgage professionals. Mortgage professionals who exhaust their initial prepayment prepay additional funds to continue to participate in the marketplace. In Zillow Group's Connect platform, consumers answer a series of questions to find a local lender, and mortgage professionals receive consumer contact information, or leads, when the consumer chooses to share their information with a lender. Consumers who request rates for mortgage loans in Custom Quotes are presented with customized quotes from participating mortgage professionals. For our cost per lead mortgages products, we recognize revenue when a user contacts a mortgage professional through our mortgages platform, which is the amount for which we have the right to invoice.

Advertising costs are expensed as incurred. For the years ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, 2021 2022 and 2020, 2021, expenses attributable to advertising totaled $137 million, $144 million $206 million and $112 $206 million, respectively.

Technology and Development. Technology and development expenses consist of headcount-related expenses, including salaries, benefits, bonuses and share-based compensation expense for individuals engaged in the design, development and testing of our products, mobile applications and websites and the tools and applications that support our products. Technology and development expenses also include equipment and software maintenance costs and depreciation expense.

Research and development costs are expensed as incurred and are recorded in technology and development expenses. For the years ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, 2021 2022 and 2020, 2021, expenses attributable to research and development for our business totaled $545 million, $495 million $358 million and $283 $358 million, respectively.

Share-Based Compensation. We measure compensation expense for all share-based awards at fair value on the date of grant and recognize compensation expense over the service period on a straight-line basis for awards expected to vest.

We use the Black-Scholes-Merton option-pricing model to determine the fair value for option awards. In valuing our option awards, we make assumptions about risk-free interest rates, dividend yields, volatility and weighted-average expected lives. We account for forfeitures as they occur. Risk-free interest rates are derived from U.S. Treasury securities as of the option award grant date. Expected dividend yield is based on our historical cash dividend payments, which have been zero to date. The expected volatility for our Class A common stock and Class C capital stock is estimated using our historical volatility. The weighted-average expected life of the option awards is estimated based on our historical exercise data.

When determining the grant date fair value of share-based awards, management considers whether an adjustment is required to the observable market price or volatility of the Company's Class C capital stock used in the valuation as a result of material non-public information.

For issuances of restricted stock units, we determine the fair value of the award based on the market value of our Class C capital stock, as applicable, at the date of grant.

Impairment and Restructuring Costs. From time to time, we record impairment costs within impairment and restructuring costs in our consolidated statements of operations. See Note 10 for additional information on the impairment costs recorded during the year ended December 31, 2023.

The main components of our restructuring costs recorded within impairment and restructuring costs in our consolidated statement statements of operations relate to employee termination costs, contract termination costs, and charges attributable to the wind down of Zillow Offers operations and additional cost actions to streamline our operations and prioritize investments. One-time employee termination benefits are recognized when the plan of termination has been communicated to employees and certain other criteria are met. Other severance and employee costs, primarily pertaining to ongoing employee benefit arrangements, are recognized when it is probable that the employees are entitled to the severance benefits and the amounts can be reasonably estimated. Contract termination costs are recognized when a contract is terminated in accordance with its terms or at the cease-use date. Asset write-offs are recognized upon their cease-use date. The cumulative effect of a change resulting from a revision to either the timing or the amount of estimated cash flows for restructuring is recognized as an adjustment to the liability in the period of the change.

Income Taxes

We use the asset and liability approach for accounting and reporting income taxes, which requires the recognition of deferred tax assets and liabilities for the expected future tax consequences of temporary differences between the financial statement and tax bases of assets and liabilities at the applicable enacted tax rates. A valuation allowance against deferred tax assets would be established if, based on the weight of available evidence, it is more likely than not (a likelihood of more than 50%) that some or all of the deferred tax assets are not expected to be realized.

We establish reserves for tax-related uncertainties based on estimates of whether, and the extent to which, additional taxes will be due. We adjust these reserves in light of changing facts and circumstances, such as the closing of a tax audit, new tax legislation or the change of an estimate. To the extent that the final tax outcome of these matters is different than the amounts recorded, such differences will affect the provision for income taxes in the period in which such determination is made. Interest and penalties related to unrecognized tax benefits are recorded as income tax expense.

Recently Adopted Accounting Standards

In August 2020, the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued guidance which simplifies the accounting for certain financial instruments with characteristics of liabilities and equity, including convertible instruments and contracts in an entity's own equity. Among other changes, the guidance removes the liability and equity separation models for convertible instruments. Instead, entities must account for convertible debt instruments wholly as debt unless convertible instruments contain features that require bifurcation as a derivative or that result in substantial premiums accounted for as paid-in capital. The guidance also requires the application of the if-converted method to calculate the impact of convertible instruments on diluted earnings per share. The guidance was effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2021, with early adoption permitted for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2020, and could be adopted on either a retrospective or modified retrospective basis. We adopted this guidance on January 1, 2022 using the modified retrospective approach whereby amounts previously reported have not been revised. Upon adoption we recognized a decrease to additional paid-in capital of $492 million, an increase to long-term debt of $336 million and a cumulative-effect adjustment to accumulated deficit of $156 million.

In October 2021, the FASB issued guidance requiring contract assets and contract liabilities acquired in a business combination to be recognized and measured in accordance with guidance governing revenue from contracts with customers. Prior to the adoption of this guidance, we recognized contract assets and contract liabilities at the acquisition date based on fair value estimates, which resulted in a reduction to unearned revenue on the balance sheet, and therefore, a reduction to revenue that would have otherwise been recorded as an independent entity. The guidance was effective for interim and annual periods beginning after December 15, 2022 on a prospective basis, with early adoption permitted. We adopted this guidance effective April 1, 2022, and it will be applied to all business combinations after that date. We did not enter into any material business combinations during the year ended December 31, 2022.

Recently Issued Accounting Standards Not Yet Adopted

In June 2022, the FASB issued guidance to improve existing measurement and disclosure requirements for equity securities that are subject to a contractual sale restriction. This guidance is effective for interim and annual periods beginning after December 15, 2023 on a prospective basis, with early adoption permitted. We expect to adopt this guidance on January 1, 2024, and we do not expect the adoption of this guidance to have a material impact on our financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

In November 2023, the FASB issued guidance to improve existing disclosure requirements for segment reporting, primarily through enhanced disclosures about significant segment expenses and new disclosures requirements applicable to entities with a single reportable segment. This guidance is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2023 and interim periods beginning after December 15, 2024, on a retrospective basis. We expect to adopt this guidance for the annual period ending December 31, 2024 and have not yet determined the impact the adoption of this guidance will have on our consolidated financial position, results statements.

In December 2023, the FASB issued guidance to enhance the income tax rate reconciliation disclosure requirements and to provide clarity on disclosure requirements for income taxes. This guidance is effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2024, and can be applied on a prospective or retrospective basis, with early adoption permitted. We expect to adopt this guidance for the annual period ending December 31, 2024 using the retrospective approach and have not yet determined the impact the adoption of operations and cash flows. this guidance will have on our consolidated financial statements.

Note 3. Discontinued Operations

Zillow Offers Wind Down

In November 2021, the Board of Directors of Zillow Group (the "Board") made the determination to wind down Zillow Offers operations. This decision was made in light of home pricing unpredictability, capacity constraints and other operational challenges faced by Zillow Offers that were exacerbated by an unprecedented housing market, a global pandemic and a difficult labor and supply chain environment, all of which led us to conclude that, despite its initial promise in earlier quarters, Zillow Offers was unlikely to be a sufficiently stable line of business to meet our goals going forward.

Historically Zillow Offers has been reported within our Homes segment. The wind down of Zillow Offers was completed in the third quarter of 2022, at which time Zillow Offers met the criteria for discontinued operations. Accordingly, we have presented the assets and liabilities and results of operations, excluding allocation of any general corporate expenses, of Zillow Offers for all periods presented as discontinued operations in our consolidated financial statements, statements of operations for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021. No assets or liabilities were classified as discontinued operations as of December 31, 2022.

Note 4. Fair Value Measurements

We apply fair value measurements on a recurring and, as otherwise required, on a nonrecurring basis. Accounting standards define fair value as the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability (an exit price) in the principal or most advantageous market in an orderly transaction between market participants on the measurement date. The standards also establish a fair value hierarchy, which requires an entity to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs when measuring fair value. There are three levels of inputs that may be used to measure fair value:

Table of Contents

- Level 1 — Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 — Assets and liabilities valued based on observable market data for similar instruments, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities.
- Level 3 — Unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity; instruments valued based on the best available data, some of which is internally developed, and considers risk premiums that a market participant would require.

We apply the following methods and assumptions in estimating our fair value measurements on a recurring basis: measurements:

Cash equivalents — The fair value measurement of money market funds is based on quoted market prices in active markets (Level 1). The fair value measurement of other cash equivalents is based on observable market-based inputs principally derived from or corroborated by observable market data (Level 2).

Short-term investments — The fair value measurement of our short-term investments is based on observable market-based inputs or inputs that are derived principally from or corroborated by observable market data by correlation or other means (Level 2).

Restricted cash — The carrying value of restricted cash approximates fair value due to the short period of time amounts are held in escrow (Level 1).

Mortgage loans held for sale — The fair value of mortgage loans held for sale is generally calculated by reference to quoted prices in secondary markets for commitments to sell mortgage loans with similar characteristics (Level 2).

Forward contracts — The fair value of mandatory loan sales commitments and derivative instruments such as forward sales of mortgage-backed securities that are utilized as economic hedging instruments is calculated by reference to quoted prices for similar assets (Level 2).

Table of Contents

Contingent consideration — In December 2023, Zillow Group acquired Enchant, LLC ("Follow Up Boss"), a customer relationship management system for real estate professionals, for $399 million in cash, net of cash acquired, and contingent consideration of up to $100 million, payable over a three-year period upon achievement of certain performance metrics. The fair value of the contingent consideration is estimated using a Monte Carlo simulation which considers the probabilities of the achievement of certain performance metrics (Level 3).

As of the acquisition date of Follow Up Boss, our preliminarily estimated fair value of the contingent consideration was approximately $81 million. There were no material changes to the fair value of the contingent consideration between the acquisition date and December 31, 2023. See Note 7 for additional details on our contingent consideration and measurement period adjustments.

The discount rates used in our valuation of contingent consideration are based on our estimated cost of debt and are directly related to the fair value of contingent consideration. An increase in the discount rate, in isolation, would result in a decrease in the fair value measurement. Conversely, a decrease in the discount rate, in isolation, would result in an increase in the fair value measurement. The probabilities of achieving the relevant performance metrics used in our valuation of contingent consideration are directly related to the fair value of contingent consideration, as an increase in the probability, in isolation, would result in an increase in the fair value measurement. Conversely, a decrease in the probability, in isolation, would result in a decrease in the fair value measurement.

The following table presents the range and weighted average unobservable inputs used in determining the fair value of contingent consideration as of December 31, 2023:

	Discount Rate	Probability of Achieving Performance Metrics
Range	6.58% - 7.13%	88% - 97%
Weighted average	6.88%	93%

Interest rate lock commitments — The fair value of IRLCs is calculated by reference to quoted prices in secondary markets for commitments to sell mortgage loans with similar characteristics. Expired commitments are excluded from the fair value measurement. Since not all IRLCs will become closed loans, we adjust our fair value measurements for the estimated amount of IRLCs that will not close. This adjustment is effected through the pull-through rate, which represents the probability that an IRLC will ultimately result in a closed loan. For IRLCs that are cancelled or expire, any recorded gain or loss is reversed at the end of the commitment period (Level 3).

The pull-through rate is based on estimated changes in market conditions, loan stage and historical borrower behavior. Pull-through rates are directly related to the fair value of IRLCs, as an increase in the pull-through rate, in isolation, would result in an increase in the fair value measurement. Conversely, a decrease in the pull-through rate, in isolation, would result in a decrease in the fair value measurement. Changes in the fair value of IRLCs are included within Mortgages revenue in our consolidated statements of operations.

The following table presents the range and weighted average pull-through rates used in determining the fair value of IRLCs as of the dates presented:

Acquisition of ShowingTime.com, Inc. Follow Up Boss

On September 30, 2021 December 8, 2023, Zillow Group acquired ShowingTime.com, Inc. ("ShowingTime") in exchange Follow Up Boss, a customer relationship management system for approximately $512 real estate professionals, for $399 million in cash. Our cash, net of cash acquired, and contingent consideration of up to $100 million in cash, payable over a three-year period upon achievement of certain performance metrics. See Note 4 for additional information regarding the preliminary fair value of contingent consideration. The acquisition is consistent with our strategy to invest in a more integrated software experience for our customers. The acquisition of ShowingTime Follow Up Boss has been accounted for as a business combination, and assets acquired and liabilities assumed were generally recorded at their preliminary estimated fair values, as of September 30, 2021, in accordance with the applicable accounting guidance. Goodwill which represents the expected synergies from combining the acquired assets and the operations of the acquirer as well as intangible assets that do not qualify for separate recognition, is measured as of recognition. Goodwill recorded in connection with the acquisition date as the excess of consideration transferred, which is also measured at fair value, and the net of the fair values of the assets acquired and the liabilities assumed as of the acquisition date, deductible for tax purposes.

We used an income approach to measure the fair value of the customer relationships intangible asset acquired based on the excess earnings method, whereby the fair value is estimated based upon the present value of cash flows that the applicable asset is expected to generate. We used an income approach to measure the fair value of the developed technology and the trade names and trademarks based on the relief-from-royalty method. These fair value measurements were based on Level 3 inputs under the fair value hierarchy.

The purchase price allocation for the Follow Up Boss acquisition is preliminary, primarily due to the limited amount of time between the acquisition closing date and December 31, 2023. We made an initial allocation of the purchase price at the date of the acquisition based upon information available and our understanding of the estimates used to determine the preliminary fair value of acquired assets, assumed liabilities and contingent consideration. We are in the process of specifically identifying the amounts assigned to certain tangible assets acquired and liabilities assumed, identifiable intangible assets and contingent consideration. As of December 31, 2023, the measurement period (not to extend beyond one year) is open for the Follow Up Boss acquisition; therefore, assets acquired, liabilities assumed, and contingent consideration may be subject to revision as additional information is obtained which may result in adjustments to the preliminary estimated fair values until the end of the measurement period.

Acquisition-related costs incurred, which primarily included legal, accounting and other external costs directly related to the acquisition, are included within acquisition-related costs in our consolidated statements of operations and were expensed as incurred.

Unaudited pro forma revenue and earnings information has not been presented as the effects were not material to our consolidated financial statements.

We did not record any material impairment costs related to our intangible assets for the years ended December 31, 2022 and December 31, 2023, 2022 or 2021. During the year ended December 31, 2020, we recognized a non-cash impairment charge of $72 million related to our Trulia trade names and trademarks intangible asset. The impairment charge is included in impairment costs in our consolidated statement of operations within our IMT and Mortgages segments for the year ended December 31, 2020 for $69 million and $3 million, respectively. In March 2020, we identified factors, including shortfalls in projected revenue related to the Trulia brand, directly related to the COVID-19 pandemic that led us to conclude it was more likely than not that the carrying value of the asset exceeded its fair value. Accordingly, with the assistance of a third-party specialist, we performed a quantitative analysis to determine the fair value of the intangible asset. The valuation was prepared using an income approach based on the relief-from-royalty method and relied on inputs with unobservable market prices including projected revenue, royalty rate, discount rate, and estimated tax rate, and therefore is considered a Level 3 measurement under the fair value hierarchy.

Convertible Senior Notes

Effective Prior to the adoption of new accounting guidance on January 1, 2022, we adopted guidance which simplifies accounted for the accounting for certain financial instruments with characteristics issuance of liabilities convertible senior notes by separating them into their liability and equity including components. The carrying amount of the liability component for each of the convertible instruments senior notes was calculated by measuring the fair value of a similar liability that does not have an associated convertible feature. The carrying amount of the equity component, representing the conversion option, was determined by deducting the fair value of the liability component from the par value of the convertible senior notes. The difference between the principal amounts and contracts the liability components represented the respective debt discounts, which were recorded as a direct deduction from the related debt liability in an entity's own equity. For the consolidated balance sheets and amortized to interest expense using the effective interest method over the term of the convertible senior notes. The equity components of the convertible senior notes, net of issuance costs, were included in additional information regarding paid-in capital in the consolidated balance sheets and were not remeasured as long as they continued to meet the conditions for equity classification. Upon adoption of this the new accounting guidance, see Note 2 we de-recognized the equity components of our consolidated financial statements, the convertible senior notes and the respective debt discounts through a decrease to additional paid-in capital, an increase to long-term debt and a cumulative-effect adjustment to accumulated deficit of $156 million.

The following table summarizes the conversion and redemption options with respect to the Notes:

September 1, 2024	March 1, 2024	22.9830	43.51	September 5, 2022

Prior to the close of business on the business day immediately preceding the applicable Early Conversion Date, the Notes will be convertible at the option of the holders only under certain conditions. On or after the applicable Early Conversion Date, until the close of business on the second scheduled trading day immediately preceding the applicable Maturity Date, holders may convert the Notes at their option at the applicable Conversion Rate then in effect, irrespective of these conditions. The Company We will settle conversions of the Notes by paying or delivering, as the case may be, cash, shares of its Class C capital stock, or a combination of cash and shares of its Class C capital stock, at its election. The applicable Conversion Rate for each series of Notes will initially be the conversion rate of shares of Class C capital stock per $1,000 principal amount of the Notes (equivalent to an initial Conversion Price per share of Class C capital stock). The applicable Conversion Rate and the corresponding initial Conversion Price will be subject to adjustment in some events but will not be adjusted for any accrued and unpaid interest. The Company We may redeem for cash all or part of the respective series of Notes, at its our option, on or after the applicable Optional Redemption Date, under certain circumstances, at a redemption price equal to 100% of the principal amount of the Notes to be redeemed, plus accrued and unpaid interest to, but excluding, the redemption date (as defined in the indentures governing the Notes). We may not redeem a series of Notes prior to the applicable Optional Redemption Date. We may redeem for cash all or any portion of a series of Notes, at our option, in whole or in part on or after the applicable Optional Redemption Date if the last reported sale price per share of our Class C capital stock has been at least 130% of the Conversion Price then in effect for at least 20 trading days (whether or not consecutive) during any 30 consecutive trading day period. The conversion option does not meet the criteria for separate accounting as a derivative as it is indexed to our own stock.

The last reported sale price of our Class C capital stock did not exceed 130% of the conversion price of each series of the Notes for more than 20 trading days during the 30 consecutive trading days ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023. Accordingly, each series of the Notes is not redeemable or convertible at the option of the holders from January 1, 2023 through March 31, 2023 during the three months ending March 31, 2024.

If the Company undergoes we undergo a fundamental change (as defined in the indentures governing the Notes), holders may require the Company us to repurchase for cash all or part of a series of Notes, as applicable, at a repurchase price equal to 100% of the principal amount of the notes to be purchased, plus accrued and unpaid interest to, but excluding, the fundamental change repurchase date (as defined in the indentures governing the Notes). In addition, if certain fundamental changes occur, the Company we may be required, in certain circumstances, to increase the conversion rate for any of the Notes converted in connection with such fundamental changes by a specified number of shares of its our Class C capital stock. Certain events are also considered "Events of Default," which may result in the acceleration of the maturity of the Notes, as described in the indentures governing the Notes. There are no financial covenants associated with the Notes.

In accounting for the issuance of the convertible senior notes, prior to the adoption of new accounting guidance on January 1, 2022, the Company separated the convertible senior notes into liability and equity components. The carrying amount of the liability component for each of the Notes was calculated by measuring the fair value of a similar liability that does not have an associated convertible feature. The carrying amount of the equity component, representing the conversion option, was determined by deducting the fair value of the liability component from the par value of the convertible senior notes. The difference

(1) For convertible senior notes converted by note holders, the total fair value of consideration transferred includes the value of shares transferred to note holders using the daily volume weighted-average price of our Class C capital stock on the conversion date and an immaterial amount of cash paid in lieu of fractional shares. For convertible senior notes redeemed, the total fair value of consideration transferred comprises cash transferred to note holders to settle the related notes. For convertible senior notes repurchased in the year ended December 31, 2020, the total value of consideration transferred includes the value of shares transferred to note holders using the daily volume weighted-average price of our Class C capital stock on the date of transfer as well as cash transferred to note holders to settle the related notes.

The following table summarizes certain details related to the capped call confirmations with respect to certain of the convertible senior notes:

Maturity Date	Maturity Date	Initial Cap Price	Cap Price Premium	Maturity Date	Initial Cap Price	Cap Price Premium
September 1, 2026	September 1, 2026	$80.5750	150 %	September 1, 2026	$ 80.5750	150 %

July 1, 2023		105.45	85 %

The capped call confirmations are expected generally to reduce the potential dilution of our Class C capital stock in connection with any conversion of the Notes and/or offset the cash payments the Company is required to make in excess of the principal amount of such notes in the event that the market price of the Class C capital stock is greater than the strike price of the capped call confirmations (which initially corresponds to the initial Conversion Price of such notes and is subject to certain adjustments under the terms of the capped call confirmations), with such reduction and/or offset subject to a cap based on the cap price of the capped call confirmations. The capped call confirmations with respect to the 2026 Notes the 2024 Notes and the 2023 2024 Notes have an Initial Cap Price per share, which represents a premium ("Cap Price Premium") over the relevant historical closing price of the Company's Class C capital stock on the Nasdaq Global Select Market, and is subject to certain adjustments under the terms of the capped call confirmations. The capped call confirmations will cover, subject to anti-dilution adjustments substantially similar to those applicable to the convertible senior notes, the number of shares of Class C capital stock that will underlie such notes. The capped call confirmations do not meet the criteria for separate accounting as a derivative as they are indexed to our own stock. The capped call premiums paid have been included as a net reduction to additional paid-in capital within shareholders' equity.

In connection with the repurchase of a portion of the 2021 Notes during the year ended December 31, 2020, we partially terminated the capped call transactions entered into in connection with the issuance of the 2021 Notes for an amount corresponding to the aggregate principal amount of the 2021 Notes that were repurchased. As a result of the partial settlement of the capped call transactions, we received 0.3 million shares of our Class C capital stock equal to a value of approximately $15 million based on the trading price of our Class C capital stock at the time of the unwind. On December 1, 2021, the remaining capped call transactions entered into in connection with the issuance of the 2021 Notes were settled on their contractual maturity date. As a result, we received 0.7 million shares of our Class C capital stock equal to a value of approximately $43 million based on the trading price of our Class C capital stock at the time of the unwind. Under applicable Washington State law, the acquisition of a corporation's own shares is not disclosed separately as treasury stock in the financial statements and such shares are treated as authorized but unissued shares. We record acquisitions of our shares of capital stock as a reduction to capital stock at the par value of the shares reacquired, then to additional paid-in capital until it is depleted to a nominal amount, with any further excess recorded to retained earnings. We recorded an offsetting increase to additional paid-in capital for the partial unwind of the capped call transactions.

Realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income, if any, the timing and amount of which are uncertain. We have provided a full valuation allowance against the net deferred tax assets as of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 and 2021 2022 because, based on the weight of available evidence, it is more likely than not (a likelihood of more than 50%) that some or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The valuation allowance increased by $97 $22 million and $274 $97 million respectively, during the years ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 and 2021 2022, respectively.

We have accumulated federal net operating losses of approximately $1.8 $1.4 billion and $2.1 $1.8 billion, as of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 and 2021 2022, respectively, which are available to reduce future taxable income. We have accumulated state net operating losses of approximately $63 $56 million and $73 $63 million (tax effected) as of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 and 2021 2022, respectively. Federal net operating losses generated in taxable periods on or before December 31, 2017 have a twenty year twenty-year carryforward period and begin to expire in 2023 2036. Federal net operating loss carryforwards generated in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2017 may be carried forward indefinitely, but the deductibility of such net operating loss carryforwards in taxable years beginning after December 31, 2020 is limited to 80% of taxable income. State net operating loss carryforward periods for the various state jurisdictions generally range from three years to indefinite-lived and begin to expire in 2025 2024. Additionally, we have net research and development credit carryforwards of $164 $166 million and $133 $164 million as of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 and 2021 2022, respectively, which are available to reduce future tax liabilities. The research and development credit carryforwards begin to expire in 2025. Under Sections 382 and 383 of the Internal Revenue Code, if a corporation undergoes an "ownership change", the corporation's ability to use its pre-change net operating loss carryforwards and other pre-change tax attributes, such as research and development credits, to offset its post-change taxable income or income tax liability may be limited. In connection with our August 2013 public offering of our Class A common stock, we experienced an ownership change that triggered Sections 382 and 383, which may limit our ability to utilize our net operating loss and research and development credit carryforwards. In connection with our February 2015 acquisition of Trulia, Trulia experienced an ownership change that triggered Section 382 and 383, which may limit Zillow Group's ability to utilize Trulia's net operating loss and research and development credit carryforwards.

Our primary income tax jurisdiction is the United States (federal). With limited exceptions for state taxing authorities, which are not material to the financial statements, all tax years for which the Company has we have filed a tax return remain subject to examination due to the existence of net operating loss carryforwards.

Note 16.14. Share-Based Awards

Zillow Group, Inc. 2020 Incentive Plan

On June 9, 2020, the Zillow Group, Inc. 2020 Incentive Plan (the “2020 Plan”) became effective, which replaces the Zillow Group, Inc. Amended and Restated 2011 Incentive Plan (the “2011 Plan”), which became effective July 19, 2011. Subject to adjustment from time to time as provided in the 2020 Plan, a total of 12 million shares of Class C capital stock are authorized for issuance under the 2020 Plan. In addition, shares previously available for new grants under the 2011 Plan as of June 9, 2020 and shares subject to outstanding awards under the 2011 Plan as of June 9, 2020 that on or after that date cease to be subject to such awards (other than by reason of exercise or settlement of the awards in vested or nonforfeitable shares) are also available for issuance under the 2020 Plan. The number of shares authorized under the 2020 Plan will be increased on the first day of each calendar year, beginning January 1, 2021 and ending on and including January 1, 2030, by an amount equal to the lesser of (a) 5% of our outstanding Class A common stock, Class B common stock and Class C capital stock on a fully diluted basis as of the end of the immediately preceding calendar year and (b) a number of shares determined by our Board. Shares issued under the 2020 plan may be issued from authorized and unissued shares of Class C capital stock. The 2020 Plan is administered by the Compensation Committee of the Board (the “Compensation Committee”). Under the terms of the 2020 Plan, the Compensation Committee may grant equity awards, including incentive or nonqualified stock options, restricted stock, restricted stock units, restricted units, stock appreciation rights, performance shares or performance units to employees, directors and consultants of Zillow Group and its subsidiaries. The Board has also authorized certain senior executive officers to grant equity awards under the 2020 Plan, within limits prescribed by our Board.

Options under the 2020 Plan are granted with an exercise price per share not less than 100% of the fair market value of our Class C capital stock on the grant date, with the exception of substituted option awards granted in connection with acquisitions, and are exercisable at such times and under such conditions as determined by the Compensation Committee. Any portion of an option that is not vested and exercisable on the date of a participant's termination of service expires on such date. Employees generally forfeit their rights to exercise vested options three months following their termination of employment or 12 months following termination by reason of death, disability or retirement. Options granted under the 2020 Plan expire no later than ten years from the grant date and typically vest over a period of four years.

Restricted stock units granted under the 2020 Plan typically vest over a period of four years. Generally, any portion of a restricted stock unit that is not vested on the date of a participant's termination of service expires on such date.

In addition to the option awards and restricted stock units typically granted under the Zillow Group, Inc. 2020 Incentive Plan (the “2020 Plan”) which vest quarterly over four years, during the first quarter of 2023, the Compensation Committee of the Board approved option and restricted stock unit awards granted under the 2020 Plan in connection with the 2022 annual review cycle that vest quarterly over three years. The exercisability terms of these equity awards are otherwise consistent with the terms of the option awards and restricted stock units typically granted under the 2020 Plan.

Zillow Group, Inc. Amended and Restated 2011 Incentive Plan

Options and restricted stock units that remain outstanding under the 2011 Plan have vesting and exercisability terms consistent with those described above for awards granted under the 2020 Plan.

Zillow Group, Inc. 2019 Equity Inducement Plan

On August 8, 2019, the 2019 Equity Inducement Plan (“Inducement Plan”) became effective. Subject to adjustment from time to time as provided in the Inducement Plan, 10 million shares of Class C capital stock are available for issuance under the Inducement Plan. Shares issued under the Inducement Plan shall be drawn from authorized and unissued shares of Class C capital stock. The purpose of the Inducement Plan is to attract, retain and motivate certain new employees of the Company and its subsidiaries by providing them the opportunity to acquire a proprietary interest in the Company and to align their interests and efforts to the long-term interests of the Company's shareholders. Each award under the Inducement Plan is intended to qualify as an employment inducement award pursuant to Listing Rule 5635(c) of the corporate governance rules of the NASDAQ Stock Market. The Inducement Plan is administered by the Compensation Committee. Under the terms of the Inducement Plan, the Compensation Committee may grant equity awards, including nonqualified stock options, restricted stock or restricted stock units or restricted units to new employees of the Company and its subsidiaries.

Options under the Inducement Plan are granted with an exercise price per share not less than 100% of the fair market value of our Class C capital stock on the date of grant, with the exception of substituted option awards granted in connection with acquisitions, and are exercisable at such times and under such conditions as determined by the Compensation Committee. Any portion of an option that is not vested and exercisable on the date of a participant's termination of service generally expires on such date. Employees generally forfeit their rights to exercise vested options three months following their termination of employment or 12 months following termination by reason of death, disability or retirement. Options granted under the Inducement Plan expire no later than ten years from the grant date and typically vest 25% after 12 months and quarterly thereafter over the next three a period of four years.

Restricted stock units granted under the Inducement Plan typically vest 25% after 12 months and quarterly thereafter over the next three a period of four years. In general, any portion of a restricted stock unit that is not vested on the date of a participant's termination of service expires on such date.

Option Award Repricing

On August 3, 2022, upon recommendation of the Compensation Committee, the Board approved adjustments to the exercise price of certain outstanding vested and unvested option awards for eligible employees. The exercise price of eligible option awards was reduced to $38.78, which was the closing market price of our Class C capital stock on August 8, 2022. No other changes were made to the terms and conditions of the eligible option awards.

We have accounted for the reprice of the eligible option awards as an equity modification whereby the incremental fair value attributable to the repriced option awards, as measured on the date of reprice, will be recognized as additional share-based compensation expense. The weighted-average total fair value of options repriced was $67.58. The reprice impacted 7 million stock option awards, affected 3,348 employees and is was expected to result in incremental share-based compensation expense of $66 million in total of which $33 million was recognized during the year ended December 31, 2022, including amounts associated with vested awards. The remaining expense will be recognized over the remaining requisite service period of the original awards. The weighted-average total fair value of options repriced in August 2022 was $67.58.

Note 17. 15. Net Loss Per Share

Basic net loss per share and basic income (loss) from continuing operations per share are computed by dividing net loss or income (loss) from continuing operations, as applicable, by the weighted-average number of shares (including Class A common stock, Class B common stock and Class C capital stock) outstanding during the period. In the calculation of basic net loss per share and basic income (loss) from continuing operations per share, undistributed earnings are allocated assuming all earnings during the period were distributed.

Diluted net loss per share and diluted net income (loss) from continuing operations per share is computed by dividing net loss or net income (loss) from continuing operations, as applicable, by the weighted-average number of shares (including Class A common stock, Class B common stock and Class C capital stock) outstanding during the period, which is calculated based on net income (loss) from continuing operations, and potentially dilutive Class A common stock and Class C capital stock equivalents, except in cases where the effect of the Class A common stock or Class C capital stock equivalent would be antidilutive. Potential Class A common stock and Potentially dilutive Class C capital stock equivalents consist of Class A common stock issuable upon exercise of stock options, stock underlying unvested restricted stock units, and stock issuable upon conversion of outstanding convertible senior notes.

Class C capital stock issuable upon exercise of stock options and Class A common stock and Class C capital stock underlying unvested restricted stock units are calculated using the treasury stock method. Potential Class A common stock equivalents also include Class A common stock issuable upon conversion of the convertible senior notes due in 2020 using the if-converted method through the date of their last conversion in December 2020.

Prior to the second half of 2020, we used the treasury stock method to calculate any potential dilutive effect of the conversion spread of our outstanding convertible senior notes on diluted net income per share, if applicable. Effective July 1, 2020, on a prospective basis we have applied the if-converted method for calculating any potential dilutive effect of the conversion of the outstanding convertible notes on diluted net loss per share and diluted net income (loss) from continuing operations per share, if applicable.

The following table presents the maximum number of shares and conversion price per share of Class C capital stock for each of the Notes based on the aggregate principal amount outstanding as of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 (in thousands, except per share amounts):

Maturity Date	Maturity Date	Shares	Conversion Price per Share	Maturity Date	Shares	Conversion Price per Share

September 1, 2024	September 1, 2024	13,983	43.51

For the periods presented, the following table reconciles the denominators used in the basic and diluted net loss and net income (loss) from continuing operations per share calculations (in thousands):

		Year Ended December 31,			Year Ended December 31,

For the periods presented, the following Class A common stock and Class C capital stock equivalents were excluded from the calculations of diluted net loss per share and diluted net income (loss) from continuing operations per share because their effect would have been antidilutive (in thousands):

	Year Ended December 31,

In the event of liquidation, dissolution, distribution of assets or winding-up of the Company, the holders of all classes of common and capital stock have equal rights to receive all the assets of the Company after the rights of the holders of preferred stock have been satisfied. We have not presented net loss per share under the two-class method for our Class A common stock, Class B common stock and Class C capital stock because it would be the same for each class due to equal dividend and liquidation rights for each class.

Interest Rate Lock Commitments

We have entered into IRLCs with prospective borrowers under our mortgage origination business whereby we commit to lend a certain loan amount under specific terms and at a specific interest rate to the borrower. These commitments are treated as derivatives and are carried at fair value. For additional information regarding our IRLCs, see Note 4 to our consolidated financial statements.

Escrow Balances

In conducting our title and escrow operations, through Zillow Closing Services, we routinely hold customers' assets in escrow, pending completion of real estate transactions, and are responsible for the proper disposition of these balances for our customers. Certain of these amounts are maintained in segregated bank accounts and have not been included in the accompanying consolidated balance sheets. Legal Proceedings

We are involved in a number of legal proceedings concerning matters arising in connection with the conduct of our business activities, some of which are at preliminary stages and some of which seek an indeterminate amount of damages. We regularly evaluate the status of legal proceedings in which we are involved to assess whether a loss is probable or there is a reasonable possibility that a loss or additional loss may have been incurred to determine if accruals are appropriate. We further evaluate each legal proceeding to assess whether an estimate of possible loss or range of loss can be made if accruals are not appropriate. For certain cases described below, management is unable to provide a meaningful estimate of the possible loss or range of possible loss because, among other reasons, (i) the proceedings are in preliminary stages; (ii) specific damages have not been sought; (iii) damages sought are, in our view, unsupported and/or exaggerated; (iv) there is uncertainty as to the outcome of pending appeals or motions; (v) there are significant factual issues to be resolved; and/or (vi) there are novel legal issues or unsettled legal theories presented. For these cases, however, management does not believe, based on currently available information, that the outcomes of these proceedings will have a material effect on our financial position, results of operations or cash flow. For the matters discussed below, we have not recorded any material accruals as of December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023 or 2021, 2022.

In August and September 2017, two purported class action lawsuits were filed against us and certain of our executive officers, alleging, among other things, violations of federal securities laws on behalf of a class of those who purchased our common stock between February 12, 2016 and August 8, 2017. One of those purported class actions, captioned Vargosko v. Zillow Group, Inc. et al., was brought in the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California. The other purported class action lawsuit, captioned Shotwell v. Zillow Group, Inc. et al., was brought in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington. The complaints allege, among other things, that during the period between February 12, 2016 and August 8, 2017, we issued materially false and misleading statements regarding our business practices. The complaints seek to recover, among other things, alleged damages sustained by the purported class members as a result of the alleged misconduct. In November 2017, an amended complaint was filed against us and certain of our executive officers in the Shotwell v. Zillow Group purported class action lawsuit, extending the beginning of the class period to November 17, 2014. In January 2018, the Vargosko v. Zillow Group purported class action lawsuit was transferred to the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington and consolidated with the Shotwell v. Zillow Group purported class action lawsuit. On April 19, 2019, our motion to dismiss the second consolidated amended complaint was denied. On October 11, 2019, plaintiffs filed a motion for class certification which was granted by the court on October 28, 2020. On February 17, 2021, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals denied our petition for review of that decision. On October 21, 2022, the parties jointly filed a notice of settlement with the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington to inform the court that the parties have reached an agreement in principle to settle this action. In October and November 2017 and January and February 2018, four shareholder derivative lawsuits were filed in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington and the Superior Court of the State of Washington, King County, against certain of our executive officers and directors seeking unspecified damages on behalf of the Company and certain other relief, such as reform to corporate governance practices. The plaintiffs in the derivative suits (in which the Company is a nominal defendant) allege, among other things, that the defendants breached their fiduciary duties in connection with oversight of the Company's public statements and legal compliance, and as a result of the breach of such fiduciary duties, the Company was damaged, and defendants were unjustly enriched. Certain of the plaintiffs also allege, among other things, violations of Section 14(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and waste of corporate assets. On February 5, 2018, the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington consolidated the two federal shareholder derivative lawsuits pending in that court (the "Federal Suit"). On February 16, 2018, the Superior Court of the State of Washington, King County, consolidated the two shareholder derivative lawsuits pending in that court (the "State Suit"). The Federal Suit and State Suit were stayed until our motion to dismiss the second consolidated amended complaint in the securities class action lawsuit discussed above was denied in April 2019. On July 8, 2019, the plaintiffs in the Federal Suit filed a consolidated shareholder derivative complaint, which we moved to dismiss on August 22, 2019. On February 28, 2020, our motion to dismiss the Federal Suit was denied. On February 16, 2021, the court in the State Suit matter stayed the action. On March 5, 2021, a new shareholder derivative lawsuit was filed in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington against certain of our executive officers and directors seeking unspecified damages on behalf of the Company and certain other relief, such as reform to corporate governance practices, alleging, among other things, violations of federal securities laws. On July 15, 2021, the court rendered an order in connection with the motion for judgment on the pleadings finding in our favor on two of the four patents on which we filed our motion. On August 31, 2021, the Court ruled that the parties will proceed with respect to the two patents for which it previously denied judgment, and vacated the stay with respect to one of the three patents for which Zillow filed an IPR, which stay was later reinstated by stipulation of the parties on May 18, 2022. On September 23, 2021, IBM filed a notice of appeal with the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit with respect to the August 31, 2021 judgment entered, which judgment was affirmed by the Federal Circuit on October 17, 2022. On March 3, 2022, the PTAB ruled on Zillow's two remaining IPRs finding that Zillow was able to prove certain claims unpatentable, and others it was not. Following the court's ruling, on October 28, 2022, the parties filed a joint stipulation with the court seeking a stay of this action, which was granted by the court on November 1, 2022. Corp.* ("Rakuten IPR"), IPR2022-00646 concerning the final remaining patent in this action, which the court granted on April 20, 2023. On October 11, 2023, the PTAB ruled on the Rakuten IPR finding the claims of the patent asserted against Zillow unpatentable. IBM appealed the PTAB's decision on November 21, 2023, and cross appeals were filed by Ebates Performance Marketing Inc. on November 21, 2023 and by us on December 15, 2023. We deny the allegations of any wrongdoing and intend to vigorously defend the claims in the lawsuit. There is a reasonable possibility that a loss may be incurred related to this matter; however, the possible loss or range of loss is not estimable.

On July 21, 2020, IBM filed a second action against us in the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Washington, alleging, among other things, that the Company has infringed and continues to willfully infringe five patents held by IBM and seeks unspecified damages. The three purported class action lawsuits, captioned Barua v. Zillow Group, Inc. et al., Silverberg v. Zillow Group, et al. and Hillier v. In addition to the matters discussed above, from time to time, we are involved in litigation and claims that arise in the ordinary course of business. Although we cannot be certain of the outcome of any such litigation or claims, nor the amount of damages and exposure that we could incur, we currently believe that the final disposition of such matters will not have a material effect on our business, financial position, results of operations or cash flow. Regardless of the outcome, litigation can have an adverse impact on us because of defense and settlement costs, diversion of management resources and other factors.

We have also audited, in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB), the consolidated financial statements of the Company as of and for the year ended December 31, 2022 December 31, 2023, of the Company and our report dated February 15, 2023 February 14, 2024, expressed an unqualified opinion on those financial statements.

Basis for Opinion

The Company's management is responsible for maintaining effective internal control over financial reporting and for its assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting, included in the accompanying Management's Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal control over financial reporting based on our audit. We are a public accounting firm registered with the PCAOB and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects. Our audit included obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk, and performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Definition and Limitations of Internal Control over Financial Reporting

A company's internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

The details of the Award are as follows:

1. Vesting

Subject to the terms of this Award Agreement, the Award will vest as set forth in the Award Notice (the "Vesting Schedule"). Restricted Stock Units that have vested and are no longer subject to forfeiture according to the Vesting Schedule are referred to herein as "Vested Units." Restricted Stock Units that have not vested and remain subject to forfeiture under the Vesting Schedule are referred to herein as "Unvested Units." The Unvested Units will vest (and to the extent so vested cease to be Unvested Units remaining subject to forfeiture) in accordance with the Vesting Schedule (the Unvested and Vested Units are collectively referred to herein as the "Units").

As soon as practicable after Unvested Units become Vested Units, but not later than 60 days after vesting, the Company will settle the Vested Units by issuing to you, for each Vested Unit, one share of Class C Capital Stock. If a vesting date falls on a weekend or any other date on which the Nasdaq Stock Market (“NASDAQ”) is not open, affected Units will vest on the next following NASDAQ business day. The Award will terminate and the Unvested Units will be forfeited upon your Termination of Service as set forth in Section 2.

2. Termination of Service

2.1. Upon your Termination of Service for any reason, any portion of the Award that has not vested as provided in Section 1 will immediately be forfeited to the Company without payment of any consideration to you. You will have no further rights, and the Company will have no further obligations to you, with respect to such Unvested Units.

2.2. For purposes of the Award, in the event of your Termination of Service (regardless of the reason for such termination and whether or not found to be invalid or in breach of employment laws in the jurisdiction where you are employed or otherwise providing services, or the terms of your employment or service agreement, if any), your right to vest in the Units, if any, will terminate effective as of the date you are no longer actively providing services to the Company or any Related Company and will not be extended by any notice period (e.g., your period of service would not include any contractual notice period or any period of “garden leave” or similar period mandated under employment laws in the jurisdiction where you are employed or providing services, or the terms of your employment or service agreement, if any); the Committee shall have the exclusive discretion to determine when you are no longer actively providing services for purposes of the Award (including whether you may still be considered to be providing services while on a leave of absence).

3. Compliance with Law

3.1. You represent and warrant that you have been furnished with a copy of the Plan and the summary for the Plan.

3.2. You hereby agree that you will in no event sell or distribute all or any part of the shares of Class C Capital Stock that you may receive pursuant to settlement of the Units (the “Shares”) unless (a) there is an effective registration statement under the U.S. Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the “Securities Act”), and applicable U.S. state securities laws covering any such transaction involving the Shares, or (b) the Company receives an opinion of your legal counsel (concurred in by legal counsel for the Company) stating that such transaction is exempt from registration or the Company otherwise satisfies itself that such transaction is exempt from registration. You understand that the Company has no obligation to you to maintain any registration of the Shares with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) and has not represented to you that it will so maintain registration of the Shares. Any sale of Shares is also subject to the Company’s Insider Trading Policy.

3.3. You confirm that you have been advised, prior to your receipt of the Shares, that neither the offering of the Shares nor any offering materials have been reviewed by any administrator under the Securities Act or any other applicable U.S. or non-U.S. securities act (the “Acts”) and that the Shares cannot be resold unless they are registered under the Acts or unless an exemption from such registration is available.

3.4. You hereby agree to indemnify the Company and hold it harmless from and against any loss, claim or liability, including attorneys’ fees or legal expenses, incurred by the Company as a result of any breach by you of, or any inaccuracy in, any representation, warranty or statement made by you in this Award Agreement or the breach by you of any terms or conditions of this Award Agreement.

4. Transfer Restrictions

Units may not be sold, transferred, assigned, encumbered, pledged or otherwise disposed of, whether voluntarily or by operation of law.

5. No Rights as Shareholder

You will not have any voting, dividend or any other rights as a shareholder of the Company with respect to the Units.

6. Independent Tax Advice

You acknowledge that determining the actual tax consequences to you of receiving or disposing of the Units and the Shares may be complicated. These tax consequences will depend, in part, on your specific situation and may also depend on the resolution of currently uncertain tax law and other variables not within the control of the Company. You are aware that you should consult a competent and independent tax advisor for a full understanding of the specific tax consequences to you of receiving the Units and receiving or disposing of the Shares. Prior to executing the Award Notice, you either have consulted with a competent tax advisor independent of the Company to obtain tax advice concerning the receipt of the Units and the receipt or disposition of the Shares in light of your specific situation or you have had the opportunity to consult with such a tax advisor but chose not to do so.

7. Book Entry Registration of Shares

The Company will issue the Shares by registering the Shares in book entry form with the Company's transfer agent in your name and any applicable restrictions will be noted in the records of the Company's transfer agent and in the book entry system.

8. Withholding

8.1. You are ultimately responsible for all taxes owed in connection with the Award (e.g., upon vesting and/or upon receipt of the Shares), including any federal, state, provincial, local or foreign taxes of any kind required by law to be withheld by the Company or a Related Company in connection with the Award, including FICA or any other tax obligation (the "Tax Withholding Obligation"), regardless of any action the Company or any Related Company takes with respect to any such Tax Withholding Obligation. The Company makes no representation or undertaking regarding the adequacy of any tax withholding made in connection with the Award. The Company has no obligation to deliver Shares pursuant to the Award until you have satisfied the Tax Withholding Obligation.

8.2. In order to satisfy your obligations set forth in Section 8.1, you previously have or now hereby irrevocably appoint any brokerage firm acceptable to the Company for such purpose (the "Agent") as your Agent, and authorize the Agent, to:

8.2.1. Sell on the open market at the then prevailing market price(s), on your behalf, as soon as practicable on or after the settlement date for any Vested Units, the minimum number of Shares (rounded up to the next whole number) sufficient to generate proceeds to cover the amount of any Tax Withholding Obligation and all applicable fees and commissions due to, or required to be collected by, the Agent;

8.2.2. Remit directly to the Company the cash amount necessary to cover the payment of such Tax Withholding Obligation, as of such date;

8.2.3. Retain the amount required to cover all applicable brokerage fees, commissions and other costs of sale due to, or required to be collected by, the Agent, relating directly to the sale of Shares referred to in clause (a) above; and

8.2.4. Remit any remaining funds to you.

Any prior written agreement by you to the foregoing terms with respect to the Units is referred to as the "Tax Withholding Agreement." As of the date of execution of the Tax Withholding Agreement or the Award Notice, as applicable, you represent and warrant that you are not aware of any material nonpublic information with respect to the Company or any securities of the Company; are not subject to any legal, regulatory or contractual restriction that would prevent the Agent from conducting sales as provided herein; do not have, and will not attempt to exercise, authority, influence or control over any sales of Shares effected pursuant to this Section 8.2; and are entering into this Section 8.2 of this Award Agreement in good faith and not as part of a plan or scheme to evade the prohibitions of Rule 10b5-1 (regarding trading of the Company's securities on the basis of material nonpublic information) under the Exchange Act. It is the intent of the parties that this Section 8.2 comply with the requirements of Rule 10b5-1(c)(1)(i) (B) under the Exchange Act and this Award Agreement will be interpreted to comply with the requirements of Rule 10b5-1(c) of the Exchange Act.

You understand that the Agent may effect sales as provided in clause (a) above jointly with sales for other employees of the Company and that the average price for executions resulting from bunched orders will be assigned to your account. You acknowledge that neither the Company nor the Agent is under any obligation to arrange for such sales at any particular price, and that the proceeds of any such sales may not be sufficient to satisfy your Tax Withholding Obligation. In addition, you acknowledge that it may not be possible to sell Shares as provided by this Section 8.2 due to (i) a legal or contractual restriction applicable to you or the Agent, (ii) a market disruption, or (iii) rules governing order execution priority on the NASDAQ Stock Market or other exchange where the Shares may be traded. In the event of the Agent's inability to sell any Shares or that number of Shares sufficient to cover your personal tax withholding obligation, you will continue to be responsible for payment to the Company of all federal, state, local and foreign taxes that are required by applicable laws and regulations to be withheld.

You acknowledge that regardless of any other term or condition of this Award Agreement, neither the Agent nor the Company will be liable to you for (a) special, indirect, punitive, exemplary, or consequential damages, or incidental losses or damages of any kind, or (b) any failure to perform or for any delay in performance that results from a cause or circumstance that is beyond the Agent's reasonable control.

You hereby agree to execute and deliver to the Agent any other agreements or documents as the Agent or the Company reasonably deems necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes and intent of this Section 8.2. The Agent is a third party beneficiary of this Section 8.2.

Notwithstanding the foregoing terms of this Section 8.2, if you are subject to "blackout trading periods" under the Company's Insider Trading Policy, your agreement to the terms of this Section 8.2 (whether pursuant to a Tax Withholding Agreement or execution of the Award Notice, as applicable) will only be effective if you agree to the terms of this Section 8.2 at a time that is outside of a "blackout period."

8.3. Notwithstanding the foregoing, to the maximum extent permitted by law, the Company has the right to retain without notice from Shares issuable under the Award or from salary or other amounts payable to you, a number of whole Shares or cash having a value sufficient to satisfy the Tax Withholding Obligation (which Shares may be withheld up to the applicable minimum required tax withholding rate or up to such other applicable rate permitted by the Company that avoids adverse treatment for financial accounting purposes).

8.4. Furthermore, you acknowledge that the Company (a) makes no representations or undertakings regarding the treatment of any Tax Withholding Obligations or tax treatment in connection with any aspect of the Award, including but not limited to, the grant, vesting, the issuance of Shares upon vesting, the subsequent sale of Shares acquired pursuant to the Award and the receipt of any dividends, and (b) does not commit to and is under no obligation to structure the terms of the grant or any aspect of the Award to reduce or eliminate your liability for Tax Withholding Obligations or achieve any particular tax result. Further, if you have become subject to tax in more than one jurisdiction, you acknowledge that the Company (or your employer, as applicable) may be required to withhold or account for Tax Withholding Obligations in more than one jurisdiction.

9. Nature of Grant. By accepting the Award, you acknowledge, understand and agree that:

9.1. the Plan is established voluntarily by the Company, is discretionary in nature and may be modified, amended, suspended or terminated by the Company at any time, to the extent permitted by the Plan;

9.2. the grant of the Award is exceptional, voluntary and occasional and does not create any contractual or other right to receive future grants of Restricted Stock Units, or benefits in lieu of Restricted Stock Units, even if Restricted Stock Units have been granted in the past;

9.3. all decisions with respect to future equity-based awards or other grants, if any, will be at the sole discretion of the Company;

9.4. you are voluntarily participating in the Plan;

9.5. the Award and the Shares subject to the Award, and the income from and value of same, are not intended to replace any pension rights or compensation;

9.6. unless otherwise agreed with the Company, the Award and any Shares subject to the Award, and the income from and value of same, are not granted as consideration for, or in connection with, any service you may provide as a director of any Related Company;

9.7. the Award and the Shares subject to the Award, and the income from and value of same, are not part of normal or expected compensation or salary for purposes of, including but not limited to, calculating any severance, resignation, termination, redundancy, dismissal, end-of-service payments, bonuses, long-service awards, holiday pay, pension or retirement or welfare benefits or similar payments;

9.8. the future value of the Shares subject to the Award is unknown, indeterminable and cannot be predicted;

9.9. unless otherwise provided in the Plan or by the Company in its discretion, the Units and the benefits evidenced by this Agreement do not create any entitlement to have the Units or any such benefits transferred to, or assumed by, another company nor be exchanged, cashed out or substituted for, in connection with any corporate transaction affecting the Shares; the Award and the Shares subject to the Award, and the income from and value of same, are not part of normal or expected compensation or salary for any purpose and in no event should be considered as compensation for, or relating in any way to, past services for the Company or any Related Company; and

9.10. neither the Company nor any other Related Company shall be liable for any foreign exchange rate fluctuation between your local currency and the United States Dollar that may affect the value of the Units or of any amounts due to you pursuant to the settlement of the Units or the subsequent sale of any Shares acquired upon settlement.

10. General Provisions

10.1. No Right to Damages. You will have no right to bring a claim or to receive damages if any portion of the Award is cancelled or expires unvested. The loss of existing or potential profit in the Award will not constitute an element of damages in the event of your Termination of Service for any reason even if the termination is in violation of an obligation of the Company or any other Related Company to you.

10.2. Recovery of Compensation. In accordance with Section 17.6 of the Plan, the Award is subject to the requirements of (a) Section 954 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (regarding recovery of erroneously awarded compensation) and any implementing rules and regulations thereunder, (b) similar rules under the laws of any other jurisdiction, (c) any compensation recovery or clawback policies adopted by the Company to implement any such requirements or (d) any other compensation recovery or clawback policies as may be adopted from time to time by the Company, all to the extent determined by the Committee in its discretion to be applicable to you and/or required by applicable law.

10.3. Assignment. The Company may assign its rights under this Award Agreement at any time, whether or not such rights are then exercisable, to any person or entity selected by the Company's Board of Directors.

10.4. No Waiver. No waiver of any provision of this Award Agreement will be valid unless in writing and signed by the person against whom such waiver is sought to be enforced, nor will failure to enforce any right hereunder constitute a continuing waiver of the same or a waiver of any other right hereunder.

10.5. Undertaking. You hereby agree to take whatever additional action and execute whatever additional documents the Company may deem necessary or advisable in order to carry out or effect one or more of the obligations or restrictions imposed on either you or the Units pursuant to the express provisions of this Award Agreement.

10.6. Agreement Is Entire Contract. This Award Agreement and the Plan constitute the entire contract between the parties hereto with regard to the subject matter hereof and supersede all prior oral or written agreements on the subject. This Award Agreement is made pursuant to the provisions of the Plan and will in all respects be construed in conformity with the express terms and provisions of the Plan.

10.7. Successors and Assigns. The provisions of this Award Agreement will inure to the benefit of, and be binding on, the Company and its successors and assigns and you and your legal representatives, heirs, legatees, distributees, assigns and transferees by operation of law, whether or not any such person will have become a party to this Award Agreement and agreed in writing to join herein and be bound by the terms and conditions hereof.

10.8. No Employment or Service Contract. Nothing in the Plan or this Award Agreement will be deemed to constitute an employment contract or other service contract or confer or be deemed to confer any right for you to continue in the employ of, or to continue any other relationship with, the Company or any other Related Company, as applicable, or limit in any way the right of the Company or any other Related Company, as applicable, to terminate your employment or other service relationship at any time, with or without Cause.

10.9. Severability. The provisions of this Award Agreement are severable and if any one or more provisions are determined to be illegal or otherwise unenforceable, in whole or in part, the remaining provisions shall nevertheless be binding and enforceable.

10.10. Waiver. You acknowledge that a waiver by the Company of breach of any provision of this Agreement shall not operate or be construed as a waiver of any other provision of this Award Agreement, or of any subsequent breach by you or any other participant.

10.11. Section 409A Compliance. This Award and any Shares issuable thereunder are intended to qualify for an exemption from or comply with Section 409A of the Code. Notwithstanding any other provision in this Award Agreement and the Plan to the contrary, the Company, to the extent it deems necessary or advisable in its sole discretion, reserves the right, but will not be required, to unilaterally amend or modify this Award Agreement so that the Award qualifies for exemption from or complies with Section 409A of the Code; provided, however, that the Company makes no representations that the Award will be exempt from or comply with Section 409A of the Code and makes no undertaking to preclude Section 409A of the Code from applying to the Award. No provision of the Plan, this Award Agreement or the Award Notice will be interpreted or construed to transfer any liability for failure to comply with Section 409A of the Code from you or any other individual to the Company. By executing the Award Notice, you agree that you will be deemed to have waived any claim against the Company with respect to any such tax consequences.

10.12. Electronic Delivery and Participation. The Company may, in its sole discretion, decide to deliver any documents related to your current or future participation in the Plan by electronic means. You hereby consent to receive such documents by electronic delivery and agree to participate in the Plan through an online or electronic system established and maintained by the Company or a third party designated by the Company.

10.13. Language. You acknowledge and represent that you are sufficiently proficient in the English language, or have consulted with an advisor who is sufficiently proficient in English, so as to allow you to understand the terms of this Award Agreement and any other documents related to the Plan. If you have received this Award Agreement or any other document related to the Plan translated into a language other than English and if the meaning of the translated version is different from the English version, the English version will control.

10.14. Foreign Asset/Account Reporting Requirements and Exchange Controls. Your country may have certain foreign asset and/or foreign account reporting requirements and exchange controls which may affect your ability to acquire or hold Shares acquired under the Plan or cash received from participating in the Plan (including from any dividends paid on or sales proceeds arising from the sale of Shares acquired under the Plan) in a brokerage or bank account outside your country. You may be required to report such accounts, assets or transactions to the tax or other authorities in your country. You also may be required to repatriate sale proceeds or other funds received as a result of your participation in the Plan to your country through a designated bank or broker within a certain time after receipt. It is your responsibility to be compliant with such regulations, and you are advised to consult your personal legal advisor for any details.

10.15. Appendix. Notwithstanding any provision in this Restricted Stock Unit Award Agreement, any Awards granted under the Plan will be subject to any additional terms and conditions for your country set forth in the Appendix attached hereto. Moreover, if you relocate to one of the countries included in the Appendix, the additional terms and conditions for such country will apply to you, to the extent the Company determines that the application of such terms and conditions is necessary or advisable for legal or administrative reasons. The Appendix constitutes a part of this Award Agreement.

10.16. Imposition of Other Requirements. The Company reserves the right to impose other requirements on your participation in the Plan, on the Award and on any Shares acquired under the Plan, to the extent the Company determines it is necessary or advisable for legal or administrative reasons, and to require you to sign any additional agreements or undertakings that may be necessary to accomplish the foregoing.

EQUITY AWARD GRANT PROGRAM FOR NONEMPLOYEE DIRECTORS UNDER THE ZILLOW GROUP, INC.
2020 INCENTIVE PLAN

(Effective as of February 13, 2024)

The following provisions set forth the terms of the equity award grant program (the “Program”) for nonemployee directors of Zillow Group, Inc. (the “Company”) under the Zillow Group, Inc. 2020 Incentive Plan (the “Plan”). The Program does not constitute a separate source of shares available for issuance under the Plan. In the event of any inconsistency between the terms contained herein and in the Plan, the Plan shall govern. Capitalized terms that are not defined herein have the meanings set forth in the Plan. For clarity, this Program amends and restates the Stock Option Grant Program effective March 5, 2020.

1. Eligibility

Each Director elected or appointed to the Board who is not otherwise an Employee of the Company or any Related Company (an “Eligible Director”) shall be eligible to receive awards of Restricted Stock Units, Nonqualified Stock Options or a combination of both under the Plan, as described below.

2. Annual Equity Awards

(a) Beginning on March 1, 2024 and on each anniversary thereafter (each, an “Annual Grant Date”), each Eligible Director as of the Annual Grant Date shall automatically be granted an award for a number of Restricted Stock Units equal to $315,000 divided by the average closing price of a share of Class C Capital Stock on the primary U.S. exchange for such stock over the 20-trading day period ending three trading days before the Annual Grant Date, with any fractional Restricted Stock Unit rounded to the nearest whole share (0.5 to be rounded up) (each, an “Annual RSU Award”). Each Annual RSU Award shall vest as to one-fourth of the Annual RSU Award every three months following the Annual Grant Date on which the Annual RSU Award was granted so that the Annual RSU Award shall be fully vested on the one-year anniversary of the date on which the Annual RSU Award was granted, provided that vesting will cease upon the applicable Eligible Director’s Termination of Service and the unvested portion of the Annual RSU Award will be forfeited for no consideration.

(b) In the event of an Eligible Director’s initial election or appointment to the Board on a date other than an Annual Grant Date, such Eligible Director shall, subject to approval by the Board or the Compensation Committee, and in connection with their initial election or appointment to the Board, be granted an award for that number of Restricted Stock Units calculated in the same manner as the Annual RSU Award, but prorated based on the number of full calendar months between the date of the Eligible Director’s initial election or appointment to the Board and the first Annual Grant Date following their initial election or appointment to the Board (each, a “Prorated RSU Award”). Following their initial election or appointment to the Board, an Eligible Director shall be eligible to receive Annual RSU Awards pursuant to Section 2(a) above. Each Prorated RSU Award shall become fully vested as of the first Annual Grant Date following the Board’s or Compensation Committee’s (as appropriate) approval of the Prorated RSU Award, provided that vesting will cease upon the Eligible Director’s Termination of Service and the unvested portion of the Prorated RSU Award shall be forfeited for no consideration.

(c) The remaining terms and conditions of each Annual RSU Award and Prorated RSU Award shall be as set forth in the last form of Restricted Stock Unit grant notice and agreement approved by the Board or Compensation Committee for evidencing Annual RSU Awards and Prorated RSU Awards on or prior to the applicable Grant Date of the Annual RSU Award or Prorated RSU Award, and as set forth in the Plan (to the extent applicable).

(d) Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, each Eligible Director may elect to forego receiving all or a portion of any Annual RSU Award or Prorated RSU Award the Eligible Director is eligible to receive and instead receive a Nonqualified Stock Option; provided, that any such election to forego receiving less than all of the Annual RSU Award or Prorated RSU Award, and instead receive a Nonqualified Stock Option, shall be made in 25% increments (each such Nonqualified Stock Option, an “Election Option” and each such election, an “Election”). Each Election Option shall have terms set forth in Section 3 below. An Election will be subject to such rules, conditions and procedures as shall be determined by the Board or the Compensation Committee in its sole discretion.

3. Election Option Terms.

(a) Each Election Option shall be granted on the same Grant Date that the Annual RSU Award or Prorated RSU Award (or, in each case, the portion thereof) that the Eligible Director has made an Election to forego in order to receive such Election Option instead would have been granted absent such Election.

(b) Each Election Option shall constitute a Nonqualified Stock Option.

(c) The number of shares subject to each Election Option granted shall be equal to the product of (expressed as a number of shares of Class C Capital Stock) (1) the number of Restricted Stock Units that the Eligible Director is foregoing being granted as a result of making the applicable Election and (2) three.

(d) If the Election is made with respect to an Annual RSU Award (or portion thereof), one-fourth of the applicable Election Option shall vest every three months following the Grant Date of such Election Option so that such Election Option shall be fully vested on the one-year anniversary of the date such Election Option was granted, provided that vesting will cease upon the Eligible Director's Termination of Service and the unvested portion of such Election Option will be forfeited for no consideration. If instead the Election is made with respect to a Prorated RSU Award (or portion thereof), the applicable Election Option shall become fully vested as of the first Annual Grant Date following the Board's or Compensation Committee's approval of such Election Option; provided, that vesting will cease upon the Eligible Director's Termination of Service and the unvested portion of such Election Option will be forfeited for no consideration.

(e) The per share exercise price of each Election Option granted under the Program shall be equal to the Fair Market Value of a share of the Class C Capital Stock on the applicable Grant Date.

(f) Each Election Option shall expire ten years from the Grant Date thereof subject to earlier termination as provided in the Plan or the Option Grant Documents (as defined below).

(g) The remaining terms of each Election Option shall be as set forth in the last form of Nonqualified Stock Option grant notice and agreement approved by the Board or Compensation Committee for evidencing Election Options on or prior to the applicable Grant Date for such Election Option (the "Option Grant Documents"), and as set forth in the Plan (to the extent applicable).

4. Amendment

The Board or the Compensation Committee may, in accordance with the Plan, the Compensation Committee Charter, and other relevant documents, amend the provisions contained herein in such respects as it deems advisable. Unless otherwise provided in the Plan, any such amendment shall not, without the consent of the Eligible Director, materially adversely affect any rights of an Eligible Director under an award granted to the Eligible Director under the Plan.

5. Effective Date

This Program shall become effective on February 13, 2024 and, unless sooner terminated by the Board or the Compensation Committee, shall remain effective during the term of the Plan.

Exhibit 19.1

Zillow Group, Inc. Insider Trading Policy

Background

The Board of Directors of Zillow Group, Inc. (the "Company") has adopted this Insider Trading Policy ("Policy") for our employees, executive officers, directors, independent contractors, contingent workers and consultants with respect to the trading of the Company's securities, as well as the securities of publicly traded companies with whom we have a business relationship.

Federal and state securities laws prohibit the purchase or sale of a publicly traded company's securities by persons who are aware of material information about that company that is not generally known or available to the public. These laws also prohibit persons who are aware of such material nonpublic information from disclosing this information to others who may trade. Companies and their controlling persons are also subject to liability if they fail to take reasonable steps to prevent insider trading by company personnel.

It is important that you understand the breadth of activities that constitute illegal insider trading and the consequences, which can be severe. Both the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") and the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority investigate and are very effective at detecting insider trading. The SEC, together with the U.S. Department of Justice, pursues insider trading violations vigorously. Cases have been successfully prosecuted against employees involved in insider trading through foreign accounts, trading by family members and friends, and trading involving only a small number of shares.

This Policy is designed to prevent insider trading or allegations of insider trading, and to protect the Company's reputation for integrity and ethical conduct. It is your obligation to understand and comply with this Policy. Should you have any questions regarding this Policy, please email

Penalties for Noncompliance

Civil and Criminal Penalties. Potential penalties for insider trading violations include imprisonment, criminal fines, and civil fines.

Company Sanctions. Failure to comply with this Policy may also subject you to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment, whether or not your failure to comply with this Policy results in any violation of law.

Controlling Person Liability. If the Company fails to take appropriate steps to prevent illegal insider trading, the Company may have “controlling person” liability for a trading violation, with civil and criminal penalties. The civil penalties can extend personal liability to the Company’s directors, executive officers and other supervisory personnel if they fail to take appropriate steps to prevent insider trading.

Scope of Policy

Persons Covered. As an employee, executive officer, director, independent contractor, contingent worker, or consultant of the Company, and/or its subsidiaries, this Policy applies to you. Subsidiaries include all companies in which Zillow Group, Inc. holds voting shares or other interests representing more than 50% of the voting power of such companies, whether directly or indirectly through one or more intermediaries. The same restrictions that apply to you apply to your family members who reside with you, anyone else who lives in your household and any family members who do not live in your household (including a child away at college), but whose transactions in the Company’s securities are directed by you or are subject to your influence or control (such as parents or children who consult with you before they trade in the Company’s securities). This Policy also applies to any entities that you influence or control (including corporations, limited liability companies, partnerships or trusts), and transactions by such entities should be treated for the purposes of this Policy and applicable securities laws as if they were for your own account. You are personally responsible for making sure that the purchase or sale of any security covered by this Policy by any such person or entity complies with this Policy.

Companies Covered. The prohibition on insider trading in this Policy is not limited only to trading in the Company’s securities. It includes trading in the securities of other firms, such as customers, partners, or suppliers of the Company and those with which the Company may be negotiating major transactions, such as an acquisition, investment, partnership, or sale. Information that is not deemed material to the Company, may nevertheless be material to one of those other firms.

Transactions Covered. “Trading” refers to the acquisition or disposition of stock, which includes purchases, sales, and gifts, derivative securities such as put and call options, warrants and convertible debentures or preferred stock, and debt securities (debentures, bonds and notes). “Trading” also includes transactions made under the Company’s equity plans, with certain exceptions, as described below:

- Stock Option Exercises. This Policy’s trading restrictions generally do not apply to the exercise and hold of a stock option, though the exercise of a stock option by members of the Company’s Board of Directors and executive officers who are subject to Section 16 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (collectively, “Section 16 Persons”), is subject to pre-clearance procedures as described below. The trading restrictions do apply, however, to any limit orders as outlined in the Additional Guidance section of this policy, and the concurrent open market sale of any portion of the underlying stock received upon an exercise and hold of a stock option, including through a cashless exercise of the stock option through a broker, as this entails selling a portion of the underlying stock to cover the costs of exercise.
- Restricted Stock Units, Restricted Units and Restricted Stock Awards. This Policy’s trading restrictions do not apply to any scheduled vesting events of restricted stock units, restricted units or restricted stock or the Company’s withholding of shares of stock to satisfy tax withholding obligations due upon the vesting of such equity awards (assuming such withholding is permitted by the Company, in its discretion). The trading restrictions do apply, however, to the open market sale, or gift of, any portion of the underlying amount of shares received following a vesting event and any applicable tax withholding obligations.

- 10b5-1 Automatic Trading Programs. Transactions in the Company's securities that are executed pursuant to an approved Rule 10b5-1 trading plan under which a broker is instructed to buy or sell Company securities based on a pre-determined criteria (a "Trading Plan") are not subject to the prohibition on trading on the basis of material nonpublic information contained in this Policy, or to the restrictions relating to pre-clearance procedures and blackout periods. Rule 10b5-1 provides an affirmative defense from insider trading liability under the federal securities laws for trading plans that meet certain requirements. The Company requires that all Rule 10b5-1 trading plans be approved in writing in advance by the General Counsel or their designee (a "Compliance Officer") and meet the requirements of the Company's "Guidelines for Rule 10b5-1 Plans," which may be obtained from the General Counsel or a Compliance Officer. Such Rule 10b5-1 trading plans are typically only approved at the Company for Section 16 Persons.

Statement of Policy

No Trading on Inside Information. You may not trade in the securities of the Company, directly or through family members or other persons or entities, if you are aware of material nonpublic information relating to the Company. Similarly, you may not trade in the securities of any other company if you are aware of material nonpublic information about that company which you obtained in the course of your employment with or provision of services to the Company.

No Tipping. You may not pass material nonpublic information on to others or recommend to anyone the purchase or sale of any securities when you are aware of such information. This practice, known as "tipping," also violates the securities laws and can result in the same civil and criminal penalties that apply to insider trading, even though you did not trade and may not gain any benefit from another individual's trading.

No Exception for Hardship. The existence of a personal financial emergency does not excuse you from full compliance with this Policy.

Blackout and Notification

- Quarterly Blackout Periods. Because the Company's Section 16 Persons and certain employees, independent contractors and consultants of the Company and/or its subsidiaries as designated by the Company (together with the Section 16 Persons, the "Company Insiders") are more likely to have regular access to material nonpublic information about the Company, the Company requires them to do more than refrain from insider trading. To help prevent inadvertent violations of the federal securities laws and to avoid even the appearance of trading on the basis of inside information, Company Insiders are prohibited from trading in the Company's securities during quarterly blackout periods (beginning on the tenth business day of the third month of a quarter and ending when the market opens on the business day following the public release of the Company's earnings for that quarter) and during certain event-specific blackouts, which, as described below, could apply to any employee from time to time. Company Insiders also must prenotify the Company of all transactions in the Company's securities in accordance with the terms of the section below captioned "Prenotification/Pre-Clearance Procedures."
- Interim Earnings Guidance. The Company may on occasion issue interim earnings guidance or other potentially material information by means of a press release, SEC filing of a current report on Form 8-K or other means designed to achieve widespread dissemination of the information. Company Insiders should anticipate that trading may be prohibited while the Company is in the process of assembling the information to be released and until the information has been released and fully absorbed by the market.
- Event-Specific Blackouts. From time to time, an event may occur that is material to the Company and is known by only a few directors, executive officers or certain other employees. So long as the event remains material and nonpublic, the persons who are aware of the event, as well as any other Company Insiders or persons whom the Company deems appropriate, may not trade in the Company's securities. The existence of an event-specific blackout period generally will not be announced, other than to those who are aware of the event giving rise to the blackout period. If, however, a Company

Insider provides notice of an intent to trade in the Company's securities during an event-specific blackout period pursuant to the section below captioned "Prenotification/Pre-Clearance Procedures," the Company's General Counsel or a Compliance Officer, will inform the requesting person of the existence of a blackout period, without disclosing the reason for the blackout. Any person made aware of the existence of an event-specific blackout should not disclose the existence of the blackout to any other person. The failure of the General Counsel or a Compliance Officer to designate a person as being subject to an event-specific blackout will not relieve that person of the obligation not to trade while aware of material nonpublic information.

Company Insiders may also be subject to event-specific blackouts pursuant to the SEC's Regulation Blackout Trading Restriction, which prohibits certain sales and other transfers by insiders during certain pension plan blackout periods.

Even if a blackout period is not in effect, at no time may you trade in the Company securities if you are aware of material nonpublic information about the Company.

Prenotification/Pre-Clearance Procedures. Each Company Insider, together with his or her family members and other members of his or her household, and any entities that a Company Insider influences or controls, may not engage in any transaction involving the Company's securities (such as a purchase or sale or a stock plan transaction such as an option exercise, or a gift, loan, pledge or hedge, contribution to a trust or any other transfer) without first submitting to the Company a prenotification of an intent to trade in Company securities. The prenotification must be submitted prior to the proposed transaction and include a confirmation that the Company Insider is not currently aware of any material nonpublic information about the Company (with an exception for such confirmation for a cash paid stock option exercise and hold and no concurrent sale of any portion of the underlying securities received upon such stock option exercise and hold).

All Section 16 Persons must obtain pre-clearance prior to any proposed transaction from either the Company's General Counsel or a Compliance Officer. This pre-clearance approval, if granted, will be provided following submission of the Section 16 Person's notification of an intent to trade in the Company's securities. The General Counsel or a Compliance Officer are under no obligation to approve a pre-clearance for a trade submitted by a Section 16 Person and may determine not to permit the trade. The Company's Chief People Officer has the sole discretion to decide whether to approve any pre-clearance requests for proposed transactions submitted by the General Counsel, or persons or entities subject to this section as a result of their relationship with the General Counsel.

Upon submitting prenotification of an intent to trade and confirmation that the Company Insider is not currently aware of any material nonpublic information or, with respect to Section 16 Persons, upon obtaining pre-clearance of a transaction, the Company Insider or Section 16 Person may then enter into a transaction within three open market trading days thereafter. If for any reason a transaction is not completed within the three open market trading days, a new prenotification, or, with respect to Section 16 Persons, a new pre-clearance must be submitted/obtained again before a transaction may take place. Each Company Insider may submit multiple prenotifications, or, with respect to Section 16 Persons, pre-clearance requests, as applicable, during an open trading window, with each prenotification or approved pre-clearance providing allowance for a three trading day period only and beginning immediately following such prenotification or pre-clearance.

Definition of Material Nonpublic Information

Note that inside information has two important elements: materiality and public availability.

Material Information. Information is material if there is a substantial likelihood that a reasonable investor would consider it important in deciding whether to buy, hold or sell a security. Any information that could reasonably be expected to affect the price of the security is material. While it is not possible to define all categories of material information, common examples of material information are:

- Financial performance, including quarterly and year-end earnings and key financial metrics.

- Projections of financial performance, including future earnings or losses or other earnings guidance.
- A pending or proposed merger, acquisition, tender offer or disposition of significant assets or strategic partnership, joint venture, or similar transaction.
- Significant changes in senior management or the Board of Directors.
- Major events regarding the Company's securities, including the declaration of a stock split, the offering of additional securities, or the repurchase of outstanding securities.
- A Company restructuring or any bankruptcy filings.
- Changes or disputes with the Company's independent auditor.
- Defaults on outstanding debt or preferred stock.
- Actual or threatened major litigation, or the resolution of such litigation.
- New major contracts, orders, suppliers, customers or finance sources, or the loss thereof.
- A cybersecurity risk or incident involving the Company's business, including relating to customer, employee or Company data, or a product or service.
- Significant changes or developments in products or services, including significant product defects and changes in the price of the Company's products or services.

Both positive and negative information can be material. Because trading that receives scrutiny will be evaluated after the fact with the benefit of hindsight, any questions concerning the materiality of particular information should be directed to the Company's General Counsel prior to the occurrence of any trading.

Nonpublic Information. Nonpublic information is information that is not generally known or available to the public. In order to establish that information has been disclosed to the public, it may be necessary to demonstrate that information has been widely disseminated, such as through a press release issued by the Company, or in a required filing with the SEC.

Additional Guidance

The Company considers it improper and inappropriate for those employed by or associated with the Company to engage in short-term or speculative transactions in the Company's securities or in other transactions in the Company's securities that may lead to inadvertent violations of insider trading laws. Accordingly, your trading in Company securities is subject to the following additional restrictions.

Short Sales. You may not engage in short sales of the Company's securities (sales of securities that are not then owned), including a "sale against the box" (a sale with delayed delivery). Short sales arising from certain types of hedging transactions are governed by the section below captioned "Hedging Transactions."

Publicly Traded Options. You may not engage in transactions in publicly traded options on an exchange or in any other organized market. Option positions arising from certain types of hedging transactions are governed by the section below captioned "Hedging Transactions."

Standing Orders and Limit Orders. Standing orders and limit orders (excluding standing and limit orders under pre-approved Rule 10b5-1 trading plans) should be generally avoided. A standing order placed with a broker to sell or purchase stock at a specified price leaves you with no control over the timing of the transaction. As a result, a standing order transaction executed by the broker may occur during a blackout period, or at a time that you may become aware of material nonpublic information, resulting in unlawful insider trading. The Company strongly discourages such standing order transactions involving Company securities.

Margin Accounts and Pledges. Securities held in a margin account or pledged as collateral for a loan may be sold without your consent by the broker if you fail to meet a margin call or by the lender if you default on the loan. Since sales under these circumstances may occur at a time when you may be aware of material nonpublic information, or otherwise are not permitted to trade in the Company's securities, you are prohibited from holding Company securities in a margin account or pledging Company securities as collateral for a loan. An exception to this prohibition may be granted where you wish to pledge Company securities as collateral for a loan (not including margin debt) and clearly demonstrate the financial capacity to repay the loan without resort to the pledged securities. If you wish to pledge Company securities as collateral for a loan, you must submit a request for approval to the General Counsel at least two weeks prior to the proposed execution of documents evidencing the proposed pledge. Pledges of Company securities arising from certain types of hedging transactions are governed by the section below captioned "Hedging Transactions."

Hedging Transactions. Certain forms of hedging or monetization transactions, such as zero cost collars, prepaid variable forward sale contracts, equity swaps and exchange funds, allow an individual to lock in much of the value of his or her stock holdings, often in exchange for all or part of the potential for upside appreciation in the stock. These transactions allow the individual to continue to own the covered securities, but without the full risks and rewards of ownership. When that occurs, the individual may no longer have the same objectives as the Company's other shareholders. Therefore, the Company strongly discourages you from engaging in such transactions. If you wish to enter into such an arrangement, you must submit a request for approval to the General Counsel at least two weeks prior to the proposed execution of documents evidencing the proposed transaction and must set forth a justification for the proposed transaction.

Post-Termination Transactions

This Policy continues to apply to your transactions in Company securities even after your employment or other services terminate with the Company or a subsidiary. If you are aware of material nonpublic information when your employment or service relationship terminates, you may not trade in Company securities until that information has become public or is no longer material. In addition, you shall remain subject to the procedures as set forth in this Policy with respect to any transactions in the Company securities, until the expiration of any quarterly or event-specific blackout period that is applicable to any transactions at the time of termination of employment or other services to the Company or a subsidiary.

Unauthorized Disclosure

Maintaining the confidentiality of Company information is essential for competitive, security and other business reasons, as well as to comply with securities laws. You are expected to treat all information you learn about the Company or its business plans in connection with your employment or service relationship as confidential and proprietary to the Company. Inadvertent disclosure of confidential or inside information may expose the Company and you to significant risk of investigation and litigation.

The timing and nature of the Company's disclosure of material nonpublic information is subject to legal rules, the breach of which could result in substantial liability to you, the Company, and its management. The Company has established procedures for releasing material nonpublic information in a manner that is designed to achieve broad public dissemination of the information immediately upon its release. You may not, therefore, disclose information to anyone outside the Company, including but not limited to, family members, friends, business associates, investors and consulting firms, unless any such disclosure is made in accordance with the Company's policies regarding the protection or authorized external disclosure of information regarding the Company. It is important that responses to inquiries about the Company by the press, investment or financial analysts, or others in the financial community be made on the Company's behalf only through authorized individuals. Unauthorized disclosure of such information may result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.

Personal Responsibility

You should remember that the ultimate responsibility for adhering to this Policy and avoiding improper trading rests with you. This includes making sure that any family members who reside with you, other household members, and other affiliated individuals or entities whose transactions are subject to this Policy also comply with this Policy. If you violate this Policy, the Company may take disciplinary action up to and including termination of your employment. Any action on the part of the Company, the General Counsel, a Compliance Officer, or any other employee or director (pursuant to this Policy or otherwise) does not in any way constitute legal advice or insulate an individual from liability under applicable securities laws.

The Company may change or otherwise revise the terms of this Policy from time to time, including to respond to developments in law and practice. The Company will take appropriate steps to inform all affected persons of any material changes or revisions to this Policy.

Company Assistance

Your compliance with this Policy is of the utmost importance both for you and for the Company. If you have any questions about this Policy or its application to any proposed transaction, please email []@zillowgroup.com. You may also obtain guidance from the General Counsel or a Compliance Officer. Do not try to resolve uncertainties on your own, as the rules relating to insider trading are often complex, not always intuitive, and carry severe consequences.

Certification

All employees must certify their understanding of, and intent to comply with, this Policy.

Incentive Compensation Recoupment Policy

1. Introduction

The Board of Directors (the "Board") of Zillow Group, Inc., a Washington corporation (the "Company"), has determined that it is in the best interests of the Company and its shareholders to adopt this Incentive Compensation Recoupment Policy (this "Policy") providing for the Company's recoupment of Recoverable Incentive Compensation that is received by Covered Officers of the Company under certain circumstances. Certain capitalized terms used in this Policy have the meanings given to such terms in Section 3 below.

This Policy is designed to comply with, and shall be interpreted to be consistent with, Section 10D of the Exchange Act, Rule 10D-1 promulgated thereunder ("Rule 10D-1") and Nasdaq Listing Rule 5608 (the "Listing Standards").

3. Definitions

"Accounting Restatement" means an accounting restatement that the Company is required to prepare due to the material noncompliance of the Company with any financial reporting requirement under the securities laws, including any required accounting restatement to correct an error in previously issued financial statements that is material to the previously issued financial statements, or that would result in a material misstatement if the error were corrected in the current period or left uncorrected in the current period.

"Accounting Restatement Date" means the earlier to occur of (a) the date that the Board, a committee of the Board authorized to take such action, or the officer or officers of the Company authorized to take such action if Board action is not required, concludes, or reasonably should have concluded, that the Company is required to prepare an Accounting Restatement, or (b) the date that a court, regulator or other legally authorized body directs the Company to prepare an Accounting Restatement.

"Exchange" means the Nasdaq Stock Market.

"Exchange Act" means the U.S. Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

"Executive Officer" means the Company's president, principal financial officer, principal accounting officer (or if there is no such accounting officer, the controller), any vice-president of the Company in charge of a principal business unit, division, or function (such as sales, administration, or finance), any other officer who performs a policy-making function, or any other person who performs similar policy-making functions for the Company. Executive officers of the Company's parent(s) or subsidiaries are deemed executive officers of the Company if they perform such policy-making functions for the Company. Policy-making function is not intended to include policy-making functions that are not significant. Identification of an executive officer for purposes of this Policy would include at a minimum executive officers identified pursuant to Item 401(b) of Regulation S-K promulgated under the Exchange Act.

"Financial Reporting Measures" means measures that are determined and presented in accordance with the accounting principles used in preparing the Company's financial statements, and any measures derived wholly or in part from such measures, including Company stock price and total shareholder return ("TSR"). A measure need not be presented in the Company's financial statements or included in a filing with the SEC in order to be a Financial Reporting Measure.

"Incentive Compensation" means any compensation that is granted, earned or vested based wholly or in part upon the attainment of a Financial Reporting Measure. For clarity, time-based equity awards do not qualify as Incentive Compensation for purposes of this Incentive Compensation Recoupment Policy.

"Lookback Period" means the three completed fiscal years immediately preceding the Accounting Restatement Date, as well as any transition period (resulting from a change in the Company's fiscal year) within or immediately following those three completed fiscal years (except that a transition period of at least nine months shall count as a completed fiscal year). Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Lookback Period shall not include fiscal years completed prior to the Effective Date.

"Recoverable Incentive Compensation" means Incentive Compensation received by a Covered Officer during the Lookback Period that exceeds the amount of Incentive Compensation that would have been received had such amount been determined based on the Accounting Restatement, computed without regard to any taxes paid (i.e., on a gross basis without regarding to tax withholdings and other deductions). For any compensation plans or programs that take into account Incentive Compensation, the amount of Recoverable Incentive Compensation for purposes of this Policy shall include, without limitation, the amount contributed to any notional account based on Recoverable Incentive Compensation and any earnings to date on that notional amount. For any Incentive Compensation that is based on stock price or TSR, where the Recoverable Incentive Compensation is not subject to mathematical recalculation directly from the information in an Accounting Restatement, the Administrator will determine the amount of Recoverable Incentive Compensation based on a reasonable estimate of the effect of the Accounting Restatement on the stock price or TSR upon which the Incentive Compensation was received. The Company shall maintain documentation of the determination of that reasonable estimate and provide such documentation to the Exchange in accordance with the Listing Standards.

"SEC" means the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

4. Recoupment

(1) Applicability of Policy. This Policy applies to Incentive Compensation received by a Covered Officer (i) after beginning services as an Executive Officer, (ii) who served as an Executive Officer at any time during the performance period for such Incentive Compensation, (iii) while the Company had a class of securities listed on a national securities exchange or a national securities association, and (iv) during the Lookback Period.

(2) Recoupment Generally. Pursuant to the provisions of this Policy, if there is an Accounting Restatement, the Company must reasonably promptly recoup the full amount of the Recoverable Incentive Compensation, unless the conditions of one or more subsections of Section 4(c) of this Policy are met and the Compensation Committee, or, if such committee does not consist solely of independent directors, a majority of the independent directors serving on the Board, has made a determination that recoupment would be impracticable. Recoupment is required regardless of whether the Covered Officer engaged in any misconduct and regardless of fault, and the Company's obligation to recoup Recoverable Incentive Compensation is not dependent on whether or when any restated financial statements are filed.

(3) Impracticability of Recovery. Recoupment may be determined to be impracticable if, and only if:

(a) the direct expense paid to a third party to assist in enforcing this Policy would exceed the amount of the applicable Recoverable Incentive Compensation; provided that, before concluding that it would be impracticable to recover any amount of Recoverable Incentive Compensation based on expense of enforcement, the Company shall make a reasonable attempt to recover such Recoverable Incentive Compensation, document such reasonable attempt(s) to recover, and provide that documentation to the Exchange in accordance with the Listing Standards;

(b) recoupment of the applicable Recoverable Incentive Compensation would likely cause an otherwise tax-qualified retirement plan, under which benefits are broadly available to employees of the Company, to fail to meet the requirements of Code Section 401(a)(13) or Code Section 411(a) and regulations thereunder.

(4) Sources of Recoupment. To the extent permitted by applicable law, the Administrator shall, in its sole discretion, determine the timing and method for recouping Recoverable Incentive Compensation hereunder, provided that such recoupment is undertaken reasonably promptly. The Administrator may, in its discretion, seek recoupment from a Covered Officer from any of the following sources or a combination thereof, whether the applicable compensation was approved, awarded, granted, payable or paid to the Covered Officer prior to, on or after the Effective Date: (i) direct repayment of Recoverable Incentive Compensation previously paid to the Covered Officer; (ii) cancelling prior cash or equity-based awards (whether vested or unvested and whether paid or unpaid); (iii) cancelling or offsetting against any planned future cash or equity-based awards; (iv) forfeiture of deferred compensation, subject to compliance with Code Section 409A; and (v) any other method authorized by applicable law or contract. Subject to compliance with any applicable law, the Administrator may effectuate recoupment under this Policy from any amount otherwise payable to the Covered Officer, including amounts payable to such individual under any otherwise applicable Company plan or program, e.g., base salary, bonuses or commissions and compensation previously deferred by the Covered Officer. The Administrator need not utilize the same method of recovery for all Covered Officers or with respect to all types of Recoverable Incentive Compensation.

(5) No Indemnification of Covered Officers. Notwithstanding any indemnification agreement, applicable insurance policy or any other agreement or provision of the Company's certificate of incorporation or bylaws to the contrary, no Covered Officer shall be entitled to indemnification or advancement of expenses in connection with any enforcement of this Policy by the Company, including paying or reimbursing such Covered Officer for insurance premiums to cover potential obligations to the Company under this Policy.

(6) Indemnification of Administrator. Any members of the Administrator, and any other members of the Board who assist in the administration of this Policy, shall not be personally liable for any action, determination or interpretation made with respect to this Policy and shall be indemnified by the Company to the fullest extent under applicable law and Company policy with respect to any such action, determination or interpretation. The foregoing sentence shall not limit any other rights to indemnification of the members of the Board under applicable law or Company policy.

5. Administration

Except as specifically set forth herein, this Policy shall be administered by the Administrator. The Administrator shall have full and final authority to make any and all determinations required under this Policy. Any determination by the Administrator with respect to this Policy shall be final, conclusive and binding on all interested parties and need not be uniform with respect to each individual covered by this Policy. In carrying out the administration of this Policy, the Administrator is authorized and directed to consult with the full Board or such other committees of the Board as may be necessary or appropriate as to matters within the scope of such other committee's responsibility and authority. Subject to applicable law, the Administrator may authorize and empower any officer or employee of the Company to take any and all actions that the Administrator, in its sole discretion, deems necessary or appropriate to carry out the purpose and intent of this Policy (other than with respect to any recovery under this Policy involving such officer or employee).

6. Severability

If any provision of this Policy or the application of any such provision to a Covered Officer shall be adjudicated to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable in any respect, such invalidity, illegality or unenforceability shall not affect any other provisions of this Policy, and the invalid, illegal or unenforceable provisions shall be deemed amended to the minimum extent necessary to render any such provision or application enforceable.

7. No Impairment of Other Remedies

Nothing contained in this Policy, and no recoupment or recovery as contemplated herein, shall limit any claims, damages or other legal remedies the Company or any of its affiliates may have against a Covered Officer arising out of or resulting from any actions or omissions by the Covered Officer. This Policy does not preclude the Company from taking any other action to enforce a Covered Officer's obligations to the Company, including, without limitation, termination of employment and/or institution of civil proceedings. This Policy is in addition to the requirements of Section 304 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 that are applicable to the Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer and to any other compensation recoupment policy and/or similar provisions in any employment, equity plan, equity award, or other individual agreement, to which the Company is a party or which the Company has adopted or may adopt and maintain from time to time.

8. Amendment; Termination

The Administrator may amend, terminate or replace this Policy or any portion of this Policy at any time and from time to time in its sole discretion. The Administrator shall amend this Policy as it deems necessary to comply with applicable law or any Listing Standard.

9. Successors

This Policy shall be binding and enforceable against all Covered Officers and, to the extent required by Rule 10D-1 and/or the applicable Listing Standards, their beneficiaries, heirs, executors, administrators or other legal representatives.

10. Required Filings

The Company shall make any disclosures and filings with respect to this Policy that are required by law, including as required by the SEC.

I further agree and acknowledge that I am not entitled to indemnification, and hereby waive any right to advancement of expenses, in connection with any enforcement of the Policy by the Company.
